The Police Commissioners will have an important meeting to-day. The charges preferred by the students as to the procedure of the University powers which lasted until after the clock struck 12 last night, but no information was forthcoming as to the mode of action to be pursued. The students say the case is to be pressed to the limit.

President London, Dean Kieve and other members of the faculty talked over the mode of the procedure for to-day with representatives of the student body, but refused to make their plans public.

At a meeting of the medical Dean (Reverend) accompanied by Dr. J. H. Cameron, Dr. McPherson and Dr. Oldright, addressed the students of the Faculty regarding the manner in which the University should be run. The dean contended that the police should not be allowed to interfere with the University, but that the University should take care to see that the police do not interfere with the University.

O'Leary's Sure-Thing Game

Chicago, Nov. 10.—A local paper has a sensational story about the operations of the hand-book bettors in connection with the Lakeside races. There are many hand-books in Chicago, and it is no wonder that James O'Leary has cornered about 125 of them, and is now making money out of business. The hand-book bettors are all made in the morning. They are followed by O'Leary's clerks so that by noon he has an exact statement of the amount of money that has been bet on the races.

Indeed this is the first time the great spectacular production has been attempted in Canada. King and Rogers' work is under the direction of Joseph Brooks, and it is being done very elaborately. In cast, mechanical construction, special scenery, music and costumes the production is considered to be the most complete and comprehensive ever seen in this city.

"The Sign of the Cross." The "Sign of the Cross," Barrett's powerful play, attracted an audience to the Grand last night which was a fine proof of the popularity of the play. The play is a story of the early Christians, and is a story of the early Christians, and is a story of the early Christians.

LYING AWAKE AT NIGHTS

The Most Distressing Accompaniment of Nervous Exhaustion—A Symptom That Disperses With THE USE OF DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

To the awake at night tossing about in pain, and counting the hours as time drags slowly on, is one of the most annoying symptoms of a weak and run-down nervous system.

Great is the temptation to use opiates and strong poisonous drugs to induce sleep. But you must fight this evil. All that it can bring is unconsciousness, a state of artificial sleep. The reaction on the nervous system is most injurious, and the relief obtained is only temporary.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures sleeplessness as well as all the other symptoms of nervous exhaustion, in an entirely different way by building up the nervous system, forming new food and restoring the vitality of the nerves.

This treatment is not recommended as a relief, but as a thorough and permanent cure. It is a natural process, and it is a natural process, and it is a natural process.

Mrs. J. Thompson, 38 Carlaw-avenue, Toronto, states: "Anyone who understands the value of a good sleep will realize why I am an enthusiastic in the praise of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. For the last two years I have endured a great deal of suffering from sleeplessness, nervousness, and general debility. My nerves were so weak that I could not sleep at all. I have now, however, after using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I am able to sleep peacefully and comfortably. I feel much better, and my health is much improved. I can speak very highly of the curative properties of this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most potent of nerve restoratives, and is endorsed by the best people in Canada. It is sold by all druggists, and is sold by all druggists, and is sold by all druggists.

BOY NOT HEAVILY INVOLVED

Owed Less Than $1000, But There May Be a "Woman in the Case". The continued absence of Broke M. J. Boyd is causing his friends much annoyance. That motive could have prompted his sudden disappearance they are unable to imagine. As far as they can ascertain, the entire indebtedness of Mr. Boyd will not exceed $1000. There is no criminal charge against him.

Last Tuesday morning he was in his office as usual. He disappeared and has not been seen. Any of his friends who have seen him, or who have received $700, which a friend would have given him to get out of the country, should be notified to the extent of $200 in order to get the cash, his father-in-law declared that he was then preparing to leave.

At one time Boyd owned a seat on the Toronto Mining Exchange and had a good deal of business in that line. Later, when business dropped out of the exchange Boyd began to take business on a commission for other brokers. This was all he had been doing for several months. His accounts were small and not of sufficient importance to have involved him financially. He has a brother who is a prominent member of the firm of King and King, and he comes from an excellent family.

The only assignable reason for his sudden disappearance is a report that a young woman to whom Mr. Boyd was engaged to be married, had broken off the engagement. It is said that she had broken off the engagement because she had found out that Mr. Boyd was not worth the money she had given him.

WHAT IS A LEGAL NOTICE? Tenant Refuses to Give Up Possession of Victoria-St. Premises. The Toronto General Trusts Corporation is seeking by an action in the County Court to secure possession of 70 Victoria-street from Edward Galloway. An interesting point arose during the trial yesterday before Judge Morson as to what constitutes a legal notice to quit possession. The corporation mailed and registered the notice on Sept. 15, a Saturday. Mr. Galloway did not receive it until Monday, the 15th, the day his tenancy began. As a clear month's notice is required, he should have received the notice on the 15th. As that day was Sunday, no letters were delivered, and he could not get it. Even should the notice be held to have been received on the 16th, it is a safety for a month only, because it did not decide the whole question at issue between the parties. Galloway maintains that he is a yearly tenant, and the corporation says that the tenancy is monthly. The case will be continued at 10:30 a.m. to-morrow.

THE WESTERN TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

Mr. Blair is reported to have said that there is room for three or four more transcontinental railways in the Canadian west and an American newspaper is given as authority for the statement that the G.T.R. intend an early date to enter the Northwest and share in the immense traffic that is there awaiting the transportation companies. Mr. Blair and Mr. Hays are at last aroused, but some five years ago the member for East York from his place in parliament surrendered the control of the Rainy River Railway, which is now a part of the Mackenzie & Mann system, but to build and own it for the government, and to give running powers over it to the Canadian Northern and the G.T.R. as far as Winnipeg. Once in possession of the Mackenzie & Mann system to extend westward to the Pacific. The G.T.R. made a move as the seized with the same idea, but for some reason or other no more was heard of their intentions. As for Mr. Blair, he laughed at the idea, and if he cares to turn up the debates in parliament he will find how his views of that day are inconsistent with those he holds to-day. There is a solution of the railway and transportation question in Canada to-day, and that is a double track or quadruple track system from Port Arthur to Winnipeg owned and controlled by the government. That is the key to the situation, allowing the C.P.R., the Canadian Northern, the Intercolonial and the G.T.R. alike running rights over it. The question of the best route for getting the western grain from the Georgian Bay or Lake Nipissing to the seaboard is another proposition that will have to be settled. With the rapid filling up of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and with the enormous growth of the grain crops through these wide areas, a transportation problem has arisen which must promptly be faced by the Canadian people and parliament. The nation cannot afford to permit the great west to be held back by the possibility of annually recurring grain blockades.

The announcement that a new trans-Canadian line, paralleling the C.P.R. 300 miles to the north of that road, may be built from Quebec to Port Simpson on the Pacific coast, may have an important bearing on the western transportation question, but, in any event, as indicated in an accompanying editorial article this morning, we Canadians have not yet begun to grasp the possibilities of the future of our country.

CABINET CHANGES AND PROSPECTS

Hon. James Sutherland, one of the Ontario ministers, has been promoted by Sir Wilfrid to the portfolio of Public Works; Mr. Prefontaine of Montreal becomes Minister of Marine and Fisheries. These changes in a way strengthen the prominence of Ontario in the Dominion cabinet, and another move in the same direction is set for later on when Mr. Mulock, as Postmaster-General, will take over from the Public Works Department the control of the government telegraphs, such as now exist in this country. Whether this is preliminary of the postoffice nationalizing all the lines in the country remains to be seen.

GREY HAIRS IN A FELO'S CELL

Grey hairs in the felon's cage are always calculated to provoke pity. William Stuart, the old counterfeiter, now in the Toronto jail, presents a figure of great human interest. At the age of 75 he is about to pass into the hands of the law.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not a new disease, but because modern investigators have clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. The name catarrh is applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases, as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh. The usual remedies, inhalants, sprays, douches or powders have been practically useless for anything more than temporary relief was obtained, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from internal remedy, acting on the blood and neutralizing the catarrh from the system.

A new internal preparation, which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a regular, radical cure for catarrh. It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh. It is a large, pleasant-tasting lozenge, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, which loosen the catarrh from the system.

penitentiary under a sentence which... present government. Those who were there say that Sir Wilfrid equipped somewhat of the clever way in which his Minister of Trade and Commerce had declared the tariff faith of the existing government, but in no other way did he deny the soft impeachment. It is probable that it was this speech of Sir Richard's that set Mr. Tarte on the other tack, and that he is no doubt that Sir Richard had a large hand to play in the retirement of the late Minister of Public Works. So that Mr. Tarte gets very little comfort out of Mr. Prefontaine's preference for the high honor conferred on Sir Richard in England. However, Mr. Sutherland, who came up a grade in the cabinet, is very much of a protectionist, like Mr. Tarte, and has always so declared himself, and will either openly or quietly declare himself a greater protectionist than ever within a very short time.

As for Sir Richard Cartwright, he would not be surprised to hear his early retirement from the House of Commons discussed, the we imagine would sooner end his days there than anywhere else. But what will really happen in this respect is not an early date to enter the Northwest and share in the immense traffic that is there awaiting the transportation companies. Mr. Blair and Mr. Hays are at last aroused, but some five years ago the member for East York from his place in parliament surrendered the control of the Rainy River Railway, which is now a part of the Mackenzie & Mann system, but to build and own it for the government, and to give running powers over it to the Canadian Northern and the G.T.R. as far as Winnipeg.

CANADA'S GREAT WHEAT BELT

We Canadians have not yet as a people even begun to properly appreciate the vastness of the western plains. We recognize in a general sort of way that Manitoba and the Territories are annually increasing their output of grain, and that this output is likely to go on increasing from year to year. But we do not seem to be keenly alive as to the real facts of the case. We lack due enthusiasm over the self-evident truth that we possess the greatest wheat areas on earth. And while we have failed to place a proper value on our own wheat fields, some of our wise-woman countries across the line have not been so blind. A United States consul at Winnipeg has declared that three-quarters of the arable land of the west lies to the north of the Canadian boundary line, and we have heard a good deal from the people across the line of the need of the future of our "territories." The latest appreciation of the "granary of the British empire" appears in the editorial columns of The Brooklyn N.Y. Eagle. Commenting on the report that a new railway is to be built across Canada 300 miles to the north of the C.P.R., The Eagle remarks:

The American interest in the new road does not lie in its military value to the British, but in the fact that it will cross the greatest wheat field on the globe. The crops already yielded on this great North-western plateau, that rises gently nearly up to Alaska, have already overtaxed the carrying capacity of the Canadian Pacific, and the plow has only just begun to touch the corners of the country as far as wheat grows there. From the grain soil than from old fields, even with the most scientific fertilization, and the most active use of our own Northwestern four country is pretty certain to surpass on the Canadian border as the facilities for getting the Canadian crop to market increase. This new road will cut into the wheat field further north than even branch lines of the Canadian Pacific reach, and will extend lines of communication. How far that will affect our own transportation problems cannot be told in advance. The importance of our export wheat trade seems destined to decline as the new Canadian soil is put under cultivation, and railroads which have depended upon it for profits will have to develop new lines, including the local traffic which springs from pushing the area of manufactures further west.

When a leading United States newspaper concedes that Canada is about to crowd the republic out of first place in the world's wheat trade, and when such a journal expresses a fear that the great wheat-carrying United States railways may, because of the present situation in the Canadian industry, have to look for other classes of business—when such admissions as these are made, it is time for us Canadians to prick up our ears, to awake to the advantages of our position, and to carefully consider how we can make the most of this western portion of our vast heritage.

RE DELAQUA BAY

London, Nov. 10. TANNERS DISEASE TARIFF

The Tanners' section of the Board of Trade at a meeting of last afternoon at which the question of tariff duties on tanned skins was discussed, will likely formulate a motion, on the matter to be submitted to the board in order to assist in drafting a resolution that will meet with the consensus of opinion on the matter. C. G. Marshall, of Oakville, chairman of the section, presided.

RECIPROcity WITH CANADA

Philadelphia, Nov. American: The Republic of New England, particularly Massachusetts, who laid great stress during the recent campaign on the need of a reciprocity treaty with Canada, are strengthened in their position of the shadowy, with a single instrument, indifferent to his surroundings. For the violin he pleads without apparent thought of liberty. His soul craves the charm of the instrument and its soothing notes. Stone walls and prison fare inspire no terror as compared with the loneliness that the old music is not a depraved creature. What evil agency could have cast the lines of a net around him in criminal path? The picture is a painful scene to contemplate and illustrates the contrast between the freedom of a human being. A man whose heart is naturally attuned to music that is pure and noble, and who is surrounded by the fells of hell! In the night of his old age and on the very edge of the valley of the shadow of death, he is thought to console him! Truly the wages of sin is death!

As an evidence of how this preferential tariff operates, it appears that Canada-situated at the very door of the United States—has doubled its shipments of iron and steel from Great Britain, while the importations of metals from the United States have not kept pace with the demand. Between the two countries. And so it is with the imports of cotton and its manufacture, which until they amounted to $13,750,000, $5,378,300 from Great Britain and $7,553,170 from the United States. Surely the trade of China and Japan is worth fighting for, that of our richest neighbor should not be the most neglected. The exchange of a certain number of moderate concessions. In all the foregoing and the prospect of the conquest of foreign markets, we are overlooking contiguous territory, which offers rich profits to our producers.

"THE SLEEPING GIRL" ALIVELY

N. Y. Herald: The death of the sleeping girl at St. Vincent's ends the history of an interesting case of its kind. The apparent cause of the girl's death was the main element of public curiosity. For 20 days the patient slept comatose in the hospital, and a very marked elevation of body temperature, with progressive exhaustion and finally death. The cause of the kind are, however, not very uncommon, except in the fatal event. Usually the disease is of a very varied period of unconsciousness, as the disease is for the most part purely a cerebral one, and occurs most frequently in young, nervous females. The seizures are apt to be quite sudden, and the recovery usually so. Ordinarily there is a marked hereditary predisposition present, and several members of a family have been known to be afflicted in different degrees. In pronounced cases the patient is apt to drift into dementia or absolute insanity.

Not infrequently the attacks of the transitory comatose condition, voluntarily induced and maintained by a species of mesmeric influence, as has been noted in the case of the girl, which is the fakirs of India. Considering the purely nervous character of the ailment, it is not surprising to learn that the autopsy failed to show any organic change either in the brain or other vital organs.

No Grain Delayed

Montreal, Nov. 10.—The statement being made that what was delayed at the C.P.R. terminals, Thomas Tait, manager of transportation, was informed of the complaints made. He said: "I have made special enquiries regarding this matter, and find that there is no grain in the elevators that is being delayed, nor has there been any delay in delivering grain to our elevators. Grain to the elevators is freight which we can get rid of easily and quickly, and employ our own cars elsewhere. We could, as is well known, use more box cars, and therefore, any grain arriving at Montreal for the elevators is handled with the utmost despatch, and there is no delay to-day."
