Frosh Tried and Punished by Mock Court in Last Event of Initiation

Last Friday evening the Fall term of the Dalhousie Inferior Court commenced, to try all cases of violations of the Rules for Frosh which may have occurred during Initiation Week.

The first matter on the agenda was the swearing in of the Jury of Impartial Upper Classmen. The jurors selected were Peter MacDonald, Jan Robertson, Betty Cousins, John Bowes, Ross Kenway, Estelle MacLean, Gibby Reid (Foreman), Barb Lohnes, Benny Goodridge, Dave Hess, Keith Alexander Fancey, and to insure justice, Doug Glendenning, a Freshman, was also included.

George Tracey and Sherman Zwicker were the presiding judges.

The long delay and lengthy arguments usually a feature of court trials was lacking as there was conflicting evidence, all evidence being given by the prosecuting attorney. The sole question put to the prisoners was "Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" This question was always answered "Guilty", as the attorney for the Defence always spoke for the Prisoner.

The first case to come before the Court was Sophs V. Arnoff and Medjuck. Arnoff was charged with giving Dype Marshall a hot foot. It was stated that prisoner Medjuck had paid Gym fees for the first time in six years.

The next case was Sophs V. Jessie Forbes and Joan Holmes. They were charged with playing craps at Sheriff Hall. (In violation, no doubt, of the unwritten law that no Freshette shall enjoy herself during Initiation Week.)

The case of Sophs V. Bennet and Bagnell was the last to be considered. Jim Bennet was charged with calling down upperclassmen. Ansley Bagnell was charged with the violation of the most important of the Initiation Rules, "Frosh must obey all orders of upperclassmen". It was alleged that the prisoner refused to push a peanut to Truro with his nose.

The July found each of the prisoners guilty and turned them over to the Executioner (Billy Roscoe) for punishment.

More Than 200 Dal Students Attend Truro Game as Tigers Defeat Last Year's Champs In Unexpected Upset

Fifteen hundred eager spectators at Truro on Monday witnessed the introduction of Canadian Football in this Province outside Halifax. The game was between Dalhousie's Tigers and the Navy team, last year's Purdy Cup winners. Two hundred Dalhousie students responded to Dal's win by conducting a snake dance through the streets of Truro following the game.

Wings Scholarships To be Announced

Airforce R.C.A.F. veterans will benefit again this year through the generosity of Mrs. Forbes Angus of Montreal. Due to her effort Wings Club Scholarship will be awarded once more. Fifteen of these Scholarships were awarded in '48 and '49, six for 150 dollars, others 1,000 dollars.

During the war Mrs. Angus formed the Wings Club in Halifax. This Club was started in the Nova Scotian Hotel between the Hotel proper and the Station. The Club was designed as a "Travellers Aid" to transient airmen where they could get information, coffee, and other services. A number of Halifax ladies helped in this project.

After the war the Club was closed and Mrs. Angus turned the balance of the capital to Dalhousie.

It was decided to use the money towards scholarships for Halifax veterans. These are open to all faculties and are awarded by a committee from all faculties. The basis for the awards is scholastic ability with consideration also being given to financial need and war service.

The awards for the '49-50 session will be announced next week. The sum of money from which these scholarships are drawn is not an endowment but a capital plan. When the money is used up they will end. This may be the last year for the Wings Club Scholarships.

Dances to be Held In Commonroom

Arrangements for the first Commonroom dance to be sponsored by the Arts and Science Society are now almost finalized.

Equipment at the dance will include a 21 watt high fidelity public address system and twenty-five of the latest song hits on record.

The price of admission will be 35 cents per person for non-members and 20 cents for members. Dancing will be held from 9 to 12.

In addition to a gala evening of entertainment, two valuable door prizes will be offered.

Students registered in the faculties of Arts and Science who are not already members of the Society and who wish to take advantage of the lower rates offered to members may obtain Arts and Science Society membership cards at the door.

The first of these dances will be held on Saturday October 15th.

COLLEGE SPIRIT

We type this editorial in the fervent hope that the student body will put a lie to it. This column will be locked in the press sometime this evening. Three days from now the Dal Tigers will journey to Truro for their first football game with Navy—a very important game. To date ONE ticket has been purchased by a student (may he enjoy everlasting happiness) for the return trip. How loud and hard can he cheer by himself? It's lonely on a strange field when there is no student encouragement from the stands. In this age of Individualism and Self-Sufficiency it may be the accepted thing. But we're old-fashioned and don't expect a team to glorify us by playing and winning a game, and supplement their athletic endeavours by also cheering themselves on. Our concept of college sports life has always been based on certain principles. If you can play, play hard, clean and to the best of your ability, and if you can't, bolster the team with your cheers and fullhearted support from the sidelines. We could be wrong. And this editorial could be in error. We hope so.

UNITED NATIONS DAY

The General Assembly of the United Nations has set aside October 24 as United Nations Day, to be celebrated the world over. On this day, four long years ago, the ratification of the Charter had been deposited and the organization took form.

In a sense this idea of observation is a good one. If properly respected it will serve to remind the peoples of the world that the United Nations is "the chief force that holds the world together against all conflicting strains that are pulling it apart."

Perhaps the observance of Remembrance Day and a United Nations Day within a period of three weeks will serve to awaken the nations of the world to the grave responsibility that is theirs and to a desire for lasting world peace.

WELL RECEIVED

No doubt the recent success of the Halifax Opera School's Don Giovanni was a relief to the Press Club, who were sponsoring the performance and therefore responsible financially for it, but it should also be a source of no little rejoicing to the good burghers of this town.

Those interested in Music who are unfortunate enough to have lived here for the last ten years have had to subsist almost entirely on lesser concerts such as those performed under the auspices of the Community Concerts, the Ladies' Musical Club and, of course, our own Glee Club. These are excellent in their own way; the artists are good and in Dalhousie's case, amateur performances are as good as any in the country. But most people expect a city of a hundred thousand souls to do just a little bit better.

There are disadvantages: Halifax has no good theatre in which travelling companies could reasonably perform. Civic enterprise has not yet reached the point where a representative community groups undertakes to promote music and the theatre.

But the first step has been taken with Mr. Vetra's Don Giovanni, and with the efforts of ballet schools last spring. But not always will there be a private society such as the Press Club available to assume the responsibility that should rest on public shoulders.

Perhaps eventually we will have a theatre in Halifax, and performances to put in it. Until that time comes we at Dal are grateful to the Press Club and similar organizations who sponsor the few good performances we are lucky enough to see, especially if all will let students in for a quarter.

Letter to the Editors

Dear Sir:

Upon my return to the campus this fall, I noticed with pleasure that the book store was now the book store. I pictured myself whipping quickly into the store, and in fifteen minutes emerging with books for all of my six courses.

Instead, I spent well over an hour in there last Tuesday, and emerged with not one piece of literature. Perhaps I'm taking the wrong courses, or maybe I should have attempted to obtain my books

U. S. Bars Professor

By DICK BAIDEN

KINGSTON, Ont. — "The smear tactics of the United States Officials are a denial of the whole tradition of the western world since Renaissance," declared Dr. Glen Shortcliffe in a statement given to the Queen's Journal this week. He was commenting on a news dispatch from St. Louis which stated that he had been denied admission to the United States to accept a post at Washington University.

Granted one year's leave of absence from Queen's to fill a position at the American university, Prof. Shortcliffe applied for a U.S. visa last May.

Following the arrival of the visa last June, Dr. Shortcliffe established legal residence in the United States and then returned to Canada. It was at this time, he stated that the immigration department refused to readmit him into the U.S. asserting that every entry of a non-citizen is a separate entry and that Prof. Shortcliffe had therefore incurred a new investigation.

No decision had been released by the immigration authorities by the end of July, thereby excluding any possibility of Dr. Shortcliffe assuming his duties at Washington University.

Commenting on these events, Dr. Shortcliffe stated: "During all this time, no specific charge has been laid against me, nor has any evidence been produced. In refusing to readmit me to my legal residence in the United States, the immigration officer contented himself with stating that I was suspected of having ideas inimical to the public interest of that country."

"The fact is, as the U.S. officials are fully aware, that I have been a strong critic of Communism and of the Soviet Government, some of whose policies I described in a coast-to-coast broadcast on the C.B.C. as the "cruel stupidity which is the ultimate logic of the totalitarian mind". But I have refused to join in an equally stupid campaign of hysteria which seeks to divert attention from our own social inadequacies by blaming them on a conspiracy in the Kremlin.

"Moreover I have strongly criticized some aspects of an American foreign policy, whose failing in my opinion, have been eloquently demonstrated by recent events in China.

"If these criticisms are offences affecting my admissibility into the United States, I not only consent to plead guilty, I insist upon doing so. I would not now go to live in that country if I could; I prefer to remain in the free world.

The United States government has the same right as any other government to run any kind of country so long as it can secure the consent of the population; but it has no moral right to continue to advertise that country as something that it is not."

The order barring Dr. Shortcliffe stated that he was excluded temporarily "as a person whose entry is prejudicial to the interests of the United States". Dr. Shortcliffe has been persuaded to resume his teaching at Queen's this fall despite his previous intention of going to France to engage in research work.

earlier, but I cannot help thinking that there must be others in the same situation.

I appreciate the University's efforts to give better service in their book store, but now that better space arrangements have been made, some attention should be directed to the prime purpose of the store—the sale of books.

Hoping I won't have to get through all my courses on someone else's books, I am,

Yours truly,

L. C.

The Campus Roundup

by Windy O'Neill

When Sir Baffled Gripes devalued the pound, Dalhousie had to act. Here, we have the devaluation of the pounding—the freshmen pounding called by the more literate “initiation”. This follows the gradual decline in what may be called the severity of initiation. Last fall, there was a great deal of indignation over some of the rules being cut from the Frosh programme but a compromise was reached. The result was a fairly enthusiastic first year class.

However, as the old ladies (who may die some day and probably leave us some money) are still complaining about how terrible the poor, young girls look with paint on their faces (spread all over instead of being concentrated at strategic places), the paint had to go. Next year, in the hazing, upper classmen will be confined to nahsty looks.

Initiation has its place in college life and it has always been sensible here. While we are cutting down, McGill's bringing hazing back. Classes that are well initiated remain full of the old college spirit. Did you notice how subdued the frosh were at last Saturday's game? As the Tigers were battling desperately against insurmountable odds, our stands were about as enthusiastic as the local branch of the WCTU singing the Beer Barrel Polka. The Senate Committee should know what they are doing, but they can make a mistake. We think they are doing just that in this matter.

People in the know are really impressed with the way the affairs of the Halifax Canadian Football League are being administered—except for the ten yard markers which break twice a quarter. The two preeminently in charge answer to the noble names of Ham Robinson, the President, and Gordie Rollo, the Secretary. The two have a great love for Canadian Football and are determined to put the game over. When the question of charity tickets came up, they quelled objections to diminution by suavely announcing that henceforth all members of the executive would pay their way in like anyone else.

Except for the ten yard markers which break twice a quarter, the weekly Saturday football matinees have become a real carnival. Last week there were two bands in attendance and a closely contested bicycle race. This week will see fan dancers; a Dal win should provide a carnival in itself. Congrats to Wanderers who came up with a band and some ch-cheerleaders (sweaters and everything). However we still have the ten yard markers which break twice a quarter.

The football displayed this year is vastly improved from other seasons—the ten yard markers which break twice a quarter have not changed. Many fans are worried whether the light, young Dal Tigers will stand up against the competition. Our opinion is that the Cats will be in there at the finish. Duke Morgan's two hundred and ten pound frame will blast great, gaping holes in every line in the league.

Donnie Harrison hasn't untracked himself as yet but should be an all star by the end of the season. Young Tom Stacey showed well as did Paul Lee until they both acquired sawbone appointments. We are looking for a double win this week.

Rhyme and Reason

You've all heard of Sartor Resartus?
(To its study you surely must cart us),
Well, they'll tell you in class
It is meant to surpass
The logic of Goethe or Schiller.
But don't you believe it, young feller:
Old Thomas Carlyle raved of clothing
But his own could bring nothing but loathing.

The moon was high, the lights were low,
The sky a sea with ships of snow.
The air was spring and how the breeze
Soft blew its whispers through the trees!
And we were sitting in the park
Her lips looked soft, her eyes were dark.
Desperately I asked her: "Please?"
She said: "I think I'm going to sneeze!"

On the Making of a Paper On the Breaking of a Staff

Proud and noble forests cover the length and breadth of Canada, supplying supernal beauty and wealth to the nation. Every year, a significant portion of these forests is destroyed, cut into logs, into pulpwood, torn to shreds and made into paper. Every year, a significant portion of this paper is wasted by being unfortunate enough to occupy a place in many of our daily newspapers and college journals.

Daily we are confronted by inane mumbblings; tubthumping politics; prejudiced nonsense; adjectives extolling the nonentities, the inept, and the nothings; stale news events and uninteresting interviews with bilious notables. Such unappetizing fare is usually due to a lackadaisical staff, and overworked staff, or a staff suffering from both maladies.

Nowhere more than in the newspaper world are SPACE and TIME more important; RUSH to meet the deadline, RUSH to find copy with which to fill the paper.

The Gazette is no exception, even with its two issues a week. Every member of the staff is also a student, with his studies making a strong bid for his time.

Whosoever, then, would criticize, let him first offer his help. Short stories, poems, cartoons, news items, articles of interest of any nature whatsoever are all welcome contributions. With a large fund of top-notch material on hand, a consistently good Gazette could be issued twice a week, the staff being able to pay more attention to quality rather than quantity.

This is an appeal to those who would like to see on the Gazette's masthead "North America's oldest and BEST" college newspaper. At the very least, let us try to prevent our forests from having submitted to the axe in vain . . . let their poor, flattened out carcasses be the bearer of readable, intelligent, interesting material. Won't you send in your paper brain-child right away?

United Nations Day To Be Celebrated

The General Assembly of the United Nations has set aside Oct. 24th as United Nations Day, to be celebrated all over the world. On this day in 1945 all the ratifications of the Charter had been deposited and the United Nations came into being.

The United Nations serves as the meeting place where the nations of the world can come together and work out their problems and find mutually acceptable solutions. It also has a world-wide social and economic program for the betterment of living conditions in all lands.

It is felt that the occasion should be marked in educational institutions by some suitable observance, for the United Nations is, as Trygve Lie said, "The chief force that holds the world together against all the conflicting strains that are pulling it apart."

TIGERS SKINNED AS WANDERERS PLOUGH TO 16-6 VICTORY BENGALS BACK WITH 20-6 UPSET

TIGERS SHOW REAL POWER IN ENGULFING STADACONA

The explosive power of the Dalhousie Tigers 1949 Canadian football squad burst right in the face of H.M.C.S. Stadacona as the Bengals celebrated Thanksgiving away from home with a rousing 20-6 whitewashing of the Tars.

It was veteran quarterback Paul Lee who burst the Navy bubble with a touchdown in the first minutes of the game. A recovered fumble in midfield gave Dal the ball. McKay passed to Stacey at the 10 five plays later to set up the TD which Lee tallied, scooting around right end on a bootleg play.

In the second canto Navy got close enough for Ed McLeod to try a field goal. The shot was wide of the posts but rolled out of touch and the score was 6-1.

However, the Bengals wanted another TD before the half and they got it on the sharpest play of the game, a sleeper with Andrew McKay taking off from the Stad 54, cradling a Wilson bullet on the 35 and racing to the 15 before being smothered. Big Duke Morgan bulled the ball to the 9 and Lee again carried the ball around right end on the power play.

Opening up in the third quarter Bobby Wilson, a gent who played sixty minutes of durable football, got off two of his outstanding punts of the day for a pair of singles, both kicks travelling well over 50 yards from scrimmage. 14-1 for the Tigers.

One Defensive Leak

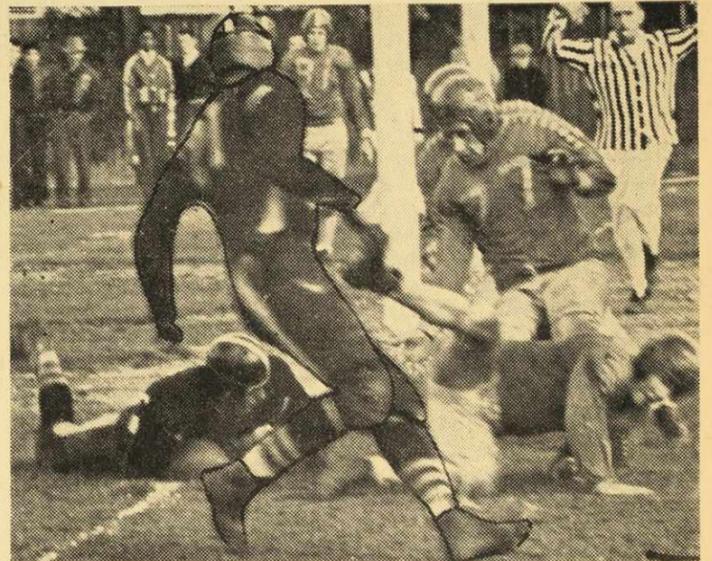

The Tigers played a queer game in the fourth quarter. Navy scored first downs almost at will in mid-field but at the Dal 25 they stopped cold on all but one try, when McLeod passed to Agnew to put the ball on the 15. Murray and McLeod took the break and squeezed the leather to the seven. Murray finished off with a wide buck right and TD. The convert pass was blocked.

Before Navy could take up where they left off the Tigers were off again. Starting from center big Duke Morgan, fronted by Jones carried the ball six consecutive plays for three first downs to move the ball into scoring position. Malloy finished off with a buck left to score and Nickerson wrote finis

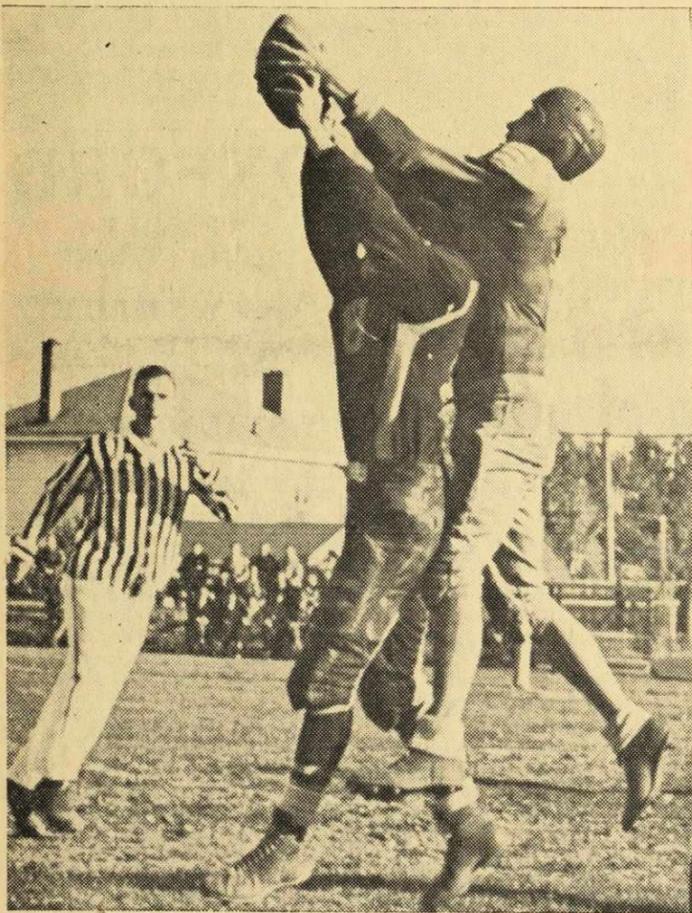

Tigers Take A Drubbing From Powerful Reds

Last Saturday was a bad day for the Dal Tigers—in fact the worst since the school took up Canadian football. In the gloom of Sunday, before the startling Thanksgiving Day revival the 16-6 trimming the Bengals absorbed from the Wanderers loomed large with a play-off spot away in the distance.

Although they stayed even with the Redmen in the first quarter things collapsed in the second frame as the heavy Wanderers line pushed the cats deep into black shirt territory. The winners started festivities with Pete Feron, playing his best of the year, kicking a safety from the 30. The Tigers, taking the ball on their 25 couldn't get the leather past center field, and the lethal combination of Graves, Young and Feron, plus superb line play enabled the Wanderers to take possession and drive the ball deep.

Paul Lee Gets Another TD—Paul Lee, Dalhousie's star quarterback, just makes the end zone to score the Tigers' second touchdown in the Dal-Navy game. Andy McKay, lateral man on the play, watches the points register while the goalposts block part of the Stadacona defense from the play. It was Lee's best performance this year.

Tough Luck George—Agnew of the Navy squad leaps up to catch the pass and foil the intercepting efforts of Dal's George "Ejection" Mattison in last Monday's thrilling game at Truro.

English Rugger Squads to Make Debut Today with the Axemen

Dalhousie's English Rugger teams take the field this afternoon in the opening games of the Halifax and District leagues, senior and intermediate, at the Wanderers Grounds. The opposition are the Acadia Axemen. The Tiger Cubs meet their Wolfville counterparts at 1:30, with the senior game scheduled for 3:00.

Tiger coach George Gray is pleased with pre-game practices and expects to field a winning squad. Several newcomers are in the Dal line-up, among them Ron Robertson, lock, a rugby union man from England; Roddie Morrison, stand-off, last year with Glace Bay; Gordie McCoy, left center, a key man from Mt. A.; and Doug McDonald, fullback, back with the Tigers once more after an absence of a year.
