So far as the exchange is concerned, the County would undoubtedly gain by the exit of Mr. Girouard and the substitution of Mr. Landry. who is an experienced politician, and has thus early in his career taken a very prominent position in connection with the Provincial Legislature. While we have no doubt whatever that Mr. Landry would make a most creditable representative in the Commons, we fail to see the wisdom of this departure, in the view of the fact, that in Mr. Girouard the Government had a staunch supporter who would not be at all likely to go back on them during the four remaining sessions of the present House; that Mr. Landry was sure of his seat in the Local Legislature for the three years to come; and that by the course pursued, Westmorland is to have the turmoil of a third election within fifteen months for the Local Legislature. In common with many other supporters of the present Government, we should like to know what grave reasons have arisen to call for the opening up of constituences in two adjoining counties, both for the General and Local Legislatures. Whatever opposition may arise among the English speaking portion of the population, it will be rather the result of the feeling existing with reference to the appointment of any more French officials at present, than from any objection to Mr. Landry, as a non-resident, for having been a resident so long in the adjoining county, he must of necessity, be fairly well acquainted with the existing requirements of the County of Kent, an acquaintance which must have been improved when adminis ttring the affairs of the Department

A cave it was indeed, the party descended one at a time; within this cave built in the sand you find a metal cooking stove placed in its own space, behind it, before it, by the side of it, you see all the utensils, all in such good order that any house keeper might envy. Outside of this cabin its walls or sloped roof is paved with white sea marble, its chimney is neatly done up in moulded clay, from the entrance of the cave to, the door of the light house you walk on paved pebbles also of marble, within this miniature light house you see whire this hermit dwells when the tiny winged fact of grey mosquitoes are wont to feast; the library used by our subject is four—a pamphlet on wilderaces land, to the history of Robinson Crusose and his politica papers. At length we retrace our steps towards our steamer. If we had no l'thouse inspector we had his better half and our hermit made good use of his vocabulary, impressing her ladyship of the many necestities he wants to make his lonely life miserable, no doubt he will get a new house now. The sound of the whistle warns all that our time is drawing near to leave for home, the company appear to linger even after a second whistle is blown. No prettier spot for a successful pic nic is on our river. Bathing, flashing, gunning, in fact the many varieties of sport and amusement give charm to the place. All now hasten on board, the hermit announces he will sing "Me Mither's Auld Grey Breks;" all is silent attention—the song is commenced and chorused by W. Petrie's band announces it is ready, the floor is filled and was kept filled till Chatham is reached, where all arrive in good honest time for lads and lassies, old and young. Taking all in all I may say I never spent a more pleasant day than the one just spent a more pleasant day than the one just recorded. To the committee I return my thanks, and would be glad if enachled to repay them for their kindness. I must congratular them on their success in tations of a debilitated stomach. Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured. "AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE." Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882. Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much it any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking Aver's Sarsaparallla, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life, I have been at work now for two months, and think your Sarsaparallla the greatest blood medicine in the world.

thin hair thickened, and baldness often

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the VIGOR is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

MR. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AVER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. Bowen, proprietor of the McArthus (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "Ayen's Hair Vigors is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigors is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbairn Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 10: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time procureth, I have used AvER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."
