PRINCESS ZARA
BY ROSS-BECKMAN.

CHAPTER XIII.
Love Will Find a Way.

We crossed to the window together, and stood looking through it upon the snow clad streets of the city. The storm of the preceding day and night had entirely cleared away, leaving only the inevitable traces of its violence.

As we stood there, Zara pulled the lace curtains between us and the window, so that we were screened from view. While we were enabled, ourselves, to see with perfect distinctness, and to note the thoroughfare against which her home was fronted.

It might have been a Sunday morning, so peaceful and quiet was the scene, and so purely white was everything, in its covering of snow, while the crisp atmosphere of that cold but brilliant winter day, sparkled and glistened in the sunshine as if thousands of microscopic diamonds were glistening there.

A solitary policeman passed into our view and out of it again, a briskly rubbed past an adjacent corner with the horse at galloping speed; a child played with its father for a moment, within our range of vision, and then disappeared; a man in a dark overcoat, who was resting upon a nearby residence, and passed inside of it; all these trivial incidents of observation, came and went, without making any impression upon our minds, or leaving behind them any impression save one of peace, quiet and security. Yet they impressed themselves upon my memory, indelibly, and I can see before me even now, the vision of that afternoon in St. Petersburg, with the clinging right hand of my beloved one resting upon my shoulder, with my left arm about her warm and pulsing body, with love, in all its transcendent content, dominating their real and unreal, and filling my heart, and soul, and my intelligence, with a perfection of affection, which words cannot describe, and which may never be understood save by him who has experienced it.

What terror had Zara seen through that window, that had startled her so, just before we discovered and confessed our mutual love? Whatever it may have been, no evidence of it remained, to suggest disquiet in my own present sense of security. There was nothing dominating there to menace me, and even though Zara's brother Ivan, and others of his kind, fanatic all, in their nihilistic and fanatical hatreds, their blood lust, fends in their methods, as they were whatever they might threaten, seemed almost indelible to me, in that moment of ecstasy. For it was a moment of ecstasy; the word "moment" being measured by the rule of space, time, and circumstance.

Zara did not know who and what I was, save only that I was a man, and her lover. Beyond that, she knew nothing, and her desires had not sought.

She did not understand that I was the head of a great fraternity, organized and established by myself, and that I had under my control, if not obedient to my direct command, several hundred individuals within the limit of that city, who would serve me instantly, and who would fight to the death for me if there were need.

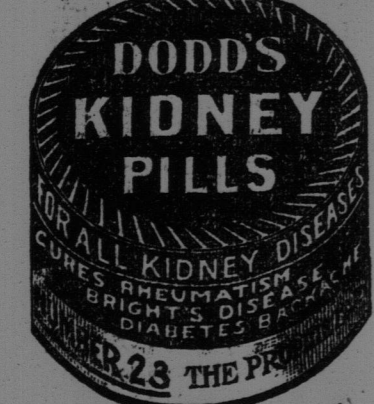

It was to be regretted that I had gone to the home of the Princess Zara to keep my appointment that day, with so little thought of the dangers I might have to encounter before I should have it again. It would have been so easy to arrange for adequate protection, and to have had at that very moment, when I was gazing through the lace curtains of the window, assistance ready at hand in the shape of men prepared to answer to my signal I might have agreed upon.

The word dropped to O'Malley at his cafe, a sign made to big Tom Coyle, a note in cipher to Cuffhead, an indication to any one of my trusted lieutenants, would have placed about me at that very moment, an environment of protection adequate to cope with any difficulty that might arise.

But I had not foreseen present circumstance sufficiently to be prepared for it in that manner.

Zara and I were practically alone in that great house, save for the servants who contained, and they were not to be counted upon on any case, no matter what form individual effort against us might take.

I was conscious, too, while we stood there so simply together, of the new responsibility I had taken upon myself during the love scene that had just passed; and I was suddenly aware of the danger which threatened my beloved through me.

ST. JOHN BOY DROWNED AT WOOLSTOCK YESTERDAY

Frederick L. Robinson Last His Life in the River—Lewis G. Sinclair Made Heroic But Fruitless Effort to Save Him

The first tragedy of the summer season on the river occurred yesterday morning when Frederick L. Robinson was drowned at Woolstock. His companion, Lewis G. Sinclair, made a heroic but fruitless attempt to save him, heroic particularly, as Mr. Sinclair has the use of only one hand. As soon after the accident as possible grappling for the body was begun and the search was suspended only when darkness compelled the men to desist. At 10 o'clock last night the body had not been found.

Robinson and Sinclair went up the river on Saturday in a salmon boat on a pleasure trip. They anchored off Westfield wharf and the yacht P-Y-ven was also anchored nearby, having aboat Messrs. Rootes and Stone. About 10:20 yesterday morning the men on the yacht were preparing their craft to run out on the river, Sinclair and Robinson both being aboard their boat at the time.

There was some difficulty in getting the yacht's anchor free. Sails were set but the yacht began to swing around on the salmon boat. Sinclair and Robinson saw what was happening and tried to fend off as best they could. The unfortunate man who was drowned had a pole in his hand with which he was endeavoring to free the yacht. His efforts were unavailing, but when the collision came the end of the pole struck Robinson in the stomach and threw him overboard.

The yacht became free and drifted away. Robinson could not swim and immediately sank. Although handicapped by his crippled hand, Sinclair gallantly, without a moment's hesitation, plunged after his companion. He caught him once but lost his grip and tried again. He caught him the second time, but the task was too great for him and Robinson sank to his death.

In the meantime the yacht had drifted across the river and grounded on the opposite bank. He caught him once but lost his grip and tried again. He caught him the second time, but the task was too great for him and Robinson sank to his death.

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are quiet. Some constitutional, and others, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted.

Or again, you have, a sinking sensation, a feeling you are going to die; or perhaps, you wake in your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. If you allow these conditions to continue for a short period even, you will begin to feel your health declining. It is the nerves and heart not acting rightly, by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by depressing the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action.

Mrs. E. Nutt, St. Mary's, Ont., writes— "I can gladly recommend your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as I was greatly troubled with my nerves. I was so bad I could not sleep at night without the lamp burning, but after taking four boxes of the pills I became all right again."

FOREST FIRES NEAR MONCTON

House and Barn Burned and Large Area Already Swept—Thirty Mile Gale Fanned Flames.

Moncton, N. B., June 20.—This section of the province has been remarkably free of forest fires up to the present, but today destructive fires raged at Cherryfield, three or four miles out McLaughlin road, and another near Scotch Settlement, along the Irish Town road, five miles from Moncton.

A house and barn belonging to Robert Gaine was leveled to the ground, having caught from the forest flames.

Fire started along the McLaughlin road yesterday and the high wind today fanned the flames which overran the timber lands owned by L.B. D. Lockhart, doing much damage, and this afternoon reached city property surrounding the residential district.

High winds were blowing and were threatening the path of the fire, and it is feared if the high wind keeps up tomorrow much damage will result to farm buildings.

At Cape Breton Settlement Friday 100 cords of wood, owned by Geo. H. Cochrane, were burned. It is supposed the fire was caused by a motor car, but no buildings were damaged, and this afternoon reached city property surrounding the residential district.

High winds were blowing and were threatening the path of the fire, and it is feared if the high wind keeps up tomorrow much damage will result to farm buildings.

TEN KILLED AND FORTY INJURED IN TRAIN CRASH

Motorman's Disobedience of Orders Caused a Terrible Wreck on an Indiana Railroad.

'South Bend, Ind., June 20.—Ten persons were killed and forty injured in a wreck on the Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend Railway, in Porter county (Ind.), last night, two of the big electric cars colliding head-on. According to General Manager H. H. Wallace, the wreck was due to a disobedience of orders by Motorman George A. Reed, of the east-bound car, who was killed.

Reed received instructions at Gary to wait at Wilson, a short distance west of Balestown, the point at which the disaster occurred, for the west-bound car. The impact of the cars was so great that they were reduced to a mass of wreckage.

The dead: George A. Reed, motorman, Michigan City (Ind.); Ray F. Merriman, South Bend; Charles Johnson, Porter (Ind.); Edward Gilbertson, Porter (Ind.); A. Barber, Mishawaka (Ind.); P. T. Moore, residence unknown; William Leon, secretary of the Dowagiac Motor Works, Dowagiac (Mich.); F. A. Lake, president Dowagiac Motor Works, Dowagiac (Mich.); H. H. Hutson, Niles (Mich.); Charles Swanson, Porter (Ind.).

The east-bound car was going fifty miles an hour to make up lost time and when the collision occurred was telescoped and almost demolished. In the train were all the killed and most of the injured, the passengers on the west-bound train escaping by bruises.

SCHR. HUNTER WAS DAMAGED

Met Head-on With a Three Masted Schooner and Put in a Sinking Condition—Towed to Boston Water-Logged.

Boston, June 20.—As the result of a head-on crash off Nauset last night, in a thirty-mile southwest, the three-masted schooner Mary A. Hall, Captain Haskell, from Jacksonville for Boston with lumber, and the two-masted schooner Hunter, from Calais for New York, with lumber, were towed into port today by the tug Joshua Lovett. The Hunter had the worst of the collision. Both bows were stove and bowsprit and head-gear were gone. She rapidly became water-logged, but her cargo kept her afloat. The Hall, so far as a hasty examination showed, escaped undamaged. The cause of the collision is not known. No one was hurt.

The two vessels came together at about 11 o'clock last night and while there was no fog at the time the night was dark, with a heavily overcast sky. Both bows came together with a terrific crash. The Hunter reeling back from her larger antagonist with gaping holes in both bows and all her head-gear torn away. Water poured in rapidly through the shattered bows, and as she became water-logged she rolled heavily, with decks almost awash in the trough of the sea, beyond control. A quick survey by Captain Haskell, of the Hall, showed his vessel to be unharmed, and standing up to the Hunter he found out the extent of her damage. As there was no fear of the two-master sinking, on account of her lumber cargo, the Hall passed her line and took her tow. They rounded the cape and passed Chastis Bay, where their condition was seen by marine observers and word was sent to Boston. The tug Joshua Lovett was immediately dispatched down the bay and took both vessels in tow for this port. Extensive repairs will have to be made before the Hunter can proceed.

The Mary A. Hall was built at Belfast (Me.) in 1882 and hails from Deer Isle (Me.). She has a gross tonnage of 381 tons and a net of 341, and is 143 feet long. The Hunter was built at Oriand (Maine) in 1876 and claims Boston as her home port. She has a gross tonnage of 197, net 187, and is 105.2 feet in length.

INFLUENZA COMING FROM EUROPE

If a Wave of This Disease Sweeps Over Canada, Thousands Will Die.

It is believed that a wave of influenza is coming from Europe, and that it will sweep over Canada, and that thousands will die. The disease is now spreading rapidly in Europe, and it is feared that it will reach this country in a few days. It is a very dangerous disease, and it is important that we be prepared for it. The best way to prevent it is to keep our bodies in good health, and to avoid crowded places. If we do get it, we should rest and take plenty of fluids.

PLANS TO USE THE WASTE TREE TOPS

Chatham, N. B., June 20.—A new industry is now being promoted on the Miramichi by James Feinbrook. This is a project for extracting turpentine, tar, wood alcohol and wood oils from the stumps of tree tops and lumber left by the lumbermen. Mr. Feinbrook has been successful in extracting a quantity of each of these products by a secret process, and the turpentine is pronounced to be equally as good as that produced in Sweden. All winter Mr. Feinbrook has had eight men at work at McKenzie's Brook, near Doaktown, engaged in making preliminary tests. He has also secured a concession of a large tract of land for ten years, and in order to exhaust this area an expenditure of $10,000 will be necessary. Mr. Feinbrook has planned the formation of a $1,000,000 company to carry on the project.

I. C. R. TRAIN RECORD IN RACE TO SAVE LIFE

Sydney, N. S., June 20.—Saturday a race for life took place from Halifax to Sydney by special train with W. A. Black, of Pictou, and Dr. N. McKay on board. The special was made up by the request of Mr. Black, who was bringing Dr. McKay to Sydney to hold a consultation with Drs. Kendall and Roy on an O. Saunders, who lies critically ill at Brooklands hospital suffering with an attack of appendicitis.

The 216 miles from Truro to Sydney was covered in five hours and twenty-four minutes, which is understood to be the fastest time for the distance ever made in Nova Scotia. Consultation was held on arrival here, when it was decided that an operation had already been performed, nothing further could be done. Dr. McKay says he looks for speedy recovery.

While tobogganing in Halifax with the Misses Black three years ago Mr. Saunders had both legs broken by coming in contact with an electric light pole after he had stered his charges to safety.

AT CAMP NATURE

The first outing of the senior section of the Natural History Society was held on Saturday at Camp Nature, on the summer resort of William McIntosh and A. Gordon Leavitt. The party, between fifty and sixty in number, left on the 11:15 train on the C. P. R. About 2:15 they arrived at Mount Hope siding, near David McKenzie's house, where all were cordially welcomed by Messrs. Leavitt and McIntosh and Mrs. McIntosh.

Very neat programmes had been prepared and were distributed. A division was then made into two parties. One of these, under the leadership of Mr. McIntosh, walked through the birch woods while the other took a shorter walk led by Mr. Leavitt. These walks occupied the most of the afternoon and on the return to the camp plentiful refreshments were served.

At 6:30 there was a series of short nature talks. W. F. Burditt was in the chair and the speakers were Rev. David Hutchinson, Mr. McIntosh, W. S. Fisher and Mr. Leavitt. The party left the camp for Mount Hope siding at 8:30. All expressed great appreciation of the hospitality they had enjoyed and admiration for the appointments and surroundings of Camp Nature. The party reached the city about 10 o'clock.

THE MILITIA CAMPS

Concerning the militia camps, about which the Conservative press is lashing itself into a fury, the Montreal Witness makes these observations: 'There are good reasons, no doubt, why the militia training camps this summer should be less strong numerically than in former years. In addition to the increased cost of maintenance, the difficulty of obtaining company officers find in filling the ranks is augmented by the unwillingness of young men to sacrifice the time away from their usual vocations, especially when all kinds of business are booming and northern Ontario and the western provinces offer so many allurements to the enterprising and ambitious. In time of peace, with no clouds on the horizon, no attractions of active service, recruiting falls off. The government has also spent a large amount on the permanent forces, organized as a nucleus for the Canadian army in case mobilization should become necessary. The military spirit is by no means decadent in the Dominion. It would spring into activity in a moment should the necessity for defence arise. At present young men see and desire to seize the opportunity presented on all sides for bettering their prospects and, having passed through a period of depression, are anxious to get to work at profitable employment. The summer is short, the winter long, and conditions in this country require them to look ahead and make provision for the future. The camps may be well maintained, the efficiency of organization will be maintained.'

NAVAL DEFENSE

Discussion of the question of naval defence and Canada's contribution thereto will be more intelligent after the July conference in London. The imperial authorities and the representatives of the overseas states will discuss the whole subject in the mind of all. The defence of the empire, not of any single portion of it, will be the general aim. There need be no fear that Canada or any other state will refuse assent to the proposition that for war purposes the fleet must be practically a sea navy. But there must also be local defence. For example, Canada must see to it that her ports are protected and the paths of her commerce from the ports to blue water made reasonably safe. The like is true of the other parts of the empire. There is much responsible talk about the manner in which this is to be done—where the ships are to be built and how they are to be manned. It is obvious that Canada today could not enter upon the construction of war vessels at her own ports, nor could she effectively man them. It takes time to equip a ship-building plant, and to train mechanics, and officers and crews. At the outset this country must take counsel of the mother country. That would not indicate any lack of independence, but would be the part of wisdom. And that is what the Canadian government proposes to do. The July conference will formulate plans, and each participant will get the point of view of all the others. None of them will go into the conference with cut-and-dried plans to press upon the others. All of them will realize that the matter has arrived at another epoch-marking point in its development, and that very grave responsibilities rest upon them. The genius of the Anglo-Saxon race has been equal to its task in former crises, and there is no reason to fear that there will be any such divided counsels as would render this conference ineffective. The gravity of the present situation, as expressed by Lord Rosebery, Lord Roberts, Mr. Balfour and others who addressed the press conference, has impressed itself upon the people of the empire and roused that feeling of cordial sympathy which leads to hearty co-operation in the face of a common danger. Therefore it may reasonably be assumed that the July conference will clear the atmosphere and reveal the various units of the empire agreed upon a general plan of naval defence which will be effective for both imperial and local purposes. Necessarily it will take time to work out the details, and there will be local considerations which may cause differences of opinion; but since an empire united for defence is the object of all there can be no insuperable difficulties. No delegate is going to this conference with a chip on his shoulder, or an exaggerated sense of his own importance.

Regarding President Taft's proposal for an income tax, the Toronto Mail and Empire, approving the scheme, says: 'His proposal that a tax of two per cent. be levied on the undistributed net earnings of corporations may appear like a sharp departure, but it will probably prove altogether salutary in the working. On all hands it is recognized that the cardinal reform desired in the thorough ventilation of the affairs of the corporations. A Federal tax on undistributed net earnings can be assessed and collected only after the affairs of each particular business have been laid open to the fullest scrutiny of government officials. Once the business of the corporations is brought under this keen inspection there will be a withering of the unlawful and predatory practices that have made some of the great trusts of the United States truly infamous.'

Mr. Nicholls of Winnipeg told English manufacturers a wholesome truth when he declared that if they desired more business in Canada they must come after it, as the manufacturers of other countries do. Not only is this true, but the English manufacturer must take more pains to produce the sort of goods the Canadian market requires. That an article ought to suit Canada because it sells somewhere else is not a good theory on which to build up trade. There is a similar lesson to be learned by Canadian manufacturers. In the east we do not get as much West India business as we should because we do not study the market. In the west the Americans captured the trade of the Yukon in the early days because they sent the goods the miners wanted.

The International Council of Women declared itself in favor of peace, but peace which is consistent with honor and integrity. There can be no objection to this view of the case, nor to the desire of the Council to bring about a general disarmament of the nations and the substitution of legal for military methods of settling disputes. But, in the opinion of most observers, the world has not yet seen the last titanic struggle in the fields of war.

Premier Hazen did not distribute as much eloquence as he had anticipated at the islands down the bay, but he hands the Standard some bouquets to be delivered to them. The people there are trying to figure out the relation between the visit of the politicians and the high winds that have prevailed of late.

The construction work on the Grand Trunk Pacific in this province has been fruitful in accidents, as all such work apparently must be. The train wreck on Saturday was the worst that has yet occurred, although, fortunately only two lives were lost where so many persons were more or less injured.

Gradually, military drill in the schools is gaining favor. The consolidated school at Hampton has adopted it. No one need fear that the children will be made physically or mentally weaker, or filled with bloodthirsty notions by the exercises.

Fredericton, one of whose local industries recently reported a very profitable year, is now endeavoring to secure another that would employ quite a number of people. The citizens are to be congratulated on the enterprise shown by them in this direction.

On both base ball grounds in this city on Saturday some feeling appears to have been displayed, and in each case the umpire was subjected to some criticism. To be a good loser is one of the proofs that a young man is a well-balanced sport.

There will be a degree of sympathy for the Standard in the loss of another grievance. The Ross rifle will be used by the Canadians at Bialy. This is very very sad.

The river has already exacted its toll for the pleasure it gives to the summer dwellers along its banks. There is universal regret because of the tragedy at Woolstock yesterday.

Lord Rosebery has been impressed by the hush that has fallen upon Europe, and Lord Curzon by a similar hush in India. What, each asks, does it portend?

Yesterday's military parade was very creditable to officers and men.

Marr-Carr

The marriage of Rev. H. H. Marr to Miss Jessie B. Carr took place at Canterbury Station, Carleton county, on June 16. A few near relatives of the bride gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carr, to witness the ceremony. The rooms were beautifully decorated. At the close of the ceremony the guests sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast. The happy couple left on the morning train for Smyrna Mills (Me.), where Mr. Carr is pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. H. Harrison, of Debec, tied the knot.

The border bands are making preparations for a band tournament and concert to be held in the St. Stephen curling rink about the last of June. It is expected that six bands will participate in the tournament.

A double Indian wedding with a big pow wow at the St. Marys Indian Reserve is planned for this week. The parties in the double wedding will be Danny Brooks, a Nova Scotia brave, and Miss Kate Atkinson of Oromocto, and Steve Nash and Minnie Brooks, daughter of Sol Brooks, who live at the St. Marys Reservation.

The double wedding is to take place at St. Anthony's church, St. Mary's, and that evening there will be a big pow wow at the reserve.

The Algonquin hotel at St. Andrews will open today for guests, and although the house has been greatly enlarged in recent years, the management was obliged to refuse numerous applications for accommodations for this season, which promises to be the most successful in the history of this popular summer hotel.

St. Stephen is to have a big agricultural exhibition and fair during the present year under the auspices of the agricultural society recently organized in the neighboring county of Charlotte. Although somewhat disappointed by the failure to secure a grant from the Dominion government, the members of the society are determined to make a start in the big fair line and have selected dates for the initial event for this year. They have secured ample grounds for the erection of buildings on the lot adjoining the St. Stephen driving park, which will be available for horse trotting events to be held in connection with the exhibition. Committees of arrangements have been formed and the work of preparing for the fair will be started at an early date.

CANADA AND CUBA

Sir William Van Horne Anxious to Trade Between These Countries Increased

(Montreal Witness.)

While the United States must largely be given the credit for the awakening that has come to Cuba in recent years, and while to her is due the conditions that prevail, law and order, and improved public works, yet Canadian enterprise and capital have been potent factors in the gigantic strides which have marked the island in this progress towards the higher goal of its ambition.

In this great work the name of Sir William Van Horne stands out prominently with the excellent progress made in recent years. His energy and money combined have helped towards making Cuba what the country is today. Quick to see what good opportunities were presented, ready to back his judgment with immense capital, content to wait for some results, Sir William has brought additional prosperity to Cuba. Previous to his departure for New York, last evening, he spoke in the most optimistic strain as to the general financial and industrial outlook in Canada.

Sir William's confidence in the future of the Dominion cannot be shaken. He predicts great things for this country and will tell you that Canada has only commenced her journey towards national development and expansion. Cuba, too, holds his attention. He likes the island, and the people hold his admiration. He will defend the Cubans with all the eloquence at his command, as he believes in their ultimate prosperity.

Sir William would like to see Canadians increase their trade with Cuba. The market of the latter country is one which many lines will repay careful investigation. There are possibilities for trade, probably which are not to be found elsewhere, and Canadians should not delay in accepting the favorable opportunities offered, of which, to use a statement made by Sir William, 'the Americans have lost sight.'

SUNDAY'S MILITARY PARADE WAS BRILLIANT SPECTACLE

The annual church parade of the local militia was held yesterday afternoon to Trinity church and attracted a large gathering of citizens, who thronged the principal streets to see the men in their brilliant uniforms march past. The turn out was well up to the average, 819 men of all ranks assembling on the Barrack square, where they were inspected by Col. G. R. White, D. O. C., before the march. A special form of service was used at the church and an eloquent sermon was preached by Ven. Archbishop Raymond, chaplain of the 3rd N. B. R. C. A. After the service the troops were reviewed by Col. White and staff at the head of King street, and presented a fine soldierly appearance as they swung past headed by their band.

At 5 o'clock the men formed up under Lieut. Colonel Wedderburn, 8th Hussars, with Major J. L. McAvity, 62nd Fusiliers, acting brigade major. While the inspection was in progress the massed bands of the Artillery and Fusiliers played. The troops marched by way of Carmarthen, Broad, Charlotte, King and German streets to Trinity church, as follows:

Col. G. R. White, D. O. C.
Lt.-Col. Wedderburn, 8th Hussars.
Major J. L. McAvity, 62nd Fusiliers, acting brigade major.
Lt.-Col. A. J. Armstrong, C. O. Corps.
Lt.-Col. E. T. Sturdee, R. O. Major F. H. Hart, R. O. Major W. C. Massey, R. O.; Major J. Gordon, R. O.
Major John S. Hall, retired.
Capt. Campbell and Lieut. H. McLean, 8th Hussars.
Lt.-Col. J. B. M. Baxter, 3rd Regiment C. A. South Africa Veterans.
Cadet-Major Buchanan, St. Stephen's Cadets.
St. Luke's Cadets.
Capt. C. Innes, St. Andrew's Cadets.
Lieut. R. T. McKean, No. 7 C. A. S. C.
Major T. D. Walker, No. 8 Field Ambulance.
Lieut. Colonel Edwards, 62nd Fusiliers.

The march was enlivened by the music of the regimental band and the pipe band. Lieut. Colonel Ogilvie, D. S. A., was at the church and arranged the seating. Seats were reserved for the senior members of the officers. The service, which was fully choral, was intoned by Rev. E. Bertram Hooper, chairman of the 62nd Regiment, and Rev. W. B. Stewart read the special lesson.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN IN LIVELY SESSION SATURDAY

Lady Aberdeen Re-Elected President After an Exciting Contest—A Halifax Delegate Favors Industrial School for Girls

Toronto, June 20.—On a second attempt the ladies present at the National Council of Women succeeded in electing their officers yesterday morning. The following are those who will serve for the next five years: President, Lady Aberdeen; vice-president, Mrs. Ogilvie Gordon; 2nd vice-president, Countess Spallati of Italy; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Heinrich of Belgium; corresponding secretary, Dr. Alice Salomon of Germany; recording secretary, Dr. Alexander Skoglund of Norway; treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Sanford of Hamilton; honorary president, Mrs. Mary Wright Sewell.

The first election proved useless, owing to the fact that some of the delegates misunderstood instructions. Great excitement prevailed during the voting.

The report of the committee on peace and arbitration, as handed down by Mrs. Mary Wright Sewell, pointed out the difficulties which have been encountered in its preparation. All the ladies are in favor of peace, yet wish to "maintain the honor and integrity" of their nation.

"Women, as holders of the motherly office, are especially charged with these special and social duties which relate to the preservation and protection of individual life. We make an appeal to all women to realize the ideal of peace in such forms of effort as their local conditions make practicable."

It is recommended by the committee to promote the observance of peace days on Sundays and week days by schools, universities and churches, and by special assemblies and festivals in the interests of peace rather than military methods of settlement of differences.

It is recommended that all national peace committees and peace organizations engage in earnest and continuous effort to effect a proportionate limitation of armaments leading toward the abolition of standing armies and navies beyond the necessary policing of land and sea, and that all such organization within our national councils be urged actively and intelligently to strengthen all efforts which are put forth in any country to aid its government in the substitution of legal military methods of international action, and also to seek to secure control of weak nations and all undeveloped people against exploitation by strange governments, guaranteeing an area of neutrality, which shall permanently guard their interests.

Today special services for delegates were held in a number of city churches. Rev. Anna Shaw, the leading woman suffragist in the United States, spoke in Massey hall in the afternoon. Mayor Oliver presiding, Miss Eckstein, the German peace worker, spoke in Zion church in the morning. She is trying to get 200,000 signatures for a monster petition to be presented at the next Hague conference.

Among the delegates who reached the city yesterday was Mrs. F. A. Sexton, of Halifax, wife of the director of technical education in Nova Scotia. She is especially interested in industrial training for girls. "There are many of our girls who when they leave primary schools cannot afford to take a course at college. It is for these girls that I desire industrial training schools to be founded. These girls would necessarily be free and they would give young girls who miss out to earn their own living a training in the trade that they intend to take up. We would make a specialty of needle work and domestic training. Thus, when a girl would enter a large dressmaking shop or establishment where ready made goods are made she would not need to put battling threads for two or three years. It would not advocate competition with men in their work. We train girls for what they can do. We believe that in this way considerable progress would be bettered and it would be a blow at the sweat shop system."

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Toronto, Canada.—"I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with menstrual troubles, Mrs. J. M. Tweedale, 188 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence in inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

CITY IS RICHER BY ABOUT $6,800

Public Works Department Pays Its Disputed Water Arrears

A check for $2,800 being full payment of the arrears in water rates due by the city from the dominion public works department, has been received by the chamberlain and the dispute which has existed since last August, when the rates were raised about 60 per cent, has now been satisfactorily settled.

The matter was referred to the minister of public works and that it was under his instructions that the city's bill has been paid.

The city raised the rate last year for the water supplied to the customs house, post office, Savings Bank and Partridge Island and since last August the officials of the department have been making a vigorous protest against the increase. Negotiations were made by several of the aldermen that the supply should be cut off and the matter was finally referred to Aid. Frink, chairman of the water and sewerage board, to settle. One day last week Aid. Frink received a telegram from the minister of public works to the effect that he had given instructions that the city's bill should be paid and in due course a check was received.

The I. C. R. is also in the city's debt to the extent of about $4,000, the arrears in dispute in this case being for the February and May quarters during which the maximum amount of water which the city agreed to supply at the minimum rate was exceeded. A protest was lodged against paying the increased rate. This has also been dropped and the chamberlain is in receipt of a communication from D. Pottinger, of the new I. C. R. commission, stating that in due course the amount of the city's bill will be paid.

CAPTAIN BURNS IN CHARGE NOW

Chief Officer of the Lansdowne Has Been Appointed Commander

On Saturday Captain A. W. Burns, chief officer of the government steamer Lansdowne, received official notice from Ottawa of his appointment to succeed to the post of commander of the vessel, made vacant by the death of Captain G. W. Bissett.

Captain Burns is well known along the coast and his appointment will prove popular. He has followed the sea since 1868, serving in various capacities until he won his master's certificate twenty-two years ago. For a number of years he sailed ships out of St. John for Vroom & Arnold, William Thomson & Co., Seamanell Bros. and other well known shipping firms. In 1897 he entered the government service, being appointed to the first mate on the Curlew. In April, 1900, he was appointed mate of the Lansdowne, which position he held since. Captain Burns will enter into his duties at once and this morning will take the Lansdowne down the bay on her regular trip with lighthouse supplies.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES IN ST. PETER'S YESTERDAY

In St. Peter's church yesterday at high mass, celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. A. J. Duke, rector of St. Peter's assisted by Rev. J. Borgman, as deacon, and Rev. M. J. Maloney as sub-deacon, twenty boys and twenty-eight girls made their first holy communion.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon His Lordship Bishop Casey confirmed sixty-three persons in the church. There were twenty-eight girls, twenty boys, eleven men and four women. Before the ceremony the bishop gave an eloquent address, speaking on the subject of confirmation. Afterwards he spoke to the congregation on prayer. Bishop Casey was assisted in the confirmation service by Rev. Father Broughal, of St. Joseph's College, and Rev. M. J. Maloney, of St. Peter's church.

At 7:30 last evening the service of the renewal of the baptismal vows was held. This was followed by the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament by Rev. A. J. Duke, assisted by Rev. J. Borgman.

The little girls looked very pretty in their white dresses and with white wreaths. The boys were dressed in neat black suits with white bows and ties. A coincidence of the service was that three little girls who twelve years ago were baptized on the same day and at the same font, knelt together yesterday to receive their first Holy Communion and two of them knelt to be confirmed.

HAMPTON SCHOOL DECIDES IN FAVOR OF MILITARY DRILL

Annual Meeting of the Consolidated District Discussed it on Saturday Afternoon

Hampton, N. B., June 19.—The annual school meeting of Hampton Consolidated District No. 2 was held today. Chairman of Trustees T. Wm. Barnes called the meeting to order and R. H. Flewelling was elected chairman and in the absence of the secretary, Miss Muriel DeMott, Miss Leibel Page, Miss Besie P. Howard, Miss Ella Seely; aggregate salaries, $1,625.

In addition, the arrangement which was made with regard to the teachers of manual training and domestic science respectively, bringing the whole cost of teaching up to $1,965. The work was completed and $100 will be applied for this work. A balance of $25 is still due to capital account on account of the fund.

No figures of attendance and average percentage were given but the report stated that the enrollment was too low considering the population. The stated rate of taxation was stated to be ninety cents on $100 of assessable valuation.

March reported the books and accounts of the trustees correct, showing receipts from taxes $3,780.14; fees of $2,560.41; total, $6,340.55; expended for all purposes, $5,729.13; balance on hand $760.92. The capital account stood as follows: Balance from 1908, $1,185.88; refund from piano account, $85; total, $1,270.83; expended, $689.73; balance on hand, $581.10. This was received and ordered to be entered on the minutes. R. A. March was again elected auditor for 1909.

Sheriff F. W. Freese announced his intention to provide $10 as prizes in each of the manual training and domestic science departments for the school for the year 1910, which generous offer brought forth a hearty and unanimous vote of thanks.

On motion of R. A. March it was decided to pay into the sinking fund any balance in capital account after all claims had been paid.

On motion also, G. O. Dickson City was appointed to confer with the boardholders with the view of raising the sinking fund transferred from the savings bank to the provincial treasury, arranging an arrangement instead of three per cent as at present. At this stage the trustee's report was taken from the table, adopted and carried on the minutes.

Principal H. G. Perry, who retires from duty at the close of this month, received a hearty eulogy from R. O. D. City. An unanimous vote of thanks was tendered from the ratepayers present for the admirable work he has done since coming to the district and expressing their wishes for his future welfare.

On motion of Jas. H. Sprout, the trustees were authorized to arrange for manual instruction for the school for the coming year, the cost not to exceed $150. A cash order numbering thirty-four boys have been under Mr. Sprout's training during the past year and were inspected by the district and expressing their wishes for his future welfare.

The question of bringing part 1 of the compulsory school act into force was put from the chair and negatived.

service that was uplifting and that was of benefit to themselves. Mr. Anderson emphasized this thought and commended it to his hearers.

The president of the club made a practical application of the address by urging men and women to take a personal interest in the club's playground, and make it of more value to the children during the summer months.

C. S. Lambert read a selection from Tennyson's "In Memoriam." The club's orchestra assisted in the music and played several selections. There was a large audience.

ELOQUENT ADDRESS IN EVERY DAY CLUB

Rev. J. H. Anderson Was the Speaker at Last Evening's Meeting.

The mutual dependence of individuals in society upon each other, and the fact that what injures one injures others, were set forth in an admirable brief address by Rev. J. H. Anderson in the Every Day Club last evening. He began by asking why people assemble together in meetings, and form clubs and other organizations, and associate themselves together in business and in countless other ways. The reason was that no individual could live by himself. Even the rich man's wealth was valueless to him but for that which others did for him.

Taking as an illustration a suit of clothes, the speaker pointed out how the tailor, the cloth merchant, the wool manufacturer, the sheep raiser, the manufacturer of other parts of the garments, the transportation companies and other agencies had all had a part in the production of the suit before it was received by the wearer. There was everywhere mutual dependence. People felt the effect of a coal strike or of business failure, or of whatever materially affected the industrial or commercial world.

But there was also mutual dependence for fellowship. All are united by social bonds of mutual dependence and help and service. Man felt that which hurt the other man. It made a difference to him, for example, if there were saloons in his street, and bad boys to be the companions of his own boys.

Men gained much from fellowship in good causes. Hence a club which sought to help men to be men united them in a

DEGREES FOR TWO CANADIAN EDITORS

Sir Hugh, Graham and J. A. Macdonald to be LL. D.'s of Glasgow University.

Montreal, June 19.—A special London cable says: In acknowledgment of the pleasure given the imperial press delegates at the manoeuvres at Aldershot Sir Hugh Graham has forwarded £100 to the funds of the soldiers' orphans and a similar amount to the admiralty for the sailors' orphans.

General Smith Dorrien, in expressing thanks for the former gift, said it would be mentioned in the orders so that the rank and file might know of this kindly thought for the welfare and happiness of their dear and kind.

Glasgow University will confer the degree of LL. D. on Sir Hugh Graham, proprietor of the Montreal Star, and Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, next week.

The press delegates returned from Manchester to London yesterday and today will be guests at Windsor Castle. On Monday they will start on a four days tour of Scotland.

Responding to a toast to the imperial press delegates at a luncheon given yesterday at the Grosvenor Hotel, Manchester, M. E. Nichols, of Winnipeg, remarked that during the last thirty years the British manufacturer apparently had been alive everywhere except in Canada. Canadians would not go in search of British made articles when articles of manufacture were brought to their doors in Canada today. No political device could restore the British manufacturer to his former prestige in Canada. This could be accomplished only by the manufacturer himself through energetic initiative and intelligent promotion, and above all by a real vital interest in the Canadian market and its value. (Applause.) It would be a more than profitable enterprise for the manufacturer, with free trade would come better knowledge of each other and nearer approach to the common view point.

Dealing with imperial defence, Mr. Nichols said that when it was thought that British mastery of the seas was imperilled, Canada did not talk autonomy, she talked Dreadnoughts. He personally thought the gift of a Dreadnought would have had an educative influence on foreign nations, (hear, hear), but anyway the British manufacturer and Canadian evading their obvious duty. The value of Canada's autonomy lay in the preservation of the power behind the scenes and it was more now interested in the prompt performance of a long neglected duty than in the particular manner in which that duty should be discharged. (Applause.)

YACHT UPSET IN HARBOR AND MEN GET A DUCKING

About 1:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon Captain N. A. Withers and a young man named Wendal Gray were upset out of a yacht in the harbor when off the I. C. R. draw bridge below the Eastern Steamship Company's wharf.

Captain Withers had gone out soon after dinner taking Gray to assist him in working the boat. As it was blowing pretty hard the sails were close reefed but suddenly a serious sea was learned. However a puff stronger than the rest hit the boat suddenly and took her right over throwing both men into the water.

It was at a time when there were very few boats moving about the harbor and it was necessary for the men to remain in the water between ten and fifteen minutes before help reached them.

Their plight had been noticed from shore by a number of men at Reed's Point. Gregory and Peter McDermott and the captain of a schooner lying at Quinn's wharf put off in the schooner's tender and soon rescued Captain Withers and his companion little the worse for their ducking.

The yacht was towed to the Ballast ship wharf where she was righted. She is a thirty or thirty five foot boat belonging to a friend of Captain Withers and she underwent some repairs. She suffered no damage whatever.

A pleasing feature about it is that the new organ is almost all paid for, which fact speaks well for the zeal of Rev. G. F. Scovill, the rector of St. Jude's, and the liberality of the congregation over which he presides.

POLICE COURT

Florence Davidson a Box Car Denizen Remanded for Vagrancy

In the police court this morning Florence Davidson, a woman who displayed the effects of protracted dissipation, was remanded for vagrancy. Patrolman Belyea, who arrested her on St. James street at ten o'clock last night, stated that she came to St. John six weeks ago, and her habitant was the abode of Amelia Francis on Sheffield street for a few weeks. Of late, however, she had been sleeping in box cars on the Ballast wharf, and anywhere she can lay her head. She claims to hail from New Glasgow, but Belyea understands that she came here from Dorchester.

Fred Rolston, who was arrested for assaulting William Kennedy, his cousin, last Wednesday, was fined $20 or two months but as Kennedy desired to withdraw from the prosecution view of the relation ship, the fine was suspended. Rolston visited Kennedy's sister at the latter's home, and his objections to Rolston's presence led to a quarrel.

Philip McGowan pleaded not guilty to intoxication between three and four o'clock this morning on Union street. Officer Belyea testified that he and patrolman McCollom intercepted McGowan, and as he was dilatory in proceeding to his boarding house, they took him into custody. Belyea said he was staggering.

McGowan was sworn, and in his statement said he walked all Sunday around the city with James McGarrigle and went to Mrs. Burns' boarding house on Union street at ten o'clock, and departed again to North End. He and his friend talked for an hour or more on the steps near the corner of Prince William and Union streets. He said his friend was a good talker, and the time passed swiftly hence their presence on the steps at such an early hour. After separating from his companion he pointed his bow for the boarding house, but encountered the two policemen at the outset of his journey.

John McTavish was remanded for intoxication and profanity, and will probably be a witness against M. Harney of the Vendome Hotel in a liquor selling case. Policeman Scott noticed McTavish departing from the hotel on Prince William street at 9 p. m. on Saturday. However, McTavish, who says he does not drink there, denies that he obtained intoxicants on the premises. He admitted that he was before the magistrate three months ago under the same name.

Thomas McCann was fined $8 or thirty days for intoxication and profanity, and to Edward Stead and David Hennessy were meted out the same penalty for intoxication.

Ernest McLellan, who was reported for furious driving over Suspension bridge, did not appear, and his employer, D. Love, is ill.
