BORDEN CAUGHT UNPREPARED ROGERS AND SIFTON TO HELP

Conservative Leader Without Plan of Campaign—May Import a Squad of British Tariff Reformers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, July 31.—Dissolution appears to have caught the Conservatives entirely unprepared. It is frankly stated by the Conservatives that Mr. Borden has no plans and that his campaign will have to be arranged. Hon. Robt. Rogers came in from Manitoba this morning to co-operate with Hon. Clifford Sifton in the management of the Conservative campaign from Ottawa.

The members started to leave town Saturday and Sunday, but more of them got away today after the banks opened and they were able to get funds.

Premier Going East.

Sir Wilfrid may begin his speaking tour in the Maritime Provinces, speaking in a half dozen of the chief cities. Mr. Borden is likely to head east, if possible.

All sorts of rumors are in circulation. The latest is that the Conservatives will import a lot of young tariff reform speakers from England to help them in their campaign.

The Government will be busy for some days holding council meetings and getting affairs of Government in shape to be left alone and run themselves for six weeks while the campaign is on.

R. C. Henders, president, and Roderick MacKenzie, secretary, of the Grain Growers, reached Ottawa this morning to remain a few days andwill confer with the Liberal leaders as to the best way in which the western farmers can work to get reciprocity confirmed.

It is not expected that the speaking programme of the leaders on either side will be ready for some days.

The Oliver Inquiry.

The reply of the Government to the charge that the Oliver investigation was burked will be that the inquiry would have been carried to a finish if the Opposition had not forced dissolution. Evidence had been taken, and more was to be taken. However, the Government realized that the Opposition were only waiting for the resumption of committee sittings to start obstruction there. The situation would then be complicated by having obstruction in both the House and the committee. If the Opposition had wanted the investigation carried through it could have had it by allowing a vote on reciprocity. The charge can be investigated at the sitting which has been called for October. The Government holds that the Opposition have no right to "kick" that dissolution came too soon, as they, the Conservatives, frankly admit that for days they have been trying to force dissolution and an election.

SOUTH LONDON BOY WAS SHOT BY COMPANION WITH PISTOL

Fred Hallet, of 55 Bruce Street, Received a Bullet in the Leg From a Weapon Held by a Playmate, William Dyer.

Fred Hallet, the 11-year-old son of Superintendent Hallet, of the London Rolling Mills, was shot through the right leg at the first Cove this afternoon shortly before 1 o'clock. Young Hallet had been fishing at the Cove with some other lads when one of the party named William Dyer, of Ridout street, produced a six shooter and commenced firing at some ducks on the Cove.

After emptying the weapon Dyer started to reload it and called to Hallet to come to him.

Hallet went over and just after Dyer had slipped in the first cartridge the revolver discharged.

The bullet entered Hallet's left leg, passing between the bones without fracturing the shin bone and lodging in the calf.

Dr. Ferguson was called and had young Hallet removed to his home at 55 Bruce street.

The bullet will be located by means of the X-ray and will be extracted as soon as possible.

Apparently the wound is not a serious one and no arteries or veins were severed.

The Dyer boy secured the weapon for ten cents somewhere, and without the knowledge of his parents.

FIRE SWEEPS FARNHAM, QUE. BUSINESS SECTION DESTROYED

Assistance Hurried From Montreal, But Latest Reports Say the Flames Remain Unchecked.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, July 31.—Late last night word was received that a severe fire was devasting the town of Farnham, and it was feared that the central portion of the place would be destroyed. The telephone exchange was one of the first places to fall prey to the flames and communication by telegraph was very difficult owing to the general commotion caused by the conflagration.

While the blaze at first did not seem serious, it spread so rapidly through a series of wooden houses and sheds that about midnight Mayor Darcer sent out calls for help, first to St. Johns, and then to Montreal.

Business Part Destroyed.

Part of the St. John's brigade was immediately sent by special, and later on another train was dispatched by the Canadian Pacific Railway from Montreal, with a steamer, a hose wagon and a dozen men.

At that time the only information obtainable was that the fire was still burning fiercely and it was feared that it would make a clean sweep of the central part of the town. It was then reported that nine or ten buildings had been burned, and that the flames were steadily forcing their way along Main street, all the wooden buildings being dry as tinder after the recent hot weather.

At 8 o'clock this morning a brief dispatch was received from Farnham stating that the business section of the town was all burned, and the flames were still spreading rapidly.

LIBERALS OF LONDON WILL MEET TO CONSIDER A CONVENTION

Notice Is Given of a Big Gathering in Hyman Hall on Friday Night Next To Prepare For the Coming Election.

A meeting of the Liberals of London will be held in Hyman Hall on Friday evening next, when the question of naming the date for a convention to select a candidate for the approaching elections will be discussed. It is expected that the largest gathering of recent years will be assembled on that occasion.

The announcement that the elections would be held on Sept. 21 was received with enthusiasm here, and the indications are that one of the best campaigns in many a long day will be waged by the Liberals of this city.

The record of the Government, and its stand on the reciprocity question, have awakened the old fighting spirit. It is certain that the Liberals will have a candidate. There are a number of well-known citizens who will consider the matter, and from the number there is sure to be a good man selected.

The Conservative Candidate.

The Conservatives have not announced the date of their convention, but one will be held in the very near future.

It is generally accepted that Major Thomas Beattie, M. P., will again be the standard-bearer. There is some talk that Mr. E. T. Essery, K.C., would run against Major Beattie, but he will try his strength against Mr. Peter Elson, M. P. for East Middlesex, and will leave the local Conservative Association alone.

Of course, the name of Mr. William Gray is mentioned. On innumerable occasions he has announced his candidature, only to withdraw. It was stated today that he would endeavor to carry the convention, but well-informed Conservatives declare that he will not do so.

The names of Mr. A. H. Marshall Graydon and T. G. Meredith, K.C., are also figuring prominently in speculation, but it is not thought probable that either one of them would go to the convention unless Major Beattie retires.

WHAT CONSTITUTES REPAIRS TO STREET?

No One Around the City Hall Appears Able to Answer.

What constitutes repairs to streets?

That question is puzzling the aldermen these days, and it will probably result in some definition being made of the term "repair" by the council in the near future.

Ald. Tancock, acting mayor today, declared that there were other streets in the city that needed repairing as much as Maple street, on which a running load of gravel has been put. He did not consider this a matter of repaire, but the making of a new street, and as such should be paid for by the property owners. If the board of works are going to repair Maple street that way, they should repair them all, Ald. Tancock says.

"I think the council should define what repairs constitute," he stated to The Advertiser. "There is nothing definite as we are now, and as a result there is much confusion."

"I am in doubt as to what actually constitutes repairs," said City Engineer George Wright. "The instructions I have received from the council are not very clear, and I should like to have them made definite."

A MIDDLESEX LADY'S UNIQUE CELEBRATION

Mrs. Ann Shaver Is Said To Be Oldest Women in the Country.

Mrs. Ann Shaver, one of the oldest women in Middlesex, and the second oldest in the Township of Westminster, today celebrated her 91st birthday at her home on the second concession.

She was born in Westminster of Scottish parents, and has resided on the farm there all her life. She was the mother of twelve children, three of whom met violent deaths at the age of three years, one boy being killed by a yoke of oxen, and another by falling into a tub of boiling soap, while a daughter was drowned in a pail of water. Eight children are still living. They are Robert, William and Alex. at home, James in Michigan, Margaret at Aylmer, Jane Morris and Annie Demery, of London, and Elizabeth Weir, of St. Johns.

Mrs. Shaver is still in excellent health and reads readily without the use of spectacles.

500 DOG CASES ARE TO BE TRIED SHORTLY

P. M. Judd Began the Hearing of the First Batch Today.

The dog days in more ways than one are upon Magistrate Judd, for today he commenced hearing the first cases of something over 500 summonses which Inspector McCallum has laid against citizens for not paying their dog taxes.

Three delinquents were ordered to pay $2 85 each. One man said he had drowned a dog that had been staying about his place, and that did not belong to him. He was let go.

Another man said a dog came with a grocer one day and stayed around for a month, even when his people tried to chase it away. It had finally gone. He was let go.

Magistrate Judd is looking forward with unlimited joy to some 495 similar cases.

John Cronyn, of London Township, was charged with assaulting Robert Erskine. As the witnesses were not present the hearing was enlarged until tomorrow.

A West London resident said he thought his wife had had him taken off the Indian list. The man, however, happened to give the policeman who found him in the hotel the wrong name.

"It looks as if you hadn't forgotten," said the court. "I will fine you $10."

SIFTON ISSUES A MANIFESTO

Denounces Reciprocity as National and Economic Injury.

Ottawa, July 31.—Hon. Clifford Sifton today issued a strong anti-reciprocity manifesto, appealing to all Liberals, and especially the young men, "to stand by national interests," and denouncing reciprocity as a national and economic injury to Canada. Mr. Sifton also announces that he will not be a candidate for Brandon, having written to the Liberal Association there to that effect, nor does he desire to be a candidate anywhere. He will, however, assist in the campaign against reciprocity.

The arrangement, he says, is upon the whole injurious. In any such arrangement there will be some benefits and some injuries, but the former are problematical, and the latter certain. In the case of Ontario and Quebec, he says, while there may be opened up to them a market for a few unimportant products, it is certain that the market for the great bulk of staple products will be flooded from outside, and many industries will suffer.

"The most serious feature of the arrangement," Mr. Sifton says, further, "is the sacrifice of our fiscal independence. The mament the treaty takes effect our policy will be controlled from Washington, though today we are the most independent country in the world. The treaty is the first step in the exploitation of Canada."

TWO WOMEN NOW CHARGED WITH SWINDLING LOCAL PEOPLE

Lace Said to Have Been Sold as Rich Irish Was Bought in London and Is Declared To Be Worth About Four Cents Per Yard.

Mrs. Hughina Williamson and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Isabella Williamson, two Scotch women who represent themselves as Irish lacemakers, certainly "put one over" on a number of London ladies, and incidentally have won for themselves the reputation of getting away in many places with one of the smoothest fakes that has been tried for some time.

At present they are in custody on two charges of obtaining money by misrepresentation, and when they appeared in court today Magistrate Judd set the hearing of the case for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

"It certainly is a smooth swindle," said Chief Williams to The Advertiser this afternoon. "These women bought lace for about 4 or 5 cents a yard from Dickinson, Nicholson & Co., and other firms; put a couple of lace looms in their satchels and going around to various houses with a hard-luck tale managed to sell a good many dollars' worth of this cheap stuff at high prices.

Several women bought dozens of yards of the stuff at from 40 to 50 cents a yard. As soon as they were brought in I sent Detective Nickle over to Kingsmill's with a sample of the lace, and Mr. Kingsmill said he would sell me any quantity of it at 4 cents a yard.

Came From St. Louis.

"These women came as far as we can trace them, from somewhere near St. Louis. We have traces of them all through the west, and from Detroit, Windsor and other points. They sold a lot of stuff all through this district. They

SIR WILFRID IS IN FINE FETTLE IS MORE CONFIDENT THAN EVER

Hon. George P. Graham Says Premier Was Never So Confident as He Is in This Election—Many Meetings Will Be Held by Liberals.

"Sir Wilfrid was never in such good form for a campaign, and was never so confident."

Hon. Geo. P. Graham, minister of railways and canals, made the above statement yesterday when passing through London on his way east. He had been attending an executive meeting of the North Essex Liberals at Windsor, and was not at Ottawa when dissolution took place. He enters the fight with the greatest enthusiasm.

"There is every prospect that Sir Wilfrid will be returned with a majority as large as, perhaps larger than, he ever had," continued Hon. Mr. Graham. "I have been a long time in politics, and I never saw prospects so bright. Ontario particularly is in good shape. From every side we have received the most encouraging reports, in fact, the best reports I have ever received since coming into political life.

A Big Barl.

"There is no doubt considerable money will be used against us. We have information to the effect that several large trusts, particularly the United States Paper Trust, will fight the bill in every possible way, and other corporations are going to do the same. The lobbyists who came across to oppose the bill soon found their vocation gone, and will now spend their energies in other directions. What they could not accomplish one way, they will another. Consequently there is every likelihood that considerable sums of money will be used against us. However, we are going to win. We are ready, and we will show them just where we stand. In every constituency we are in good shape."

Sifton and Brockville.

Questioned about the report that Hon. Clifford Sifton would oppose him in Brockville, Hon. Mr. Graham declared that no person need worry about his constituency.

"I am not worrying in the least," he declared. "I think we can take care of ourselves."

Mr. Graham could give no idea as to the itinerary of Sir Wilfrid Laurier or the cabinet ministers. It was certain, however, that many meetings would be held, and that practically all of the cabinet ministers would take part in the contest.

"We will likely be up in this part of the country very shortly," said Mr. Graham as his train pulled out.

DEATH RATE IN JULY SMALL MARRIAGES SHOW BIG SLUMP

It Appears as Though the Registrations in London Are Not Being Attended To as They Should—Some Facts and Figures of the Vital Statistics.

In spite of the fearful heat of the early part of July, the death rate was much smaller than usual in that month. In fact, it was little more than half that of July, 1910. At city Clerk Baker's office, 46 deaths were recorded as compared with 78 for the same month last year.

Of the 46 this year more than half were infants and old people past the allotted span of three score and ten. Eleven were children and 14 were old people. One was 91 years of age.

Cancer made fearful inroads into the statistics this month, no less than seven deaths being recorded. This is an unusually high number.

Strange as it may seem, only one death was recorded from cholera infantum. There is generally many of these deaths in July and August, but July has been singularly free from this disease.

Pneumonia carried off three, while consumption was responsible for two deaths. This is the same as in July, 1910. The heat was responsible for more than half a dozen deaths.

Slump in Marriages.

There was a big slump in marriages, only 29 being recorded as compared with 61 in July last year. No reason can be given for the decline.

As a matter of fact the statistics for the year so far show a falling off in every department. The question arises are the registrations being attended to as they should? It doesn't look so.

There are 553 births recorded as compared with 595 last year. The marriages recorded number 304, while 309 were registered for the first seven months of 1910. The number of deaths is also much less than last year, 424 having died this year, while 473 passed away during the first seven months of 1910.

NO QUARTERS WERE PROVIDED FOR LAWYERS

Local Legal Men Are Up in Arms Over Treatment at Court House.

The members of the Middlesex Law Association are greatly dissatisfied with the arrangements made for the law library during the construction of an addition to the court house, and as a result of a meeting held a couple of days ago, Dr. A. O. Jeffery, K.C., has communicated with the county engineer expressing the feelings of Middlesex barristers in no uncertain terms. The letter follows:

A Letter.

"The trustees of the Middlesex Law Association protest against the proposed action of contractors under your supervision in entering into the room assigned us for use of our library. The removal of walls and other changes will interfere seriously with our use of the same, and the exposure to the elements, together with dust and dirt, will injure our property. You should have provided temporary quarters and had books removed under the supervision of our librarian, and should do so now before anything is touched. We are entitled by law to proper accommodation, and must have it. Yours:

"ALBERT O. JEFFERY,
"For President."

Mr. Talbot's Reply.

To this Mr. Talbot made answer that suitable accommodation will be provided as speedily as possible. The excavation has been made, and within a few months the place will be ready for occupancy. However, the entire building is in anything but desirable shape at the present time. The floors are torn up in several places, outside walls have been ripped out, the court house from cellar to garret is littered with steam radiators, pipes and connections, and on the whole, the building is in anything but desirable shape. However, as the changes are to be made, the matter cannot be remedied, it is claimed, and the inconveniences must be endured for a few weeks at least.

EAST MIDDLESEX LIBS. MEET SATURDAY, 12TH

Big Convention Will Be Held in Hyman Hall.

The convention of East Middlesex Liberals will be held in Hyman Hall on Saturda yafternoon, Aug. 12.

The announcement of the date has just been made.

A strong man will be put in the field.

WOES OF THE DOG OWNERS RECOUNTED

Inspector McCallum Has Raked in $3,000 in Fees.

Inspector McCallum has issued 1,481 dog licenses up to date. The income from this source now amounts to $3,000, as some of the dogs must pay the $3 tariff.

In addition, the inspector has issued some 350 summonses to people who have not paid up. He expects to obtain at least $3,500 from this source of revenue.

NIOBE'S DAMAGE SLIGHT.

Halifax, N. S., July 31.—A dispatch from the cruiser Niobe this morning to the naval yard authorities says all is well, and the cruiser is only slightly damaged.

PREMIER LAURIER PLACES ISSUE BEFORE THE CANADIAN PEOPLE

Explains the Reasons for Dissolution and Declares Government Is Prepared to Accept the Verdict of the People.

Ottawa, July 30.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in an address to the Canadian people, issued yesterday after the dissolution of Parliament, places the issue before the electors as follows:

"To the Canadian People:

"At all times during the last forty years it has been the constant effort of all political parties in Canada to make with the United States an arrangement for the free exchange of natural products between the two countries.

"In 1854 Lord Elgin, on behalf of Canada and the Maritime Provinces, negotiated with the United States a treaty for that purpose, which lasted until 1866, and which, within the memory of many still alive, was of the greatest advantage. Ever since the termination of that treaty all public men of any prominence in Canada, whatever their differences on other questions, have been unanimous in the attempt to again secure this free exchange of natural products. Nor is this to be wondered at, seeing that in the industries of agriculture, fisheries, lumbering and mining Canada possesses advantages not enjoyed by any other country on earth, and that upon the markets secured for the products of these industries depends the growth of our manufacturing and commercial interests and the prosperity of all classes in the Dominion.

"The latest attempt of the Conservative party to that end was made by Sir John Macdonald himself, who dissolved Parliament in 1891 for the purpose of submitting to the electorate of Canada the expediency of his approaching again the American authorities for a renewal of the treaty of 1854.

"In 1893 the intention to obtain reciprocity with the United States, if

Mr. Justice Clute Will Preside—Winter Sitting Will Commence on January 9th Before Chief Justice Meredith—Courts May Be Held Outside of Court House.

The schedule of courts to be held in Ontario during the autumn and winter season have been received at the court house from Toronto, showing that the fall assizes will be held in London before Mr. Justice Clute commencing on Oct. 2, while the winter sitting will commence Tuesday, Jan. 9, before Mr. Justice Meredith, chief justice of common pleas. Just where the courts will be held in London for the next few months is a matter of question, as the alterations at the auditorium at the court house will not permit of the occupation of the room for some time. The judge is empowered to order the sheriff to secure better quarters at any time, even if the place should be arranged temporarily, so the county council chamber, city hall or any other procurable hall may be brought into use.

THE WAR CLOUDS HAVE ROLLED AWAY

Germany and France Will Resume Negotiations—French Concessions.

Berlin, July 30. — The bankers of Germany are getting a little anxious about supplying the money that would be necessary in the event of the Government having to mobilize the army.

For this purpose there is a sum of $24,000,000 inclosed in the Julius Tower in Spandau. But the Government has for a long time past been of opinion that this sum would prove wholly inadequate, and that it will be necessary to increase it.

Recently the director of the Bank of Germany declared that in his opinion the German banks would not be able, in case of war, to supply the necessary sums to the army, because as soon as it was known that war was imminent the depositors would besiege the banks in crowds and withdraw their money. In these circumstances he suggests that the war treasure in the Julius Tower should be increased to $60,000,000.

The war minister will shortly put forward a demand in the Reichstag in this sense. Public opinion is, however, unfavorable to this step, on the ground that it would lock up so much gold at a time when there is hardly sufficient coin for commercial purposes.

OLD BOYS ARE COMING

Already They Are Registering at the City Hall.

There are several of the Old Boys and Girls who have already come home, and some of these have called on Mr. J. O. Weldon, secretary of the home guard, to sign the register.

Among them who visited him today were Dr. C. H. Cole, Vergennes, Vermont; F. W. Slater, Schnectady, N. Y.; M. J. Andrews, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. News, Bridesville, B. C., and Mrs. Albert Letz, Bridesville, B. C.

"They are coming fast," said Mr. Weldon. "We have not prepared the rolls as yet, but we will get them ready for Saturday next, and then they can be signed. From letters I am daily receiving, there will be extremely large crowds home to enjoy the celebration. We are looking for the best yet."

There will be a meeting of the executive committee tonight, and the other committees will meet every night this week.

The details are nearly all arranged, and when the Boys come home on Saturday and Sunday, everything will be in shape to give them a good time.

BAD FREIGHT WRECK NEAR OWEN SOUND

Ten Cars Go Over Embankment —Traffic Completely Blocked.

Owen Sound, July 30.—"Murray's dump," the stiff curve grade on the Owen Sound division of the Canadian Pacific Railway as it enters at the north end of the town, at noon today was the scene of its first train wreck from a run-off in the forty years it has been in use. A through freight train of forty-five cars from Toronto met with a mishap, which represents destruction that will total thousands of dollars.

In the centre of the train were three gondola steel coal cars loaded. The centre one of these evidently jumped the rails at a point where the cutting gives place to a steep embankment. The forward car evidently was thrown off at the rear trucks, and held the rails for a short distance, when it went over the embankment. Ten big new box cars packed with package freight for Western Canadian points followed, turning at right angles with the track a splintered bunch of wreckage.

The Toronto auxiliary came up tonight and is clearing the track, which will have to be rebuilt for over four hundred feet, as both the rails and the embankment are badly damaged, several of the heavy rails being thrown over the fence into the adjoining roadway at Carney's lumber mills.

Traffic will be held up until some time tomorrow afternoon. Fortunately there was none of the train crew on the wrecked section and no one received any injury.

DIGGING OUT ENTOMBED.

Joplin, Mo., July 31.—Miners and volunteer workers today continued efforts begun last night to reach Joseph Clary, 21 years old, who was imprisoned by a fall of rock in a mine near here.

Clary, who is the son of a well-known mine operator, is believed to be alive in a runway 70 feet below the surface. Women last night and today kept the rescue squads supplied with food and at times aided the men who were digging.

STATEMENT BY LEADER BORDEN SAYS HE WELCOMES APPEAL

Declares That Dissolution Was Unconstitutional But Hasn't Much to Say About Reciprocity.

Ottawa, July 30.—Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, gave out the following statement tonight:

"The dissolution of Parliament came as a great surprise to the supporters of the Administration. They evidently knew no more of the intention of the Government than they knew of the reciprocity agreement up to the 26th of January last. Apparently the Government decided upon dissolution in a hurry, or even in a panic, as they gave no intimation to the many members on both sides of the House who are accustomed to spend the week-end with their families, and who left for their homes on Friday night without receiving the courtesy of notice.

Borden "Explains."

"The Conservative party welcomes an appeal to the people on the great issue which has been under discussion in Parliament. The President of the United States has more than once emphasized the fact that Canada is at the parting of the ways. Those two ways lead in very divergent directions. The choice of the people will be fraught with momentous consequences to the future destiny of this country. It is right and just that they should speak, because with them rests the ultimate decision.

"The Government have dissolved Parliament without prorogation, without supply and without redistribution. I urged upon the Government upon the 8th day of March last their plain duty to hasten the taking of the census, to bring in a redistribution bill, and thus give to every part of the country its proper representation, and then to submit this question to them. The House of Parliament, elected without any mandate on this question, ought not to reverse the policy of the past forty years without giving the people the right to speak. They declined to hasten the census, they declined to grant redistribution, and finally they have dissolved Parliament at a moment's notice, without even asking the Opposition for the supplies necessary to carry on the public service until the next Parliament shall be enabled to grant the same.

As to Supplies.

"Constitutional authorities abound to prove that dissolution ought not to be granted without provision of the necessary supplies for the public service. We have been ready to grant such supplies, but the Prime Minister during the present week announced in the House of Commons that under present conditions the Government would not even ask for them. When ever supply has been asked for during the present session we have granted it without hesitation. In May last we granted without discussion nearly forty million dollars of supply, being one-fourth of the total estimates. This amount was sufficient to carry on the public service up to the first of September next. In all, we have granted during the present session five-twelfths of the total estimates without discussion in order that public business might not be interfered with or brought into confusion.

"Canada has made unexampled progress in the great work of nation-building since the first day of July, 1867. That work has been carried on without any such treaty or agreement as is now proposed. One would suppose that the Government might have been content to wait six months longer in order that the redistribution might have been accomplished, and that supplies necessary in the public interests might have been obtained. But apparently the Government placed this agreement above all constitutional considerations.

"But, more than that, the Government have placed this agreement even before their own honor. In May last the Prime Minister took cognizance in Parliament of a certain charge which had been made against one of his ministers. He moved for a committee of inquiry, but he conferred on that committee, exceedingly limited powers of investigation. The committee met in May last, but did not then begin the actual work of investigation. After the House of Commons had resumed its work on the 18th of July no step was taken until I inquired the cause of the delay. After some days a meeting of the committee took place on Tuesday, July 25, when witnesses were present in Ottawa who could have been called to give evidence. The Conservative members of the committee urged that the inquiry should proceed forthwith. The Government, through their supporters on that committee, urged an adjournment until Tuesday, August 1. The adjournment was pressed on the ground that Mr. Carvell, one of the Government members of the committee, had not yet returned. There were many other equally capable men available in the Government ranks, and his place could have easily been supplied. Finally Mr. Meighen, one of the Conservative members, asked for a guarantee that Parliament would be sitting on the following Tuesday, Aug. 1, so that the inquiry could then proceed. That guarantee was given, and the adjournment was then agreed to. The pledge thus given was deliberately violated by the action of the Government in dissolving Parliament today.

"But apart from this deliberate violation of a solemn pledge, it is a distinct breach of constitutional usage that Parliament should be dissolved while one of its committees is engaged in the investigation of charges which involved the honor of a minister of the crown and the fate of the Government. Such a course constitutes an alarming and dangerous precedent, which would not for one moment be tolerated in the mother country. It was the duty of the Government to clear up those charges before appealing to the people, and that could have been done in one week. Several witnesses summoned by the committee are in Ottawa today ready to give their evidence on Tuesday next. The committee and all its powers of inquiry was wiped out of existence by the dissolution of Parliament. The course of the Government in deliberately burking this inquiry on the eve of an appeal to the people was an outrageous abuse of their power, and manifested in a most striking manner their utter contempt of decent public opinion. R. L. BORDEN."

NO CEREMONY FOR DISSOLUTION

Eleventh Parliament Come to an End on Saturday.

FOUR PROCLAMATIONS

Conservative Supporters of Borden Believe Obstruction Tactics a Blunder.

Ottawa, July 30.—Four proclamations have been issued by His Excellency the Governor-General, the first proroguing and dissolving Parliament, the second fixing Sept. 14 for nominations and Sept. 21 for polling, the third making the writs returnable on Oct. 7, and the fourth calling Parliament for Oct. 11.

Ottawa, July 30.—This is the first time a session of Parliament has ever been closed without the appearance of the Governor-General in military state in the Senate chamber to give formal prorogation. The Senate made a longer adjournment than the Commons, and was not due to reassemble until Aug. 9, and the summary method of dismissal had to be resorted to.

With over two years of its legal tenure of office to run, the eleventh Parliament of Canada has been dissolved—talked to death by a stubborn minority. The Government on Saturday morning, after a full meeting of the Cabinet council decided that any further attempt to pass the reciprocoity agreement in the face of the frank and determined obstruction of the minority of the people's representatives in Parliament was useless, and on the advice of his Ministers the Governor-General yesterday afternoon issued proclamations proroguing and dissolving Parliment, calling for an election on Sept. 21 with nominations on Sept. 14, providing for the issuing of the writs forthwith to be returnable on Oct. 7, and fixing Oct. 11 as the tentative date for the meeting of the new Parliament. That is the Government's answer to the Opposition obstructionists. The people of Canada are now asked to decide the issue as to whether or not they want freer trade with the United States and whether the majority in Parliament is to rule.

Premier Confident.

It was a smiling and confident Prime Minister who met the correspondents at the door of the council chamber at 1:30 yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the Cabinet council session. "Gentlemen," he said, "Mr. Fielding has some news for you." It was a characteristic and tactful compliment to the Finance Minister, who is primarily responsible for the drafting of the reciprocity agreement, and a significant indication of the issue on which the battle will be fought. Then Mr. Fielding, also smiling and confident, made the brief but pregnant announcement: "Gentlemen, Parliament has been dissolved; elections will take place on Sept. 21."

In Fine Fettle.

The news spread like wildfire. Pressmen hurrying to telegraph offices were waylaid by the anxiously waiting members, who had but an hour or so before they got word of the rumor that the end had arrived. The news was passed from group to group in the Commons corridors, bulletined at the newspaper offices, and flashed by the members themselves to their various constituencies. The long tension was at an end. In the Liberal ranks the word that the appeal was to be taken forthwith to the supreme court of the electorate was received with great and sincere enthusiasm. Some of the French-Canadian Liberals cheered and sang in the corridor. The English-speaking Liberals were a little less demonstrative, but all were evidently in fine fettle, and not a doubt was expressed as to what the people's verdict would be. "A greater majority than has been," is the confident verdict of every Liberal member of Parliament.

Borden's Mistake.

In the Opposition camp the news was received with considerably less enthusiasm. Despite the apparent eagerness of the obstructionists to force an election on the reciprocity issue, it has been an open secret for some days past that a considerable number of Mr. Borden's followers believe that a tactical mistake has been made, and that on this issue the party is doomed to hopeless defeat. However, it was recognized that the party, after making valor the better part of discretion, had burned its bridges and left no retreat open. Having forced the issue they attempted to welcome it with as good grace as possible, and publicly declared confidence in the result, although privately they admit that the best they can hope for is to cut down the Government's majority sufficiently to compel another election next year, meanwhile continuing to block reciprocity. An immediate attempt was made to blame the Government for bringing on dissolution so soon, and to befog the issue by protesting that further time should have been allowed to discuss in the House Sir Wilfrid's attitude at the imperial conference, and to allow of further investigation of the charges against Hon. Frank Oliver.

Preparing the Lists.

The election is brought on within the shortest time possible in which the writs for Northern Ontario can be got ready. The work of the revising judges has been quietly expedited during the past two weeks, and it is expected that revision will be completed by Sept. 12, allowing a full week for the printing and forwarding of the lists to the polling subdivisions. It has not yet been definitely decided whether or not there will be any deferred elections. If conditions will permit, all elections will be held on the same day, although probably this will be found impossible in Comox-Atlin, where more than a week is required between nomination and polling day to have the ballot papers printed and forwarded to the outlying polls.

The Government plans to call the new Parliament together as early as possible in October after the return of the writs. This will probably be on Wednesday, Oct. 25, when the new Parliament will be opened by the Duke of Connaught. It will be a short extra session for the passing of the reciprocity measure and supply for the balance of the current fiscal year. A second session of the new Parliament will be held, probably beginning early in February next year.

It is generally agreed that the two months' campaign will be vigorous and bitter. Reciprocity will be the paramount issue, though the Nationalist-Conservative alliance of Quebec Province will endeavor to introduce the naval issue into the contest, and the loyalty and anti-annexation cry will be raised in Ontario and other parts of the country.

Leaders to Campaign.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and all of his ministers will open the campaign next week, and arrangements for public meetings in all the provinces are now under way. The Prime Minister will confine his attention principally to the central Province of Ontario and Quebec, but will also probably make a brief tour of the Maritime Provinces. Hon. Messrs. Templeman and Oliver will look after the campaign on the Pacific coast and in the Prairie Provinces. Hon. Mr. Fielding, Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. William Pugsley will devote their attention to the Maritime Provinces. The Finance Minister will also address a few Ontario meetings.

The Opposition leader, Mr. R. L. Borden, will give most of his time to Ontario and Nova Scotia, though time may be found for him to deliver speeches in some of the other Provinces.

HOW THE PARTIES STOOD

Ottawa, July 30.—The standing of the parties in the House of Commons at dissolution was as follows:

Ontario—Liberals 35, Conservatives 51.
Quebec—Liberals 53, Conservatives 12.
New Brunswick—Liberals 11, Conservatives 2.
Nova Scotia—Liberals 12, Conservatives 6.
P. E. Island—Liberals 3, Conservatives 1.
Manitoba—Liberals 2, Conservatives 8.
British Columbia—Liberals 2, Conservatives 5.
Saskatchewan—Liberals 9, Conservatives 1.
Alberta—Liberals 4, Conservatives 3.
Yukon—Liberal 1.

The above list includes Messrs. Sifton and Verville (Labor) with the Liberals, and gives Messrs. Gilbert (Nationalist), W. F. Maclean and Russell (Toronto), who were elected as independents, to the Conservatives.

The Liberal majority, including the speaker, was 43.

PREMIER LAURIER

possible, was made a prominent feature in the platform of the Liberal party, upon which that party attained power in 1896.

"After the present Government took office it renewed in vain this offer to the United States, but, meeting with no response, it declared that no further overtures of this nature would be made by Canada.

Reciprocity Negotiations.

"Within the last twelve months the President of the United States sent to Ottawa two commissioners from Washington for the purpose of opening negotiations looking toward the lowering of the tariff barriers which have hitherto stood in the way of freer exchange of commodities between Canada and the United States. These negotiations in January last culminated in an agreement between the two Governments, by which the duties of each country on such products might be lowered or altogether removed. This agreement was strenuously resisted in the United States by various interests on the alleged ground that it was all to the advantage of Canada and to the detriment of the other country, but the view that it was mutually advantageous to both countries finally prevailed in Congress, and the agreement stands today as an offer by the United States to Canada of that very measure of reciprocity which for more than forty years has engaged the earnest and constant efforts of every leading Canadian statesman.

The Obstruction.

The present Conservative party in Parliament seeks absolutely to reverse the lifelong policy of its great leaders in the past, declaring that it will oppose to the bitter end the very principles enunciated by both Sir John Macdonald and Sir John Thompson in the last election addresses upon which each of these statesmen ever appealed to the Canadian people.

"Not content to debate this proposition upon its merits, the Conservative party in the House of Commons has adopted a system of organized and avowed obstruction to prevent any vote being taken in Parliament by which the opinion of your representatives there could be expressed.

"Day after day when the presiding officer has tried to put the question he has been met by dilatory motions, by endless speeches, by obstructive devices of every kind, each put forward on some specious pretext, but in reality nothing else than an abuse of freedom of speech in parliamentary debate.

"Such pretences are simply a clumsy attempt to give some color to unwarranted and undignified obstruction.

"To overcome this obstruction, after a session which has already lasted eight months, would not only mean the continuation of the unseemly spectacle presented by the Opposition in the House of Commons since the resumption of its sittings on the 18th instant, but would also mean weeks and months of wasted time, and perhaps in the end the loss for this season to the Canadian producer of the free American markets.

"In this condition of things it has seemed to his excellency's advisers more in accordance with the dignity of Parliament, with the traditions of those British institutions which all true Canadians value so highly, and which the present Opposition degrade with such a light heart, with the best interests of the country as a whole, to remit the issue to the people themselves, so that the people themselves may judge between the Government and the Opposition, and declare whether they have changed their mind or whether they are still in favor of reciprocity in natural products, and whether they will or will not have the American market for the promising crop soon to be garnered in Canada.

"The issue, my fellow-countrymen, is in your hands, and to your decision his majesty's Government in Canada are well content to leave it.

"It has been alleged by the Opposition that this agreement, if consummated, would imperil the connection with the mother country, and finally bring the annexation of Canada to the United States. It is impossible to treat such an argument with any kind of respect, if indeed it can be dignified with the name of argument, for if it has any meaning its meaning is that the people of Canada would be seduced from their allegiance by the prosperity to follow the larger flow of natural products from this country to the other. Indeed, the very reverse would be the natural consequence, for the experience of all ages abundantly testifies that trade ever is the most potent agency of peace, amity and mutual respect between nations.

"Nor is that all. This agreement, which in no way impairs our fiscal policy, which still maintains at the topmast the fecund principle of British preference, this agreement, by opening new avenues of trade hitherto closed, would further improve the friendly relations which now happily exist between this country and the mother country on the one hand, and the American Republic on the other hand, and which, it is hoped, may, at no distant day, eventuate into a general treaty of arbitration the effect of which would be to remove forever all possibilities of war between the great Empire of which we are proud to form a part, and the great nation which we are proud to have as neighbors.

CRUISER NIOBE RUNS ON LEDGES

Rocks Pierce the Engine-Room, But Vessel Is Kept Afloat.

Halifax, July 30.—The Canadian cruiser Niobe went ashore last night on the Southwest Ledges, off Cape Sable, and when she struck the ledges pierced her starboard engine room and she suffered injuries to her afterpart, but Captain McDonald, of the cruiser, found himself able to keep the vessel clear of water with her pumps.

A dispatch from Shag Harbor tonight says the Niobe has arrived there under her own steam and is anchored in nine fathoms of water. She was convoyed in by a tug from Yarmouth. Shag Harbor is ten miles west of the place she struck. The Niobe's divers went down to examine the bottom of the cruiser, but no report from them has been received here. The Government steamers Lady Laurier and Stanley have not yet reached the scene, the dense fog still continuing. The department of marine now expects the Niobe at Halifax tomorrow evening if the fog lifts.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN SEES BINFORD GIRL

Police Think Attempt Was Made to Affect Her Testimony.

Richmond, Va., July 31.—Attorneys for the prosecution in the Beattie case were disturbed tonight. They fear a deliberate attempt was made late this evening to affect the testimony of Beulah Binford, who is held as a witness against Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., charged with killing his wife.

Strict orders are in effect not to permit visitors to see the Binford girl, except members of her immediate family. Despite this, Detective Scherer this evening found the girl in earnest conversation with a heavily veiled woman, who rose hurriedly and attempted to leave when he entered the jail. Warden Garnett said the young woman gained admittance as a "sister" of the prisoner.

Kicking and scratching the guards, the visitor was locked in another cell where Scherer examined her. Later the detective said that the young woman was an intimate friend of Beulah Binford and Henry Clay Beattie. He intimated that she confessed to having been sent to see Beulah in the interest of "certain parties" who feared the revelations which will be forthcoming when she takes the stand.

According to the counsel on both sides, at least a score of young men and three women will be seriously compromised by Beulah's testimony.

Offers of marriage addressed to the 17-year-old "other woman" continue to arrive. Up to date she has received matrimonial tenders from eight men. One came today from Los Angeles. Another from New York addressed her as "My Poor Little Girl," recalled an acquaintance of three years ago, and coupled the proposal with the information that the writer was wealthy.

COL. CLARK INJURED.

Edmonton, Alta., July 30.—Col. Hugh Clark, M.L.A., of Kincardine, Ont., and R. B. Killiher, chief engineer of the G. T. P., were thrown from their buggy down the mountain side, on Friday. Killiher was hurt the worst and was put aboard a special train and rushed to Edmonton.

Later he left for Winnipeg.

CLIFFORD SIFTON OUT OF POLITICS

Will Not Be a Candidate—His Time for Conservation Hereafter.

Ottawa, July 30.—Hon. Clifford Sifton, who has just returned from England, stated after a conference with Mr. Borden yesterday that he would not be a candidate in the coming elections. He promised to issue a statement as to his position in the near future. He added that while he felt it to be his duty to take some part in the campaign in support of his views against the reciprocity agreement, he had no desire to again enter into active politics, but would devote the rest of his life to the work he had most at heart, viz., that of the conservation commission.

BIG PRICE ON HEAD OF EX-SHAH

Teheran, Persia, July 31.—One hundred thousand dollars was today set on the ex-Shah's head and $25,000 each on the heads of Salar ed Dowlen and Shua es Sultaneh, the two Kadjar princes who are his principal supporters.

Major Stokes, former British military attache, has entered the treasury gendarmerie service, which is being organized by the American treasurer general of Persia, Mr. Shuster. After this had been arranged, the Russian minister attempted to intervene, threatening the Persian cabinet with reprisals on the part of Russia. For a time the members of the cabinet showed some alarm, but already the contract had been legally signed.

TWO SPECIAL TRAINS FOR CHICAGO OLD BOYS

One Thousand Will Come to the Celebration From Windy City.

Chicago, July 31.—A club house to cost $1,000,000 in which permanent quarters will be provided for all Canadian clubs is being planned by former residents of Canada. At a meeting held today the plan was discussed and arrangements made to solicit funds for the project.

Among those present at the meeting were J. W. Bowen, William Robertson, Thomas F. Lynch and Thomas Weston, president of Canadian organizations. There are said to be about 200,000 former residents of Canada in Chicago. It is planned to merge the fifty Canadian clubs into one large organization.

The London Old Boy's club will make its annual visit to Canada, August 3, travelling in two special trains. One thousand men, women and children will make the trip.

HIS STRANGE WAY

Stratford Man Scares Windsorites By Walking Through Houses.

Windsor, Ont., July 30.—Michael Donohue, aged 30, who says his home is at Stratford, was picked up by the police here today on general principles. Donohue frightened the inmates of half a dozen houses on Goyeau street last night by opening the front door, walking through the house and out the back way. After he repeated this performance a few times the police were notified and arrested the man this morning. He will be held for a day or two.

WELSH PILGRIMS.

New York, July 29.—Three hundred Welshman sailed on the steamer Caronia today to spend a month in their native land. The "pilgrims," as they styled themselves, gathered from all parts of Canada and the United States. The party included wives and children.

MACKENZIE RESIGNS.

Winnipeg, Man., July 29.—J. W. Scanlan has been approached by a delegation of grain growers and urged to run for Parliament in Brandon, Hon. Clifford Sifton's old seat. Roderick Mackenzie, secretary of the Grain Growers' Association, now en route to Ottawa to urge the passage of the grain bill, has resigned. It was thought here he would be the grain growers' candidate at Brandon. His resignation is a mystery.

AND
Final Millinery
Clearance This Week
89c and $1.10

Our entire stock of Trimmed Hats, which were grouped a few weeks ago at $3.69 and $1.89, included everything then in stock regardless of cost or value. The balance of these, together with a few new productions, are now reduced to above prices in order to make a quick clearance of everything this week. There are not a great many in either line, but every one a bargain, as the prices in most cases represent only a fraction of the cost of the shapes alone, to say nothing of the trimmings, etc. It is just a matter of practically giving away what is left in summer millinery, but in a business way at a price, even if it is only a fraction of the cost. But the point is, by so doing we have a clear deck to begin the next season; no left-overs to work in with the new stock. That is our system, and the reason for such sales at the close of the season. Everything must go. All White Chip Hats, Lace Hats and Children's Millinery, too, will be cleared this week.

AMPLE FUNDS FOR WORKS, SALARIES

No Trouble Over Supply Until Parliament Meets—Borden Blocked Redistribution.

Ottawa, July 30.—In regard to Mr. Borden's argument as to the failure of the Government to ask for supply, it is quite sufficient answer to say that this whole matter has been very carefully considered by the Government, and a careful analysis of supply already granted shows that there are ample funds available to carry on all necessary public works now in progress and to pay civil service salaries until Parliament meets again.

After compelling dissolution without a redistribution bill, Mr. Borden now seeks to throw the onus upon the Government. He pleads his offer of April last to hurry up the census and bring in an early redistribution bill regardless of the fact that under the statute the census cannot be taken earlier than June 12, and that the figures would not be available as a basis for drafting a bill before October at the earliest. Experience of previous redistributions shows that it would take probably four or five months to put the bill through Parliament. That would mean that reciprocity would have to stand over until well on into next year. The Government takes the view that the vital issue now is to secure the benefit of reciprocity for this season's crops and to keep faith with President Taft, who has let nothing stand in the way of his part of the agreement. It is believed the West at present is much more concerned with securing reciprocity as speedily as possible than with securing a larger representation in the Commons which will follow in due course as one of the first duties of the new Parliament.

Boat Goes Down in Manistee Lake While Loading at Wharf.

Manistee, Mich., July 30.—The steamer Robert C. Wente sank early this morning in Manistee Lake while loading lumber at Buckley & Douglas's dock, drowning Fred Fournier, cook, while he was asleep in his room. The vessel is lying in 25 feet of water with only the pilot house showing. The damage cannot be fixed until insurance adjusters arrive, when the work of raising the vessel will be begun. The steamer is owned by Gus Kitsinger, general manager of the Pere Marquette line steamers. Her cargo of lumber will be saved. The body of Fournier was brought to the surface this afternoon by Diver Frank Hughes. Fournier is survived by a mother and several brothers and sisters.

LIBERALS PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

Many Conventions Throughout Ontario Are Already Arranged.

EARLY REGISTRATIONS

Conditions Under Which Citizens Are Entitled To Vote.

Toronto, July 31.—In view of the comparatively short time before the forthcoming Dominion elections there is likely to be considerable activity in regard to the new registrations and additions to the voters' lists.

Registration is made under the Ontario law, and all who are eligible as voters under Part I. of the Ontario municipal lists will qualify for the Dominion franchise.

The board of manhood suffrage registrars, which sets the dates for the four days of registration, consists of Judge Winchester, Judge Denton, Judge Morgan (Master in Ordinary), George O. Alcorn, K.C. (Master in Chambers), James S. Cartwright, K.C. (Inspector of Legal Offices), J. W. Mallon (Master of Titles), J. G. Scott, K.C., and Police Magistrate Denison.

They meet during the next few days.

Public notice of the dates of registration is thereupon given by the chairman of the board, and the first day of registration falls seven days after the dissolution of Parliament.

The Appeals.

Appeals against registrars' rulings are made to a board of three members selected from the manhood suffrage registrars, and must be entered within 24 hours afterward. The decision of the board of appeal in all cases must be given at least three days before polling day.

Not a minute is being lost by the Liberal executive in making the final arrangements for the elections.

At the Ontario headquarters in Toronto plans are well forward, and all the ridings have been communicated with and heard from as to the dates of their respective conventions. These local caucuses are being arranged as quickly as possible in view of the early election, and in some cases where dates had been fixed towards the end of August, earlier dates are being made. Since the dissolution most of the members have left for their ridings, where they will be busy from now on with the local leaders. Speaking, however, will not be in full swing until after the conventions have been held and the candidates nominated.

Following are the conditions under which registration is made:

"Every male person of the full age of 21 years, a subject of his majesty by birth or naturalization, and not disqualified under the Ontario election act and not otherwise by law prohibited from voting, shall be entitled to be entered on the list of manhood suffrage voters for the polling subdivision in which he resides. All such persons must have resided in the province for twelve months preceding the date of the first day on which the registrars of manhood suffrage hold their meeting.

"Students at universities and colleges may register if they are not already registered in their home towns."

Liberals Active.

Mr. F. G. Inwood, secretary of the General Reform Association of Ontario, is back in the city after a tour of the ridings in his district, and he is in close touch with all the different centres. Where convention dates have not already been fixed this will be done within the next two weeks or so, and it is expected that within three weks from now all the Liberal candidates will have been selected. Following is a list of conventions recently arranged:

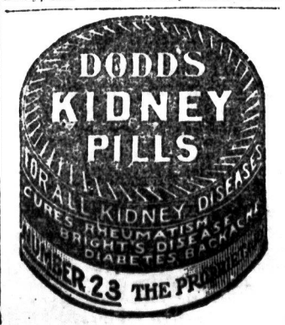

Aug. 3—South Lanark, at Jerth.
Aug. 4—East Huron, at Brussels.
Aug. 4—East Northumberland, at Warkworth.
Aug. 5—Lennox and Addington, at Napanee.
Aug. 8—Brockville, at Brockville.
Aug. 11—North Lanark, at Lanark village.
Aug. 12—East Middlesex.
Aug. 12—Victoria, at Lindsay.
Aug. 15—East Algoma.
Aug. 16—West Huron, at Goderich.
Aug. 17—North Ontario, at Beaverton.
South Bruce—Very shortly.
Durham—At Orono, date changed from Aug. 21 to earlier date.
Lincoln and London executives will meet on the 3rd and 4th respectively to decide early dates for conventions.

PREFERS DEATH TO CELL

Takes Poison When Constable Comes With Warrant.

Kingston, July 30. — Preferring death to imprisonment, John Hickey, the Clarendon man wanted for assaulting his wife, took poison on Friday afternoon at his home when he saw a constable coming with a warrant for his arrest. Hickey died yesterday despite all the medical assistance that could be secured.

Hickey told his wife some time ago that he would never return to prison. He was sentenced to Central Prison about 13 months ago to two years for abusing his wife. Two months ago his wife secured his release on parole, and for a time they lived happily. About a month later, however, Hickey commenced drinking again, and as has been the case in the past frequently abused her. Matters came to a head three weeks ago when he threatened to kill her, and would probably have done so had neighbors not intervened. Mrs. Hickey escaped from the house, and lived for three days in a berry bush without any other food but berries, while her husband remained in the house. On the third day he drove away, and Mrs. Hickey secured her

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dredge, of Simcoe, are visiting relatives in Aylmer and Fort Stanley.

John Flowers, principal of the Welland public schools, formerly of New Sarum, and well known here, spent a couple of days in town this week.

The band concert given in the park on Friday evening was greatly enjoyed by a large number of citizens.

The drinking fountains have arrived and one is now being placed in front of the postoffice on Talbot street.

BLACKHAND KILLING ON TORONTO STREET

Murderer Gets Away, But Police Are on Trail.

Toronto, July 31.—What has every appearance of being a Black Hand murder, occurred yesterday afternoon, shortly after 4 o'clock, at the corner of Church and Front streets, and the perpetrator has so far managed to elude the police. The victim was Frank Tarro, an Italian, who lived at 165 York street. He was shot three times, and expired almost instantly. The murderer escaped through a lane, and although he was seen by a number of persons he has not so far been arrested, and neither are the police positive as to his identity.

According to eye-witnesses Tarro and another man were walking along Front street and were conversing quietly. Just as they turned on to Church street, the murderer stepped to the right side of Tarro, and pulling out a revolver shot him three times at so close a range that the victim's clothes were singed by the fire. Tarro threw up his hands and made an effort to follow the murderer, but fell to the sidewalk. The murderer ran down a lane off Front street, just east of Church street and made his escape to the tracks.

Saw the Shooting.

Miss Laura Fenwick and Mrs. Hattie Winger, of 97 King street, were at the rcorner of Wellington and Church at the time, and saw the whole thing. Miss Fenwick ran to the wounded man and holding up his head tried to make him speak. His efforts to respond were choked off by the flow of blood and in a few seconds the man died. The woman gave the alarm, and although a number of people were soon on the scene, the murderer managed to get away. At the feet of the victim a fully loaded revolver was found, and according to the two ladies the murderer dropped it there. In the lane two other revolvers and a large knife were found. One of the guns was fully loaded and the other had four empty and a full shell in it.

THE SUMMONS.

A premature general election has been forced on the country by the abuse of the power reserved to an Opposition by our easy-going parliamentary rules and practice.

The Government had no alternative except the unthinkable one of surrender on the reciprocity issue. It has had no fear of an appeal to the people, but it has been reluctant to inflict an injustice on the newer parts of Canada. They are now grievously underrepresented in the House of Commons, and, by the decree of the Opposition, must remain so in the next Parliament. The census returns, the basis of the next redistribution, will not be completed till October. Even if a redistribution bill could be introduced immediately afterwards, there is not the faintest prospect that it would be allowed to pass by the Opposition so as to permit an election at a seasonable time, a winter campaign being out of the question. The last redistribution, a scrupulously fair one, was held up for months. The Opposition will have a double reckoning with the western provinces, having denied them two favors which they want, and want at once—reciprocity and redistribution.

The country is already familiar with the arguments by which the Opposition seeks to justify its conduct. It is said the Government has no mandate for the reciprocity pact. This plea is not even an ingenious humbug. The free exchange of farm products with the United States has been a Liberal plank ever since there has been a Liberal platform. It has been a Conservative plank also ever since there has been a Conservative party, if we choose to date the birth of the party from the ascendency of Sir John Macdonald, in the fifties. Sir John even made free trade in natural products a standing offer in his first National Policy budget. The offer was renewed from time to time, and held good in the last year of the Conservative regime. As a matter of fact, no Canadian politician dreamed that the United States would respond to such an offer until the terms of the Taft-Fielding pact were made known six months ago. The no-mandate cry is answered by the whole history of tariff legislation in Canada, and the record of both parties.

When the Taft-Fielding pact was announced there was an exclamation of surprise, a general feeling that it was "too good to be true," shared by all parties. The enemies of the Government made no pretence at the time of denying its material benefits. Quite the contrary, they protested that its advantages were so great as to constitute a peril to Canadian nationality. The farmers of Canada, having tasted of the forbidden fruit of the American market, would be seduced from their British allegiance. The currents of interprovincial and inter-imperial trade, flowing east and west, would be turned to the south, and the great transportation systems, the ties of steel binding the provinces together, broken and severed. This was the whole burden of the anti-reciprocity chorus for weeks and months. An appeal was made to the working classes in the cities and towns to oppose legislation which they were told would increase the cost of living for the profit of the tillers of the soil, already bloated with prosperity.

When it was found that these tactics were solidifying the farmers for the pact in all parts of the country, there was a sudden change of tune. The alarm was sounded and now desperate efforts are being put forth to "dam the flowing tide" of pro-reciprocity sentiment in the townships. There has been a deluge of oratory and literature, solemnly assuring the farmers that reciprocity means merely an increase in competition, and, therefore, a lower range of prices. The workingmen who were to be pinched by higher prices are neglected for the time being. The arguments addressed to the farmers are as insincere and preposterous as they are belated.

The Government goes into this election with a clear-cut policy. Can anyone say the same of the Opposition? Mr. Borden's supporters in the House from the prairie provinces, with two or three exceptions, denounce the reciprocity agreement because it makes no deep or wide cut in the duties on manufactured articles. In the East there are Conservative candidates, like the member for London, crying for an all-round increase in the tariff. Mr. Borden himself refuses to express an opinion on the general tariff question, having devolved all responsibility on an imaginary tariff commission, improvised as a means of evading direct answers to troublesome inquiries in the West. The position of the Opposition is neither candid nor consistent. United on no principle or policy, it deserves to fail, and can scarcely hope to win. It is probable that Mr. Borden has been shoved into this extreme course against his judgment by the arrogant and affluent Toronto-Montreal junta, which is supplying the sinews of war—and insisting on the war.

A DIFFICULT SEARCH.

The Advertiser the other day asked for the names of half-a-dozen prominent Liberals, outside of Toronto, opposed to reciprocity. The London Free Press responds with these: Clifford Sifton, M. P., W. M. German, M. P., W. O. Sealey, M. P., Hon. G. W. Ross, and D. C. Cameron, the new lieutenant-governor of Manitoba.

Hon. G. W. Ross' postoffice address is No. 3 Elmsley Place, Toronto. Moreover, Mr. Ross has not uttered a word against the reciprocity agreement. Before the negotiations at Washington began, he wrote a series of letters arguing against a trade "treaty" with the United States. The present arrangement is not a treaty; it is merely concurrent legislation which may be terminated at any moment by either country. It does not come within the scope of Mr. Ross' articles, and he has as yet found no fault with it.

Mr. Sealey, the Liberal member for Wentworth, protested against the fruit and vegetable clauses of the agreement, but he supported the other features and would not have voted against the measure had it come to a division in the House.

Mr. German says the agreement will not injure the fruit growers, but he is against it for reasons not apparent in his speeches. Messrs. Sifton and McMullen are also opposed. We take our contemporary's word for it that Mr. Cameron is in the same boat. This reduces the list of "antis" to four. With the aid of a search warrant and a telescope of high magnifying power, our contemporary may discover two more. Who are they?

The Opposition's tariff policy is entirely a matter of longitude.

Once more: Can anyone name half-a-dozen prominent Liberals, outside of Toronto, opposed to reciprocity?

The Canadian cruiser Niobe struck a shoal off Cape Sable. Another excuse for the little Canadians to sneer at the Canadian navy.

It is to be hoped our 'steamed contemporaries will not warm up unnecessarily over election matters until the hot weather is over.

Mr. Borden, in his manifesto, fails to tell the country why he is the only Conservative leader ever opposed to reciprocity in farm products.

Australia adopts the same naval law as Canada. But no party in Australia is so unpatriotic as to stigmatize Australia's navy as "separatist" or "tinpot."

Mr. Bourassa will make his fight against the Government on the naval bill, and will say exactly the opposite of what the Government's enemies in Ontario will say.

Hon. Mr. Sifton will not offer for re-election. No man has done more for the West, but it is doubtful whether he could find a seat there, owing to his anti-reciprocity views.

Parliament will reassemble on Oct. 11, so as to enable the Government to put through the reciprocity pact, and give the farmers the benefit of the American market for this year's harvest.

Premier McBride has been offered a federal nomination. Mr. McBride is believed to be ambitious. This is the best reason for thinking he will not enter the federal arena at this juncture.

The progressive Republicans and the Democrats in Congress combined in the United States to pass reciprocity. There has been no such phenomenon at Ottawa, but there will be at the polls.

The London Spectator remarks that reciprocity is not a new policy in Canada. Its present opponents speak and act as though a measure supported by Sir John Macdonald all his life was a sudden invention of the Laurier Government.

The Conservative Ottawa Citizen says:

"Miss Canada is not worrying at all for anybody to save her from the alleged ogre, Reciprocity, in fact she is not sure that he is an ogre at all; but she would like somebody to save her from the white-plumed knight and the band of political bandits and grafters that follow in his train."

The Citizen will not be alone in its party in running away from the reciprocity issue.

Mr. Perley, the Opposition whip, and a millionaire, will make $25,000 a year more under the pulp and paper clauses of the reciprocity agreement, according to the Toronto News correspondent. Mr. Perley is praised for his unselfishness in opposing reciprocity; but is it consistent in him to deny the economic advantages of the pact?

TEACHING ECONOMY IN MILEAGE TERMS.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

In a striking way the Pere Marquette Railroad has shown to its employees the value of small economy in details of their work. It has issued a table showing the cost of things in common use on the road, in terms of ton-mileage. This is an illustration that will be understood at once and should appeal to every brakeman, clerk, fireman and station agent, as well as to heads of departments. The cost of a common pencil is the equivalent of two miles haul of a ton of freight, a lamp chimney represents ten and a half miles haul, a track shovel ninety miles and a postage stamp three and a half miles. Carrying the comparison out to everything likely to be wasted makes a forcible presentation of the value of economy.

WOMEN MUST NOT READ.

[Harvard Lampoon.]

(printed upside down)

If there's anything worries a woman,
It's something she ought not to know;
But you bet she will find it out somehow
If she gets the least kind of a show.
Now we'll wager ten cents to a farthing
This poem she has already read;
We knew she'd get at it somehow,
If she had to stand on her head.

WHAT IT WAS.

[Puck.]

Mrs. Idler—"Let's see. Wasn't there some scandal concerning that Broadhead girl?"

Mrs. Chatter—"Oh, yes! Don't you recollect? She married for love."

TIE THAT BINDS.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

"I have a cook now who took a college course in domestic science last summer."

"You seem enthusiastic, Mabel."

"Yes, I find we belong to the same secret society."

LETS HIM OUT.

[Punch.]

New Housemaid—"That baker's man's a nice looking chap."

Cook—"Him? Why, he's married."

ASQUITH, THE COURAGEOUS.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

He might well be called "Asquith the Courageous." It required some courage for this Prime Minister of the British Empire to permit his chancellor of the exchequer to revolutionize the taxation of the United Kingdom and declare war on class interests. It required some nerve to take up the gauntlet thrown down by the House of Lords when the Peers rejected that revolutionary measure. It required some intrepidity to face the extreme wrath of all the potent influences in England's social life and endure contumely and bitter charges of treachery to country and King. It required some grit to take the war right into the enemy's camp by the introduction of legislation that will forever clip the wings of the dukes and marquises and the earls and the barons. It required some dauntlessness to appeal a second time within twelve months, against all the organized forces of class and money, to the electors for another mandate. It required some fortitude to fight at every turn right up to the throne and demand the exercise of the royal prerogative for the appointment of enough peers to secure the overthrow of those who are standing in the way of the people's will.

But Herbert Henry Asquith has done all these things, and when he stood up before a crowded chamber and packed galleries in the House of Commons at Westminster, to deliver his final ultimatum, the victory was his.

It has been a great fight between great men—a bloodless revolution, yet a revolution just as historic as that which shook France a century ago. It is a giant victory for sane democracy.

In two general elections it has been shown that the people are behind the Government, and the disgraceful scene created by a band of young aristocrats and money bags in the Commons was but the last kick of a vanquished political party.

DOG VS. WIFE.

[London Opinion.]

She (weary of waiting)—"If you sell th' dog, John, we could get married."

He—"An' wouldn't Oi look silly to sell a dog loike that to be married?"

BAD LUCK.

[Montreal Star.]

"Carrying ashes out of the house after sunset is bad luck," says the New York Telegram. Particularly, it may be added, if the bottom drops out of the barrel just as you have got to the top of the stairs.

"MILDEST ENTHUSIASM."

[Toronto News.]

Sometimes printers are Liberals. We suspect the one who changed a "w" to an "m," and made us say that Herb. Lennox "was received with the mildest enthusiasm."

ENVIOUS.

[Toledo Blade.]

"I envy that woman who is singing."

"Why, I don't think much of her voice."

"Oh, it isn't her voice I envy. It's her nerve."

CAN'T BE DONE.

[Vancouver Province.]

A flexible currency is very desirable, but no stretch of imagination can convert a five-dollar note into a ten.

AN OPTIMIST.

[Life.]

"Better late than never," said the always cheerful commuter as he reached the station just in time to see the last train pull out for Wading Pond.

WHY?

[Montreal Herald.]

Why is it that when you are walking along the street with your hat stove in you are bound to meet your best girl?

SALE OF AMMONIA.

[Manchester Guardian.]

By an order in council the sale of ammonia is to be subject to new regulations. These provide that the bottle in which the ammonia is sold must be distinguishable by touch from ordinary bottles, and be labelled with the words "Not to be taken" in addition to the word "Poisonous." At present no restriction whatever is placed upon the sale of ammonia, and each year many persons die after taking it either in mistake for some harmless substance or for the purpose of committing suicide. During the last three years for which the official figures are available 71 deaths have been caused by ammonia, of which 33 were accidents and 38 cases of suicide. The new regulations, which are made under section 5 of the poisons and pharmacy act, 1908, are mainly the result of recommendations made by coroners, and will come into use on the 1st of February next year.

PROGRESS.

[The Throne.]

Lady—"And did you make your congregation give up cannibalism?"

Missionary (suppressing a grin)—"Not quite; but after much trouble I persuaded them to use knives and forks."

INDIA'S DURBAR VERY EXTENSIVE

Spectacle Will Cost More Than the Coronation.

MAKE SPLENDID SCENE

Wear Crowns More Gorgeous Than They Had in Westminster Abbey.

London, July 30.—After going through the coronation with its continuous round of strenuous pleasures, the visit to Ireland, the investiture of the Prince of Wales at Canarvon Castle, and the visit to Scotland, King George is now enjoying a spell of comparative rest, but his travels will not be over for many months yet. Early in August he will visit Moy Hall, near Inverness, to shoot over the famous grouse moors of The Mackintosh of Mackintosh, twenty-eighth chief of the Clan Chattan.

As the Prince of Wales, King George shot over the moors, and made a record score in one day. Every morning at Moy the piper marches round the house playing Scottish airs, while in the evenings, after dinner, he discourses music in the drawing-room, where stands the table at which Prince Charlie dined after the battle of Culloden, the sword worn by Dundee at Killiecrankie, another that belonged to Charles I., and a gold watch which belonged to Mary Queen of Scots.

King Has Hands Full.

From the beginning of September King George will have his hands full preparing for his long trip to India, and all the details of his coronation at Delhi will be submitted to him.

The Durbar with all its festivals and splendor will cost far more than the one just celebrated at Westminster, and the people of India will feel the burden of it for many years.

King George will be the first English sovereign to be hailed in India with the title of Delhi-Ke-Bashah, and, like Napoleon the Great, he will perform the act of crowning himself to impress it upon the minds of the natives of India that no living mortal is worthy of carrying out this act. In England he is king by the grace of God, bound by his solemn oath to respect the constitution, a figure-head without any real power, a representative and servant of the people, but he is emperor of India, because he chooses to be, and in the eyes of the natives he possesses almost supernatural power.

Special crowns are being made for the king and queen and these will be far more gorgeous than those worn in Westminster Abbey, for these crowns are to give the poor natives of India an idea of the power and enormous wealth of their emperor.

Chiefs To Pay Respects.

Ruling chiefs are to visit the king during the 8th or 9th of December. His majesty is anxious to come in personal touch with them, and for these two days he will do little but engage in conversation with the rulers. This is thought to be a brilliant stroke of policy, due entirely to the king's perfect comprehension of the whole Indian problem. It is hoped to make permanent the good effects of his visit to India. The king will not return the visits. In that respect his place will be taken by Lord Hardinge, who, when the king steps ashore at Bombay, ceases to be viceroy and becomes simply governor-general.

The Durbar takes place on Tuesday, Dec. 12, and will be witnessed by at least 50,000 people. The scene will be overwhelmingly splendid, even to the Indian mind, which expects a great deal. There is to be, another day, a review of 80,000 troops. The imperial service troops are to be under the command of their respective chiefs.

FOOLED BY AN OLD TRICK

Nova Scotian Goes to New York With $1,200—Poor Fellow!

New York, July 29.—When Charles Mollman, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, is asked what he thinks of reciprocity between the United States and Canada he holds up both hands and says "No."

According to Mollman's story to the police of the West Forty-seventh street station, he sold out his clothing store in Halifax not long ago. With $1,200 he came to New York with a view to branching out into bigger business, and put up at the Grand Union Hotel. He grew lonely, so it was with joy that he met an affable gentleman "from Pittsburg" in the hotel lobby.

Together they went to a roof garden. Mollman spent an exceedingly enjoyable evening, his only regret being that his friend absolutely refused to let him pay for a thing. Mollman, a bit piqued, came out boldly and stated that he was strong in the money line himself. The stranger was interested. He asked for details, and when he found that the "roll" was in Canadian currency he declared that it was unfortunate.

"I'm afraid you can't spend that money," he said. "They won't accept Canadian money here. However, I'm not sure. But I have a friend who is manager of a hotel and knows all about such things. We'll go up and see him tomorrow."

Mollman was agreeable, and the two went to the Cumberland Hotel, Fifty-fourth street and Broadway. They sat in the restaurant chatting until a stout man came along, whom the stranger introduced as the manager.

The "manager" joined the party and a few minutes later Mollman handed over his $1,200 to the "hotelman," who left, saying he wished to get his cashier's advice. He didn't return. Mollman got up to look for him, and when he came back the friend from Pittsburg had vanished.

WELSH NATIONAL LIBRARY

Due to the Noble Ambition of Sir John Williams.

Cardiff, Wales, July 31.—The story of the establishment of the Welsh National library, the foundation stone of which was laid July 15, centers around the enthusiasm, persistency and self denial of one man. Forty years ago a young Welsh doctor named John Williams purchased at an auction in Swansea the book which was the beginning of one of the finest private libraries in the country.

Dr. Williams started practice in London in the early '70s, rose to the front rank of his profession and became a baronet. During the whole of his career in London the vision of a Welsh national library remained before him. He kept closely in touch with such dealers as Mr. Quaritch, and whenever a rare Welsh book came into their hands they always gave him the first refusal of it.

During the 30 years after he came to London Sir John Williams spent upwards of $100,000 in book collecting. Three years ago he made his collection the nucleus of the Welsh national library. Shortly afterward another great library the Peniarth collection, came into the market and Sir John Williams purchased this and presented it also to the principality. Nor did his services end here. For 30 years he worked to raise funds to acquire a site and erect a suitable building.

The most valuable of the contents of the Peniarth library are the Hengwrt and Peniarth manuscripts, which are the finest collection of Welsh manuscripts extant. They were collected between 1592 and 1666 by Robert Vaughan, of Hengwrt. These documents include the oldest manuscripts of the laws of Wales in Latin and Welsh, the earliest versions of "Mabinogion" as well as of the Arthurian romances, and the oldest and only perfect copy of the Holy Grail. The greatest glory of the collection is the "Black Book of Caermarthen," the oldest known manuscript in the Welsh language, written on vellum between the years 1150 and 1250.

GRAY HAIR POPULAR IN OLD COUNTRY

Number of Beautiful Women Wearing It Causes Comment.

London, July 31.—At the great social functions this season the number of gray-haired beauties to be seen is a matter of general comment. In these days gray hairs are apt to make their appearance in early middle life, indeed, in many cases while the owner is in the flower of her youth. The Marchioness of Ripon's hair has been white for years. Mrs. Hall Walker, one of the lovely Sheridans, has white hair which is the envy of all her friends. She is one of the young matrons—another is Mrs. John Jacob Astor—whose snowy tresses single her out for admiration in any crowd.

Since she was 17 Lady Henry Bentinck has had white hair. She is a sister-in-law of the Duke of Portland, and one of the most picturesque women in London. Madame von Andre, a popular American, says if a woman has the proper coloring for white hair, that it is irresistible.

Countess Fritz-Hockberg, who is a sister of Lord Fermey, a typical Irish beauty, with dark eyes and fair complexion, has wonderful white hair. Since Lady Warwick's red-gold hair has begun to turn white her friends say she is more beautiful than at any time in her life.

LIGHTNING FOLLOWS MAN

Bolt Not Only Strikes Him Once, But Twice.

Salem, Mass., July 29. — It isn't very often that a man is struck, or rather stunned, by lightning twice, in two different places, in the same storm, but that is just what happened to Nathaniel Lowe, jun., of Ipswich. Lowe says that no matter where he ran or hid, during that storm the lightning followed him. When he would bolt, the lightning would bolt, too, which was not the joke it sounds.

Lowe, with two companions, was camping in a cottage on Tapioca Island, Ipswich, when the storm broke. When the clouds grew black and the lightning flared and flashed, his companions grew frightened and made for the city, leaving Lowe, who said he wasn't afraid, in the cottage. Hardly had his friends left him alone when lightning struck the building and tore its way through a bed from which Lowe had just leaped. The lightning rendered Lowe unconscious, and left the interior of the cottage a wreck. Lowe says that when he regained consciousness he was scared and fled from the house. Out through the torm he bolted, heading blindly toward his home, three miles away. But the storm grew fiercer and the lightning snapped and cracked around him until the young man fled for shelter into the barn of a neighbor.

The moment he crouched down into a dark corner and took his first long breath, lightning ripped through the barn, damaging, but not burning it. Again was Lowe shocked into unconsciousness. He says that when he recovered his sense fright took entire possession of him and he tore through the storm all the way to his home, where it wa sa lon gtime before he could tell anything about what had happened to him.

DEFINING BEER

Dr. Wiley to Determine Status of the Popular Beverage.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—Having long ago settled the vexed problem of "what is whiskey," the agricultural department's board of drug inspection, headed by the redoubtable Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, today undertook to determine "what is beer?"

Manufacturers of beer and other malt beverages and barley raisers from all over the country are here, attending the hearing conducted by the board, and many others have sent their views by mail.

The object of the board's inquiry is to bring malt liquids within the scope of the pure food and drug act, and to determine just what shall and what shall not be contained in liquors sold under the label "lager beer," "bock beer," ale, porter, stout and malt extracts." The board has propounded a series of questions as to ingredients, fermenting, coloring, carbonating, etc.

It is claimed that much of the beer sold in this country is made of corn or rice, and that some of the malt extract and other beverages are not what their names lead consumers to think them.

SIMON WILL FIGHT

[Canadian Press.]

Port-au-Prince, Haiti, July 31.—Some excitement was caused here today by an unfounded report of the embarkation of President Simon, who, on the contrary has decided to resist the revolutionists to the last. The Government has organized a defence of the capital. The public continues alarmed and awaits with impatience the announced coming of the ships of war representing the different nations.

General Sylvan, a cousin of the minister of the interior, was today made prefect of police in succession to Ferdinand, who, after being accused of conspiring in the interests of General Firmin, one of the revolutionary leaders, sought refuge in the French legation to avoid arrest. During the night several persons attempted incendiarism but were surprised and fired upon by a military patrol under command of Minister Sylvan.

GATES' CONDITION.

Paris, July 31.—Physicians attending John W. Gates said this afternoon that the patient's condition was about the same as it was last night, being still considered grave.

The pneumonia, which has been confined to the left lung until yesterday, when it began to attack the right lung, has not attained any headway, but neither has it receded.

LONDON SOCIETY HURRIES TO COWES

Regatta Week Claims the Eng- Smart Set.

ATTRACTS MONARCHS

Emperor William of Germany and King of Spain Attending Races.

London, July 29.—So far as London is concerned the season is over, and prominent people are almost hourly leaving the metropolis. In a few days' time London, according to unimaginative society chroniclers, will be empty, in spite of the six or seven million people who will remain here in the sweltering heat to attend to humdrum business.

The call of the sea and the cooling breeze that blows off the blue waters of the English Channel is being obeyed by the fortunate owners of yachts, who for the next week or two make Cowes or Ryde, in the Isle of Wight, their headquarters.

For the next few days, indeed, Cowes becomes the social hub, by reason of the Royal Yacht Squadron's regatta, a four days' fixture which commences on Tuesday. Experienced yachtsmen like the Duke of Leeds and Sir Thomas Lipton, together with society dames who hardly know the rudder of a yacht from its masthead, are assembling in the premier yachting town to watch the water Derby.

As usual, a large number of beautiful transatlantic yachts are moored in the Solent off Cowes. The royal family will be there, on board the Britannia, which has been specially fitted out for the ocasion. The presence of the King and Queen in Cowes will impart a note of semi-state to the reception and tea parties in the Royal Yacht Squadron's grounds, where most of the aristocrats who figured in the coronation will be exchanging confidences on the lawn, within view of the yacht-dappled roadstead and the Hampshire hills beyond.

Viscount Acheson, the latest recruit to the Royal Yacht Squadron, is now quite an enthusiast for marine sport, and both he and his beautiful young American wife are expecting great things from their new yawl, "Betty."

Floating Palaces.

But most of the fun of Cowes week centres in the merry parties that meet on the palatial yachts where under the gay awnings the guests of the wealthy owners lounge in deck chairs. Among the floating palaces now moored off Cowes are the Duke of Leeds' "Aries," Lady Michelham's "Miranda," Lord Brassey's "Sunbeam," Lord Rosebery's "Zaida," Miller Mundy's "Narcissus," Empress Eugenie's "Thistle," while Alison Armour's "Udowana" and Colonel and Mrs. Morgan Green's "Boadicea" are daily expected to take up their moorings in the crowded roadstead.

Countess Pappenheim is generally to been seen at Britain's chief yachting fixture. Last year she was the tenant of Gatcombe, one of the most beautiful mansions in the vicinity, while Mrs. Anthony Drexel, Cora, Countess of Strafford, the Duchess of Westminster, Lady Leith of Fyvie, and Mrs. Almeric Paget are renowned for taking a lively and personal interest in yachting.

The King and Queen of England are not the only royalties to grace the great regatta, for the King and Queen of Spain are the guests of Princess Henry of Battenberg at Osborne Cottage, East Cowes. King Alfonso is an enthusiastic yachtsman, and is looking forward to some good sport with his three cutters, "Hispania," "Tonino," and "Giralda," entered for the international regatta at Ryde, which immediately follows the Cowes event. This is the first of a stries of similar fixtures to take place in different countries, and but for King Edward's death would have been held last season. A good many society people will linger longer than usual in the Isle of Wight to witness this great event, for all the competitors in it are notable people.

Kaiser Will Be There.

The German Emperor will try for fresh honors with his cracks, "Meteor" and "Germania."

Much satisfaction is felt among all classes of spectators this year at the new rule making it incumbent upon yacht owners to have an official number affixed to the mainsail of each competing yacht, so that with the help of the printed schedule the throngs on shore will have no difficulty in identifying the different competitors. Hitherto only the immediate friends of the yacht owners, or experienced sailors, have been able to do this, and so vital interest in the sport has been confined to a very narrow circle.

WAX FIGURE REPLACED GIRL WHO JILTED HIM

How Rejected Lover Kept Up Illusion He Had Married Girl.

Budapest, July 30.—A remarkable story of a man, having lost the girl he wanted to marry, kept up the illusion that he had married her, is reported here.

Michael Kolossy, a property owner in Kleinpest, had for several years been in love with Malwine Marmorstein, the daughter of a merchant, and noted for her beauty.

Later a bookkeeper named Gaspar fell in love with Malwine and married her. Kolossy took rooms near the Gaspars, and after a few months he seemed to have got over his disappointment. He spent the greater part of the day in his rooms, into which no stranger entered.

Afterward Kolossy began to receive boxes and packages from Paris. These he opened himself, and carefully concealed the contents from his landlady. The latter, in tidying up the rooms, occasionally came across articles of woman's toilet, and one day, when Kolossy was in another part of the house, she peeped into the room in which he spent most of his time and saw Frau Gaspar sitting on a sofa.

She ordered the woman to leave the house. At this point Kolossy appeared and began to laugh. He pointed to the supposed Frau Gaspar. "That is a wax figure," he said; "but tell no one what you have seen, otherwise I will shoot you."

The landlady promised. Kolossy explained that when he made the acquaintance of Malwine Marmostein she gave him her photograph, which he sent to Paris, and ordered a wax figure to be made from it. The story goes that he made love to the wax figure for a year.

Recently Kolossy had a nervous breakdown, showed signs of madness, and was taken to an asylum.

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY IN ONTARIO WILDS

Cashier, of Toledo, and Two Others Perished in Metagami River.

[Canadian Press.]

Toledo, Ohio, July 31.—Details of the death of Carey Close, cashier of the Commercial Savings Bank and Trust Company, of this city, and C. H. Vance, of Tonopah, Nevada, and James Christensen, a Swedish guide, who were drowned in the Matagami River last Friday, reached here last night in a special from L. C. Barlow, a consulting engineer of El Paso, Texas, who was one of the party to escape.

Mr. Close's canoe upset, but he was rescued and carried ashore, where he died from shock and hemorrhage. He had been suffering from heart trouble.

Vance and Christensen were carried over the falls, and their bodies have been recovered. Barlow, in the special, tells of thrilling escapes the party had in making their way down the river. Close met Vance and Barlow and others, who were on a prospecting tour. Their canoes on several occasions were upset in the treacherous streams.

THREE SUDDEN DEATHS.

Toronto, July 31.—Three sudden deaths are recorded today. Herbert E. Lawson, a Toronto man, who went to South Africa as a mining engineer, died yesterday of black-water fever.

Mrs. Wm. Benson, 10 Carlton street, died yesterday after a few minutes' illness of heart failure, and Douglass W. Archibald, of 87 Woodlawn avenue, died Sunday after 24 hours' illness following a stroke.

BUCKS CASE AGAIN.

Washington, July 31.—Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, the labor leaders, were today allowed twenty days by Justice Wright, of the district supreme court in which to answer the charges of contempt against them as contained in a second report of the committee of prosecutors in the Bucks Stove and Range Company case.

SUSPECT RELEASED.

Kiev, Russia, July 31.—Prikhodko, who was arrested as a suspect following an investigation of the mysterious murder of his step-son, Ypshchinsky, was released today. A new investigation of the puzzling case has been intrusted to the courts.

CHAPTER IX.

Dawn.

Donaldson took a cold dip and then carefully dressed himself in fresh clothes. Sleep was out of the question. He had never in his life felt more alert in mind and body. He felt as though he could walk farther, hear farther, see farther than ever before. He was more keenly responsive to the perfume of the roses which were now drooping a bit languidly near the window; he was more alive to the delicate traceries of the ferns which banked one corner of the room; more appreciative of the little marine which he had hung near his dresser, and—more alive to her into whose life Fate had picked him up and hurled him. He felt the warm pressure of her fingers as though they still rested within his; saw the marvellous, quiet beauty of her eyes which had led him so far back into his past. Again out of this past they led him on—on to—he was checked as in his picture of her the ticking clock behind her intruded itself. There stood the sentinel to whom he must give heed. There stood the warning finger pointing to the seventh noon.

He must have more room. He must get out into the dawn—out where he could share these emotions which now surged in upon him with some virginal passion as big and fresh as the new-born day. He crossed to the widow and looked out upon the dormant city. The morning light was just beginning to wash out the dark and to sketch in the outlines of buildings and the gray path of the road between them. He watched the new creation of a world. Around him lay a million souls ready to people it—ready to seize it and make it a part of themselves. In a few hours that dim street would be a bridge over which tens of thousands of people would pass to sorrow, to joy; to poverty, to riches; to hate, to love; to death, to life. That was a drama worth looking at. He must get out and rub shoulders with those who were playing their parts. He, too, must play his part in it.

He descended to the office and left instructions with the night clerk to insist upon a message from whoever might call him up. He would be back, he said, in an hour. He had not walked long before he found the city gently astir with life. Passing cars were soon well filled, traffic fretted the streets lately so quiet, while yawning pedestrians reminded him that there were still those who slept. At the end of thirty minutes more of brisk walking, the sky had melted through the entire gamut of colors, and finally settled into a blinding golden blue. A newsboy clicking out of space like a locust, shouted "Extra!" Donaldson gave little heed to the cry until he heard the word "Riverside," and caught the blatant headlines, "Another Robbery." With an interest growing out of Saul's connection with the case, he skimmed through the story.

Then he tossed his paper away, and took his course back to the hotel, glad to forget that sordid bit of drama, in the movement of the crowd now forcing its way to work. But something was lacking in the spectacle this morning. The play of light and color he still saw, the vibrancy of it he still felt, the dramatic quality of it he still appreciated, but still with the consciousness that it lacked something—that it had gone a bit flat. He no longer felt that princely sense of superiority to it—as though it were a gorgeous pageant upon which he was a mere onlooker. He felt now a harrying sense of responsibility towards it. It was as though they called him to join them. He quickened his pace. He must get back to the hotel and see if any message awaited him.

He caught his breath—he must get back to her. That was it. That was what the hurrying passers-by had called to him. Get back to her—what did the morning count until she became a part of it? It was because she had placed the red-blooded actuality of life before his eyes in contrast to the superficial picturesqueness of its expression as he had viewed it yesterday that the show had lost its vividness. She was making him see it again with eyes as they were at twenty. He recoiled. That way lay danger. He must put himself on guard. But from that moment he had but one object in mind—to get back to her as soon as possible.

A telephone message waiting him from Chung reported that no trace had been found of the boy.

He jumped at once into a cab and went to the Arsdale house. Miss Arsdale herself came to the door, her eyes heavy from lack of sleep, but her face lighting instantly at sight of him.

"You have no news?" she exclaimed.

"No," he answered directly.

She was a woman with whom one might be direct.

"No news may be good news," he added. "They haven't been able to locate him in Chinatown. I don't think there is a nook in which he could hide from those people."

"Then," she exclaimed, "he has gone to Cranton."

"Then," he answered, deliberately, "I will follow him there."

"No ,I couldn't allow you. It is two hours from town. You have already given generously of your time."

"Miss Arsdale," he said gently, "we of the inner woods must stand by each other. This week is a sort of vacation for me. I am quite free."

Yes, she was she he had seen through the tops of the whispering pines when he had thought it nothing but the blue sky; she was she who had brushed close to him when he had thought it only the rustling of dry leaves. Now that she stood beside him, his heart cried out: "Why did you not come before? Why did you not come a week ago?" If she could have stood for one brief second in that dingy office which had slowly closed in upon him until it squeezed the soul out of him, then he would have forced the walls back again. If only once she had walked by his side through the crowds, then he would have caught their cry in time. The world had narrowed down to a pin prick, but if only she had come a scant two days ago, she would have bent his eye to this tiny aperture as to the small end of a telescope, as she did now, and made him see big enough to grasp the meaning of life.

Well, the past was dead—even with her eyes magnifying the days to eternities; the past was dead, even with the delicate poise of her lips ready to utter prophecies. He must not forget that, and in remembering this he must choose this opportunity for exiling himself from her for the day. The mission would consume some six hours. It would take him out of the city where he would be able to think more clearly. This was well.

"Have you any idea how the trains run?" he inquired.

"I looked them up. There is one at 9.32."

"I can make it easily," he answered, glancing at the big clock. He had left his own watch at the hotel. He refused to carry so grim a reminder. "I suppose I'll have no trouble in finding the place."

"You would ask for the Arsdale bungalow," she answered. "Every one there knows it. But the chances are so slight—it is only that his father went out there once. After several days Jacques, Marie's boy and father's servant, found him hidden in the unused cottage. I thought that possibly Ben might remember this."

"I should say that it was more than probable that he would go there if his object is to keep in hiding."

"It is three miles from the station and quite secluded."

"That will make a good walk for me." He rose to leave at once. But she, too, rose.

"If you think it best to go," she said firmly, "then I must go, too. I could not remain here passive another day. And, besides, if he is there, it is better that I should be with you. I know how to handle him. He is always gentle with me."

Answers to Beauty Queries

Pink Circles.

Dear Miss Grey:—I am 14 years old and for about three years I have had pink circles under my eyes. Not dark, but a pink or light purple. It disfigures my whole face. Can you tell me what causes them, and what I can do for them?
LILLIAN.

A.—Frequently persons with exceptionally transparent skins have this delicate coloring beneath their eyes. Once in a while, poor circulation of the blood will cause the circles under the eyes. In this case exercise and massage are prescribed.

To Prevent Tanning.

Dear Miss Grey:—Kindly give me a recipe to prevent tanning.
A BATHING GIRL.

A.—It is impossible to prevent tanning altogether unless one refrains from going out in the sun; but this cannot be expected of our athletic girls of today. However, a little precaution will help some. Before going out in the sun apply a good quality of cold cream and sprinkle over it powder of an excellent variety. Upon returning home remove the cream and powder with soap and water and bathe the face in milk.

To Remove a Wart.

Dear Miss Grey:—Can you give me a simple remedy for removing a seed wart from my hand?

I have hairs on my arms which are very black. What can I do to bleach them?
MINNET.

Here is the recipe for a wart eradicator::

Sublimed sulphur	120 grains
Glycerine	5 fluid drams
Acetic acid	1 fluid dram

Apply repeatedly to each wart, continuing the treatment for several days. The warts dry up and then drop off.

Apply peroxide to the hairs every day.

To Whiten the Teeth.

Dear Miss Grey:—I should like to know what I can use to make my eyelashes and eyebrows grow. 2. What will whiten my teeth?
BLONDE.

A.—Apply vaseline to them with a camel's hair brush daily. 2. Milk of magnesia will whiten the teeth.

To Whiten the Skin.

Dear Miss Grey:—Will you kindly publish a recipe for whitening the skin and suggest something to make it smooth? I should also like to know if there is anything that will reduce the size of the nose.
A READER.

A.—To whiten the skin, bathe it in milk every day. Occasionally apply lemon juice. This will make the skin smooth as well as bleach it. 2. I do not think you can do anything to reduce the size of your nose. The structure is already formed and any attempt to lessen its size will result in a deformed nose.

Correspondence

Dear Miss Grey—1. Is it proper to leave a calling card under the door if the people are not at home? 2. What should one say to a girl graduate?
MARTHA.

A.—1. Yes. 2 "Let me offer my congratulations."

Recipe For Macaroons.

Dear Miss Grey—Please give recipes for macaroons and for rolled cookies.
SUBSCRIBER.

A.—Macaroons—Mix 1½ cups of almond meal with stiffly-beaten whites of 2 eggs. Add a little more powder if necessary, drop from teaspoon on buttered pan, and bake 20 minutes in slow oven. Rolled cookies—Cream ¼ cup butter, add ½ cup powdered sugar, 2 well-beaten eggs, 2 tablespoons cream, ¾ cup flour and 1 teaspoon flavoring. Mix thoroughly, spread very thin on greased pan in oblong patches, sprinkle with shredded almonds, bake in slow oven, remove from pan while warm and curl into rolls over a round stick.

Not Worth the Worry.

Dear Miss Grey—Some time ago I met a young man who was here on a business engagement with my employer. After his departure we correspond for a while, then our letter-writing was suddenly stopped. Recently I mentioned it to one of his friends, who told me that my correspondent had received letters from friends of mine who told him that I had a questionable character and advised him to keep at a distance. Several times I have attempted to write him for an explanation, but my courage failed me. What do you advise?
MISS L. N. R.

A.—Don't write him if he owes you a letter. He would think less of you for it. The best thing you can do is to live so that these so-called "friends" of yours can do you no harm by their gossip. Your correspondent is not worth worrying about, since he apparently is willing to accept their estimate of your character, instead of trusting to his own judgment. Just forget him and turn your thoughts toward someone more worthy of your friendship.

Here the people of the village pass many a pleasant evening listening to the music provided. Once a year Mrs. Riggs gives a night's reading in the hall, for which a fee is charged. The proceeds go toward the up-keep of the village "meeting house," which the authorities attend regularly.

SMITH'S HEAVING BLANKS ST. THOMAS

Samuel Allows Visitors But Two Bingles and Scores a Shutout.

BRANT'S GREAT CATCH

Little Shortstop Hauls Down Pill With Two on the Sacks—Score 3 to 0

Sammy Smith had one of his good days on Saturday, and as a result, "Chawser" Elliott's Saints did not have a look in. He smeared them with a lovely dose of kalsomine, allowing them but two hits, one of them a very scratchy one. "Dummy" Conley twirled a great game, but in the seventh and eighth the locals got to him, and pounded out three runs, more than enough to win the game. There was a fine array of bugs at the doings.

There was one play during the afternoon that stands out more prominently than any spectacular doings that have taken place in the grounds during many moons, a wonderful catch of Brant's in the seventh innings. The fans here are accustomed to seeing this lad perform all sorts of fielding feats, but the hair-raising catch of Saturday was the finest, and it is doubtful if a better play will be seen this year.

Brant the Wonder Worker.

For six innings the Saints had gone out in order, 18 men facing Smith. In the seventh, he hit Graney, the first man up. Forgue sacrificed him up. Gurney was safe on an infield hit that bounced badly for Brant. Kopp, one of the hardest hitters on the St. Thomas team, picked out a nice one and smashed it out. It went on a line between short and second. Brant made a race for it, jumped into the air, and it hit in his gloved hand. The ball stuck there, and he tossed it to Nichols for a double play. He could have had a triple play, had it been necessary.

It was a remarkable catch, and the crowd howled itself hoarse. They can talk about their Grieves and their Camerons, but this boy Brant is playing as steady and reliable ball as any of them in this league and many others. He covers acres of ground, and is there with the timely hit.

The game on the whole was an exceedingly brilliant one, replete with sensational fielding features. Wilde, of the Saints, made a stop off Keenan that was nothing short of porch climbing, and Forgue made some great stops.

Bierbauer Was Good.

Bierbauer again distinguished himself by heady playing. His hit Friday helped some, and Saturday he started the rally that won the game. His hit also scored the last run in the ninth. This boy is a good ball player.

Perhaps Samuel Smith did not pitch good ball! He has shown many nice articles since coming here, but on Saturday he was better than ever.

He had steam, fast breaking curves, a change of pace—in fact everything that a good pitcher should have. Up to the seventh, nothing that looked like a hit was made. In that inning a ball hit to Brant made a false bound, preventing him from fielding it cleanly, and this had to be given as a hit.

In the eighth, Wright hit over Nichols' head, after Smith had struck him out. "Doony" Hardy presented him with this one. Not a man got past second. Graney reached that station twice—once when he was hit and sacrificed along, and the other time when he was given a base on balls, and sent up.

A Gilt-edge Catcher.

Smith was well supported by McWhirter. This boy has improved 100 per cent. since coming here, and is showing form equal to the best in this league. His hitting was fine on Saturday. He garnered three of the seven tallied against the visitors.

"Dummy" Conley pitched airtight ball, as he always does in this town. He had his spitter doing all sorts of fancy tricks, and the Home Folks had much difficulty in getting to him.

In the fifth the locals had a chance, but good pitching kept them away. The bases were jammed with two out, and Keenan up. It looked easy, but Jo-Jo forced Kyle at second.

Put On Ice.

In the seventh, the game was laid away. Bierbauer, the first man up, cut a daisy to left. McWhirter bunted, and when Dummy Conley hesitated where to make the throw, he beat him to first. Sammy Smith fanned, while Kyle was called out on some doubtful strikes. This brought Keenan up again in the pinch and he made good. He got a good one, and slammed it to center. Bierbauer scored, and McWhirter followed when Graney's bad toss to the plate jumped past Welsh. The latter threw badly to catch McWhirter, and Jo-Jo went to third. Keenan on the second ball made an attempt to steal home. He had the play beaten, but Hardy could not see it.

The End.

In the eighth another was added for good measure. With two gone, Greene got a life on Forgue's fumble. Bill Lane shot one over second, and Bierbauer shot another single to left, scoring Green. McWhirter walked, filling the cushions, but Sammy Smith fanned.

Chawser Elliott and Killingsworth were emergency hitters in the ninth, but were easy victims.

The work of Dooney Hardy as umpire was very bad, and the players kidded him for further orders. He has been bad during the last series in this fair city.

Well, it was some ball game as the statistics will show.

LATE BASEBALL AT GUELPH SATURDAY

Schuman Pitched Leafs to Victory Over Hamilton—Peacock Released.

Guelph, July 29. — The Hamilton Kolts made their second appearance of the season here this afternoon, and were defeated by the Maple Leafs by a score of 3 to 1. It was "boosters' day," and a big crowd was on hand early to see the game, but it was 5:30 o'clock before play was called.

The Hamilton team endeavored to come to Guelph by means of a big sightseeing automobile, but they became stalled. The fans waited patiently in their seats for over two hours, and were rewarded by seeing one of the finest games of ball played here this season. Schuman, the big pitcher from Buffalo, was on the rubber for the Leafs, and he certainly delivered the goods all right. He not only pitched good ball, but drove in the winning runs in the eighth with a clean home-run wallop. He fielded his position perfectly and made a great hit with the fans.

Hits Well Placed.

Rose also pitched a good game for Hamilton, but all of the hits counted in the run column. Hamilton scored first in the opening inning on two safe hits, but Guelph tied the score in the next inning, when big Sam Richardson hit for a clean home run. There was nothing more doing until the eighth, when Schuman won his own game, after McLaughlin had singled to centre. The game ended with a fast double play, with two Hamilton runners on the bases and one out.

Peacock and Sterling, of Guelph, were both given their releases tonight. London plays here Monday and Tuesday and the Leafs hope to capture both games. The score:

LEAFS WIN PAIR FROM NEWARK CREW

Kelleyites Make the String of Victories Sixteen in a Row.

BIRDS BEAT THE ROYALS

Great Saturday Contest Won By Toronto From Jersey City.

Newark, N. J., July 30—Toronto continued its uninterrupted string of victories today by taking both parts of a double-header from the Newark Indians, and making sixteen consecutive wins, a season record. The scores were 5 to 1 and 4 to 1. A crowd of about 5,500 witnessed the bargain attraction.

Wyatt Lee, once a terror to Toronto, opposed the Leafs in the first encounter, while Kid Mueller twirled for the Kelleyites. Bob Holmes faced the mound for eight sessions in the second exhibition, while Boice twirled the ninth inning. Tesreau went all the way for Toronto. Lee was puzzling to the Leafs for a while, and had barrels of luck. In the fifth inning of the first game O'Hara, Delahanty and Jordan got on before a man had been retired, yet Lee got out of it without being scored upon. Mueller, on the other hand, had everything, and allowed four bingles, while his team-mates tripled this number.

THE REDS DROP A PAIR

St. Louis Cardinals Blanked By New York—Saturday's Scores.

Chicago, July 30.—The Phillies won a great ninth-inning victory today, beating the Cubs, 2 to 1, before a tremendous crowd that overflowed the stands. It was nip and tuck until the ninth, when Knabe opened with a double that rolled into the left field crowd. Paskert lined out, but Lobert drove out the hit that gave the victory to the Phillies and put the Cubs within striking distance of both the Quaker City lads and the Giants. Richie and Moore started the battle, and the latter gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth with the score a tie, so that Alexander, who took up the burden, is credited with the victory. Seckard, in four trips to the plate, was not charged with a time at bat. He walked the first three and sacrificed the last time up. Score:

BLUE RIBBON MEETING OPENS AT DETROIT TODAY

Branham Boughman Is Favored for Chamber of Commerce Stake.

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—An excellent card is presented by the Detroit Driving Club for the opening this afternoon of the Grand Circuit five-day race meeting at the state fair grounds.

While interest naturally centres in the classic Chamber of Commerce $5,000 stake for 2:13 class pacers, the other events on the programme bring together some of the best-known horses of the light harness world.

Eight starters, all but one of which, Birtle, have already been seen in action on the Grand Circuit this year, are in the big race. On the strength of his performances at Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids, Branham Baughman holds first place in popular favor, but he has a strong rival in Vernon McKinney, by whom he was beaten in the first two heats of their Grand Rapids clash. Other contestants for the prize are Akar, the Geers entry; Fanny Stanton, Peter Preston, Peter the Second, and Sir R.

The Events.

Following are the events that are to be raced today, beginning at 2 o'clock, and the horses that will start:

2:19 trot, 3 in 5, purse $1,000—Areo, Barney B., Carol Bells, Dr. Archdale, Dolly S., Elizabeth Ray, Gordon Todd, Judge Stowe, Lady McKinney, Lady Willow, Miss Cresceus, Neva Todd, Sid Anna, Waponee.

Chamber of Commerce stake, 2:13 class, 3 in 5 heats, $5,000—Akar, Birtle, Branham Baughman, Fanny Stanton, Peter Preston, Peter the Second, Sir R., Vernon McKinney.

2:07 trot, 2 in 3, purse $1,000—Billy Burke, Dudie Archdale, Grace, Nancy Royce, Soprano, Spanish Queen, Sterling McKinney.

2:08 pace, 2 in 3, purse $1,000—Don, Gordon Prince, jun., Hal B., jun., Ontime, Princess Hal, Star King, Sunny Jim, Woodbower Burns.

PENISA MAID DIES AT GRAND RAPIDS

Rod McKenzie's Great Little Trotter Succumbs at Comstock Park.

PURCHASED RECENTLY

Canadian Took a Fancy to Speedy Wonder and Paid Big Money For Her.

Detroit, July 31.—Hard luck has been following the Mackenzie stable for some months scored a telling blow early yesterday morning when the grand little mare Penisa Maid, 2:04¼, died at Comstock Park, Grand Rapids, where she was buried in the infield in the afternoon. R. J. Mackenzie, the rich Winnipeg sportsman, had come on to Detroit a day in advance of his horses, but hearing of the condition of Penisa Maid he hurried back Friday night, arriving after the death of this splendid trotter.

In 1909 there were few trotters that could measure strides with this rather diminutive mare. She won the Transylvania and a number of big events and was expected to be a star last year, but she did not train well, so little was done with her. This spring she came along so fast at Memphis that when he had moved north as far as Indianapolis her former owner M. D. Shutt, accepted a flattering offer from Mr. Mackenzie for Penisa Maid and several other trotters. The amount of the transaction has been given all the way from $15,000 to $35,000, and at the time it was announced that Mr. Mackenzie had bought the mare for a wedding present for his wife.

Worked In 2:03.

Penisa Maid trained on and worked in about 2:03 at Indianapolis. She won the free-for-all trot at Grand Rapids in 2:01½. It was after she had been on the track Friday that she showed signs of ailing and when it was plain that her condition was serious the veterinaries were summoned. Nothing seemed to do her any good and she died at about 1 o'clock in the morning. The autopsy disclosed a compound fracture of the pelvic bone which caused the fatal hemorrhages.

Penisa Maid was one of the fastest trotters in training. Uhlan and The Harvester being the only ones that have shown greater speed. She was to have started in the free-for-all trot at the blue ribbon meeting, and while her death is regretted, her absence will tend to make a better contest of the event.

Real Hard Luck.

The mishaps to the Mackenzie stable have been numerous. Trainer James crossed the great divide with a wonderful lot of speed but soon after his arrival in the middle states one of his trotters died. Then the best one of his M. and M. candidates, Bert Kelly, went wrong. In June the pacer Joe Patchen II. surprised the world by working in 2:03¾, looking to have the Chamber of Commerce stake at his mercy, but early this month he met with an accident which threw him out of training.

Mr. Mackenzie has many friends on the grand circuit all of whom sympathize with him, particularly in the loss of Penisa Maid, which was his favorite in the stable.

MORE RECORDS FOR B. BURMAN

Wild Fellow Shows Quaker Folks How He Won His Reputation.

Philadelphia, July 31.—"Bob" Burman, in an exhibition mile with his Blitzen Benz, today lowered the Point Breeze track record of 53 4-5. The record was held by Barney Oldfield. Burman's performance was the feature of the Quaker City Motor club's races at the track.

There was an ugly spill in the 10-mile handicap in which four cars were mixed up. Harry Baker, while driving a Metz at high speed, struck an Opal car. A second later a Kline car ploughed into the Metz and the Opal, and then another Kline car dashed into the wreck. Charles Kinken of this city, mechanician for Baker, was thrown out and run over by one of the Kline cars. At the hospital it was found that his collarbone had been broken and he had sustained severe internal injuries.

ALBERT SECKEL WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats Gardner in Conflict for National Title—Champ Is a Wonder.

Detroit, July 30.—Albert Seckel is the new amateur champion of the Western Golf Association, having earned the title yesterday at the Detroit Golf club by defeating Robert Gardner in hollow style eight up and seven to go. The match ended the week's tournament. Seckel won by playing probably the most wonderful golf in the past two days that has ever been seen on any link in this country. Experts of the game who have followed it for years and who have seen the grate tournaments in this country and England, declared yesterday that the young Chicagoan's work bordered on the miraculous. And their opinion wasn't far from wrong, for there is no beating a man who can hole 100-foot putts, who on Friday made a 68, establishing a new amateur and professional record for the course, and who yesterday afternoon again equalled the old record—71.

AL. BRIDWELL COMES TO TERMS

Boston, July 31.—Outfielder Jackson of the Memphis team in the Southern league was purchased today by the Boston Nationals. He is expected to report at the end of the Southern league season.

Rumors that Al Bridwell was unwilling to play longer with the Boston club and that he was dissatisfied with the trade that took him from New York, were set at rest today when Bridwell's signed contract was received at the club offices. Bridwell will join the Boston team in Cincinnati.

TWO FAST GAMES IN EAST END LEAGUE

St. Johns Trounced Jubilees, While St. Marys Battered McClarys.

Clark, of St. John's A. C., held the Jubilees to four scattered hits and won out 5 to 3, in the opening session of the East End League on Saturday.

It was a great day for the Saints in the amateur ranks, even if Chaucer Elliott's men were whitewashed at Tecumseh Park, for St. Marys raked McClarys and annexed the second battle, 4 to 2. The scores:

"POP" COULON IS DEAD AT CHICAGO

Father of Bantamweight Champ. Johnny Passes Away.

Chicago, July 30.—E. E. Coulon, known to followers of the boxing game as "Pop," father and manager of Johnny Coulon, the bantamweight champion, died here today. Two weeks ago he underwent an operation for hernia and was thought to be out of danger. Early this afternoon, however, he suffered a sudden relapse and death followed a few hours later.

He was born in the old Fourth Ward in New York City, and was 54 years old. He leaves a widow, four sons and three daughters.

KRAMER BEATEN BY JACK CLARK

Cycle Sprinting Champion Is Led By Twenty-Five Yards in Five-Mile Race.

Newark, N. J., July 30.—Jackie Clarke, won his last scheduled match bicycle race with Frank Kramer, the national champion, by 25 yards today. The event was for five miles and the riders were kept at top speed by five pacemakers who alternated at half-mile intervals. Clarke's time was 7:48. Clarke also won the three-mile race by a good margin from Joe Fogler and John Bedell, in the order named, in 6:02 2-5.

Worthington Mitten, of Davenport, Iowa, with a handicap of 50 yards, won the two-thirds miles handicap. Time, 1:14 2-5.

TROTS TO NEW RECORD OVER AURORA COURSE

Joe Bowers Sets a World's Mark for Three Miles on Half-Mile Track.

Aurora, Ill., July 29.—The sensation of the getaway day here was the remarkable performance of the stallion Joe Bowers, who established another world's trotting mark by stepping three miles on a half-mile track in 2:10¾, 2:10¼ and 2:10¼.

This is the best on record for a stallion on a half-mile track. Joe Bowers is not a big horse, stands about fifteen hands, a son of Symboleer, and is owned by Frank McKee, of Oklahoma, and driven by F. E. Wickersham, of Arkansas City, Kan. He never made a mistake in three heats, and with only one contender was not forced out.

ONE-MILE SWIM RECORD GOES.

London, July 29.—The one-mile championship of the Amateur Swimming Association was won here today by H. Taylor, in 23 minutes 35 1-5 seconds, a new record. The previous record in open water was 24:61 3-5.

THE YOUNG SCOTS WANT HOME RULE

Issue an Appeal to Strike for "Scottish Liberty"

AUSTIN INSULTS NATION

Pictures Hosts As Gulping Whiskey, and is Called Liar by Cleric.

Edinburgh, July 30.—A nice question in ethics—or manners — has been rasied by a passage in the recently published autobiography of Alfred Austin, the English poet laureate. Describing a visit he made to Irvine, in Scotland, to unveil a monument to Robert Burns, he says the following compliment to the hospitality of his hosts:

"On my arrival I spent the evening with the local authorities, and at the supper or early dinner, to which they treated me as a guest, I fear they must have thought me a poor creature, unless they were familiar with southern ways—for I drank sparingly according to my custom, while they, to my amazement, tossed off glass after glass of whiskey neat, remaining just as sober as when we sat down."

Austin "Called Down."

Here is what Rev. Henry Ranken, Church of Scotland minister of Irvine, who was one of the party, says about it:

"This is a fine example of poetic imagination, I was present on that occasion, Mr. Austin was entertained by the late Provost Breckenridge. I do not know what Mr. Austin drank. It is not, and in my experience, it never has been, the habit of the 'local authorities' to 'toss off glass after glass of whiskey.' It certainly was not the case that night. Further, those hardy drinkers — according to Mr. Austin—would not have the hardihood to drink whiskey 'neat.' There is one part of his story true—they were 'just as sober as before we sat down.' So they were, for an obvious reason: they happened to be well-bred men."

Quite a polite way of saying "liar."

The visit to Edinburgh and Holyrood Palace of King George and Queen Mary has had the result of starting an agitation for a new royal residence in Edinburgh and for an annual royal visit.

In the Royal Hotel, Princess street, the members of the Association of Edinburgh Royal Tradesmen held a dinner to celebrate the coronation. Dr. Hunter, in proposing the toast of the Edinburgh Royal Tradesmen's Association, said that they were a link with those distant days when Scottish kings had lived in Edinburgh. Treasurer Leishman said he considered the visit of the King a most important function, and hoped the King would visit Edinburgh more frequently than in the past. Edinburgh must not become a back number. A new palace was needed for Edinburgh, and it would not cost an enormous sum. It was Scotland's due. He considered Craigmillar would be a sutable site. It was a question the importance of which they should press on the powers that be. And undoubtedly it will be pressed.

The national council of the Young Scots Society has issued a manifesto and appeal to the Scottish people, dealing with Scottish home rule. It is explained that, while this question is in the forefront of the society's programme, it has been superceded of late by the campaign against the House of Lords. Now, however, they propose to renew their old fight with all the resources at their command. Various arguments for home rule are set forth in the manifesto, special attention being given to the neglect of Scottish legislation and to the growing evils of depopulation in the country districts.

The destruction of the veto of the peers, the grant of home rule to Ireland, and the consequent change in the constitution give to Scotland, says the manifesto, a great opportunity to regain freedom. The society is raising a fund to enable it to carry on the campaign with increasing energy, and this appeal "is made to every member of the Scottish race to rally to the cause of his country, and assist in the struggle that lies ahead."

Scotland's Navy.

At one time Scotland had a navy of its own, and a reminder of this was furnished by one of the decorated tramcars which figured in the recent coronation procession in Glasgow. This car was designed to show a vessel of the sixteenth century, and was the work of Messrs. Claud Hamilton, Limited, Glasgow and Aberdeen, who were at considerable pains to give a suggestion of what the "Great St. Michael" was like. It was James IV., who first created an effective navy for Scotland, exhausting all available timber for shipbuilding, so that he had to ask France and Denmark for more; and of the sixteen large and ten small ships he owned his special pride was the vessel just named, the largest then existing. To build this dreadnought of that day all the woods of Fife were laid waste. It cost $150,000, an enormous value in those times, had a crew of 300 sailors, 120 gunners and 1,000 marines, with "more great ordnance in her than the French king ever had to the siege of any town," as James himself boasted.

In connection with the coronation celebrations at Linlithgow, it has been ascertained that one of the oldest inhabitants of the town, Mrs. Yorkston, who resides in High street, has lived during the reigns of no fewer than six British sovereigns. Mrs. Yorkston, who is still in possession of all her faculties, has reached the age of 97 years, having been born in 1814. She has thus lived under the rule of the following monarchs: George III., George IV., William IV., Victoria, Edward VII. and George V.

DETROIT DOCTOR CHEPSTOW'S PET

Operation of Bacon Manuscript Hunter Profitable to Town.

TOURISTS FLOCK THERE

To See Physician With the Elastic Shakespearean Cypher.

London, July 30.—There is one town in England where they believe Bacon was Shakespeare. In Chepstow, in Monmouthshire, the inhabitants to a man are ready to swear Bacon wrote all the plays attributed to Shakespeare, and it is an equally firm articles of faith that the manuscripts of these plays are buried somewhere in the mud at the bottom of the River Wye in Chepstow, and that Dr. Orville W. Owen, of Detroit, Mich., is going to dig them up some day.

Chepstow Clings to Owen.

Dr. Owen is a Chepstow institution, and Chepstow would rather part with the Duke of Beaufort, who owns it and most of the country about it, than with Dr. Owen. The duke never brought hordes of American tourists in automobiles to spend good money in the town and incidentally to look at the holes Dr. Owen is making in the Wye. There have been Dukes of Beaufort for hundreds of years, but they have only taken money out of Chepstow. There is only one Dr. Owen, and he is making the fortunes of a score of innkeepers.

Dr. Owen has been at work in Chepstow for two years. He came with a cypher which he had extracted from Shakespeare's works—or Bacon's—indicating, he says, exactly where certain manuscripts were buried by Bacon, who once lived in Chepstow Castle, and he interested the Duke of Beaufort, who allowed him to dig in the bed of the river, and even supplied some of the money needed, and continued to support him until recently.

Duke Tires of the Expense.

A few weeks ago the duke got tired of putting up money and getting no manuscripts, but he has no objection to Dr. Owen digging all the holes he likes in the bed of his river, and Dr. Owen is still digging.

Cyphers are peculiar things. Dr. Owen's is a most adaptable cypher. The doctor has dug up the Wye for nearly a mile, and each hole was exactly indicated by the cypher. When a hole failed to pan out the accommodating cypher indicated a new hole. The nearest he came to finding anything was when he struck a coffin-shaped wooden structure under the mud. Now the cypher said that the manuscripts were contained in just such a structure in that exact spot, but the structure turned out to be the remains of a Roman bridge, and then the cypher pointed to a spot close to the water gate of the castle, and there Dr. Owen, still full of hope, is digging now.

King Plans for India.

The next great event for which King George and Queen Mary are preparing is, of course, the Indian durbar, and much of the equipment has been dispatched, including the travelling and reception tents, which have been made after the model of, but more extensive than, those made for the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia during their African tour.

Delhi-ke-Bashab is the title with which the king-emperor will be hailed at the durbar.

King George will be the first of the English to be crowned Delhi-ke-Bashab. He himself will perform the act of crowning, as no religious ceremony is possible in a land full of so many jarring creeds as is India.

For King George and Queen Mary special crowns are being made at the crown jewelers'. They will be assumed by them witih their own hands at the durbar on Dec. 12.

The King and Queen will be in Delhi from Dec. 7 to Dec. 16. The King then leaves for a shooting expedition in Nepaul, when he will be the guest in a shooting camp of the Maharajah, the Queen remaining in Agra.

Among the ceremonies fixed is a state entry into Delhi, presentation of the inevitable addresses and the reception of several thousand Indians in a pavilion on the historic ridge, where the British camp was during the mutiny days.

Canada, now that it is no longer "terra incognita" to Englishmen, thanks to promised reciprocity and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, will have many visitors from this kingdom. The Duke of Sutherland and his party, which will include one or more English legislators, all eager to see the wonders of the Canadian West, will leave England on board the Olympic on Aug. 9.

They will travel from New York by river, canal and lake to Fort William, on Lake Superior, aboard the duke's yacht, the Catania; thence they will visit the properties which the duke has acquired in the Western Provinces.

Queen-Mother Alexandra has let it become known to her friends that she intends to prolong her period of mourning. She will not be seen at any theatres, nor will she participate in any other gayeties for some months to come.

STEFFENS MOURNS FOR HIS COUNTRY

Says United States Hasn't a Noble Ideal to Its Name.

London, July 31.—The fundamental trouble with America, said Lincoln Steffens, the magazinist and muck-raker, who has just been here with a party of leading American business men, "has been pointed out best of all by H. G. Wells. He said we were a people without a national purpose, meaning, of course, a conscious purpose.

"I would put it another way: that we are a people without an ideal, unwilling to accept, or even consider a noble ideal of national life; that we will not listen to any competent, rational scheme either of development or reform. I think that is true of England, too, by the way. I think the English, like ourselves, are showing great reluctance to fashion out and follow a definite stable policy. Both nations seem to prefer to groope along just at present, like a blind man with just enough vision to keep out of the way of any little obstacle he might find in his path. From my study of American politics I am convinced we have got to get an ideal, and since we won't look for a big one; since the dream of Thomas Jefferson seems too great to be realized—although it isn't—we must look for a little one."

NEW VIEWS OF SPORT

Germans Loocking Into the Literary and Scientific Side.

Dresden, July 31.—The sports section is one of the most interesting departments of the international hygienic exhibition now in progress here.

Well known physicians, distinguished naval and military men, teachers, etc., are of opinion that sport will take a prominent part in the hygiene of nations. One thing only is wanted; a scientific basis, which will prove beyond doubt the importance which should be attached to sport in connection with the general public health.

The administration of the international hygiene exhibition has found a remedy by erecting a special sporting hall and sporting laboratory. Well known literary and professional men lecture on this subject and by pointing out the importance of a proper training—which is so often misunderstood by people—will pave the way for sound and healthy sport.

Numerous sporting events at the exhibition furnish material for various kinds of sport and physiological examinations extend to amthropometry, X-rays, respiratory organs, circulation of the blood, etc.

The hygienic and scientific department of the sporting exhibition will also try to lay the foundation for a sporting physiology and hygiene in accordance with the spirit of the age by introducing various objects, appliances, models, results of examinations, etc.

The bibliography of sport, issued by the sporting exhibition will act as a guide for literary studies.

NORTH ESSEX LIBERALS LAUNCH THE CAMPAIGN

Many Mass Meetings Arranged and a Convention on August 12.

Windsor, July 30.—The presence of Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways and canals, in this city, lent more than usual importance to the meeting of the executive committee of the North Essex Liberals, which was held at the Crawford House here yesterday afternoon to fix a date for holding the convention. The visit of the minister was entirely unexpected, he having come to Detroit on some personal business, at the conclusion of which he was escorted to the Crawford House by a deputation of prominent Liberals.

In a short address Hon. Mr. Graham outlined the present unusual political situation, dwelt at some length upon the reciprocity agreement, particularly from the viewpoint of such border counties as Essex, and closed with a prediction that the Government was going to the people fully confident that it will be triumphantly returned to power on Sept. 21.

After some discussion the executive committee fixed on Saturday, Aug. 12, as the date for holding the convention, which will select a candidate for the Dominion House. Mass meetings will also be arranged for in all subdivisions of the riding on Wednesday, Aug. 9, when delegates to the convention will be selected. Under the new constitution, Windsor will be entitled to send 57 delegates to the convention, and the balance of the riding will contribute 99, and indications are that there will be a full representation in attendance when Mr. John Cousineau, vice-president of the North Essex Liberal Association, calls the delegates to order on Aug. 12.

DIES IN THE JAIL

Englishman Succumbs to Consumption in Sarnia Cell.

Sarnia, July 30.—T. H. Carrothers, aged 35 years, died in the Sarnia jail of a hemorrhage between 1 and 2 o'clock today. He was seized suddenly and died before medical aid could be summoned.

Carrothers came from England two years ago. He was a sufferer from consumption, and though sober and industrious he became destitute and was taken to the Sarnia Hospital. However, nothing could be done for him. Lambton County has no sanatorium for consumptives, and lately Carrothers slept in the police station.

An inquest was opened today by Coroner Dr. Logie.

WINGHAM EXCURSION A GRAND SUCCESS

Over 900 Attended the Sunday School Outing to Goderich.

Wingham, July 31.—The regular Sunday school excursion was held in Kincardine last week. The weather being fine a large crowd attended. The Wingham Brass Band was in attendance. Over 900 tickets were sold in Wingham alone.

The heavy wind last week left a larger quantity of fruit on the ground and did damage to quite a number of young trees which were heavily loaded.

Mr. Holy, one of Wingham's young men, has left the town and taken up a course in the business college in London under the direction of Mr. Spottom, principal, who is also of Wingham. He was an active worker in the Baptist Church here and in the choir, and also B. Y. P. U. His friends wish him success in his undertaking.

At present there are quite a number on the sick list. Among those are Mr. Lockie McLean and Mrs. John Smith. Both are doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Fred Johnston is in the hospital here having gone through an operation. She is still in a critical condition.

Mr. E. Lewis, who takes charge of the L. H. and B. train, which lays over here very night and Sunday, has resigned his position, and is going as night-watchman for the town. His successor is Mr. Lyditt.

Mr. and Mrs. Sneath were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Layton Pidd, of London, last week.

Mr. Pringle, manager of the Mitt and Glove Works here has about completed his barn, having recently purchased a horse and rig for his daughter.

Some of the furniture factories here are obliged to work overtime on account of rush of orders.

Dr. Agnew, wife and family, who have been on a vacation through the west and other points, returned home last week.

Mr. Russell Fixture was in town under the parental roof last week and has again returned to London where he holds a position in the G. T. R. freight offices.

Mr. Joseph Gibson one day last week was holding a horse when the animal became startled by a passing automobile, and upset the rig. In some manner Mr. Gibson got struck with one of the shafts and had one of his ribs broken. He is doing nicely at present, but will be laid up for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield and Mr. Winfield's mother have returned to the west. They have been here visiting friends for the past three weeks. Miss May Moore has gone with them for a month's vacation.

The Rev. E. R. Fitch and wife, of Toronto, are visiting friends here during his vacation.

Mr. Treleaven, superintendent of the G. T. R. carshops, London, paid Wingham a flying visit last week.

Mrs. Geo. Mason and family, who have been visiting at Bayfield for the past five weeks, have returned home again. Mrs. Mason is much improved in health.

Rev. G. V. Collins, of the Baptist Church, preached a very strong sermon last night. His text from Daniel v., 27: "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." Rev. Mr. Fitch, of Toronto, will occupy the pulpit at both services two weeks from next Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Fitch was the former pastor of this church. He assisted in the services last night.

Mr. Roy Mundy, of Stratford, acted as organist, the former organist being absent.

STREETS OF INGERSOLL MUCH TOO WILD

Police Chief Goodhand Says They Must Be Cleaned Up.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, July 31.—Rev. J. H. Fenton, of Hamilton, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist Church here Sunday evening and rendered a very inspiring sermon on the "Crime of Being Ashamed of the Gospel of Christ." He took as his text, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ."

Mr. Ross Cotter, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Brantford, spent the week-end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Minhinnick are spending their vacation with their daughter, Mrs. Angus, in Toronto.

Mr. Warren Whitcombe, of the Sarnia Post, was calling on friends in town.

Chief Goodhand in on the warpath after people who are not cutting the weeds in front of their premises. On Charles street east the weeds are so high that they almost close in the sidewalk.

Mrs. (Dr.) McMurray and family are spending their vacation at Port Stanley.

WAR SINEWS WEAK

Bankers Want the German War Chest to be Doubled.

London, July 30.—After a stormy week, home and international politics came to a calm week-end. At the present the Moroccan question stands much easier and the conditions are more hopeful than at any time since the arrival of the German warship Panther at Agadir started the trouble. From the outset England has showed that her adherence to France was unshaken as it was during the previous Moroccan crisis. This fact has had the same effect today as it had then. Germany and France will now negotiate a settlement under diplomatic methods with the full understanding of each other's position. It is believed that this will now include the cession of Togoland to France with some rectification of the Kamerun frontier, a considerable concession of the French Congo district to Germany, while France is left with a free hand in Morocco and Spain will get no reward for the part she has played in the opening stage.

TWO WOMEN NOW CHARGED

would go to places and say that they were lacemakers and that they had only been in the country two weeks. They claimed that their looms were held at Quebec until they could raise $20 to bring them in. Offering little bits of lace they said they had managed to make, they stated that they were anxious to get enough money to get their looms. They had a couple of small looms in satchels they carried and showed these. The women seem to have fallen for the scheme at a great rate."

In the Court.

There were two men with the women when they came up in court today, and the police state that the entire party have pitched a tent in the vicinity of Langarth street and Wharncliffe road, and are living a gypsy life, the men swapping horses or sitting about the tent all day, while the women are busy making money selling fake lace.

When arrested the women had about $40 in their possession.

In court today the younger woman was carrying a baby about six months old. The police say this youngster is carted about from house to house as a means of making people sympathize with the women in their alleged misfortunes.

Mr. Ed Meredith, K.C., appeared for the prisoners today.

"Don't you think these women who bought lace have had a pretty valuable lesson?" he asked the magistrate. "I don't see what charge you can hold my clients on. Surely they have a perfect right to buy lace and sell it at a big price if people want to buy it."

A Valuable Lesson.

"Some of these women who bought want your clients to get a valuable lesson that they won't forget," said the magistrate.

"These women," said Crown Attorney McKillop, "are charged with misrepresentation. They expressly stated that the lace was hand-made. We will produce evidence to show that it is machine-made."

Chief Williams stated that the women, if convicted, are liable to a heavy fine or a long term in prison.

The women ingratiated themselves with both Catholic and Protestant women in the city, using very clever schemes to secure recommendations to well-to-do ladies.

HAMILTON AND HYDRO

Mayor Favors Contract Similar to Other Municipalities.

[Canadian Press.]

Hamilton, July 31.—Mayor Lees today declared in favor of the city abandoning the favored contract with the hydro commission under which it is now operating, and under which it is not obliged to take power exclusively from the commission, and the entering into of the exclusive, participating contract, which will place Hamilton in the same position as all other municipalities in the power union. Opinion is divided in the council on the question.

WESTERN COAL STRIKE

Meetings To Be Held to Inform Miners of the Situation.

Fernie, B. C., July 31.—Meetings are to be held in various portions of the district affected by the strike, at which the officers will explain the position to the men: Tuesday in Fernie, Wednesday in Hosmer and Michel, and Thursday in Corbin are the dates so far arranged. President Powell has left for Lethbridge where he and McNabb will conduct the meetings. Stubbs, Jones, Lees, Smith and Carter will have charge of the other districts, the three latter being in the Fernie district.

COWES REGATTA OPENS

Brilliant Weather Marks the First Day's Racing.

[Canadian Press.]

Cowes, Isle of Wight, July 31.—The Cowes yachting season opened today in perfect weather and under brilliant auspices, with interest in the races keener than ever. The British royal family was present on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, but his majesty is not taking part in the races with his famous wacht Britania.

King Alfonso of Spain, who also is present with Queen Victoria, on the other hand is taking a prominent part in the yachting events with his yacht Hispania.

The races this year have taken on a more international nature. Besides Great Britain and Spain, the other countries represented in the regatta are Germany, by Emperor William's Meteor, and France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway and Aus'ria.

BRITAIN NOT OPPOSING A FRENCH CONCESSION

Not Interested in German-French Mix-Up Outside of Morocco.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, July 31.—The return of Emperor William to the capital has not affected the Moroccan negotiations, contrary to intimations in the Paris papers that his majesty would change Foreign Minister Von Kidderlin Wachester's policy. The emperor, according to an official statement, today received a report on the negotiations, but no details concerning the exchanges have been given out.

The Anglo-French reports regarding Togoland and the Cameroons, where it had been said concessions might be made by Germany in exchange for a strip of the French Congo, are unconfirmed. It is learned that Germany took diplomatic steps regarding the speech of David Lloyd George, British chancellor, and subsequent English newspaper comment in which the pro ouncement was construed as Great Britain's veto of proposed France-German settlement on the basis of a concession to Germany in the French Congo. The German Government requested and received an explanation that Great Britain was disinterested in the situation outside of Morocco. This attitude was later embodied in Premier Asquith's statement in the House of Comm.ons. But for this understanding between Berlin and London, the situation might have been critical.

MOTORMAN KILLED IN TROLLEY CRASH

Two Interurban Cars Come Together in Suburb of Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., July 31—In a collision yesterday between two interurban cars on the Ann Arbor division of the Detroit United Railways, one motorman was killed, five persons were dangerously injured and more than a score were less seriously hurt. The collision occurred near Dearborne, about ten miles west of the city limits. The dead motorman was Louis Hamilton, of Ypsilanti, Mich.

HE WANTED TO DIE

New York State Farmer Electrocuted for Murder of Daughter.

[Canadian Press.]

Dannemora, N. Y., July 31.—Charles L. Green, an Albany County farmer, was electrocuted at Clinton Prison this morning for the murder of his daughter, Eva, a girl of 14, on a farm near New Scotland, a year ago. The electrocution had twice been stayed by Governor Dix against the wishes of the condemned man, who told his counsel that he wanted to die.

Green went to his death calmly after expressing satisfaction with the verdict of the jury which convicted him.

The crime for which Green was put to death was committed on July 27, 1910, on the farm of William Vadney, and uncle of Mrs. Green, where she had fled with her little boy, Chester, and daughter Eva, because of her husband's peculiar actions. Green followed them and asked his wife to return home. When she refused he went for a shotgun and returning shot his daughter, killing her instantly. Then he fired at his wife, who, although desperately wounded, recovered.

HIS WEALTH A BURDEN

Rockefeller Agrees With Preacher Who Says It Banishes Peace.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 31.—John D. Rockefeller admitted yesterday that great wealth is somewhat of a burden. He confessed it to the Rev. Carter Jones, of Oklahoma City, following the latter's sermon at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church. Dr. Jones was supplying the pulpit in the absence of the regular pastor, the Rev. W. W. Bustard.

"The coronation crowns of kings are all too heavy," said Dr. Jones in his sermon. "This is evidenced in royalty throughout Europe. In like manner the crown of wealth is much too burdensome; in fact, it is so heavy that all who wear it complain of its weight, and eventually find that its burden takes the real satisfaction out of life and banishes peace from the heart."

"That was one of the best sermons I've ever heard in my life," said Mr. Rockefeller to the minister at the conclusion of the service. "Your words were full of solemn truth, indeed. I was deeply interested."

PERMITS TOTAL $86,725

Building in London in July Was Quite Satisfactory.

Building continues to go ahead here, and the returns for the month of July are decidedly better than for July of 1910.

There were 75 permits issued, the total value of which was $86,725. During the same month last year there were 73 permits taken out, for a total value of $37,700, an increase of $49,025.

The year's building is much ahead of last year. Up to date, permits to the value of $545,148 have been issued, as compared with $490,166 in 1910.

The most important permits issued were those for the repairs to the court house, $25,000, and for the new Richmond Street Methodist Church, to cost $18,000.

There will be many more taken out during the year, and City Architect Nutter expects that 1911 will exceed any other year.

THIRTY FIREMEN OVERCOME.

Brockton, Mass., July 31.—Fire in the business section of this city yesterday gutted the Satucket three story brick building, badly damaging the Holbrook four story brick block, and destroyed a two and a half story wooden lodging house, at a total loss of $200,000. Thirty firemen were overcome by the fumes from an explosion of several ammonia tanks in the big sold storage plant of the Brockton Public Market Company.

BRUTAL MURDER OF AGED NEW YORK WOMAN

Found in Her Apartment With Head Nearly Severed From Body.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, July 31.—Her head nearly severed from her body, Mrs. Rose Spinol, 80 years old, was found murdered early this morning in her bedroom in a third floor apartment on Second avenue. Beside the body was a large jack-knife, with which the crime had apparently been committed. A number of bloody finger prints on the knife handle furnished the only clue to the slayer, who gained entrance by means of the fire escape. Mrs. Spinol was a widow and lived with her daughter. The daughter was away from home when the murder was committed.

AEROPLANE WILL END DREADNOUGHTS

Lieut. Conneau Believes Monster Battleships Will Soon Pass Away.

London, July 31. — Lieut. Conneau, the French naval officer, who has won fame as an aviator, under the name of Beaumont, before his departure for Paris yesterday, gave a highly interesting expression of his views as to the influence aeroplanes are likely to have on naval construction and strategy.

"I think," he said, "that within ten or fifteen years aeroplanes will have completely revolutionized present ideas of naval warfare. Perhaps even the development of aviation by that time will have made the modern Dreadnought as obsolete as the old wooden warship is now.

"It does not require a vivid imagination to foresee the condition with which war at sea will be fought with aeroplanes, rising from the decks of warships, which will be rather of the nature of mobile aerodromes than battleships. Of course, it is impossible to predict exactly what lines of development the aerial system of naval warfare will take, but while war vessels of some kind will undoubtedly remain a necessity, there is no question that changes of a most surprising character are in store."

Lieut. Conneau foresees the possibility, at an early date, of naval aeroplanes being fitted with the wireless telegraph to keep in constant touch with the ship to which they are attached.

Experiments were made Saturday in France with wireless telegraphy from an aeroplane were strikingly successful. Capt. Brenot sent a message to the Minister of War at the Eiffel Tower from an aeroplane, which, at the moment the dispatch was sent, was flying 1,640 feet above Rambouillet forest. The distance of transmission was 35 miles. The wireless apparatus used weighed only 55 pounds.

BOUGHT CHEAP OATS TO HELP FARMERS

Grain Growers' President Explains Rumors of Dabbling in Options.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Man., July 31. — The grain-growers, at their annual meeting, have explained the rumors that they were dabbling heavily in grain options. President Creerar said that at the time reciprocity was mentioned, certain interests were seeking to depress prices in the Winnipeg grain market. Without the consent or knowledge of the directors he bought the cehap oats, which the alleged combine dumped on the market, in order to preserve Winnipeg grain prices for the western farmer. These cheap oats, he says, were sold for export later. It was declared a dangerous principle, and the directors say they have taken steps to prevent it occurring again. Profit shown were twenty-six thousand less than last year, partially as a result of this innovation.

THE EX-SHAH ALI MARCHES ON CAPITAL

Has Powerful Force and Is Expected to Overthrow Government.

[Canadian Press.]

Teheran, Persia, July 31.—The ex-Shah Mohammed Ali Mirza left Astrabad yesterday, with an overwhelming force, and is now marching on Teheran. There is much apprehension here that the ex-shah's attempt to regain his throne will succeed. The Government is without power to suppress the anarchistic conditions, which prevail throughout the country.

BABY SEVEN MONTHS OLD AN ATHLETE

Mother is Determined Her Child Shall Be a Physical Model.

Kennett, Mo., July 30.—Miss Vivian Hamon, of Kennett, Mo., was always known among her girl associates as an original. She had her own ideas, unobtrusive, but firm. Particularly independent from a feminine point of view, she designed her own dresses, usually in defiance of current fashions, but always charmingly. So—with the curious maturity of Southern girls—when she was married, a slender slip of girlhood 18 years old, she determined that if she had a child it should be an original baby.

A child was born last December, when the mother was 19 years old. Before its birth she studied—as a student "grinds" for a college examination—all the books and articles concerning the rearing of babies, upon which she applied with scientific rigor the principles of child training which she had learned like a polytechnic graduate upon his first enterprise of surveying.

This child, when 2 months old, "chinned" herself while holding to her mother's fingers. A month later she supported her weight of 16 pounds by hanging with the grip of her minute fingers from a horizontal bar like a trapeze rod. So hard and "fit" is she that, although her penchant is rolling off her bed, she never cries over the knocks she receives, as if they scarcely hurt her.

The name of this child is Albertalee Hamon Hays. Her father is Charles Elmer Hays, formerly a star right guard on the football team of the Kentucky Military Institute, near Louisville. Her grandmother on the maternal side is Mrs. C. H. Rainy, today a crack horseback rider, swimmer and all-around athlete. Age 39 in years, but much less in temperament, Mrs. Rainy is called "the youngest grandmother in Dunklin Couty."

During the six years which she spent as a student in a convent seminary at Nevada, Mo., Mrs. Hays read of infant prodigies of mentality like John Stuart Mill, who was a proficient Greek scholar at 8 years old. Without aspiring to rear an intellectual genius, the thoughtful Missouri girl determined to apply a similar process to the physical well-being of her children—not for the production of circus strong men and acrobats, but of wholesome, healthy and attractive men and women.

Fresh air and loose clothing were the young mother's hobbies in rearing her baby. From the beginnig, although it was winter, she kept the child in a room without a fire, and at night lowered the windows two inches from the top. She dressed the baby in a sort of flannel bag, with a drawstring below the feet, permitting the little legs free play for exercise. Hence Albertalee was known for a time as the "bobbin skirt baby."

Along with her physical attainments Albertalee acquired a remarkable talent for silence, independence and self-command. It is almost unknown for her to cry. Like all babies, she frequently bumps her head with more or less violence, but beyond a puckering of her lips she shows no sign of pain.

FREIGHTER'S MATE STAGES ROMANCE

Patrick McCarthy and Sweetheart Elope on the F. L. Robbins.

Sarnia, July 30.—A romance of the unsalted seas which culminated in a bold elopement, when the bride was carried away on a lake freighter, has just been told to the friends of Patrick McCarthy, formerly of Detroit, mate on the steamer Francis L. Robbins. McCarthy stole his bride, who was Miss Josephine Loftus, from her home in Cleveland, took her to Ashtabula, where they were married on Thursday, and were safe on board the steamer and bound up the lakes before anyone knew what had happened.

Miss Loftus is the daughter of Edward Loftus, 1063 Front street, Cleveland. Patrick McCarthy is the son of Mrs. Mary McCarthy, of Detroit, and he comes of a family of sailors. Capt. Dan McCarthy, a brother, now sails out of Boston; Capt. John J. McCarthy is retired, and conducts a hotel at Sandwich, and James McCarthy, a third brother, is mate of the steamer John Barium.

Very few friends of the young people knew that they intended to be married. When his boat reached Port Huron on her last trip down, Mate McCarthy secured leave of absence and hurried to Cleveland by train. At Cleveland he met Miss Loftus, went to Ashtabula, and they were married just in time for them to get aboard the Robbins before she cleared on her trip back up the lakes.

Mrs. McCarthy will remain on the boat with her husband for a few trips and will then go to Cleveland. After the season Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy will be at home at 1063 Front street, Cleveland.

WINNIPEG, July 29. — The geenral opinion locally at the close yesterday was that the black rust scare had been overdone in American markets. Today, however, prices opened firm, but a weakness set in later in the session, and prices fell a little. Notwithstanding this, however, the market ha da strong undertone. Cables came ⅜c to 1½c higher at the close, and a little wheat was worked for export. The oats export market was very dull. Winnipeg July wheat opened at 95⅞c or ⅜c under yesterday's closing. The last price asked was 96⅛c. October opened the strongest of future months at 93⅞c, but it failed to maintain its height and fell to 93⅜c. Fluctuation round ⅜c to ⅝c took place throughout the morning, the closing price being 93⅜c split. December opened at 92⅞c or ¾c lower than yesterday's closing price, and rose to 93½c, finally closing at 92⅜c or ⅝c lower. Oats were also a little easier, July closing ⅜c lower, October ⅜c lower and December unchanged. Options in the American markets were also a little easier. Minneapolis July wheat closed at 98⅛c, or ⅞c lower, September ⅛c split lower, and December ⅛c split lower. The map of the west showed fine warm weather had been general. Cash grains: Wheat—No. 1 northern 95⅜, No. 2 northern 93½c, No. 3 northern 90⅜c, No. 4 northern 85⅜c, No. 5 79⅛c, No. 6 71c; feed wheat, 62c; No. 1 red winter, 96c; No. 2 red winter, 89½c; No. 3 red winter, 87c; No. 4 red winter, 79c. TORONTO, July 31.—A rise in western options has advanced prices of wheat with dealers here, while other grains are unchanged. Latest quotations:

POTATOES.

TORONTO, July 29.—Receipts are increasing, with prices weaker. New, in barrels, $4 50, and per bu, $1 25 to $1 50.

BEANS.

TORONTO, July 29.—Beans—Trade is quiet, with prices unchanged. Small lots quoted at $1 85 to $1 90.

HAY.

TORONTO, July 29.—Baled Hay—The market is firm, with receipts limited. No. 1 is quoted at $13 to $14, on track, and No. 2 at $10 to $14. Baled Straw—The market is quiet, with prices quoted at $6 to $6 50 on track, Toronto.

SUGAR.

TORONTO, July 29.—Trade here was quieter today. Sugars are quoted in Toronto in bags as follows: Granulated, Redpath's, $5 15; granulated, St. Lawrence, $5 15; granulated, Acadia, $5 10; imperial, granulated, $5; Beaver, granulated, $5; No. 2 yellow, St. Lawrence, $4 85; No. 1 yellow, Acadia, $4 75; No. 1 yellow, unbranded, $4 55. Sugar is daily making new high records, reflecting the European situation, and the end does not appear in sight. At least this was the current feeling in trade circles, where stress was laid upon the fact that refiners had a much smaller stock of raws than a year ago, while the 300,000-ton decrease in the Cuban crop cuts down the supply available in that quarter.

FINANCIAL.

[From Charles Head & Co., by private wire to J. J. Tearney.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—(Noon)—The market maintains its fairly strong tone all through the first hour, but business was on a limited scale. Atchison moved up ⅜ and Canadian Pacific over a point with the rest of the important railroad issues showing small fractional gains. A good deal of the speculative interest was attracted to Betulehem Steel issues, both the common and preferred moving up over a point. Interests friendly to the company had a goo deal to say about its earnings, and some of them predicted that the preferred stock would soon be placed on the dividend-paying list. There was some covering of shorts by the trading element on the floor in Union Pacific and United States Steel, and London was a small buyer also of those two stocks. London reports sentiment is becoming better, and there is more of a bullish disposition. There is a better demand from investors.

For Ald. Tancock.

In the course of his sermon at the Empress Avenue Methodist Church Sunday night Rev. George Dewey said he was waiting with a great deal of interest to see just what attitude Londoners were going to take in regard to Ald. Tancock and the investigation which he caused in regard to Ward Foreman Mulhall. "I like to see a man who has the courage of his convictions," he stated, "and who is not afraid to uncover things. I want to see if London people will stand by such a man and elect him again."

At the police court today Magistrate Judd allowed Frank Isaac Fuller, the youth who recently pleaded guilty to stealing two bicycles, to go on suspended sentence, and Inspector Kidner, of the Barnardo Home, is going to see several local manufacturers today with a view of getting the lad employment and giving him a fresh start. The authorities are inclined to believe that the lad is not a bad boy, and want to give him every chance. He was allowed to go on promising to report to Magistrate Judd in a week's time, and he promised to report every two weeks after that.

BOY SCOUTS TO APOLOGIZE

For Cutting Down Poplars on Private Property at Port Stanley.

Complaints have been made by Port Stanley residents regarding the conduct of some of the London Boy Scouts who recently camped by the lakeside for a short time. Mr. George M. Grimmond alleges that the boys have done considerable damage to the trees in his grove, and he was in London recently seeking reparation. The boys in question are said to have belonged to London Troop No. 5, and included a number of boys from St. Matthew's Church. Rev. E. Appleyard, rector of St. Matthew's Church, has promised Mr. Grimmond that the boys will apologize for their conduct, and several of the scouts will go to Port Stanley tonight and seek to appease the gentleman on whose property they admit having trespassed.

Rev. Mr. Appleyord stated to The Advertiser that the damage to Mr. Grimmond's grove was only trivial, two or three small poplars having been cut down by the scouts. The boys were in charge of Sergeant Metcalfe.

FRUIT CROPS LAID WASTE BY A TERRIFIC HAILSTORM

One of the Richest Tracts on the Niagara Peninsula Loses Ten Per Cent of the Crop by Saturday's Storm.

Beamsville, Ont., July 30.—Practically every fruit farm in one of the most fertile areas of the whole Niagara peninsula has been laid utterly waste by a terrific storm of wind and hail which came up out of the northwest at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The belt devastated extends from about two miles west of Winona to within five mies of St. Catharines, and hasty inspection made by the farmers at four o'clock, when the hail had subsided and been replaced by a perfect cloudburst of rain, showed that every kind of fruit had suffered; not only are the grapes and small fruits completely spoiled, but peaches and pears have been stripped from the trees in their unripe state, and lie in useless profusion everywhere. Tomatoes have been cut off the vines and crushed to a pulp by the weight of the hailstones, and in many cases the vines themselves have been destroyed. Some cases are even reported of chickens and other poultry killed by the missiles which fell on them like bullets before they could run to shelter of their coops. Every pane of glass is broken in several greenhouses.

This storm was a hundred times worse than that which so disheartened the fruit farmers last week, and now they have given up any hope of obtaining an adequate crop this season. The majority of the hailstones which fell during the height of the storm were as large as good-sized walnuts, and the smallest were like marbles. One owner in this district, Mr. Francis, who is secretary of the Western Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, says the value of his crop, heretofore estimated at between four and five thousand dollars, has now been reduced to less than $400. S. M. Culp & Co., Beamsville, are also among the large farmers who report everything ruined on their properties.

MR. BEN V. HOLE APPEARS IN COURT

No Attempt Was Made to Arrest Contractor for Whom Warrant Was Issued.

An interesting case between Mr. B. V. Hole, for whom Magistrate Judd recently issued a warrant, and Building Inspector Nutter is in progress.

Mr. Hole was at court today, and Mr. Nutter said he had given him a list of items in which the Forest City Laundry building, which is owned by him, does not comply with the bylaws. Mr. Hole contended that he had had all the alterations made that Mr. Nutter had told him about. Mr. Nutter said that he had not.

"I know," said the magistrate, "that one of the employees in the building telephoned me recently that he was afraid to work in the place for fear that one of the walls would fall in. If this building does not comply with the bylaws it must be made to."

Mr. Hole argued that he had done all that Mr. Nutter wanted.

"I will adjourn this case until tomorrow morning," said the court. "And remember, Mr. Hole, I want you here. Mr. Nutter had better get some competent person besides himself to make an inspection of the building, and it is up to him to show that the bylaws are not complied with or to Mr. Hole to show that they are. I will hear the facts tomorrow."

No attempt was made to arrest Mr. Hole, although a warrant had been issued for him.

East London News

Rushing C. P. R. Work.

Work on the new C. P. R. oil sheds, near Quebec street, is progressing rapidly, and the grading for the yard-tracks is now being finished. H. R. Heinicke & Co., builders of New York City, have a large staff of men at work on the chimney for the new roundhouse, which is being rapidly pushed to completion. Work on the new coal sheds will be undertaken in a few days' time.

New Walks.

New cement walks are being laid on the Quebec street school grounds, which will add greatly to the attractiveness of the school surroundings.

Many New Houses.

An unusual amount of building activity is evidenced just at present in East London. In the extreme northeast of the city between twenty and thirty new residences are being constructed within a radius of several blocks east of Ontario and north of Dundas street. In the southeast section of the city quite a number of new houses are also in course of erection. In the vicinity of Quebec and Ontario streets building operations have been largely encouraged by the new C. P. R. improvements.

The C. P. R. Survey.

A C. P. R. engineering party are still working on the new railway survey between London Junction and Ealing. No definite announcement regarding the company's intentions, however, has yet been made. The survey has been largely completed from a point a quarter of a mile east of London Junction across the Girvin property to Egerton street, from Egerton street across Sackville to the Hamilton road, past the Homister Hotel, and continuing south of the Hamilton road to a point directly across the river from Chelsea Green, and adjacent to the south end McClary works.

CORRESPONDENCE

A Locomotive Question.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Referring to an item in your Saturday evening paper under the above heading I would like to correct the statement made by Mr. Glaubitz that a locomotive will not pull a load greater than its own weight.

The facts are that a passenger engine of the Atlantic type, weighing about 90 tons, will draw and make seventy to ninety miles an hour, a train weighing, exclusive of engine and tender, 433 tons. In the freight service a common load for a 150-ton locomotive is from 1,200 to 1,500 tons. These are not special loads, but are common, everyday practice. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain, yours truly, READER.

Mr. Glaubitz explains that what he said was that a locomotive's pull is no greater than its weight, not that a locomotive will not pull a load greater than its weight.

OVERTIME QUESTION.

[Washington Star.]

Rev. Dr. Aked, at a farewell dinner in New York, said of an over-zealous missionary:

"Neither with the heathen nor with our people, does it do to advocate religion on mercenary grounds. I know a manufacturer who, last Easter, told all his hands that he would pay them if they went to church. Accordingly the hands all went, and a fine, brave show they made. The manufacturer, scanning their ranks from his pew, swelled with joy and pride. But after the service a foreman approached and said:

" 'Boss, the fellers want me to ask you if we come to church again tonight do we get overtime?' "

Grigg—Buchanan.

On Wednesday, July 19, at Calgary, Alberta, Miss Mabel J. Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Buchanan, Emerald street north, Hamilton, Ont., became the wife of Mr. A. Morley Grigg, of Calgary, only son of John P. Grigg, mayor of Stellar, and ex-warden of Middlesex County, Ont. Rev. S. Bacon Hillocks conducted the ceremony in the presence of a very few immediate friends. The bride was attired in a whitee silk mull dress, with gipure trimmings, wore a pretty lace hat, and carried a bouquet of roses At the conclusion of the ceremony the young couple left for a tour through the mountains and after visiting Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and a few other western points, will reside in Calgary.

TWO RUNS FOR THE FIRE BRIGADE

But There Was No Damage to Speak Of Occasioned.

The fire department had a run to the Walper House, corner of Talbot and Carling streets, on Sunday night at 9 o'clock. Some curtains caught fire when one of the boarders reading in bed accidentally touched them with a lighted match. The damage was slight.

On Saturday night the brigade had a run to Bellevue avenue in South London. Some of the residents of Grand avenue saw the reflection from some bonfires and turned in an alarm. There was no damage.

SPECIAL SONG SERVICE

Held Sunday Evening in First Methodist Church.

Under the direction of the organist, Mr. A. D. Jordan, a special song service was rendered by the First Methodist choir Sunday evening, assisted by the Elgar Ladies' Quartette. The several quartette numbers, including "The Golden Gates" and "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me," were among the most attractive features of the programme, the members of the quartette, Miss Sewar, Mrs. Wardle, Miss Gilmore and Miss Ware, each rendering her part admirably. Especially pleasing were the solo selections, "Oh, How He Loves," by Miss Lillian Gilmore, and "Jesus, the Very Thought Is Sweet," by Miss Elsie Green.

In addition, several excellent anthem numbers were rendered by the choir.

Rev. Mr. Whiting's evening subject was "God's Message in Jesus." He pointed out that in other comparative religions the idea of the ministering Savior of Christianity is lacking. "He came not to be ministered unto but to minister," is a passage in the New Testament for which a parallel cannot be found in the Veddas or the Tripitika. In the heat and turmoil of life, where self-sacrifice and altruism play so large a part, the diamonds of human character are wrought, just as the precious stones from the diamond fields of Africa have long ago been formed through the heat of volcanic action.

VERY LARGE CROWD AT SACRED CONCERT

Splendid Programme Rendered by the Seventh Regiment Band.

One of the largest crowds of the year attended the sacred band concert in Victoria Park last night. The place was literally jammed with people, who apparently thoroughly enjoyed the concert.

The Seventh Regiment Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Slater, rendered an exceptionally good programme.

Quite the feature of the entertainment was the singing of Miss Lysla Taylor. She consented to sing when Mrs. H. A. Kingsmill could not attend, and delighted the large audience with her very fine voice.

The Kenwick Male Quartette, one of the popular musical organizations in the city, rendered several selections in first-class style.

DARING FEAT BY BUFFALO VERNON

Other Spectacular Features With the Young Buffalo Wild West.

Leaping from the back of a rapidly galloping horse onto the neck of a flying long-horned steer and throwing it with his bare hands is but pastime for Buffalo Vernon, who comes to this city Friday, Aug. 4, afternoon and night, with the Young Buffalo Wild West Show. While he performs this feat with what appears to the audience to be the greatest ease, he is the only man in the world who has ever performed it. The big Wild West Show has with it this year Montana Jack, the only cowboy in the world who has crawled beneath his mount's stomach while in full gallop; Fred Burns, who is known from coast to coast as "The King of the Rope"; Annie Oakley, the peerless woman wing and rifle shot; Captain Bogardus, the undefeated champion marksman of the world; Curtis Liston and Captain Stuart, remarkable sharpshooters; and Rough Riders from all quarters of the globe. In addition, it has with it Ambrose Means, the "lion lassoer" of Africa, and a whole tribe of Cheyenne Indians under command of Chief Thunder Bird. The big Wild West Show will inaugurate its engagement in this city with a big street parade which will take place at 10 o'clock on the day of exhibition. The 700 men and women and 300 horses and other features will participate in this street demonstration.

PORTUGAL AND BISHOPS.

The Government Asks Clergy to Register Their Claims.

[Canadian Press.]

Lisbon, Portugal, July 31. — The Government has addressed a circular letter to the bishops of Portugal, affirming that no hostility toward the church is intended, and requests the bishops, if they have any complaints, to formulate them. The republic, says the circular, is endeavoring to create a regime of justice to remove injustice. It asks the prelates to give their adhesion to the republic without conditions, because conditions are inconsistent with the moral authority of the republic. Fourteen monarchists have been arrested at Aveiro.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Margaret Ross and family desire to express their sincere thanks to their neighbors and friends; also members of Merrill Lodge, No. 344, A., F. and A. M., for the many acts of kinndess shown them during their long period of illness and late bereavement.

PEOPLE COULD SCARCELY HEAR THEMSELVES THINK

Automobile Men Made a Fearful Din in Victoria Park Sunday Night.

Automobilists are none too popular with the crowds that attend band concerts on Sunday nights in Victoria Park.

In addition to stirring up a fearful dust, they create so much noise that a boiler factory is a haven of rest in comparison.

Last night during the programme, they would drive up close to the band stand and listen to the music. When they were still they were all right, but they would not remain long in one position.

With common consent they would crank their machines, and for some minutes nothing could be heard but the buzz and roar of many engines. Of course, the programme could not be heard, but it enabled the motorists to attract unlimited attention to themselves. The comments on their actions were not very favorable.

It is expected that at the next meeting of the council a motion will be introduced to keep them out of the park on Sundays.

Ald. Donnelly and some of the others have already declared themselves in favor of it, and it is probable that the motion will carry.

MAINE COAST SWEPT BY TERRIFIC STORM

Many Crafts Driven Ashore or Forced to Seek Refuge.

Boston, July 29.—Death and destruction followed tonight in the worst storm that has swept the New England coast in years. The steamer Bunker Hill brought into port a woman and baby, rescued from a water-logged schooner, with one of the most dramatic stories of the sea that ever came home to Boston.

The woman is Jennie MacRell, wife of Capt. A. B. MacRell, of the schooner N. E. Ayer. When his ship seemed sure to go to the bottom he forced his wife to take the baby and go aboard the Bunker Hill at sea in the midst of the storm. His loyal sailors refused to leave their posts. So valantly did MacRell and his men work that they kept the schooner afloat, and tonight he rejoined his wife and child.

The yacht of President Emeritus Eliot, or Harvard, was driven on the rocks at Northeast Harbor and broken up. No one was aboard.

The sloop Hilda has gone to pieces on a sand bar near Essex, and at least a score of others were driven dismantled into harbors. Destruction of telephone and telegraph wires kept news of the storm back.

Along the coast the life-saving crews which remained at their posts night and day, and in numerous instances put to sea in the height of the storm to give assistance to sorely-battered craft, were still on duty tonight, haggard and worn.

Mrs. MacRell tonight told of her thrilling experiences as follows:

"I never expected to get to shore alive. All yesterday the old schooner wallowed in a heavy sea, beaten by a terrible storm.

"As night came on it grew worse, and they told me the ship was leaking badly. A squall took both masts overboard. Our cabin filled with water, and my husband took the baby and myself to the after deckhouse and lashed us fast. I sheltered the baby all I could, but twice the ropes broke and we were nearly washed away. Then my husband took us to the quarterdeck and lashed us again. Every wave swept the schooner, and I never expected to see another day.

"But as the sun rose the sea grew calmer. The steamer hove in sight, and seeing our signals stood by. The crew bailed out a boat and my husband ordered me to take the baby and go to the steamer. I cried. I did not want to leave him, and I threw my arms around his neck, begging him to go with us. But he said he must stay by his ship. He told me to go for the baby's sake.

"Maybe I should have stayed with him, but he made me bring the baby away."

CALLS NAVAL BILL WICKED

Bourassa Opens Nationalist Campaign Against Laurier.

Ste. Hyacinthe, Que., July 30.—Henri Bourassa, Nationalist leader, opened the campaign here today, his mass meeting starting very shortly after dissolution had been announced in Ottawa. His speech was distinctly an election one, and his theme was the naval bill.

To the 6,000 persons present he declared that the voter need not take into account the question of reciprocity, which did not seem likely to bring either great good or great harm to the country in general, but that he must go to the poll determined to support only such a candidate as was pledged to repeal the naval bill, the most wicked and iniquitous measure that had ever been inflicted upon the people of the country.

He went on to criticize the bill in detail and then attacked the various clauses of the agreement just announced, which are to govern the actions of the various imperial and colonial fleets.

JAP CABINET CHANGES

Katzura Resigns Premiership But Will Remain Active Leader.

[Canadian Press.]

Tokio, July 31.—A news agency here, which it is understood is close to a member of the cabinet, says that Count Katzura tendered his resignation as premier on July 27, and recommended Marquis Saenji for that post. The change will probably be announced on Aug. 25.

This report is not confirmed, nor is it officially denied. Undoubtedly a change in the cabinet is imminent, and has been under consideration for three months past. As yet a distribution of portfolios has not been decided upon, but the probabilities are that Count Katzura will remain as foreign secretary, or that Baron Motono, now ambassador to Russia; Baron Uchida, the ambassador to the United States, or Count Kato, the ambassador to Great Britain, will be called upon to accept that office. For the home secretaryship, Rei Hara, former minister of the interior, and Hazahisa Matsuda, ex-minister of finance, are mentioned. Baron Takahashi, governor of the Bank of Japan, Mr. Hara and Mr. Matsuda are the most likely candidates for the post of minister of finance; Baron Makino, for education; Goto, the present incumbent, or S. Hazeba, vice-president of the Lower House, for communications.

There is no reason to believe that the change will affect the general policy of the Government, for Count Katsura is likely to continue as the active head of affairs.

600 LONDON BUILDERS VISITED NIAGARA FALLS

Saw the Sights of the Great Cascade On Saturday.

Six hundred London Builders and their friends went down to Niagara Falls on Saturday morning in a special Michigan Central train, and enjoyed an ideal holiday. There were a thousand and one things to see, and the picnickers spent a most pleasant and interesting day.

Chaperoned by Messrs. John Jones and George Gould, they visited the hydro-electric power house and studied with no small interest the huge dynamos, generators and other equipment that is harnessing Niagara's power and sending it broadcast all over this province. Later the party went down and investigated the barrel in which "Bobby" Leach recently made a perilous trip over the Falls. Arnold Swayzie and George Belton volunteered to make the trip again at any time. Quite a number of the party had an opportunity of seeing Leach, and all were much interested in the odd barrel in which he made his trip. After dinner at the Lafayette the picnickers scattered to amuse themselves as they pleased and visit whatever places took their fancy.

Dozens of them took the beautiful Gorge ride, taking advantage of the stopovers to see the Whirlpool, Brock's monument, and many other points of interest. Others more interested in the power development went on a tour through the various plants that line the river bank, and still others spent their time investigating thoroughly the beauty of the Falls from Goat Island and other points of vantage.

William Tytler, the "dean of the builders," was the guest of the day, and thoroughly enjoyed the trip. The party arrived back in the city shortly after midnight, and all were delighted with the outing they had had. The committee responsible for the success of the arriangements: John Jones, George S. Gould, George F. Mills, A. Swayzie, H. Hayman, W. T. Pace, C. F. Pulfer, A. C. Nobbs, L. H. Martyn, Thomas Rich, George Belton, H. T. Hyatt, C. H. Gould and E. R. Dennis.

District Passenger Agent Palmer accompanied the party and looked after everything going and coming.

Exciting Incident That Fortunately Ended Without Injury.

The animal plunged upon the platform, scattering the large crowd of women and children who were awaiting the 6 p.m. car. The wagon was overturned and all the groceries were strewn recklessly upon the highway. Aside from the spilled eatables, no damage was done.

A SPLENDID TIME WAS SPENT AT THE LAKESIDE

McCormick's Employees Held Enjoyable Outing On Saturday.

McCormick's employees held their 41st annual picnic on Saturday to Port Stanley, and the outing was one of the most enjoyable of the whole forty-one. About a thousand of the employees went down to the lakeside on traction cars, which ran every ten minutes to take the picnickers.

As soon as all were down a fine programme of sports commenced, which was run off without a hitch and kept everybody entertained.

One of the events was a ball game between the girls of the biscuit and candy departments. The "Candy" girls won by a score of 17 to 12. The batteries for the "Candy" team were Edith Dutton and Sarah Gledall, and for the "Biscuit" girls Pearl French and Carrie Frampton. This game was followed by a contest between the men of the same departments. The "Candy" men won easly by a score of 16 to 10. Messrs. Armstrong and Waud were the batteries for the winners, and Messrs. Dutton and Dewar for the "Biscuit" men.

A feature of the whole programme was the turning loose of a greased pig. The hog had been well greased, and as he had been shut up for a whole day and had had a good rest he gave the contestants a great race before he was caught. The chase kept the whole crowd in a roar. One of the rules was that the captor had to hold the pig two minutes before he won it. Three times he was caught before anyone could hold him the required length of time. At last, however, Dick Ashman, after a terrific struggle which convulsed the crowd held the hog and won it.

The winners in the other events were as follows:

Boys' race, under 12—J. Ellwood, 1; John Neil, 2; W. Johnston, 3.

Girls' race, under 12—Ethel Whitehead 1, Rachael Magan 2, Myrtle McDonald 3.

Young ladies' race—Winnie Trudell 1, Marguerite Johnston 2, D. Johnston 3.

M'BRIDE REFUSES TO "SAVE SITUATION"

But Promises Borden a Clean Sweep for British Columbia.

Ottawa, July 30.—For nearly three hours Hon. Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, was closeted with Mr. R. L. Borden in the latter's office at the Parliament Building last night. The doors were closed against all but Mr. G. H. Perley, the chief Opposition whip, who was present for a portion of the conference.

Premier McBride landed in Montreal on his return from attending the coronation ceremonies yesterday, and found an urgent call awaiting him from Ottawa. The wires, it is said, burned with appeals to come to the capital at once. He came up on the local express, reaching Ottawa at 7, and departed at midnight for the West. It is understood that the Conservative leader and the chief whip spent the time in seeking to obtain an assurance that the British Columbia Premier would be a Conservative candidate at the forthcoming federal elections. According to dispatches from the West, he has already been tendered the party nomination for the riding of Comox-Atlin, but the federal management are more anxious that he should run in Victoria, where it is felt that Hon. William Templeman will, in all probability, redeem the seat for the Liberals.

The Minister of Inland Revenue has decided to contest the provincial capital in the Government interest. After the conference with Mr. Borden, Mr. Perley assembled the Conservative members still in the capital and Mr. McBride joined them in caucus. There was considerable cheering, and it is understood that every inducement was held out to the British Columbia Premier to "save the situation."

But Mr. McBride would give no assurances. Interviewed at the close of the gathering, he stated his loyalty to the Conservative party, but added discreetly that he had "responsibilities and obligations to the people of British Columbia, and my colleagues and supporters." He would be able to make known his decision after reaching home, but he was sure, "no matter whether I am a candidate or not," that British Columbia would make a good showing in the Conservative columns. He predicted a sweep of the province for the Opposition.

CHRISTIANITY IS REAL

All the Really Great Men of History Are Christians.

"Christianity is real, is earnest," said Rev. Owen C. Gray, who preached in Talbot Street Baptist Church last night. "All the really great men of history have been Christians. It is noble. It calls men to unselfish living and altruistic service. David Livingstone and Florence Nightingale were true Christian types. We remember men and women not for their wealth or high position, but for the sacrifices they have made, the work they have done for others."

Rev. Mr. Gray's subject was "The Abundant Life," his text being found in John x, 10, "I am come that ye might have life and have it more abundantly," "Too many people," he said, "look upon Christianity as a mere ticket of admission to heaven. Christ came to make life freer, happier, brighter and more abundant. Life out of Christ is like life in the darkness of a cellar. As a plant deprived of the sunshine, so is the human life apart from the love and fellowship of Christ, disproportionate, gloomy, fruitless and dying."

WIFELY DUTIES.

In Tokio, the Japanese wives fan their husbands all night in hot weather. In some other places wives give their husbands hot air as long as they are awake.

STUDENTS WHO FAILED ALLOWED TO PASS

List of Candidates Whose Appeal the Medical Council Recognized.

Toronto, July 31.—The complaints committee of the Medical Council of Ontario signalized the closing of the annual meeting on Saturday by allowing 92 students out of 169, who failed at the recent examinations, to pass. This action was taken because it was found that the papers in applied anatomy and surgery had undergone unusually critical marking, and while the papers were not difficult the marking had been responsible for the failure of these students.

The matter of reorganization will not be taken up till next year.

THE TARIFF REFORMERS TO HELP MR. BORDEN

Toronto World (Con.), Says a Huge Sum Will Be Sent Over for Campaign.

Toronto, July 30.—The World (Conservative) publishes the following:

London, July 29.—In all the fury and billingsgate of the fight between the two chambers of the British Parliament and the public uneasiness over Morocco, British tariff reformers do not lose sight of their fiscal ideal. They will leave no stone unturned to help Mr. Borden and his Conservative followers in the Dominion defeat the Knox-Fielding pact.

Large money has been raised in Chamberlainite circles for "educational purposes" in eastern Canada, the assumption being that western sections do not require any fresh stimulus to oppose the proposed commercial relations with the United States.

If the Laurier ministry should decide upon a September general election the contribution to the war chest of its opponents will be greatly increased from Birmingham and other protectionist strongholds.

Chamberlainite journals dwell upon Borden's Winnipeg prediction that "when the Canadian west once realizes the true meaning of reciprocity the Canadian westerners will make short work of it."

This is printed day by day in companionship with his Dauphin statement that, subject to a legitimate protection of Canadian interests, he is "anxious to throw trade as much as possible into British channels."

Prominence is given also to Mr. Balfour's assertion that whatever happens to the reciprocity treaty, "mischief has been done," the "mischief" being the chief consequence of the reciprocity discussion between Washington and Ottawa—namely, the interpretation the United States puts upon the "simple most-favored-nation" formula.

In that cryptic interpretation Mr. Balfour sees a "tribute to the far-sighted policy of Chamberlain."
