As Sure as Shooting

But shooting is not always sure. It's mighty uncertain if the gun isn't right or if the ammunition is poor. Poor ammunition will keep the best gun from shooting, sure. Poor guns have the same effect upon good ammunition. You must have both of them right. Good guns, good ammunition, are what we want to sell you. Good revolvers, too, good powder and shot.

Father York Denounces Pugilism.

Referring to the Young Corbett-McGovern fight which took place in San Francisco recently, Rev. Father York, editor of the "Leader" published in that city, says: San Francisco is about to revel in a carnival of pugilism. The coming week, sacred throughout Christendom to the Passion of our Lord, will be desecrated by one of these brutal exhibitions, and thousands of our "Christian" citizens will gather to behold two pugmenel each other. The newspapers are filled with realistic pictures and thrilling descriptions of the brutes. Morning after morning we are treated to lengthy accounts of these feats. We are told what they weigh and measure, what they eat and drink, how hard they can hit and how many they knocked out.

Their fellows in the ring are carrying on jawing matches in the East to delude the fool public; and when their jaw-bones have grown tired, they will swarm to the Mosca of the fraternity to gather in the dollars. San Francisco is their only hope and refuge. There seem to be more fools to the square inch in this community than in any city in the country, and less sense of public decency. Fight after fight has been pronounced fake, but still the patrons of the ring are standing with open mouths and pockets to be fooled again. They pay their good money to see some "cold foot" lie down rather than face punishment.

Pugilism is a degrading business as well as a fraud. It appeals only to the brute that is in us. It is on a level with the gladiatorial fights in the Roman amphitheatre. And the record of the pugilists is notorious. They go the ways of dirt and dissipation. These be the heroes set up or the odification of our youth! The disgrace should stop. No decent man would introduce one of these pugilists to his family. Why then should he allow into his home papers reeking with description of them? If the papers are made to feel that their readers don't want such stuff, they will not supply it. The only way to bring papers to time is in their circulation.

And license should be refused for these exhibitions. The supervisors have a public duty and they are faithless to it in advertising this city as the hunting ground of pugilism. The minds of our youth are corrupted and certainly the patrons of pugilism are benefited neither in morals nor pocket. The whole business is for the private benefit of a few hungry adventurers and a few brutes whose only accomplishment is that they can knock out another brute. The disgrace should stop.

As far as we can judge, we have every reason to believe in the genuineness of the relics which are preserved in Rome, particles of which have been distributed in almost every part of the Christian world. Archbishop Ryan, who has gone more deeply into the study of this subject than any other prelate in this country, has said:

"Every Christian of no matter what creed, can appreciate the veneration in which we hold the relics of the Saviour. Even as the patriot preserves souvenirs of heroes, so have the Christians in all centuries held in reverence relics of the Nazarene.

"The true cross has been an object of especial veneration ever since its discovery in the year 336 by the Empress Helena. Many pieces of it have been distributed among the faithful but these have not been larger than a small strand of wood. This a small piece of the wood affords thousands of relics.

"It is evident from history and various monuments of antiquity, that the veneration of relics of the Saviour and the saints dates back to the dawn of Christianity. No relic which is not authenticated can be exposed to public veneration.

"There is a congregation of canons appointed to investigate sacred relics and authenticate them. It is one of the most difficult things in the world to obtain such authentication. The seal of the Church is never given to doubtful relics. There are, however, a great many duly authenticated relics."

Archbishop Ryan has a small portion of the true cross. The Franciscans in New York have a relic of the cross in a small silver case, which is kept in the part of the monastery reserved to the monks.

A relic of the true cross will be exposed for veneration in St. Paul's Church at three o'clock on Friday, after the service in memory of the three hours' agony and death of Christ. At several other Catholic churches, a like relic will be used in giving the blessing of the cross and afterward will be venerated, laid upon the communion rail and kissed by the thousands who attend these services.

The Abbey of Gethsemane in Kentucky treasures as its most valued possession a relic of the cross: Two splinters are laid in oruform on an ivory disk. This is covered with a crystal and placed in the head of a crozier. This pastoral staff was the life work of a Trappist monk at the abbey.—True Witness.

The Conversion of England.

Three convert priests, formerly Anglican clergymen, Fathers Coase and Filmar and Dr. Arandz, are about to open, says the London Catholic Times, a special mission at Gunnersbury for the purpose of carrying on a propaganda under the auspices of the Society of Our Lady of Compassion, instituted by the present Pope, "for the conversion of England." A suitable house has been rented for the work. This Society, or, rather, Arch-Confratersplinter, not much larger than a cambric needle.

In speaking of the matter, Rev. Dr. Lavalle, pastor of the Cathedral, said:—

"When Mark Twain, in his 'Innocents Abroad' made the assertion that he had found enough relics of the true cross to build a ship, he made a most ridiculous blunder and betrayed an almost unpardonable ignorance."

The reliquary which holds these sacred relics is usually from twelve to eighteen inches high. The precious specimen is rarely more than a mere thread of the wood. It is placed in a large ostensorium in order that the multitude may, on occasions when the relic is displayed, be able to distinguish its position upon the altar.

The relic which the Cathedral cherishes was brought to this country by Cardinal McCloskey. Before this one of the other priests had as his private possession a small relic of the cross. Archbishop Hughes also possessed one of these tiny treasures. The relic at the Cathedral is encased in a costly jewel-studded reliquary standing about fourteen inches high. It shows ancient Roman repousse work in gold and silver. It is brilliant with diamonds and sapphires.

In the centre of this ostensorium is a small medallion, covered with bevelled crystal and showing beneath an ivory cross of exquisite workmanship. Set in the centre of this is the relic of the cross of Nazareth.

Cardinal Gibbons has a piece of the true cross in his pastoral cross. Upon being requested to give his opinion as to the authenticity of these relics of the Passion, he replied:

"As far as we can judge, we have every reason to believe in the genuineness of the relics which are preserved in Rome, particles of which have been distributed in almost every part of the Christian world. Archbishop Ryan, who has gone more deeply into the study of this subject than any other prelate in this country, has said:

The Conversion of England.

Three convert priests, formerly Anglican clergymen, Fathers Coase and Filmar and Dr. Arandz, are about to open, says the London Catholic Times, a special mission at Gunnersbury for the purpose of carrying on a propaganda under the auspices of the Society of Our Lady of Compassion, instituted by the present Pope, "for the conversion of England." A suitable house has been rented for the work. This Society, or, rather, Arch-Confraternity, of Our Lady of Compassion, was established by Pope Leo XIII, at St. Salpicio, Paris, for the return of Great Britain to the faith. The means which the associates are to use are chiefly prayers, but all kinds of good works that may directly or indirectly help to the attainment of the end in view may be employed. The patrons are Our Blessed and Most Sorrowful Mother, at the foot of the Cross, under the title of her Compassion; also St. Joseph, Spouse of Our Lady; St. Peter, Prince of the Apostles and Patron of England; St. Gregory the Great and St. Augustine, Apostles of England. To be a member of the Association, and to gain the indulgence with which it is enriched, the only obligation, besides being enrolled in the register of the Association, is to say at least one Ave Maria every day, in order to obtain the conversion for which the Association is founded; and the members are especially exhorted to recite this prayer, from the Apostolic Letter ad Anglos:—

"O Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of God, and our most gentle Queen and Mother, look down in mercy upon England thy 'Dowry,' and upon us all who greatly hope and trust in thee.

"By thee it was that Jesus, our Saviour and our Hope, was given unto the world; and He has given thee to us that we might hope still more. Plead for us, thy children, whom thou didst receive and accept at the foot of the Cross, O sorrowful Mother.

"Intercede for our separated brethren, that with us in the oratory they may be united to the shepherd, the Year of thy Son. Pray for us all, dear Mother, that by faith fruitful in good works we may all deserve to see and praise God, together with thee, in our heavenly home. Amen."

Members are also warmly invited to offer Mass or Communion, and make a visit on Thursdays, for the same intention. Other good works, tending to the conversion of souls or to holiness of life, are strongly recommended. Meetings are held monthly in the church in which the Confraternity is established, at the time when the usual prayers before Benediction, for the conversion of England, are recited. There will be an exhortation before Exposition, before or after Benediction the Holy Father's prayer for England is said. A number of indulgences have been granted to the Association.—S. H. Review.

Charles F. Lummis, the editor of "Out West," is a non-Catholic writer whose name is familiar to our readers, since, on many occasions, we have quoted his scorn of the spirit of suspicion and intolerance towards Catholics which lingers still in many parts of America. Mr. Lummis is a firm believer in the eligibility for statehood of New Mexico and Arizona, and in the latest issue of his magazine he declares that anti-Catholic bigotry is one of the reasons why the admission of these two territories into the union of states is denied; though he says that, this year, the opposition was smart enough to make no open admission of this fact. He writes:—

"But this is one of the real grounds of the opposition. It is a new form and application of that ancient and unmanly proscription which had its fair trial in the United States, and was heard to its last gasp, and buried and damned so deep that even its echoes dare not resurrect or confess it. The American principle is that a man may believe any creed he likes so long as he really believes and lives up to something; an that the standard of his usefulness as a citizen is measured not by his denomination, but by his personal character. Certainly, under this standard, the people of the two territories can afford comparison with any eastern state."—S. H. Review.

An interesting conversion chronicled by English exchanges is that of Mrs. Thelwell, the widow of the well-known water-color artist, Weymouth Thelwell, who was received into the Church by the Rev. Father Coventry, O. S. M., of the Fallow Priory. Mrs. Thelwell is herself a connection of Sir Walter Scott's family, and her late husband was the youngest son of the celebrated John Thelwell, the reformer, who, together with Herne Tooke and Hardy, was tried for high treason in 1795.

Mgr. Touchet, Bishop of Oran, speaking at a meeting of prominent Catholics held to protest against the closing of the congregational schools, is reported to have declared that the closing of the schools constituted a perversion and an abuse, since the Government had advised the members of the Congregations to ask for authorization while intending all the time not to grant it them. The Bishop is said to have added: "As Bishop of Orleans, assuming the responsibility of my words and being very glad if they involve me in a police court action, I proclaim aloud that the Government has broken faith."

The new Church of the Guardian Angel, London, which is due to the generous charity of Lady Mary Howard, is one of the most beautiful of the metropolitan churches. The outlay for the sacred edifice, which was opened on the feast of the Annunciation, was about £19,000.

From the form in which the report of a recent trial at Munich appeared in the daily papers many were led to infer that the lady found guilty was a nun. The following explanatory letter, sent to the "London Catholic Times" by Miss E. Delaney from Schloss Nymphenburg, Munich, Bavaria, will be read with interest: "Will you kindly contradict the statement which has been circulated through the English papers to the effect that Fraulein Elise von Hensler, who was recently tried and convicted in Munich for putting muriatic acid into a servant girl's coffee, was the superioress of a convent? The Maximilianist, of which Fraulein von Hensler was the lady superintendent or director, is a purely secular home for old maiden ladies of very small means. The institution was founded by King Maximilian II, of Bavaria, and is under the control of the Ministry. It is not even necessary that the inmates be Catholic."

An interesting jubilee ceremony took place on March 15, when Cardinal Sereghy Hervas, sitting amidst the gonfalds of the fifteen wards of Rome, distributed to the parents outfits for each of the children born on March 3. One of the mothers brought twin, they had received the names of Romulus and Remus.

Mr. Isaac Austin Henderson, an American Catholic living in Rome, has given a garden to the Association of the Sacred Heart in the Christian Brothers' schools, Trastevere. The garden was inaugurated a few days ago with a festival, and an inscription in honor of Mr. Henderson was unveiled.

On occasion of the death of the late Bishop of Salford, England, the following resolution was passed by the Jewish Synagogue of Manchester: "The Manchester Shocheta Bard, consisting of representatives of twelve synagogues of this city, offers its sympathy and condolence to the Catholic community of Manchester on the severe loss it has sustained on the demise of the Right Rev. Bishop of Salford, who for a period of eleven years so ably fulfilled the duties of his high office. The Manchester Jewish community feels that the death of so eminent a prelate is a loss to the city generally, and it hopes that the common Father of all will grant consolation to their Catholic fellow-citizens in their sorrow." We are sure, says the "London Catholic Times," that the Catholics of Manchester and of the whole of the Diocese of Salford feel deeply grateful for this sympathy. The kind act is one of those that are not readily forgotten.

Itching Skin
Distress by day and night— That's the complaint of those who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum—and outward applications do not cure. They can't. The source of the trouble is in the blood—make that pure and this scaling, burning, itching skin disease will disappear. I was taken with an itching on my arms which proved very disagreeable. I concluded it was salt rheum and bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two days after I began taking it I felt better and it was not long before I was cured. Have never had any skin disease since. Mrs. Ida E. Ward, Cox Point, Md.

The Budget Speech.

The budget speech delivered by Premier Peters on Wednesday evening last, certainly was the most extraordinary ministerial financial statement made in our Provincial Legislature for many years. Indeed it is doubtful if ever such a peculiar budget speech had previously been presented in the House of Assembly.

Mr. Gallant followed in support of the bill. Mr. Currie opposed the bill on the ground that the Legislature had no right to attempt to override the rights of the citizens.

Mr. Morson argued that if the bill were passed the corporation rights of the citizens of Charlottetown would be attacked and curtailed. The city has incurred a heavy liability, and it would be very unfair to deprive them of any means of paying the city debt, principle or interest.

Mr. Mathieson showed that the House had received no information concerning the intentions of the Company, as stated in the preamble of the bill. The House did not know whether the statement was true or false.

penditure left out of the estimates fairly indicate that this year is to be a record breaker in the matter of deficits and debt. If this manner of conducting public business and managing our finances is allowed to continue nothing but financial ruin and bankruptcy can be the result.

Sessional Notes.

Routine, asking and answering questions, and the consideration of private bills, occupied the attention of the Legislature for the most part during Monday and Tuesday of last week. On Tuesday evening the debate on the bill to grant twenty years exemption from civic taxation to the Dominion Packing Company, was resumed.

On Wednesday afternoon the debate was resumed. Hon. Mr. Gordon pointed out that this company had not come here specially for our benefit; but they had come to make money.

On Thursday, after matters of routine, the budget debate was continued. Mr. A. J. McDonald, referring to Mr. Simpson's remarks about the cost of education called attention to the political schools that had been erected by the Government.

On Thursday evening Mr. McKinnon continued the budget debate. He pointed out the difference between the tone of the Leader of the Government when he makes his budget here and when he makes representations to Ottawa for increased subsidies.

company had come here to do a profitable business, and he was in favor of encouraging industries to compete. He had information that they were not anxious to pay more for the produce offered than the market value.

On Wednesday afternoon the debate was resumed. Hon. Mr. Gordon pointed out that this company had not come here specially for our benefit; but they had come to make money.

On Wednesday evening, Hon. Mr. Gordon followed the Premier in the budget debate. He considered it most extraordinary for the Premier to picture the situation in such glowing colors, when the principal features of his budget speech were larger taxes and increasing debt.

On Thursday, after matters of routine, the budget debate was continued. Mr. A. J. McDonald, referring to Mr. Simpson's remarks about the cost of education called attention to the political schools that had been erected by the Government.

On Thursday evening Mr. McKinnon continued the budget debate. He pointed out the difference between the tone of the Leader of the Government when he makes his budget here and when he makes representations to Ottawa for increased subsidies.

when we really had a considerable deficit. Mr. McKinnon took each of the items placed in the capital account and showed they had no business there.

After Captain Reid had spoken Mr. Currie vigorously assailed the Government's methods of conducting the public business. The debt, deficit and taxation came in for criticism.

Mr. Gallant spoke briefly, and then Mr. Arsenault made an onslaught on the Government's conduct of public affairs. The scandalous condition of roads and bridges in his own district was held up to public condemnation.

Mr. Kichham arraigned the Government for the scandalous condition which they permitted roads and bridges in his district to remain in. Rights of a way had been purchased and the roads had never been opened.

On Friday forenoon Mr. Kichham concluded his remarks and after a few words from Mr. Irving the House went into committee of supply.

The opposition asked the Government to lay on the table of the House a statement explaining expenditures in the department of justice amounting to $3 736. What was the cause of this expenditure, and who got the money?

Mr. J. R. Davison, undertaker, met with a very serious accident a few days ago. He was guiding with a stick a rope which was holding goods through a hatch to an upper story, when the stick broke and he lost his balance and fell through the hatch to the floor below, a distance of fifteen feet. The man who was holding the rope and looking down saw Mr. Davison lying on the floor. Medical assistance was called in and he was found to be badly bruised about the head and face.

When the steamer Southport was coming down the East River on Tuesday of last week the paddle shaft on one side broke off. She was a short distance east of Hickey's wharf at the time. The tide was running out and she drifted helplessly till she came opposite the wharf when a line was taken ashore in a boat and she was made fast to the wharf. She is about twenty seven years old and her machinery has not been officially inspected since Fred Peters became Premier; she has not carried the life preserving apparatus etc., as laid for by the regulations, nor has she been run by engineers holding "engineers certificates." This is how the Government has been subjecting passengers to the risk of losing life and limb.

A SERIOUS MILITARY ENGAGEMENT.

The war office, London, on Friday last received from Brigadier General Manning, in command of the British forces in Somaliland, a despatch dated at twenty miles westward of Galada, Somaliland, April 18th, as follows: Regret to report that a firing column under command of Colonel Cobbe, which left Galada on April 10th to reconnoitre the road to Walwal, had a most serious check on April 17th. On the morning of April 17th Col. Cobbe was at Gamba forty miles westward of Galada, and had decided to return to Galada, owing to the difficulty of finding a road to Walwal and the shortness of water. He was about to leave his sereba (protected camp) when firing was heard in the direction of a small party under command of Captain Oliver, which had been sent in a westerly direction to reconnoitre. At 9 o'clock in the morning Col. Cobbe despatched Col. Plunkett with 100 men of the Second Battalion of the King's African Rifles, 48 men of the Second Sikhs and two Maxim guns for the extraction of Captain Oliver if necessary. As a matter of fact Captain Oliver had not been engaged. Plunkett on joining his detachment continued to push on. At 11.45 Colonel Cobbe heard a heavy fire in the direction taken by Plunkett, and about one o'clock in the afternoon a few fugitives coming in reported that Colonel Plunkett had been defeated. The news has been fully corroborated since, and I have to report the total loss of Col. Plunkett's party with the exception of 37 natives, who have arrived here. Plunkett kept back the enemy until he had no more ammunition when he formed a square and charged on them with the bayonet in the direction of Col. Cobbe's camp. He moved some distance in this manner, but a great many men including Colonel Plunkett himself, were killed or wounded by the pursuing enemy. Brigadier General Manning after an engagement with the Mad Mullah's forces relieved Col. Cobbe near Cumbarra, Somaliland. About two thousand of the Mullah's men were killed. The British loss is not known. The Mullah's forces are reported to aggregate from 30,000 to 40,000 mounted men and about 80,000 spearmen.

SOLDIERS CONDEMNED TO DEATH.

Five private soldiers belonging to the second battalion of the Lincoln Regiment were sentenced to death in the Supreme Court at Pretoria, Wednesday. The conviction of the men followed their trial in connection with a riot which took place at the barracks on March 23th. When the militia police attempted to arrest a number of drunken soldiers the latter were reinforced by some of their comrades and secured rifles and ammunition and opened fire on the military and one of the latter, members of Lincoln Regiment was killed and sixteen men were injured.

A SEALER FINED.

The St. John's, Nfld., Herald speaking of the arrival there of the steamer Newfoundland, says: Captain Farquhar has laid before the Government the messages he received from the Canadian Department of Marine, asking him to proceed to the aid of the Minto and Stanley. He will support these by further documentary evidence from that department and from the Governor General, and it is believed that on his doing so the Executive here will return him the $4,000 which he had to pay yesterday in order to secure permission to land his seals. While rounding Cape Spear in a storm on the 14th the steamer had five boats smashed. Capt. Farquhar has sold his seals to Job Bros.

SUNDAY.

If the work of our sanctification offers to us difficulties that appear to be insurmountable, it is only because we do not know how to form a right idea of them.

I worship thee, sweet will of God! And all thy ways adore; And every day I live in seem To love thee more and more.

Thou wert the end, the blessed rule Of Jesus' toils and tears; Thou wert the passion of His heart Three times and thirty years.

Let us do our part; God will do the rest. And He hath breathed into my soul A special love of thee;

A love to lose my will in His, And by that loss to free. I love to kiss each print where Thou Has set thine unseen feet;

I cannot fear thee, blessed will! Thine empire is so sweet.

TUESDAY.

The divine action delivers the soul, that wholly abandons itself to the will of God, from all those mean and restless contrivances that seem so necessary to human prudence.

I love to see thee bring to nought The plans of wily men; When simple hearts outwit the wise, Oh, thou art loveliest then!

The headstrong world it presses hard Upon the Church full oft, And then how easily thou turn'st The hard ways into soft.

WEDNESDAY.

The active part of sanctity consists in the loving fulfillment of the duties imposed on us by the laws of God and of the Church, or by the particular state that we have embraced.

When obstacles and trials seem Like prison walls to be, I do the little I can do, And leave the rest to thee. I know not what it is to doubt;

My heart is ever gay; I run no risk, for come what will, Thou always hast thy way.

THURSDAY.

The passive part of sanctity consists in the loving acceptance of those things which, more often than not, we would not know how to avoid, anyway; and in suffering with love what too often is suffered with worry and dislike.

I have no cares, O blessed will! For all my cares are thine; I live in triumph, Lord! for Thou Hast made Thy triumph mine.

And when it seems no chance or grief From grief can set me free, Hope finds its strength in helplessness And gaily waits for thee.

FRIDAY.

O bread of angels, heavenly manna, evangelical pearl, sacrament of the present moment, you give God to us. He reveals Himself to little ones in the least little things.

Men's weakness waiting upon God Its end can never miss; For men on earth no work can do More angel-like than this.

Ride on, ride on triumphantly, Thou glorious will! ride on; Faith's pilgrim sons behind thee take The road that thou hast gone.

SATURDAY.

Ask me not what is the secret of finding this treasure. Secret there is none. This treasure is everywhere, it offers itself to all, at all times, in all places.

He always wins who sides with God, To him no chance is lost; God's will is sweetest to him when It triumphs at his cost.

Ill that He blesses is our good, And unblest good is ill; And all is right that seems most wrong, If it be His sweet will!

Not long since we had occasion to treat briefly the subject of the famous decree of "liberty of worship" recently issued by the Czar of Russia.

western civilization. We, therefore, take with pleasure some extracts from a contribution signed "Ex-Attache," which recently appeared in the New York "Tribune."

We all know that Alexander III, the predecessor of the present Czar, had the reputation of being an intolerant tyrant. Yet his secretary was a Lutheran, and his bosom friend a Catholic priest.

"Ex-Attache" tells us that "in an unfortunate moment, Alexander III. appointed his old tutor, Pobiedonostoff, to the post of Procurator-General of the Holy Synod, knowing him to be a man of the most sterling integrity, with the idea that he would, as the alter ego of the crown in ecclesiastical matters, inaugurate an era of greater discipline among the clergy, as well as introduce some urgently needed reforms.

The Procurator-General, however, was a man imbued with a fanaticism in matters of religion that was totally out of keeping with the present age, and this, together with his deep rooted devotion to the Czar, led him not only to make use of his position to foster the doctrine among all classes of officialdom that orthodoxy was indispensable to loyalty, and that religious dissent spelled treason, but also to exert all his authority as perhaps the most influential member of the Council of Ministers and of the Senate of the Empire to persecute by administrative means all the non-orthodox subjects of the Czar into joining the established church.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The artist of whom the Philadelphia Press tells was the impressionist school. He had just given the last touches to a purple and blue canvas when his wife came into his studio.

"My dear," said he, "this is the landscape I wanted you to suggest a title for."

"Why not call it 'Home'?" she said, after a long look.

"Home? Why?"

"Because there's no place like it," she replied, meekly.

Three-year-old Jack had pulled a large bunch of nasturtiums in his grandmother's yard, although strictly forbidden to touch the flowers.

"Jack," she said, "who pulled grandma's flowers?"

With a sad countenance the beautiful little fellow replied, "Kathleen (his elder sister)."

Then the grandfather, a rather stern old gentleman and a great stickler for truth, spoke up: "Jack, be a man and say I did it."

With a beaming expression of relief Jack cried out, "O, yes, grandpa did it."

Senator Hoar, at the New England dinner in Philadelphia, talked about New England hospitality. "It is better now than it used to be," he said, "but it will stand improvement. I remember how I dined, not long ago, with a Connecticut friend of mine. For dinner there was turkey. It was an excellent bird, and I ate heartily. I said, 'John, this turkey will make a fine hash to-morrow.' 'Yes, George, it will,' the farmer answered, provided that you leave off now! That was not New England hospitality, either. It was just a joke," continued Senator Hoar.

A London paper gives some "Reflections of Rejected Manuscript," which will find a sympathetic reception among the struggling writers whose poems come back with editorial regrets:

A MS. in the publisher's hand is worth two in the author's. An editor is known by the MSS. he keeps—and the stamps.

Desperate authors require desperate remedies. A poet and his poem are soon parted. In submitting a MS. he who hesitates is a wonder.

A true friend is one who laughs at our jokes. It is a wise author who knows his own MS. after it has been blue penciled.

"Many happy returns of the day" applies to the unsuccessful writer all the year around.
