The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the crgans of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an un-failing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medieine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

One of his best relates to a gunne the Garrison Artillery, who had successfully passed an armourer's course. He was at home on furlough. wearing the usual decoration of the hammer and pincers on his right sleeve, when he was accosted by civilian, who asked what the decoration signified. "Oh." replied Toming facetiously, "I'm a qualified army dentist." "I see," said the civilian; of course, the pincers are for exracting the teeth, but what is the idea

"Well, you see," rejoined the soldier, "some of the chaps are a bit nervous, and are arraid to take chloroform, so as a substitue we use the hammer to knock them unconscious

Like so many titled families, the Yorkes, owe their elevation to a man of law. The first Earl of Hardwicke was Lord Chancellor, and had several sons, the second of whom, Charles, was in due course also made Chancellor, probably the only instance on record where both father and son have reached that high office.

There is a tragic story attached to Charles Vorke's elevation to the Woolsack. Although his ambition had been fixed on this appointment from his earliest years, he, on the resignation of Lord Camden, was offered the Great Seal, but on account of a pledge he had given to his political riends, declined it.

But George III. sent for him, and after two interviews Yorke left his sovereign with the Great Seal in his possession. Three days later he was found dead, just as the patent con ferring the title of Baron Morden upon him was being completed.

Family's Very Narrow Escape.

By the Prospero we learn that Ur. Ledrew and his wife and child had a very narrow escape from death when their residence was destroyed by fire at Twillingate in the storm of last Saturday morning. The wind blew with hurricane force from the N. W. when at 3 a.m. the residence was discovered to be on fire by the watchman at W. Ashbourne's premises near. He aroused the inmates, who escaped by getting out through the windows in their night clothes and with bare feet, and they with the domestic took shelter in Mr. Young's residence. Both Dr. Ledrew and his wife received a terrible fright, and the latter, who is in a delicate state of health, was prostrated for a while. When the fire was discovered it was well under way, and the people of the place assembled with alacrity and only by their arduous work were th nearby residences, the outhouses o Dr. Ledrew's premises and the stores and residences of Messrs. Ashbourn and Young saved. They formed bucket brigade, secured water from the harbor and kept the buildings drenched with water until all danger of their ignition was past. Had a Narrow Escape.

Mr. Archibald Noseworthy, mailman of the South Side, narrowly escaped a serious accident on Monday afterloon. About 4 o'clock while going down the South Side to his home with a quantity of coal a barrel of flour a sack of oats and other things on his slide, the load was precipitated over the embankment a distance of about 10 feet, owing to the ice and the nearness of the road to the bank. Mr. Noseworthy himself was somewhat shaken up, but fortunately not seriously injured. Although the slide went over the bank sufficiently far to capsize the load, it was a good thing the horse held it as it would otherwise have been down on top of Mr. Noseworthy, possibly killing him. Captain Richard Glavine came to the rescue and assisted Mr. Noseworthy to reover as much of his property as possible. The road is built too near the oank altogether, and every winter we ear of accidents of this nature. Our formant told us last night that were doctor summoned there just now it would not be safe for him to go there, as both himself and his horse might go over the bank to their doom. We hear the people intend to protest against being treated in this way by the Government, and to demand a safer road n the neighbourhood. Harbor Grace Jan 25 1911

While proceeding to Trepassey rom Cape Race last week. Mr. J. Mitchell, Postal Telegraph Inspector, with mailman Hartery had a hard time of it. Though the distance is only 24 miles, it took the men three days to cover it owing to the storms which raged. Hartery especially was in a bad way and had his ears, hands and face frostbitten, but Mr. Mitchell escaped only with slight burns. Both men were glad to get to Trepassey, where after a rest and warmth they recovered from the effects of their journey.
