Fed the Baby Pins. London, Nov. 6.—At Walsham, in Nor.

London, Nov. 6.—At Walsham, in Norfolk yesterday, a nurse girl was charged with administering pins to the 7-monthsold entitled of Robert Barcham. For some time it was noticed that the child was suffering intense pain, and all the efforts of a physician to relieve it were useless. No one could tell what the matter was until pins were noticed in the child's excreta. Then the nurse girl was accused of forcing the baby to swallow them. She at first denied it, claiming that the baby itself had swallowed them. She finally broke down, however, and acknowledged that she had stuffed a number of pins into the mouth of the little one as it was lying in its cradle. The baby is in a critical condition.

Mr. Mercier's Friends Turn Out En Masse.

Immense Demonstrations in Quebec and Montreal.

QUEERC, Nov. 6.—At the demonstration in favor of Mr. Mercier last night there was a great crowd of people in the line of march. Mr. Mercier's carriage was drawn by four horses, and he was accompanied by his lawyers, Messrs. Lemieux and Greenshields and Mr. Tarte, of the Canadien. There was also a music corps. Bengal fire and rockets were used liberally in the line of march. At Jacques Cartiers Square fully 10,000 people were assembled and the ex-M. P. Mercier was loudly applicated. He was severe on his presecutors, but he was glad the people had taken his case in their hands and had saved him from his tyrants. He concluded by saying that case in their hands and had saved him from his developments points to the Government securing a majority for the Army through a coalition of Conservative terists and members of the Reichstag dressed the immense crowd.

Crupp Constructing a Monster Gun for the World's Fair.

Ludicrous Predicament of a Tenor and His Trousers.

The Unhappy Married Life of Nellie Grant-Sartoris — Brussels Citizens Evidently "Down" on the Salvation Army-The Lord Mayor's Banquet,

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Krupp, the great gun maker, is making rapid progress in the construction of a mouster gun, weighing 118 tons, for the Chicago World's Fair. Krupp intends that it shall be the finest specimen of ordnance in the world.

out above air list it is believed that he is actually engaged upon a scheme for "reforming" the city of London government, and reform, as the city fathers know well enough, means in their case extinction. It is not in good taste for the executioner to break bread with the condemned criminal, and Sir William Hartcourr is entitled to credit for his display of delicate considers.

credit for his display of delicate consideration in retusing the Lord Mayor's invitation. Mr. Gladatone, by the way, is accustomed to assume far worse risks than attendance at a public banquet. On Tuesday, for instance a day of storm and rain, Mr. Gladatone was engaged at his deak from early morning until 5:30 o'clock in the evening. No one who could help it was out of doors then, but shortly before 6 o'clock a reporter passed Mr. Gladatone in St. James Park striding along like a vigorous man of 50. He had no umbrella. In truth, he could not have kept one open against the strong wind, and the big Inverness cloak which he wore was blown about in such a fashion that the rain must have saturated the coat beneath it. Yet the old man walked about a couple of miles against the gale, and seemed thoroughly to enjoy himself. The public fully expected to hear next day of postponed Cabinet councils, hastily summoned doctors, mustard plasters, and what not in Downing street, but the Premier went about, as usual, presided at the Council for the first property in the evening.

FRILD Intends that it shall be the finest specimen of ordnance in the world.

The Salvation Army paraded the streets of Brussels on All Sanits Day, and ween hooted and pelted with mud and missiles by the populace. The Salvationists are meeting with little success. They are making but few converts, and their meetings are sparsely attended.

FAILING IN MIND AND BODY.

A dispatch from Vienna states that since Halloween the Empress has been at any time since the death of her son, the Crown Prince Rudolf. Her days are divided between prayer and the contemplation of mementos of the unfortunate Frinze. Her Majesty can hardly be prevailed upon to partake of tood. She rarely utters a word, and gives indications of falling mind and body.

THE ROTHCHILDS AND THE RUSSIAN LOAN.

There has been considerable speculiation about the cause of the refusal of the Rothschilds to float the Russian loan. One report has it that the Rothschilds demanded an assurance, which was refused, that Russia contemplated no military measures in the east of Europe in the immediate future. A more probable reason is that the great Hebrew bankers refused to have any relations with the Russian Government as long as the persecution of the Jews con-

New York, Nov. 6.—The New York Horald's review of the political situation, which will appear to-morrow morning, is as follows: "A cold-blooded summary of the Herald's non-partisan canvass throughout the United States favors Mr. Cleveland. New York is emphatically a Democratic State. Indiana, while not so distinctly indicated in the canvass seems to cratic State. Indiana, while not so dis-tinctly indicated in the canvass, seems to lean toward Mr. Cleveland. Connecticut is in doubt, but the Herald's special corre-spondent regards the State as a hard field for the Republican managers. There has been nothing revealed so far as to indicate that the solid South has been broken, with the single exception of West Virginia, whose six electoral votes hang uncertainly, the probabilities being Domocratic." The Herald then proceeds to analyze the Rediscovers "a serious rift in the ranks of the German Republicans," and concludes that "New York is Democratic, Indiana

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

The Great Strike of British Cotton Spinners Begun

Serious Labor Upheaval in New Orleans The Toronto Typos' Trouble.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—England sees the beginning of what seems likely to be the greatest industrial war that the country has known in many years. Cotton mills employing 14,000,000 spindles were shut down yesterday. Of the 44,000,000 spindles in England the mill owners have a masters' federation in which 20,000,000 spindles are represented. The owners of the 6,000,000 still running will pay to the federation a fine of a farthing a spindle per week for such as they keep at work. There are about 24,000 operative spinners grouped into various local unions all federated in an amalgamated association of could apply the spinlings. The local unions combined have a reserve fund of £120,000. This will be further increased by the contributions of 4 shillings a week from 9,000 members, who will remain at work. From all sources £3.400 will flow in weekly to assist the a reserve fund of £120,000. This will be further increased by the contributions of 4 shillings a week from 9,000 members, who will remain at work. From all sources £3,400 will flow in weekly to assist the operatives. The union men hope for one great result from the struggle, thinking it will induce outsiders to join the unions with a view to a share in the "strike pay" later. The Masters' Federation has received a severe blow at Bolton, where the district employers' association has declined to co-operate with the federation in a scheme to reduce wages. Their 13,000,000 spindles are still kept busy, and the operatives are working on the old scale of wages.

New Orleans, Nov. 6.—Yesterday the street cay arivers all left work and tied up all the lines in the city. The cotton handlers did hot go out. The merchants are willing to arbitrate with the unions if they will send their men back to work while the strikers demand that all the differences be settled before the men return to work. One of their demands is that none but union men shall be employed.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 6.—The situation does not improve. Typographical Union 17 has decided to go out at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning. The electric light workers are awaiting word from the national headquarters. The gas works will be compelled to shut down to-morrow. Toronto, Nov. 6.—The Trades and Labor Council on Friday night discussed the following resolution: "That, whereas the publishers of the Toronto Evening News have attempted to impose conditions on the compositors which would result in greatly reducing their wages, the said terms being a direct 'slap' at Typographical Union, No. 91, as their scale of prices was presented to the said News office for consideration, such seale being in operation at present at the Globe, Empire and Mail offices; and whereas this council, having considered the action of the management of the News in locking out their employes; therefore be it resolved that this council stongly condemn the action of the said newspaper in locking resolution, it was carried by a unanimous standing vote.

Paris, Nov. 6.—The chorus in "Cavaleria Rusticana" at the Opera Comique struck for higher wages on Sunday evening. The manager was obliged to close the theater and return the ticket money to the audience, which was very large. LABOR NOTES.

It is announced that all the collieries in the anthracite coal combination will be worked but four days a week during the present month. The Dayton Coal and Iron Company,

The Dayton Coal and Iron Company, operating blast furnaces and coal mines at Dayton, Tenn., has given notice of a 5 per cent. reduction in wages, being a reduction of 15 per cent. since Jan. 1.

The Toronto Trades and Labor Council on Friday passed a resolution emphatically indorsing the action of the Typographical Union in its contest with the Evening News.

WHOLESALE ATTEMPT TO DIS

FRANCHISE CITIZENS.

There is much indignation throughout the city because of the manner in which many well-known citizens are being treated with regard to the revision of the Provincial voters' lists.

The revision takes place before the County Judge at the Court House on Monday, Nov. 21, at 10 a.m.

On behalf of the Liberals, application is made to have the names of about 800 persons inserted. The Conservatives apply to have some 500 added.

There is another list, fathered by an individual whose name is not to be found in the City Directory, but who has been put up by the Conservative Association to attack the qualifications of a large number of citizens. The name of this agent is given as George Meldrum Grimmond, and the invariable complaint served on citizens is that "Your name is wrongfully inserted in said voters' list (because you are not entitled to manhood franchise.)"

It is searcely credible that this individual has been put up to appeal against the right of many well-known residents of the city, who are perfectly qualified to vote, either for the purpose of causing them annoyance or in order to kill their votes through their failure to respond to his objection by attending court, and abiding the convenience of those who so stupidly attack their

Such, however, seems to be the case.

Why should a man occupying the position of H. Bapty, a well-known merchant, be compelled to dance attendance on the court to prove his right to vote?

No one in his senses would be guilty of lodging an objection against ble franchise. But this man Grimmond has been ordered to attack Mr. Bapty's

F. A. H. Fysh, another well-known merchant, has his vote assailed in a similar way. So has Thos. Heard.

So has F. B. Leys. So has Jeremiah McDonald.

So has J. P. Element. So has A. J. G. Henderson.

So has John B. Jennings.

So has Henry E. Buttery, commercial traveler, who was born here, and has been domiciled in this city ever since.

Fred Hallam, another citizen, whose vote will be filched from him by the same disgraceful tactics if he does not attend court, has lived in his present place of abode, within the city limits for five years, and he defies any person to give any reason to do in case an attempt were made to why he should lose a day at court, or be swamp it in this way. He would advise McLeod, another city merchant.

These are but a few of many absurd objections lodged by the Conservative agent Grimmond against the lists. It shows that under any system, no matter how fairly devised, except simple registration, it is open for careless or unscrupulous men to cause serious annoyance to their fellow

Would it not be well for the Conservative managers, even at this eleventh hour, to intelligent citizens cull out the names of those against whose franchise they have wrongfully appealed? This could easily be done, and the persons could be saved un-necessary attendance at court. If it is not done, the conduct of those from whom Grimmond took his instructions cannot be too strongly condemned.

The fact that titted measures the deliberation and delay to secure which special precautions are taken in the written constitutions of other taken in the written constitutions of other party is very sure about the result.

The full text of Lord Salisbury's paper on the prospective attitude of the House of Lords toward Gladstone's measure conferring local self-government on Ireland is one of the most important documents which has ever come from the pen of an opposition leader. Lord Salisbury is not only leader of the Conservative party, but he is also chief of the Conservative majority in the House of Lords, and as such is in a position to dictate what attitude that body of irresponsible legislators shall take in regard to the Home Rule Bill or any other measure.

Lord Salisbury professes to believe that the House of Lords would not attempt to thwart the will of the people of the United Kingdom if that will were clearly and in a peremptory manner signified. He may be right, but it is upon record that the House of Lerds has never willingly agreed to any great measure of reform aiming at neutraliz-ing or abolishing class legislation, and it would be strange if anything short of threatened abolition would influence the majority of Gat body now. Lord Salismajority of Gat body now. Lord Salis-bury denies that a home rule bill carried through the present House of Commons by a majority of 38—the utmost majority, he contends, upon which Gladstone can rely-would represent the unmistakable verdict of the nation. He tries to raise local prejudices against the granting of self-government to Ireland by pointing out that England and Scotland, taken together, gave a majority of 42 against the measure, and that Ireland and Wales gave the majority that carried the day. The reasoning is weak. Surely the veters of Wales and of Ireland are to be concoded equal rights to influence legis-lation with their neighbors in other parts of the motherland, or where goes the con-tention of unity? Taking up figures, Lord Salisbury alleges that if 21 of the English and Scotch constituencies which returned candidates favorable to the new measure of self-government for Ireland had given majority against Gladstone, he would not be in power to-day. He argues that if 765 electors had been converted to socalled "Unionism," home rule legislation would have been doomed. To be fair, however, he should have stated that in a large number of constituencies, the anti-Gladstone candidates were returned by very slim majorities, and that the conver sion of a few hundred of voters in those constituencies would have resulted in their being carried by the Liberals and Glad-stone would have doubled his majority in he House of Commons.

Juggled figures can be made to prove anything. The chief interest which attaches to Lord Salisbury's statements and computations lies in the fact that he incidentally discloses his line of attack for the future. Stripped of all verbiage, Lord Salisbury's pronouncia-mento is that he and his friends, in the House of Lords mean to throw out the Home Rule Bill that passes the popular House, on the ground that the country bes not favor the measure. His view, pparently, is that such a course would apparently, is that such a course would compel the dissolution of Parliament and nsure a new election. As Mr. Glad-tone has asserted that the Lords shall not force him to dissolve Parliament, and that he will deal with them in an effective way if they resist the will of the elected presentatives of the people in the popular amber, the action contemplated by Salisury will be fraught with momentous

Lord Sallsbury professes not to be afraid of any course which the Premier may take to make the Lords behave themselves. There are, he asserts, but two kinds of coercion which can be applied towards the hereditary legislators. The first is the creation of new peers, which was resorted to by Harley and Bolingbroke in 1711, and which was threatened by Earl Grey in 1832. Should recourse be now made to that expedient, the creation of new peers would have to take place on an immense scale, in view of the overwhelming nderance of Salisbury's adherents in preponderance of Salisbury's adherents in the Upper House. He indicates plainly what he would advise the House of Lords isfranchised.

The same remarks apply to Mr. Norman peers to take their seats on the express ground that their creation indicated an intention to encreach on the independence of the House. He finds a precedent for such a course in the fact that from 1711 to 1782 Scottish peers who had been created peers of Great Britain were not allowed to sit and vote, the motive for their exclusion being their supposed subserviency to the crown. He finds a much later precedent in the case of Lord Wensleydale, we managers, even at this eleventh hour, to pover their objections and with the aid of ence of their House as a legislative body Having notified Mr. Gladstone that he will not be permitted to overthrow the Tory majority in the Upper House by a wholesale creation of new peers, Lord Salisbury proceeds in a spirit of ironical defiance Under the Dominion Act, a man with no gest a more revolutionary remedy. If Mr. Gladstone believes that he has an overwhelming force of public him, why does he not, Lord Salisbury asks, Lords by a simple resolution ? we understand, the Liberals did not object Salisbury admit, as be does in this article, to persons who are known to be dis-qualified, because they did not de-sire to cause unnecessary expense or trouble to anyone. It or trouble to anyone. It seems to justly be seized by those who upbeld demo-us that if instead of annoying well-known cratic principles as the strongest of evidence in favor of the principle that obtizens by making unformed allegations are feel owners as them, the Conservative agents had followed suit, they would be in a much better position in the eyes of fair-minded citizens to-day.

This significant confession will not be neutralized by Lord Salisbury's further contention that the House of Lords is the only part of the unwritten British and assure to great constitu-

THE COMING BIG BATTLE IN for long sustain a body of irresponsible legis-BRITAIN. IN for long sustain a body of irresponsible legis-lators on any such grounds. They rightly lemand that where there rests the responsibility there shall be the power. Gladstone and his friends, however, have to face the threat that the bill for granting self-government to Ireland will be thrown out by the veto of the House of Lords, and the resistance of coercion by the same body. In support of his position, the great tribune may have to go to the people, but before he does so it is reasonable to believe that the Lords will be called upon to further antagonize popular reforms. The Premier will be greatly strengthened if side by side with the Home Rule Bill he sends to the House of Lords bills greatly liberalizing the franchise, supporting the one man one vote principle, establishing a simple sys-tem of registration of votes, and other measures for the amelioration of the condition of the masses. Such a programme, popularized by the opposition of the hereditary chamber, would secure a victory for the House of Commons such as has no been scored since 1832.

The old land is apparently on the eve of a great struggle between privilege and popular rights. We have no misgivings as

GIVE AN HONEST TRIAL TO EVERY

ACCUSED PERSON. Ex-Premier Mercier has been tried by jury of his countrymen, made up of members of both political parties, on a charge of conspiring to rob the Province while he was managing its affairs. The jury only took ten minutes to find him not guilty. As the administration of justice is in the hands of his opponents, it has been possible for his enemies to pursue Mercier to the bitter end, and to endeavor to have him sent to the penitentiary for his alleged misdeeds.

We are not among those who would suggest that even a Prime Minister should be shielded from the consequences of wrong doing when charges are made against him by responsible persons.

Let us investigate every charge, and let a man be vindicated or condemned by his peers. That is the only way to administer justice, if it is not to be brought into con-

But how different has been the treatment of Mr. Mercier's political foes from that meted out to him! No technicality was allowed to stand between Mercier and his trial. When it came to Mr. Haggart, however, it was pleaded that a far more serious charge could not be investigated because some time had elapsed since the perpetration of the offense! Chapleau was exonerated, too, though he permitted the country to be defrauded right under his nose. Sin Hector Langevin, though clearly hand-inglove with the cormorants who preyed on the country for years, was not placed in the dock but allowed to stay in his seat. And as for Sir Adolphe Caron, he was not satisfied to have his alleged coodling operations investigated by a Parliamentary body, two-thirds of whom were his friends. Sir John Thompson had the indictment drawn up so as to emasculate the charges made by Mr. Edgar, M.P., and prevent their being fully investigated. No innocent man would gated. No innocent man would have countenanced such a change. He would have courted the fullest possible investigation. Why, the public may well ask, should the charges made against Mr. Mercier alone be probed to the bottom? Is there to be one law for Mercier and another for Caron? Why should the men at Ottawa, guilty of the worst forms of public robbery, be made Lieutenant-Governors of Provinces, while Mercier is hounded

We condone no misdeed of which the ex-Premier has been guilty, but we say that professions of virtuous indignation over his shortcomings will never atone for the calities which have been glossed over, hidden away, emasculated, at Ottawa.

IT CERTAINLY does look like folly to keep up the present high tariff against Brit'sh goods and then mortgage curselves to drag British trade in over the barrier.—[Mon-

The Assessment of 1893 as Compared With 1892.

The New Income Law Entails a Loss of $193,185—A Gain of $121,325 on Real Estate-Interesting Ward

Assessment Commissioner Grant has just completed his assessment of the city for 1893.

The total assessment for 1893 is $15,176, 587 as compared with $15,247,647, in 1892, at total loss of $71,560. In 1892 the assessment on real estate was $12,591,012; this year it is $12,712,337, an increase of $121,325. Personal property has increased from $1,681,900 to $1,682, 200—a gain of $300.

Income, however, has decreased from $974,735 to $781,550—a loss of $193,185. The allowance of $700 exemption on all personal earnings is severely felt in Nos. 1 and 2 wards, as may be seen that out of a total assessment on income in 1892 of $574,735 Nos. 1 and 2 wards give $711,850 out of $781,550 of a total income. The loss of one loan society during the year is also felt.

The gain of $121,000 is considered good.

also felt.

The gain of $121,000 is considered good, since it is only five months since the last assessment was returned. The following are the gains and losses on real, personal and income in the various wards as com-oared with last year.

Ward 1—Gain on real estate, $10,300; oss on income, $56,450; loss on total, 36,165. Ward 3—Gain on real, $14,900; loss on Ward 3—Gain on real, $14,000; loss on noome, $20,800; loss on total, $5,900.

Ward 4.—Gain on real, $53,320; loss on noome, $23,350; gain on total, $31,470.

Ward 5—Gain on real, $19,460; gain on sersonal, $300; loss on income, $6,450; gain on total, $13,310.

Something Like a Catastrophe.

Something Like a Catastrephe.

"I saw a funny thing the other morning in front of the Teeumsch House" said a policeman. "A cat pounced upon two sparrows in the road and started to carry them to a hole under the G. T. R. platform. In an istant a whole drove of sparrows in the trees near by darted at the cat and pecked the animal's back viciously. The cat was forced to drop one of the birds. Just as she was getting the other into the hole the sparrows renewed the attack and yelling with pain she let go the other and ran into her retreat."

Feeding the 1ions.

Feeding the Lions.

Foeding the 11ons.

A crowd assembled on the Grand Opera House stage this afternoon to witness the feeding of the big Nubian lions which will be introduced in the great production, "Under the Liou's Paw," to-night. Each of the monsters was given about fifteen pounds of raw beef, which they devoured in very short order. They are fed on this diet once a day. Previous to feeding them the caretaker stepped inside their iron cage and swept the floor. "They generally have a romp after being fed, as then they feel good," he said. "Do they ever quarrel? Yes; occasionally. If one gets more to eat than another jealousy is aroused. This one (pointing to the smallest) is the peace-maker. If there is any row he steps in between the quarrel-some lions and separates them." Silver Jubilee Celebration.

London West School Matters.

Messrs. Jones (chairman), Brown, Davidson, Leigh, Pudney and Murdock attended the last meeting of the London West School Beard. Communications from Misses B. Evans and A. Proudfoot, teachers on the staff, for an increase of salary, were laid over. The headmaster's report showed 335 pupils on the roll, and a daily average of 320 for the month of August; for September, 357 on the roll and 293 of dairy average; for October, 346 on the roll, and 304 daily average. The report was adopted. The scretary was instructed to procure a map of Ontario for the use of the school. It was decided to take down the barb wire on the school fence, and also that steps be taken at once to dispose of the old school property, and that the proper parties be consulted in order to effect a sale, and that the management committee report back to the board at a special meeting to be held on Nov. 11. Mr. R. Pudney, the janitor, applied for an increase of salary, owing to more extended duties. An addition of $30 per annum was made.

of David Moore, the principal in the Crumlin outrage, whom he tracked skill-fully through the wilds of Northern Michigan. Sergeant Robert Crawford, that now is, is one of the most reliable and experienced men on the force. He has exceptionally sound judgment and discretion and his qualities are evident by example as well as precept, as was shown by the plucky manner in which he knocked down Wilson and Burke, with revolvers staring him in the face. P. C. John Boyd, who is advanced to epecial class constable, is an old and trusty officer. He proved himself as ardent as ever in the performance of duty by the fearless part he played in the Phair tragedy, chasing the prisoners though a plain target for their bullets. Sergt. Robert Adams, who is made sergeantmajor, is exceptionally qualified for the position both by virtue of seniority and executive ability.

New Fetition from Manitoba. New Felition from Manitoba.

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—There has come to the hands of the Secretary of State a new petition from Manitoba, bearing several hundred names, praying that the Governor-General-in-Council will grant to the Roman Catholic minority of that Province remedial legislation as a relief from the operation of the Manitoba Public Schools Act. The petition asks for whatever relief may be granted the manifold Fubile Schools Act. The peti-tion asks for whatever relief may be granted under the law, and was prepared by Mr. John S. Ewart, Q.C. It is said that it differs somewhat from the appeal of Archbishop Tache to the Governor-General in Council I acute to the Governor-General in Council in certain respects, which will be material to Mr. Ewart's argument when he appears before the committee of the Privy Council on behalf of the Roman Catholies of Manitoba. The day for the hearing of the argument will be fixed upon Sir John Thompson's return from Halifax.

Choked Himself to Death.

RIDGETOWN, Ont., Nov. 7.—John Webb, brother of the late preprietor of Springbrook Farm and China Hall, St. Thomas, committed suicide by hanging Saturday evening, in an old deserted log house on James Conway's place near Rondeau. The old man had just returned from a trip to St. Thomas. He hung himself to a beam only about six feet from the ground, his feet touching the floor, so that he literally choked himself to death. No reason is assigned for the rash act except despondency.

Mr. John Keefer, of Maplehurst, Thorold, died Sunday in his 80th year. A violent snowstorm over the St. Law rence River detained the Montreal passen-ger boat, en route to Quebee, at Sorel dur-ing Friday night and Saturday morning.

"Jessy," cried her mistress, "do you see this woman? She has been drinking. She is drunk."

Jessy made some incoherant reply. She was aware that Glisson, though herrorstruck and repentant at the time of her late mistress' death, had afterward recommenced her habit of drinking gin. But Jessy did not consider that it was her place to betray her, especially as Glisson, so far as Jessy saw, never took sufficient to render her incapable of her duties, Mrs. Danesbury, giving the infant into Jessy's hands proceeded to runmage the room and found the gin bottle. Her passion rose with the sight.

Lively Time When Miss Martin is Phetographed for the Regues' Gallery.

[New York Sun, Nov. 3.]

Mary Martin, the young woman who passed worthless checks on Grocer Bischoff in Brooklyn, and who stole Mrs. Frank Leslie's $250 diamond pin, made amuss yesterday when the Brooklyn police wanted to get her picture to put in the Rogues' Gallery. After getting Police Justice Tighe to adjourn her case two or three times to enable her to find friends to get her out of her difficulty, she waived examination yesterday and was held for the grand jury.

the grand jury.

Detective Edward Rorke, of the Butler Detective Edward Rorke, of the Butler street station, whose prisoner she was, took her to police headquarters and sent for a photographer. In the room where the pictures of criminals are taken is an armchair with a slanting bottom. The prisoners sit in that when they are being "mugged," as the police term it.

"Sit in that chair," said Rorke to Miss Martin.

"Indeed, I'll do nothing of the kind," remarked Miss Martin.
"You got to get magged."
"I'll not sit in the chair."

"I'll not sit in the chair."
Yorke started toward her.
"Young woman," he said, "you are only making trouble for yourself. This musging's got to be done, and you better go at it right."
"I won't sit there," said Miss Martin.
"Then I'll put ye there," said Rorke.
Miss Martin went over to the chair and sat down. She rested one chow on the chair arm and sovered half her face with

"Indeed, I'll not take it off," responded Miss Martin.
"Take it off, I tell ye," said Rorke, "or I'll take it off for ye."
Then Miss Martin took it off, settled back in the chair, closed her eyes and hold her face down toward the floor. There she sat while Rorke fumed and commanded and argued and pleaded. She couldn't be induced to open her eyes. The photographer and several reporters added their pleadings. All the answer that came was, "I won't, I wan't, I won't." and "You can't make me. Finally the picture was taken with closed eyes, and Miss Martin got up and opened her eyes.
"Mean things," sho said, "I jold you I wouldn't, and I didn't," and she looked very much disgusted, yet at the sams time triumphant.

A WORD WITH THE COUNCIL.

The London City Council will be short-sighted if it does not endeavor to have ashes removed from city residences at the same time as the other refuse is carried away.

The Board of Health, in a spirit of false economy, is afraid to order that ashes be taken away at the same time as vegetable refuse and old boots is carried off. Members of the board tell us that their only excuse for doing the work in this half-hearted way is the expense. They express the belief that citizens who move pay frem $1 to $3 a year for removal of ashes would regard the board as excessively extravagant if it ordered the ashes to be taken away nothing of the convenience and comfort resulting from a weekly clean up.

It is the only proper method. It is cheaper and more satisfactory than letting every man clean up or not clean up as suits his whim. No other city the size of London is contented with a halfway measure. Even Hamilton makes a clean sweep of ashes as well as vegetable refuse every week. Ashes proves an excellent deodorizer. It would be better to have a weekly removal

Set on Fire.

A one-story frame house at 430 South street was set on fire last evening. The incendiaries did their work well and the blaze had made good headway before the firemen arrived. They did everything possible, but the building was damaged beyond repair. It was a ramshackle structure and had been unoccupied for a long time. The loss is about $200. The cottage on the next lot was sent on fire on Hallowe'en.

The Province on the prohibition question. Mr. Howland, in a published interview, has fully explained his resignation of the presidency of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance. He foresaw a split in the Alliance ranks and thought is thest to bring matters at once to a head by resigning. His own view is in favor of not organizing a Prohibitionist party, a step which would drive many temperance men out of Parliament, but of continuing, to said in electing more of such men in both parties, and educating public opinion meanwhile on the need of further restrictive legislation. Mr. Howland speaks of the prospects of the cause as most hopeful.
