SAVING TIMOTHY FOR SEED

(Experimental Farms Note). Tests made at the Experimental Station, Kentville, go to show that it is quite profitable for one to grow his own timothy seed. This may be done by seeding timothy at the rate of 10 pounds per acre when seeding down. Or, if 8 pounds of timothy, 8 pounds of red clover and 2 pounds of alsike are seeded, a good even stand of clear timothy will be secured the second year after seeding. It is seldom that there is not a fairly clean stand of timothy somewhere on a farm; such area should be reserved for seed purposes. It does not mean a great loss of hay as the straw after threshing is of fair quality and can be fed unless badly weathered. It was found that a seeding of timothy alone in 1920 gave in 1921 230 pounds of straw per acre after threshing. The harvesting was done August 4th, and as the season was dry the seed ripened rapidly. This same area produced 157 pounds of seed and 2475 pounds of hay per acre in 1922. A considerable amount of other grasses, particularly red top, was noticeable in the 1922 cutting. An adjoining area seeded in 1920 with the clover and timothy mixture mentioned above yielded 186 pounds of timothy seed and 3052 pounds of timothy straw per acre in 1922. This seed was of particularly good quality and much better than the seed from the area in timothy seed for two years.

The practice here is to leave the timothy that is to be cut for seed standing until it is nicely filled and to cut with a binder. The sheaves are stacked neatly and allowed to stand for two or three weeks, or until the heads shell readily. It is then

SURE IT IS

A sporting writer has said that more persons are playing golf today than tennis, baseball or basketball, and that even the Winter bowlers have become a minority party.

How many acres have we dedicated to golf? How much capital is represented in country club plants? How many millions do the players spend on the game directly and indirectly? How many more thousands would be driving, putting and chatting of strokes if there were more places to play, and the cost were not quite so high? Is the time coming when some brave and enterprising spirits will invest in golf courses just as men take a chance on hotels or any other enterprise, and make the payment of a fee the only condition precedent to teeing off?

And how incongruous it seems that Americans, reputed to be highly nervous, impatient of discipline, eager for quick results, half blind to the beauties of nature, glorying in noise, and impatient both in work and play, should have "fallen" for a game which tests severely the very qualities which other people are supposed to possess in greater measure? This is the land of the almighty dollar! Is it not, rather, the land of the almighty golf ball?—(Boston Herald).

taken in and threshed in a threshing mill or with a flail. It sometimes happens that birds cause a great loss from shelling in which case the sheaves should be taken inside to a loft and allowed to stand until they can be threshed.

Nearly every family in the village have visitors but your correspondent does not have time to collect the facts concerning same, consequently they are not all reported. I have asked through The Monitor several times, and I am going to ask once more, if those having visitors will just write it down and hand it to the correspondent. You may not care anything about reading it, but your friends away from home take The Monitor to read the items from their home village. I would like the readers of The Monitor to know that a new writer has sprung up in our midst and not all the Hampton items are from the pen of your regular correspondent.

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and for weak and dreary feelings caused by my condition. Sometimes I felt so bad that I couldn't do my housework. My neighbor told me of your medicine and I read about it in the 'Toronto Telegram' and thought I would take it. I got very good results. It built me up and I have told several friends what it has done for me. You may use this testimonial as it may be of help to some one who has suffered as I have."—Mrs. J. LEE, 25 Harvie Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Lee is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years letters like this have been received from thousands of women.

The new electric lights, which replace the old acetylene lights in the Methodist Church, were used for the first time on Sunday evening and the new proved to be a great improvement on the old. These lights, which are a memorial gift from Mrs. Pick- up and family, have greatly beautified the interior of the church, and their efficient light will be much appreciated by its congregation from time to time.

In the main auditorium are five twenty-eight inch Brasco semi-indirect light fixtures in white glazed porcelain enamel with an old-gold finish, each giving two hundred watts of light. The lamps, which have been placed so as to give the greatest amount of brilliancy to the room, give a soft light, very pleasing to the eye, with a total absence of glare. There are lights, also, for the reading desk and organ. In the vestry are four fifteen inch ceiling lights of the same finish as those in the main auditorium, with lights in two of the class rooms.

Obituary

Mrs. Mary E. Wilson.

The death took place on Monday, the 29th inst., at the home of her son, G. W. Wilson, Paradise, of Mrs. Mary E. Wilson, of Massachusetts, formerly of Centrelea, N. S. She had been residing with her daughters in different parts of Massachusetts for several years and had come about a month prior to her death, to spend the summer months with her son.

She leaves to mourn their loss five daughters, Mrs. Woodward, of Millbury, Mass.; Mrs. Storey, of Roxbury, Mass.; Mrs. Maker, of Medford; Mrs. Nault, of Hyde Park, and Mrs. Mitchell, of Dorchester; one son, George, of Paradise; two sisters, Mrs. Rogers, of Winchester, and Mrs. Wright, of Maine; also several grandchildren, and a host of friends both in Massachusetts and Nova Scotia.

Services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon, both at the house and cemetery by the Rev. W. S. Smith, pastor of the Paradise Baptist Church. The interment took place in Centrelea cemetery. The five daughters and the son were all present at the funeral, and a large attendance of other relatives and friends gathered both at the house and grave to pay the last tribute to one who was deeply loved and respected by all who knew her. There were a great many beautiful floral tributes, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" the favorite hymn of the deceased was sung, and the Paradise Male Quartette, beautifully and impressively rendered two selections, "Nearer to Thee" and "Beyond".

Mrs. Wilson, formerly Miss Mary Dunn, was born in Halifax, but after her marriage to V. Wilson, resided for a number of years in Centrelea, N. S. Several years after her husband's death she moved to Massachusetts where she has since resided. For the last twenty years she had been a semi-invalid, and her wonderful patience and cheerfulness through all this time of affliction was the wonder of all who knew her. She was a member of the Centrelea Baptist Church and lived such a life that all her friends and acquaintances felt their lives enriched by contact with her life. Her passing has left sadness in many hearts, and her memory, inspiration.

VIRGIN N. S. TIMBER LAND

Old Stehelin Holdings, of 10,000 Acres,
Near Weymouth, Have Been Sold
To New France Lumber Co.

Digby.—A business transaction of considerable importance has taken place in Weymouth within the last two weeks when the large timber holdings of the Stehelin estate passed into the hands of the New France Lumber Company, a St. John syndicate headed by H. W. Schofield as President.

This valuable timber property is considered to be the largest holding of virgin timber in the Lower Provinces and consists of upward of 10,000 acres on which it is estimated there are from $9,000,000 to 100,000,000 feet of marketable lumber. It has been practically untouched by the axe and there have been no fires in the limits. It is a wonderful piece of property, far more valuable today than when acquired by the late Emile Stehelin more than a quarter of a century ago.

When Mr. Stehelin first came from France he built a mill and other buildings as well as his home about twelve miles from the town of Weymouth, calling the settlement New France. He afterwards connected this settlement with Weymouth by a log railroad, but he only did sufficient lumbering to pay his expenses, as the old gentleman always claimed that the natural growth of his forests paid a better interest than the banks would on the cash. But to carry on the operations in the small way he did necessitated the building of tote roads through the woods and the erecting of dams on the streams for driving purposes. In the lapse of years the roads have reverted to the wild and the dams have broken down, and the first work of the new company will be to restore these necessary aids to lumbering and to build suitable mills. This will probably take a full year and actual lumbering will not start until this is done.

The school opened on Monday, the 27th inst., with Miss Cossaboom as principal, and Mrs. Messinger in the primary. We hope the parents will take enough interest in their children to make at least one visit to the school during the year.

Picnics, fishing parties (both deep sea and trout), auto drives, tennis tournaments, baseball, blueberry excursions, bathing and bridge, to say nothing of the walks and talks, the meeting of friends, new and old, fill the days of the votaries of the "Queen of the Basin" with interests and joy. In the midst of the laughter and gaiety of a tennis tournament on Tuesday afternoon a pretty deer wandered across the road and into an adjoining field and stood in full view of the players and guests and stood for some minutes, then gracefully bounded away, leaping fences and disappeared behind the "old church".

New York yesterday shivered in the coolest August 22nd in the history of the Weather Bureau. The temperature was 53 degrees at 8 a.m., this being two points lower than the record set in 1876. The thermometer fell to 39 at Brandon, Manitoba.

DELICATE GIRLS NEED NEW BLOOD

Rich, Red Blood Means Health and Strength.

The anaemia of young girls may be inherited, or it may be caused by bad air, unsuitable food, hasty and irregular eating, insufficient out-of-door exercise and not enough rest and sleep.

It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to mental or bodily exertion, irritability and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes the palpitation of the heart, headaches, dizziness following a stooping position, frequent backaches and breathlessness. In a majority of cases constipation is present. There may be no great loss of flesh, but usually the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor.

Cases of this kind, if neglected, become more serious, but if taken in time there is no need to worry. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are free from any harmful or habit-forming drug, are just the tonic needed to remedy this wretched state of health. Though it is not noticeable, improvement begins with the first dose. As the blood is made rich the pallor leaves the face, strength and activity gradually return and the danger of relapse is very slight.

If any symptom of anaemia appears, prudence suggests that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be given at once, and the sooner they are taken the more speedily will their action improve the blood. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The election results in Prince Edward Island indicate that, as elsewhere in Canada, there is a growing irritation against heavy taxes. It is difficult to reduce expenditures, but any government which wants to stay in power had better give the public evidence that it is at least trying to do so.—(The Financial Post).

AN ISLAND POET

Prince Edward Island has a poet in the person of Edgar W. Melville, of the Russ Hotel, Charlottetown, who is being hailed as a second Kipling. The young man enlisted with the 5th C. G. A. in April, 1916, as signaller, at the age of 17, and served with that unit during the war. He was wounded at Armentieres, August, 1917, and was invalided to England. He returned to France the following Spring and was later promoted to Corporal. After his return from overseas he entered the University of Toronto and graduated in Arts this year. While in college he won the Jardine prize in 1921, and this year has been selected as Rhodes scholar for Prince Edward Island. He has written many verses which are being well received by the critics. Here is a sample:

The Road to Arras

Along the road to Arras we were swiveling through the gloom
Ere the morning stars grew pale to greet the light,
And the dawn-mist wrapped the valley in the silence of the tomb,
And the road before our eyes lay long and white.

We were gray with dust and weary; we were hungry, worn and parched,
And from our lagging steps the spring had gone.
But our hearts were strong and singing as along the road we marched—
Along the road to Arras in the dawn.

Never breath of wind was stirring through the towering poplar tops,
Never sound save our own footsteps crunching by
Till we reached the last grey hilltop where the roadway turns and drops,
As the first dim ray of daylight flushed the sky;

Then a lark's song broke the stillness with a joyous melody,
Till its little throat seemed bursting with its lay,
And a breeze blew up the valley, laden with sweet and heavily
With the perfume of the flowers along the way.

So we came at last to Arras—ah, but who can ever tell
All the fiery hopes and aching fears we knew?
All the pain of those who faltered, all the grief for those who fell,
And the raging, roaring hell we journeyed through—
All the folly and the glory and the shameful waste of war,
All the gain that may be lost before the end—
Dust and ashes in our memories that hold but one thing more—
Those tragic mounds—and every mound a friend.

O the long white road to Arras where the poplars sentinel!
And the plain below the road—the shell-swept plain
Where we raised the rough white crosses to the friends we loved so well
Who will never, never tramp the road again!
We are far away from Arras, where the white Cathedral gleams
O'er the valley when the morning mist has gone,
But when darkness pales to dawning we go swinging in our dreams,
Along the road to Arras—
To battered, shell-scarred Arras—
The road we tramped to Arras in the dawn.

SAYS AGE OF FISH CAN BE TOLD BY THEIR SCALES

Annual Rings Like Those on Trees Are an Accurate Indication.

It is now known that the scales of fishes bear marks which indicate the length of life and the rate of growth in different years. Studies of the Atlantic salmon in Scotland and of the various species of Pacific salmon have proved this, writes Charles Haskins Townsend in "The National Geographic."

The scale grows in proportion with the rest of the fish, principally by additions around its border. The fish grows at different rates during different seasons of the year. Concentric ridges from around the edge of the scale, its marginal expansion in Summer being more rapid than in Winter, so that the growth during each year is usually distinguishable.

Studies of the five species of Pacific salmon have shown the ages at which the different species return to the rivers to spawn. Thus, the ridges on a fish's scales are comparable to the annual ring growths revealed on a cross-section of a tree trunk, which tell its age.

It is interesting to note that the "tagging" of young Pacific salmon has already served to indicate that, after attaining maturity in the sea, each returns to spawn in the identical stream in which its life began.

Studies of the scales of whitefish in the Great Lakes have shown that the scale characters are so well defined that they indicate the age of the individual fish and the rate of growth of the species.

Scales from whitefish hatched and reared in the New York Aquarium and therefore of known age have been used by government biologists in checking the results of studies of the scales of wild fishes.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the Summer months, and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded Summer complaints. They are an absolutely safe medicine, being guaranteed by a government analyst to contain no opiates or narcotics or other harmful drugs. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WILD STEER INJURES ANTIGONISH SHERIFF

Antigonish—Sheriff D. D. Chisholm sustained severe shock and other injuries when a panicky steer, which broke away from a small drove of cattle, attacked him at the corner of Main and Church Streets. Mr. Chisholm had one of his feet amputated several years ago and is somewhat crippled.

He was walking down Main St. in front of St. James' Presbyterian Church, when he saw the frenzied animal coming towards him. The sheriff endeavored to dodge the steer but did not succeed and the steer tossed him in the air, and after the unfortunate old gentleman landed on the sidewalk trod on his prostrate body. Mr. Chisholm was taken immediately to Dr. J. J. Cameron's office nearby and from there to St. Martha's Hospital where his condition is satisfactory as could be expected. Besides the shock, which at his age is considerable, he is suffering from a broken bone in one shoulder, cuts about the head, and bruises.

THAT THISTLE

One of the military rules of the early Danes was that it was cowardly to attack an enemy during the night, and because of this the Scots did not consider it necessary to keep watch during their encounters with the invading army from Denmark. Sunset was supposed to mark the close of all hostilities for the day.

On one occasion, however, the Danes deviated from their rule and betrayed to launch an onslaught against one of the Scottish strongholds. On they crept, hatched, and, unobserved—until one of them set his foot upon a thistle and cried out with pain. The alarm was given, the Scots fell upon the invaders, and defeated them with terrific slaughter.

From that time onwards, the thistle was the Scottish emblem, the motto being: "No one wounds me with impunity!"—(The Sailors).

DIVERTING THE ARCTIC CURRENT

In the olden days engineers used to dream of cutting the Panama Canal and of seeing the waters of the Pacific mingle with those of the Atlantic. The dream has become a reality, and the ambition of the engineering fraternity has now concentrated on greater things. No longer do the giants contemplate the separation of the torrid clay and blistered rock of Central America; they are now captivated by the snows and ice of the north, and the thoughts of engineers all over the world dwell lovingly on Belle Isle Strait. It is their Mecca, their Eldorado. They propose nothing less than damming the world, renowned strait that divides Newfoundland from Labrador, so keeping the St. Lawrence ports open all the year round.

Even to the uninitiated the subject abounds in interest. There is an element of romance and uncertainty about it that has not been present in so great a degree in the engineering feats of the past. The Suez Canal project, which aimed at shortening the route to the Far East by thousands of miles, resolved itself into a comparatively simple proposition. The ships would either get through or they would not; as it transpired, they did. But the fascination of the Belle Isle project is that it cannot even by the most practical people, be dismissed by saying that the proposed dam will either be a success or a failure.

If the dam should be constructed—and even that may not be possible—will it cut off the Arctic current or not? And if the Arctic current is cut off will the Gulf Stream, freed from its obstruction, flow past the New England coast and into the Gulf of St. Lawrence? If it does flow close to the coast, will New England, without the mediation of the cold polar current be subtropical? And if the Gulf Stream flows along the New England coast will it continue to Greenland instead of going to the British Isles?

What will happen to the polar current cut off by the damming of the strait? Will it lose itself in the ocean or will it cross to England and Northern Europe? What will be the climate of the British Isles if the Gulf Stream flows straight to Greenland and the polar current bathes her shores? Is it possible that Britain will be condemned to endure an Arctic climate while Eastern Canada and the United States bask in semi-tropical luxury?

It is a subject that is certainly worthy of study, especially at the present time when a Rumanian inventor, Dimitri Jonowicz, is presenting to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries his scheme for keeping the St. Lawrence open the year round. The delightful uncertainty of the project makes it almost worth risking, as a sporting proposition, the mere billion or so required for carrying it into effect.

Cleopatra's Beauty Secret

Cleopatra knew that to have a fresh fine skin, thorough cleansing was necessary. She knew that the gentlest means must be employed. She used Palm and Olive oils.

The crude combination of these oils which was the best even royalty could command, is today brought to perfection in Palmolive.

Every girl can have the radiant healthy skin which is the foundation of all beauty. Intelligent care is the secret—thorough cleansing the basis.

Unless thoroughly cleansed with soap and water, the skin becomes sluggish and inactive. The tiny pores clog with dirt, oil secretions, perspiration, rouge and powder, and blackheads and other blemishes result.

A pure mild soap causes no irritation. Women who fear it have been using the wrong soap.

Palmolive, with its creamy mild lather is lotion-like in its action. It soothes while it cleanses; it freshens, revives and stimulates and leaves the skin delightfully fresh and rosy.

You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first-class dealers.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

The Union service between the United Church and the United Baptist were concluded last Sunday evening. Judging by the attendance at all the services, both Sunday and midweek, the arrangement was very satisfactory.

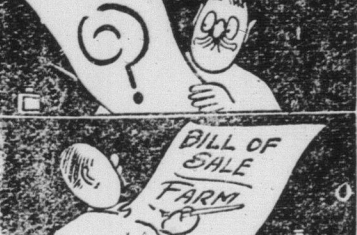

There will be preaching as usual in the Baptist Church next Sunday both morning and evening.

The pastor will be in attendance at the Convention at Wolfville during the week.

The Wednesday evening meeting will be conducted by the W.M.A.S. The last meeting under its care proved exceedingly interesting and helpful.

All the teachers and scholars of the Junior, Intermediate, Primary, and Beginners classes, except the C.G.I.T. groups that were at camp at Hampton, are to have a JOY RIDE next Wednesday afternoon. They will gather at the church at 2 o'clock sharp. The ride will be about thirty miles. Ice cream will be furnished and distributed by the teachers. Every child enrolled in the Sunday School will be welcome.
