FORTY-FIRST YEAR KITCHENER, ONTARIO SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1919. 12 PAGES, PRICE TWO CENTS

GLAD HAND TO LEAGUE COVENANT

BRITISH PRESS ACCLAIM COVENANT OF LEAGUE

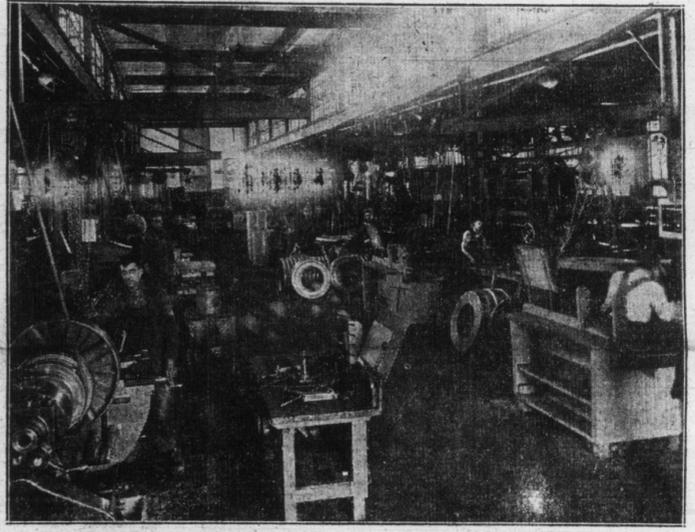

Postulates Wiser Government of the World.

DOMINIONS ARE NOW RECOGNIZED A NATIONS
LONDON, Feb. 15.—(Canadian Press via Reuters).—The covenant of league of nations is hailed by British papers as an historic document, drafted in an atmosphere of good faith, postulating and foreshadowing better and wiser government throughout the world.
Though the personal triumph of President Wilson is acknowledged, it is pointed out, in a modified form, that the covenant indicates that he has learned a great deal since he came to Europe, and pride is expressed that so much of the work of the British delegates is visible in the league covenant. The mandatory principle is based on relations between Great Britain, India and the

A UNIQUE INDUSTRY ARE RUBBER MACHINERY SHOPS

An Iron Working Establishment, Just What is Needed in City. The New Order of Apprenticeship. It is also a New National Industry.

An industrial plant which is making history, not only for this community, but for the Dominion of Canada, exists in this city today. It is one of those which is part of the national industrial expansion and progress of the whole country.
The plant is the Rubber Machinery Shops, on Strange Street, owned and operated by the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited. Few, perhaps, realize the significance of this busy concern. By the average person, the idea is probably held that the opening of this industry, a year and a half ago, meant the acquisition of another industrial plant. This opinion, of course, is right, but this understanding of the industry is limited. To offer a brief explanation, suffice it to say that with the establishment of this plant, a new national industry was born in Canada, benefits of which will accrue to both the country and the city of Kitchener. The Rubber Machinery Shops today are fulfilling the purpose for which they were built, namely, the building of rubber manufacturing machinery, not only for the divers plants of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, but also for other rubber companies in Canada. It is the first of its kind in Canada.
From a national standpoint, the purpose of this plant, therefore, is the greatest among features in connection with it that are outstanding. And parallel with this feature is another of equal moment nationally. This has to do with the training of the rising generation in the art of the mechanic. The new method of apprenticeship to be introduced by the company, more of which will be said later in this review, is of vital importance in this country where, technical education is just being put on its feet. The system and plans for encouraging and helping the adept youth in learning thoroughly the art which will subsequently lighten the burdens of life and make his place in society congenial, will probably alter the industrial apprenticeship in many another sphere.
So much for the national significance. In regard to what the plant means to the city, two factors stand out prominently. These are:
Firstly, it is a new industry for Kitchener.
Secondly, it is an iron working industry which for so long has been a need in this city.
The Rubber Machinery Shops in every sense of the term, are a new industry. They are manufacturing products heretofore not made in this city of diversified industries and these go out not only to the companies affiliated with it in the Dominion Rubber System, but to all other rubber

TIME LIMIT WAS DELETED FROM LEAGUE COVENANT

Hague Tribunals to be League's Court of Arbitration.

GENERAL PEACE WORK WILL BE SPEEDED UP.
PARIS, Feb. 15.—One of the most important articles of the League of Nations constitution was understood today to have been eliminated at the last moment before its presentation to the general Peace congress. This provided that the life of the league, in its present form, should be ten years. The reason for the reported withdrawal of this provision could not be ascertained. It was believed, however, that inasmuch as the present organization is only tentative and may be amended greatly even before it is formally adopted by the member nations, there was not an essential reason for placing a time limit on the constitution of the organization as now constituted.
The provision regarding admission of new members is so framed that Germany and Austria cannot be included in the league until they give absolute assurance that they will live up to the

By-Election Results at St. Catharines in Doubt

CONSERVATIVE WORKERS OPINION.
ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 15.—Result of today's by-election is uncertain. No one would be greatly surprised at the return of either candidate, William Longden, Independent Labor man, or Frederick R. Parnell, Conservative.
A prominent Conservative worker, who has been all through the riding, speaking in Parnell's interests stated last night he was absolutely at sea as to the result. "I certainly found a great deal of unrest among the people and dissatisfaction with existing conditions," he said. "The people blame the powers that be, for the high cost of living, because they hold the Canadian government is responsible for allowing the profiteers to get away with it, actually encouraging it. Because of this unrest you cannot tell how the election is going to go, but I will say I believe people generally would like to see Longden the Laborist win because they consider the Heust government would be all the better for a job."
The remarkable harmony prevailing at the Longden meetings have given the impression that Longden will get a large number of votes, but whether enough to elect him remains to be seen. Both candidates express confidence in the outcome. Certainly if Longden wins it will be a real victory as the unfair tactics used against him by opposition workers, led by the St. Catharines Conservative daily, establish a new record in this stronghold.

GUARDIAN WANTS ADDITIONS

MANCHESTER, England, Feb. 15.—"The league draft is not necessarily full and we hope that in some respects it will be amended." There is a good chance for the league to be ruined not by the people, but by officials. We trust this can be averted."
The Guardian expressed regret that no provision was made for public education or for an international parliament, such as was contained in General Smuts' plan.

definite course, negotiations regarding demands of the railwaymen and the transport workers being still in progress.

Premier Lloyd George is anxiously interested in the situation, realizing that labor troubles may seriously retard national reconstruction and trade development. For this reason, it is understood, he will probably prolong his stay in England instead of returning immediately to Paris.

Nations May Frame A Preliminary Peace

To Enable Business to Resume its Sway.

THIS CONDITION IS NEEDED IN ALL COUNTRIES.

PARIS, Feb. 15. (By Fred S. Ferguson).—With the league of nations matter temporarily disposed of, the peace delegates today directed their efforts toward effecting a definite preliminary peace with Germany, which will enable a general demobilization and resumption of normal industry and commerce throughout the world.
Practically all the conferees have agreed that this is the most vital problem now before them. The world is stagnating in a state of stagnation. Industries everywhere are awaiting the actual signing of peace and growing unrest and uncertainty in many countries can be traced directly to economic conditions.
Semi-official reports from Germany indicate that country has enough food to last until March. New crops will not be available before June. In the interim, conditions of actual starvation may prevail and bring about serious disturbances, unless steps to meet this situation are taken speedily.
A preliminary peace would correct these conditions and would be comparatively simple in accomplishment. The military status could be fixed by demanding immediate demobilization upon a peace basis. The Allies could agree what Germany should pay in way of indemnities and how she should pay it and this could be apportioned among the interested nations. After this was disposed of the economic status could be fixed by agreeing to what extent the economic blockade would be lifted.
That some such program will partially be arranged under the new provisions for an extension of the armistice, is hinted at in certain official quarters. These provisions will on Monday be presented to the German Commissioners by Marshal Foch at Treves. Considerable additional work must be done to perfect the plan, however, and toward this end the newly created Supreme Economic Council will closely cooperate with the Supreme War Council and it is expected that further requirements from Germany will develop, as the armistice is renewed from time to time, resulting gradually in what will virtually amount to a preliminary peace.
There is some disposition, though, to make this process a matter of immediate accomplishment, rather than extending it over an indefinite period. The principal opposition to lessening the economic pressure against Germany comes from the French, who fear the advantages Germany might gain if she were permitted to obtain plenty of raw materials. They also dislike to take a chance on Germany spending money which she might otherwise devote to paying reparation claims.

The Dead Body of an Infant Was Discovered This Morning

MAY BE A CASE OF INFANTICIDE

A Post Mortem Being Held
What may be a case of infanticide has been discovered. The body of an infant was found this morning under the stoop of the old frame building at the southwest corner of West Ahrens and Victoria Streets.
While passing the property shortly after eleven o'clock, Mr. Barney Joseph, noticed a parcel under the stoop against the building. The parcel aroused his suspicion and he proceeded to investigate. A sheeting around the parcel was untied and the parcel unwrapped. Inside of the paper a towel enclosed the contents, which unfolded revealed the dead body of an infant. Mr. Joseph immediately called another citizen, a Mr. Jackson, who was passing, and others were soon on the scene. Mr. Joseph notified Chief of Police O'Neill, who in turn communicated with the coroner, Dr. F. Kalbfleisch. The two officials visited the

IT IS THE LONG-HERMANED 'PARLIAMENT OF MEN'

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 15.—Commenting on the league of nations covenant, the Boston Globe said today: "It is the long-hermanned 'Parliament of Men,' the Federation of the World. Among nations it marks the beginning of the reign of law."
The Boston Post said: "Peace on Earth is not so much a vision as it once seemed and goodwill is less an international covenant to men. The President of the United States may justly feel deep happiness that he starts his homeward journey bringing his shoes with him."
The Boston Herald declared: "The world has waited more than twenty centuries for something like this. It may be that these twenty-six articles will not provide mankind with a certain means of avoiding war but their adoption will at any rate inaugurate the longest step that the world has ever taken in this direction."
The most profoundly serious political document of the century, marking a new stage in political and social progress of mankind, declared the world. "It is a colossal experiment, but one that is in harmony with the traditions of free government and with all the traditions of human liberty."

AT THE MARKET

There was a somewhat lower tendency, especially in the price of butter and eggs, at the market this morning the former selling from 48 to 50 cents per lb. and the latter at 42 cents per dozen. The supply in each case, while not equal to the demand, being large.

The mild weather has been very beneficial for the production of eggs and it would not be surprising to see them drop below the 40 cent mark next week. All other lines of produce such as beets, carrots, onions, cabbage, apples etc. were there in abundance and found a ready sale. There was very little flour offered usual prices prevailing.

Full Text of The Proposed Constitution For The League Of Nations Submitted To Peace Envoys

Paris Feb 14—The executive council of the proposed league of nations, outlined in the covenant by President Wilson today at the plenary session of the preliminary peace conference, will convene at Geneva on Feb. 20, with Great Britain, United States, France, Italy and Japan, together with representatives of four other states.

Any matter within the sphere of action of the league or affecting the peace of the world will be dealt with. The president as chairman of the commission on the league of nations, read the following report:

"Covenant: 'Preamble: In order to promote international co-operation and to secure international peace and security by the acceptance of obligations not to resort to war by the prescription of open, just and honorable relations between nations, by the firm establishment of the understandings of international law as the actual rule of conduct among Governments and by the scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized people with one another, the signatory states of this covenant adopt the following principles of the league of nations.

"ARTICLE I—The action of the high contracting parties under the terms of this covenant shall be effected through the instrumentality of a meeting of a body of delegates representing the high contracting parties of meetings at more frequent intervals of an executive council and of a permanent international secretariat to be established at the seat of the league.

"ARTICLE II—Meetings of the body of delegates shall be held at stated intervals and from time to time as occasion may require for the purpose of dealing with matters within the sphere of action of the league. Meetings of the body of delegates shall be held at the seat of the league or at such other places as may be found convenient and approved by the high contracting parties. Each of the high contracting parties shall have one vote, but may have not more than three votes.

"ARTICLE III—The executive council shall consist of representatives of the United States of America, France, Italy and Japan together with representatives of four other states, members of the league. The council shall be elected for a term of three years and shall be re-elected by the body of delegates on such principles and in such manner as they think fit.

"ARTICLE IV—The appointment of these representatives of the other states shall be members of the executive council. Meetings of the council shall be held from time to time as occasion may require and at least once a year at whatever place may be decided on, or failing any such decision at the seat of the league and any matter within the sphere of action of the league affecting the peace of the world may be dealt with at such meetings.

"ARTICLE V—The permanent secretariat of the league shall be established at the seat of the league. The secretariat shall comprise such secretaries and staff as may be required under the general direction and control of the secretary-general of the league, who shall be chosen by the executive council.

"ARTICLE VI—Representatives of the high contracting parties engaged in the business of the league when engaged in the business of the league shall enjoy diplomatic privileges and immunities and the buildings occupied by the league or its officials or by representatives attending its meetings shall enjoy the same as extra-territoriality.

"ARTICLE VIII—The high contracting parties recognize the principle that the maintenance of peace will require the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligation aving special regard to the geographical situation and circumstances of each state; and the executive council shall formulate plans for effecting such reduction.

"The executive council shall also determine for the consideration and action of the several Governments what military equipment and armament is fair and reasonable in proportion to the resources of each state and in the program of disarmament shall not be exceeded without the permission of the executive council.

"The high contracting parties agree that the manufacture by private enterprise of munitions and implements of war leads to grave dangers to the peace of the world and that the executive council to advise the action and powers of the executive council shall apply to the action and powers of the body of delegates.

"ARTICLE XVII—Should any of the high contracting parties break or disregard its covenants under Article XII, it shall thereby, ipso facto, be deemed to have committed an act of war against all the other members of the league which here by undertakes immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant breaking state and the prevention of the nationals of the covenant breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether in a state of war or not.

"It shall be the duty of the executive council in such case to recommend what effective military or naval force the members of the league shall severally contribute to the armed force to be used to protect the covenants of the league.

Tremendous interest. There has never anything come to Kitchener in the way of a motion picture that has created the interest that is shown in the forthcoming presentation of "The Better Ole," which makes its premier showing at the Allen on Monday afternoon. The advance recitations indicate that Old Bill, Alf and Bert will be greeted by a capacity house Monday night, and it is known that hundreds are planning to attend the afternoon showing. It should be in mind by those who find it inconvenient to attend either of the evening showings on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday that there is a matinee each afternoon. You cannot say that you have seen the best yet produced in cinema productions unless you have seen and enjoyed "The Better Ole." Make the acquaintance of Old Bill and his chums on Monday.

Canada and the deeds of her valiant fighting men have not conspicuous in Old London during the past fortnight owing to the opening of the two great Canadiana exhibitions--the Canadian War Memorials--and the Canadian Official War Photographs--both of which are attracting numbers of admiring visitors. At Burlington House, Piccadilly, better known as the Royal Academy, the famous building is now ruled by Canada, and the pictured story of what a great and loyal Dominion did in the war attracts large numbers. These pictures were painted on the spot by some of the most noted artists of the day who were sent to the fighting front at a period of the war when the issue was still in the balance.

War in the air, on sea, and on land, and war activity both at home and abroad are pictured in varying scenes by artists whose peculiar fitness for each task has been carefully taken into account. A notable picture is the "Landing of the 1st Canadian Contingent at St. Nazaire, February, 1915". The portrait of Lady Drummond by our own Florence Carlyle is one of outstanding interest because of Lady Drummond's Red Cross work and that of the Maple Leaf Clubs which she started.

"The Night Boat--Canadian M.L. Boats entering Dover"--the M.L. boats being those that took off the crew of the gallant "Vindictive". The War Photographs at the Graton Galleries cover the period from Amiens to the Rhine. They are beautiful pictures and they touch upon every side of the Canadian soldier's life from the gay scenes of the corps sports, the pictures of the triumph of the Canadians as they entered Denain, Cambrai and Mons and those such as that fine "The Last Salute". Through the efforts of the National Chapter Daughters of the Empire the school children of Canada will have an opportunity of seeing the most important of these pictures in their own schools, the Imperial Order having obtained the right to have reproductions made for the purpose of providing our youth and future generations with the pictured stories of the noble deeds of Canada's gallant sons.

You'll Never Tire of Dietrich's Bread Because there are so many varieties, each of such fine texture, rich flavoring, delicious crust and general goodness. Day by day you can have a change whenever you desire. The difference between Dietrich's and other breads is that which exists between pure wool and cotton and wool mixed. We realized, long ago, that people eating bread for every meal, every day in the year, would tire of it, no matter how well made, so we set about manufacturing different varieties. Each variety had to reach the high standard maintained in Dietrich's Breads. That it did, is evidenced by the enormous demand throughout Kitchener and Western Ontario for Dietrich's. Following are a few of the many high-class loaves we manufacture and have on sale daily. Ask your baker or grocer for them: BAKER'S BREAD HEARTH RYE VIBENNA GRAHAM CHAM WHOLE WHEAT HOME MADE FRUIT LOAF HEARTH BUTTER-NUT DOLLY VARDON FRENCH ROLLS SANDWICH BREAD ROLLS BUNS, COFFEE CAKES, PIES AND ALL KINDS OF OTHER CAKES. There is so much demand for some of these loaves that you may have to order them a day ahead. You can't go wrong in ordering Dietrich's Breads. Thousands of people use them daily, and have been doing so for nearly 20 years. Why not join these satisfied people? Order a trial loaf today. Simply pick up your telephone and call us, or your grocer, and ask for any particular variety you want. Our wagons will call immediately or your grocer will secure it for you at once. THE BRITISH EMBARGO ON IMPORTS

Taking thought for one's own is so widespread throughout the earth that it has been dignified as "self-preservation," and termed the first law of nature. Great Britain recently reverted to its system of restricting imports. A long list of articles in the raw and manufactured come under the ban and may be only purchased in lessened quantities and under a license. By way of illustration, imports of boots and shoes are only allowed up to the proportion of 25 per cent. of the quantity imported in 1913.

This action was viewed with misgiving in the United States. The big republic has been yearly exporting goods to the value of $6,000,000,000, and principally to the United Kingdom. The embargo was at once set down as a slap in the face and the forerunner of a deliberate trade war. Several senators denounced it as being in direct conflict with President Wilson's 14 points, the third of which calls for "the removal of all economic barriers and establishments of equality of trade conditions among the nations consenting to peace and associating themselves for its maintenance."

One senator went as far as to declare that it would revive "the spirit of 1912," which it will be recalled, led to war between the two countries. At a later session he modified his statement.

Reflection has since caused their more militant legislators to recognize that every country has the right to impose or remove trade restrictions at will. While this embargo was being denounced, other cooler statesmen pointed out that Senator McCumber of North Dakota had previously urged an embargo against Canadian wheat, in order that the United States might uphold the price they have guaranteed for home grown wheat. Likewise the U.S. War Board had recommended that an embargo be placed on articles like potash, so that an opportunity might be afforded to the domestic market to consume these accumulated articles.

The belligerent senators were overhasty in condemning an action which their own members were discussing similar actions in other directions.

Since then the British embassy at Washington has issued a statement showing that the object of the embargo is to meet the temporary emergency arising from the profound disturbance of British industry, caused by the war. Its imports are largely in excess of its exports. This excess amounted in December to no less than $1,875,000,000 and there is under present conditions, no means of paying for imports if they continue on this scale. Hence it is found essential to restrict imports until their exports resume their normal volume.

Both Canada and the United States will require to accommodate themselves to the new conditions, caused by the cessation of war. The allied nations of Europe will not require nearly as large a volume of imports. These will wherever possible be restricted and additionally they will hasten to place themselves in a position where they can not only supply their own needs but compete in the world markets.

Those countries which have been fought over, will be slower in recovering their industrial strength, but even France has decided to buy abroad as little as possible. Last December it was believed that it would ask a credit in Canada of $500,000,000. Recently issued semi-official reports convey the impression that this credit may not exceed $25,000,000. With huge war debts awaiting payment in America and elsewhere, they will be obliged to stop buying on a large scale. Not only this but they will expect to pay their debts in goods rather than in gold.

They will need raw materials. But it may follow that Canadian exporters will of necessity require to look to other nations than France and Belgium for trade: South Africa, the West Indies, South America, Australia, China and Siberia.

Europe will, of necessity, have to protect its own people and industries, while at the same time endeavoring to carry on a peaceful penetration of those outside markets, which are backward in industrial development. Everything points to a keen, even though friendly, competition between exporting nations for world trade. It will be based on the retention of home trade.

MR. WIDDIFIELD IN NORTH ONTARIO

In view of representatives of the United Farmers organization having carried several by-elections in this province and there is one approaching (Feb. 18) in North Ontario, it may be interesting to scan the platform on which its candidate, Mr. Widdifield, stands.

When a new party attempts to establish itself, its policy and candidates arouse interest in the minds of the electorate. The public is curious to know: What is proposed in event of election to do and what manner of men it is nominating?

Mr. Widdifield is a farmer by occupation and seemingly an educated man, who has had municipal experience in his native riding.

In his address he points out that in a total of 112 members in the provincial legislature, there are presently only 13 farmers, and contends that all the important interests of Ontario should be adequately represented and the representation bear a reasonable relation to its importance. Agriculture he holds has not in the past been either fairly or sufficiently represented.

Proceeding he argues that inadequate representation of farmers in the house, has resulted in grave errors in legislation being made, which while to the special detriment of agriculture has also injured all classes in the province. This is the reason for the farmers having determined to enter the political field.

Any representation the U.F.O. may succeed in winning should, it is asserted, be non-partisan and should deal with every question arising on its merits. Mr. Widdifield declares that theirs is not a selfish movement and that he will, if elected, support any measure advanced by any party, which he deems to be in the interest of his constituency and the province at large.

He favors direct legislation on all important questions and therefore the Initiative and Referendum, with the right to recall any member who ceases to represent the wishes of the electors. This plank is at least a progressive one.

Touching on the patronage system he sizes it up as one that creates and maintains useless offices and unnecessarily subdivides offices, while the public foots the bills. He condemns this as being bribery and corruption in its worst forms.

He strikes a new note when he says that in place of partyism, he would substitute a fair and equitable representation of all the great interests of the province and have them meet in the legislature not to struggle against each other as though the government of the province were a game, but uniting in their efforts to promote the general welfare of the community. By such a house, he concludes, it might reasonably be expected that business would be conducted in a business way. Then the evils of extravagance and waste, inseparable, in his opinion, from partyism, would gradually disappear.

Were it incumbent to show that the farmer's interests have in the past been well looked after by both parties, it could be done. As a matter of fact, both have assiduously cultivated his support. Their movement to seat members of their organization in the legislature may be taken as another instance where the bestowal of material benefits upon any class of the electorate is soon forgotten and that men prize personal liberties and the rights of freedom of expression and action more highly than leaves and fishes.

What appeared to him as a pledge bent, if not broken, has awakened the sleeping giant and determined him to use his political strength. On paper it could be figured that a united farmers' vote would return a majority of members to the legislature. To realize this will call both for a breaking down of the strong wall of partisanship, and for thorough organization.

The success or failure attending their efforts in the by-elections will be an indication of the strength their political movement may later attain. Should they fail to elect their candidate in North Ontario, it will test their mettle. Should they win, they will be encouraged to press on.

The very appearance of a farmers party is proof that the repression and trials of the last four years have stirred up dissatisfaction in men's minds. This unrest is seeking expression in various ways. May it always be along constitutional lines.

It is well that in a democratic country like ours that we have safety valves, such as the freedom to form new political parties, wherewith to blow off excess steam. In the end comes a test to every party, namely, to persuade the majority of electors to think as it does. When it can do this, acquiescence is given to its right to govern.

In the meantime, neither of the old parties will be apt to laugh at the man carrying the wheatstraw in his mouth.

BY THE WAY

Those who are not called upon to contribute anything to the federal treasury under the score of business profits tax, will view the $65,000,000 collected from that source as a mighty nice arrangement.

Having no provincial public building, this city is not on the list of those where improvements are to be made. This omission can be corrected by Dr. Cody planting here this year a district Technical School.

A contemporary asserts that in homes where there is lovemaking, the electric light bills are always highest. So far as we are able to deduct from our rather limited experience, this business can just as well be performed in the dark. And we are sure the lovemaking couples will not object.

WAIT A MINUTE

LIECHTENSTEIN DUKE STILL RULES

It has just been discovered that the Down-and-Out Club, with Herr Wilhelm Hohenzollern as Grand Master and a bevy of former kings, princes, grand dukes, dukes and representatives of other degrees of royalty as his club associates, is minus a member. Strange as it may seem, there is within the domains of the Central Powers an independent sovereign who still sways the sceptre over his obedient subjects and continues to exercise his royal power and prerogatives just as though the great events of November, 1918, had never happened.

The fortunate individual who appears to have escaped the general disaster which set some fifty odd thrones a-toppling and removed the crowns from some fifty heads is His Royal Highness Prince Johann, sovereign of the independent principality of Liechtenstein. According to the latest advices from Vaduz, the capital of the principality, Johann is still on the throne, and what is more, his subjects have made no move to oust him. Both prince and people appear satisfied with a relationship which has extended over a period of some two hundred years, and unless the great peace conference takes notice, it is likely that things in Liechtenstein will continue to run along in the same old way.

Liechtenstein, situated almost within a stone's throw of Vienna, is the third smallest independent State on the Continent of Europe. By a strange coincidence the little principality has been technically at war with Prussia for nearly half a century. In 1808 the principality, in accordance with the terms of its alliance with Austria, proclaimed war against Prussia, the reigning Prince placing his army of 500 militiamen at the disposal of his imperial ally at Vienna. When the conflict ended and peace was declared between Austria and Prussia the little State was somehow forgotten in the negotiations, and it was ten or fifteen years later that by a mere chance Prince Bismarck suddenly discovered that theoretically speaking Prussia was still in a state of war with Liechtenstein.

With an area of 6,589 square miles and a population of about 10,000, Liechtenstein has its own ruler, its own parliament, a small army, and no taxes. It is nestled in the Austrian frontier with the Tyrol to the east and northeast, the Rhine to the west, and a slice of Switzerland to the south.

It is recalled that at the beginning of the great war in 1914 the principality of Liechtenstein got itself in bad with the Central Powers because it declared for neutrality in the war and also refused to send to Austria, a contingent of 1,000 men when asked for. Austria retaliated by cutting off the little country's food supply. Thereupon the Liechtenstein parliament appealed to the Swiss Government, and the latter sent wagonloads of cereals in haste, so that the threatened starvation of the inhabitants was averted. The imperial government at Vienna had its hands full at the time and doubtless pigeon-holed the Liechtenstein matter until some future occasion when conditions would be more propitious for administering chastisement to her rebellious ally. But that time is not likely to come, and so for the present at least Liechtenstein is in the enjoyment of peace and comparative prosperity.

The reigning prince of Liechtenstein, Johann II, is an Austrian who comes of a family that originated in the twelfth century and traces its descent through free Barons who in 1808 became Princes of Liechtenstein. It is a hereditary monarchy in the male line. The reigning prince, in spite of the smallness of his dominions, has long been rated among the wealthiest sovereigns of Europe.

LINGERING WEAKNESS FOLLOWING DISEASE

Banished by the Wonderful Tonic Powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

In almost every case the victims of a gripe, influenza, fever or contagious troubles, are left weak, ailing and despondent after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought, and remain tired, listless and discouraged. The one and only reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravage of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified by no other medicine as quickly and as surely as by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills and thousands have found them beneficial in bringing strength and energy after disease had left them weak and run down. Miss Beatrice Cassidy, Vroomantown, Ont., says:—"From my own experience I can speak in the highest terms of praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I passed through a severe attack of scarlet fever, from which I did not regain my strength after the fever itself had passed. I was left very weak, pale and frail looking, and although I was continuing to take medicine, I did not improve. At this time a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and following the advice, I soon felt the pills were helping me, and after taking them for about a month I found myself fully restored to my old time health and strength. I therefore strongly advise anyone who is left weak and run down to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I feel sure they will not regret it. Rich red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

A Broken Wedding Ring

By Bertha M. Clay

full of happiness, of interest, of the beauty and glory of the passion that possessed her. She had forgotten that they would soon leave Brentwood, she had forgotten that they were going to Dene Abbey; she had forgotten everything, except that Sir Basil was near her and that she loved him. Every dream, every wish of her life was realized; there was no more to desire. She would have been quite content to lie down in the light of her great love and die. It seemed to her that all her life had been ordered for this. Now she had reached the haven of rest, never thinking that the storms in the heaven might be greater than those on the open sea. It happens so often that a great love is lavished on Sir Basil saw nothing of Leah's. He admired her exceedingly, but he never dreamed of loving her. He would have done anything for her; he had the kindly affection of a brother for her; ever since she had stood by the white lilies in the hall, in the spot where his fair young sister had died, she had to him in some measure taken that dead sister's place. He confided everything to her, told her, of all his affairs, for he was happy in her society, never rested long away from her, thought of her with continual kindly affection; but of love he never dreamed.

The duchess, who had said to herself that she would not interfere, did just this one thing—she told Sir Basil of the splendid triumphs that Leah had achieved, and how she had passed through three such seasons as few even of the most brilliant beauties had ever experienced. She told of the offers of marriage made to her, and how she had refused them all. "Why did she refuse them?" he asked. "The duchess meant to do a kindly action when she answered, 'No.' She has ideas that are peculiar for the nineteenth century; they are, I may say, obsolete." He looked anxiously at her, she thought.

"What ideas?" he asked—"if my question may be answered?" "I am sure I may answer it," said the duchess. "Miss Hatton has romantic ideas that are quite out of date. Marriage, in these days, is an arrangement. She might have been Countess of Berkeley if she had liked; but she is romantic, and will never marry until she can marry for love."

"That seems to me right," said Sir Basil. "I am glad you think so, returned the duchess, dryly. "But Miss Hatton has another theory. It is this—that for every person in this world there are one love and one lover—half souls, she calls them, if you can understand the terms. She believes that she will recognize her half soul or lover whenever she sees him."

"It is a very pretty theory," said Sir Basil. "I do not see why any one should object to it. He looked at her somewhat eagerly as he asked: "And has she met this ideal yet?" "That is a question she alone can answer. You must ask her yourself, laughed the duchess; and she smiled to herself as she thought she had given him a very plain hint. The young baronet was far too modest to take it; that such a peerless beauty, such a wealthy heiress, should fall in love and find her ideal in him never occurred to him. If she had rejected many noble and great men, she was doubtless looking for some one higher. Yet what he had heard increased his affection and respect for her. He liked the idea of a girl who could make herself an ideal, and wait patiently until she met with it. How many would have yielded to the temptation of rank and wealth, and have forgotten the belief and aspirations of early girlhood!

"We have been here at Brentwood a month next Wednesday," said the duchess to Leah, one morning. "We go to Dene Abbey next week." Leah looked up at her with eyes that did not see. "Next week!" she repeated; and it seemed to her that the sunlight faded. Next week she would see Sir Basil no more. "I had forgotten it," she said slowly.

Sage and Sulphur Darkens Grey Hair

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss, and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage and Sulphur properly compounded brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays by asking for any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire to have a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FRIENDS THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.
Little Bras d'Or, C.B.
"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight—going from 185 pounds to 146 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

A Child Doesn't Laugh and Play If Constipated

LOOK, MOTHER! IS TONGUE COATED BREATH FEVERISH AND STOMACH SOUR?

California Syrup of Figs' can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

A laxative to-day, saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour. Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs; then don't worry because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is often all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any ailment.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of California Syrup of Figs, which has full directions hereon and is sold in every drug store. Look carefully and see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup Company. You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or cataract will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly. It is just what every cold and cataract sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

"That is not very complimentary to me, Leah, nor to the admirers who will come to Dene to meet you." "I do not want any admirers, duchess," she said. "No," laughed the duchess; "better one true lover than a host of admirers." Leah walked to the open window, and looked out upon the terrace where she had stood on the morning on which Sir Basil had first come to Brentwood. The passion-flowers were still in bloom. She remembered the sudden revelation that had come to her when she had looked into his face. "Was there to be an end now of all the light and brightness that had surrounded her since?" The duchess looked anxiously at her. Leah's face was deadly pale in the glowing sunlight. "The girl's heart is sick," thought the kindly woman, "and in all the wide world no one knows the secret but me. What can I do for her?" Suddenly her face brightened. She rose from her seat and went over to Leah. The pale face was half hidden by the climbing roses that came in at the window.

THE BRITISH EMBARGO ON IMPORTS

Taking thought for one's own is so widespread throughout the earth that it has been dignified as "self-preservation," and termed the first law of nature. Great Britain recently reverted to its system of restricting imports. A long list of articles in the raw and manufactured come under the ban and may be only purchased in limited quantities and under a license. By way of illustration, imports of boots and shoes are only allowed up to the proportion of 25 per cent. of the quantity imported in 1913.

This action was viewed with misgiving in the United States. The big republic has been yearly exporting goods to the value of $6,000,000,000, and principally to the United Kingdom. The embargo was at once set down as a slap in the face and the forerunner of a deliberate trade war. Several senators denounced it as being in direct conflict with President Wilson's 14 points, the third of which calls for "the removal of all economic barriers and establishments of equality of trade conditions among the nations consenting to peace and associating themselves for its maintenance."

One senator went as far as to declare that it would revive "the spirit of 1912," which it will be recalled, led to war between the two countries. At a later session he modified his statement.

Reflection has since caused their more militant legislators to recognize that every country has the right to impose or remove trade restrictions at will. While this embargo was being denounced, other cooler statesmen pointed out that Senator McCumber of North Dakota had previously urged an embargo against Canadian wheat, in order that the United States might uphold the price they have guaranteed for home grown wheat. Likewise the U.S. War Board had recommended that an embargo be placed on articles like potash, so that an opportunity might be afforded to the domestic market to consume these accumulated articles.

The belligerent senators were overhasty in condemning an action while their own members were discussing similar actions in other directions.

Since then the British embassy at Washington has issued a statement showing that the object of the embargo is to meet the temporary emergency arising from the profound disturbance of British industry, caused by the war. Its imports are largely in excess of its exports. This excess amounted in December to no less than $1,575,000,000 and there is under present conditions, no means of paying for imports if they continue on this scale. Hence it is found essential to restrict imports until their exports resume their normal volume.

Both Canada and the United States will require to accommodate themselves to the new conditions, caused by the cessation of war. The allied nations of Europe will not require nearly as large a volume of imports. These will wherever possible be restricted and additionally they will hasten to place themselves in a position where they can not only supply their own needs but compete in the world markets.

Those countries which have been fought over, will be slower in recovering their industrial strength, but even France has decided to buy abroad as little as possible. Last December it was believed that it would ask a credit in Canada of $500,000,000. Recently issued semi-official reports convey the impression that this credit may not exceed $25,000,000. With huge war debts awaiting payment in America and elsewhere, they will be obliged to stop buying on a large scale. Not only this but they will expect to pay their debts in goods rather than in gold.

They will need raw materials. But it may follow that Canadian exporters will of necessity require to look to other nations than France and Belgium for trade: South Africa, the West Indies, South America, Australia, China and Siberia.

Europe will, of necessity, have to protect its own people and industries, while at the same time endeavoring to carry on a peaceful penetration of those outside markets, which are backward in industrial development. Everything points to a keen, even though friendly, competition between exporting nations for world trade. It will be based on the retention of home trade.

MR. WIDDIFIELD IN NORTH ONTARIO

In view of representatives of the United Farmers organization having carried several by-elections in this province and there is one approaching (Feb. 18) in North Ontario, it may be interesting to scan the platform on which its candidate, Mr. Widdifield, stands.

When a new party attempts to establish itself, its policy and candidates arouse interest in the minds of the electorate. The public is curious to know: What it proposes in event of election to do and What manner of men it is nominating?

Mr. Widdifield is a farmer by occupation and seemingly an educated man, who has had municipal experience in his native riding.

In his address he points out that in a total of 112 members in the provincial legislature, there are presently only 13 farmers, and contends that all the important interests of Ontario should be adequately represented and the representation bear a reasonable relation to its importance. Agriculture he holds has not in the past been either fairly or sufficiently represented.

Proceeding he argues that inadequate representation of farmers in the house, has resulted in grave errors in legislation being made, which while to the special detriment of agriculture has also injured all classes in the province. This is the reason for the farmers having determined to enter the political field.

Any representation the U.F.O. may succeed in winning should, it is asserted, be non-partisan and should deal with every question arising on its merits. Mr. Widdifield declares that theirs is not a selfish movement and that he will, if elected, support any measure advanced by any party, which he deems to be in the interest of his constituency and the province at large.

He favors direct legislation on all important questions and therefore the Initiative and Referendum, with the right to recall any member who ceases to represent the wishes of the electors. This plank is at least a progressive one.

Toussing on the patronage system he sizes it up as one that creates and maintains useless offices and unnecessarily subdivides offices, while the public foots the bills. He condemns this as being bribery and corruption in its worst forms.

He strikes a new note when he says that in place of partyism, he would substitute a fair and equitable representation of all the great interests of the province and have them meet in the legislature not to struggle against each other as though the government of the province were a game, but uniting in their efforts to promote the general welfare of the community. By such a house, he concludes, it might reasonably be expected that business would be conducted in a business way. Then the evils of extravagance and waste, inseparable, in his opinion, from partyism, would gradually disappear.

Were it incumbent to show that the farmer's interests have in the past been well looked after by both parties, it could be done. As a matter of fact, both have assiduously cultivated his support. Their movement to seat members of their organization in the legislature may be taken as another instance where the bestowal of material benefits upon any class of the electorate is soon forgotten and that men prize personal liberties and the rights of freedom of expression and action more highly than loves and fishes.

What appeared to him as a pledge bent, if not broken, has awakened the sleeping giant and determined him to use his political strength. On paper it could be figured that a united farmers' vote would return a majority of members to the legislature. To realize this will call both for a breaking down of the strong wall of partisanship, and for thorough organization.

The success or failure attending their efforts in the by-elections will be an indication of the strength their political movement may later attain. Should they fail to elect their candidate in North Ontario, it will test their mettle. Should they win, they will be encouraged to press on.

The very appearance of a farmers party is proof that the repression and trials of the last four years have stirred up dissatisfaction in men's minds. This unrest is seeking expression in various ways. May it always be along constitutional lines.

It is well that in a democratic country like ours that we have safety valves, such as the freedom to form new political parties, wherewith to blow off excess steam. In the end comes a test to every party, namely, to persuade the majority of electors to think as it does. When it can do this, acquiescence is given to its right to govern.

In the meantime, neither of the old parties will be apt to laugh at the man carrying the wheatstraw in his mouth.

BY THE WAY

Those who are not called upon to contribute anything to the federal treasury under the score of business profits tax, will view the $65,000,000 collected from that source as a mighty nice arrangement.

Having no provincial public building, this city is not on the list of those where improvements are to be made. This omission can be corrected by Dr. Cody planting here this year a district Technical School.

A contemporary asserts that in homes where there is lovemaking, the electric light bills are always highest. So far as we are able to deduct from our rather limited experience, this business can just as well be performed in the dark. And we are sure the lovemaking couples will not object.

WAIT A MINUTE

LIECHTENSTEIN DUKE STILL RULES

It has just been discovered that the Down-and-Out Club, with Herr Wilhelm Hohenzollern as Grand Master and a bevy of former kings, princes, grand dukes, dukes and representatives of other degrees of royalty as his club associates, is minus a member. Strange as it may seem, there is within the domains of the Central Powers an independent sovereign who still sways the sceptre over his obedient subjects and continues to exercise his royal power and prerogatives just as though the great events of November, 1918, had never happened.

The fortunate individual who appears to have escaped the general disaster which set some fifty odd thrones a-toppling and removed the crowns from some fifty heads is His Royal Highness Prince Johann, sovereign of the independent principality of Liechtenstein. According to the latest advices from Vaduz, the capital of the principality, Johann is still on the throne, and what is more, his subjects have made no move to oust him. Both prince and people appear satisfied with a relationship which has extended over a period of some two hundred years, and unless the great peace conference takes notice, it is likely that things in Liechtenstein will continue to run along in the same old way.

Liechtenstein, situated almost within a stone's throw of Vienna, is the third smallest independent State on the Continent of Europe. By a strange coincidence the little principality has been technically at war with Prussia for nearly half a century. In 1868 the principality, in accordance with the terms of its alliance with Austria, proclaimed war against Prussia, the reigning Prince placing his army of 500 militiamen at the disposal of his imperial ally at Vienna. When the conflict ended and peace was declared between Austria and Prussia the little State was somehow forgotten in the negotiations, and it was ten or fifteen years later that by a mere chance Prince Bismarck suddenly discovered that theoretically speaking Prussia was still in a state of war with Liechtenstein.

With an area of 6,589 square miles and a population of about 10,000, Liechtenstein has its own ruler, its own parliament, a small army, and no taxes. It is nestled in the Austrian frontier with the Tyrol to the east and northeast, the Rhine to the west, and a slice of Switzerland to the south.

It is recalled that at the beginning of the great war in 1914 the principality of Liechtenstein got itself in bad with the Central Powers because it declared for neutrality in the war and also refused to send to Austria, a contingent of 1,000 men when asked for. Austria retaliated by cutting off the little country's food supply. Thereupon the Liechtenstein parliament appealed to the Swiss Government, and the latter sent wagonloads of cereals in haste, so that the threatened starvation of the inhabitants was averted. The imperial government at Vienna had its hands full at the time and doubtless pigeon-holed the Liechtenstein matter until some future occasion when conditions would be more propitious for administering chastisement to her rebellious ally. But that time is not likely to come, and so for the present at least Liechtenstein is in the enjoyment of peace and comparative prosperity.

The reigning prince of Liechtenstein, Johann II, is an Austrian who comes of a family that originated in the twelfth century and traces its descent through free Barons who in 1606 became Princes of Liechtenstein. It is a hereditary monarchy in the male line. The reigning prince, in spite of the smallness of his dominions, has long been rated among the wealthiest sovereigns of Europe.

LINGERING WEAKNESS FOLLOWING DISEASE

Banished by the Wonderful Tonic Powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

In almost every case the victims of la grippe, influenza, fevers or contagious troubles, are left weak, ailing and despondent after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought, and remain tired listless and discouraged. The one and only reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravage of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified by no other medicine as quickly and as surely as by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills, and thousands have found them beneficial in bringing strength and energy after disease had left them weak and run down. Miss Beatrice Cassidy, Vroomantown, Ont., says: "From my own experience I can speak in the highest terms of praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I passed through a severe attack of scarlet fever, from which I did not regain my strength after the fever itself had passed. I was left very weak, pale and frail looking, and although I was continuing to take medicine, I did not improve. At this time a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and following the advice, I soon felt the pills were helping me, and after taking them for about a month I found myself fully restored to my old time health and strength. I therefore strongly advise anyone who feels weak or run down to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I feel sure they will not regret it. Rich red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose of Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

The Picture Sensation of Two Continents

"THE BETTER

"OLE"

From the Famous Stage Success "The Romance of Old Bill" by Captain Bruce Bairnsfather and Arthur Eliot.

Five months continuously in Toronto and still running there.

THIS is not an ordinary motion picture—it is the greatest cinema of the day, carrying a message from the brave boys who spent four long and weary years in the trenches, at times under terrific bombardment, but always fighting with grim determination that final victory might be assured for the allies.

THE Better 'Ole' is a different story of the great war—There are no thrilling battle scenes, no hand-to-hand fighting, no artillery firing—You see the daily routine life of the lads who fought so gallantly for victory.

OLD Bill, Bert and Alf, the three famous cartoon characters of Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, are famous the world over. In "The Better 'Ole' they are brought to life in the most wonderful motion picture of the war.

THE secret of the story's wonderful fascination is its close and true analysis of the spirit which animated the men in the trenches, that spirit which kept them cheerful under conditions almost indescribable. The army is full of Old Bills, Berts and Alfs with their sorrows and pleasures—pleasures that make the very word seem a mockery—but true reflections of what the daily life of the boys has been 'over there.' "The Better 'Ole' will do more than raise a laugh, and dim the eyes with tears at the pathos so piquantly drawn. It will make the people at home understand as never before why the great war was fought to a bitter finish and how much is due to the Berts and Alfs and Old Bills who stood as a living wall of protection for the people at home.

HOSPITALS FOR BOOTS DO GREAT BUSINESS

Millions of Discarded Footwear Saved from the Wreckage of War

Few people, said an Army Service captain, have any idea of the amazing work of saving the wreckage of battle that is going on behind our lines in France—work that is saving the country millions of pounds a year, and yet there are few things in the conduct of the war more wonderful. Only a few days ago I visited a French town some distance behind our front one of several towns in which this work is proceeding day and night, silently and almost unnoticed by the world. Thousands of French women and girls, whose menfolk are fighting or have fallen, are employed on it; and I confess I was simply staggered at what I saw.

"Healing" Tattered Tunics
To this hive of industry and "healing" is brought all the detritus of battle, from a broken rifle or bicycle to tattered tunics and derelict boots—all to be renovated and made serviceable again in ways that seem almost like magic. I saw shoes that had after shed piled to the roof with discarded boots, most of them in such a deplorable condition that it seemed nothing short of a miracle could restore them. In former years they would all have been consigned to the rubbish-heap as utterly worthless. Not so now. Stage after stage I saw these boots, "broken in the war," converted again into splendid boots, soft and strong. I watched these clever and industrious Frenchwomen soak them in some mixture, and pass them from hand to hand until the leather became as pliable as ever it was. They were then scrubbed and rubbed and patched, and soles or heels were put on where required. They were next immersed in a bath of boiling oil, straightened and shaped; and when the last process was finished, I assure you, you could scarcely have distinguished them from boots newly bought. This repairing shop turns out 2,000 pairs every day; and I was told the output will soon be 5,000 pairs.

A Wonderful Process
In other enormous workshops I saw khaki uniforms, tattered, muddied, and some of them blood-stained, similarly made "as good as new." After passing them through a bath of hot water, the rags (for they are mostly nothing else) are handed to the women, who cut off the sound portions with sharp knives. These fragments are then washed in a disinfecting fluid, and when dry they are taken in hand by a small army of tailors, who, with wonderful cleverness and ingenuity, remake them; and they are returned to the Army ready for service again. A few minutes' walk distant is the hospital for wounded cannon, machine-guns, and rifles, where furnaces blaze night and day, and the Vulcan's work amid a thunderous crash and roar. Here are mountains of broken rifles, to which a new lease of life is to be given. The butts and wooden parts are repaired or renewed; the damaged metal parts are replaced by new ones, rusty barrels are freshened up, and so on; and in a day or two these heaps of old iron are so many brand-new rifles for all practical purposes, doing deadly execution in the trenches. Close by you will see thousands of broken bicycles—so many scrap-iron to look at, beyond all hope of repair. Here again the magician is at work; with amazing skill and rapidity the damage is repaired, broken parts are replaced, and the machines, restored to usefulness again, returned to their units.

NOVEL-READING SULTAN

Criminal Romances are His Favorite Subjects

Although the Sultan of Turkey is reputed to be the laziest potentate in Europe, he is passionately fond of reading. For weeks at a time he will shut himself up in his private suite at Yildiz Kiosk—the Turkish Buckingham Palace—surrounded by literature of all kinds, classical works, novels, magazines, and newspapers. With the exception of his personal secretaries, Ministers of State, and foreign Ambassadors, no one is allowed into the Imperial sanatorium during the Sultan's "fits."

But the "Sick Man of Europe" is somewhat handicapped, as his knowledge of European languages is limited. In order to overcome this difficulty he employs a translation office. Here there are crowds of officials, who speak all the languages of Europe and the East, and for their use all the political and illustrated newspapers of importance are procured, from which extracts are made and translated for the Sultan. They are then superior translators, and their pay is from ten to forty Turkish pounds monthly. The translations are not limited to political publications; novels and romances in all languages are also translated for the Sultan, and many thousands have found their way into the Imperial library. They are written on thick white royal octavo gilt-edged paper, and are fastened together with green and red ribbons by the translators themselves.

Suspicious of Waters

One of the simplest methods of testing the purity of water is the following: Let the cold water tap run for a minute, and then draw a tumblerful. Into this put a lump of sugar, and leave the water in the kitchen, or elsewhere, taking care that the temperature is not under 60 degrees Fahr. If the water is pure it will be perfectly clear in the morning. If contaminated by any impurities it will be milky.

What Your Thumb Tells

Persons who prefer to test character by the thumb declare that a long first joint shows will-power; a long second joint, logical or reasoning power; a thick, wide thumb indicates his possessor is a person of strong individuality; and obstinacy is shown by a broad knob at the end of the thumb.

A wise bride borrows her mother-in-law's cook book.

Gigantic "Tramway" System

The tramways of London would stretch in a straight line from Charing Cross to Liverpool. There are, roughly, eleven miles north of the Thames to every seven miles south of the river; and the passengers conveyed over them every year are nearly five times as many as the entire population of the United Kingdom.

It's an easy matter to fool any one including yourself.

INTER-OCEANIC FILM CORP. presents LEWIS S. STONE in "Inside the Lines" with MARGUERITE CLAYTON Directed by DAVID A. HARTFORD Produced by FRANK ELLIOTT CORPORATION STAR-Monday, Tuesday only.

ENTIRE CIRCUS OUTFIT UTILIZED IN EDDIE POLO'S LATEST SUCCESS Eddie Polo starring in "The Lure of the Circus" a thrilling Universal serial of circus life, is supported by a cast of men and women made up of veteran circus performers. The serial is directed by J.P. McGowan, who won his spurs as an action director with Helen Holmes in railroad pictures for the Signal company. "The Lure of the Circus" is filled with dramatic action made logical by the acting of genuine circus folk. Among the veterans of the sawdust ring who support Mr. Polo is another Eddie—Eddie De Coma, o the famous De Coma family, one of the best known performers with Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey and other big circuses. In "The Lure of the Circus" he plays the role of an aerial performer. The dashing gentleman in the plaid hat who snags his whip as the beautiful lady rides around the ring was Duke R. Lee's part for many years with the country's biggest circus. Two extremely funny men were recruited from the Sells-Floto circus. They are Roy Miller and Frank Chester. Pearl Polo, known professionally as Pearl Grant, and who is the wife of the star appears in a role familiar to her. For seven years Mrs. Polo thrilled audiences in Barnum and Bailey's circus by her daring feats in mid-air. Roma commencing March 3-4.

Star who Astonished New York By His Brilliant Acting, Engaged by World-Pictures. World Pictures announce that Lewis S. Stone, who was the star of "Inside the Lines" the sensational New York hit is now featured in the picture "The Lure of the Circus" which will be shown at the Star Theatre on Monday, Tuesday. Mr. Stone played the stellar role in this play when it ran a whole season at one of the biggest New York theatres. Patrons of the drama were astonished by the wonderful dramatic ability of Mr. Stone and never while in the city did the show run to a small house. "Inside the Lines" is a great picture and was grasped by World Pictures as a sure winner for their patrons. To make the success of the picture a certainty the star of the original production and members of the original cast were engaged for the film. Never before has Mr. Stone appeared in motion pictures. There are revelations galore in this production and the thrills are ten-fold. Don't fail to see this great spy drama which was the first of its kind to stir New York City into realizing what America had to contend with when war was declared against German Kultur. It shows the wonderful spy system the German secret agents have woven around the world. There are very few places on the earth the German government does not control and with this point in view Germany established secret agencies throughout the world.

A CORDIAL INVITATION. Dear Sir (or Madam). Let me help you, in these days that are so trying for all of us, to forget your troubles and get a little of the joy of living. One way of forgetting your troubles is to look around you and see the difficulties the worries, the harassing cares that beset your neighbors. But that is poor comfort, at best. I have a plan which will serve even better. Come to the star Theatre Monday night and see Tom Mix in "Fame and Fortune." I know you have seen many of them. But I want to tell you right here and now that you have never seen a picture that is quite like this one! I have seen hundreds of pictures—I have to in my business. But I assure you, "Fame and Fortune" had me gasping and sitting on the edge of my chair from the very first scene. And the climax lifted me right up on my feet and mad "Fame and Fortune" is a Western play—but there was never a Western play like this. It is as swift as a bullet from a Colt .44, and it does right through with a zip and a snarl that is electrifying. Come and see it, and go home feeling better. Cordially yours, F.W. McCutcheon.

YOU CANNOT BEAT THE BRITISH And when you make the acquaintance of Old Bill, Bert and Alf you will understand why. By all the rules of the war game the British were licked in the first few weeks of the war, and almost every month thereafter; but the Old Bills, Berts and Alfs would not acknowledge it, and hung on until the enemy was brought to his knees. Meet these unique characters, and absorb the true British spirit of patriotism, at the Allen next Monday, afternoon and evening, in "The Better Ole." Also on Tuesday and Wednesday. Have your seats reserved now. Plan open daily at Allen Box Office.

Berts and Alfs" have done. "The Better Ole" explains how it was possible for our boys to stand the terrific strain of the four years; and I believe that those who have made the greatest sacrifices, those who will have no "Toms, Berts or Alfs" to return on the great coming Back Day; I imagine that they will find much comfort and cheer in witnessing "The Better Ole." It will give them a glimpse of the British Spirit which met, fought and whipped The Enemy. It will ease their hearts to know that the boys sang, danced, loved, laughed and fought like men, filled with the Spirit of Life even in the presence of Death. Those who do not believe in the value of titles, strip these from "The Better Ole" then weigh the balance. The fade in from "The Three Musketeers to "Old Tom, Bert and Alf" was excellent photography and the flash of the camera in the bit of a scene the Drake scene, the scene of the singing The Marsellaise gave a touch of polish and finesse to the picture. "The Better Ole" is a funny bird 's, 'ere to 'is good 'ealth; and may 'e live long and prosper. Canadian Moving Picture Digest.

MAMMON VERSUS CUPID Constance Talmadge, as Helen Drayton asks her husband for some money to replenish her wardrobe. "There's ten dollars—that ought to get all you really need" he retorts. This is not the report of a case at law or a fight—although these two incidents sometimes result in the course of time—but a story of the part played by money in the game of love and marriage. This is one of the several "live" issues which arise in "The Lesson." Constance Talmadge's latest picture which will be the feature attraction on Friday and Saturday at the Roma Theatre. The photoplay, which was adapted for the screen from the well-known stories by Virginia Tachum Van de Water, is no propaganda picture, nor a sensational sex drama; on the contrary, it is a highly pleasing, wholesome slice of life, as it goes on about us everywhere, among "real folks." "An old man's darling or a young man's slave" does not always work out as simply as many seem at first thought. The decision is not always between a loveless wedding to a rich old man and a love marriage to a poor young man—their decision is usually not very perplexing. But to be "a young man's slave" to do all the drudgery of house-keeping and to suffer all the inconveniences of comparative poverty—to endure all this without the recompense of "the love which passeth all understanding"—there is the bitterest struggle, and the one through so many misnamed couples must fight their way to a peaceful family life. Helen Drayton (Constance Talmadge) marries John Galvin, a young New York architect who is visiting the small country town in which she was reared, and they set up house in the big city. Buoyed up by the belle that John loves her and that she loves him truly and fully, she makes light

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. of the minor unpleasantnesses which a young wage-earner's wife must endure. When, however, her wardrobe needs replenishing and her appeal to John brings only a solitary ten-dollar bill with which to buy a hat, shoes and stockings and gloves, while she recalls her husband's personal extravagance, she comes slowly but surely to the realization that he is not "playing the game" squarely. Incidents of this nature heightened by a visit back home and further aggravated by her husband's infatuation for another woman, make Helen recall the love of girlhood days which she cast aside because it seemed at that time to be a cut-and-dried affair. The Father and Son Banquet a Success

FATHER & SON BANQUET Boys Urged to Work for a Y.M.C.A.

The father and son banquet held last evening at Zion Bible School under the auspices of the Tuxis Club of Kitchener will go down in history as having been the most successful and most unique event ever held so far.

The boys were out in force, an increasing number of fathers are interested themselves in these annual events. The supper was divorced itself from the usual "war time" qualification.

Dr. Honsberger replying for the "Dads" pleaded for a chance for the boy. Mr. E. D. Lang, the chairman of the Public School Board, proposing a toast to "Our Boys," spoke appreciatively of those men who give time, effort and thought to the welfare of the boy that he may become a good Canadian citizen.

Notes The sing songs was a revelation to the fathers. Everybody joined in the songs, familiar or otherwise.

COUNTY CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

Secretary J. R. Strickland Severs Connection.

The Annual Meeting of the Waterloo County Children's Aid Society, was held at the residence of J. R. Strickland, near Freeport on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock.

The usual reports of the Officers were presented, and the accounts etc. were in better shape financially than for many years past.

The Election of Officers for the ensuing year took place with the following result.

President—Mr. D. N. Pannabaker, Hespeler.

1st. Vice-President—Rev. Theo. Spetz, Kitchener.

2nd. Vice-President—Mr. S. J. McLane, Galt.

Secretary—Treasurer—Rev. P. J. Meyer, Hespeler.

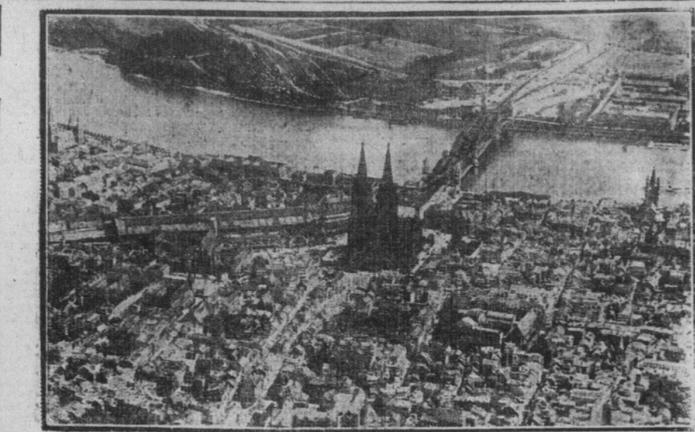

Hespeler Branch representative—Mr. Eli S. Beer.

The President, in referring to the resignation of Mr. J. R. Strickland, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Society for about ten years past, expressed his deep sense of regret, that owing to Mr. Strickland and family, moving to Woodstock, Vermont, in a few weeks it was necessary to sever the pleasant relations that have existed between him and the Children's Aid work of the County.

Coupled with the name of Mrs. Strickland, a resolution of appreciation was unanimously passed, with the hope that in their new home a field of usefulness would open to them.

By an unanimous vote it was decided to present Mr. and Mrs. Strickland with the Filing Cabinet which they had so faithfully and efficiently used, as a slight token of the esteem of this Society for their efficient and painstaking work for the children.

The following resolution was also passed. Moved by Eli S. Beer, seconded by Rev. Theo. Spetz: "That this Society desires to place itself on record as endorsing the ringing of the curfew as per statute, thus giving notice that all children must be at home at nine o'clock p.m. and we urge all municipalities to take up this important matter, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the different Municipal Councils, and all County papers.

O'Rourke LECTURED HIMSELF.

The late Jim O'Rourke, when aball player, was at times very severe with his men, but also censured himself, which is something few men do.

Here is the way he is said to have been heard soliloquizing after making an error:

"Mr. O'Rourke, I am pained and astonished at the hopeless incompetency displayed by you in your futile effort to trap that daisy cutter. If you do not quickly improve the quality of your play it will be necessary for you to retire from your present position and join a less pretentious organization. I trust I shall not again be compelled to bring this matter to your attention."

Then the game would be permitted to proceed.

All States now admit women to the practice of law.

Women school executives of Kansas have organized a State association. Nearly 54,000 women were engaged in engineering work in England during the war.

Women in Sweden have been permitted to take the higher university degrees since 1882.

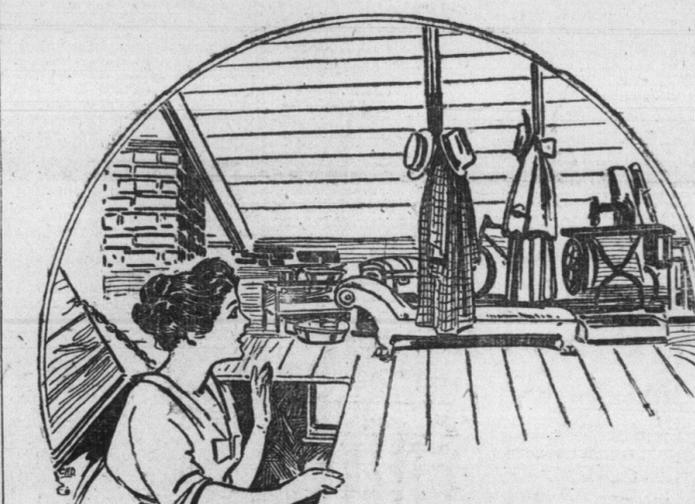

Virginia and Georgia are among the few States in which the State universities remain closed to women.

The first woman's Suffrage association in the Netherlands was organized in Amsterdam twenty-five years ago.

One hundred and twenty-six chambermaids are employed in one of the big hotels recently opened in New York City.

The American Red Cross is planning a country-wide movement to enlist the interest of women in better family cooking.

In suffrage circles plans are already under consideration for a suitable observance next year of the centennial of the birth of Susan B. Anthony, the famous pioneer of the woman's rights movement in America.

Visit the Attic

It takes genuine courage to visit the attic. Any article that has for the time being passed its usefulness is "put in the attic." All the family heirlooms, which have been kept for sentimental reasons, find their way here. The attic becomes the discard of the house.

Just climb up there and look around. You will say "Where in the world did all this stuff come from?" "What shall I do with it?" Well, the first thing to do is get a copy of this paper and turn to the WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS classification. There you will find a list of reliable merchants who buy second-hand goods. Phone one of these men and they will call and give you a surprisingly fair price. This will soon rid your upstairs of all the moth-breeding, dust-gathering things that are no longer serviceable to you. You will also be ahead of the game financially.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be successfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a quart of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

A Unique Industry

concerns in the Dominion. And as to the second point, the fact that it is an iron working industry means that at least another plant has been added to those in the city employing male help. Kitchener has many industries, but iron working establishments form a small percentage of the list. This new industry, therefore, fits in well and will enable more heads of families to secure work here, besides affording opportunities to young men to learn a trade. A visit through this modern machinery plant will immediately reveal the asset that the plant is to Kitchener.

A Patriotic Enterprise.

Having considered the plant as it is and what it promises for the future, one's thoughts are turned in a retrospective. How did it come about that it was established?

In analysis, the reason amounts to a patriotic motive. "Why not make in Canada what we can and what we have been importing?" was a question asked by the men at the helm. Mr. T. H. Rieder, the president of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited, had this thought in his mind. Soon he put the idea into execution and as the result of his decision, there stands on the site on Strange Street today, a further monument to his foresight, progressiveness and patriotic motives. And the decision was one of good business judgment, for the wisdom of the company manufacturing its own rubber machinery for its dozen plants, has been proven. However, this is not all. After further consideration, Mr. Rieder entertained the idea of manufacturing rubber machinery for all rubber companies in the country. There are twenty-three rubber manufacturing concerns in the country, about a dozen of which are owned and operated by the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited. All of these twenty-three have had to import their machinery and the item for one year is not a small figure. So why not manufacture for the whole Dominion? The Company considered and decided the question. The answer is found in the filling of orders today from other companies. In the one and a half years of the plant's existence, the hopes have been realized, and today one hundred and twenty-two men employed in these modern shops are keeping the wheels and machines turning in the orders. And yet the business is in its infancy. Looking into the future, when the business will multiply as the result of a national prosperity, the plant today is but the foundation of a vast industry.

The establishment of the industry was an act of progressiveness and foresight. And this feature is characteristic now that the plant has been put into operation. One thing that impresses a visitor to the plant is the evident broadminded policy of the company in its operation. It is manifest everywhere. There is community spirit among the workers, and in the filling of orders today from other companies, seems to be the habit of all within the walls of the factory. It is a plant where the golden rule is the guiding principle. And this in a large measure is due to the initiative of the company in adopting and carrying out a policy which has to do with the welfare and advancement of those in its employ. The New Order of Apprenticeship.

One illustration of the company's broadmindedness is seen in the new order of apprenticeship that will be introduced. A word about this. First, the fact that while this city is a manufacturing centre, it is not a mechanical one. Therefore they propose to train their own mechanics. This is what they are doing today. Experts are being trained in all branches of the art of machine manufacturing that will enable them to accept any position in any part of the world.

Advancement of Bright Boys. Further, the company realized that the old form of apprenticeship on the continent, has gone out of fashion, for the boy was exploited for selfish ends. Poorly paid and poorly taught, he was sent abroad, not equipped for life's battles. It is proposed to revise the apprenticeship, shortly, on new lines. It will be an advanced form over anything attempted anywhere heretofore, in this respect, that it will be highly paid because the company recognizes the fact that bright boys earn their pay very quickly and are worthy of it. The boys will frequently be changed, giving them an acquaintance with each branch. After their completing the term of apprenticeship, they will immediately be paid journeymen's wages, the rate being according to their ability. In addition to this, they will then also receive the bonus of 25 cents a day which will

To Co-Operate with the Technical School.

In view of the fact that the city will probably secure a new technical school, the acquisition of the plant is of special importance to the community. The shops afford a splendid opportunity for students who may graduate from the School. The apprenticeship will be conducted in conjunction with the educational institution, which will lead its assistance in the way of selecting students every year, who would make good apprentices. On the other hand, the School will benefit by the machine shops. The experience of the heads and men at the plant equipped with modern machinery, where fine, skilled work must be done, will be at the service of the School.

Fine Factory Buildings and Equipment.

Having outlined the purpose of the company in building the plant and their progressiveness and broadmindedness in the operation of the same, a reference to the factory buildings is in order. The plant, which is located northwest of the Dominion Tire Company, from which, however, it is a separate unit, represents a big investment. There are two main buildings of red brick and of fire proof construction. Entering the building at the east side, by the entrance facing Strange Street, one comes into the corridor with the general manager's office to the right. The general offices follow, in connection with these and the draughting room upstairs, there is a big vault in which valuable plans and designs of the company are stored. This vault has been built with an outlook into the future, the space being ample for the next fifty years. On the other half of the first floor of this building, there are storage quarters. On the shelves are stored many thousands of dollars worth of fittings and cuttings, so that an order from without or within can immediately be filled.

At the front on the second floor is the draughting department, where a number of trained engineers are at work. In connection with it, there is a modern blue-printing room, where electricity is the medium of effecting the blue-print. At the rear on this floor is the pattern department where a number of skilled woodworkers are engaged. In the other building, which is located on the west side of the property, is the machine shop, where the big iron work machinery, the buzz of revolving wheels and the swinging of big overhanging cranes, are evidence of the fact that Kitchener has an up to date place for mechanists and those who wish to learn the trade. Entering it one passes the trimmings quarters. In the northwest corner there is the blacksmithing department. On the northwest side of this building, the tool making and tool store departments are features. It is encouraging to note that some clever local young men are making good in the tool making section. In the tool storage room, many thousands of dollars worth of special tools, used in the shop, are stored. In the centre of the building and at the southeast side there are lathes, cranes and other kinds of machinery on which fine and accurate work is being done.

The Causes of Backache Can Be Remedied

Many people are apt to disregard backache as being of slight importance. This is wrong. A backache should be accepted as a very grave warning that the kidneys are not performing their proper function, and need immediate attention and assistance.

One ingredient of gin is a most beneficial agent in the toning up of the kidneys and restoring these vital organs to their normal duty of eliminating the poisons from the blood.

Gin Pills contain this ingredient, together with other tested diuretics and antiseptics, without a suggestion of alcohol.

Gin Pills are made from a formula produced from the results of scientific research, and contain only ingredients of tested and proven value.

When you feel backache coming on, be warned and take Gin Pills at once. It may save you a great deal of suffering. Should you neglect the backache or pain in the side, you stand in danger of more serious ailments, such as Sciatica, Lumbago, and Swollen Anles and Joints, with their excruciating pains and prolonged dreaded suffering.

Gin Pills can be obtained from almost any dealer, and the price is only 50 cents a box. You buy them on a guarantee of satisfaction or your money refunded.

The makers of Gin Pills will be pleased to send you a free sample if you address your request to the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, U.S. residents should address Na-Dr Co., Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y.

Conveniences and Comforts.

A noteworthy feature, which is in harmony with the company's policy, are the conveniences and comforts supplied in this building. In the smoking room, near the tool making department, good reading matter has been supplied by the company, and after the dinner hour the men make use of the opportunity to use this reading material. At the other end, towels and soap are supplied free of charge and there are ventilated metal lockers, where each of the employes may store his clothes.

What impresses the outsider, also, is the evident contentment and happiness of those at work. Everywhere in the shop the operations go on without a hitch, and the individual employes co-operate with the next fellow. One, almost, looks in vain for overseers, such is the atmosphere of mutual confidence in this plant. The square deal to the employes as well as to customers, is evident.

The airy conditions and the good lighting are noticeable. It might also be added that the smoking and reading room in the near future will be removed to the northeast end, the change being necessitated by the fact that more working room must be provided in the shop. The new quarters will be built on the Mezzanine floor: style A Benefit to Other Industries.

The plant, as has been stated is a busy concern. The wheels of industry are continually turning, and humming. The company, however, it is worth stating, not only keeps its plant busy and steadily in operation, but also is a help to some of the city's other iron industries, the machinery shops giving many orders for foundry work.

The Organization.

tion and the executive staff. At the helm is the interim general manager, Mr. F.W. Harding, the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company's Consulting Engineer, with 28 years' experience in all branches of the rubber industry. Mr. Harding came here from Montreal, to organize the factory and to get matters safely started. The result of his efforts is seen in a visit to the plant and in the fore-going story about the industry.

The Chief Engineer is Mr. H.S. Poole, who is the Consulting Electrical Engineer of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, collaborating with Mr. Harding.

The Superintendent of the Shops is Mr. C.H. Harding, engineer and a graduate in Science from McGill University. He also served four years as a regular apprenticeship.

The Production Engineer is Mr. Allan Clarke, who is a McGill graduate in Science.

The General Foreman is Mr. Fred Krueger, a well known and highly skilled mechanic of wide experience.

The office department is headed by Mr. C.W. Cressman, whose executive ability and business instincts are an asset.

On the staff, also, are two draughtsmen, who are university graduates.

The above list shows that the company has scholarship as well as business and executive ability behind its management.

The public are cordially invited to visit the Shops at any time and go through the plant which is open for their convenience and inspection.

WHEN BABY IS CROSS.

Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him up—something is the matter. It is not the nature of the little one to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. They are a mild but thorough laxative; regulate the bowels and stomach; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; in fact they cure all the minor ailments of the little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Alphonse Lachance, St. Apolline, Que., writes: "My baby cried continually but Baby's Own Tablets soon set her right and now she is fat and happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

It is difficult to realize that less than a hundred years ago the question of educating girls beyond the most ordinary branches was considered unnecessary and a mere waste of time.

Texas has lost its only woman jailer through the resignation of Mrs. F.F. Conway who has given up her position as jailer for Tom Green County after nearly ten years of service.

By onerous of presidential suffrage on its women Indians has added approximately $80,000 to the total number of men and women who will be entitled to vote in the presidential election next year.

Susan B. Anthony, whose centenary is to be celebrated next year, was not only a pioneer in the equal suffrage movement, but also was one of the organizers of the first women's temperance societies in America.

In Boston, in the early part of the last century girls were permitted to attend the public schools only during the Summer, as then there was room for them, as the attendance of boys fell off during that season.

A Tribute to the Hardest Worked Merchants in Our Country

HAVE you ever considered the important part played by the grocer in our daily life?

From early morn and often until late at night the grocer keeps open for our convenience.

Whether we want a 5-cent bar of soap, a package of tea or a sack of potatoes he is there to serve us—and with a cheerful "thank you".

You trade with him almost every day. You look upon him as a friend. He treats your children kindly when you send them to the store.

When sickness, accident or unemployment occurs, it is the big-hearted grocer who supplies the home with the necessities of life and often waits a long time for his money.

necessities of life and often waits a long time for his money.

He has had many trials during the past four years. Government regulations have hampered his business. Goods have been difficult to procure. Help scarce. Profits small. He sells on a closer margin of profit than probably any other line of retail trade.

For nearly twenty-five years, the T. H. Estabrooks Company has been distributing millions of pounds of Red Rose Tea through the grocers of Canada. Our relations with them have been very intimate and very friendly. We, therefore, know something of their difficulties and something of the services they are rendering, which we think deserve recognition and appreciation.

The complainant received a letter from New York stating that his letter had reached there but no money was enclosed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oldenburg and family next month friends regret to learn will remove from the city to Cleveland, Ohio. They resided in this city for seventeen years and during that period made many friends here. There was called from this life last week Jacob Matlis, aged 79 years. By his death there has departed another of the oldest citizens of the community, who was widely known and had many friends. The deceased was born in Germany and came to this country many years ago. During the past three years he resided in this city. His wife predeceased him six years ago. Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. William Struck and Mrs. Howard, Whitney, city.

The Iowa State Federation of Women's Clubs, and all the Iowa labor organizations are behind a movement to secure a shorter work-week for women.

Five hundred women, most of them married and childless, stormed the rooms of a charity organization in Wilkes-Barre and almost fought for possession of Dorothy Smith, 20 months old, whose mother died from influenza and left her without near kin.

Advertising is Progressive.
In the News Record today there is an unusual advertisement—unusual because the advertiser uses most of his space to do a good turn for the "other fellow."

The advertiser—The T. H. Estabrooks Company, the proprietors of Red Rose Tea—have used a large space to pay a tribute to the grocery trade. This indicates a generous, broad-minded spirit and shows that there is a great deal more sentiment in business than one would generally think. It shows that advertising is progressing and that it can be used to do other things than to sell goods.

STRATFORD JUNIORS TO MEET INDUSTRIAL CITY.

Stratford, Feb. 14.--Mount Forest club were allowed by the O.H.A. to default their O.H.A. junior fixture here tonight, thus giving Stratford the honors and putting them into the next round with Woodstock. The first game with the Industrial City team will be here next Tuesday, and the return game in Woodstock on Friday. This action is due to the fact that Mount Forest have several players sick and would be unable to place a team on the ice strong enough to cut down the locals' six-goal lead. It was intended to bring a team selected from the surrounding country for an exhibition game, so that the local club would not lose the gate, but the ice was not fit to play on.

HAMILTON SENIORS OUTCLASS VETERANS.

Game So Listless, Ending 10-4 That Fans Fall Asleep.

Toronto, Feb. 14.--To-night's game at the Arena, when the T'gers defeated the Veterans, 11 to 4, proved of the tame variety. The crowd was the smallest to attend a local O.H.A. senior fixture this season and very little enthusiasm was shown. The visitors outclassed the returned soldiers in the initial period and thereafter failed to extend themselves. In the final session the contest grew so listless that one of the spectators fell asleep.

GUELPH GIRLS VICTORS IN WHYTE TROPHY GAME.

Stratford Team Beaten At Home In Overtime Fixture 13-12.

Stratford, Feb. 14.--In overtime, Guelph Girls defeated the locals here tonight by 13 to 12 in a Whyte Cup series game. At full time the score was 11 to 11, and in the overtime period the locals secured a point on a foul and excitement ran high, but one minute before the final whistle Miss Hope Brydon scored the winning basket.

Seniors in Full Fighting Trim

Poor Ice Last Night Prevents Workout.

When it comes to be weighed in the balance there is one thing that the Kitchener Senior Hockey team of this season will be well proud, and that is the stubborn fight they put up in face of real difficulties.

Take last night for instance here we have the World's Champion Hockey Sextette on the eve of a battle, the result of which MUST be in their favour, and NO ICE for them to practise on. Their opponents in Toronto spend an hour or two on a sheet of splendid ice, trimming themselves to the last notch for tonight's game, whilst the local men either went home to bed or spent a couple of hours at the movies--then if the game does not favour Kitchener tonight, some fans will still have the nerve to ask "what's the matter with Kitchener?"

News-Record Accepts So-Called Challenge

Also Record Ladies Issue Challenge. Will Our Contemporary Flunk? The staff of the News-Record never grabbed at anything quite so eagerly as they did the so-called "defie" issued by our contemporary.

So eager were our hockey enthusiasts that they wanted the game the same evening, however as it requires a little time to arrange, they were persuaded to hold off until a date arranged.

Tuesday evening should be convenient for both teams, when there is not the slightest doubt that the News-Record will repeat the numerous defeats that they have inflicted on our contemporary in the past years.

The ladies of our staff are also eager and they challenge our contemporary's ladies, the two games could be played on the same evening, and if there challenge is not taken it is open to any six ladies in the city.

We are confident that our contemporary will be up against it--the News-Record is a regular home of hockey--hard ice will be in our favour as we can skate rings around the opponents as past seasons have proven.

Kitchener Ladies Win From Woodstock Local Ladies Register Their First Victory

First Half Favours Visitors.

The Kitchener ladies evened things up with Woodstock last evening by winning from them by a score of 14-12. The local ladies evidently were out to revenge the defeat Woodstock boys inflicted on the local boys last Wednesday, and they succeeded admirably.

The game proved the most exciting of this season, and was fast and furious from beginning to end.

In the first half Woodstock fought with confidence and ended it with the score of 9-7 in their favour.

However the locals came far from, beaten and played a splendid game Miss W. Snyder and Miss F. Cochrane proved themselves superior to any on the floor.

Miss I. Fraser starred for Woodstock and although she worked her team well, the game ended 14-12 in the locals favour.

The line-up: Kitchener, Woodstock L. Bender, L.D., G. Douglas, L. Snyder, R. D., G. Hill, W. Snyder, C., I. Fraser, I. Clarke, L.F., G. McCrimmon, J. Cochrane, R.F., M. McKay, Subs--E. Carmichael, Sub--G. Doug, F. Mueller, Jas. G. Harris, Mr. McLeod umpire.

Refreshments and an enjoyable dance brought the evening to a close and the Kitchener ladies have a real opinion of themselves this morning.

SIR INTEREST OF WOMEN T At the Meetings

RUSSIAN SITUATION UP AFTERNOON. PARIS, Feb. 17.--(By Ft. Ferguson)--The Russian situation again the foremost question the Peace conference today. Tentative date for a joint meeting at 10 expired on Saturday without definite having been secured.

The Supreme War Council matter up and was expected to full consideration at this afternoon session. Winston Churchill, with the War portfolio in the new ministry, has come forward with plan for solving the Russian problem. The Russian situation regarding this plan but it is not to include a "Hands Off" toward the Bolsheviks, while giving economic assistance to other governments.

It is known that no agreement reached on Churchill's scheme the meeting on Saturday, an expected that Russia will meet greater part of the Supreme War Council's time for several days. While the Ukrainians, Lithuanians and Letts have a proposal for a joint conference as well as the Bolsheviks, it is stated that a large number of delegates are dissatisfied with tone of the Bolshevik reply as they are disposed to discuss the situation further before going through the conference.

The Committee on Reparations also to continue its hearings. Considerable progress is said to have been made toward the solution of the indemnities question. The point of difference in the committee's views seems to be the content that Germany should cost of war for all nations, which hold to the American idea of associated powers should not go the "fourteen points" with the men-contained in the original terms.

Two other subjects, heretofore presented in international affairs assuming an increasingly important place in the peace work. The labor and women. Inter-allied suffrage advocates having gained Wilson's approval of the resolution dealing with matters of women to confer with women are now endeavoring to put the of other countries similarly on the President Poincaré, Jules and Paul Hymans, of Belgium, have pointed out that a Woman's mission would be particularly in presenting the conference's talks regarding the deporta women from France, Belgium, Greece, Holland and Armer said that reports of Serbian work sold at public auction in Constantinople and Greek girls being at "reasonable prices" in Asia called for investigation and steps to restore them.

President Wilson's statement the conference represents 1,200 people and his emphasis on lowest workers in the most sections of the world have been brought to the peace to established labor as one of elements to be considered in settlement.
