OTHER GAINS BY BRITISH ON TWO-MILE FRONT

BRITISH MAKE ADVANCE ON TWO-MILE FRONT

Village of Gaspard, East of Messines, is Occupied—Further Progress Also Realized Astride Souchez River.

London, June 12.—Another advance of the British forces on a front of nearly two miles, east and northeast of Messines, and the capture of the Village of Gaspard, is reported in the British official communication issued tonight. The communication says: "Our troops gained further ground today east and northeast of Messines, on a front of nearly two miles, and occupied the Hamlet of Gaspard. "We also advanced our line slightly early this morning astride the Souchez River, and captured seventeen prisoners and three machine guns. "The enemy's artillery has shown considerable activity during the day northeast of Gouzeaucourt and north of the Scarpe and in the neighborhood of Lens and Ypres. "Our aeroplanes were active yesterday. Although weather conditions were not favorable, much useful work was accomplished. One of our machines is missing."

French Troops to Control The Harvests in Thessaly
Paris, June 12.—A French official communication says: "Aviation activity was displayed on both sides. British aeroplanes bombarded Petrank. In an aerial engagement an enemy airplane was compelled to make a landing. "The troops charged with control of the harvests in Thessaly have penetrated that province without difficulty as far as the region of Ellassona." "NURSES DO MUCH WORK."
Hamilton, Wednesday, June 13.—The annual meeting of the Nurses' Central Registry was held last evening at the Hotel Hamilton. The membership report for the year ended on the 31st, and the annual report on work accomplished was read. It was stated that 1071 calls were made since the last annual meeting. Miss Annie Ker, president, was in the chair.

LOYALIST FORCES WIN VICTORY OVER REBELS

Russian Army Wins First Great Success in Suppression of Anarchy—Compels Pacifists, Regiments to Surrender.

Petrograd, June 11, via London, June 12.—The forces in the army at the front which are loyal to the provisional government have had their first test of strength with disloyal pacifists, and have won a notable victory. Two days ago Lieut.-Gen. Stecherbatoff, commander of the Rumanian front, gave an order to disband one infantry, one tirailleur, and one Serbian tirailleur regiment, all of which were considered useless for fighting purposes. Three regiments of another division were ordered to take up a new position, but refused to do so, and thereupon received an order to disband. The soldiers openly mutinied. The men of one of the regiments arrested the commander and seven officers, tore their badges from their uniforms, and beat two officers, leaving one insensible on the road. A regimental committee resolved that the regiment should not move. Thereupon a loyal committee of soldiers of the whole army, after deliberating with the army staff, pronounced for stern measures against the mutineers, the ringleader of whom was named Philippoff. A resolute general was chosen, having under his command two divisions of loyal cavalry, two battalions of infantry, one light battery, armored cars, and airplanes, and undertook the task of suppressing the revolt. When the loyalist general had occupied positions against the mutineers, he sent an ultimatum to them, demanding the surrender of the ringleader; that they take up positions as ordered, and that they undertake to serve faithfully in the future. The mutinous soldiers, seeing that they were surrounded, attempted to negotiate, but at the last moment Philippoff incited them to new resistance. The loyalist general immediately ordered his guns into action, whereupon the rebels unconditionally accepted the ultimatum and surrendered Philippoff and others, who were transported to prison in an automobile. The loyalist reserve troops became enraged and fired upon the automobile, but their commander, in order to save the prisoners' lives, jumped into the machine, whereupon the firing ceased. There is great rejoicing in government circles tonight over the first success in the inevitable struggle against the forces of anarchy.

NEXT WINTER'S COAL OUTLOOK IS IMPROVING

Extremely optimistic was the note struck by Arthur M. Hull, editor of The Retail Coalman, of Chicago, Ill., in an address on the coal situation given before the members of the Toronto coal section of the Retail Merchants' Association last night. "I am glad to be able to say," said the speaker, "that every possible effort is being made by the coal producers and the United States Government to meet the extraordinary demands now being made upon them in this world emergency, and I firmly believe that the foresightedness and wisdom of President Wilson will be more clearly shown as the months go by." "The coal trade has been passing through a strenuous condition during the past year, and every indication pointed to an exceptional and abnormal demand for at least another year. The real cause, said Mr. Hull, was easily explained. The country was on a war basis and war was largely an industrial game, and the needs of industry at the present time is coal. "It had been stated, said Mr. Hull, that for every soldier at the front two and a half tons of coal must be produced daily to keep him there, that amount being required to manufacture the munitions, equipment, etc., and keep the transportation lines operating. "Every factor of coal is now running at full capacity, and in addition it is necessary to take care of the navy, the steamships and the needs of certain of the allied countries. The acute situation has brought about much criticism, especially of the railroads, which have been blamed for their inability to meet all the demands made upon them. "In regard to the railways, the speaker had much sympathy for them in their present position. The time was one for concerted effort, in which all past precedents must be disregarded. Retail handlers of coal were confronted with new and grave problems that were not understood by the majority of public officials and certain sections of the press. "No country was so fortunately situated in regard to coal as the United States, but the present problem was to dig it out of the ground fast enough and to have adequate deliveries made by the railways to the places where it was most needed. "The magnitude of the coal industry and its growth sounded fabulous, and was summarized by Mr. Hull as follows: "Less than a century ago—in 1820—there were produced in the United States only 1222 tons of coal during the whole year. In 1916 the enormous total of over 600,000,000 tons of coal were mined and consumed, or an average of approximately one and one-half million tons every 24 hours." "Most of this increase had come in the past generation, eighty per cent. of the entire amount mined and consumed in the United States being produced and consumed within the past 25 years. "Last April, to meet the needs of the

ALLIES' DEMANDS FORCE GREEK KING TO DEPART

Constantine and Crown Prince George To Leave Country Almost Immediately on British Warship for Switzerland by Way of Italy, and Prince Alexander Will Ascend Throne—Pro-German Activities of King Forced Allies To Take Drastic Step.

ATHENS, June 12, via Paris.—The undersigned, premier and foreign ministers, have the honor to inform your excellency that his majesty the king, ever solicitous for the protection of the sovereignty, has decided to leave the country with the prince royal, and nominates Prince Alexander as his successor. (Signed) "Zaimis." "Disorders." "Zaimis." "Premature to the announcement of the king's decision, many Greeks loyal to the crown, gathered for the protection of the sovereign. On Monday night 2000 reservists formed a cordon around the palace in his defence, if that should be necessary, and a delegation headed by Naval Commander Mavromichailis was received by Constantine and pledged the devotion of the army and the people to his cause. The king's only reply was an appeal that they should remain calm. "All efforts of agitation to start a manifestation failed, and the army officers announced their intention to obey the order of the government to take no part in any demonstrations and to maintain peace. "Agitators were still attempting to operate in the streets of Athens tonight, but there were no disorders and everything leads to the belief that there will be none. "King Constantine's Career. "King Constantine of Greece was born August 3, 1868, and ascended the throne of Greece on March 15, 1912, when his father, George I, was assassinated in Salonica. "Brief as was his reign, Constantine, prior to the outbreak of the present war, enjoyed a period of remarkable popularity, and had increased the territory of the Greek monarchy by over sixty per cent. His attitude of opposition toward the entente powers when their troops occupied part of Greek territory in the Macedonian campaign against the Teutons, however, brought him into conflict with the statesmen of Greece, and resulted in the establishment of a provisional government, headed by Venizelos, whom the king had driven from the post of premier. "Through a long series of negotiations and conflicts with the entente commanders, Constantine was often obliged to yield to the demands of the allies, largely, it was charged, as the result of the influence of Queen Sophia, sister of the German emperor, whom he married in 1889. The king was educated largely by private tutors from Leipzig, which was said to have stamped upon him a permanent German influence, and his military education was furthered by attendance at manoeuvres in Germany. "Storm of Criticism. "Much criticism was directed against Constantine because of the complaint that he failed to fulfill the terms of the treaty between Greece and Serbia, under which Greece was committed to ally herself with Serbia if that country were attacked by another power. When Austria invaded Serbia Constantine asserted that the treaty applied only to an attack by another Balkan nation. "Another act which aroused a storm of criticism was the yielding by Greek troops to Bulgarian invaders; several Greek forts and the surrender of a

PERISHING DINES AT LANCASTER HOUSE

British Government Entertains American General and Staff Members.

PREMIER PRESIDES

Eight Cabinet Ministers Attend Dinner—Thirty-One Guests.

London, June 12.—Major-Gen. John Pershing and six members of his staff were the guests of the British Government at a formal dinner tonight in Lancaster House, which is a government building devoted solely to purposes of state entertainment of distinguished visitors, and was last utilized for the dinner of the imperial conference a month or more ago. There were thirty other diners, including eight members of the cabinet. The prime minister, David Lloyd George, sat at the first, six round tables in the sumptuous dining hall, looking out across the green lawn of St. James' Park at Buckingham Palace, opposite. At the prime minister's right sat the American ambassador, Walter H. Page, and at his left, Gen. Pershing. At the same table were Sir Edward Carson, first lord of the Admiralty; Lord Robert Cecil, minister of blockade; Lord Hardinge, under-secretary of the foreign office, and Lord Anderson and Bethel, of Gen. Pershing's staff. The other tables were presided over by Lord Curzon, lord president of the Council; Viscount Milner, member of the war cabinet; Hon. George M. Balfour, pensions minister; the Earl of Derby, secretary for war, and Sir Alfred Mond, Sir Alfred Wood, whose office of commissioner of works makes him official host at government functions, received the guests, of whom Mr. Lloyd George was last to arrive. Vice-Admiral William Sims, United States Navy, sat at Sir Alfred's right. Arthur J. Balfour was unable to be present at the dinner. Early in the evening before Major-General Pershing left his hotel, ex-Premier Asquith called on him. General Pershing came downstairs and greeted Mr. Asquith in the lobby, where they engaged in a five-minute conversation, surrounded by an interested group.

BOARD OF EDUCATION DELAYS MORRISON CASE

When the suggestion of their clients, Miss. Haney & Dewar, solicitors for the complainants in the case against W. G. Morrison, principal of Pope avenue public school, regarding his conduct towards the pupils of the school, has made public all the correspondence between their firm and the board of education regarding the proposed inquiry on the charges.

This action was taken to show that the committee, appointed to investigate the charges and apparently left the inquiry in abeyance.

The correspondence shows that the committee, following out the advice of the W. G. T. U., alleging that Morrison's conduct required investigation and that the charges complained of had been going on for two years. The dismissal was asked. A list of witnesses were also named.

When the charges were not heard at the regular meeting of the board of education, as was expected, the principal wrote a letter, pointing out the seriousness of the charges and that Morrison was obtaining the signatures of witnesses to statements which are now declared by them to be false.

The charges were made about May 15. No answer was received from the chairman until June 1. In this note, Mr. Morrison said that the allegations had been made the subject of inquiry and that since the board of education possessed authority to maintain the proper management of the schools, it did not appear necessary that another inquiry should be made.

In their last letter to the board the complainants requested the action of the board without bringing the complaint into secret session yesterday to discuss the charges, but no report of the discussion was made public.

THINKS WOMEN SHOULD JOIN MEN IN POLITICS

At the meeting of the executive of Ward Two Conservative Association last evening, together with the executive of the ladies' branch, in the Toronto College of Music, Pembroke street, Dr. Caroline Woodhouse spoke on the women's organization and the future of their work in politics. She advocated the lining-up of the women with the men, so as not to have a separate organization. She upheld the policy of conscription and stated that it coincided in every manner with the opinions of the women of today, but men and women for war work at home and the conscription of wealth and other national resources. Miss Woodhouse, secretary, gave a brief report of the recent shower held in aid of the Base Hospital, and read a letter from the chair thanking them for their contribution.

The chair was taken by John Winnett, president, and other speakers were Miss Westman, Mrs. Casey, Miss Hampton, A. H. Birmingham, Dr. Shears and E. D. Ryckman. Miss Woodhouse outlined schemes whereby the women could get together and help to raise funds in aid of the hospital in their ward.

CALL MASS MEETING TO CONSIDER STRIKE

A mass meeting has been called of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union to discuss the matter of the recent lockout in the skirt and Mfg. Co. of Spadina avenue. Some thirty of the workers were locked out of their work at the plant. The committee is now in existence in other departments and every attempt has been made to reach a satisfactory agreement, but so far without avail.

At tonight's meeting a vote will be taken to determine if the rest of the workers in the department will go on strike in sympathy. If it is decided, the committee is now in existence in other departments and every attempt has been made to reach a satisfactory agreement, but so far without avail.

"There is no question of wages or the recognition of the union," said organizer Blake. "But simply the right of the workers to work for their own employees." If the strike is declared tonight it may also mean the stopping of the workers in two other shops as they are members of the same union.

NO POISON FOUND IN CHILD'S STOMACH

Doctors Puzzled by Peculiar Conditions Revealed in Post-Mortem Examination.

When Dr. Jukes Johnson, the chief coroner, took the witness stand at the resumption of the adjourned inquest into the death of two-week-old Catherine Bevington, at the morgue last night, he quickly dissolved the theory that the perforated condition found in the child's stomach at the post-mortem was the result of poison administered. Previous medical testimony had failed to give an explanation of the strange condition, and until the opinion of Dr. Johnson was given, the case was shrouded in mystery.

After hearing the chief coroner's evidence, the foreman of the jury informed Coroner W. H. Burr that they did not wish to retire, and returned a verdict that the child died from acute meningitis. Mary Bevington and Herbert Marchant, manager of the child, who were held by the police as material witnesses, will be released today on the direction of the crown.

In a preliminary sitting of the court a number of doctors stated that the pulpy nature of the stomach and other organs could have been caused by carbolic acid or other corrosive acids, but no poison was revealed by the post-mortem. Neither did the provincial analyst discover any trace of poison in the contents of the stomach.

Dr. Alar Brown of the Hospital for Sick Children, who has expressed the opinion of the medical men last night by stating that the stomach appeared to have been destroyed by some sort of chemical. He did not know of any disease that would produce similar results. But if there had been poison he would have expected to find traces of it.

Cadaveric Changes.
Referring to cadaveric changes, the chief coroner stated that the mucous membrane of the stomach was liable to undergo considerable alterations soon after death, owing to changes in the distribution and composition of the blood, and to the action of the digestive organs.

Mary Bevington related very clearly the history of the birth of the child and her actions until the time of its death. She was in a highly nervous condition, and several times fell down in her evidence. Castor oil, she said, was the only medicine she had administered. Herbert Marchant stated that he had seen castor oil administered, but no other medicine.

Two nurses from the Hospital for Sick Children told of the arrival of the child at the institution and its treatment up to the time of its death.

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

AN Athens despatch says that King Constantine of Greece, or rather Constantine, king of the Hellenes, to go by his constitutional title has abdicated the throne in favor of his second son, Prince Alexander. He proposes to travel with Crown Prince George on a British warship and to take up his residence in Switzerland. His relinquishment of the throne came at the request of the allies. The Italians are overrun the greater part of Thessaly, and they will seize the grain crop in order to ration Greece. Allied forces hold the Albanian coast, also pressing down from Albania. Heavily sick and tired of Constantine's policy, the people of Greece are not raising any disturbances against the king. Under the treaty of settlement, Constantine held his throne as a constitutional monarch, and the allies were responsible for the good government of Greece.

The allies at last have got rid of King Constantine and his pro-German court clique, after almost unheard-of long-sufferance. As an army, the royalist forces of late resembled more the bands of the Mexican bandit Villa than the army of a European sovereign. They threatened the rear treatment, but failed to do so. The army of the king was in a state of disarray. Many allied publicists have asserted that their governments should have deposed King Constantine at the time when, in manifest agreement with Bulgaria and Germany, he repudiated his alliance with Serbia, stood by and saw her crushed, when the fulfilment of his treaty of alliance would have saved her from Belgium's fate.

The strong-handed dealing with Constantine by the allies probably presages vigorous military action in the Balkans. In the ordinary course of events, with the allied forces inactive, the allied governments would hardly have fresh occasion for apprehension of the king. It was only when the allies made a move to strike a blow against Germany and Bulgaria that the pro-German hand of the king was waved. The allies, it seems, are determined to redeem their pledge to Serbia this year, to rid her territory of the unspeakable pollution of German, Austrian and Bulgarian cut-throats.

General Plumer, commander of the British second army, shoved his centre forward on a front of nearly two miles east and northeast of Meuse yesterday. The advancing column occupied the Hamlet of Gaspard. The Canadians also made a slight advance astride the Souchez River yesterday morning and took 17 prisoners and three machine guns. In other words, they captured a machine gun nest. Considerable firing marked the activity of the enemy's artillery at important centres of the front, Gouzeaucourt, north of the Scarpe, Lens and Ypres.

Stewart Lyon reports that the Canadian advance astride the Souchez River disposed of skillfully concealed machine guns. The artillery had failed to smash them and the infantry did the work. Only a few Canadians made the attack, the enemy showed little fight, and in a few minutes it was all over. The post captured in this clever dash is only 2700 yards from the centre of Lens. The Germans are now using 12-inch Zouave guns to bombard Arras and other points along the Scarpe at long range.

News has come from the Russian front that the loyal troops have won a notable victory over the disloyal pacifists. Three regiments refused to obey orders to take up a position and openly mutinied, mistreating their officers and tearing off their uniforms. A committee of loyal soldiers occupied positions against the mutineers, demanded the surrender of the rebels and the pacifists soon surrendered unconditionally. This is the grad government.

SCORE'S IRISH BLUE SERGES ARE GUARANTEED.

It means something to a man these days who contemplates selecting a blue serge suit to be absolutely certain of it being all wool and fast dye. Score's range of these desirable woolegs is the most complete that this eighty-year-old tailoring establishment has ever carried, and, as always, every yard in the stock is guaranteed indigo dyed, whether in the lighter weights for hot weather wear or the medium or heavier weights for the cooler days. And today we are featuring a very special today's serge suiting that as values go today is a "good buy" at forty dollars, but we're quoting it as a blue serge leader at $32. R. COAL DELIVERIES MAY BE INCREASED situation, the president appointed a committee on coal production under the council of national defence, with Francis P. Peabody of Chicago, chairman. Mr. Peabody was highly considered by the speaker, and with him are fourteen public-spirited citizens. Ten of these are coal operators, and in addition there is a representative of the coke industry, the director of mines and a Boston banker who has been long connected with the Massachusetts Board of Public Safety. The country has been divided into districts with one of these men in charge of each district, assisted by a sub-committee, while Mr. Peabody handles the general policies from Washington. This organization will stimulate production, facilitate transportation and equalize distribution.

Improvement Already.

The speaker instanced the activity of this committee. In the following concrete figures:

"Notwithstanding the great scarcity of labor at the mines, the heavy shortage of cars and the lack of adequate railroad facilities the production of anthracite during March, April and May was 2,294,259 tons more than during the corresponding three months a year ago, while the production of lake ports by two days, and was 30 per cent. more than it was for April last year. If this increase can be kept up through the summer months we shall be in far better shape to go into the fall and winter season than was the case last year, notwithstanding the exceptional demand for coal from all sides.

In addition, the railway committee is operating all the railways as one, and facilitating the movement of fuel to the greatest possible extent. The coal committee has cut out much of the red tape in connection with government orders, and has insisted on prompt delivery of coal being obtained. All lake shipments have been pooled and placed under the control of one man, F. C. Baird. This will enable every boat to be loaded to capacity promptly, and will cut down the individual consignments from 800 to less than 120. It will ultimately shorten the period of holding cars at lake ports by two days, and already a saving of one day per boat, when effected, which is equivalent to the addition of 52,000 cars to the railroads of the States.

A similar pooling arrangement has been effected in regard to New England shipments, which will reduce the detention of cars at piers from five days to three days, and effect an increase in the tonnage handled at the ports by 6,500,000 tons.

An arrangement has been effected with the Federation of labor by which all petty strikes will be adjusted by the government during the war. This will announce to the public that an increase of 2 1/2 days a year would mean an increased production of from 85 to 40 million tons.

Supply and demand, said Mr. Hull, was the greatest price regulator, and with an increased production and prompt movement of reports of their sales and prices. He suggested that the retailer place definite orders with the firm from whom he has been buying for deliveries as soon as they can be made. It was no time to change the source of supply when the demand exceeded the supply.

The conclusion he said:

"Every effort will undoubtedly be made to be fair to everyone and to take care of all sections. We are often inclined to magnify our own needs and minimize the needs of others. Errors of judgment will surely be made by many shippers, but I firmly believe that in the honest and earnest desire of the large majority of coal producers and railroad officials in this trying period of national calamity to be absolutely fair and to take care of every demand made upon them just the same as every retailer is anxious to do everything within his power to take care of the needs of his customers."

"But we must constantly remember that we are in war and be patient and make allowances, for our brother may be in greater distress and suffering much worse than we are."

To Make Your House Comely, Comfortable and Convenient

Special Attractions in the Store This Week

Plain, Dignified Mahogany Clocks

So Particularly Nice for Living-room, Dining-room or Library Mantelpiece—and, of Course, Their Time-keeping Qualities Are All That Could Be Desired.

ARE YOU SATISFIED with the clock on your living-room chimney-piece? Is it in keeping with the character of the room? Can you depend upon it for correct time? So many living-room clocks are unreliable and inappropriate—too trivial for their surroundings, or too ornate.

The two clocks our artist has drawn above are designed especially for the room of dignified, substantial furnishings. The frames are of mahogany of rich grain and desirable waxed finish. They are equipped with dependable 8-day movements that can be counted upon for the keeping of exact time.

The clock to the left of the sketch, with the Gothic top, stands 6 1/2 inches high, with 3 1/2-inch dial—the latter set into a brass rim—is $7.50. Its companion to the right, with the simple, flowing lines, is one of the popular "Tambour" clocks—about 12 inches wide. This is $9.00.

Also Bronzed and Gilt Clocks

For the room furnished in Elizabethan or Jacobean oak is a handsome bronzed clock in Shakespearian design showing a recumbent figure of the immortal dramatist with symbolic scrolls and laurel wreaths by way of motif. This, too, has an eight-day movement, with hour and half-hour strike on cathedral gong—price, $30.00.

And for a drawing-room or living-room of lighter furnishings is a delightful glass clock in frame of Roman gold finish—a simple, straight-line design of the French type, equipped with reliable 8-day movement with hour and half-hour strike. Price, $32.00.

Rag Rugs in Old Log Cabin Style

Just the Quaintest Floor Covering Possible for the Sitting-room or Bedroom of the Summer Cottage—or of the Bungalow in the Suburbs at Home.

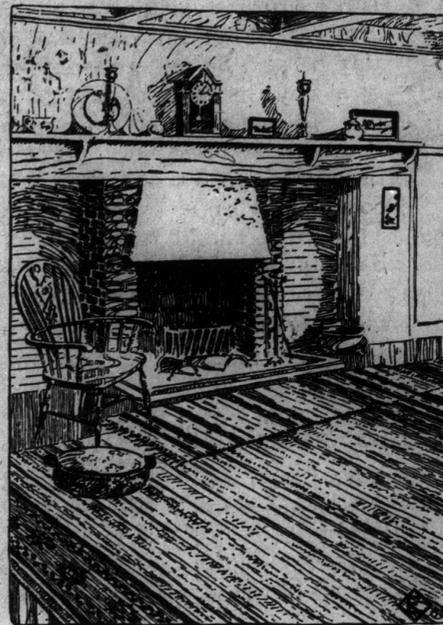

IT IS HARD TO TELL THEM from the real old-time rag rugs made by the early settlers on their queer, creaking hand looms. They show the same "hit-and-miss" effect, and the same irregular distribution of color. Moreover, they give well-nigh the same splendid service as the hand-made rug, be-

These and prices in these log-cabin rugs are as follows:

- Size, 37" x 54", Price, $ 1.95
- Size, 37" x 72", Price, $ 2.25
- Size, 4' x 7', Price, $ 4.75
- Size, 6' x 9', Price, $ 12.00
- Size, 9' x 12', Price, $ 12.00

Rag rugs with plain centres and floral borders across the ends—these, too, are delightful floor coverings for the daintily equipped bedroom of town or country house. They are available in charming tones of blue, rose, green, grey, and brown, with the floral bands across the ends in natural colors.

You were Inquiring?

E. E. S.—Such a tantalizing picture to paint for anyone tied to a desk in the hurly-burly, big-city, as a matter of fact, one's own imaginings—incorrigible, aren't they?—have been busy along the same lines, sketching fair visions of lazy, rambling roads, and sweet, woody places. So glad that you find "the page" edifying, your reply, please. Thank you for the document enclosed.

"Bride Broder."—What would look uncommonly well in that sunny room with the grey walls would be a black tulle patterned in pink, with a plain green rug echoing the green in the foliage on the credenza. There is a delightful chintz of this description at 75 cents a yard, 50 inches wide, and the rug might be a seamless Axminster. Can you visualize the proposed scheme? For the hall upstairs with the north window a brown wall paper would be rather gloomy, don't you think? A creamy buff shade or amber yellow would be more cheerful and fresh-looking. The green denim should do admirably for the big sitting-room chair. As for the black silk costume for yourself, one's only objection is that it seems a trifle elderly. Would you not like navy blue? The white hat would be quite summery and nice.

"Jean."—Copenhagen blue taffeta—how does that appeal to you? Flowered materials such as you describe seem off the fashion card this season, and other waxes you mention are not within the buying power of $10.00. But at that price is an extremely nice little dress in the fashionable coat effect, with belt and pocket. Or, if you prefer, you may have it in grey. As for the present for the baby, what would you think of a silver for his carriage cover—a device to keep it securely in place when he lurches about energetically, which may be had at 50 cents? Or would you rather have a quaint little coat hanger? There is the shirred silk kind at 70 cents and $1.00, and those in painted wood at 75 cents and $1.00. Rattles of many interesting varieties are featured at 35 cents, 45 cents, 50 cents and $1.00.

"Anxious Martha."—"B.B. Poison" at 25 cents and 50 cents a bottle, and "Killo" at 25 cents are two of the remedies best recommended for the purpose. The Drug Department cannot guarantee any preparation.

"A Gift of the Country."—It is more important that your wardrobe be warm than extensive for your cruise of the Lakes. A long, thick ulster—a "Burberry" style ideal in this particular case—a heavy sweater coat; a simple skirt of some sort, woolly material, such as Jersey cloth; several silk shirt-blouses; a lightweight, close-fitting hat of the tailored order; and a pretty dark silk frock for dinner in the evening—a wardrobe such as this would meet the demands of the expedition so far as your journey is concerned. If you intend to depart yourself on land for any length of time, then, of course, a lighter frock, a simple hat, a couple of gingham or other tub dresses, and probably a dark tailored suit, will be required to provide against possible vagaries of the weather. If you will write again, telling what of these things you will be obliged to procure—naming any instancing as to size and outfit—definite styles and prices will be quoted for you. Remember, to mention your preferences as to color.

Bedroom Furniture, Low in Price, But Lavish in Attractiveness

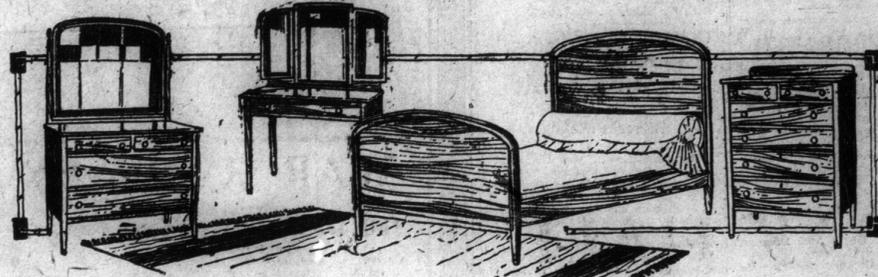

The Very Kind of Furniture You Are Likely to Want for the Room of Medium Size to be Furnished Artistically at Moderate Cost—Simple, Pleasing Designs, in Walnut, Mahogany or Ivory Enamel, Most of Them in Reproduction of Good Old Period Patterns.

TAKE, for example, this quartette of pieces set forth in literal manner in the accompanying drawing. Does not their nicety and simplicity of line appeal to you? Moreover, they are thoroughly well constructed and carefully finished, and may be had in either walnut or mahogany. Note, furthermore, the moderation of prices:

Dresser, $39.00; three-mirror toilet-table, $29.00; chiffonier, as illustrated, $29.00, or with mirror, $38.50; and bed—3' 6" wide, or 4' 6"—$35.00.

In ivory enamel in delightful Adam design, with drawer handles in antique finish, is a most attractive set, priced as follows: Dresser, $36.50; chiffonier, $32.50; 3-mirror toilet table, $31.00, and bedstead, $32.00.

A much-admired walnut set in William and Mary design is likewise moderately priced. Thus: Dresser, $33.50; chiffonier, with quaint, old-fashioned mirror, $32.00; three-mirror toilet table, $31.00; chair, $5.75, and cheff robe—with sliding shelves and deep drawers, $47.50.

In walnut in antique finish is still another most attractive set in simple design, priced as follows: Dresser, $41.00; chiffonier, with detachable mirror, $32.00; toilet table, $27.00; bench, $6.50, and bed, $29.50.

CRY OF "PROFITEER" IS TERMED UNFAIR

Col. Cantley Says Canadian Manufacturers Face Big Difficulties.

PREPARE FOR STRAIN

Increased Production After War Only Solution of Great Problem.

Winnipeg, June 12.—Col. Thomas Cantley, of New Glasgow, N.S., president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, addressed the members of that organization at the opening of the annual convention here today. He dealt at some length with a great many topics.

Col. Cantley said the manufacturers of the country had carried on business during the past year under great difficulties, in which he included war taxation and the increased cost of labor. A few manufacturers had grown rich, he said, and many had met with financial difficulties. As a class the manufacturers had done well for the country during the war. He defended the manufacturers against the charges of profiteering in the manufacture of war munitions, and declared that anyone who had made money out of this class of business had well earned it. The president of the association expressed opposition to any lowering of the tariff, and expressed his approval of the present "border tariff."

After-war Conditions. At the conclusion of the war, he said, the manufacturer would not be able to carry the load he is carrying today. Had he been asked five years ago if he could continue to do business at a cost for labor and material such as he was paying today, the question would have been laughed to scorn. That he was doing business and making a profit under existing conditions was due to the fact that governments must have supplies and were prepared to pay the price. With the termination of the war these government demands would cease and prices would immediately fall.

"Twenty million, perhaps more," continued Col. Cantley, "of the forty million men who have been withdrawn from producing and other occupations will return to their homes and to such employment as may be offered. National borrowings of staggering proportions will have to be repaid, and the only way they can be repaid will be by the country's increased production. A world that for three years has to some extent neglected commercial production will suddenly apply itself thereto with greater zeal than ever, and with the result that we will witness an era of competition such as has never been known before. Under these circumstances all prices must tend steadily downward, and wages must do the same. The profits accruing from manufacturing will narrow in proportion until we reach a point where capital will temporarily cease to be attracted to industrial enterprises." The president said that these remarks were not made in any spirit of pessimism, as he had unbounded faith in the ability and resourcefulness of Canadian manhood to weather any depression that might arise. Two facts that stood out conspicuously were mentioned in Col. Cantley's address, as follows:

Loss of Export Trade. "From the standpoint of production there will gradually but surely be cut off from us an expert trade in war materials amounting now to perhaps $800,000,000 a year. Manufacturers cannot immediately adapt themselves to new lines of production, nor can they immediately find new markets. With the coming of peace there will be necessarily a period of pause, of readjustment, with delay of development, until the general business situation becomes clarified sufficiently to justify the employment of capital in new ways. There will be widespread release of labor now engaged in the manufacture of munitions and military supplies, probably numbering 100,000 to 150,000. These large numbers will be steadily added to by the soldiers returning from the front, for most of whom employment will have to be found.

"This will constitute a very serious problem, worthy of most careful study by both ourselves and our legislators. Unemployment can always be relieved to some extent by undertaking great public works, but efforts of that kind will afford us no real solution, for they will but add to our public debt when our energies should be devoted to reducing it by production. It is frequently suggested that a back-to-the-land movement should be inaugurated. So far as encouragement or financial assistance can be used to put back on the land people who know how farming should be carried on, and who really farm, that policy should be adopted, but unless great care is exercised, it is likely to miscarry and leave us with a class of impoverished and discontented settlers, who will become liabilities instead of assets. Settlements of foreigners by communities under intelligent supervision and control may prove feasible in some instances, but ventures in that direction are not likely to be generally desirable or acceptable to Canada.

Must Produce Surplus. "It may well be borne in mind that no solution will give satisfactory and permanent results that is not based on the principle of supplying as far as possible our own wants daily producing in addition thereto something exchangeable at a profit for such commodities as we do not grow or cannot produce. Such a policy will lift us out of debt and set our feet on the highway of prosperity.

"If this be true, it then follows that every form of production that will contribute to these ends should be systematically encouraged along lines that will best maintain an even balance throughout, and so ensure us a substantial and well rounded development."

Regarding the agitation for a general reduction in tariffs, the president, while admitting that a revision might be needed, opposed any material lowering at a time when Canadian capital and labor are facing one of the most critical periods in their existence. Under free trade the manufacturer could not produce, and the employes would have to work elsewhere. The wisdom of Canada's fiscal policy had been splendidly borne out during the 35 years of protection prior to the war and since the war in the speedy adaptation for the manufacture of war supplies.

Shipbuilding Industry. The address gave a careful review of the shipbuilding industry in Canada and strongly advocated a policy of government assistance in constructing and maintaining a Canadian marine service. In this Col. Cantley sees Canada's greatest opportunity. Both by the country's natural products and inland waterways it is admirably fitted for this work. The career of Canada as a producing country is tied up in inland and ocean transportation.

Were ocean transport as well developed as the railway lines of the Dominion the vast bulk of the export tonnage would not only be carried across the Atlantic to Europe, but an immense amount of the carrying trade to the far east might be commanded. Previous to the war it was estimated that Canadians were paying over $50,000,000 annually in ocean freights, almost all of which went to foreign shipowners, and during the present year it is likely that $200,000,000 will be paid on Canadian natural and manufactured products.

In order to find profitable employment for the growing population technical education must be promoted, and it was suggested that this kind of education in which Canada is behind other countries might be assisted in a similar manner in which the federal government assisted agricultural education. The establishment of institutions for chemical and industrial research is also a matter of prime importance to the future of the country.

Railway Problem. Col. Cantley stated that while not a believer in government ownership of railways, he is loath to suggest further financial assistance being given them. He suggested that the solution of the problem might be found in creating a volume of traffic that would give a return on the investment, by the adoption of suitable fiscal and immigration policies. Such a plan would of necessity mean further railway financial aid possibly or a term of years on a decreasing scale. The president made a strong defence of the munition maker who has made money out of war orders. Many men have failed in this work and those who have succeeded in making money have richly earned it, in the colonel's opinion. Such success was won at the price of unusual energy and efficiency, and the country's success and that of the allied cause was dependent upon the ability of the munition maker to produce the present reserve of ammunition.

Canada never had and never would have a perfect government and while the present might be no better than previous ones, it has had larger problems and greater responsibilities. Criticism should at least be constructive. Dealing with the problem of the west, the president saw in the Hydro Electric development and the use of lignite fuels relief from the vast handicap with which western manufacturers previously had to contend.

The executive report, among the many matters dealt with, condemned the employment of alien architects and engineers for government work that could well be handled by Canadians. It was pointed out that aliens were seldom amillar with material produced in Canada and showed preference to the materials and specifications of their own country. Canadians should support Canadian institutions and the men who were trained therein.

While the revenue of the past year was the largest in the history of the association, there was a deficit of $5,595.15, whereas last year there was a surplus of $4,922.59. A general increase in membership fees is suggested. In April, 1917, the membership totaled 3299.

ONE MONTH'S SENTENCE

Special to The Toronto World. Chatham, June 12.—Joseph Burrows, William Humble and George Darling, the three youths who on Sunday, June 3, opened a switch on the G.T.R. at Prairie siding, derailing a freight train and causing about $500 worth of damages, were arraigned before Magistrate Arnold in the county police court this morning. Burrows and Humble escaped with suspended sentences. Darling admitted that he had opened the switch, and a sentence of one month was imposed.

Kent County Council Expected To Take Action on Good Roads

Special to The Toronto World. Chatham, June 12.—Some definite decision is expected to be made by the Kent County Council before the end of the June session, which opened here today, on the good roads question. S. L. Squires, of the provincial good roads department, suggested that the council pass their bylaw at once, so that they may be in a position to go ahead with the good roads scheme immediately after the war. It is understood that the bylaw will be introduced later in the session. Harry Collins, secretary-treasurer of the Kent County branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, presented a detailed report. It was shown that the sum of $131,745 had been subscribed by the county, and $100,000 by the city since the commencement of the war.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL PRINCIPAL REPORTS

Shows Total Expenditure During 1916 Less Than Two Hundred Thousand.

In answer to a charge made by a certain city official that it cost between $200,000 and $300,000 to run the Technical School, Principal C. McKay submitted some figures at yesterday's meeting of the advisory industrial committee of the board of education.

The question of allowing the pupils of St. Mildred's College to use the swimming pool during the vacation was not entertained. Figures submitted by Principal McKay showed that to heat the water would amount to about $5 per day and if done under the supervision of a physical instructor it would cost $7.50 per day.

The mayor, the board of control and the city council will tender a civic reception to John R. Rathon, editor and publisher of The Providence Journal, and Mrs. Rathon, on their arrival in Toronto today at 11.45 a.m.

The civic reception is being tendered as a slight recognition of the most valuable work rendered by The Providence Journal in the cause of the allies.

The business sessions of that meeting are open to members only, but there will be a special session on Thursday evening, known as editorial night, that will be open to the general public, including ladies.

"The Press in the War" will be the general theme of editorial night. Mr. Rathon will give an address on "Some Inside History." Other speakers on this occasion will be J. G. Elliott, editor, Winnipeg Free Press; Oswald Maynard, editor, La Presse, Montreal; and Colonel Hugh Clark, M.P., editor, Kincaid Review, and parliamentarian under-secretary of state for external affairs.

After hearing the report of G. H. Kilmer, K.C., and Works Commissioner Harris regarding their opposition to the clause in the charter of the Toronto and Niagara Power Co. giving the company power to enter on the streets of a municipality without consent, the board of control decided to continue the fight when the bill comes up at Ottawa.

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE IN WATER-LOTS CASE

Ex-Mayor Hocken Said That the Property Was Wanted for Sea-Wall Scheme.

Testifying in the action between T. H. Watson and the Toronto Harbor Commission over the ownership of two water lots at the Harbor, before Justice Lennox in the non-jury sittings yesterday, Ald. Graham declared that the property had been taken for park and boulevard purposes, but all the work accomplished had been undertaken by the harbor board.

Ex-Mayor Hocken stated that the property was wanted in connection with Controller Ward's scheme for a sea-wall with a park behind it.

That the Watson property was exposed to the Ontario Lake storms and was totally submerged at times was the statement made by E. A. James, a consulting engineer.

STICKS TO HIS GUNS IN HOSPITAL DISPUTE

Mayor Replies to W. K. George and Says He Saw Aliens in Barracks Himself.

"Most impudent" was the manner in which Mayor Church yesterday characterized the remarks of W. K. George regarding the hospital dispute. He stated that he simply transmitted the complaints without comment to the proper authorities at Ottawa.

The mayor said the hospital commission administers affairs was a source of much annoyance to the soldiers and their relatives. He investigated the complaints and found them to be warranted. Two soldiers from the hospital were taken to Stanley Barracks with alien enemies.

"Mr. George states that there have been none at the barracks for three months," continued the mayor, "but there were many there last Friday when I visited the institution and found two soldiers among them. I have referred to them giving out the large number of letters which I have received about conditions at Whitby and the number of civilians engaged on the local end of the hospital commission work. As I said, Mr. George has had no experience in hospital work, nor has the local end of the commission. Nearly all of them are novices. They have shown a lack of judgment and heart in their dealings with the soldiers."

"I intend to forward all complaints to the proper authorities at Ottawa. I do not want an invitation from Mr. George to visit Whitby. Toronto and not Whitby is the place for Toronto soldiers."

RELEASED ON BAIL.

Charged with the theft of a number of ducks, chickens and rabbits, John Foster appeared in the county police court yesterday and was released on bail for $1000 with two sureties. When Foster's premises were searched about 75 chickens, in addition to ducks and rabbits, were found. Later, Township Constable McNamee arrested him on the G. T. R. tracks with a bag of chickens in his possession. He said he was going to sell them. It is alleged that seven of the birds have been identified by various owners as having disappeared from their coops. Bail was fixed at $500.

CONFERENCE ELECTION.

Today the new president of the Toronto Methodist Conference will be elected, and in all probability it will be Rev. G. W. Robinson, pastor of Davenport Road Methodist Church. He is at present a member of the stationing committee, and was secretary of the conference in 1917. Prior to coming to the Davenport church a year ago, he was stationed at Orangeville.

COURT ORDERS RETRIAL OF DAMAGE ACTION

Suggested That Jury May Have Been Unduly Influenced by Certain Statements.

A new trial of the action of Nechama Dvoretzky against S. J. Birnbaum, a Toronto barrister, was directed yesterday by the second divisional appellate court at Osgoode Hall. Miss Dvoretzky sued thru her friend, Paul Levy, to recover $25,000 damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage.

The granting of the new trial of the case is upon the grounds that the jury may have been unduly influenced by counsel emphasizing the fact that the place of Birnbaum's birth was near Lemberg, which the court thinks any jurymen would know was in an enemy country.

Chief Justice Meredith, in his judgment, said: "There was nothing in the charge of Justice Latchford to the jury by way of warning to them against allowing their conclusions to be affected by the fact if they found it to be a fact that the appellant's relatives had made untrue accusations against the respondent or had sought to have her deported, nor were the jury cautioned against being affected one way or the other by the evidence that had been admitted as to the racial origins of the parties."

SCHOOL HEALTH REPORT.

The total number of pupils in the public schools given physical examination during the past month was 268, and of this number, 618 were found to be normal, according to the report of the medical inspectors. A total of 410 defects were discovered. The number excluded because diseased was 228 and the number diseased 64. Thirty-nine suspects were excluded and 169 for exposure to disease.

PARENTS IN LITIGATION OVER CUSTODY OF CHILD

Father is Catholic and Mother Protestant, and Each Claims Little Daughter.

At Osgoode Hall yesterday, Chief Justice Sir William Mulock adjourned for one week the motion of H. F. Brennan, for the custody of his three-year-old daughter, Constance Eileen. The child was with her mother when the case was called in court, and Sir William remarked that prima facie the mother had the right to the custody of such a young child and on condition that she would bring the little girl to court next Tuesday, she was allowed to take her to her home.

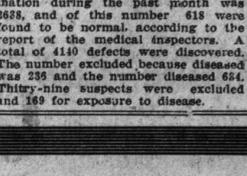

The investigation into the charges preferred against Principal W. G. Morrison, of Pope Avenue School, opened yesterday afternoon before a special committee, trustee Dr. R. R. Hopkins being in the chair. The meeting was strictly private, the press being rigidly excluded.

PRESCRIBED WHISKEY.

Boilermaker Was Found Drunk on Street With Bottle in Club Bag.

In the police court yesterday Dr. George A. O'Leary was severely scored by Crown Attorney Corley for prescribing whiskey for James Clancy, a boilermaker, suffering from general debility. Clancy was found drunk with the remnants of a bottle of whiskey in his club bag on Dundas street. Out of this arose a charge of drunkenness and having liquor in an illegal place. Called to the stand, Dr. O'Leary admitted prescribing whiskey for Clancy, whereupon Mr. Corley asked him if he was in the habit of prescribing whiskey and how much he had prescribed since Sept. 16. The doctor said he did not know. Clancy was allowed out on $200 bail. He will come up again on June 14.

U.S. PUTS NEUTRALS UNDER RATION SYSTEMS

Senate Authorizes President to Control Exports So As to Prevent Supplying of Germany With Foodstuffs.

Washington, June 12.—Control of exports was given the government today when the senate finally approved the administration espionage bill with the embargo clause. The measure, now sent to the president for his signature, puts into the hands of the executive a weapon by which it is intended to stop supplies from entering Germany thru neutral countries.

Passage of the bill removes to a great extent the necessity of the British blockade, since the United States, originator of most of the exports that reach the neutrals, will be in a position with the aid of British machinery established during the three years of the war to see that the countries are supplied with just enough food and materials for their own needs.

The measure also gives another powerful weapon to the president in that it permits him to trade for articles controlled by the allies, which heretofore have been permitted to come to the neutrals only in limited quantities. The United States, with an enormous trade balance in its favor, and largely independent of the rest of the world for raw supplies, can force neutral ships to supply it does not need by exercising its new power over exports.

To Control Shipping.

Full control over shipping will require licenses for export cargoes and under this arrangement the government can force neutral ships from where they have sought safety from submarine attack, into service to transport cargoes wanted by their home countries. American and allied shipping, too, can be required to carry cargoes to the countries which the government considers should be supplied for a proper conduct of the war.

In applying the new law, the government's purpose, aside from preventing supplies from reaching the enemy, will be to conserve all American resources, first to make America effective in the war, secondly, to make the allies effective, and, thirdly, to be neutrals friendly to the alliance. The power to readjust shipping routes and sources of supply is expected to effect a tremendous saving in tonnage by reducing long hauls. For instance, Spain might not be allowed to get American coal if she could just as well get coal from England.

Gets Allied Figures.

The enormous mass of figures collected by the allies in their rationing of Holland and Scandinavia are, of course, available to this government, and they will be supplemented by the independent investigations of American consuls on the spot. It is essential not to allow imports into any country contiguous to Germany which can be in any way re-exported or used to supply Germany.

The neutral nations have expressed much concern over America's possible policy, and three of them, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland, have sent special commissions to this country to present their needs and requirements. They also have developed a mass of statistics as to their foreign trade, which they hope will induce this country to be as generous as is consistent with her own needs in the furnishing of supplies.

America's final incorporation into the allied economic strength, with the legislation passed today, gives the alliance the practical trade domination of the whole world outside the German empire. The neutrals are practically helpless without allied shipping and coal.

NEW REGISTRY OFFICE OPENED BY THE MAYOR

Brief and memorable was the opening of Toronto's new registry office on Albert street yesterday morning. The ceremony was performed by Mayor Church before a large crowd of civic officials.

The office, which extends over the entire block of Albert, Elizabeth, Louisa and Albert streets, cost the city $262,523, and the cost of erection, outfitting and architect's fees amounted to $462,614.

The building is completely fireproof and the eastern and western sections of the main floor will be used as the land titles office, which was formerly located at Osgoode Hall.

CHEERING REPORT REGARDING CROPS

Hay Promises to Be Fair and Fruit Prospects Are Bright.

The weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, issued yesterday, contains encouraging information as to the condition of spring crops throughout the province. The hay crop promises to be fair, and the fruit outlook is bright. The entire corn crop has not yet been planted, and the wet weather has caused some of the seed to rot in the ground. Particularly is this the case in Kent and Essex Counties. The following is the report:

Spring sown crops on the whole look most promising, although there are complaints from some of the early planted corn rotting in the ground owing to the wet and backward weather. Considerable corn is yet to be put in, as there will be no planting this season. Grass seed has caught splendidly.

Clover, timothy and alfalfa are looking better every day, and there are now hopes that a fair crop of hay may yet be cut.

Mangels are more popular than in former years, but turnips are losing in favor. The wet weather has delayed the completion of root sowing. Potatoes, which have been late in appearing, are now showing up nicely.

Vegetable gardens, both in town and country, are giving much encouragement to owners. Where grown for the canneries, early planted tomatoes look well, and there will be a greatly increased area given to this crop. Beans also are commanding a much larger acreage.

The fruit outlook is on the whole bright, as blossoms on trees, bushes, etc., have so far totally escaped frost.

All classes of live stock are beginning to look sleek and the much improved pastures. Market prices have dropped during the week. Fat steers have brought 12 a pound, but ordinary cattle ranged from 8c to 10c a pound. Most of the fat stock have already been picked up.

The milk supply has been rather above the average. Factorymen, however, are dissatisfied with the fact that 21c a pound for cheese does not allow a fair return to dairymen when the high price of mill feeds and other concentrates is considered.

Hogs have dropped in value from 50c to $1 a cwt., the figures now offering ranging from $15 to $16.

Sheep are doing well. Wool never brought such prices. Labor: While farm help is not in demand for immediate service, requests are being made for the services of boys during the summer holidays, as many who have already been employed gave satisfaction. Skilled farm hands are very scarce.

The photograph of which the above is a reproduction was picked up on the field of battle at Vimy Ridge by Pte. J. W. Icton and forwarded to friends who reside at 208 Bellwoods avenue, Toronto. If it is recognized the owner can have it by applying at that address.

URGES INSTANT ACTION TOWARDS FUEL CONTROL

Mayor Suggests That Dominion Confer With States to Fix Coal Prices.

Mayor Church doubts whether the appointment of a fuel dictator will be effective in controlling coal distribution and prices in Canada.

"The proper way to deal with the trouble is for the Dominion Government to confer with the United States Government for the purpose of fixing prices, providing for transportation and eliminating the middleman," he says. "That is the only way that a sufficient supply of coal at reasonable prices can be obtained. The way the government has been doing business I doubt if the fuel dictator will get busy until it is too late to do anything."

The board of control will discuss the local coal situation today.

The Conscription Bill

There will be no two opinions about the principle of the conscription bill among genuine Canadians who think more of their country and the ideals for which it stands among the nations, than they do of their own personal convenience or safety. The general sentiment of the community so far as this has been ascertainable thru the press (with certain exceptions) and otherwise has been favorable. The support for the bill has not been partisan, and such opposition as has developed has not been partisan. There is more unity for the measure than for any other step taken by the government since the war began. It is a sign that the vital nature of the war to Canada is at last being widely recognized. Canada is to live and not die. The man-power of Canada available is placed at 450,000 as a conservative estimate, after allowing for deductions and wastage among the million and a half or so liable for service among the various classes up to 45 years of age to be drafted. These 450,000 should be sufficient and probably more than sufficient to supply the wastage at the front among the four divisions then engaged.

The unanimity of the representative elements of the nation, always excepting certain recalcitrants who are not really Canadians in the Dominion-wide sense of Canadianism, is the most fortunate and nation-building thing that could have happened in this jubilee year of confederation. Had party feeling or any other petty and narrow view precluded the hearty and general acceptance of the principle of universal service the world at large would have known that Canadianism had not yet been achieved.

With agreement on the fundamental part of the necessity for conscription it would be a tragedy if there were disagreement on details. About this there should be little difficulty, yet one or two real obstacles lie in the path of the operation of the measure. The chief of these is the impression which the government has done nothing yet to remove, that conscription of man-power does not pledge the government to any further measures of conscription, as of wealth, of natural resources, etc. There is a certain nucleus of opposition which might assume a more tangible or even formidable organization under certain conditions which views opposition to conscription of men, unless conscription of money and other matters be carried out at the same time. We believe such an objection is nothing more than a pretext, but it forms a plausible pretext for timid hearts or dishonest minds. As Dr. Clark said, a beginning must be made somewhere. There is no better place to begin than where it is immediately possible, and the pressing and urgent need, is for men. We have plenty of money at present, and finances are not the difficulty just now. But it would relieve any strain that may be possible in the situation any day if the government had intimated that wealth must bear the same proportionate levy that has been made upon men. A word would relieve a situation that may become tense, and that word ought to be spoken.

Perhaps the government does not fully realize the strong feeling that does exist in some quarters, and reasonable and intelligent quarters, too, on this point. This feeling has unfortunately been presented by men of the type that have kept Russia out of the present season's campaign. To a government which is not too complacent at any time to labor interests. It is quite true that there is labor and labor. But this does not change the fact that the best labor, the (and because) it knows the need, has an earnest desire to see the war ended, the world reconstituted, the activities of peace conducted once more on a scale commensurate with the importance of our commonwealth.

We believe that a word from the government on this question of conscription of wealth would allay much feeling, and facilitate the mobilization of the troops now required. Why, then, is it not spoken? Heavy incomes, huge surplus profits should be their bit" as well as the man who puts in his whole capital—his ability to work.

Another objection which has been raised touches principle less and may prove to be only a matter of detail. It is that of registration or enrolment, where if the plan adopted in the United States in Great Britain a different principle was adopted. There, the several classes were called out in due order, and they were expected to report at headquarters. Those who failed to report, the only "red shackets" were gradually gathered in. But there are decided advantages about the United States method of total enrolment. That the actual man-power is in direct touch with government; the amount of it is known; its capabilities can be ascertained, and its duties more precisely determined. But there are details about which a good intention will obviate difficulties. Can we rely on the government's good intention?

A more serious objection is the criticism directed against the conscription classes. This is admittedly difficult ground. It is to be recognized that there are many classes of men of more use at home than at the front. As Dr. Michael Clark pointed out two Lancashire battalions actually were brought back from the front to do indispensable work at home. We do not think that some of our labor friends have sufficiently considered this phase of the subject. The available men in the ranks of labor have contributed largely to the troops now at the front. Those who remain are to be regarded in relation to work still to be done, and essential to the welfare of the country.

Great drafts cannot be made upon this body of men without embarrassing the whole social and economic organization. It is natural to suppose that conscription in the form of a true selective draft will draw more heavily on those classes which have not yet made a contribution proportionate to their strength. The clerical or clerking class, the leisure and well-to-do class, those who would not mind going as officers, but who failed to take the shortest road to promotion; those who are holding down impalpable jobs with the idea that they are highly important to the country; the idlers and amusements seekers and the young fellows who have never had manhood hammered into them by any profitable exertion; all these, which have always made excellent material in all conscripted armies, ought in justice and fairness to be the first to be called upon. With their departure it will be time enough to consider heavier drafts upon labor.

The platform of the Greater Toronto Labor party is a notable sign post for the politicians generally. It accepts boldly the principle of conscription, and urges not only the slight and necessary men. But it recognizes conscription of the wealth, the resources, the food and other necessities of the country as a primary consideration also. The government must not lose sight of this, and the sooner it states its adherence the easier it will be for the conscription legislation.

Real Estate Notes

Week by week sees many changes in the new industrial centre at New Toronto. The machinery for the first unit of the Goodyear Rubber Co's plant is being put in place and within the next two weeks the wheels will be set in motion, giving employment to some twelve hundred men. The second unit, the Crown Brick and Rolling Mills is now completed, and several hundred more men will soon be employed. Their new three-story office building on the corner of Lakeshore road and Eleventh street will soon be ready. The Dupont Building Co. will also start operations within the next few days, employing two or three hundred men. These industries are creating a demand for houses, and in all directions building operations are active. Within a short distance from the lake front road and south to the lake front seventy or more houses were counted, some nearing completion, the others well under way.

E. Gagnon has completed the eight-story apartment house down east at the Beaches. So great has been the demand for apartments in this locality that Mr. Gagnon will soon start a twenty-four suite apartment, N. E. Mappin, who operates extensively in this district, reports many sales of house property the last few weeks; two on Waverley road, $5,000 each; six on Balsam avenue averaging $6,500; two hundred feet of land on Kingston road at $25 a foot; 50 feet Pine crescent, $25.50 a foot; one hundred feet, Mason Park Garden, $14 a foot; two houses on Beech avenue at $5,000 each. Mr. Mappin states that the demand for vacant land is better than at any time during the past three years. F. L. Clarkson reports house buying has been brisk all through the season, and has several deals pending. Edison Johnson, builder, has six or seven dwellings under construction on Scarborough road. Building permits yesterday: E. Allen, detached two-story dwelling, Wrenson road, $2,000; Cowan & Co., one-story brick dwelling, Sterling $2,000; H. E. Hand, private garage, Balsam avenue, $600; Geo. Adam, pair semi-detached dwellings, Harvie avenue, $4,000; W. F. Levack, detached dwelling, Oakmount road, $4,500; J. Foytlop, semi-detached dwelling, Biggar avenue, $3,900, also detached dwelling and private garage, Glen road, $4,000; E. C. Coleman, private garage, Chestnut Park road, $1,000; P. Brooks, detached brick dwelling, Arlington avenue, $2,000.

ROWELL WILLING TO ENTER FEDERAL CABINET

Sir John Willison Said to Have So Advised Premier Borden.

An Ottawa despatch yesterday to The Toronto Telegram says: "Liberals hear that Sir John Willison wired Sir Robert Borden that N. W. Rowell would enter a conservative cabinet headed by Sir Robert. Sir Wilfrid Laurier makes it difficult for Liberals to come in. The old view has practically put it to those that they are guilty of disloyalty to him if they join with Borden on the conscription issue," said a Liberal today.

"John M. Godfrey and the win-the-war delegates appear to think that N. W. Rowell would solve the Liberal end of the coalition problem and start the Liberals coming."

DISCUSS SALARIES IN CIVIL SERVICE

Estimates of Department of Agriculture Also Fuel for Mild Debate.

BORDEN IS ABSENTEE

Sir George Foster Acts in His Stead—Off Day at the Capital.

By a Staff Reporter.
Ottawa, June 12.—This has been an off day at the capital. The house, after a brief discussion of Sir Thomas White's bill to amend the Civil Service Act, went into committee of supply on the estimates of the department of agriculture. The prime minister did not attend the sitting and the house, in his absence, was led by Sir George Foster.

On the orders of the day, Sir George Foster, who was leading the house in the absence of the premier, announced that Hon. E. L. Patenaude had tendered his resignation as secretary of state. The correspondence would be laid before the house as soon as the consent of the governor-general could be obtained.

Sir George also laid on the table of the house the recent order-in-council appointing a fuel controller and also the order-in-council appointing a board of grain supervisors for Canada. The object of the latter, he said, was to conserve the interest of the farmers in the lower grades and the export of grain to Great Britain and the United States, and to co-operate with the government in the lower grades, which was taking action along similar lines.

The house then went into committee of the whole on Sir Thomas White's bill to increase the salaries of civil servants in the lower grades, and a more or less rambling discussion followed principally in respect to the pay of the rural carriers, and the letter carriers. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux presented the case of the country postmaster, the railway mail clerks, the rural carriers, and the letter carriers.

J. A. M. Armstrong (N. York) thought the rural mail carrier's pay should be standardized, say at so much a mile. At present men tendered for mail contracts sometimes at ridiculous figures, and then they expected their member to get them more pay, which of course, was out of the question. He favored better pay for the railway mail clerks and for men in the transfer service who carry the mail from one train to another, rather than the rural carriers.

Dr. Edwards (Frontenac) said many rural carriers had contracted with the government for a four-year term because the parcel post was established. They had figured upon making a little extra money by carrying parcels along their route. Then the parcel post was established and they had to carry the parcels for nothing. In some cases the parcel post business added so much to the mail that the carriers had to provide more facilities for handling the same.

Dr. Schaffner (Souris) said that if the members of the civil service of the Ottawa paid more attention to their work and less attention to the clerks their work could be done by a smaller force which would then be entitled to better pay.

Inside Service Overmanned.
R. E. Bennett (Ottawa) agreed that the inside service was overmanned. He favored reducing it by at least 10 per cent. On the other hand, he thought that many members of the outside service were shamefully underpaid.

Sir Thomas White pointed out that the bill before the house had nothing to do with the outside service. There would be some increase in the pay of members of the outside service, but that would be included in the supplementary estimates.

U-BOATS OPERATE ON SWEDISH COAST

Zeppelins Continue Activities Against Neutrals in Gulf of Bothnia.

FIRES ON LIFEBOATS

Submarine's Action Causes Drowning of Five Sailors at Sea.

Stockholm, June 12, via London.—German submarines and light war craft, together with zeppelins, are continuing their activities in the Gulf of Bothnia. Hardly a day passes without one or more Scandinavian vessels being sunk. The zeppelin scout regularly along the Swedish coast line, occasionally coming inside the territorial limits.

A Swedish naval patrol yesterday drove away a zeppelin to the eastward of Stockholm.

Recently the Swedish torpedo boat Castor rescued Denmark's largest sailing vessel, the Peer Uglund, from capture. The Peer Uglund was stopped by a German armed trawler. Just then a Swedish vessel bound for Finland appeared. The trawler towed the Peer Uglund some distance eastward, anchored her, and then went after the Swedish vessel, putting a prize crew aboard the latter. The trawler then returned to the Peer Uglund.

The commander of the Castor observed that the Danish vessel had been towed just inside Swedish territorial waters. He headed toward her just as a German armed trawler appeared. The trawler, however, was under consideration.

Several Western Ontario members complained of the regulations imposed by the cheese commission which is buying cheese for the British Government. Mr. Neatiff (N. Oxford) thought that the cheese should be weighed and inspected in Western Ontario instead of being inspected at Montreal. He said the cheese producer was getting a higher price in the United States than in Canada, and he would like to see the price here or in the United States, he was paying more than in Canada.

Mr. Morphy (N. Perth) made a vigorous protest, saying that a great deal of cheese was being sent to Montreal from his part of the country was rejected in Montreal. Moreover, the commission insisted upon the cheese being collected in centers from which it could be forwarded to Montreal in carload lots, and this involved double handling.

Commissioner's Good Work.
Mr. Webster (Brookville) said if the cheese was properly packed in cold storage cars it would not deteriorate on its way to Montreal. He gave a high character to the work of the commission. He personally visited the factories and was most testily to the fairness of the inspection.

Mr. Burrell reminded the house that he could exercise no control over the British commission. The commission was buying the cheese it wanted and the farmers thought it was worth. The commission had, in the first place, only thought of offering 19 cents, but advanced the price to 21 cents. The price was not being commandeered and no one was compelled to sell unless he wanted to.

GEORGETOWN RAILWAYS HAVE DEFICIT FOR YEAR

Shortage Nearly One Million Two Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Ottawa, June 12.—According to a statement by Hon. Frank Cochrane today, the past year's operation on the Georgetown railway produced a deficit of $1,179,867. On the intercolonial a little over sixteen million was spent and fifteen million earned. Expenses on the Transcontinental were $5,916,550, as against $3,758,387 for the preceding year. The deficit was two millions. This is accounted for by the increased cost of operation and the fact that many military supplies were carried free or at low cost.

A total of 277,153 soldiers were carried on 483 special trains. So far $18,175,000 has been spent on the Hudson Bay road. For the different government lines heavy orders of rolling stock are being placed.

CHARGE FOE POSITIONS

Unit Has Participated in Stirring Events Already in War.

By Theos. T. Champion, Canadian Associated Press Correspondent.
London, June 12.—Once upon a time I read a tale of a legion of horsemen who rode off to the wars and were never heard of again. In the years to come, when writers of romance hunt up plots from incidents of the Great War of 1914-15-16-17, etc., one of them of a certainty will find a story of a lost host upon the fortunes of the Canadian Cavalry Brigade. And some white-haired campaigner of the west, who will have this story read to him, will protest in childish treble, dismissing it as utter trash, and his listeners will then hear from him the true account of what happened to him and his fellows. Of how they sailed for England in the early days of the war and became part of the imperial forces. Of how they, in consequence, hardly ever again were seen by their comrades of the Canadian Cavalry. Of how there was nothing for a long time in France for cavalry to do, and they were accordingly turned into infantry, and spent long months in the trenches. Of how they at length became cavalry once again.

In the Cavalry Region.
I am in the proud position of being able to anticipate the ancient warrior's recital. In my recent visit to the war zone I spent a delightful afternoon with some of the Canadian Cavalry. I must not, of course, disclose their present whereabouts. I made my visit on a Sunday. The district where the Canadians were located was approximately "still and Sunday-like." Huck Finn's description will stand in further stead: "There was them kind of faint droppings of bugs and flies in the air that makes it seem so lonesome and like everybody's dead and gone; and if a breeze fans along and quivers the leaves, it makes you feel mournful."

It was no mere sentimental feeling of mournfulness which possessed one here. The freshening breeze of the Sabbath nightfall rustled among more fragments of chateau and cottage, and in orchards laid waste by the German when he made what he pleased to call his "voluntary" retreat. It was impossible not to realize that every one of the lawful inhabitants of the countryside was indeed either dead or gone.

Nothing mournful about the Canadian Cavalry, tho'. The brigadier—I must not mention his name, I suppose, but you all know him for a most gallant soldier—gave a greeting with the unaffected cordiality which is one of his most charming and consistent characteristics. The staff major—no comes from Winnipeg and bears an Irish paternity—made me wince with the grip of his hand. Verily, that handshake was enough to prove that the Canadian Cavalry are physically as hard as nails. Then there came along another major, also from Winnipeg, who took me off to his own squadron.

Met Some Officers.
In a bell tent, within hearing of the chanting of the tethered squadron, I was presented to half a dozen officers. Without affectation I can affirm it causes one to feel really humble to note the honest pleasure your own visit affords these men who have so long been strangers to ordinary life. The coming of a civilian amongst them arouses well-nigh as much interest as would the presence of a Hottentot among sightseers in Westminster Abbey. There is real pathos in the sad manner they listen to the latest gossip from Canada, and of doing so in London. And when my own budget of small talk was spent, and they began to talk of their own fortunes, there was a touch of wistfulness in the casual enquiry "whether anybody in Canada ever heard anything about them." RAILWAYS DEMAND INCREASE IN RATES

Application Before Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners Here.

OPPOSED BY FARMERS

Board of Trade Asks That Coal and Coke Be Exempt From Increase.

The application of the Canadian railways for an increase of fifteen per cent on freight and passenger rates, with a specific increase of fifteen cents per ton on coal for eastern Canada, was heard before the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners in the City Hall yesterday. Commissioners D. A. Scott presiding. Similar meetings are being held under Chairman Sir Henry Drayton in the west, and it is expected that the hearing will be completed at Montreal next Wednesday.

Two bodies only appeared before the board yesterday to make objections against the application, and a whole host of others appearing and asking that coal and low priced commodities on which the freight rate was a large percentage of the cost should be exempt from the increase.

Gordon Waldron, representing the United Farmers of Ontario, and W. J. Moody, of the Kitchener Manufacturers' Association, were the objectors to the whole increase.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Toronto Board of Trade asked for exemption of coal and low priced commodities. The Dominion Canners, fruit growers, and Peter White, K.C., representing the live stock interests, asked for exemption of their products from the proposed increase.

C.N.R. Losing Money.

D. B. Hanna, vice-president of the C.N.R., presented the case for his road. The increase in operating expenses and maintenance was illustrated by Mr. Hanna in the tables of comparative cost which were previously submitted to the board. In the case of the C.N.R. the cost of materials had increased $5,190,000, and the table was drawn up the situation had been seriously embarrassed in that the coal situation has got into a state where it is difficult to secure engine fuel. The labor bill for the year would show an increase of $550,427, and labor and materials amount to $6,000,000 more than last year. In 1915 the road was $2,000,000 short of reaching operating expenses, and last year was but $200,000 nearer the mark.

In regard to coal, Mr. Hanna informed the board that the companies on the other side do not want to sell coal to Canada, as they have a profitable market at home. At present the company only has a few weeks' supply on hand, and the situation is very critical. A statement of comparative earnings, labor costs and drop in earnings per mile was submitted to the board.

"Can you give us any assurance that you will put any of the money into equipment which will be a service?" asked Mr. W. J. Moody of the Kitchener Manufacturers' Association.

"An assurance whatever," replied Mr. Hanna. "Certainly not."

Coal Rate Increase.

Speaking for the G. T. R., J. E. Dwyer, vice-president, said: "The increase in the coal rates will not be sufficient to pay the increase in the cost of coal consumed in Canada during the coming year by the road. Our calculations show that the increase in the cost of fuel will be $6,245,500. The increase will not produce that amount of money for the road.

The revenue for the four months ending April 30, 1917, showed an increase of $1,055,595 over the same period in 1916, after deducting the expenses the result was a decrease for the period of $392,709. The increase in the wage bill for the year would amount to $1,600,000.

W. H. Curle of the C. P. R. and F. F. Backus of the T. E. & B. endorsed the statements made in regard to the increase in material and labor.

H. A. Harrington, secretary of the coal section of the Retail Merchants' Association, said that the soft coal scarcity in the States was due to the contracts that were at present being filled for the French and Italian Governments, and that when these were completed the increased production would amount to a large amount for export to Canada.

Service Criticized.

Thos. Marshall, traffic manager of the Toronto Board of Trade, submitted that the service of the railways had been and was still inadequate. His board would not oppose an emergency increase provided coal and coke were such articles as were of very little value and yet carried a high freight rate were excluded. The articles referred to were crushed stone, gravel, sand and clay.

S. B. Brown, of the traffic department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, presented a similar statement to that of Mr. Marshall, but asking in addition that milling, in process, and similar service be exempt. In both statements the board was asked to specify a time of termination of the increases granted.

The Dominion Canners, thru Mr. Caldwell, claimed that the rates on canned goods were high enough, and an increase would make them unable to compete with American goods delivered to the west over American roads.

Peter White, K.C., on behalf of the live stock interests, asked that live stock be exempt from increase. Meat was becoming scarce, and the price was largely due to the high-priced land on which it had now to be produced.

Railway Earnings.

"In 1916," said Mr. White, in reply to the poverty cry of the railways, one of the railways earned 22 1/2 per cent.

"The net average revenue per mile of operating passenger train service was $2.84 in 1916, and the cost of operating it was $1.76, a profit of $1.08 per mile. The gross revenue of all the railways was $263,527,157, and the cost of operating $180,542,259, a profit of $82,974,898. These facts should be brought into consideration, and show that there is no necessity for the increase in the rates asked for."

That the C. N. R. was not able to pay fixed charges, and that an increase of $6,000,000 in operating cost was expected by them, was pointed out by Chairman Scott, but Mr. White, while stating he had views regarding what the C. N. R. might do, refused to give advice to that railway thru the board.

Gordon Waldron, representing the United Farmers of Ontario, stated that the C. P. R. had $3,321,000 for the C. N. R., and $5,873,256 for the G. T. R. In his argument at the afternoon session he pointed out the increase. That the rates should be controlled by parliament, and did not come under the War Measures Act, was his contention.

C. P. R. Revenue.

"I wish to urge that it is not just that the C.P.R., which has a very large revenue, which is not in difficulties and has large reserves, should receive this benefit for the sole purpose of enabling others to carry on their roads," he said.

"Would you increase the rates of the G.T.R. and then advise the public to ship by the higher rate?" asked the chairman.

"I do not propose to offer a solution for that very great difficulty," replied Mr. Waldron.

W. J. Moody of the Kitchener Manufacturers' Association held that the needs of the C.N.R. and G.T.R. should be met with a federal grant, which would be paid by all the people. An increase of 15 per cent. was an opportunity for the manufacturers to put on another five per cent. for incidentals. The C.P.R., he held, was in no need of a revenue increase.

The new car service rules came up for hearing, but it was decided to leave the matter for a joint conference of shippers and carriers, to be held in Ottawa on July 2. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Toronto Board of Trade and the Retail Merchants' Association put on record their opposition to the clauses in the proposed rules dealing with the hours' free time for giving placement orders, payment of charges and re-shipment of loaded cars, reduction in free time for unloading, bunching, charging for Sundays and holidays after the free time had elapsed, inclement weather conditions and the payment of demurrage charges.

Average Agreement.

They asked that the result of the increased demurrage charges during the past winter be put in by the railways, and that before the rules were adopted average agreement and reciprocal demurrage be enacted.

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

THE ROBINS PLAYERS.

The Robins Players, under the leadership of Edward H. Robins, will have a busy day today. In the morning they will rehearse next week's show, in the afternoon give a matinee performance of "The Man Who Owns Broadway," and after the matinee they are going to the Orthopedic Hospital and give a performance of this week's comedy to the convalescent soldiers, after which they will return and give the night performance.

"Mile-a-Minute Kendall" with its fast-moving action, will be the attraction given by Edward Robins and the Robins Players at the Alexandra Opera House on Monday, June 25. The play is the latest achievement of the pen of Owen Davis, one of America's most prolific writers, and was produced by Oliver Morosco. This is the first time it has been ever played in stock.

"THE SUBMARINE EYE."

The latest and what is claimed to be the most interesting of all under-sea photodramas, "The Submarine Eye," is now being shown at the Grand Opera House with a matinee every day. It is the latest achievement of the "Williamson Brothers, and introduces a wonderful invention, the invented periscope, an arrangement which it is confidently expected will offset the U-boat menace. The photodrama can be logically divided into three episodes, with the theme of the story carried uninterrupted through. Its thrills, its amazing novelties, and its marvelous under-water photography stamp it as the most remarkable photodrama of the times.

DE KOVEN OPERA COMPANY.

The De Koven Opera Company will open the summer series at the Grand Opera House on Monday, June 25, presenting the musical and altogether pleasing opera "Robin Hood." The organization in its entirety will be heard in the various operas, and the scale of prices arranged is a popular one.

STAR.

Ned Woodley, Sam Bachman and Lew White, a trio of clever funmakers, will be with the Stars of Burlesque all next week at the Star Theatre. The lines of the show were written by the parents in many cases being unable to speak or understand English. The commissionaire paid fine tribute to the work of the Big Brothers who he assisted him materially.

"THE BARRICADE" AT STRAND.

The "Barricade" the great Metro production which is headlining the Strand Theatre for the first half of this week, is a photodrama of the fiercest of the hardest problems of a young woman, who marries her husband with the object of compassing his financial ruin, but who fails in love with him. In the portrayal of this character she gives a superb example of dramatic power.

CHILDREN'S AID WORK REVIEWED

Interesting Addresses at the Second Open Meeting of Social Service Guild.

The second open meeting of the Catholic Social Service Guild was held in St. Michael's College Hall, when Rev. Dean Hand presided, and the principal speakers were Rev. Father Bench, superintendent of Catholic charities; Mr. Wm. O'Connor, government superintendent of Catholic dependent delinquent children; Commissioner Boyd of the juvenile court, and Mr. Justice Kelly.

In his address Father Bench stated that institutions were often adversely criticized, the contention being that children brought up under their training did not measure up to those brought up in a private home. This the speaker thought was by no means always true, results being dependent on the methods and supervision given. As an illustration of the fine citizens who may come from an institution he pointed to the Sacred Heart Orphanage of Sunnyside which has 250 of its boys overseas, twelve of whom have been killed in action. "The case for the adoption of children into private homes was taken by Mr. O'Connor, who from an experience of sixteen years, thought there was better opportunity for the wards of the Children's Aid who were adopted. In the majority of cases they get into the country where they learn to work along many lines, they have better chances of physical development and individuality and often win the regard of those by whom they have been adopted.

Juvenile Court.

Speaking of his work in the juvenile court, Commissioner Boyd told of over 1000 cases which last year came under his supervision. In most of these instances it was the parents and not the children who were to blame. Referring to some criticism that had been leveled against his methods, the commissioner said that his staff of probation officers had been too small to cope with all the cases; that the office in reality had been switched from the delinquent to the neglected children. Now, however, a readjustment had been made. He expressed himself as believing in getting into the confidence of the child rather than being in haste to come to a hasty verdict. One of the hardest problems was the large number of foreign children whose cases were hard to arrive at owing to a scarcity of interpreters, the parents in many cases being unable to speak or understand English. The commissioner paid fine tribute to the work of the Big Brothers who he assisted him materially.

Out of an experience of twenty-five years' connection with the Children's Aid, Justice Kelly made a plea for the child as against the parent, the neglect of the latter in most instances being responsible for the delinquency of the former. He was glad that the previous speakers had also emphasized this point.

Live Stock Market

Business for practically all lines of cattle at the Union Stock Yards yesterday about steady with Monday's big receipts and decline of anywhere from 25c to 50c per cwt. Trade was slow, but there was a brighter feeling, and pretty much everything was cleaned up, except a few lots of extra heavy, choice steers, bought at high price, and which the packing house buyers and commission men failed to reach an agreement. They were extra choice, and too heavy for the local trade, except at light and pretty well cleaned up.

THE HIGHEST PRICES EVER PAID FOR WOOL ARE NOW BEING PAID BY US

Mr. Farmer, you can get more money for your wool by sending it direct to us. In all probability it will come to us anyway at some time, no matter to whom you sell it. For over thirty years we have been one of the largest buyers of wool in Canada.

We would not continue in business for this long time if we had not treated our customers fairly and pay top prices. We send you money the same day as wool is received, only deducting freight or express charges.

We are now paying for wool as follows: Unwashed fleece, fine... 51c to 52c per lb. Washed fleece, fine... 51c to 52c per lb. Washed fleece, coarse... 48c to 49c per lb.

Sheep today, or write us telling how much wool you have, if washed or unwashed and breed of sheep clipped from. We will then quote you a price and send you shipping tags with full instructions.

DEMAND SPRANG UP FOR M'INTYRE

Stock Showed Rallying Tendency—Hollinger Also Improved. In point of volume of business, yesterday's market in the mine stocks was the smallest for a long time, the total day's transactions hardly exceeding 80,000 shares. The outstanding feature of the quiet trading was the steady demand for McIntyre and Hollinger, which engendered a better tone in both of these issues. McIntyre was the most active stock on the board.

REASSURANCE GIVEN BY DOME PRESIDENT

Rich Ore Encountered by Diamond Drills—Annual Meeting Held. The annual meeting of Dome Mines was held yesterday. The usual routine business was transacted. In the absence of President Capt. J. De Lamar a statement from him to the shareholders was read which said in part that development at the mine was being lost in the assay office beyond that drilling in the same direction 14 feet of ore of good quality was bored, but these cores by some mistake were lost in the assay office.

IDEAL WEATHER WEAKENS WHEAT

Finish at Chicago Market is One to Five Points Lower. MORE LIBERAL SUPPLY Arrivals in Great Britain Increase—Cash Offerings Scarce. Chicago, June 12.—Ideal weather conditions over the greater part of the wheat belt had a bearish effect today on prices. The outcome was an unsettled finish, on the five cents net lower with July at 22.35 and September at 22.05. Corn closed 1/4 to 3/8 cents down and oats off 1 to 1 1/2 cents. Provisions wound up unchanged to 20 cents higher.

RUSS EXCHANGE DOWN

Banks Adopt Conservative Attitude in Receiving Collateral for Loans. New York, June 12.—Trading proceeded with greater caution in the market today, a logical result of the fact that the general financial situation, foremost among these, was not rising to their maximum of the previous day, ruling between 1 1/2 and four per cent., but time was handed out of one per cent. on the securities.

FURTHER SAGGING IN LOCAL STOCKS

Light Liquidation and Shrewd Distribution Keep Prices on the Down Grade. Further liquidation was met by the local market yesterday, and prices sagged while actual offerings were in sight. It is believed that the slow downward movement is being operated under order, but these and Brazilian have a fairly free market at all times.

PROMISING FIND AT MURRAY-MOGRIDGE

Ore in Shaft Shows Fine, Free Gold. It is reported that the new plant recently installed on the Murray-Mogridge property is working smoothly. The shaft has been sunk to a depth of 15 feet and shows rich ore in evidence. The ore body, which, down to the 50-foot level averaged better than 10 per cent. gold, now shows visible gold finely distributed throughout the ore and also no assays have been taken. It is expected it will run high.

DULL AFTERNOON MARKET

Heron & Co. report: Montreal, June 12.—There was some activity in stock in today's early trading, but dulness prevailed in the afternoon. Recent scarcity of money, also not so acute at the moment, has discouraged trading in local market, and consequently local traders have turned their attention to New York stocks.
