HARVESTERS MAKE THE DEPOT LIVELY

Scarcity of Cars and the Unexpected Number of Passengers Delay the Excursionists.

The westbound harvest laborers still continue to make the neighborhood of the Union Depot lively. All morning hundreds of men loafed around the station, usually waiting to go very far for fear of missing the next train.

The first was that the number of excursionists will be about fifty per cent larger than the railroad officials were figuring on, and the second was a shortage of cars.

The I. C. Railway refused to allow their cars to go west, and this considerably hampered the C. P. R.

Up to one o'clock this afternoon seventy-three car loads of men had left the depot, and there were still a couple of trains to go.

The first train left at 8.20 last night, with eight cars, and the other trains continued to go as follows:—8.20 p. m., eleven cars; 12.50 a. m., nine cars; 2.28, twelve cars; 5.45, seven cars; 11.25, twelve cars; 1 p. m., today, fourteen cars.

Estimating about sixty men to a car, this makes about 4,600 men.

With the number left in the city and the number coming on another train from Point Du Chee, the total will probably be well over 5,000.

Owing to the delay the C. P. R. had to shoulder the responsibility for feeding the men while they were waiting in St. John. Tickets were issued to all the laborers entitling them to meals at the Grand Union Hotel and nearby restaurants.

The bar-rooms had a rushing business, as well as the lunch rooms, and many of the men were bilious or quarrelsome, according to the influence the booze had on them.

Many of the men reached St. John in an intoxicated condition and there was considerable trouble in handling some of them.

One young man approached Officer Collins this morning with a sad tale of trouble. He started from his Nova Scotia home with his ticket in his pocket and a neatly packed lunch basket with enough food to take him to Winnipeg. As he travelled his accumulated a jag when he woke up in the car this morning he found his lunch and his ticket were gone and he was left stranded without a cent.

Andrew Scott, of Halifax, who claims to be a ball player of repute was ejected from the Grand Union bar and arrested for drunkenness.

There were numerous rows among among the men and the police were forced to use their batons in some cases to separate the trouble makers.

The station during the morning was amply policed. The city force was represented by Chief Clark, Deputy Jones, Sergeants Campbell and Kilpatrick, Detectives Killen and Marshall and Patrolmen Hamm and Byles. The I. C. R. force included Officers Collins and Smith and also Officer B. Purcell of Halifax.

SAYS HE TRIED SUICIDE AFTER ATTACK ON HER

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Suffering from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head and a fractured skull, caused by his having hurled himself against a wall, Elmer Hohenbach, twenty years old, of No. 541 West 132 street, was removed to Wood Wright hospital, last night and held on a charge of attempted suicide. Though attending physicians say that death must come, the prisoner was also charged with assault on complaint of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lydia Kramer of the same address.

Hohenbach's wife is but seventeen years old, and the couple have been married less than a year. According to Mrs. Kramer she elided the two for making too much noise.

"Then," she told the police, "my son-in-law shouted that I was always beating him, and saturating a towel with chloroform he attempted to kill me with the drug. My daughter and I ran from the house. As we returned we heard a pistol shot and found him unconscious." Police made a thorough search of the house, but were unable to find any chloroform only a bottle that the hospital chemist held to contain glue.

Something of a startling nature is likely to take place shortly in Buxton in connection with the Scott Act cases. The temperance people are working their utmost to wipe out the element in the town which has been brought in to sell liquor. Some of the prominent citizens also feel that when an officer is attacked with two prisoners he should be protected. Anyway there will be new developments in the many cases now up for consideration.

Mrs. Daniel Doherty received a bad shaking up at the picnic at Torryburn yesterday, when she fell from one of the picnic cars. She was picked up by Dr. Thomas Lacey, who was near at hand, attended her. He found she had sprained her ankle. The lady was placed on board the train and taken to her home in the North End. The accident took place just before the departure of the 6.30 train for the city.

DELAY CAUSED
 A long expected accident took place yesterday, when a number of picnic cars went off the track at the grounds at Torryburn. The second train left for the grounds about 11.30 o'clock, and on arrival there shunted to the track near the grounds. This train was in need of repair and stopped considerably to one side. A number of the cars went off, but no damage was done. A crowd of men were soon at work and the cars were again on the rails for the 6.30 train for the city. On account of the accident the picnicgoers were compelled to get aboard the train on the main track, which is a considerable distance from the grounds. It is expected that the track will be repaired shortly, as a more serious accident is very apt to result.

COMPANION SKIPS
Girl Charged by Her Father With Stealing $25.00

A happy couple who were on their way to the West to get married and settle down were suddenly parted at the depot last night by Officer Donnelly of Moncton and Officer Marshall of St. John, and the fair young girl was placed under arrest, charged with stealing. Her lover escaped through the door of the coach and was not seen afterwards.

Constable Thomas Donnelly of Moncton came to the city on one of the first sections of the harvesters' excursion and after arriving in St. John received a message from Chief Rideout stating that Ida Coates of Moncton had stolen $25 from a man in that town and had taken the excursion train for the West with a man named Teed of Brunswick. When the second section arrived Officers Donnelly and Marshall entered the coach where the couple were and placed the girl under arrest, while her lover escaped through the car door and was not seen afterwards. She was taken to the central police station and will be sent to Moncton today.

TOOK OUT THE STARCH. He thought he had nerve, and he proposed to the beautiful heiress. "Will you?" he asked poetically. "No," she stormed, with nature. "Then will?" And he did. He wilted like a two ply collar at a ball game on an August afternoon.—Houston Post.

It appears from the story told by herself and the officer, that the couple Teed made up their minds to go to Winnipeg and they got married and settled down. Their financial standing was somewhat low and she decided to take a certain amount from her father and in some unknown way stole $25 from him. The pair then took the excursion train, believing that thousands of miles would soon be between them and the father before the theft was discovered, but it proved otherwise. The girl sobbed and wept at the station here when discovered by the police. Her lover lost no time in leaving the train and disappearing.

The girl is about eighteen years of age and innocent looking. She had a ticket for Winnipeg in her possession.

THOUSANDS HEAR CALL OF THE WEST

Trains Crowded on Leaving St. John 5,000 DEPART

Young Men Go to Harvest Fields from all Parts of Province

Yesterday the Maritime Provinces sent their boys and muscle to help garner the golden grain of the great West. Over five thousand of the youth of eastern Canada started last evening on the long journey to Winnipeg, from which point they will be distributed throughout Manitoba. Seven farm laborers' specials were used to convey the harvesters. Three of these trains were made up in St. John. Two came from Halifax and one from Sydney. The remaining one started from Point du Chene with the Prince Edward Islanders, who crossed Northumberland Strait by special steamer.

The excursion had all the features of similar excursions of previous years with few exceptions. One of the latter was the number of excursionists which was much larger than in ordinary years. Another feature which distinguished it from the average harvest excursion was the absence of drunkenness and fighting. The class of men who formed the living freight of the three trains which were made up here was excellent. Some whiskey was of course in evidence among the excursionists and the crowd was a little noisy, but in spite of these little drawbacks everything about the Union depot went smoothly until the last of the local excursion trains pulled out at about half-past twelve this morning.

The first train left at 8.30 p. m. the second an hour later. Harvest excursion trains are usually accompanied by a number of C. P. R. detectives, but this season no plain clothes men were on the trains.

The composition of the excursion crowds was about as usual. A few mainly parties consisting of women and children were to be observed, but the great majority of the excursionists from the Maritime Provinces must in excess of what the C. P. R. officials expected. Three thousand was the figure expected. The last of the harvest trains passed through at about 6.30 this morning.

MAKES KNOWN RESULT OF BORINGS IN BAY

Rock of Western Shore Drops Quite Abruptly Beneath Surface BORING OUTSIDE NOW

Yesterday the fine weather enabled the boring crew of the Public Works Department which is operating in Courtenay Bay to make its first borings outside the bay proper. Operations today were successful as a result of one of the members of the crew dropping overboard from the scow an important piece of machinery. As the loss of this put a stop to all work it was imperative that it be recovered. Consequently one of the men went overboard and dived in search of the missing piece of machinery. In the bay itself a complete line of borings has been made east from the end of Britain street. The result of these borings has been the acquiring of the knowledge that the rock on the western shore of the bay dips quite abruptly beneath the surface of the water. The dip is about one in five. The material through which the borings were made consisted of layers of sand, clay and silt in the order named. Outside the mouth of the bay the borings have been made through sand alone.

C. P. R. RUSHES IN TRAIN LOAD OF STRIKE BREAKERS

TORONTO, Aug. 11.—The C. P. R. surprised the West Toronto strikers last night by running in a trainload of fifty-five strike breakers, supposed to be Toronto men. The pickets had absolutely no chance to get at the men and could not dissuade them from going to work. There are in all about 120 strike breakers in the yard now. The men are being housed in temporary living quarters in the yards. The company has a force of Pinkerton men in the yards now. It is said, however, almost doubled its special constables staff. The union men have made no demonstration.

Are Going West

Several of the strikers are going West to get work in the harvest fields. They say they may then take up land in the West and settle down there. Union men allege that the crippled cars in the yards are daily increasing in number and that the company has not nearly enough men to keep up with the repairs that need to be done.

Interests Boards of Trade

An effort is being made by some of the strike leaders to have the Boards of Trade in towns along the railway union in urging the Dominion railway commission to interfere. The leaders are willing to meet the company half way. They ask no concessions but simply adherence to conditions that obtained prior to the strike. At Winnipeg the pension scheme now in force on the C. P. R. has compelled the company to make a concession where men were wearing their pension period unions have issued certificates, but in spite of these little drawbacks everything about the Union depot went smoothly until the last of the local excursion trains pulled out at about half-past twelve this morning.

MONTREAL, Aug. 11.—The strike of C. P. R. mechanics was without intermission today. A public meeting was called for the afternoon for the avowed intent of having the grievances of the men before the board of arbitration. About 2,000 turned out to the meeting, but with only a few exceptions they were all strikers.

Sir Thos. Chisholmsey left for Saint Andrews, N. B., this evening, a fact which is taken here as indicating that the company is not greatly worried over the situation. The C. P. R. president, however, will be in almost as close touch with affairs as if he were here in person.

Today was devoted to the annual meeting of the Grand Encampment and Rebekah Assembly. Fourteen members of the Grand Encampment degree, the Grand Encampment degree. P.'s and encampment at places of meeting to confer degrees on candidates coming from lodges where there are no encampments.

Unfurl Red Flag

At an early hour they unfurled a red flag and proceeded to march from the construction camp to camp and ordered the men to quit work. The men were frightened into leaving and in a short time nearly the whole force of over 800 men were idle.

Word was sent to town and the police force was dispatched to the scene of the disturbance. The party was made up of Chief Crawford, Inspector Noble, of the I. C. R.; Max M. Mowat, of the police committee, and four officials, fully armed. They were taken out of the line by teams and after a forty-two mile drive, arrived at the scene of the trouble about two o'clock.

Found All Idle

On arriving at the main camp, the officers found the men at the picket lines were not present, having gone ten miles further in to make the choppers stop work. These ringleaders were parading from camp to camp. Officers Noble and Crawford proceeded on horseback, followed by a posse of police and met these agitators bringing out the rest of the gang. The ringleaders were promptly pointed out and arrested, but without threats to the officers, but the work was freely displayed, but the officers were firm and landed their men. These were promptly sent out to town and arrived here last evening.

Searched For Arms

Previous to leaving for town all the Italians in the various camps were searched for arms, and the police station last evening was like an arsenal with a description therein. There were fourteen guns or rifles, seventeen revolvers and a score or more of knives. At this stage of the game some of the Italians became very wicked and made many threats to the officers, but the work was proceeded with.

The men soon quieted down after the ringleaders were arrested, and most of them were returned to work. In all less than a hundred men have left the picket lines and their places were promptly filled. The men wanted $1.75 per day instead of $1.60.

PROHIBITION IN MAINE.

In a determined attempt to prove that prohibition does not pay Mr. Holman Day, a Maine man, writes in Appleton's Magazine that the law is sadly deficient so far as his native state is concerned. Mr. Day is of the opinion that the reformers in Maine have over-reached themselves in making the law too savage. Such laws, he says, are chock-full of public sentiment and cannot be enforced. So far as Maine is concerned Mr. Day does not believe that it has been actively, honestly, consistently or strongly enforced. He thinks it has been a constant tool of the politicians, a playing in the hands of both parties for years. The Democratic platform frankly demands the re-submission to vote of a prohibition clause in the constitution and the "dry" party is not sure of the result in case this demand is granted. This failure to enforce the law in Maine adds to the evidence of ages on the insufficiency of intemperate sumptuary legislation. There is another important phase of the question, that in the health side of the matter. In Maine good liquor cannot be sold commonly, as it may be seized and spilled any moment. Mr. Day describes a drink made up of alcohol, tobacco steepings and stupefying drugs. Many victims of this stuff have died, he claims, after being arrested for intoxication, and more, apparently crazed by the compound have hung themselves in their cells. Therefore Mr. Day assumes that Maine has not proved that prohibition pays.

It would seem that Mr. Day has treated the Maine prohibition situation somewhat narrowly. There are obstacles to be overcome by every law. That is what legislation is for, and Mr. Day has not pointed out any of the good that has resulted from prohibition in Maine. Statistics from New Zealand, where the prohibitive law has been given a thorough test, show that the results have been eminently satisfactory to the prohibition party. Municipalities which a few years ago decided strongly against prohibition, have since adopted it by a large majority and if prohibition works in New Zealand why should it not in Maine?

WAR POSSIBILITIES.

In a bulletin issued recently at the instance of a prominent naval authority of Europe as to the probable cost of a modern European war, there is furnished material which will keep the Belloc section of the public thinking for sometime. This naval authority estimates that a war between Germany and another European power would cost the former $1,500,000,000 per annum as long as it lasted. The indirect loss through financial depression and the paralysis of industry would be far greater. If three or four European powers were involved, as would be likely in view of the existing alliances, the drain of the resources of Europe would be appalling. It is estimated that the loss of life would be heavier than in the recent Russo-Japanese war when 20 per cent. of the Japanese armies in the field were killed or wounded. The gentlemen referred to believes that reckoning on the same proportion, the European powers would lose approximately 900,000 killed and wounded during the same length of time, and he declares it would be a veritable orgy of blood.

C. P. R. Telegraphers Will Have No Excuse to Go on Strike as Dispute Has Been Settled.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—The Labor Department reports that at present no Government interference in the C. P. R. strike is contemplated. It is pointed out that under the provisions of the Lameux Act there can be no sympathetic strike of other unions until a grievance has first been stated and inquiry made by a board of conciliation early take some time.

Arthur Brisbane, in his booklet entitled "Mary Baker-G. Eddy," has some interesting things to say about that distinguished lady. Mr. Brisbane, who is not a Christian Scientist, visited Mrs. Eddy at her New Hampshire home, and he describes her surroundings, her household, and reports an interview with her. He enjoyed the privilege accorded him, and was greatly impressed by his visit. Even those who are not Christian Scientists cannot help sympathizing with any man or woman who leads a great movement and is subject to vicious attacks from people who have given no thought or study to the question, and who, therefore, should realize that they are in no position to judge.

SLICK FINANCIER VISITED THE CITY

An enterprising gentleman who has been in St. John during the past couple of weeks has acquired a reputation for high finance during that time. While here he purchased a small grocery business and after eight days returned it to its original owners at a profit of $150.00. He managed to run up large bills with a North End liquor dealer, a firm of wholesale grocers, a weekly newspaper and others. He attempted to get a position as agent for a life insurance company but did not succeed as the bonds he promised were not forthcoming.

He told of coming from Los Angeles to the Maritime Provinces in an automobile. His wife and two children are still boarding in the city. There is a difference of opinion among his creditors as to whether or not he is likely to return.

The Toronto World, Conservative, prints a New Brunswick dispatch to the effect that Hon. F. B. Carvell, K. C., M. P., had been re-nominated by the Liberals of Carleton County, under the heading "Carvell Safe." This is significant.

THE FORGOTTEN SPORTS.

Some of the games that we played at sea. On velvet turf where the shadows lay. To music sung by the rustling trees. In the waning heat of the summer day. When miles and miles on the links we stray. I sometimes another a worried tear. When I remember our old croquet. Where are the sports of yesterday? Lost those days on the emerald sea. When the master wrist made the shaft obey. And our arrows raced with the summer breeze. As we twanged them free on their graceful way. But now we hammer the glaring day. With the sunstroke's doom for a present fear. As tennis sweats us beneath its sway. Where are the sports of yesterday? A lack of time when we rode through seas. Of grass on byways and smelled the bay. And heard the robins rehearse their songs. But bicycling don't come to stay. For now we motor and speed and slay. And gasp in the dust, nor see, nor hear. But reckon the bills we will have to pay. Where are the sports of yesterday? Dame Fashion, won't it suffice you. Our course in manners and dress to steer. That you must govern what games we play? Where are the sports of yesterday? TRAPPED. Inkkeeper—"That man over there who began with venison has just ordered some roast mutton. Now we are in for it!" A PATRIOT. "Johnny, what's a patriot?" "A boy who'd rather miss sea'n' a game than go in on a ball knocked over de fence by de visitin' team." THE JEWELER'S LAST CHANCE. Bride (soon after the marriage)—"That jeweler who sold you the wedding ring sadly overcharged you." Groom—"The rogue! And I have bought four engagement rings from him!" NO DANGER. "I hope, driver, you will not run away with me!" "Bless you, no, mum! I've got a wife and six kids at home already!" THE FAMILY. Sunday School Teacher—"And you have no brothers or sisters?" Little Edna—"No, m'am. I'm all the children we've got."

CHALKING UP A RACE.

Two Irishmen were about to run a race to a certain tree by different routes. Suddenly Mike slapped Pat on the back and asked how they were to tell who reached the destination first. After a moment's thought Pat answered: "I tell you, Mike, if I get there first I'll make a mark on that tree with this chalk, and if you get there first you can rub it out."

HAPPY TIMES FOR AMERICAN FLEET

Many Entertainments for the Officers and Men. Special Race Meet; Sports and Other Entertainments at Night—Maoris Will Give Famous War Dances.

AUCKLAND, Aug. 12.—No more beautiful sight was ever witnessed at the picturesque Ellerslie race course than that of today, when a special race meeting was held for the entertainment of the officers and men of the American Atlantic fleet. Admiral Sherry and his staff and all the officers who could be spared from duty aboard ship and the entire contingent of enlisted men on shore leave were present. The admiral and the officers were in full uniform, and there was an enormous gathering to greet the Americans. After the races Admiral Sherry and 20 of the officers of the fleet proceeded as the guests of Prime Minister Ward, and the members of Parliament, to Rotorua, the town of the North Island, 171 miles from Auckland by rail, where tomorrow a magnificent new bath house will be opened and in connection with the function will occur a great gathering of Maori tribesmen who will dance their famous war dances. For tonight various sports and entertainments have been arranged for the sailors, while the non-commissioned officers of the New Zealand garrison will entertain at a drill on the common. LIFE NOTHING TO HIM

Unknown Man Hanged Himself in Totipot Park.

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—"Life is nothing in itself and no use to live." Leaving this dispositive message with the signature "John," attached, an unknown man hanged himself to a limb of a tree in High Park. The body was found near the north-west entrance to the park Sunday morning shortly before 7 o'clock. The discovery was made by John Fox of 15 1/2 Bond Street, who immediately notified the police. P. C. Clark went with Mr. Fox to the place and cut down the body. It was of medium height and somewhat stoutly built. His face was swarthy and deeply pockmarked. There was no mark on any kind about him that would reveal his identity, the tag on his suit being removed and that tag was in a pocket book that was found in his pocket were nearly all torn out. The writing that had been left was the short note, evidently written after the man had decided to end his life.

TRIED TO ESCAPE TAXES.

Michigan Man Who Expatriated Himself.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 12.—Unless a settlement is made shortly a sharp legal battle will be waged, on behalf of the Ontario government, to levy succession duties on the entire estate of the late John Patton, the expatriated Michigan man who died here some time ago. Upon the result will depend the course to be taken with regard to six other estates. Patton came here about ten years ago to escape a Michigan mortgage law and resided here until the time of his death. Most of his money remained invested in Detroit and other places in Michigan. The Detroit assessors endeavored to collect the tax, but Mr. Patton showed that he was a non-resident. At his death he bequeathed an estate valued at $75,000. The Ontario government maintains that the entire amount is liable for succession duties. The defense is that the reality in Windsor for a valuation less than $100,000. Under the Ontario law the government cannot collect succession duties where the whole estate is less than that sum, but Patton's solicitor is willing to pay the duties on whatever valuation is established since the estate far exceeded that figure.

CONGREGATION IN BOATS.

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—The fourth of a somewhat unique series of church services in which the clergyman occupies a corner of a veranda near the lake and addresses an audience sitting on the beach or in their canoes on the water, was conducted at 4.30 yesterday afternoon at the foot of Balsam avenue, Balmy Beach, by the Rev. A. McIntyre, of St. Aidan's Anglican church. There was present quite a number of the residents of the Beach, some having come in their boats and others having walked over to enjoy the service. The usual church order was not fully kept up, the form of worship being much more simple. A volunteer choir and a borrowed organ supplied the music for the congregation. Despite the natural difficulties of obtaining concentrated attention under the circumstances, Rev. Mr. McIntyre read his text and proceeded to his sermon after having acted as the director for one or two hymns with which he sought to make the congregation more familiar. There, while launches "chugged" past, full of people out to enjoy a bright day, with canoes slipping hither and thither under his gaze, the minister brought home to his hearers the fact that a successful life must be dominated by a purpose above the small ambitions of a day. It was, he said, the purpose of a man's life that made it a success or failure, and the greater the purpose the greater the success. As a big steel freighter crept along the horizon and made it way up the lake the benediction was pronounced. It is hoped through the season, Clergymen of other denominations are expected to take some of the services hereafter.

As he left the merchant's office he was seized by two soldiers and hustled to jail where he was tortured until he signed the check over to Cabrera. Case says that on his advice the merchant stopped payment.

CROP ESTIMATE HAS BEEN MADE

The heat and drought of July lessened the yield.

(Special to The Star)

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—An estimate of the yield of Canadian crops has been issued by the Dominion census bureau. It gives the probable yield from the condition of the fields on the last day of July. The estimates are compiled from reports received from agents of the census bureau stationed all over the Dominion and thoroughly covering the whole field. The report states: The heat and drought of July have lowered the condition of field crops all over Canada, but less in Ontario and Alberta than elsewhere, because the ripening season in those provinces has been earlier. Measured on the basis of 100 for a standard condition being that at the end of June. Other crops show conditions for the end of July of 78 for potatoes, 74 for turnips, 73 for sugar beets, 75 for other roots, 77 for banking corn and 83 for fodder corn. It was too early at the end of July to give estimates of production for the lower provinces and British Columbia, but from the reports of correspondents in Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the yields of wheat, oats, barley and hay and clover are computed to be as shown in the following table: Wheat, 120,523,000 bushels; oats, 269, 264,000 bushels; barley, 71,690,000 bushels; hay, 5,780,000 tons.

In the western parts of Ontario harvesting and haying operations were largely completed at the end of July, and in Alberta they were under way. In Saskatchewan and Manitoba cutting was not expected to begin earlier than the second week of August.

TIFLIS, Aug. 11.—The Armenian leaders in the Caucasus are endeavoring to check the tide of immigration to America and are also trying to induce their countrymen who left Turkey on account of persecutions, to return to Armenia. Over 1,000 Armenians, who gathered at Eaton, to take steamers for America, have abandoned their plans since the proclamation of the Turkish constitution and will take advantage of the Sultan's permission to return to Turkey.

The Last House

By JESSIE M. WHITTAKER

He knew it now as a light from his own window. A pang of self-pity seized him. In all the years, never before had a light been set in a window to lure and guide him home. Home! Never before had he thought of his solitary house on the hill as that.

Now, because a woman was there, and a light shown from the window, the place was transformed, and—she was going home. He plunged forward like a moth to the flame. The simile occurred to him, but the consequences could not daunt him.

Yes, when he reached the door, his strange elation overtook him. The old fear for himself and dread for Lottie gripped him again, and only the light and spur of conscience and human compassion compelled him to enter the room.

A faint movement from the couch told him that she was yet awake, and "the doctor will soon be here," he told her, his hand still upon the latch behind him. "His wife is coming, too."

"The dead whiteness of her face and her closed eyes shook him out of all self-control. He ran to her and laid his fingers on her feebly-pulsing wrist. Her brow was drawn and dewy with pain. As he bent over her to listen for the weak breath, she opened her eyes wide upon his, and for a moment he could only lose himself in their depths. But had they been the gates of Paradise he could only have stood and gazed. He had welded his purgatorial chains too well to escape them with a single bound.

"You will soon be better," he assured her, drawing himself up stiffly. "The doctor's wife is even better than he, and she's bringing everything you need."

He drew the covers over her closely around her, and made her taste a little wine. "I am better now," she sighed daintily, and turned her face away from the light.

"Could you sleep now?" he asked. "Perhaps," she answered dully. "Her sat down at the further side of the room, folding his arms upon the edge of his chair and looking at her head upon the pillow. There was nothing to do, nothing that he could do, but to wait. The whisper of a great bell. He lifted his head, and placed his feet more rigidly on the floor.

"Lottie," "Can't you sleep?" he asked gently, but did not move. The silence that followed almost persuaded him that he had heard nothing. Then "Lottie," came the call again, hardly above a breath, with the ethereal sweetness of the first notes of music that arouse a sleeper. He clenched his hands together, and, with a gasp, he turned and looked at her. "There was no reply, and his heart began to throb with terror. His strained ears tried to catch the faintest sound or movement across the room, yet when she called again he made no answer.

"Lottie," He sat motionless as a stone. Would the doctor never come! "Lottie, surely she cannot be dead. Truth between us—now at last. It cannot matter now—forget for this little while, Lottie!"

He rose heavily, and, without turning, walked to the window, and, placing his forehead against the icy glass, stood staring out into the desolation of the night. His answer was a two-edged sword held by the blade. "It was no wish of mine that he was not again," he said with slow distinctness.

"Yes," she said softly, "I know." Her answer stirred in him a subtle wonder; there was neither anger, pain nor reproach in her voice; only a loneliness, compassion. He hid his face against his upturned arm and heaved a heavy sigh against the wall.

"Lottie," "Are you trying to drive me mad?" he asked in a low voice. "I am trying to win you from madness," she answered softly. "Have they been such happy years?" "He made no answer, but his heart beat like a great hammer—blows, and the blood surging in his ears was like a setting flood. The palpitation and the dread of her pleading became alike intolerable.

"You had lit the candle," she reminded him. "With the desperate effort of a fatalist—seized lion, he summoned his strength to answer: "The lamps had gone out; that was all." He felt that she had half risen on the couch; he felt the imploring stretch of her hands; most keenly of all he felt the look that he knew was in her eyes. His nervous fingers beat a tremulous involuntary tattoo upon the window-pane.

"Lottie!" He knew what was coming, as the lightning flash prepared the nerves for the blow of thunder, and his fingers gripped the window-lodge with an iron hold.

"Lottie, I am the woman you loved!" slowly, as a tortured body might writhe and wrench itself from the rack, he turned and faced her; then, rising and blind, he crossed the room and fell on his knees beside her.

with his. "Lottie! Lottie, my love," he whispered, and gave her all the long-denied truth from his eyes. "Forgive! Can you?" she answered under her breath. "He drew her fingers to the pulse in his wrist. "There real blood beating there?" he asked.

"Yes," she answered. "Looks at me again, Lottie. Am I really alive? Do my eyes look like a living man?"

She smiled her answer, and then studied him gravely. "You had a cap-die-attack in your hand," she mused. "How strange! Was it all an accident?"

"No, not all accident. Let us not talk of that, now." The swish of wheels and the crunching of horses' feet through the snow broke upon them. He rose and went into the next room, and, groping in the depths of an old trunk, went back to her with that casket of magic gold, an old engagement ring. He held it out to her. "Look, Lottie, do you know what it is?"

"You are thinking of that day at Willow Haven? Forget that!" he begged. "Think of tonight and tomorrow, and of all our tomorrows."

"Lottie," Her low voice rose and fell like the murmur of distant waters on its wind, sometimes slipping out of hearing altogether. She spoke rapidly, between soft little breaths, and Lottie leaned close to her lips.

"Once you loved for its sweet—and hated it for its bitter. Once you wanted only the moon—and the sun and the song—and would have none of the thorns and clouds—and the tears. You—Oh, Lottie, can't you see that there is no much left—nothing perhaps—but the thorns and the cold and the dark?"

"Then I want the thorns and the cold and the dark. I will take all. I want all. I want to live. I want all love brings; I will yield all it asks—quick, Lottie, they are at the door. Answer me, Lottie. Do you remember what is in the ring? Will you put it on again?"

Her left hand moved feebly, and he slipped the ring back to its old place. The doctor and his wife looked with unconcealed wonder at Lottie when he let them in. Perhaps they had never before seen a fellow-creature in the hours of his transfiguration.

The white light of it did not leave him, even when the doctor came out to him at dawn with the news of his patient.

"Will she?" His eyes finished the question that his lips refused. "No," said the old physician, who was a stickler for truth: "It is worse than this. She will live—such a life as it will be. The fall from the moving car, the fright, the long exposure, the super-human effort, she must have made to reach shelter—I wish I could give you more hope, Mr. Labrie—even a strong man could hardly hope to cover from a shock of such a nature your poor friend has received."

But Lottie looked, as the doctor afterward told his wife, like any but a man whose hopes had been dealt a mortal blow.

Indeed the glow of that night's miracle had not left him when he walked in the June gardens, cutting roses for Lottie to send to the doctor's wife. "She is wonderful," the doctor was remarking for the fiftieth time. He had just come from the room where Lottie's wife lived out the measure of her death-life days. He was not a fool, yet he often ventured where an angel might have passed by.

"Lottie," said he, "it is told in Evangelical that you once said such a life as this—yours and our poor Lottie's—was a hell you refused to be suspended from."

Lottie's eyes met the doctor's with an undisturbed affection, and then turned to his wife's window.

"Most of us are more or less mad, for a longer or shorter time, at some period of our lives. Haven't you found it so, Morrison? Mine lasted longer than most men's, perhaps. Doubtless I said something like that. I haven't recovered entirely, but there are glimpses of paradise, too. And it is so good to be alive—after all those years."

Reduces Fat a Pound a Day

The Simplest, Surest and Most Effective Way to Get Rid of Surplus Flesh Without Drugs HOW TO PROVE IT TO YOURSELF WITHOUT ANY EXPENSE WHATSOEVER. The first thing not to do when trying to reduce your weight is to take something that contains a drug of any kind, or try to starve the fat away. The moment you begin to do that you give a distinct shock to the entire nervous and digestive systems, and through you may lose some fat as a result, you will lose your health with it.

Pat people as well as others should realize that, as a general rule, there is a remedy for every defect of the human organism. Nature provides a remedy for nearly every disease. It is a law of the universe. This is true of that dangerous and uncomfortable disease—obesity. Nature provides a remedy, and adds extracts from minerals, but from extracts of fruits, plants, herbs and other organic materials which are harmonious to the human system.

Among such materials there is known as Rango, which has not yet become universally known, but the use of which has already resulted in enormous benefits, and most probably in the saving of many lives. This remedy is commonly called Rango. The rate at which this remedy will reduce fat, and do it harmlessly and surely, is truly remarkable. A pound a day is ordinarily reduced, and being done by compelling perfect assimilation of the food, and sending the nutriment where it belongs.

The most remarkable feature of Rango is that you can take all you want of it without running the slightest risk of harm. It can be chewed like candy and is pleasant to the taste. Many physicians, who before were at a loss to know how to cure obesity, are now prescribing Rango with remarkable success. It is a great nerve-strengthening, appetite-inducing, and inducing a general excretion of mucus and body. Wrinkles are removed, and most probably the reduction of fat where injurious drugs and starvation process is tried, do not occur when Rango is used.

There is nothing "just as good" as Rango. For sale by all druggists at $10.00 per full sized box, or by mail, by The Rango Co., 3386 Rango Bldg., Detroit, Mich. The company will gladly send you a trial package free by mail if you write them direct to Detroit; no free packages at drug stores.

TWO LIVELY ROWS ON GEORGE STREET

One Man Throws Bottle Through a Window ANOTHER BEATS HIS WIFE

Two lively rows occurred on George street last night, and although no injuries were received by any one some narrow escapes were experienced. Joe McElhinney, a notorious drunken character who is well known in police circles, limbed too freely in intoxicating liquor and found his way to the street in front of Mrs. Doyle's store. He filled his pockets with stones and bricks and threw them at the windows in the neighborhood. He threw a bottle through a window in Mrs. Doyle's house, breaking the glass and striking a girl who was inside on the head. She was not cut, but a painful bruise was received. McElhinney was afterwards arrested by Officer McNamee.

On the same street James LeVine came home drunk and abused his wife to such an extent that if assistance had not arrived in time she would have received serious injuries. He followed her to one of the bedrooms and threw her on the bed, where he tried to choke her. Mrs. Doyle, who lives across the road, rushed into the house and found Mrs. LeVine almost choked to death and demanded that LeVine leave the premises. He then turned upon Mrs. Doyle and tried to grapple with her, but she threw him off and his wife pushed him down the stairs. He left the house later in his bare head and did not return.

SECOND CONCERT ON NEW STAND TONIGHT

City Cornet Band Has an Elaborate Programme Prepared This evening the City Cornet Band will give the second of their concerts in the new band stand in King Square. A fine programme has been prepared. The stand is now about completed and it is hoped that all the effects will be ready by tonight. This is the first evening hand concert given in St. John for some time and tonight's crowd should number nearly 5,000. There is still a large amount of money to be subscribed, but the bandmen anticipate little trouble in securing what they desire. The presentation of the City Cornet, and it is expected all the efforts of the management, will be the biggest and best show that St. John has yet had the privilege of attending. No fault can be found with the patronage of past years, which in comparison with other cities of similar size has been remarkably high. Without a race track as an added drawing card the attendance in past years has reached stupendous heights. But large as has been the patronage before, efforts are being unflinchingly put forth to make this the banner year. Entries are coming in rapidly, so much so in fact that the tally once would be high in attending to the matter at once.

TOURIST TRAVEL IS BREAKING RECORDS

Hotels Turned Away Scores Late Last Night Tourist travel in the city yesterday was very large and many hotels were turned away scores of tourists. The Boston train did not get in this morning until nearly 2 o'clock. A large number found they could not secure accommodation for the night. The Royal Hotel was obliged to turn away over fifteen persons, while the Dufferin and Victoria had to do likewise. After considerable trouble some of the men got lodgings in several of the King square hotels. The Clifton House was also full up, there were thirty single young ladies at this house.

August continued hot and warm. Yesterday the temperature in the afternoon rose to 73 degrees. At 8 o'clock in the morning the temperature was 54 degrees, while at 2 o'clock in the afternoon 58 degrees was shown. At 4 last evening 62.5 was registered. The lowest temperature was 58.5 degrees. The humidity throughout the day was fairly high. The day was an ideal one for private parties, as well as for the outing at Torrvun. A continuance of the warm weather is looked for.

GUILTY MAN MAKES DASH FOR LIBERTY

SUSSEX, Aug. 11.—To make good his escape from the court house at Sussex, while his conviction papers on a charge of selling liquor were being filled in by the clerk of Harry McKinnon or Harry Hampton. McKinnon was being tried today before Magistrate Stornbrook of Sussex on the charge of selling liquor. He went on the stand in his own defence and stated that his name was not Harry McKinnon but Harry Hampton because he did not want the newspapers to get hold of his correct name. Although the prisoner declared his name was Hampton, grave doubts exist in the minds of the authorities if this is his correct name.

As his defence was by no means a strong one the prisoner was convicted on the charge and fined $20 and costs or 30 days in jail. As his conviction papers were being filled in the prisoner slyly got out of the court room and was soon a free man. When the escape was discovered a lively dispute took place between the sheriff, inspectors and some of the constables as to who was responsible for the prisoner's escape. The sheriff claimed that after he brought his prisoner to the court room he had nothing further to do with him. The court decided that a special officer should be engaged to look after the prisoners while in court. McKinnon is still at large. His escape has caused a lot of talk in the neighborhood and any new developments are awaited with interest.

LARGEST BULL IN WORLD IS COMING

Will Be Feature of the Expo. MANAGEMENT ALERT Hope to Make This Year's Show Far Superior to Any

The dates for the St. John exhibition are rapidly approaching and few realize that only four weeks from next Saturday, Sept. 12th, the 1928 exhibition will become a reality and if the efforts of the management are being unflinchingly put forth to make this the banner year. Entries are coming in rapidly, so much so in fact that the tally once would be high in attending to the matter at once.

The man's hall will be one of the chief attractions in connection with the big show. The entries for this department are larger than ever before and Manager Arnold in referring to this exhibit becomes very enthusiastic. Nearly all the exhibits this fall will be of machinery in motion, which is of course particularly interesting. The poultry entries are also coming in rapidly and although a little early to speak with certainty regarding the cattle. Mr. Arnold reports the entries to be satisfactory.

Yesterday morning the manager received the offer of a large bull from the owner of "Banjo," the largest bull in the world, weighing 4,500 lbs. The owner is anxious to exhibit him here if satisfactory arrangements can be made. Should the matter be something novel and an exhibit well worth seeing.

"Sawyer" hailed the conductor as his train approached the town of that name. "Don't care if you did," said the young avian who had just kissed his girl. "We are going to be married next month!"—Harper's Weekly.

MINISTERS READY TO LEAVE CAPITAL

Brief Session of Government Today Will Clean up Matters OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—There was a long sitting of the government this afternoon which resulted in cleaning up the immense amount of routine matter which accumulated on the table of the privy council during the busy weeks at the close of last session when the ministers had to give all of their time to the sittings of the cabinet. There may be another brief sitting of the government tomorrow and the ministers will then leave the capital to visit the various provinces.

Sir Thomas Taylor, formerly chief justice of Manitoba, has been appointed to act as judge of the exchequer court of Canada pro hac vice, to take the sittings of that court in the west this fall. The arrangement is being initiated by the fact that Judge Cassels is engaged in the marine inquiry and will not be able to complete his work for some time.

Postmaster Taylor of Vancouver has applied for and has been granted superannuation and his place will be filled by the appointment of R. G. MacPherson, the sitting member of parliament for that city.

MAN DIVORCED FROM RACE SUICIDE BRIDE

Judge Says Agreement to Have No Children is Not Valid RESTRAINS POSTERITY

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Ruth Neuman, 30 years old, contested her husband's suit for divorce before Judge House yesterday. She admitted that the family troubles grew out of her abiding belief in race suicide, but held that Neuman should not receive a divorce because he entered into an antinatal agreement that they were to have no children.

Judge House said that agreement of no agreement, the decree should be granted, because Mrs. Neuman was acting in restraint of posterity. "It was on that understanding that I consented to be his wife," said the young bride. "After marriage he scolded me, and said I was too American for him. He refused to abide by the contract he had made with me before marriage, so I left him."

"He said I had been brought up wrong, and that he would have to make me over according to his ideas. He told me at last that I would have to forget our contract or leave. He said I could take the furniture and go to my mother's home until I was willing to do as he wished."

"When the time came for me to go away my brother was at our house and took me to my mother. My husband took me into another room, so my brother could not hear, and said that he loved me and that I could come back when I was ready to drop the contract idea."

The report that the tug Dirigo, lying at Dunn's wharf in Castleton, sprang a leak Monday night and filled with water, was incorrect. The Dirigo was purposely filled with water by her owners, so that a small leak which had existed for several years might be discovered. Two three-inch holes were bored in the boat's bottom, one at the stern, the other forward. Through these the water was allowed to rush in until the boat was full. Then they were plugged so as to keep the water in. When the tide went out the boat lay on the mud and the old leak was easily located.

Serious Charges Against Colored Woman

Parents and Sister Testify Against Her - Her Mind May be Somewhat Unbalanced.

Mrs. Georganna Sneed, a colored woman, 38 years of age, pleaded not guilty to a rather serious charge in the police court this morning, that of setting fire to a house owned by her father, Phillip Bushfan, No. 1 Union Alley, and putting in danger the lives of eleven inmates. It is believed that the woman's mind is unbalanced, and she may be examined by a physician.

Phillip Bushfan, the father of the prisoner, gave evidence that he resided in Union Alley at the rear of the Opera House. He owns two houses there. Mrs. McAleer and Mr. Harrison live in No. 1 Union Alley, and witness in No. 3. His daughter does not live with her husband. Witness said that the defendant had made numerous threats against him, and about three weeks ago told him that some night when in bed he would find himself in a blaze.

The defendant resides in a house in the alley, and last night had an altercation with her sister, Mrs. McAleer. The defendant then said she would wait until all got to bed and things quiet then she would do something. Witness was suspicious and kept watch. About 11.30 o'clock Mrs. Bushfan called witness and said "that girl has come from her house to ours." Witness got out of bed and saw a blaze in the house No. 1 Union Alley. At the same time he saw defendant run from the burning house back to her own house. Witness testified to No. 1 and found a gateway in front of the house saturated with paraffine oil, and all in a blaze. The residents of the alley were aroused and with water and earth witness, his son, with others, after some difficulty, put the fire out. Witness then hunted up a policeman and gave his daughter in charge. When the police arrived defendant refused to open the door, so Policeman Thomas Sullivan gained an entrance through a window. The defendant refused to get on her clothes, and the police had to hold her while her sister fastened on her skirts.

In the house that was set on fire there is a family of five on the ground floor, and a family of six upstairs.

When asked if she had any questions to ask the witness, the defendant said she hadn't. She said she didn't remember making any threats to burn the house, but had said she hoped that lightning would strike the house and burn it up.

Witness continued and said "his daughter had been very annoying and some weeks ago had assaulted her mother, and threw bricks into the house. He had done all that a father could do for his daughter, but finally had to put her out of his house."

Mrs. Mary Bushfan, mother of the prisoner, testified that some time ago her daughter had acted so badly that she had to be expelled from the house, and had made a threat that the whole alley would go up in smoke.

Last night witness said she heard her daughter making a threat, and some time later saw the defendant leave her house and go towards house No. 1. Then defendant ran back to her own house and at the same time the gate which he attached to the vestibule of No. 1 broke out in flames.

Mrs. Wm. McAleer, a sister of the defendant, gave evidence that she with her husband and four children resided at No. 1 Union Alley. Some time ago defendant was ejected from witness's house and as she took her clothes said, she said, that when the fire bells sounded she would have her clothes. Last night defendant used some abusive language to witness. Some few weeks ago defendant made a threat that she would burn her father's two houses. Once witness's little boy caught defendant stealing money and she said then she would poison the "bug".

George Hector, another resident of No. 1 Union Alley, gave evidence of hearing the defendant using abusive language to Mrs. McAleer. After he had retired he heard someone scream "fire" and he saw the gate on fire. He didn't see the defendant about at the time of the fire.

Frank McAleer and Mrs. Frank Bushfan also gave evidence of seeing the house on fire.

The prisoner was remanded until this afternoon when some witnesses will be heard.
