"We would also, with equal heartiness, recognize the valuable assistance rendered him by his excellent wife and sister, and extend to Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Hill the tribute of praise they have so well earned while among us.

"May God's richest blessing go with our departing brother and sisters, may they continue to work for the Master, and may they see elsewhere, as here, abundant fruits from their labors.

Mr. Dean made a very feeling reply. Adjourned.

MURDER AT HALIFAX

(A Well-known Citizen Shot Down in His Shop and Another Wounded by Robber.)

Halifax, May 30—Thomas S. Donaldson, one of the best known men in Halifax, was murdered in his shop on the Bedford Road at two o'clock this afternoon, and at eight o'clock tonight a man, who is believed to be the murderer, was arrested in Windsor, forty miles from Halifax.

Donaldson keeps a roadside shop, four miles out from the city. There is a back room to this shop, in which is a bed. Donaldson was reclining in this bed and in the shop in front was an employe, whose name is Edward Cady.

A young man came along, looked into the shop and as it was raining, Cady asked him in. The newcomer talked for a few minutes about fishing and then said: "Where is the old fellow?" Alluding to a man whom he had seen in the shop early in the forenoon, and who had, on his own account, for he had visited the place about eight o'clock this morning.

"I don't know," was the reply, and Cady proceeded to leave the room.

Donaldson, said the visitor, "I will take that revolver out of your pocket, one in each hand. Cady did move and the stranger fired, putting a bullet into Cady's arm. Then Donaldson rose from the bed and a shot was sent into his right breast. He fell and rose again and a second shot was put into his left lung, and he soon died.

The supposed murderer was arrested tonight in Windsor on a description given by Cady.

At the request it was found that Donaldson's till had been emptied of its contents.

The man gave his name as Stanley and said he was from New Glasgow. This name is believed to be fictitious.

Halifax, N. S., June 2—Two developments have occurred in the Donaldson murder. One is that Cady, who was shot when Donaldson was killed, has identified Hu et Gant as the murderer. The prisoner went to the hospital where Cady is lying and as soon as he saw him said:

"That is the man who shot Donaldson."

The other development was the finding of two revolvers near the Donaldson shop. They were picked up by two young men in the bush at the roadside. J. T. Bran says they are revolvers which were stolen from his shop the night before the murder, and which had been examined by Gant the day before, when he stranger called and asked to be shown the

OBJECT TO LOSING RAILWAY

140 Families Protest Against Closing of I. R. C. Between Blackville and Chatham Jct.

People along the I. R. C. from Blackville to Chatham Jct.—140 families, with some 300 voters—are indignantly protesting against the proposed closing of that section of the railway and transferring of its business to the Blackville-Deerby Jct. section.

They claim that, having given the right of way and led to make improvements on the assumption of the railway's permanence, the road should not be taken from them.

At a public meeting in Chatham last night, May 25th it was unanimously resolved, upon motion of Councilor James Harrigan and Mr. Geo. Harper:

"That we the residents of Chatham, protest against the unjust action of abandoning the railway between Chatham Junction and Blackville as an infringement on our constitutional rights, and will use every means legally or otherwise to defend the same and pledge ourselves to use our influence against any Government representative that will consent to such an injustice."

BILLY THE KID

Nolan Gave in "Billy the Kid" scored a signal success in Newcastle Opera House on the 29th ult. The play was in many respects a blood and thunder performance, there being lots of shooting and hairbreadth escapes, but the acting of the villain (Hal Pine as Boyd Denver) in betraying Billy into outlawry and his conduct in his drinking den and white slave depot was so well performed that it had the effect of the most vigorous sermon against these evils. Likewise the devoted love of Nellie Bradley (Virginia Edwards) for Billy was so beautifully resulted in his being saved to honest sojourn. The principals were well upheld by the whole company.

The Passing of The Oriana

(From the Chatham World)

Dear Mr. Editor, will you please accept the following lines in memory of your yacht Oriana, and as a slight tribute to your hospitality and the pleasant hours I have spent with you on deck?

IKINKERMAN.

The winds shall swell her snow-white sails no more,
As proudly through the waves she swiftly flies;
He, idle voyaging on the sea is o'er,
And there abandoned on the beach she lies.

While loud the sobbing tide complains along the shore—
The Oriana sweeps the rolling deep no more.

How oft beside that broken wheel, when moon
Was at the breaking point, I watched the foam
Flung from her prow like snow, as swiftly borne
By tide and stern she plowed her course for home.

Safe riding out the gale when other sails were torn
And other larks at anchor lost like things forlorn.

Now starward pointing, while we drift at night,
I dream her waving mast across the sea
Invites the sleeping breeze to aid her flight,
To flock with foam the water on her lee,
And fill the drooping sail till bounding through the night,
The startled wild fowl watch us pass, a streak of white.

But gales shall swell her snow-white sails no more,
At rest her hulk upon the shingle lies;
Her drooping spar the freshening breeze before
Shall never see o'er billows fall and rise,
For long the sobbing tide complains
The Oriana sweeps the rolling deep no more.

LORD KITCHENER IS PRAISED

All Classes of the Egyptians Praise the British Agent on Account of His Very Liberal Attitude.

(Publishers Press News Service)
Cairo, Egypt. — The new British agent continues to inspire the liveliest satisfaction among all classes of the Egyptian population, and a recent leading article in the semi-official journal Abdull not only refers to this, but contains a rather eloquent reference to the mixed feelings expressed by Lord Kitchener's appointment.
"It was Egypt's good fortune," says the journal, "to be given such a noble British agent as Lord Kitchener, a man of whom we were proud and whom we supposed to be a liberal conservative."
This latter appears, however, to be a slight corrective for the article goes on to admit that his strictly only appears to be the generous and liberal attitude of the Egyptian people toward the British agent, and that the Egyptian people are not so much interested in the friendship and alliance of the Mohammedan people."

Chicago. — "Are you a MAN?" Attorney Erlanson of Harry Gilbre, debonaire automobile salesman, in the Morrow murder case, "That's all," under the accusing lawyer.
A few minutes before Gilbre had a "tiff" with his former lady, Mrs. Rena B. Morrow, present clubwoman, author, and who charged with the murder of her husband. He had unobtrusively a frankly, even hostess's, reflection of the wife of Dr. Morrow, the "lady" friend.
"I'm glad to see you here," Erlanson said to "rejoice himself" in a gentleman to come a moment later. "Not only did he betray the woman's attempt to poison in his the street, but he revealed the name of the woman who he said a woman's life for."

SIAM'S AMAZON GUARD
Siam. — Siam is one of the few countries which boasts of a corps of women police. The members of this Amazon Guard are all old and ugly, they wear uniforms, though they are armed. Their chief duty is to act as gate keepers of the inner, or women's, Palace at Bangkok.
They let no stranger who enters the palace, and remain with him all he takes his departure. They are that there is no mischief made that no one makes love to the royal wives and concubines. Men who do business inside the palace — actors, architects, carpenters, electric light fitters, etc., enter the palace, but are always accompanied by some of the Amazon Guard. The place has some difficulty in recruiting these guards, as the work is hard and he pay poor, and the qualification — complimentary.
If old age pensions were granted in this country few women would be likely to apply for them.

HAS CAPT. SCOTT REACHED POLE

Schedule Planned by Scott Was Carried Out the South Pole Was Reached Last Week in Old Year.

(Publishers Press News Service)
London. — Did either Capt. Scott or Capt. Amundsen reach the South Pole on Monday in the principal pole in London at the present moment.
That is the ambition of Capt. Scott, of the British navy. He has had experience in Antarctic exploring before, having headed the Discovery expedition in 1902. Scott started from England in June, 1911, by way of New Zealand, and on Nov. 1, 1910, when the beginning of spring there was a thin chance to run his vessel, the Terra Nova, straight south through Ross sea in the Terra Nova, near which he published his winter quarters last May.

All summer — winter, down there — Scott's party awaited the coming of November — of summer — when the journey over ice and snow was begun; through the most fearful storms that rage anywhere on earth, the explorers went. If they followed the schedule planned by Capt. Scott, he with four picked men, left the party at the beginning of December for the last mad dash for the pole, hoping to reach it Dec. 25, which corresponds to the northern June 25, when the sun has the longest and it is the warmest.

With time he ascended the huge Beardmore glacier, going up 10,000 feet above sea level, where crevices thousands of feet deep yawned for the intrepid explorers. With dog sleds and motor sledges the five crept along, ten miles a day, at best.

Scott's last word when he left "goodby" to the world at Port Lyttelton, New Zealand, was: "I'll catch

CAPT. ROALD AMUNDSEN

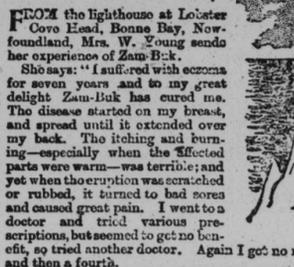

Christmas dinner in 1911 at the pole! The dinner will be eaten on the several thousand feet of ice that lies over the pole. The dinner might well be imagined from Sir Ernest Shackleton's description of his Christmas dinner 111 miles from the pole two years ago.

"We sat around the cooker," he wrote, "waiting for our food, a thin broth — a stew of everything available except leather, when it was pulled out we turned our backs on it and each man picked his pan. They did not in some of the pans there was a little more broth than the others, and everybody wanted the most. Then a little weak man who wasn't finished the meal. How we smiled at the biscuit to make it last longer! When one crawled a crawl there was a scramble for it."

They may have company at the Christmas dinner, Capt. Roald Amundsen, Arctic hero, is leading a brave band of Norwegians into the Antarctic. Last May Amundsen sailed into "Chales Bay on the Foom. Dr. Nansen's vessel, and started the fall of the year. An American expedition under Capt. Douglas Mawson, is also in the Antarctic, but its chances of getting to the pole are slimmer than the others.
If either Scott or Amundsen is to reach the pole today, he won't have any time to waste, for the deadly winter of the Antarctic will begin in a month or so, and then no living being can set out, and even if not live until reaching parts could arrive.
After observations have been made the party will have to fall back into their sleds and drive like fury to get back to their base of supplies, where they will stay until next autumn when the trip to civilization will commence.
Then we'll know if there's a British or Norwegian flag fluttering at the bottom of this sphere.

THE LIGHT-HOUSE KEEPER'S STORY.

FROM the lighthouse at Lobster Cove Head, Bonne Bay, Newfoundland, Mrs. W. Young sends her experience of Zam-Buk.
She says: "I suffered with eczema for seven years and to my great delight Zam-Buk has cured me. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning — especially when the affected parts were warm — was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed, it turned to bad sores and caused great pain. I went to a doctor and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no benefit, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief, so tried a third doctor, and then a fourth.
"Seven years is a long time to suffer, and I had got used to the thought that I never would be cured, when I saw a report in the Family Herald, telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was in cases of skin disease.
"I bought some Zam-Buk, and from the use of the very first box I saw it was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful.
"It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zam-Buk all that was claimed for it and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case.
"Since that time I have recommended it for several other cases, and in each it has proved its wonderful merit.

CURIOSITY Prompted Many Women To Try PURITY FLOUR

THEY were curious to see exactly what results would be produced by flour consisting entirely of the high-grade portions of the best Western hard wheat.

They were curious to know more about a flour that contained none of the low-grade portions, which are found in every wheat berry, but which are separated and excluded from the high-grade in the process of milling PURITY FLOUR.

THEY were curious to know whether an ALL-HIGH-GRADE hard wheat flour was really superior to a mixed hard and soft wheat flour.

They were curious to see and taste the kind of bread, buns, biscuits, cakes and pies PURITY FLOUR would make.

Curiosity prompts you to seek the knowledge they discovered. It's urging you to try PURITY FLOUR.

REMEMBER: On account of the extra strength and extra quality of PURITY FLOUR it is necessary, for best pastry-results, to add more shortening than you are accustomed to use with an ordinary flour. Add more water when making bread.

SOCIETY DEALERS

Society People By Art Dealing Make Good Money on the Side And Many Make Their Living By It.

Although there are many dealers in treasures and antiques who are scrupulously honest and have never intentionally sold an object which was not exactly what they described it to be — and who to-day, in quite a number of cases, are prepared to give 10 per cent. profit upon the return of every article they have sold during the last ten years, so greatly has the value of these increased within that period — it is a fact that there are many others who, taking advantage of the modern craze for collecting, resort to all sorts of dodges in order to impose upon the ignorant. For instance, in Great Britain, it is quite a common trick for dealers to distribute part of their stock in rathouses and cottages, in the hope that enthusiastic strangers will assume that they have been there for generations. After thus stocking a cottage the dealer (casually mentioning to customers that he has been told by a certain cottager who has some very good antique "stuff," and that himself has had no time to verify the report. Of course, the address is usually forged by the enthusiastic collector, who is thus led to purchase goods which he might not otherwise have bought.

An Ingenious Method. This is a somewhat common and dirty well-known trick, and the consequence is that some dealers have taken upon a more ingenious method. They arrange with some well-known man or woman in "society," who is furnishing a new house, to decorate it with fine furniture, pictures, and bric-a-brac, supplied free on the understanding that should a visitor admire any of them they are to be sold at once, and that a handsome commission will be given on the transaction. There are certainly in society many who add to their diminished incomes by either selling or acting as agents for dealers.

A well-known connoisseur, when recently visiting a Duchess, had the following experience:—"The lady was delighted to see him; he particularly wished for his advice at assistance. 'Algy has run terribly in his feet; he may have to resign his commission in the Guards. I cannot ask his father for money, as he is badly hit by the depression in agriculture. You know all the rich Americans and the value of fine furniture; could you possibly help me to sell that magnificent Louis XV. settee? It was bought by a former Duke of the Emperor of Russia, and it was always said to be worth many thousands of pounds.' The visitor looked at the bit of furniture — it was as he had seen at the shop of a celebrated dealer, who had had it for years on his hands and had resorted to this device to try to get rid of it."

SILENT HUSBANDS

While Chinamen Have Risen in China, Revolt Women Have Determined to Desert Their Husbands Too.

While Chinamen have risen in revolt against the Manchu dynasty, their women-folk — at any rate some of them — have come to the conclusion that the time has arrived when they should make a strong protest against the custom which forces a girl to be betrothed to a boy in her infancy and to marry him, although they may be scarcely acquainted with one another and have nothing in common. It is the determination of Chinese women to stamp out this custom that one year ago nine Cantonese maidens drowned themselves together one night in the Pearl River rather than accept the lot of wife under these conditions.

In three districts in Central Hunan, where a girl can always get work at silk-winding, thousands of girls have formed themselves into anti-matrimonial associations, the members of which refuse to live with their husbands more than the customary three days.

Then they take advantage of their legal right to visit mother, and never return, say, for certain days or after term of years. If the parents attempt to force the runaway bride to her husband she drowns herself or kills herself; so parents and magistrates have had to let the girls have their way. By presenting herself in her husband's home on certain festival days the bride keeps her wifely status.

Dr. Ross also mentions a very curious practice observed between husbands and wives in certain districts of China. Etiquette, it appears, forbids husband and wife to be seen talking together. Thus, a young man and his wife meet in an empty lane and, supporting themselves, unobtrusively, he asks her for the key of the garden gate. She throws it on the ground without looking at him, and, once induced, he him soundly for speaking to her in public. "Suppose," she says, "someone had seen us?"

"Silver Greyhounds." The King's messengers are termed "Silver Greyhounds," because their badge of office consists of a silver crown surmounted by an imperial crown attached to a red ribbon. The badge is always carried by a King's messenger, and in the times of war becomes part of his passport when he carries a message to another country. The salary of a King's messenger ranges from $150 to $2000 a year. King's messengers might be mentioned, nearly always Army men, who have their regiments to undertake the business of carrying the King's official messages to all parts of Europe.

GREAT CANVASSERS

Napoleon, and George Washington and Many More Great Men Were Successful Books Agents In Their Youth.

Books. — Well-known firm of London publishers require the services of country gentlemen to act as agents. Liberal commission. Districts appointed. Hunting and shooting men preferred. Members of good families, younger sons who have been at the Universities or public schools, will find this a first-class opening. Apply, etc.

When the above appeared in the advertisement columns of the English papers recently, no doubt many people who read it would ask themselves what things were coming to.

Country gentlemen taking to book-cavassing!

Certainly it reads revolutionary, even in these days of trading "nobility and gentry."

But greater men than country squires have, before now, been engaged in canvassing books.

Napoleon Bonaparte, Emperor of the French, the world's greatest military genius, was once a book-cavasser.

The future conqueror, while yet a lieutenant, and with nothing to live on but his scanty pay, undertook to "push" for Messrs. Boulanger and Co. the Paris publishers, a work called "The History of the (French) Revolution." And apparently he liked the work — with its emoluments — for after a short trial he applied to be given the sole agency for the Department of La Vendée. He had, however, to be content with a restricted district in suburban Paris. With what zeal he "worked" this may be seen to-day at the Louvre, where there is exhibited his canvasser's outfit, together with the long list of subscribers' names which his industry secured.

Almost at the same time, in a different part of the world, another future ruler was partly earning his bread as a book agent. This was none other than George Washington, "Father of the United States." The particular book that Washington canvassed bore the somewhat lengthy title of "The London of Stoke-on-Trent Square, American Savage: How He May be Tamed by the Weapons of Civilization."

To "get off" such a mouthful as this would surely require more than average ability and persuasiveness, and if, as he recorded, Washington's sales were eminently satisfactory, small wonder that in later life he accomplished so much greater things.

FAMILY POISONS

Some Astonishing Facts About the Poisons We Are Always Eating In Our Foods. Even Salt Will Kill You.

When the doctor told me he was prescribing prussic acid for the pain in my stomach, I said I would rather keep the pain than take such a poison. "You need not have the slightest fear," he assured me. "Why, you eat poisons every day. When the Chinese want to commit suicide, one of their favourite plans is to take half a cup of salt."

"Common salt?" "Yes. In large quantities common salt is a violent irritant. It sets up severe inflammation of the stomach, and this is surely as arsenic. So potent, that colours bacon and corned beef an attractive red, is a powerful poison. One ounce has killed a person in three hours. Many people have been poisoned by this salt."

"You must know that your pudding and the ink of your words make incomplete unless flavoured with bitter almonds. I am not sure how many bitter almonds it takes to kill a man, but they contain a good deal of the prussic acid that you object to."

"Oxalic acid, with which foolish people so often commit suicide, is the salt which gives rhubarb and sorrel their pleasant flavour. It is a violently irritant and dreadfully painful poison."

"Need I tell you that caffeine, the exhilarating principle of coffee and tea, is a poison?"

"In nearly all our condiments we eat poison. The oils of nutmeg, cloves, black pepper, cinnamon, peppermint, caraway, horse radish, thyme, etc., are all poisonous in large doses."

ENOUGH SAID

A noted lawyer had a case in which, among other things, he wished to prove that his client had no money, and to that end he cross-questioned one of the opponent's witnesses as follows:—

"You asked my client for money, did you not?" "Well—yes sir."

"Answer promptly, sir! Let us have no hesitation. You asked him for money. Now, what was his answer?" "I don't know as I can tell."

"But surely you remember?" "Yes, sir."

"Then out with it! What was his answer?" "I'd rather not tell."

"Ho, ho! You are on that tack, are you? You won't tell?" "I would rather not, sir."

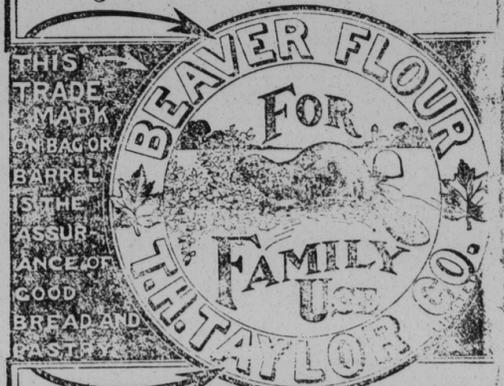

"But you must; and if you do not answer my question promptly and truthfully I shall call upon the Court to punish you for contempt."

"Well, sir, if I must tell tales out of school, here you have it. I asked him yesterday if he could lend me half a dollar, and he told me he couldn't."

"And you believed him, did you not?" "Yes, sir, for he said you had robbed him of every cent of his money, and if he didn't get his hands pretty soon his wife and little ones would soon come to—"

"That will do, sir. You can stand down."

Did you ever hear any one say they could not get good coffee except in the States?

I have heard it, scores of times, and it's one of the reasons that made me decide to go into the Coffee business.

Of the Americans who visit us in summer, hundreds take home a supply of Red Rose Tea because they have never used such good tea before. I determined to put up a coffee that would make for itself just as good a reputation. It has not been easy, but I am sure I have succeeded.

Estabrooks' Red Rose Coffee, put up in sealed tins is—well, it's good coffee. You and your American friends will say so.

WHAT CHATHAM

PAPERS HAVE TO SAY

About the Enforcement of the Canada Temperance Act and Old Home Week

The Fishawks and the Hotels.

(Chatham World)

The permanent loaders at Hotel Miramichi, Newcastle, were, on Wednesday, notified that the house would close Friday night. The proprietor doesn't consider it sensible to continue to try to do business in a town that authorizes the seizure and destruction of his goods. He negotiates as well as at the mercy of a band of wild Indians, with scalping knives in hand, as at the mercy of the Newcastle authorities. Let the tomahawk brigade enter to the traveling public. We shall, if the foolish person who seems to be in charge at the Town Hall continues to have his way, soon have the Chatham hotels closed also. It will be a drawing card for Old Home Week! What is the use of trying to do anything to boom the town when any noisome in office may cause the closing of its hotels at any time? If Mr. Neale and his colleagues don't give an assurance to protect the town from the pig-headed and impracticable person who is running things at present, let all preparations for Old Home Week celebration be dropped at once. What is the use of trying to do anything to attract people here when, with a leer and a grin, the Chairman of the Police Committee may carry out his threat to raid the hotels and put them out of business. Let all preparations be suspended till the sensible members of the Town Council guarantee to protect business men. Let no man subscribe a dollar or write a letter or do anything at all to promote the proposed celebration without this guarantee.

(Chatham Commercial)

DEAR SIR—One of a group of Citizens on Saturday night asked the question—"What maggot has Stewart got in his brain that he denounces the town council and boycotts the Old-Home Week as he does in the 'World' today?" The answer given was "Well I can't give you the name of the grub in Stewart's grey-matter, but the head of the animal is 'Touraine' and the tail 'Snowball'." This appears to be a complete answer, and an explanation of the World's attitude upon all questions of temperance and morality ever since the Editor became a stock-holder in the hotel Touraine. The defeat of the combination, which under the guise of a temperance council, controlled the destinies of the town last year, has accentuated Mr. Stewart's antagonism and so we have the result in an appeal to the public, to assist in putting the law of the land at defiance and allow Mr. Stewart's hotel and all the dives and dens to sell whiskey with impunity. It is hardly conceivable that a person of Mr. Stewart's natural ability and attainments could stoop so low as to advocate through the medium of the paper he controls a deliberate perversion and violation of the law of the land.

Listen to the opinion of Earl Grey as voiced at the Annual Press dinner in London a few weeks ago—

"The press is not only the purveyor of news; it is the ever vigilant and tireless army of Society on whose efficiency we depend in a constant warfare against the evils which afflict mankind. No sacrifice appears to them too great, no exertion too strenuous, no privation too severe if any or all of them are necessary to be faced in order to enable them to achieve the ideals of their inspired and disinterested journalism."

How does the World measure up to the standard set by the noble Earl Grey? What would be the opinion of that statesman if he could realize the sordid, miserable motives from whence such advice emanates as that which has filled the columns of the World for two weeks since our last civic election? The summing up of all the contemptible pleas contained in the un-patriotic outburst of Saturday last: "Let no man subscribe a dollar or write a letter or do anything at all to promote this proposed celebration without this guarantee; thus speaks the Editor of the World. Now just consider for a moment what the terms of this guarantee must be:—First, the Touraine hotel must be admitted to the protection of this guarantee because the Editor is a stock-holder; secondly, all the "good citizens," so called by the World—who have had to leave the country by reason of "nearly-forgotten" commitments, must be recalled to enjoy "Old Home Week" and possibly have their passage-money provided by the town; thirdly, all the restrictions now in force must be removed and whiskey must be allowed on every bit of fare and on every function; and lastly, no "good" is to be seized or destroyed by Scott Act officials. Unless all these conditions are guaranteed by the Town Council let the World wipe its hands, declare the boycott, and defeat the intention of our citizens to celebrate the home coming of our own people.

Will our Town Council stand for such bull-dozing tactics? Will it continue the repeated and contemptible claps upon several members of its executive?

Will it succumb to the manifest special plea, to say nothing of the most aggravated bad form, of singling out one Alderman by name in order to throw upon him the odium (or otherwise) of a refusal to obey the dictates of the World?

My own particular view, and I fancy it is the opinion of nearly all of our citizens except those who reap the whisky harvest, is that the Town Council will realize that they would lay themselves open to ridicule and censure, to say nothing of their legal liability, by any tinkering, tampering or temporizing in the way suggested by the World. Already public opinion has set strongly in approval of the improved conditions inaugurated by the present council, and as an illustration I may quote the experience of one of our Chatham dealers in dry goods. His story was substantially this:—One Saturday night, recently, a man who owed him a couple of dollars came in and tendered him a five dollar bill to pay the same and afterwards expended a dollar or two in further purchases. He then volunteered the information that if the hotel bars, saloons or dives had been allowed to open on Saturday night's as had been permitted by the late council, he would have spent every cent of his week's wages for whiskey and the merchant would have to do without his just dues. This is not a fancy sketch, it was told me by the merchant, whose advertisement appears in the World; rather an anomalous condition when it is analyzed, is it not? Advertising to rag custom to the legitimate dealer in necessary commodities in many columns while many other columns are teeming with justification for depriving the legitimate dealer of the fruit of his enterprise and toil! And still the unholy war and the boycott of our old home-week is threatened. Will the Council and the people permit the threat to materialize into effect? Assuredly not!

FEIDLER'S RESTAURANT

BURNED

About 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Feidler, whose bedroom was in the rear of their restaurant, were awakened by the cries of their child, and found the room full of smoke. Jumping from bed Mr. Feidler found the house on fire and escape by the door barred. Mrs. Feidler was nearly suffocated and both with the child, had great difficulty in escaping by the window. Mrs. Feidler, after getting out of the building ran to give the alarm, while her husband endeavored to fight the flames, but with little success. When the firemen arrived the restaurant was a mass of flames. Samuel Russell's store in the other end of the building was much damaged by water, a large part of the stock being destroyed. Mr. Feidler's loss is about $800, insured for $300. Mr. Russell's loss is covered by insurance. The building was owned by Mrs. James O. Fish. The cause of the fire is unknown when Mr. Feidler retired about 12:50 everything was apparently safe.

ONTARIO TO OUTLAW TREATING

says:—The anti-treating law, which will be discussed by the next session, will be far reaching in its effect. The new legislation it is understood, will be of a drastic nature, and will thoroughly eliminate the treating system, which was criticized so severely by Sir James Whitney on the floor of the house two months ago.

The hotel keeper, the bartender, the man who buys the drink, and the man who is given the treat will be prosecuted under the new law. It is believed that by this means, the habit will be discouraged more than if action were taken against the hotel-keeper's license.

The anti-treating law which, in all probability, will be incorporated in an addition to the license act, will impose heavy fines upon hotel-keepers, who violate the law for the first and second time, and on the third occasion the license will be cancelled. The bartender will be fined to the amount of $100 to $200 and the treator and "treated" will be dealt with in a similar way.

DECREASED BUDGET FOR GERMANY NAVY

Germany Will Spend $250,000 Less Next Year On Her Navy

Berlin.—The Neiddutsche Allgemeine Zeitung publishes a summary of the imperial budget for 1912. The total expenditure is given as 2,313,300,000 marks (approximately $764,840,750), an increase of 58,007,000 marks ($18,516,750). The army expenditure is given as 1,753,400,000 marks ($552,000,000), an increase of 41,241,000 marks ($12,810,250). On the navy 557,415,000 marks ($172,350,750) is to be spent on the navy in 1912. This is a decrease of 58,007,000 marks ($18,516,750) from the 615,422,000 marks ($190,857,000) for 1911. The extra-ordinary expenditure for the navy is increased by 24,500,000 marks ($7,530,000). The army budget is due to the larger peace feeling voted in the Reichstag during the last session. The budget for the national debt falls for 1912 to 299,000,000 marks ($91,950,000).

New York.—This picture shows the top stories of the new Bank of Commerce building in New York. J. Pierpont Morgan has picked out for his new offices the forty-second floor.

Immediately beneath the odd-looking pyramid on top, the pyramid will be used by Morgan and his banking house as a safety vault for the storage of millions in gold, stocks and bonds. If this idea of storing wealth high in the air becomes at all general it may lead to a new type of daring bank robber, operating by aeroplane.

A TREASURE HUNT IN AUCKLAND

After Four Previous Attempts to Recover Lost Gold, a New Expedition Has Started Out On the Hunt.

Auckland, N. Z.—Captain N. C. Sorenson, formerly employed as diver by the Auckland Harbor Board, purges, in conjunction with a partner in Dunedin, to fit out an expedition, to cost about $50,000, to proceed to the Auckland Islands to endeavor to recover the bullion believed to have been lost in the General Grant, wrecked there in 1866. Four previous attempts to recover this treasure were unsuccessful. Captain Sorenson believes that the failures were through attempting the work from the seaward side. His idea is to land an expedition on the landward side and cut a road across to the wreck, and operate by means of derricks erected on the cliffs.

The General Grant was a sailing ship of about 1,300 tons. She left Melbourne for London, laden with valuable products of the Ballarat goldfields, on May 3, 1866. Just ten days later she struck hidden rocks off the Auckland Islands, and the majority of those on board were lost. Six survivors experienced hunger and cold before they were discovered in the month of March, two years later, by Captain Gifford, of the brig Hemphreys, who took them on to the Bluff.

A ROMANTIC IRISH MARRIAGE

Claim That Only One Witness Being Present It Was Null and Void According to the Roman Catholic Church.

Dublin.—In the Probate Court, before Mr. Justice Madden, an application for alimony pending the hearing of the case of Usher vs. Usher was heard. The petition is brought by the husband for the nullity of the marriage. The family residence is at Eastwell, Louisa, County Galway.

Mr. Sergeant Moriarty, who appeared for the respondent, Mrs. Usher, said that the petitioner, William Arland Usher, a gentleman farmer, stated in his petition that on April 24, 1910, at 10 o'clock at night he was married to Mary Usher, "now falsely called Mary Usher," in a bed room in his house. They are Roman Catholics and the ceremony was performed by a Roman Catholic priest in the presence of the witness. The petitioner now said that the marriage was null and void by reason of the fact that only one witness was present and that the ceremony was not carried out according to the rites, regulations, and ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church as required by law. The respondent denied that the marriage was null and void for any of the reasons stated by the petitioner.

In a reply affidavit the petitioner said that the contract of marriage was not accompanied by a valid religious ceremony as was required by law, that it was subject to and on the express condition that it should be according to the rites of the Roman Catholic Church and on the express condition that the Roman Catholic Church should permit of the same being valid.

IRISH ENJOY TO BE SPANISH

Delhi.—The Gackwar of Baroda, an Indian prince, is to be spanked, figuratively, for insulting King George V. Invited at the Durbar ceremonies, the Indian potentate, who has long been hostile to British rule, attended the Durbar in casual dress instead of robes of state. When the time came to pay homage to the king, he gave a perfunctory bow and turned his back on the king. He has been ordered to apologize and further steps will be taken to curb him.

A GREAT PAINTER'S START IN LIFE

Now a Young Girl Inspired Ziem, the Great Portrait Painter, To Get Out of Himself, and Work.

Paris.—Ziem, sitting cross-legged on a table beside a window, worked for a tailor's assistant for several years. His life was thrown into a new channel by the arrival to the court yard of an Italian family in which there was a handsome, auburn-haired girl who sang as a ballad singer. The father played a hurdy-hurdy, the mother made lace and a boy performed divers gymnastic feats. The girl had a fine voice. Her father wanted a new coat and asked the elder Ziem to make it and Mme. Ziem to take in a part of the family as lodgers. She took in the boy and girl.

The latter lifted the future painter out of himself with her Venetian songs and accounts of the glorious city to which she hoped soon to return. Her name was Caterina. When she went away Ziem felt miserable. He lost spirit and could not shake off the sort of paralysis that had seized on all his faculties. At last he determined—with the help of his needle and his talent, as he thought, of portrait painter and violinist—to make his way to Venice. They answered to his hopes of going down by water to Marseilles, for he knew so geography, and thence to Rome. It would be now curious to see the portraits of Saine and Rhore captains of barges, wine and wood cuts that he did for them, in lieu of postage money. In Rome he got in with painters and tourists. The former helped him to enlarge his artistic culture, and the latter look him about as a guide. But Caterina and Venice lay on his heart, and he took the old resolution of going on foot to the city of his dreams. He so fell in love with it the first day he went on the hills that he did not break his heart when he heard that Caterina had not turned up, but had gone to Paris to serve as a model.

Interesting Experience of Two Women—Their Statements Worth Reading.

White Oak, Ont. — "At Change of Life when doctors could do no more and I was given up by my friends, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to the front and did wonders for me. I had been having female troubles for years, my head troubled me severely at times, I had bearing down pains and backache and I was very anaemic from excessive flowing. I recommend your Compound highly and do all I can to advertise it as a genuine woman's medicine." — Mrs. SYLVESTER MANNING, White Oak, Ontario.

The Case of Mrs. Kirlin. Circleville, Ohio. — "I can truthfully say that I never had anything do me so much good during Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken one-half a bottle of it I began to feel better, and I have continued taking it. My health is better than it has been for several years. If all women would take it they would escape untold pain and misery at this time of life." — Mrs. ALICE KIRLIN, 353 W. Mill St., Circleville, Ohio.

The Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. At such times women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Another Big Strike In Britain

London, May 27.—The dock strike, which has been conducted precariously up to the present, assumed a disquieting aspect to-night by reason of the issuance of a manifesto in behalf of the strikers protesting against the use of police and soldiers in the employers' interests, and warning the government that such repressive action will provoke extreme measures on the part of the strikers and imperil the peaceful conduct of the dispute.

The probability of the strike becoming national, is increased by the belief that the carmen's strike will be a partial failure, and because of the continual diversion of London vessels to other ports. Instructions were sent by the transport workers' federation to-night to Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow, Southampton and other ports ordering the men to refuse to handle the cargoes on such vessels.

For soreness of the muscles, when they are induced by violent exercise or injury, there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment also relieves rheumatic pains.

GIFT OF A DYING TOT

Savings of a Little Child Dying of Tubercular Trouble Goes to Help the Consumptive Poor

How true it is in many different walks of life that "little child shall lead them." We have been shown a copy of a letter written by a lady of St. John, N.B., who only a month ago lost her little child, a girl of nine years, of tubercular trouble. The mother's own words tell the story better than can be told in any other way. She writes to the Secretary of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives at Gravenhurst in these words: "While my loved one was ill, I one night opened some literature from you at her bedside. She asked me what it was. I told her it was a paper asking for subscriptions to the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives, and showed her the pictures in the pamphlet. She asked if she could not give what she had in her little savings bank. I told her 'Yes'—to give it to the doctor and he would send it. But she was too sick when he came again, so I am enclosing an express order for the amount I found in the bank, viz., $1.75, a small subscription, but trust you will receive it in the spirit in which it was given."

The letter is typical of many that are being constantly received at the head office of the Muskoka Hospital, 347 King St. W., Toronto. These come from all parts of Canada, for patients are received from anywhere in the Dominion. At the present time there are 156 patients in residence in the Muskoka Free Hospital, 123 of whom are unable to pay a single cent, and the other 23 only nominal sums—much less than actual cost of maintenance. During the nine years that the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives has been opened, not a single patient has ever been refused admission because unable to pay.

SPIES SENTENCED

Seven Years' Penal Servitude Given Shipbroker Who Was Caught With German Naval Plans.

Leipzig. — Heavy punishments were meted out to English spies arrested at Hamburg and who have been on trial behind closed doors for several days before the imperial court. Max Schultz, an English shipbroker, was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude. One of his associates, an engineer named Hipsych, was condemned to twelve years in jail; an engineer named Wulff, was sent to jail for two years, and a merchant named Von Manck, and Max Schultz's house keeper, each received three years. The judge in sentencing the men, said the arrest broke up a group of spies, whose activities were dangerous to the highest degree to the safety of the empire. Hipsych, in particular, who had been twelve years employed as an engineer in a naval shipyard, was able to collect designs and information from all the German yards. This he delivered last January to agents of an English information bureau, thus exposing Germany's most important military secrets. Max Schultz had organized, according to the judge, a network of spies through Germany. Hipsych probably was the lowest salaried spy of importance on record. He was paid only $10 a week. Wulff, it was stated, dealt with the question of submarines.

NEW WOMAN IN UNITED STATES

For the First Time in the History of the United States a Woman Speaks About Politics.

New York. — The wife of Congressman Martin W. Littleton is a great help to her eloquent husband. Recently he was unable to keep an engagement to address a political meeting. Mrs. Littleton went in his place and made the speech.

And the oratorical brilliance of Mrs. "Peggy O'Brien" Littleton, her intimate knowledge of the big political issues of the day, and her sledge hammer directness in dealing with them, forced the big audience to rise, at the conclusion of her speech, and cheer her as no other woman orator has been cheered before.

Mrs. Littleton is a dainty winsome woman, devoted to her husband and to her two children, and the spotlight of publicity is the farthest thing from her thoughts.

"Am I a suffragist?" she says. "I can only say what I did in my address, that among the good things we have inherited and added to are peace, freedom, justice, education, religion, opportunity and suffrage."

"Woman is the teacher of men. Her work in politics is to teach her children the love of country, the responsibilities of suffrage, the constitution and laws of the country and how they can be preserved. Her work should begin at the cradle to make her children good citizens and should only end at the grave."

INSIST SPANISH RIGHTS Temporary Headback With France Over Morocco

Madrid. — The Franco-Spanish negotiations on the subject of Morocco are temporarily in abeyance because of Spain's insistence on the establishment of a separate Spanish protectorate over the south and west of Morocco. Spain is willing to give up the hinterland, but refuses to abandon the coast zone. Spain also claims a conditional right to the collection of customs in the Spanish zone, which France opposes, on the ground that this would destroy the French plan of reimbursing the holders of the Moroccan debt through the collection of the customs by French functionaries.

This is generally construed to mean that the situation in that part of Morocco is so bad that General Wyler is going there to take the supreme command.

SOCIALISM VERSUS SYNDICALISM

(St. John, N. B., Standish.)

Syndicalism, which looked up in the recent coal strike in England, and in the Lawrence strike in the United States, is, in fact, with strong opposition from the Socialists, altogether contrary to their plan of campaign.

The Syndicalist philosophy of direct action has recently been summed up as follows: Fellow workers, you want an eight-hour day. Well, take it, when you come back the next morning, tell the master you were on strike four hours yesterday.

You want to get possession of the instruments of production? You are in possession already—all you have to do is to declare that you own the factory in which you work. If the master protests, kick him out. You say you can't get the full product of your toil? Get it, do only as much work as you can get out of the machine.

Against this beautifully simple gospel of force, the New York terms it, can be put the resolution adopted by the recent National Labor Convention at Indianapolis, which declares in clear-cut terms that the repudiation of industrial action and the advocacy of sabotage, or any other form of violence, shall constitute a cause for expulsion from the ranks of the Socialist party.

Already the Syndicalist movement is on the decline in France where its ideas were first developed. The benefits of the French strikers, Socialism has been reduced to a mere slogan, and it has supplanted the very foundation of the political power of the workingmen. Mr. Lillie, a Socialist, who is one of the leaders of the Labor party in the British House of Commons, declared only the other day that the partial conquest of political power which the workers have made has done more for them in six years than all the strikes they have ever waged for their wages.

But one to the point is his hope that the recent railway strike of the coal strike have demonstrated the superiority of direct action as a parliamentary action is quite a different way. Mr. Standish says: "In the railway and the mines the workers were failures as strikers. Both were converted into successes solely by the interference of the State, the very power which the workers have made us reject. If the employers and the State had been allowed to fight out without interference, the workers would have been abjectly defeated."

David Paget, a London street-boy violinist, has taken the way of good fortune. Paget, who is only fourteen years of age, earned a livelihood by playing outside the doors of theatres.

The boy's achievement, chronicled in the newspapers, caught the eye of Kubelik, the famous Bohemian violinist, who had just arrived in London, and the famous artist asked that the boy should be presented to him.

To demonstrate his abilities, the lad played the mazurka from a "Cavalier's Rhapsody" so effectively that Kubelik exclaimed: "Bravo, bravo!" Then, handling the boy's poor instrument Kubelik remarked that he must have a proper violin.

SWALLOWS NEST OF BANK-NOTE

Also How a House Stole $10 Worth of Notes to Make a Home.

A pair of swallows of Fiborbrunn, in the Tyrol, have stolen a number of ten-kroner bank-notes to line their nest.

The parent birds discovered that the new notes were just the shade of blue to match their eggs. The female being tough but flexible, and exactly the meter they needed. The nest and the missing notes were only discovered when the swallows had abandoned it and it fell to the ground.

This feat has been equalled by that of an enterprising mouse in Fribourg, which abstracted a number of twenty-kroner notes to the value of $40, of a delicate reddish brown shade, from the cash drawer of a butcher, and tearing them to pieces, adapted them to the purpose of making a nest for her family of seven. The butcher in his search for the notes suspected and traced the mouse, and found the nest under the boarding. He carefully picked up the remains of the notes and returned them to the bank, where they were valued at $37.50, the bank claiming $2.50 for "material loss" caused by the mouse's teeth.
