ITALIANS STILL HAMMERING ENEMY LINE PUSH AUSTRIANS BACK ON WHOLE TRENTINO FRONT

BERLIN ADMITS FRENCH ON THE OFFENSIVE; MORE GROUND WON BACK BY ALLIED ARMY

French Recover Part of Position Lost in Recent Fighting North of Hill 321 and Around Thiamont Wood and Break Up Plans for Enemy Offensive — British Raids and Gas Attack Prove Effective.

Northeast of Verdun the French have recaptured more ground from the Germans north of Hill 321 and around the Thiamont Wood. Northwest of Verdun the Germans carried out a heavy bombardment against the Avocourt and Chattancourt sectors, but were prevented from launching an infantry attack from the east of Hill 304 by the effectiveness of the French artillery fire.

In Champagne, the Germans occupied French positions near Tahaure, but later were driven out.

On the British front the expected big offensive by King George's army apparently has not yet begun but they are carrying out, at various points, successful raids on German positions and bombarding heavily from the region of La Bassée Canal to the south of the Somme. In the latter region small British attacks were put down by the Germans, according to Berlin.

French Report.

Paris, June 28.—The official communication issued tonight says:

"In Champagne after intense artillery preparation the Germans succeeded in penetrating some of our small positions in the direction of the Thiamont wood. They were driven out soon afterwards by counter-attacks.

"On the left bank of the Meuse the bombardment continued with shells in the sectors of Avocourt and Chattancourt. Preparations for an attack reported going on in German trenches east of Hill 304 miscarried under our artillery fire.

"On the right bank we made some progress with the grenade north of Hill 321 and in the neighborhood of the Thiamont Wood."

Gas Attack Successful.

London, June 28.—The war office communication issued tonight says: "During last night there were raids and patrols entered enemy trenches at several points, bombing the enemy and inflicting casualties.

"Near Angres one of our raiding parties found the enemy trenches badly damaged by shell fire. The enemy apparently had suffered from gas we had successfully discharged from our trenches. A particularly successful raid was carried out by the Highland Light Infantry near the Yvernelles La Bassée road when 45 prisoners and two trench mortars were captured, and two enemy mine shafts were destroyed, with the loss of only two men.

"Today the enemy exploded a small mine near Neuve Chapelle and another near Hulluch, but excepting slight damage to one of our saps they achieved no other result. We successfully exploded two mines southward of the Bethune-La Bassée Canal. Bad weather yesterday prevented munitions."

British and French on Offensive, Berlin Admits.

Berlin, June 28, via London (4.55 p. m.)—Attacks in small forces made at various points on the Franco-British front in the last 24 hours were repulsed by the Germans, the war office announced today. In the Verdun sector the French made a determined assault, but their attacks broke down under the German fire. Operations on the western front are described as follows:

"From Labasse Canal to the region south of the Somme the enemy made reconnoitering attacks, in conjunction with French artillery and mine explosions, and under the protection of smoke and gas clouds. The attacks were repulsed easily.

"In the Champagne attacks by weak detachments of the enemy north of Lunville failed.

"On the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) at Dead Man Hill detachments by hand grenades and small arms of the enemy were repulsed.

"On the right bank of the river the French after about 12 hours of preparation with the most intense artillery fire attacked throughout the whole of yesterday with strong force consisting in part of fresh troops, the position captured by us on June 23 on the ridge of Frois De Terre, and the village of Fleury, and the attacking lines to the east. The attack broke down without exception, the enemy suffering extraordinary losses from the curtain of fire of our heavy and in engagements with infantry.

"On June 25 Lieut. Hoehndorf put out of action his seventh enemy aeroplane, a French biplane near Raucourt. An enemy airman was shot down near Douaumont.

"It is ascertained, on further inquiry, that the report of June 23, stating that some British prisoners were taken among the attackers at Karlsruhe, is incorrect. All the prisoners are French.

"Eastern front: The village of Winlowka, west of Sokul, and Russian positions to the south thereof were taken by storm. Otherwise nothing of importance occurred on the eastern front.

"On the Balkan front there were no developments, apart from military duels between the Vardar and Lake Doiran."

Aerial Combats at Riga.

Berlin, June 28, via London (6.30 p. m.)—An official statement issued here today reports two aerial engagements at the western entrance of Riga Bay, in which the German aviators had the advantage.

In one case a German naval plane fought five Russian aeroplanes and brought down one. The other fight was between five Russians and five German aeroplanes, in which two Russian machines were brought down badly damaged. One German plane, because of damage to its propeller, dropped and sank, but its crew was rescued. The remainder of the German fleet returned undamaged.

PRINCE HENRY OF BAVARIA WOUNDED

Munich, via Amsterdam to London, June 28.—Prince Henry of Bavaria has been wounded in the head and left hand on the battle field. His condition is not serious.

DRUGGISTS HOLDING MEETING AT CHATHAM

Special to The Standard.

Chatham, June 28.—The death of Mrs. J. W. Brankley, wife of the manager of the Miramichi Lumber Company, occurred at her home here this morning after an illness extending over several months. The deceased was a highly respected lady who made a host of friends during her short residence here. Three daughters survive. The funeral will be held Friday at 2.30.

The Pharmaceutical Society are meeting here today, about twenty-five in all, representing St. John, Moncton, Fredericton, Hopewell, Newcastle, Loggieville and Chatham, are here for the convention. Adjournment was made for a trip down river this afternoon as guests of the Miramichi druggists. Luncheon was served on the boat and the party returned at 6 o'clock and resumed the business of the convention.

Italy's New Cabinet Declares Firm Purpose To Stand by Allies Until Victory Attained

Rome, June 28, via Paris.—The Chamber of Deputies today held its first session since the selection of the new cabinet, and Premier Boselli, in his speech outlining the policy of the government, said emphatically that Italy would continue the war with her allies until victory was attained.

The Premier said the army had proved its valor and endurance in repulsing the Austrian advance in the Trentino. The Chamber applauded enthusiastically when he alluded to the devotion of King Emmanuel to the country and the army. He presented the nineteen new ministers who with fifteen under secretaries of state, form the largest Italian cabinet since the establishment of parliamentary government.

RELEASE OF U. S. SOLDIERS BY MEXICAN COMMANDER RELIEVES THE TENSION

RUSSIA MAY HAVE PERMANENT PROHIBITION

Duma Strongly Favors Bill Providing for Permanent Prohibition of Vodka.

Petrograd, June 28, via London.—The bill providing for the permanent prohibition of vodka came up in the Duma today for the first time and the session was given over to a discussion of the effectiveness of the present regulations forbidding the sale of liquor and the advisability of perpetuating the advantages of the increased prosperity evidenced throughout the country since the imperial decree at the beginning of the war.

The present prohibition has been prescribed by the government and no option given to the people, except in the matter of light wines and beer, which has been left in the hands of the municipal councils in various parts of the empire. But judging from the preliminary debate, the representatives of the people will support the government and will signify their approval of the prohibition by abolishing forever the sale of vodka.

In fact the general sentiment expressed by the members of the Duma was dissatisfaction with the laxity in the enforcement of the regulations.

Quoting the figures covering eleven months in 1915, in which despite the prohibitory regulations nearly 4,000,000 vedros—a vedro equaling three and one-quarter gallons—of government liquor had been sold, one speaker asserted that drunkenness was becoming as prevalent as before the war and declared that measures should be taken to strengthen the law, not in operation.

Drunkenness, continued the speaker, also had been increased by the prohibition of large quantities of furniture polish, eau-de-cologne and other substitutes for liquor, consumed by the peasant population.

The measures making the prohibition permanent will be put to a vote at an early date, and it is expected will be passed with little opposition.

EVEN GARBAGE AT A PREMIUM IN GERMANY

Amsterdam, via London, June 28.—German newspapers received here contain an order of the federal council compelling towns and communities exceeding 40,000 inhabitants to collect kitchen refuse from all houses. The refuse is to be sent to a government factory, there to be converted into condensed food for milch cows.

The Police Court.

Yesterday in the police court five drunks were fined eight dollars each. The preliminary hearing of the three men, Walter Hayes, Fred Lupre, Jr., and Roy Hayes, charged with assault on Police Constable Ward, will be taken up next Tuesday.

U.S. DEMANDS PROMPT APOLOGY FROM VIENNA

Declares Attack on Steamer Petrolite on Dec. 5 a Deliberate Insult to the American Flag.

Washington, June 28.—The American rejoinder to Austria regarding the Austrian submarine attack on the American steamer Petrolite, made public today by the state department, describes the act as "a deliberate insult to the flag of the United States and an invasion of the rights of the American citizens," and requests a prompt apology, punishment of the submarine commander and payment of indemnity.

In vigorous language the communication sent a week ago today makes it clear that the United States government believes the facts of the case entirely different from what the Austrian submarine commander reported them to be and that immediate amends are expected.

The Austrian claim that the Petrolite's captain voluntarily gave up supplies taken from the steamer by the submarine commander is flatly contradicted as are the claims that warning shots were fired across the Petrolite's bow before she was shelled and that her appearance was such as to justify the submarine commander in mistaking her for a cruiser.

The attack on the Petrolite, a Standard Oil tanker, occurred in the Mediterranean on December 5, a protest, sent soon afterward on preliminary reports from the tanker's captain and crew brought the Austrian communication to which the new American note replies.

DRAMATIC ENDING TODAY OF SENSATIONS IN TRIAL OF SIR ROGER CASEMENT

London, June 28.—A day filled with sensational incidents at the trial of Sir Roger Casement for treason was brought to a sudden and dramatic close this afternoon, when Sergeant Sullivan, Sir Roger's leading attorney, collapsed in the midst of an impassioned summation.

Mr. Sullivan, who himself is an Irishman, was painting a picture of the wrongs he declared were suffered by Ireland and maintaining that the prisoner had committed no treason when he attempted to raise an Irish brigade in Germany for the purpose of protecting the rights of the people of Ireland against unlawful tyranny.

It was during one of his most heated outbursts that the speaker suddenly passed, away heavily against

2 1-2 YEARS PENAL SERVITUDE FOR DR. LIEBNECHT

Stiff Sentence for German Socialist Leader whose Plain Speaking Offended German Military Authorities.

Berlin, via Amsterdam to London, June 28, 9.31 p. m.—Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, was sentenced today to thirty months' penal servitude and dismissal from the army for attempted high treason, gross insubordination and resistance to the authorities.

The court adopted the view that Dr. Liebknecht was guided by political fanaticism and not by patriotic feeling, and therefore imposed the increased penalty on him. Dr. Liebknecht is entitled to appeal from the sentence.

Just previously the chief justice had cautioned the attorney that he must keep to the evidence in his argument, adding that he had, with difficulty, restrained himself from interrupting the attorney at several other points in his speech.

Mr. Sullivan apologized and proceeded, but the strain under which he was laboring proved too much for him.

Witnesses All in Germany.

Earlier in the day the justices had overruled the motion of the defense to quash the indictment on the ground that the statute under which it was drawn did not provide for the trial of a man who committed treason out

AUSTRIAN RESISTANCE BREAKS DOWN AS FIERCE DRIVE OF THE ITALIANS GAINS MOMENTUM

Forced Back Along Almost Entire Trentino Front—Teuton Reports Claim Germans Have Captured Linewka in Counter-Offensive Against the Czar's Armies in Volhynia — Artillery Duels on Greek-Serbian Front.

In the Trentino region the Italians continue to force back the Austrians along almost the entire front, having made progress in various points in the region between the Adige and Brenta rivers, in the Legarina and Arsa valleys, between the Posina and Astico rivers, and along the Upper But.

Continuing their counter-offensive against the Russians in Volhynia, the Germans have captured the village of Linewka, to the west of Sokul, and also have taken by storm positions to the south of the village. Vienna reports that further Russian attacks near Kutu in Bukovina have been repulsed by the Austrian forces.

Between the Vardar river and Lake Doiran, on the Greek-Serbian border artillery duels are taking place.

HUGHES AND ROOSEVELT ARE IN "COMPLETE ACCORD"

Republican Candidate and "T. R." Spend Two and a Half Hours Talking Political Situation Over.

New York, June 28.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, announced tonight at the end of an interview with Theodore Roosevelt, which lasted for more than two hours and a half, that he and the former president were in "complete accord."

Mr. Hughes issued the following statement:

"I was very much pleased with Col. Roosevelt's letter of endorsement and he has expressed himself in a very kindly way with respect to my telegram to the Progressive committee. I wanted to talk with Col. Roosevelt fully with respect to the issues of the campaign, and asked him to dine with me so that we might have that opportunity. He dined with me tonight and we had a very delightful interview. We talked very fully over all matters, and are in complete accord. The evening has been a very pleasant one."

LONDON IS SURPRISED AT APPOINTMENT

London, June 28, (Montreal Gazette Cable)—The appointment as governor-general of the Duke of Devonshire, came as a great surprise to Londoners, his name having never been mentioned in the numerous speculations. The London press generally support the comments of Sir George Foster that the Duke of Devonshire will bring to this high office the prestige of his noted family, and the qualities and experience so fitting to him for taking up this work.

The Cavendish type, says the Pall Mall Gazette, is not one of exuberant brilliance, but it is unmatched in staying power, and in its balance of judgement and discretion.

The newspaper Canada, speaking on behalf of the Canadian community in England think the choice a happy one, as the House of Cavendish possesses splendid traditions in the public service, adding that the Duke will find himself surrounded with an atmosphere of friendliness and goodwill at Ottawa.

side the realm. The effort to establish this was admittedly the prisoner's main defense. It was announced that no witnesses would be produced.

Amsterdam, June 28, via London, June 29.—Revised figures of the casualties resulting from the rioting at Galtz, Roumania, Monday show that fourteen persons were killed and thirty-five wounded, says a despatch received here from Bucharest. In addition one hundred persons were arrested. The casualties occurred while troops were repressing a demonstration of working men against the high prices of foodstuffs.

The despatch adds that M. Racowski, leader of the Roumanian Socialists, has been arrested in Bucharest at the request of the Galtz court.

A general strike in sympathy with the Galtz movement has been called in Bucharest for Thursday. The Roumanian press generally attacks the government for its failure to deal adequately with the food situation.

Denies Belgians Will Have To Fight For Hun.

Berlin, via London, June 28.—Governor-General Von Bisping at Brussels has issued an official denial of reports circulated abroad that the German government intends calling the Belgians for military service.

Austrians Claim Gains.

London, June 28.—Successes for the Austrians against the Russians near Kutu in Bukovina and by the Germans over the Russians in Volhynia are recorded in the Austrian official communication received here tonight. The communication says:

"We have repulsed further Russian attacks near Kutu.

"The Germans are storming the Aka-Winiewka line and other positions west of Sokul (Volhynia).

"On the Italian front we captured 540 prisoners Monday in repulsing attacks between the Dich and Brenta rivers and on the Passubio front.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, June 28, via London, June 29.—The following official communication was issued today:

"Southeast of Riga the enemy, by night, opened an offensive on the Pulikarn sector with large forces, having previously directed salvos of gunfire, and clouds of gas against our positions. Thanks to the opportune arrival of reinforcements and the concentration of our artillery we threw back the Germans with heavy losses.

"On the Drina and in the region of Jacobstadt there has been artillery and infantry fire. Enemy aeroplanes make frequent raids over lines, dropping bombs. During a bombardment of Dvinsk on Tuesday the Germans dropped sixty-eight bombs with insignificant effect. Two tanks of petrol were set on fire.

"We repulsed by gunfire, an attack of Krevo. On the remainder of the front, as far as the Rakitno marshes, there have been artillery duels.

"Monday evening the enemy attacked us near Linewka, on the Stokhol, but was repulsed.

"In this district the enemy continues to maintain a violent artillery fire. In an attempt to halt our advance in Bukovina the enemy is using every possible means to prevent us from constructing bridges and in destroying bridges already built; but our engineers are surmounting all obstacles, and successfully accomplishing their task.

"Caucasus front: South of Lake Urumish we pushed back the Turks from the region of Bann toward the Turco-Persian frontier.

MAJORITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK SCHOOL TEACHERS CAPTURED THE LOYALTY CITY YES DAY

The twenty-sixth biennial meeting of the New Brunswick Teachers' Institute opened yesterday morning in the High School building here. The teachers were present in force from all over the province, 565 having registered yesterday. It is expected that more will register today, which will in all probability increase the number to over 600. In the morning executive business was carried out and Dr. Carter read his annual address. At the afternoon session addresses were delivered by Miss Eleanor Robinson, Hon. Payson Smith and Dr. F. H. Sexton. In the evening a public meeting was held in the Opera House, addressed by Hon. Payson Smith. The different papers were all of a very high order and were highly appreciated by the teachers present. These meetings are all open to the public and those in charge will be glad to welcome any person desiring to attend. Several good things are planned for today and it would be well worth while for those interested in educational work to spend a part of the day in attendance at the sessions of the institute.

The Morning Session.
Yesterday morning's session opened with an executive meeting at nine o'clock, when George A. Inch was elected secretary and a nominating committee, consisting of Messrs. O'Brien, Hetherington, of Florenceville; Hetherington, of Florenceville; Lynch, of Chatham, and Oulton, of Moncton, was appointed.

The institute proper convened at 10 o'clock with Dr. W. S. Carter in the chair, and on the platform with him were Chancellor Jones of the U. N. B., Dr. H. V. Bridges of the Normal School, Dr. H. S. Bridges, superintendent of schools in St. John, and Inspector McLean, O'Brien and Dixon.

Dr. Carter in his opening address briefly reviewed educational progress since the last institute meeting. He referred particularly to the Maritime Provinces convention held in Halifax at which New Brunswick was well represented. Many subjects of interest and importance were dealt with at that convention to all of which Dr. Carter referred.

Dealing with federal aid to education he said: "A matter of the utmost importance to the Maritime Provinces is our just claim to increased federal aid to education. Quebec, Ontario and the Western Provinces had their areas of school lands increased and their areas doubled, from lands which belonged to us as well as to them. In addition to this, millions of dollars worth of school lands have been given to the Western Provinces from our common heritage. We in the Maritime Provinces have no hinterlands, and should therefore be compensated by additional grants. The subject has been proposed upon the agenda of the Dominion government by our own government, as well as that of Nova Scotia, and I think we should continue to press our claims in this regard."

By means of these extra resources, the Western Provinces have been able to offer such inducements to our teachers as to seriously cripple us in our supply.

"I may say, in passing, that the school lands in Alberta, are estimated to be worth $88,000,000, and those in Saskatchewan $115,000,000."

After discussing the duty of the state in reference to the feeble minded, Dr. Carter passed on to the consideration of matters of more immediate interest to the teachers of New Brunswick. The supply of teachers in our province had not exceeded the demand but had more than once fallen short of it. It was the aim of the New Brunswick Board of Education to secure the best possible teachers and with this aim in view there was a disposition to discourage the granting of local licenses, third class teachers were debarred from teaching in school districts where the tax valuation for school purposes exceeded $15,000 and where it was at all possible to secure a teacher of a higher grade.

In most cases there had been gratifying increases in salaries but there was still much to be desired in this particular. This was especially the case in country districts where the salaries were not at all what they should be.

Dealing with teachers' pensions he said there were in the province 33 living pensioners and the amount paid was $7,497.64. The New Brunswick pension system was one of the best if not absolutely the best in Canada. He also referred to school property in the province and to some of the splendid school buildings in St. John, Woodstock, Campbellton, Chatham, Moncton, St. Andrews, Sussex, Hampton, Kingston, Rothesay, Perth and others. The new annex to the Normal School in Fredericton had made that building the finest in the province devoted wholly to education and which was the only one to provide facilities for physical education and training. A new school to be built in St. John would also be equipped in this manner.

As to increased financial support for schools he said: "We need more money for our schools. There are many weak districts which need more. Provision from the crown's chest, a tax rate of $3.00 per $100.00 in one district in the same parish as against 12 cents per $100.00 in another is an inequality that should not exist—what shall we do about it? In my opinion we should begin by making the parish levies for assessment instead of the rate."

Dealing with school property, wherever it is for school purposes, he said: "The doubling the county fund tax in that the strong may help the weak. Learning school courses he said: Education Department in loyal co-operation with the Agriculture Department in a system of elementary agricultural education and Nature Study work. This plan has been adopted by nearly all civilized countries and is designed to induce them to remain at home to assist in its development, instead of investing their abilities and money away from home.

"The Nature Study course has proved some adverse criticism. It may deserve some. I can only say that it is on trial. It is not claimed that it is perfect. With your sympathetic co-operation, it will be amended as the need for the same may be demonstrated."

"We may expect development in the direction of vocational education in the near future."

"It is under consideration to substitute lectures in first aid by a competent physician instead of the physiology now given at the Normal School, also to give a course of Elementary Household Science to Normal School students."

"We have had brought to our notice the merits of the Montessori and Gessy plans of education. Without discussing them, I can say we cannot afford to experiment. Both are costly and on trial. We shall in this, as in some other matters, await the experience and investigation of others."

"Perhaps some of the misconception regarding courses of instruction arises from an occasional change of textbooks. When a text-book is changed it is assumed by some that a new subject has been added to the course. We have not changed some texts that you may regard as obsolete or we will adapt for our purposes. I hope to see with you and say that I would gladly see some of them changed. When I see what may be had and compare them with some of those we are using, it is somewhat discouraging. I hope to see the day come when we shall have free text-books. Then we shall be able to use the most modern tools of our trade and be able to change them before they become out-worn."

He referred interestingly to the value of physical training and said that between 3,000 and 4,000 teachers had taken physical courses and were competent to instruct in it.

"The organization of Cadet Corps in our Normal, High and other schools had made considerable progress, and the records of some of them have been most creditable to all concerned."

"Many of our male teachers have taken the Cadet Instruction Courses given during the vacation. The subject has been proposed upon the agenda of the Dominion government by our own government, as well as that of Nova Scotia, and I think we should continue to press our claims in this regard."

By means of these extra resources, the Western Provinces have been able to offer such inducements to our teachers as to seriously cripple us in our supply.

"I may say, in passing, that the school lands in Alberta, are estimated to be worth $88,000,000, and those in Saskatchewan $115,000,000."

After discussing the duty of the state in reference to the feeble minded, Dr. Carter passed on to the consideration of matters of more immediate interest to the teachers of New Brunswick. ## Educational Institute, With More Than 500 Members Already in Attendance, Opens What Promises to be One of Its Most Successful Conventions—Morning and Afternoon Sessions in High School With Public Meeting in Opera House Last Evening—Noted Educationalists Discuss Important Questions—List of Teachers in Attendance.

University matriculation, a commercial course, and technical courses which prepare boys for a propitious entrance to some of the most skilled trades. All of these tendencies point in one direction, that is, the preparation of the student for special adult activities.

Education has always been defined as the training in preparation for life. Since the raising of a competent livelihood is an important part of life and since at the present time the chance of learning a trade thoroughly through an apprenticeship has become almost extinct, the school system must broaden its scope and the training necessary to enable the youth of this country to become efficient in the many occupations by which they may maintain themselves and a family in respectability and comfort.

School training must not be disconnected from the real facts of life. Education has not discharged its duty to a man if it has given him the ability to read Latin and Greek, and has not fitted him to deal with the facts of life. With all the provisions that have been made for higher training in the academies and universities, our four-fifths of our boys and girls go to school to go to work, at or before the time they have finished their first eight grades of the public school. They usually take the first opportunities of leaving school to go to work, and are well-fitted for their occupations and often shift from one to another in search of something that will better suit their tastes and capacities. Much of the time is lost in this manner. Modern industry is driven at such high speed that the journeyman and foreman do not have any time to teach the beginner. Occupations are also so highly specialized that the young learner has to do one special process and finds that his progress and promotion is stopped because he has not the necessary knowledge and skill to do anything else. Modern industry is also highly scientific and the skilled worker must possess a good deal of technical knowledge in order to rise in his vocation. The ambitious worker finds no more of gaining the necessary promotion in our time than the farmer who has recourse to one of the various correspondence study schools. In this way much needless time, effort, and money are spent. Thousands of students who have gone through every year to correspondence schools—probably more than enough to provide the same instruction by the province to many times the number of students who have gone through the correspondence study schools.

For the reasons adduced I believe of the province of New Brunswick should follow the lead of Great Britain, the United States, some of the continental schools, and the industrialized nations in establishing a system of Evening Continuation Schools. These schools are just what the name implies—schools giving classes in the evening for students who have gone through their primary and secondary education. If the classes are confined to general subjects such as English, mathematics, etc., they would be called general evening continuation schools. If they dealt with technical subjects such as applied chemistry, steam engineering, mechanical drawing, etc., they would be called technical continuation schools.

Perhaps the best way in which the need of such schools in New Brunswick may be emphasized is by telling you how the people in the sister province of Nova Scotia have responded to the opportunities offered. Last winter there were evening continuation schools in about twenty separate communities, running in population from 50,000 to 2,000. In the city of Halifax, where there were over twenty different subjects offered between 700 and 800 pupils were in attendance. In one town with a population of about 6,000, 160 students or nearly three per cent of the people were studying something to improve themselves. In coal mining communities the subjects related especially to this industry. Where the steel industry was the dominating activity special courses relating to it were offered. Some courses such as mathematics, drawing, electricity, etc., were common to all. Since the schools were started eight years ago some 11,000 or 12,000 people have received instruction which they elected as being of use to them in their various occupations. Many of the students have risen to positions of great responsibility by means of the knowledge gained in these classes. The schools have been responsible for a general change in the attitude and capacity of our industrial workers and have made many of our women more capable in some of their home-making activities. Surely these things are worth while.

I am not recommending the evening continuation schools to your consideration as the complete solution of the problems of general and technical education which confront us. I am emphasizing them as an important element in the organization and supplement to our common school system to fill some of our pressing needs.

By means of these schools the boys and girls who have gone to work and found their places in life could get some training for the vocations which they have selected and thus win the promotion to which their natural ability entitles them. Thus our own people could gain the necessary technical knowledge to fill the high places in industry instead of importing experts from outside to occupy the managing positions, leaving our own young men to remain hewers of wood and drawers of water. These evening continuation schools would always be a necessary part of any system of technical education which the province might develop, because they would form by far the most economical and comprehensive provisions of Great Britain, France and Switzerland and also constitute a leading place in the various kinds of technical schools in Germany itself.

Plans are now crystallizing among the Allies for a far-reaching trade agreement against the Central Powers. Germany is to be denied the right to export the blood-worthily of our finest and bravest men and then to undermine our industries by underselling them at ruinously low prices to recoup the terrific cost of the war to our enemies. The nature of the trade negotiations is a secret so far, but there is no doubt but that commerce and industry within the territories and dependencies of the Allies are to offer superior advantages to those who have fought for the right in this great war.

Canada is a country of almost limitless natural resources, but unless our people are highly skilled in turning these natural wealths into manufactured products for others, we will be a nation on a low industrial plane, offering only raw products to other more advanced peoples. A thorough turning of our natural intelligence and capacity for continuous productive labor to the best advantage. It is no excuse to say that we view technical education as a highly desirable thing, but that we have not the money to establish it. If we would prepare our whole people for competition with our present enemies in the same thorough way we have so efficiently trained our industrial workers, we can find the money for the former purpose as easily as we found it for the latter.

Another important consideration is this—that the economic struggle between Germany and the Allies which follows our victory will be more prolonged, more intense, more insidious than the clash of arms. The war will leave us with a heritage of hatred for those who have killed our glorious soldiers and a terrible need for the Central Empire to re-establish her former commerce by means of the same detestable methods in business which they have shown on the battlefield. It therefore behooves us to prepare now for the continuation of our efforts to maintain our prestige of war in the arts and industries of peace. The evening continuation school fully provided, generously supported, and efficiently administered is the most economical, most effective, and farthest reaching instrument to quickly reach the great masses of our industrial workers and instill into their minds the knowledge and principles which will make them competent to meet the enemy in trade after the war and repel the Prussian deals in commerce and industry which Germany tried to thrust upon the rest of the world by the mailed fist.

Last Night's Meeting.
The public meeting last night in the Opera House was not as well attended by the citizens generally as it should have been, while there was a fairly good attendance it was largely made up of school teachers. While the address of Hon. Payson Smith was interesting and instructive to them it was no less so to the laymen, and those who did not hear it missed a treat.

Dr. W. S. Carter presided and had on the stage with him Mayor Hayes, His Lordship Bishop Richardson, Bishop LeBlanc, Dr. Sexton, Chancellor Jones, and several others. The Paramount Ladies' Orchestra was present and added much to the enjoyment of the evening. The orchestra which is composed of the following ladies, Miss Alice Potter, leader, violin; Miss Ada Curtis, violin; Miss Gladys Hight, cornet; Miss Kitty Haskell, clarinet; Miss Ellen Lynch, cello; Miss Amy Conway, piano, and Miss Jennie Bernardo, drums, rendered the following program which called forth much applause: Medley of operatic airs, overture, "Red Cap," and, at the close, the National Anthem.

The chairman read a letter of regret from Lieut. Wood that he was unable to be present. He then called on the mayor who welcomed the visiting teachers on behalf of the city, and Dr. Bridges, who extended a welcome on behalf of the Board of School Commissioners.

Miss Alice Potter then sang, very sweetly, a solo, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," which was heartily encouraged. Miss Potter has a splendid voice and one which should be heard more frequently while she is in the city.

Smith, Commissioner of Education for the State of Maine. He referred to the war now in progress and expressed his belief that the Allies were fighting not only their own fight, but a fight to settle the question as to whether democracy should live or die. He wanted to assure the audience that the heart of the American people was with the Empire, and he felt sure that victory would rest on the arms of the Allies in this great struggle for freedom. He believed that the public school system was a kind of national life insurance and should be so conducted that the coming generation would have a proper conception of the principle of democracy. There should be careful investigation to see if the people were getting the results that should be obtained from the educational system.

A great many people had the idea that the fundamental duty of the school was to prepare, but he did not agree with that view. As he saw it the fundamental principle which should underlie the school system of today was that of growth and development. He had heard the kindergartens criticized because they did not prepare the kiddies for school, but he was glad to say that they brought the child into the life of the child that tended to promote the growth of that child and that, he believed, were doing the work they were intended to do.

The scholars in the public schools should grow mentally, morally and physically and in this connection he touched on military training in the schools and claimed that specific military training should not be given to growing boys as they were not physically able to stand it. The purpose of the school system of today should be to reach and develop all the powers of the individual scholar in order to do that different methods than those now in use would have to be adopted. Teaching methods would have to be adopted which paid more attention to the individual scholar than to the school as a whole. Our present system of grading was teaching children early in life the habit of failure and once taught it was hard to eradicate it. Another thing that should be recognized was the joint responsibility for the teaching of the young of the "country. The school should not be expected to do it all, the church had a certain duty to perform in the matter and he did not think that the school was the place for religious instruction. The libraries of the country were doing their share in the education of the people, the moving picture theatres were playing a big part in educating them along right or wrong lines, and it was time the citizens of this country realized these things and accepted their proper share of the responsibility for them.

They must be ready to accept any movement which would lead to progress along educational lines just as they in business. People had been quick to take advantage of anything which tended to better business conditions but had been satisfied to let school conditions remain as they had been for generations. The United States had spent last year on education $500,000,000, this looked like a large sum but in the same period they spent for alcohol and tobacco several times that amount. In conclusion he said that he believed that our educational system was a success only as it reached the individual scholar and developed the forces latent in each one.

Votes of Thanks.
In rising to move a vote of thanks to the speaker, Bishop Richardson said he had always thought we had good neighbors to the south of us, now he was sure of it. He was glad that the address and amount of these present would go home prepared to work harder on their educational programs. He did not think it was possible to spend too much on the children, especially in the matter of school buildings. The best was none too good and it should be a pleasure to the citizens to provide suitable buildings for their children to study in.

The chairman then extended the thanks and thanked those present for their unanimous vote of thanks of those present to Mr. Smith, after which the orchestra played the National Anthem and the gathering dispersed.

University matriculation, a commercial course, and technical courses which prepare boys for a propitious entrance to some of the most skilled trades. All of these tendencies point in one direction, that is, the preparation of the student for special adult activities.

Education has always been defined as the training in preparation for life. Since the raising of a competent livelihood is an important part of life and since at the present time the chance of learning a trade thoroughly through an apprenticeship has become almost extinct, the school system must broaden its scope and the training necessary to enable the youth of this country to become efficient in the many occupations by which they may maintain themselves and a family in respectability and comfort.

School training must not be disconnected from the real facts of life. Education has not discharged its duty to a man if it has given him the ability to read Latin and Greek, and has not fitted him to deal with the facts of life. With all the provisions that have been made for higher training in the academies and universities, our four-fifths of our boys and girls go to school to go to work, at or before the time they have finished their first eight grades of the public school. They usually take the first opportunities of leaving school to go to work, and are well-fitted for their occupations and often shift from one to another in search of something that will better suit their tastes and capacities. Much of the time is lost in this manner. Modern industry is driven at such high speed that the journeyman and foreman do not have any time to teach the beginner. Occupations are also so highly specialized that the young learner has to do one special process and finds that his progress and promotion is stopped because he has not the necessary knowledge and skill to do anything else. Modern industry is also highly scientific and the skilled worker must possess a good deal of technical knowledge in order to rise in his vocation. The ambitious worker finds no more of gaining the necessary promotion in our time than the farmer who has recourse to one of the various correspondence study schools. In this way much needless time, effort, and money are spent. Thousands of students who have gone through every year to correspondence schools—probably more than enough to provide the same instruction by the province to many times the number of students who have gone through the correspondence study schools.

For the reasons adduced I believe of the province of New Brunswick should follow the lead of Great Britain, the United States, some of the continental schools, and the industrialized nations in establishing a system of Evening Continuation Schools. These schools are just what the name implies—schools giving classes in the evening for students who have gone through their primary and secondary education. If the classes are confined to general subjects such as English, mathematics, etc., they would be called general evening continuation schools. If they dealt with technical subjects such as applied chemistry, steam engineering, mechanical drawing, etc., they would be called technical continuation schools.

Perhaps the best way in which the need of such schools in New Brunswick may be emphasized is by telling you how the people in the sister province of Nova Scotia have responded to the opportunities offered. Last winter there were evening continuation schools in about twenty separate communities, running in population from 50,000 to 2,000. In the city of Halifax, where there were over twenty different subjects offered between 700 and 800 pupils were in attendance. In one town with a population of about 6,000, 160 students or nearly three per cent of the people were studying something to improve themselves. In coal mining communities the subjects related especially to this industry. Where the steel industry was the dominating activity special courses relating to it were offered. Some courses such as mathematics, drawing, electricity, etc., were common to all. Since the schools were started eight years ago some 11,000 or 12,000 people have received instruction which they elected as being of use to them in their various occupations. Many of the students have risen to positions of great responsibility by means of the knowledge gained in these classes. The schools have been responsible for a general change in the attitude and capacity of our industrial workers and have made many of our women more capable in some of their home-making activities. Surely these things are worth while.

WHY?

Frank B. Carvell, Member of Parliament for the County of Carleton, N. B., and George W. Kite, Member of Parliament for the County of Richmond, N. S., have made serious allegations against a responsible minister of the Canadian Government and responsible Canadian officials.

These allegations and comments upon them by the men named and the Liberal press have had the effect of defaming Canada and of arousing throughout the world a contempt and prejudice against this country.

Free and full investigation of the allegations made by Carvell and Kite has shown there was no corruption or dishonesty on the part of the Minister of the Canadian Government or the Canadian officials referred to.

Why should Frank B. Carvell, Member of Parliament for the County of Carleton, N. B., and George W. Kite, Member of Parliament for the County of Richmond, N. S., be permitted to remain in Canadian public life?

THE CALL OF THE KHAKI.

"There is only one excuse under God's heaven for a man not being in uniform today, and that is that he is physically unfit."

"I want some fellow in mufti to tell me why I should go out and fight for his wife and child."

"Let somebody else sell petticoats and corsets and silk stockings to women, and you young men who are now doing that, get into khaki."

The foregoing sentences from an address recently delivered in Ottawa by Lt.-Col. C. Seymour Bullock, O. C. of the 237th Battalion, now being recruited in the Maritime Provinces, should be pasted on every dead wall in Canada and so placed that they will catch the eye of the eligible young men who have not answered the call to arms.

Recently there has been some agitation in favor of a conscriptive military system for Canada. The Standard has opposed the idea and is still opposed to it, although this newspaper realizes that a method that will not permit the slacker to shirk his duty is the best and fairest way of filling Canadian battalions, but we maintain that its adoption should not be necessary in a country where the young men love to talk of their loyalty and their devotion to the cause of Empire.

Fully 250,000 Canadian boys have joined the khaki because they felt it was their duty to do so. Many of the number could ill afford to surrender their civil employment on which the members of their family depended for support. But the men who should have gone did not go in sufficient numbers to fill the ranks of the required units and their stouter hearted brothers took their places.

Under conscription, many young men now walking the streets of this and other cities would be forced to exchange their canes for rifles and their new summer hats for the headgear authorized by the King's regulations, while the workers upon whom families depend would be back keeping "the home fires burning."

The Standard believes it would be a national disgrace if it should become necessary to resort to conscription to fill the ranks of Canada's armies but, at the same time, we admit the need of a more general response to the call to arms. The returns from the recruiting offices in this province for the past few weeks have been most discouraging and unless men come forward more rapidly than has been the case recently it will be a difficult matter to get the battalions now under arms at Valcartier up to strength, to say nothing of units yet to be authorized.

The remedy for this condition is to be found in more thorough organization and, possibly, a form of registration. Why should there not be some method of listing the available men in each locality, the men who can be spared? Despite Col. Bullock's opinion, physical unfitness, though the best, is not the only excuse for young men not wearing the uniform. And, if not, why should it not be known? Would it not save unpleasantness and avoid humiliation if the young men still in "mufti" were given opportunity to defend their apparent unwillingness to join the colors? Men who apply for military service and are rejected now have their "A. R." button as evidence that they have at least made the attempt to do their bit, and that button is entitled to as much respect as the King's uniform for by its showing that it is not the wearer's fault that he remains in civil life it raises mufti to the dignity of khaki.

How about the others who find it impossible to engage in the defence of the Empire? There are in this community, as in every other, hundreds of young married men with little or no life insurance, no money saved ahead and who depend upon their wages to support a wife and, possibly, children. There are unmarried men the sole support of aged or bedridden parents, of sisters unable to work who look to them for their daily bread. Men with such pressing family obligations should not be urged to make the sacrifice, for it is not yet necessary that they be taken any more than conscription is necessary. Why should not some emblem be provided for them and some record kept of the nature of their home ties? Certainly such men should not be carried with those who avoid military service solely because they are more comfortable here in Canada than they would be in the trenches.

There are in New Brunswick today sufficiently physically fit, unattached young men to fill all the units it will be necessary to raise in this province. Why not concentrate effort on them before raising an unwarranted and unpopular outcry for conscription? But first mark the men who cannot go and thus get a line on the real slackers.

"DOPED" NEWS.

The admission of one of the Hearst news services that alleged war cables were manufactured or doctored in New York will not come as a surprise to Canadian readers of America's "yellow" journals. It should, however, serve effectively to keep such publications out of Canada.

The objectionable are not confined to the newspapers published under the Hearst stamp. For some weeks The Standard has been receiving from an unknown and unsolicited source copies of a newspaper published in Milwaukee, so pro-German in tone that it is an absolute insult to Canadian intelligence. That paper should not be allowed to enter this country.

As an indication of one of its misstatements it declared that the recent Russian successes existed only on paper and that the entire operation was undertaken solely for the purpose of influencing the sale of Russian bonds by the firm of Morgan & Co. The Russian bond issue for which the Morgans have been agents is reported in financial papers as totalling $100,000,000—or scarcely enough to pay the cost of the Russian operations for a fortnight. Yet the Milwaukee editor asks his readers to believe that an operation affecting at least one million men and covering miles of country was launched to assist a New York financial magnate in making a sale. Such twaddle will not influence Canadian opinion, but it is absurd that even newspaper men should be forced to read it. The supply of "doped" news should not be permitted to escape from the country of its origin.

THE "SPY MENACE."

Representative and sane London newspapers are not disposed to seriously regard the stories concerning the activities of German spies which have found free circulation and more than a little credence. The latest issue to hand of the London Chronicle, under the caption "A Silly and Shabby Agitation," has this to say of the spy scare and those engaged in its promotion:

"Few things in our country's war record have struck neutral countries more unfavorably than the story of spy-mongering sensationalism indulged in a year ago by a noisy section of our press. Great Britain's tradition of steady nerves and cool common sense was badly belied by an agitation seriously remote from the real perils and problems of the war. Since Lord Kitchener's death there has been a revival of this nonsense in the usual quarters. We are told that he was 'murdered by the unseen hand,' and exhorted thereupon to intern all persons of enemy origin 'whether naturalized or not.' The detailed Admiralty statement, showing that this crew of men was at work clearing the ship was sunk by a mine, sufficiently disposes of such rubbish; but, even if it had been substantiated the fact that it was a highly important vessel of war would have made any submarine commander sink it, if he possibly could, without waiting to learn from a spy that Lord Kitchener was aboard. The newest agitation against naturalized aliens has nothing in its favour but blind prejudice. Many of them have lived in this country nearly all their lives; and many of them, having adopted British nationality by deliberate choice instead of by birth, are every bit as loyal as the native born. In numerous instances they have served in the Army and in the Navy, in many cases important at the front; in many cases enterprises of great value to the country depend on their personal ability. The agitators' clamor against their naturalization certificates does not hit them only; it hits every pro-British Norwegian or Dane or Spaniard (nay, every Frenchman or Russian or Belgian) in our midst, so far as it advertises to all of them that their not being British is a fault. It is a fault, not a crime, and it is not the wearer's fault that he remains in civil life. It raises mufti to the dignity of khaki.

Carried Canadian Flag.

A somewhat dramatic scene was witnessed in Riverside Park during the attempt of the 204th Battalion to obtain recruits, says the Toronto World. Two returned soldiers, Pte. Arthur Messer and Pte. Bud Morris, took the platform, and while the latter pulled a much-worn Canadian flag from his pocket and waved it over his head the former told its history.

"This is the Canadian flag which floated from the end of the train which carried a portion of the first contingent away from Cherry street station," he said. "It is the flag which a Toronto boy named Phillips carried with him through nine battles. He carried the flag with him even after he received his death wound on the field of France, and my friend here, Pte. Morris took it from him while he was dying in a French hospital. That flag is the symbol which he sent back to the Canadian boys in mufti. That flag meant much to him, boys, and it should mean much to you."

"T.R." TO RIDE AT HEAD OF A DIVISION?

Swamped With Applications from Volunteers Who Want to Join Division He May Recruit to Fight Mexicans.

New York, June 28.—When Theodore Roosevelt arrived here today from Oyster Bay to fulfill his dinner engagement tonight with Charles E. Hughes, he found at his hotel hundreds of messages from men who want to serve under Col. Roosevelt in the division of volunteer troops, which it is reported, the colonel is preparing to raise in the event of war with Mexico.

The telegrams and letters came from all parts of the country, and were so numerous that the colonel's secretary had to call in extra clerical help.

The colonel, himself, declined to discuss his reported plan to raise the division, which it is said he wishes to head.

RAINS TIE UP TRAFFIC ON THE RAILWAYS

Bad Washouts on Gibson and Minto Roads and Landslides Block Train on Fredericton-Newcastle Branch of I. C. R.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, June 28.—The Gibson and Minto Railway service is tied up today as a result of several washouts due to the terrific rainfalls this morning along the line between Chipman and Newcastle Bridge.

No trains are being run over the line today but the management expects to resume service tomorrow.

The rain in Quebec's country was particularly heavy and there was a veritable cloudburst at Midland where one of the worst washouts resulted. There are three other bad washouts along the line which make it impossible for trains to be run today.

A heavy landslide about a half mile above Marysville delayed the I.C.R. express from Newcastle today at noon. The express managed to get through one big slide and had only gone a short distance when there was another which completely tied up traffic. A crew of men was at work clearing the track and will likely have the line in shape so as to allow for the Chatham express to pass tonight. Considerable damage has resulted from heavy rains in Queens county, especially at Midland where the post road highway bridge was carried away. Crops near Midland have been flooded and greatly damaged according to reports received here.

THIS WEEK. The Park Avenue News. Big Mystery Cleared Up. It is now known why the street was all wet last Tuesday evening in spite of the fact that nobody saw it rain. The reason was because the street sprinkling waggin went by while everybody was eating supper.

Wat color is a dawg that is being ran over by a bysical? A yell-o dawg, Joak. Sports. The Invisibles played the Park Wonders on Thursday after noon, the score being 33 to 32 in the 9th inning, so several more innings was played, but the 3 teams just kept on trying each other, till it got so dark the sun went down, and 4 fathers and 3 mothers came to take different players home to supper, so the game broke up 43 to 43, being one of the biggest ties ever known in baseball circles.

Sisley Notes. The Willie boy in the corner house was ubersed in Fenner's drug stoar treating Miss Frosda Spurr and Miss Adlin to cloockit soft wattr. Mr. Puds Simkins, who was passing at the time, yelled, Hay, to tear up her solemn enagements. At this critical period of the war, when there is so very much of real importance for our people to be thinking about, surely our sensationalists might be busy with something more useful to the nation and less calculated to discredit it in the eyes of the world.

Suffered Constantly FROM HEADACHE. To suffer from headache makes life miserable, and it takes a person who has been or is subject to headache to describe the suffering and agony that goes along with it. The dull throbbing, the intense pain, sometimes in one part of the head, sometimes in another, is caused by some disturbed condition of the system. The stomach may go wrong, the bowels become constipated, the blood may not circulate properly, but whatever the cause, the presence of headache clearly shows that there is something wrong somewhere, and unless the cause of the headache is removed, some serious trouble is very liable to assert itself.

The fact that Burdock Blood Bitters reaches the seat of the trouble, and banishes the headache is due to its success in first relieving, and then permanently curing the cause of the trouble.

Mrs. Wallace J. Boyd, Milltown, N.B., writes: "Several years ago I was a constant sufferer from headache. I was run down, and nothing seemed to do me any good. I read of Burdock Blood Bitters, and decided to give it a trial. The result was marvellous. The headache stopped at once, and I feel better in every way since. I recommend it to all sufferers."

Burdock Blood Bitters is the oldest and best known medicine on the market to-day. It has been manufactured for the past years by The T. Millers Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Must Prepare For Big Business With Allies When War Has Ended

FINANCIAL AGENCIES MAY BE ESTABLISHED TO DEAL WITH FOREIGN CREDITS—SIR THOS. WHITE AND BANKERS CONFER ON MATTER OF FURTHER IMPERIAL CREDIT TO FINANCE WAR ORDERS.

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, June 28.—The Minister of Finance conferred today with a committee of the Canadian Bankers' Association on the matter of establishing in Canada further credit for the Imperial government to be used in the payment of war munitions and supplies ordered through the Imperial Munitions Board. As a result of a previous conference a credit of $76,000,000 was established with the result that $100,000,000 additional orders were obtained. These orders cover shells, explosives and other war material for the use at the front by Great Britain and the Allies.

At the present the Imperial Munitions Board is disbursing in Canada from a million to a million and a half dollars per day, which is keeping busy over three hundred manufacturing establishments and furnishing employment to many thousands of men. The effect of this vast expenditure upon the general business of Canada has been very great.

After the War.
It is understood that good progress was made at today's conference respecting the matter of further credits, although no official statement was made. In addition to discussing the question of Imperial credits the minister brought to the attention of the bankers the desirability of Canada being financially prepared for a greatly increased export business with Russia and the other Allies after the war, and

CLOTH SOLD TO MILITIA DEPT WAS UP TO SAMPLE

Sir Chas. Davidson Practically Concludes Inquiry Into War Contracts.

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, June 28.—With the exception of the issue of his reports upon war contracts examined by him, and unless something new and unexpected develop, the work of Sir Charles Davidson as commissioner to enquire into war contracts concluded this afternoon.

The last case examined was that of the sale of a quantity of cloth to the militia department by the Aurora Woolen Mills Co. of Peterborough, Ont. It had been declared by Hersey, of Montreal, an expert, to be fifteen per cent. below sample quality.

Inspector Burns of the militia department, examined by D. McConnell, K. C., of Peterborough, did not quite agree with the statement of Mr. Hersey. A certain margin of allowance was permitted by the department, he said, and the cloth supplied by the Aurora Company came within that margin.

Substantially the cloth was up to the sample submitted. In reply to Sir Charles Davidson, the witness said he had never known of pressure being brought to bear upon the department to accept cloth below the standard of the sample. It was often proposed, however, that inferior cloth should be taken at a reduced price, but he knew there had not been a single instance of getting the quality of the cloth made in Canada for the soldiers, and the manufacturers had difficulties to contend with owing to the impossibility of getting the importation of foreign wool which is not so good.

Charles Ferrill, another government inspector, said the test made by Mr. Hersey was not a positive test. Mr. James Kendry, ex-M. P., president of the Aurora Co., and R. S. Bartlett, an American woolen expert, gave similar testimony.

Sir Charles Davidson intimated that he had received the argument of Mr. J. A. Hutchison in the small arms ammunition case, but not that of Mr. Hartley Dewart, although the latter had wired him that it was on the way.

Mr. Charles also intimated that it was desirable that Mr. George F. Henderson should intimate whether or not he intended to enter a statement relative to his client Col. J. Wesley Allison.

Only relatives of the contracting parties were present. The bride was married in a travelling suit of blue with hat of similar shade. Mr. and Mrs. Sinnot and son left on a short trip to Boston and on their return will take up their home at Fredericton, where the room has accepted a position on the staff of the Fredericton High School.

Mary Women Suffer FROM EXORBITATING PAINS IN THE BACK.

Do you ever feel that you must have something for that lame and aching back? Do you ever feel that those shooting, stabbing pains must be gotten rid of before you can get into condition, and that you must have something to hold duties without a pain or ache? When the back begins to ache it is a sure sign that there is something radically wrong with the kidneys.

THE RACKING PAINS OF Sciatic Rheumatism

Were Well-nigh Unbearable—After Five Years of Suffering Cure was Effected by Dr. Chase's Medicines.

For downright excruciating pain few ailments can be compared to sciatic rheumatism. Since this condition of the sciatic nerve denotes exhaustion of the nervous system, the logical cure is found in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to nourish the starved nerves back to health and vigor.

Reports are continually coming in to us regarding the splendid results obtained in the treatment of sciatic rheumatism by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after each meal and Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills occasionally as a means of arousing the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels and thereby keeping the system free of pain causing poisonous impurities.

Mr. W. J. Talbot, Edgewood, Sask., writes: "It is a great pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food as a cure for Sciatic Rheumatism. The pain I

WOMEN'S WORK

On Friday afternoon from three until seven o'clock a pantry sale is being held at 26 Main street, Fairville (store of William Fox), in aid of the Arc-en-Du-Rois Hospital Fund. Fairville ladies interested are endeavoring in this way to raise some funds for this new institution, practically the whole staff of which are volunteering their services free of charge. It will be remembered that Miss Hazel Deland, who lived for some years in Fairville with her father, Rev. Thos. J. Deland, of the Methodist Church, is caring at this hospital at her own expense. This adds a certain amount of local interest to the cause and it is hoped Fairville people will generously assist in this effort for funds, which will be sent to Miss Deland direct.

As a result of a letter sent out from the Women's Canadian Club to its members, the organization has succeeded in raising the handsome sum of $1015 in aid of the Scottish Women's Hospital an appeal for which was sent out through Miss Kathleen Burke, who lectured in Toronto, some few months ago. —Toronto Globe.

Women Capable of Running Hotels. That there is really nothing in the running of a hotel that woman cannot do; that the enlistment of all eligible men hotel employees for military service would open an enormous field for women's work, and that the coming into effect of the recent prohibition enactment will create a demand for new ideas in hotel management, such ideas as women can supply, are firm convictions of Miss Davidson, of the Technical school, Toronto.

Are Canadian women less enterprising than the women of older lands? Has the pioneer blood so soon grown thin in their veins? If not, this is surely a time when women may come to the front at home, as they are coming to the front abroad, says the Toronto News. Surely in a matter so close to their own life and trading as the making of homes, just as homes for the aged and many other great families, women might bring out and accomplish things at this time when every woman's work is needed to fill the places of men who have gone to encourage others to go and to travel on the resources and industries of the country while they are gone.

WINNERS IN THE STANDARD TRAVEL CLUB

Miss Alice Lookhart, daughter of C. B. Lookhart, West St. John, Collector of Customs for the port of St. John, Miss Lookhart was the winner of the first prize in The Standard contest, securing a total of 180,000 votes and receiving a prize of $700.00.

A Psalm to Nature. (By Mabelle Godfrey.) The river lulls me to sleep each night. Every curve, every ripple a song; The birds sing carols of delight, When I awaken each morn.

The orchard and fields invite one to roam O'er their velvet carpet of green; And there 'neath the fluttering, leafy shade I sit down to ponder and dream.

Gazing upward thro' blossoms pink Of the apple-trees in bloom, My heart is at rest, my mind is at ease; My head reels with the sweet perfume.

With silence unbroken, save for the fall Of the petals that drift slowly down, My heart and soul answer to Nature's call, Ease of heart, peace of mind I have found.

A psalm of thanksgiving to Nature's God Floats up on a sun-beam rare; And methinks I hear a voice from the sod In response to my whispered prayer.

Women at Work. A conversation heard a few weeks ago in a railway carriage between two men, who were evidently city merchants.

The one said to the other, "And how are your two daughters?" The reply was, "O, excellent, and they have taken of late to munition work and enjoy it immensely.

"They tell me that at last life is really worth living and they would not give up the work on any account." "If it is a fair question," said his companion, "are they paid for it?" "Not a penny," was the reply, "and there are several others in the same factory working cheerfully in the same way."

"Most creditable," said the other, "and a matter for a father to be proud of."

"Yes," said the father, "and I am proud of it, almost as proud as I am of my two sons who are at the front in France."

For the best $100 toy, Miss Edith Piers of the Girls' Club, was awarded first prize. Her exhibit was a doll's cradle outfitted. Second prize was given to R. J. Hooper for a full-rigged ice-boat.

The prize for the best original toy was won by H. R. Wiggs, "Imperial Military Camp." Pie Goucher won second prize with a doll's house.

Two interesting exhibits were added to the list yesterday. Miss S. Peters of Gasquetown contributed several wooden toys to retail at 25c, and C. H. Flewelling contributed wooden and cardboard khaki cadets to retail at $1.00 and 45c per dozen, respectively.

The exhibition will be continued this afternoon and evening. Several solos were rendered yesterday by Mrs. B. Gerow, Miss Farmer, Miss E. Climo and Miss Neuhben. Ice cream and cake were served after the concert by Miss Climo, Mrs. John Keefe and Mrs. Sealey.

During the exhibition members of the Canadian Club under Mrs. Kubring's direction were present to explain the toys and make sales. Several sales were made by the young ladies.

Are the four fruits used in Making "Fruit-a-tives"

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the only medicine in the world that is made from the juices of fresh ripe fruits. Thus, it is manifestly unfair to say, "I won't take Fruit-a-tives because I have tried other remedies and they did me no good." On the other hand, the fact that "Fruit-a-tives" is entirely different from any other preparation in the world, is just why you should give it a fair trial, in any trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. "Fruit-a-tives" is composed of the active principle of fruit and the greatest nerve tonic ever discovered. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. ### Letters Received by Uncle Dick From His Boys and Girls

TODAY'S LITTLE JOKE.

Little Thomas was dining out. It was a great event in his young life, and under the watchful eyes of his father and mother he was behaving really well.

"Will you have a little of this pudding, Tommie?" asked the hostess kindly, as she served the sweets.

"No, thank you!" he replied. "Mother nearly gasped. Never before had her little darling refused pudding."

"Oh, come dear!" she said, afraid he must be sickening or something.

"Do have a little!" "No, thank you!" said Tommie as quickly as he could.

"Then what do you want?" asked the hostess.

"A lot, please!" replied Tommie, firmly.

Birthday Greetings. Uncle Dick wishes many happy returns to Annie Cole of Coles Island, who is celebrating her birthday today.

Who's Who and What's What in the Picture Game and on the Stage—Film Favorites and What They Say and Do.

Imperial. "Dimples" Mary Miles Minter, her doll, and later on her lover. That is in brief the story of yesterday's picture at the Imperial, but you cannot tell from that description, what a very pretty picture it is. Here is no very big problem. No question as to what the censor should or should not have done. It is a story of a child whose fortune has been hidden, and unknown to her carries this fortune with her wherever she goes. She dances through the picture, and in mischievous moods makes fun for everybody. When there is a chance to do something for one she loves she is ready and quick witted. She is at all times an entrancing sight, as Dimples, the hardworking daughter of a miser. Later she is taken to the home of her aunt, played by Charlotte Shelby, Miss Minter's mother.

The production is a beautiful one. The scenes laid in the South have backgrounds that are as pleasing to the eye and as beautiful to the imagination as natural scenery only can be, and the interior sets are in fine taste. Thomas Carrigan plays Robert Stanley in a likeable manner, and Charlotte Shelby is the severe aunt, Peggy Hopkins, though, is one of the best types we have ever seen for the debutante, and the ball room scenes were very well done.

William Cowper, John J. Donoghue, Schuyler Ladd, Fred Timmarsh and Harry Ford have important roles which they carry to the good effect of the picture.

The Mr. Jack comedy at the Imperial is Mr. Jack, the Hash Magnate, and Frank Daniels impersonates the keeper of a restaurant with social ambitions. Belle Bruce plays Tig the expert biscuit toser.

I had the pleasure of meeting Miss Ball, whose beautiful playing had delighted all the music lovers in the audience. Miss Ball expressed her pleasure at being in St. John again and said she always felt here as if she were among friends. She said it was a pleasure to know people enjoyed her playing and that that was the reward of a musician or actor—the appreciation. In many large cities it was a joy to play to the large number of foreigners in the audience, for music went right to their souls and one felt the sympathetic atmosphere. Miss Ball came to St. John from the St. Denis, Montreal, and she will return later to play at the Imperial and Orpheum in that city.

Marie Doro, the brilliant Lasky star, celebrated her birthday anniversary last Friday night. Quite a party was arranged for her at her Hollywood home. Among her gifts was a complete motion picture camera, presented her by Charlie Chaplin. No sooner was the gift received than an automobile was dispatched to the studio, and some lights hurried to the Dexter home—a scenario written and photographed with the little camera. Later in the week the scenes were projected in the basement of the house and promise to be a great success. The cast was an all-star one, including Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, Elliott Dexter, Miss Doro and others.

Star Hates Bathing Suit. Annette Kellermann, the beautiful figured Fox star, says she despises her black one-piece bathing suit. Although she knows she owes her fame to this she would like to be considered something besides a beautiful statue.

Miss Kellermann is well worth knowing personally. Quite a woman of unusual worth, she seems hard to believe that in her childhood she was puny, with weak semi-malformed legs, and it was to overcome this affliction she took up swimming. She has a calm faith in her strength, her presence of mind, and her accomplishments. Thus feats that would be called foolhardy if attempted by others, become mere proofs of her great skill.

Miss Kellermann's success was brought about by consistent hard work, that eliminated the word "can't" from her vocabulary. In addition to all her other gifts, she possesses a pronounced sense of humor. And what is still rarer, she applies it to herself. She insists that when she loses the art of laughing at herself, she wants to kick off the mortal coil.

Annette Kellermann is today the most pronounced example of what a woman can accomplish by sheer grit and application. She is internationally famous—and internationally loved.

Robert Hood Bowers the famous composer of musical successes, such as "The Vanderbilt Cup," "The Hoyden," "The Red Rose," and other musical shows, is nearing the end of his task in writing the musical score for the production of the million-dollar picture.

CURTAIN FLASHES. Marguerite Clark is twenty-eight years old and she looks sixteen. That is her real name, though she was known as "Bonnie" Clark when on the stage.

Mary Miles Minter's first five-reel feature for Mutual is "Youth's Endearing Charm," pictured from Mary helle Hetches Justice's popular story of the same name. A very appropriate title for the little star's first Mutual release.

Ernest Maupin, who usually plays a heavy role, is the hero in "That Sort," the five-reel Essanay play featuring Wanda Howard.

Henry Walthall was born in Shelby County, Ala., and he is 38 years of age.

Barbara Gilroy, of the Thanhouser Mutual Studios, spends her spare time in voice culture. Her ambition is to sing in grand opera.

Kathlyn Williams, star of hundreds of Selig reels, and Charles P. Eylon, manager of the Morosco-Pallas Studio, Los Angeles, were recently married in the above city after a courtship extending over many years.

Marguerite Clayton is playing the lead in Essanay's five-part drama, "According to the Code."

The first release of Eva Tangway, the eccentric comedienne, who has played more return engagements than any other star in theatrical history, will be Energetic Eva in five-reels.

Britain Prepared is now in its fourth week at the Lyceum Theatre, New York.

"Lawmakers Juggling Act Will Be Filmed"—Headline. It will be worth going to see a body of lawmakers in a "silent" drama.

Valkyrien, the Danish star, is now working in a picturization of Henrik Ibsen's "The Lady from the Sea."

Flora MacDonald, who created the role of Angela Benda in "The Fall of a Nation," has volunteered as a recruit for Miss Candace Hewitt's preparedness camp at Erskine, N. J.

Jane Caprice recently trimmed a hat for herself and, being an artist of no mean ability, painted some figures on it, but alas, when the rain came the scenes in mottled array were transferred to her face in various shades of blue.

Joyce Fair, the thirteen-year-old Essanay star, has her first "grown-up" part in "The Chimney Sweep," ALICE FAIRWEATHER.

Before concluding I feel I ought to describe the camp and my impressions. In the first place, laying all prejudice aside, I do not think a more ideal spot could be found in all Canada for the training of soldiers. If you have never been here, just imagine a flat, circular tableland about three or four miles in diameter surrounded by lofty hills as level as the surface of a lake without a rise or hollow in the whole extent, and you have Valcartier training camp. Looking from one end a most beautiful sight presents itself to your view; the many white-crested tents making a picture that is entrancing and well worth seeing. A central avenue paved with asphalt runs the entire length of the grounds, being used principally by transport lorries and automobiles and for troops marching into camp. The lines of each battalion are laid out in the form of a hollow square with four lines of tents on each side and the staff and officers' quarters on the inner end, thus allowing for a large parade ground in the centre. Water pipe lines and sewers run all through the camp and every regiment has a showerbath and washing trough on the outskirts of the quarters. Some of the earlier regiments have had their grounds fixed up in splendid shape, and there seems to be a keen rivalry in the different units to see who can put up the best looking and tidiest quarters. There are some beautiful designs and they show the pride and interest all take in trying to outdo each other. This afternoon we had a route march and inspection by the staff, and our O. C. was more than pleased at the showing made, and it makes the boys all feel good to know that the 140th Battalion is doing so well. Major Carter is resuming his class for N. C. O. starting again this morning, and to all appearances it looks as if it was going to be a howling success. I am pleased to say I am attending and am delighted with the work so far. Pleased to say I am feeling great and am enjoying the fresh air immensely, the only feature that does not appeal to me is the strenuous friendly with the soft side of the Quebec turf.

PLAN DOMINION-WIDE DAY FOR THE CHILDREN IN BELGIUM

Dr. Carter Has Letter from Lieut.-Governor Wood Suggesting That Canadian School Children Organize Entertainments, Sports, etc., Proceeds from Which Should be Devoted to the 2,500,000 Little Ones in Belgium.

At last night's public meeting in the Opera House, Dr. W. S. Carter read a letter of regret from Lieut. Gov. Wood that he was unable to be present, and he enclosed the following letters which are self-explanatory. It is the intention of the educational authorities to take action in the matter and arrange programmes immediately after the schools reassemble for the fall term along the lines suggested.

Government House, Ottawa, 14th June, 1916. My dear Lieutenant Governor, I am enclosing herewith a copy of a letter I have received from the Lord Mayor of London and the Duke of Norfolk respecting a proposal of the "National Committee for Relief in Belgium" that Canada should hold a Children's "Day" on behalf of the children who remain in that part of Belgium occupied by Germany.

You will see that it is not proposed to ask the children themselves either to collect or to contribute money, but that the idea is that the proceeds of concerts, sports and other entertainments organized by the children themselves should provide the money so urgently needed. The "Day" proposed is the 15th November—King Albert's fête day.

I have consulted the Prime Minister who quite approves of the idea and wishes it every success. I shall be obliged if you will let me know whether the proposal will be acceptable to your government, and, if so, whether they will take the necessary steps to make the day a success. I am sending a similar letter to all our Lieutenant Governors.

Believe me, My dear Lieutenant Governor, Yours truly, ARTHUR (8d), His Honor, Josiah Wood, D.C.L., LL.D., Lieutenant Governor, Government House, Fredericton, N. B.

National Committee for Relief in Belgium, Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Square, London, W. C. 23rd May, 1916. Your Royal Highness: We have the honor to submit to Your Royal Highness a proposal to hold in Canada a Children's "Day" on behalf of the children who remain in that part of Belgium occupied by Germany, and to express the hope that
