THE COURIER. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1851.

We have once more been honored with the presence of the Representative of Royalty, and considering the eclipse under which Montreal has no long resided in obscurity...

Whatever may be Lord Elgin's faults of public administration, he is not certainly a person against whom personal rancour, or any degree of ill will, can possibly be long maintained under the shadow of intimate domestic intercourse...

At the conclusion, his Lordship presented his Worship the Mayor with the gold chain procured for him some days since, and having placed it on his (the Mayor's) shoulders, his Lordship remarked, that the honor and credit of the city could not be placed upon one worthy...

With the deputation upon all subjects calculated to promote the property, and advance the commercial interests of the Province.

Having given the science a name, which, in the most approved manner of the learned, sets both spelling and etymology at defiance...

There are certain appetites implanted in the bosom of every human being by which the outer man, more particularly his face, is marked out and characterized...

Phacology then is divided into two parts, namely:— I. MASTICATIVE PHACOLGY, which relates to the appetite for food.

II. BIRATIVES PHACOLGY, which applies to, and is deducible from, the appetite for drink.

Masticative Phacology has only two organs. Bivariate has no less than nine. The organs of Masticative Phacology are those which may be called CUTRULNESS and GORMANDISEBILITY.

At the conclusion, his Lordship presented his Worship the Mayor with the gold chain procured for him some days since, and having placed it on his (the Mayor's) shoulders, his Lordship remarked, that the honor and credit of the city could not be placed upon one worthy...
