Four Big Facts for 1921

1. Business conditions have changed—radically.

3. BARGAINS will be the big feature in retailing.
4. The good old time of long credits has passed as business will necessarily be done on such a low margin of profit that it will be impossible to grant only (if at all) short time credits and then only to safe people. We start bargains in

TOWN ELECTION NEXT MONDAY

Retiring Council Held Last Meeting on Monday—Election Likely

The last meeting of the old council was held on Monday evening with Mayor Keith in the chair and a full board, that is, all the aldermen being present.

Yearly reports were received from the different town officers and standing committees.

The police magistrate reported that fines totaling $38 had been collected and that a number of culprits had been sent and allowed to go pending good behavior.

Alderman Morgan for the finance committee recommended that the ratepayers be paid $45 each additional on account of extra work in making the assessment.

Ald. Macintosh for the poor committee reported that no demands had been made on the committee during the year.

The police committee reported that order had been well maintained in the town during the year and recommended that a look-up be procured for the town.

The street committee reported that they had hauled about 500 loads of stone or gravel but in over 600 feet of concrete on Hillcrest, 3 concrete culverts in various parts of the town, and had on hand one road machine, one road plough, scraper and other tools.

The fire and water committees reported that they had put in 7 or 8 new taps and shut-offs, repaired some bad leaks, thereby reducing the amount of pumping required and that there had been but one fire during the year.

The by-law committee recommended that the present tax rate be raised to $12 for various reasons with a proportionate increase for other buildings.

Ald. Morgan for the finance committee reported that $1,100 of old gas and water bonds would mature shortly, but that definite information could not be obtained on account of no record being kept at the time these bonds were issued.

The report of the auditor and town manager showed that nearly $5,000 had been collected on the general tax, nearly $600 on the arrears for 1919, and $330 on earlier arrears, with total receipts of $5,940, and expenditure of $10,583, leaving an over expenditure of $2,097, against which there was between $4,000 and $5,000 of the 1920 tax still to be executed.

The clerk reported that the petition to the Minister of Public Works against the covered bridge had been sent in and that the Minister had declined to make any change.

A resolution was passed unanimously requesting the Government not to grant any liquor vendor's license in the town.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mayor Keith made a few happy remarks. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the retired mayor, followed by the singing of the standard anthem, "For he's a jolly good fellow."

Last evening there was a meeting of a large number of rate-payers in Burke's Hall and the majority of those present seemed not altogether satisfied with the way in which the town business has been carried on. Some were of the opinion that the charter should be revoked.

A full ticket was formed and while their nomination had not been filed at the time of going to press, it is believed that the following ticket will be in the field:

Mayor—Frank R. Kelly.
Godwin Ward—R. B. Hagerman, R. A. Hall.

Bradley Ward—J. S. Faulkner, H. H. Hatfield.
MacMullin Ward—O. R. DeWitt, F. F. Plumer.

This ticket might be described as representing the Reform party. It elected they will endeavor to make expenditures that will do the greatest good to the greatest number. Their effort will be towards reducing expenses and the reduction of taxes. They promise that the town will not be run into debt and that if they cannot improve present conditions they will take a plebiscite on the matter of having the charter repealed.

Interviewed by The Observer the Mayor and retiring Aldermen were non-committal as regards their bid for re-election.

As previously stated, The Observer is not in a position to say whether there will or there will not be an election as at the time of closing forms no papers had been filed.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER

In common with almost all the evangelized world, the Hartland churches observed this, the first of the year, as a week of prayer. Union services were held in the Reformed Baptist church on Monday, the United Baptist on Tuesday—when Rev. W. D. Wilson was the preacher—and in the Methodist church on Wednesday. There will be service in the Reformed Baptist church tonight and United Baptist tomorrow night.

POST-NUPTIAL RECEPTION

One of the most pleasing social functions of the new year was that of the reception given by Mrs. Wendell Nixon last Thursday and Friday when she received her friends for the first time since her marriage. Her mother, Mrs. J. Murdoch, and Mr. Nixon's mother, Mrs. Richard Nixon, and Mrs. E. J. McCollom received with her, while Mrs. C. H. Taylor and Mrs. Owen Clark poured the tea. The young ladies serving were Misses Helen Plummer, Lela Nevers, Clara Hagerman, Martha McCollom, Clara Boyer and Margaret and Lena Nixon. Little Miss Winnifred Moore attended at the door. Mrs. Nixon looked very nice in a gown of tulle with touches of blue. The rooms were prettily decorated with pink and white carnations and evergreens.

FIERCE FIRE AT SOMERVILLE

Destroys House of Arnold Rideout—The Uncle Seth Sippell House in No More

On Friday about 1:30 fire broke through the roof of Arnold Rideout's house at Somerville and in a short time the building was in ashes. The family was absent at the time although Mr. Rideout was working about the place, and he was the first to notice the fire. When he reached the house the upper story was so much in the grip of the flames that he could not mount the stairs. Thus everything in the upper rooms, including six beds, all the family clothing, etc., was destroyed. The contents of the lower flat were saved in a more or less damaged condition. Thanks to the timely assistance of the bridge crew and neighbors the barns were saved by the tearing away of a connected woodshed. In the cellar were about 800 bushels of potatoes, or more, which were a total loss. There was insurance on all, but in spite of this the loss, in the dead of winter, is a hard one for the young couple to bear.

The house was one of the oldest in county and was built by the late "Uncle Seth" Sippell in 1832, who, while shingling the roof one early dawn, witnessed the awe-inspiring shower of meteors of that year, when countless thousands of "shooting stars" filled the heavens for some minutes. (Throughout the provinces and New England the population believed for the time that the last day had come.)

With the burning of "Uncle Seth's" house there are recalled a thousand tender memories by those of us who remember the venerable saint and his no less beloved wife, "Aunt" Lavina—they were Uncle and Aunt to all the country-side. For more than 50 years their home was a veritable hospice—the haven of the way-farer, the refuge of the indigent and homeless. There was food and shelter and a blessing for all who came, especially in those early days of severe settlement. Although rearing four of their own children they tenderly cared for as their own other children, who in after years lived to bless the memory of their kindness, their gentle manners and their godliness. The couple, long since in Heaven, nursed many through long illnesses in their home and watched by the side of others, strangers and kinsfolk, who died sheltered by the roof that will shelter no more.

The Observer is moved by personal feelings of the editor to this insufficient eulogy. To him every nook and cranny about the place was dear—his sainted mother's girlhood home. It is not strange that the eyes of many hereabout were filled with unhidden tears when the flames wiped away the last that remained of a revered memory.

NEW RATES OF
FARMERS' TELEPHONE

Increased Rentals and Toll Charges
Fixed by Utilities Board
Effective Jan. 1

Following are the rental rates of the Farmers' Telephone Company Limited, as set by the Board of Public Utilities and effective Jan. 1, 1921:

One party line	$22	$18
Party lines	$0	15
Extension sets	5 additional
Call bells	2
Desk sets	1

The toll rates are as follows:

Hartland to Florenceville	10
Hartland to Woodstock	10
Florenceville to Woodstock	30

This charge in each case is for a three-minute conversation.

Application has been made to the Utility Board to have the rate from Florenceville to Woodstock changed from 30 to 15 cents.

The Farmers' Telephone Co. commenced business ten or twelve years ago with a line between Windsor and Hartland. The annual rental at that time was $10 for either business or residence. The growth of the business has been rapid and its lines now cover the county. The increase in rentals has been gradual, and for the company's good, should have been made sooner. Hitherto subscribers paid no long-distance tolls, and in allowing this the company deprived itself of one of the two chief sources of revenue.

Of course the public will look for, and is entitled to, more efficient long distance service, since a charge is imposed.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

Early last Spring a gentleman drove into our Battery Service Station with an inoperative battery, the result of Winter neglect. He had reached the conclusion that "the battery was no good."

We of course had to explain that the battery hadn't been properly cared for during the long months of Winter inactivity; depreciation had begun rapid and the battery was practically worthless. But the owner remembered the home-made "care" he had given his battery, and said: "Why I took the Battery off the car, brought it to the house and put it in the cellar behind the furnace. What more could you expect?"

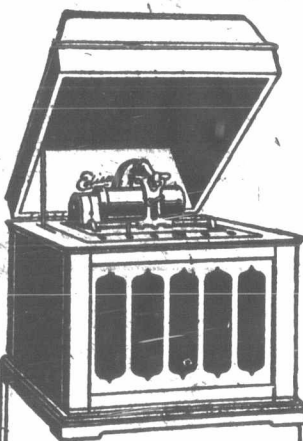

The Service Man then explained in detail how a battery must be stored and cared for during the cold months—how it must be recharged to keep it in condition to resist cold weather and prevent internal injury while idle. "Of course, I see my mistake now," replied the owner, "but if I were a car dealer or garage, I'd warn my customers about such things."

May we suggest this be YOUR WARNING to insure yourself against unnecessary battery expense next Spring, by leaving your battery with us this Winter?

CORRESPONDENTS WANTED

The most popular feature of The Observer is its splendid staff of out of town reporters. In the larger centres these reporters are paid for their services on the same basis as the city papers pay their reporters.

The editor desires to have correspondents at every district in the two counties and will make this offer:

A prize of $2. cash, will be paid once a month to the correspondent who renders the paper the best service during that month. Accredited correspondents will be supplied with stationery and a copy of the paper each week. No correspondent can win the prize two months in succession.

To judge the character of the material we desire, intending correspondents should read all the news in this issue carefully and send us as much as they can of news of their own vicinity that is after style of what already appears in the paper.

All correspondence must reach the office of the paper on Monday. If there is any big item of news occurring between Monday and Thursday it may be sent in a separate letter or the facts may be sent by telephone to the editor.

We hope that next Monday will bring forth reports from a number of places that our readers have not heard from for a long time.

THE NEW YEAR

Between last week's issue and this the scythe of Old Father Time has sustained another nick. Poor old 1920 is hustled off to give place to sprightly young 1921, and the most of us are left to give her the glad mitt. Just how much worth while we can manage to get out of the coming 365 days, barring of course the possible visits of Madame Ill Luck, is strictly up to ourselves personally. Let us sincerely strive that at the end of the year we may look pleasantly back to days full of sunshine and void of shadow, ever keeping in mind that the poor pessimist will never develop wrist drop from over indulgence in the hearty hand-shake and warm welcome of friends.—E. R. McC.

There were many beautiful and useful presents.

Allan McLaughlin went to Edmundston on business Tuesday.

The Misses Day entertained a few of their friends on New Year's day, to dinner. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Phair of Limestone, Maine. (Mr. Phair is a brother of Mrs. J. Day) and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. McMillan and Master Heyman McMillan, Grand Falls. The guests did full justice to the excellent dinner which was served about 2 o'clock. After which was music and a nice social time for an hour or more. About four o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Phair had to start for home as they had a drive of about 13 miles to their home.

Mrs. C. A. Kirkpatrick were in Van Buren this week.

A fountain pen received as a Christmas gift ought to work all right until New Year's anyway.

That small boy who used to take a change buying a penny grab-bag has grown up to be a man who eats restaurant hash.

PRODIGES PROVE A PUZZLE

Psychological Experts Unable to Account for Their Amazing Proficiency in England.

Infant prodigies are being discovered in England almost daily. Some connect this with the psychology of war. One of the youthful marvels is Pamela Bianco, a thirteen-year-old girl artist, whose drawings were given the place of honor in an exhibition at one of the principal London galleries.

Critics dealt with them quite coolly and said that the work was suggestive of Botticelli and some of the other old masters. Pamela is an Italian girl who was born in England and never had taken any drawing lessons.

Ronnie Routledge, four, little more than a baby, whose parents know nothing of music, has enjoyed six months of tuition on the violin. At the Grimsby College of Violinists recently he outranked 43 competitors, most of them in the twenties, and scored 118 points in a possible 120. Professor Denton describes him as a miracle.

Little Robbie Day, aged seven, of Brighton, son of a motor mechanic, has wonderful powers of clairvoyance, according to the Weekly Dispatch. Blindfolded, he described a number of articles. These included a treasury note (giving its color, number and writing on the back), the color and texture of a piece of fabric he had never seen, the correct answer to a complicated sum in mental arithmetic and figures written down at random.

After five minutes' rest he complained of feeling icy cold. "I just see little pictures and I just say them," is Robbie's explanation.

Progress in Burma.

There are two schools for the blind in Burma, one at Rangoon and one in Moulmein. The former, with fifteen pupils, of whom seven are girls, now enjoys the services of a blind Oxford graduate.

Happy New Year.

Inside of 48 hours after the ad appeared he had all the teams he wanted and so many more applications that they only became a nuisance. And the cost was only $1. It PAYS to advertise.

AN OCTOGENARIAN NEW YEAR CALLER

Of late years The Observer has come to look as a matter of course, for the New Year's call of George G. Gray—83 years old last July. There will come a New Year when he will not call, but it is hoped that that year is still long in the future. Indeed, so hale in appearance, so fresh in his memory, so youthful in spirit, so keen of sight and hearing and all the blessed faculties common to normal man is he, there seems no good reason why he may not turn the century mark. The Observer sincerely trusts that he shall. Mr. Gray was married 59 years ago on Jan. 1, but his wife died one year before their diamond wedding day. He is still an active man and worked a full day almost every day last year. A remarkable feat for a man of his years was the framing of a large, modern produce storehouse, and he worked along to its completion, even shingling to the lofty peak of the building. He also lashed five or six houses and cared for, a fine, large vegetable garden.

Mr. Gray attributes his well-preserved body and mind to a blessing of God, his acknowledged Master, in whose steps he has endeavored to follow closely since early youth. His presence among us is a living benediction; an example of faith and unfeigned piety. "The Village Patriarch"—long may he live!

THE MICHELHAM MILLIONS.

All England Interested in Famous Case.

The great fight for the Michelham millions is providing England with an amazing story of money, romance and intrigue.

The Chancery Court has just decided one of a long series of suits. By the judgment handed down, the present Lady Michelham, formerly Miss Capel, who married the Hon. Hermann de Stern the day before his father, the late peer, died, loses a death-bed marriage settlement of 75,000, not winning in an annual income of £100,000.

The judge ruled that when he made the settlement Lord Michelham made the settlement Lord Michelham business or understanding any transaction. Suits to contest the will were brought by the Dowager Lady Michelham and Capt. Jefferson David Cohn, well-known racehorse owner and one of the trustees and beneficiaries under an earlier will.

Evidence revealed that on January 3, 1919, Miss Capel and the Hon. Hermann de Stern attended the dying peer at his bedside and sought his approval of their marriage. He agreed and signed the settlement, his hand being guided by Lady Michelham. The marriage took place in London on the following day, Lord de Stern dying the next day. Two nights later Lord Michelham died.

The late Lord Michelham was the son of the Baron Hermann de Stern, who inherited a fortune of about £10,000,000. The Stern family were bankers in London, Paris and Brussels and the late peer was bequeathed fortunes by both his father and his brother, who for some years before his death was insane.

"Jeff" Cohn, who married a daughter of Horatio Bottomley, met the Michelhams in 1901 and spent much time with them in Paris, where Lord Michelham opened up a magnificent apartment in the Rue Nitot, which was rented by the British Government for its peace delegation last year. Through his success on the turf and his entertainment on his yacht, Albertine, the King and Queen of the Belgians, "Jeff" became a leading figure in continental society. He was regarded as Lord Michelham's most intimate friend.

In 1911 the peer made a will, appointing as executors his wife and "Jeff" Cohn. Under this will "Jeff" would receive £25,000 for acting as trustee, plus £3,000 a year as long as he so acted.

In 1915, however, Lord Michelham executed a new will from which Cohn's name was omitted. Immediately prior to the peer's death his son, then eighteen years of age, was about to marry Bertha Isabella Capel, who was then thirty-nine years old. She was the daughter of a remarkable woman, who ran a famous salon in Paris in the eighties, and who obtained a coal contract for the French Navy when she fell into financial embarrassment.

Where Women Are Wanted.

Walking down the Strand recently a newspaper reporter counted 230 women to fifty-eight men in the space of a quarter of an hour, while the proportion in a tube carriage was twenty-five women to six men, says Pearson's Weekly.

As we are all aware, we have now an enormously greater number of women than of men in Britain. Even before the war English women outnumbered English men by nearly a million. To-day the difference is about two millions.

Some people declare that there is nothing to be done to remedy this state of affairs. Why not? There are heaps of countries which want women. Take Western Australia. In that great country there are three men to two women. There is not a single Australian state where men do not outnumber women. For the whole of the island continent 200,000 women are required to make the sexes equal.

Matters are not quite so bad in Canada, but even there 150,000 women are required to even up matters. Smaller dependencies are in a worse way. The Falkland Islands, for instance, have 1,200 men to only 800 women. Tasmania has 134,000 men to 119,000 women.

The fact is that in almost every part of the British Empire, except in Britain itself, there are more men than women. There is no other country in the world which has so great a preponderance of women as has England to-day. Surely emigration is the best, indeed the only cure for the present state of affairs.

Guarding Crown Jewels.

The crown jewels are no longer in the Tower of London. They have been removed to one of the vaults beneath the Bank of England to be cleaned, says Pearson's Weekly.

Even there, however, they could hardly be safer than when deposited at their ordinary home in the Wakefield Tower, where, as most people are aware, they are kept inside an ornamental glass case, enclosed by a sort of steel cage.

Case and cage look commonplace enough. The bars of the latter are quite slender, and the glass is the ordinary shop window kind. Nevertheless it would go hard with anybody who tried to tamper with them.

For each of these innocent-looking steel bars is connected with a series of electric burglar alarms, and the slightest attempt to tamper with them would set alarm bells clanging all over the tower.

At the same instant a hidden screen of tempered steel concealed in the upper part of the structure would descend at a run, so that in a few seconds the jewels would be automatically enclosed in what is, to all intents and purposes, a gigantic eight-sided steel safe.

At the same instant of time all the occupants of the level room would find themselves imprisoned therein by the mechanical closing of the doors, and the outer gates of the tower would also close automatically.
