quate or inconsistent, changes have been introduced with as much uniformity as practicable; for instance, "Tabernaels of the Congregation" has been every-where changed to "Tent of Meeting." In regard to the word "Jehovah," the usage of the authorized version is follow-mong the revisers which held out fo the alternative readings and they suc-ceeded in putting it in the margin, which contains most of the scholarship of the revision. The first verse of Genesis in both the authorized and revised versions is the same. The first alteration occurs in the second verse, where instead of "and the earth was without form and void," we read, "and the earth was waste and void." The text of the story of the creation is without other striking varia-tions. The same may be said of the description of the fall and the flood

ALTERATIONS IN THE COMMANDMENTS.

In the ten commandments are some verbal alterations, the most striking be-ing that the sixth, "Thou shalt not kill," (Exodus xx. 13), becomes "Thou shalt do no murder." Deuteronomy chapter xxxii, verse 5,

"They have corrupted themselves, their spot is not the spot of his children," is revised : "They have corrupted them-selves, they are not his children; it is their blemish." The Athenæim says : "The revision is a literary success. There are no preten-sions to acholarly completeness, and practically no alterations in the text. The revisers can be congratulated upon the wisdom of their decision in declining to make new text of old, as the other company did with the New Testament."

The last two verses of the Old Testa-ment read : "Behold, I will send you Elisha the prophet before the great and dreadful day of the Lord come, and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children and the heart of the children to the fathers."

Among the minor changes may be nounce' in the passages i-5: 'For Job said, It may be that my sons have sinnquoted : offering, for fools make a mock at sin." The witch of Endor now sees only "a ed, and cursed God in their hearts. Thus did Job continually, verse 11: 'But put The witch of Endor now sees only "a god," not "gods" ascending. In Pro-verbs "a naughty person" becomes "a worthless person." In Daniel, "As-touned for a while" is used, instead of "Astounied for one hour." The sub-stitution of modern words for archaic expressions has only taken place where the mead was not only obsolute but to forth thine hand now, and touch all that he hath, and he will curse thee to thy face'; ii-5: 'But put forth thine hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, end he will curse thee to thy face'; and verse 9: 'Then said his wife unto him. Dost thou still retain thy integrity? curse God, and die.' The old translation 'blasphenie,' for the same Hebrew verb the word was not only obsolete, but to the public unintelligible. "Coat of mail," for instance, is substituted for mail," for instance, is substituted for "brigandine" in Jeremiah Ii., 3, where 18, becomes curse.

"The famous so-called resurrection the Alirighty promises to raise an army against Babylon "and against him that hitteth himself up in his brigandine." passage, Job xix, 25-27, reads thus: But I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand up at the last For the word "cockatrice" there is given "basilisk," with "adder" as the margiupon the earth, and after my skin hath nal alternative. "The wimples and the crisping pins" mentioned, in Isaiah iii., been thus destroyed, yet from my flesh shall I see God ; Whom I shall see for 22, have altogether disappeared. "Em myself and not another; My reins are consumed within me.' The proper erods," I Samuel v, 6, makes way for "humours." "Habergeon" is rendered character of the modern chapter, XXVii, is recognized by the rendering (verse 1), "Surely there is a mine for silver," and in Exodus xxviii, as "coat of mail," and in Job xli. as "the pointed shaft." many other improvements occur in the following verses of the chapter. DR. STRONG ON THE REVISIONS.

The Psalms have been gently touched, as they are so deeply inwringht into re-able difference, and that bit seldom ; for example, "the man whose eye was closed saith," instead of "the man whose elucidation of any misty texts would be purely conjectural and out of place in a Bible for the people. And hence I judge that no religious body will be able to strengthen its faith by any altered doctrine in this revision of the eyes are open hath said"-xxiv., 3; 'there shall come a star out of Jacob, and Old Testament.

This same thing has been done in many ing of Samuel, David's encounter with Goliah, i. Samuel xvii., and the checkerinstances and will be appreciated. When, however, the facts, and not the language, ed lives of Saul and David stand in the revision with but verbat alterations now and then so slight that the ordinary are indeficate, as, for example, the story of Lot's daughters, in which not a single reader would not detect them. The improper word is used, they have been allowed to stand just as they were in the text, and we had no right to exclude same may be said of the history of Solomon and the following kings, the mira-cles of Elijah and Elisha and the narrathen "In the eyes of many people the Book

More leverage is gained in case of the two carsmen, and the boat revolves more nearly about the point which theory points cut. This, then, is the case on which the inventor bases his apparatus. Taking an iron cigar shaped gunboat as an example, a large open cylinder is run through the boat at each end, perpendi-cularly to its longitudinal axis, and be-low the water-line. In each cylinder is mounted a screw propeller, connected by more water, the juice of three lemons, the rind of two (cut very thin), and rather more than one quarter pound of loaf sugar. Let it boil five minutes, strain through a sieve, and place in a mold for the next day. Chinese Charm Cake : Three eggs, poonfuls baking powder. Beat the sugar and butter together, then add the milk, beat well, then break in one egg; beat all together, then add another egg; beat well, then add the other egg; beat well, then stip in the four and bake. This is then stir in the flour and bake. This is

The pastures should he allowed a good start, to get well noted and the ground be thorough-ly settled before any stock is dlowed to many on them. Hair Tonic : To prevent the heir from falling out after sickness, bathe the scalp each day with a tonic prepared as follows: Pour over three ourges of subjour one pint of alcohol. Shake well and add one-half pint of castor cil. If, after set-ting some time, it should become too thick for use, add alcohol and cil in the same proportions ; if too thin, add mounted a screw propeller, connected by rectangular gearing and a shaft, with an engine in the centre of the hull. The motion of each screw is entirely inde-pendent of thet of the other, and is managed by the pilot through the ensame proportions; if too thin, add sulphur.
