CAR FAMINE.

Toronto, March 7.-In railroad circles there is a growing anxiety about the supply of cars in the early spring. One official said today that the opening of navigation would bring them face to face with the worst car famine in their history. It is estimated that at the present time seven of the largest railroads in Canada and the United States have at least 400,000 freight cars in use, and are building daily extra batches. So far as locomotives are concerned the roads are in a better position than usual.

Shamokin, Pa., March 6 .- Despite the two-foot snowfall yesterday, 25 collieries in this region would have been operated today had the railway company there has been a car famine in this field owing to floods and storms, and the recent storm will prolong the per- led of scarcity of cars.

IRISH LEAGUE'S POWER.

London, March 7.-The Times this morning publishes a violent article on the growing power of the United Irish League and urges the cabinet, which will meet today, to invest the lordlieutenant of Ireland, Earl Cardogan, with power to enforce all the dormant clauses of the crimes act, to enable him to proclaim the league as a whole and to deal with it by a change of venue

SALISBURY'S SUCCESSOR. The Vienna correspondent of the ondon Times says the Austrians are manifesting a keen curiosity regarding the successor of Lord Salisbury in view of the reports of the premier's his jubilee. They all brought costly approaching retirement. The name of Chamberlain carries the most weight. Emperor William sent a porcelain The correspondent says Chamberlain's clock. ED. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, adheral League founded by Lord Rosebery, Herbert Asquith, Sir Henry Fowler and Sir Edward Grey. He likened the new organization to Mr. Brodrick's army corns to which officers were gazetted although the troops were not in sight. Sir Henry said he had repeatedly sectional organizations deprecated within the party. Organized differences produced antagonism and para-lyzed honest work. He was no true friend of Liberalism, however pure and high his motives, who lent encouragement to any such proceedings. (Loud cheers.) Whatever might be the opinion in the parliamentary lobbies, he knew he was speaking the MIND OF THE PARTY in the country. If members of the party, associated themselves in open hostility to the central organiza-tion it was the latter's plain duty to fight them with all the power and energy it possessed, but they were assured, and he was willing to believe, that this was not the case in the pre-sent instance. The new society announced that it was working on parallel lines for identical objects. Why, then, in the name of sense, should they not work together. He confessed that he was bewildered. There was no personal differences and no ground for rivalry and jealousy. He could not believe that such vital differences of principle existed in the party as would justify the action of the new association. Such action could only injure the cause of Liberalism and delight nobody but the common The times were not propitious enemy. for their views. It would be a hard struggle to accomplish the triumph of Liberal principles, but it would be acand never by forming groups and leaving the main highway of united effort to tread some little byways.

The meeting was in cordial and enthusiastic sympathy with the speaker. EARL SPENCER'S VIEW. Earl Spencer, the acting Liberal leader in the House of Lords, in the course of a speech at Eastbourne, expressed great regret and disappointment that Lord Rosebery was unable to co-operate with the recognized leader of the opposition. He believed that the formation of the new Liberal League would widen the gulf in the party and increase the difficulties of the Liberals. Therefore, it was impossible to wish it success. As no vital principle was involved there was no justification for establishing the new organization.

TO SCOOP HOLLAND.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times calls attention to the book by Professor Ernst Halle, which contains the unblushing statement that it is Germany's intention to absorb Holland, first economically, then po-litically. The correspondent says the author is one of the ablest younger German professors. He advocated the emperor's views to increase the fleet some years ago. book has been issued officially by the publishers for the German partment. Halle reproaches the Dutch for coolness toward Germany in the former crisis, and suggests that the combined influence of Wilhelmina's German consort and the fear of Britain and America will open Netherlands' eyes to the advisability of closer union with Germany. Halle admits that the position of Holland at the mouth of the Rhine is the cause of Germany's failure to secure naval prestige. He proposes a naval convention and customs commercial union of the two countries, and urges Holland to consider the fate of Spain.

NOTABLE MARRIAGE.

on Tuesday at St. George's Church Hanover Square. The marriage was extremely quiet. Lady Edith Fox-Pitt, daughter of the late Marquis of Queensberry, and sister of the bridegroom, witnessed the ceremony." The bride is the daughter of Col. Custance, late of the Grenadier Guards.

ANOTHER WAR OFFICE SCANDAL There is seemingly no end to war office contract scandals. Last evening in the House of Lords Earl Carrington referred to ugly rumors which are prevalent with regard to contract for the supply of wines and spirits for the troops in South Africa. He wanted the government to throw some light on the matter, but Lord Raglan declined to give any information. CHINESE COURT ALARMED. The actions of Gen. Tung Fu Hsiang are causing excitement and apprehension at the imperial court. Tung Fu Hsiang has a considerable body of troops. The dowager empress, through the first grand secretary, recently wrote to the general offering to maintain him comfortably if he would disband his followers. This Hsiang refused to do, intimating that he felt safer with his army around him. The court fears that when his resources fail, Tung Fu Hsiang may be compelled to resort to pillage in order to support his followers, and that this would eventually lead to rebellion. United States. The premier said yesterday that he had a letter from Sir Louis Davies, making a denial of Mr. Bourassa's statement that the former minister of marine and fisheries was authority for saying that Britain was nimical to Canada. Mr. Bourassa was in the house today. He said that his attention had been drawn to yesterday's reference to the subject, and that he would come to the house at its next sitting prepared to substantiate his contention, and would read a letter from Sir Louis Davies, justifying his statement.

The Maclean telephone bill was given its second reading today. It will go before the railway committee of the house, to be considered with the measure introduced by the government. The rescued passengers and crew of the Waesland, numbering 53, reached here at 3:33 this morning. They were received by the agents of the American Line here and were quartered at various hotels.

SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT. The collision occurred when the Waesland was about forty miles southwest of Holyhead. The Harmonides struck the Waesland amidship and there was a terrible shock. Most of the Waesland's passengers had retired for the night. Perfect order and discipline prevailed. The crew of the steamer rapidly turned out the passengers and succeeded in assuring them that their lives were safe. The passengers were greatly influenced by the coolness of the crew, and obeyed instructions willingly and quickly. The Waesland's boats were speedily got out, and in less than half hour the entire party had been transferred to the Harmonides.

The passengers unite in the highest praise of the behavior of Capt. Ap-feld and his crew. It is expected the company will send on the passengers by another vessel next week.

THE ILL-FATED SHIP. The Waesland is owned by the International Navigation Company, but flew the Belgian flag. She plied regularly in the American line service be-tween Philadelphia and Liverpool touching at Queenstown each Formerly she was known as the Russia. She was a four-masted, bark-rigged, iron vessel, of 3,676 tons net. Messrs. J. and G. Thompson built her at Glasgow in 1867. The Waesland's dimensions were: Length, 436.1 feet; breadth, 41.9 feet, and depth, 29.9 feet. She was equipped with electricity and and Isaac Eastwood, fire boss, married, had triple expansion engines of 3,500 indicated horse power.

FOGS DELAY TRAVEL. Southampton, March 6.-The American line steamer St. Louis, from New Vork was docked at 9:40 a.m. today. after having been detained by fog in the Solent for nine hours. The Harmonides was towed into Liverpood with a great hole in her

He said: "I was late in turning in, as the night was foggy and we were apprehensive. Practically all the passengers had retired. "Then there loomed right over our ship's bow the steamer which had run into us. The darkness at that time was almost impenetrable; but there was no mistaking the terrible consequences of such an impact. The nose of the Har-monides appeared to have eaten right into our side. We were going very slowly, with no more speed than was necessary to keep headway. We struck at right angles, a tremendous hole was made, and, for a moment, the stem of

PILOT BOAT BROUGHT THE NEWS Liverpool, March 7 .- A pilot boat met the Harmonides off the Island of Anglesea and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugs were dispatched to search for the Harmonides, and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on Wednesday on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, as a rule, escaped with only a few slight bruises. The Harmonides' stem and bow plates were so torn and twisted that it appeared marvelous that she escaped sinking. She also has a deep rent in her portside. TWO LIVES LOST. Liverpool, March 7. - When the Waesland and Harmonides collided the sea was perfectly smooth, but the denseness of the fog added to the tercors of the passengers of the Waesland. The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the of-

They Are More Common in Europe Than in America.

"Steel ties," said a railroad man, "which, as to width and length, are of ordinary tie dimensions, are made ot steel about three-eighths of an inch in thickness pressed into a trough shape; and are laid with the convex side up. The rail is secured to the tie by means of a clip, passing through a hole punched in the tie, and fastening over the flanges

"Steel ties are far more commonly used in Europe than they are here, this being especially true as to Italy, France and Germany, and most particularly so as to taly, where many steel ties are used. "Wood is more costly in Europe than here, and is used with greater economy. Here we drive the spikes into wooden railroad ties, with more or less danger of splitting them, and with a consequent increased liability to deterioration. In increased liability to deterioration. In Europe they bore holes first in which to drive the spikes, and wooden ties are treated also with some wood-preserving process, as is commonly done there, also, with telegraph poles, fence posts, and wood in other forms in similarly exposed situations:

And while more preserving plants are now being established. still we cannot be said to have reached yet in this country the stage of the economical use of wood. MR. MAGEE TO MRS. THORNLEY. To the Editor of the Free Press:

In today's Free Press, Mrs. Thornley, of this city, one of the Dominion Alliance deputation, is quoted as having stated to Premier Ross on Wednesday, at Toronto, speaking of the plebiscite campaign in London, as follows:

"In one case a man took the oath and voted in the name of a man whose funeral both the scrutineer and deputy had attended, and when an effort was made to secure his arrest it was found that no warrant could be obtained without the au-A WEAK, PALE, DESPONDENT

There have been two plebiscite campaigns, and I do not know which was referred to. The provincial vote was taken at the municipal election in January, 1894, and the Dominion vote in September, 1898. As fishing is not comfortable in January, the September date is probably the one intended to point the moral and adorn the tale. There are, however, some trifling inaccuracies in the statement. It is not and was not necessary to have any authority from the county crown attorney for the arrest or prosecution of any offender for any offense or for the issue of a warrant therefor. That official had not on either of hose occasions or on any other occasion a notice on his office door that he had gone away for a day's fishing; or gone away for any other purpose; Your nerves require a good bracing tonic, and the best thing for them is Ferrozone. Why don't you use this sovereign remedy? It is intended for sovereign remedy? It is intended for that official took care to be in the city and at his office on both dates. The speaker was doubtless misinformed, but it is better that assertions during the campaign should be in accordance with facts. Your obedient servant, JAMES MAGEE, Crown Attorney, Middlesex.

The night before it, when the plebiscite commit-tee and the gentlemen appointed as scrutineers were at the Y.M.C.A., one of the few politicians who gave us any assistance in that contest came in and hurriedly made this announcement: "I have just come from the station. A large number of pluggers have arriv-

Should Mr. Magee answer this letter he will have to bring to the attention of the public that second bombshell thrown into our midst that Friday night, Sept. 28, 1898. . After consultation, two members of the association were dispatched in hot haste to find the deputy crown attorney and acquaint him with what we at once perceived to be the disastrous conditions facing us. It being after office hours they could only hope to chance upon him somewhere. A lengthy but unavailing search was made. A let-

ach Troubles Is Useless and Unscientific.

The almost certain failures of the starvation cure for dyspepsia has been proven time and again, but even now a course of dieting is generally the first thing recommended for a case of in-

Many people with weak digestion, as well as some physicians, consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to restrict the diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others, or to cut down the amount of food eaten to barely enough to keep soul and body together, in other words, the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential. All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting to a man already suffering from starvation because indigestion itself starves every organ, nerve and fiber in the body. What people with poor digestion most need is abundant nutrition, plenty of good, wholesome, properly cooked food, and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it.

This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted, and the true reason why they cure the worst cases of stomach trouble. Eat a sufficient amount of wholesome food, and after each meal take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to promptly digest it.

In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not, one grain of the active digestive principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets being sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs or other albuminous food.

Dr. Harlandson and Dr. Redwell 1eommend these tables in all cases of defective digestion because the pepsin and diastase in them are absolutely free from animal matter and other impurities, and being pleasant to the taste are as safe and harmless for the child as for the adult.

All drug stores sell this excellent preparation, and the daily use of them after meals will be of great benefit, not only as an immediate relief, but to permanently build up and invigorate the digestive organs.

The chief of police said he could do nothing, and we had better see the police magistrate. police magistrate was not in his office, but we followed him to the court house. He declined to attend to business because he was not in his office, and refused to say when he would be there. We then went to the place of business of the crown attorney. This was before Mr. Magee's letter, calling in question noon, between 11 and 12 o'clock. (Mrs.) MAY R. THORNLEY. London, March 4. MR. MAGEE TO MRS. THORNLEY. To the Editor:

Sir,-In my recent letter I was only concerned to correct a statement which, as reported, was a somewhat serious reflection upon a public officer. Nothing more is called for upon that

No good end would be attained by discussing what Mrs. Thornley calls the breakdown in the machinery of justice. It is from no discourtesy to that lady or want of sympathy with her manifestedly real distress and desire to enforce the law that I prefer not to accede to that suggestion.

There is, I fear, still much inexactness in the information she has received, and if I may be pardoned for saying so, in deductions drawn.

If my possibly momentary absence can, when filtered through the media of the well-meaning London plebiscite committee, become transformed before the premier and a large deputation into a closed office with the implied absence of partners and clerks and the added circumstantiality of a written notice on the door and a day's fishing, perhaps it will be admitted that there may be some inaccuracy, not to mention omitted circumstances, in relation to others. When Mrs. Thornley uses such expressions as "shameless and abounding perversion of justice," if she really meant what the words imply, one cannot help thinking that the high-sounding phraseology has tempted her away from the exercise of the charity characteristic of her in so many other ways, or the temperateness which not alone as to the use of liquor is desir-

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Gives the Prohibition Bill Its Second Reading.

Hon. J. M. Gibson's Amendment to the Marriage and Other Bills Passed.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, March 6 .- Before the debate on the second reading of the prohibition bill was resumed in the legis-Gibson's amendment to the marriage act, in which the prohibited degrees of consanguinity were defined; an act by Hon. Mr. Harcourt to amend the separate schools act, and an act by Mr. Farwell (Algoma) respecting the Pacific and Atlantic Railway Company. Mr. Joynt (Grenville) opposed the passage of Hon. Mr. Gibson's bill to amend the devolution of estates act. It was, he declared, simply another turn to the screw to force estates into the probate court and to force them THE IROQUOIS, TORONTO, CANADA—

Hon. J. M. Gibson denied that the bill would have any such effect, and Mr. Joynt's motion to refer it back to committee of the house in order to strike out the clause with which he was displeased was lost on division.
On motion of the premier it was decided that the house should resolve itself into committee of the whole tomorrow afternoon to consider the resolution that the salaries of sheriffs which fall below $1,000, shall be increased to that sum; also the resolution providing that every judge of the Supreme Court of Jurisdiction for Ontario shall be paid annually the sum of $1,000 out of the consolidated revenue of the province in lieu of the provision made by section 1 of the act respecting such judges.

THE PROHIBITION DEBATE. The prohibition debate was next resumed, and Mr. Marter (Con.), of North Toronto, was the first speaker. He declared himself opposed to recognition of liquor traffic in any form. The question was a moral one and above all politics, but he wanted it thoroughly understood that he spoke only for himself and in no way for his party or any section of it. He was in good company, though, for Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir William Meredith, the present leader of the opposition, the premier, and other distinguished gentlemen had all expressed the view that the liquor traffic was an evil which was responsible for most of the crime and misery of the country. He dwelt for some time on the terrible effects of the drink habit, from which he jumped to a consideration of the course which the government had pursued with regard to the question. They had said to the people, "Give us your mandate and we will give you prohibition." Had they done so? He did not need to reply to that question. He need only say that were still without prohibition. With respect to the referendum, he ing he would move amendments which, he hoped, the house would indorse. He did not like the idea of having to get more than a bare majority vote. The prohibitionists had enough to do to get out more than a half of the votes cast in the plebiscites. Sir John Mac-donald had once said that he would give the people prohibition when they sent men to parliament to demand it. and there was no doubt it behooved the prohibitionists to take an active interest in the next campaign and see that their interests were conserved. Hon. E. J. Davis was delivering a forcible address in defense of the government bill when recess time arrived. The debate was continued after recess by Mr. Foy (Con., South Toronto), who said the bill was bad. Mr. Graham (Lib., Brockville) said Mr. Ross stood where he always stood as a temperance leader, but he had to legislate for the great middle class, who stood between the two opposite views on the prohibition question Mr. Hoyle (Con., New Ontario) said he would record his vote against the

the temperance cause. Mr. Pardee (Lib., West Lambton), defended the measure. Mr. Crawford (Con., West Toronto) said as a temperance man he would oppose such a loaded referendum. Mr. Lucas (Con., Center Grey) spoke against the bill.

bill, though in entire sympathy with

The question was then put and the second reading carried, 48 to 35, Mr. Marter voting with the government.

BANISH THE BARBERRY SHRUB. Hon. Mr. Dryden has introduced his bill to deal with the barberry shrub. It provides a penalty of $10 and costs on anyone who shall hereafter plant, cultivate or sell the barberry shrub. Provision is also made that where the shrub is at present growing in any city, town or village, it may be removed on the petition to the minister of agriculture of three ratepayers in any adjoining municipality. Provision is also made for small compensation in such cases.

OPEN SEASONS CHANGED. Hon. Mr. Latchford has introduced a bill to amend the Ontario game protection act. It provides that the open season for moose, reindeer and caribou in the district south of the C. P. R. main line between Mattawa and Port Arthur shall remain as at present-Nov. 1-15-but that in the regions west and north of that section of the C. P. the open season shall be from Oct. 16 to Nov. 15. A special provision is introduced granting an open season for deer kept on preserves from Oct. 1 to Nov. 15. The close season for quail and wild turkeys is made Oct. 15 to Dec. 1, instead of Dec. 15.

Supplementary Estimates.

The supplementary estimates, which were laid on the table of the legisla ture this afternoon, call for expenditures amounting to $181,947. The largest item is $45,000, to cover the cost of the referendum vote. Among the other items are $2,000 for the analysis of sewage impregated with noxious chemicals: $200 for the Eastern Ontario Good Roads Association; $500 for the Salvation Army prison gate work; $200 for the Infants' Home and Infirmary; $1,500 to pay Pan-American Exposition accounts: $5,000 for the board of trade, to assist manufacturers of Ontario to make their products better known in the markets of Great Britain; $500 towards monument at Kingston to the late Sir George Kirkpatrick. Other charges are: $3,650 for civil government, including $3,000 for extra help, etc., in the military land grants; $1,467 for administration of justice; $5,500 for education, including $5,000 for technical education; $500 for public institutions' maintenance; $16,350 for agriculture, including $5,000 to enlarge lature this afternoon a number of bills the Winter Fair buildings at Guelph; were given their third reading and $3,000 for the Eastern Fair at Ottawa: carried. Among them was Hon. Mr. $4,000 for special dairy instruction; $200 for the Sugar Beet Association; $1,500 for the Agricultural College library; $1,000 for sugar beet experiments.

The sum of $1,500 is asked for maintenance and repairs. Under public buildings the vote is $36,949, including $5,000 for improvements at London Asylum: $900 for improvements at Osgoode Hall; $7,500 for site of Macdonald building at O. A. C., Guelph; $2,199 for improvements at Mercer Reformatory and payment to city re King street sewer: $9,000 for duplicate electric lighting plant; $2,500 for pavilion for stock judging, and $1,400 for laboratory apparatus at O.

A further sum of $24,000 is asked for colonization roads. Charges on crown lands of $6,500 include $5,000 for fire ranging beyond the height of land.

Phenomenal Increase in Canada's Mineral Output.

We are not surprised that the Dominion Steel and Iron Company has found its present stockholders ready to subscribe for its new capital of $10,000,-000. These are days of great progress in Canadian mining as well as agricultural development. In fact, as the mineral production and agricultural yield records prove, the two departments of industry are going hand-inhand, though both are yet in their infancy and give but faint indication of what they will be in the next 15 or 20 years. We have already given some striking figures with regard to the phenomenal progress that Canada has made in agricultural development and production in the last half dozen years. Today, we turn for a moment to the summary of the mineral production of Canada for last year, just issued by the Geological Survey authorities. All along the line the evidence of this growth has been quite marked, giving great promise for the future, so that the inevitable falling off which must occur from time to time in the output of gold from shallow placer workings bids fair to be made up by the growth of those mineral industries that are becoming such a factor in the commercial life of the country. Leaving the Yukon district out of consideration, the permanent metal mining industries show an increase of nearly 37 per cent, netwithstanding a falling away of over 20 per cent in the value of the lead production. 'According to the latest reports, the submarine boat as an engine of war has come to stay. The British Admiralty seems to be forced now to recognize this, as they have five of these craft of the latest type in hand. France has thirty-four, and will probably soon go in for many more. Italy is building into an offensive force. The Narval, one of the French boats, traveled 260 miles at sea, and remained submerged for hours. We are not told very explicitly how the new telephone system will work; perhaps we would not understand it, anyway. Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy is possible owing to a difference in pitch in sound. A system of wireless telephony would, it seems, produce a babel of voices, as of Goldsmith's "noisy children just let loose deed, and the benefits accruing to other from school." Not Taken Seriously.

[Evening Herald, St. Johns, Nfld.] The Nova Scotia papers commen with amusement on the long-winded speeches, predicting ruin and disaster, of the two members who make up the Opposition in that Legislature of 38. The Quebec papers extract as much fun from the proceedings of their House, where the Opposition consists of 7 in an Assembly of 72. At Ottawa, the Opposition, though numerically stronger, is yet rather chaotic in its person-nel, the nominal leader, Mr. Borden, being overshadowed by some of the more masterful and ambitious of his followers. With ourselves, the little group which forms an Opposition is hardly to be taken any more seriously than the aggregation in Canada.

[Toronto Globe.] The religious statistics of the census are of considerable interest. The Catholics, of course, retain their old lead, and, in fact, their percentage of the whole population is slightly larger than in 1891-41.5 as compared with 41.2. The Catholic population is 2,228,997. The next in order are the Methodists with 916,862, the Presbyterians with 842,301, the Anglicans with 680,346, and the Baptists with 292,485. The Presbyterians have the largest increase, 87,000; the Methodist increase is 69,000, the Anglican 34,000, and the Baptist 35,000. A notable feature of the Baptists is their great strength in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, 83,000 in the former and $1,009 in the latter. The Baptist increase is larger than appears, as the Manitoba figures for 1891 included Men-

[Brockville Recorder.] The banquet tendered to Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, was well attended. The guest of the evening made a lengthy speech, dealing with practices with regard to the referenvarious questions. On the prohibition question his words were few and hardly what one would expect from the leader of a great party. The report credits him with this expression: Premier Ross is stewing in his own (Cheers.) juice, and we say, 'Let him stew.'" Unless this proportion of the people are ready to come out to vote for prohibition without having the municipal elections or the provincial elections as an excuse for going to the polls, there should not be passed a prohibitory law which will "get the whole country by the ears" and which will be an inmade an effective law which people will desire to keep in force permanent-

PRINCIPLE OF REFERENDUM!

Ably Defended by Hon. J. M. Gibson.

It Has Been Indorsed by the Most Prominent Statesmen of the Empire,

Despite the Contention of Mr. Whitney That It Is Un-British and Unfair-The Attorney-General's Speech.

In the course of Wednesday's debate in the Ontario Legislature on Premier Ross' prohibition bill, the attorneygeneral, Hon. J. M. Gibson, who followed Mr. Whitney, congratulated the Opposition leader on his eloquence, but said that if there were ever platitudes on temperance delivered to any audience they were contained in Mr. Whitney's platform. (Hear, hear.) Did he make any promise that if he were returned to power his government would see that the law was carried out? His utterances were something like his platform on the educational policy, which the speaker defied anyone to understand. (Hear, hear). So with his attitude to agriculture, the opposition leader had unfairly criticised and belittled the acts of the government.

ITS PROPRIETY. Discussing the propriety of the referendum, Mr. Gibson said the premier's speech left very little to be said on this question. Nine years ago—in 1893 the premier had contributed an article on the referendum to The Canadian Magazine, in which he had insisted on a referendum where a liquor law was concerned, and that it was a problem that had to be met face to face, and in the settlement of which the personal equation of party leaders must be omitted. That was what he insisted upon today, and what the people of the province now wanted. (Ministerial applause.) Both of the political parties had long since seen the futility of such temperance legislation unless it was shown to be desired by a direct vote of the people upon the

WHAT ABOUT MANITOBA? Mr. Borden, in his recent speech at Mr. Whitney's banquet, had lectured the government on its constitutional dum. He did not see fit, however, to carry his missionary zeal to Manitoba—(applause)—where his party friends introduced not one but two referenda. His speech was intended for Ontario consumption.

The cry, "it is unconstitutional," had been raised successively against free schools, free libraries, the freedom of the press, municipal institutions. and every advanced step in our development. PROF. DICEY'S OPINION. Mr. Gibson then quoted Prof. Dicey, one of the most eminent living authori ties, who expressed the view that general elections were not so much a udgment on the merits or demerits of a proposed law as a decision with regard to candidate or parties. Prof. Dicey also described the confusion of issues at a general election, and compared this with the referendum of Switzerland. The referendum, he pointed out. was a check on popular impatience, a safeguard against hasty party legislation. Attacks on the principle of the referendum were spoken of by him as an attack on the foundation of popular government. MR. GOLDWIN SMITH'S VIEW.

Speaking of Mr. Whitney's quotations from Mr. Goldwin Smith, he said that if that gentleman was remarkable for anything it was for his ardent criticism of all public measures. could not remember anything which the legislature or any legislator had done which Mr. Goldwin Smith had not severely criticised, and the more sweeping the criticism the better it pleased Mr. Smith, whose abilities in many ways they all admired, seemed to be with himself. He had himself stumbled upon something from the pen of Mr. Smith, and which appeared

The referendum was first adopted by the colony of Victoria as the result of a report of a specially appointed commission. In South Australia in 1896 the question of non-sectarian educations was dealt with by referendum, and the measure was supported; the question of the Australasian commonwealth was also decided by referendum. When the commonwealth constitution came before the imperial parliament it was heartily appoved of by the great men of the nation. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Sir Charles Dilke, Mr. Asquith, Mr. Blake and others spoke warmly in favor of the bill, referendum and all, declaring it to be stronger because it had received the popular sanction. All declared it to be modeled upon the British constitution. In the House of Lords it had received the same hearty support, Lord Selborne, for instance, having made particular reference to the referendum features. (Ministerial applause). POWER TO ALTER CONSTITUTION

As to the constitutional rights of the legislature on the subject, Mr. Gibson said that within their own spheres the provinces had as much power as the Dominion or British Parliaments. He quoted the British North America act and other British statutes to show that the province had the power to alter the constitution of the province. This, he argued, was directly contrary to the claim made by Mr. Whitney that the constitution could not be altered. Mr. Whitney said he had not made such a statement. If he did it was quite unconsciously. Mr. Gibson-I think so. (Ministerial in reference to the referendum, Proceeding, Mr. Gibson contended that the house would be doing harm to the country and to the temperance cause if the question was submitted in any other way. Another reason why it should be submitted to the people was the fact that the members of the house had not been elected on the question of prohibition; they could not speak definitely for their constituents, and should not, therefore, be asked to approve or disapprove of such legislation without an adequate expression of opinion from the people. Between the two extremists, the advanced prohibitionists and the liquor men, there was a great body of people whose expression was not pronounced, and whose views were not known.

A SLUGGISH. INACTIVE LIVER

Brings Biliousness, Indigestion and Most Painful Bodily Derangements-The Wonderful

Curative Influence of DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Not only is the liver the largest and one of the most important organs in the human body, but when deranged it becomes the source of endless suffering. When the liver is clogged by the inactivity of the kidneys and bowels, it becomes torpid and fails to filter the bile from the blood, thus producing biliousness and a general impairment of the digestive system. The tongue is coated, the head aches, digestion is imperfect; there is aching of the limbs and back, teelings of fullness, weight and soreness over the stomach and liver; the eye becomes yellow and jaundiced, and the complexion muddy: the urine is scanty and highly colored, and the bowels irregular, constipation and looseness alternating. There is little use of treating the liver separately, as it can never be set right until the kidneys and bowels are made active by removing the waste matter from the body. It is for this very reason that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have always proved so wonderfully successful in curing the most chronic cases of liver complaint, biliousness and complicated ailments of the kidneys, liver and bow-Mr. James Clark, Consecon, Prince Edward county, Ont., states: "Eleven years ago I was taken with pains in my back, settling in my hips and extending up my spine. The pain was very severe, and at times almost un-endurable, and many days I was not able to do an hour's work. My weight was reduced from 190 to 160 pounds, and though I had consulted many firstclass physicians and tried several advertised medicines, I could get no re-

"At this time my father-in-law told me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and said he knew they would cure me. I secured a box, and great was my surprise when I began to feel better after using only the one box. I continued their use until I had taken about four boxes, which made me a sound man, and I also regained my usual weight, 190 pounds. I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Chase's Kid-Liver Pills, which have done so much for me. I have recommended them to a number of my friends and have never met with one case where they did not meet with good success. My daughter, Mrs. Chas. Philips, has also been cured of a severe stomach trouble by the use of these pills." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., To

The death occurred at his residence, St. Thomas, Tuesday evening, of Thomas Hamilton, after a short illness. The deceased was born in the township of Southwold in 1829, where he lived until about seven years ago, when he removed to that city. His wife died about eighteen months ago. Mr. Hamilton was a Methodist, and in politics was a Re-former. He leaves to mourn his death three sons and five daughters.

The shoe store of E. W. Smith and the barer shop of J. H. Mills, Thamesville, were robbed Wednesday night. The robbers gained admittance through the back door, and stole seven or eight razors and other things out of the barber shop, and boots and shoes and cigars were stolen from E. W. Smith's store. The till also was carried off. It s not known who the thieves were This sort of work has been going on for the past year, and a reward of $100 is offered to the person who can give information leading to arrests.

On Monday evening the Stratford train, No. 43, due in Goderich, was a mile south of the latter town when the engineer, through the reflection of the neadlight, discovered something across he track at a distance. He at reversed the throttle and brought his train to a standstill in a few moments, Upon getting down to investigate, he found a long cedar fence post across both rails of the track. Had the discovery not been made in time, the obstruction would undoubtedly have derailed the train. The post was taken aboard and will in the near future be used as evidence against certain mischievous young fellows who are suspected of the deed.

Young Woman Accepted and Wedding Was All Over in Two Hours.

Chicago, March 7 .- He had called her up by telephone. "This is Ernest," came his voice over the wire. "Yes!" she replied, with rising inflection. "Come down town and get married."

said the voice. "W-h-a-t!" she gasped. Then they talked confidentially for a few minutes. Two hours later she was a bride. This, in a few words, is the romantic wedding of Ernest G. Dann, 3,749 Indiana avenue, and his bride, who, until last Saturday, was Miss Adrienne Sincere, daughter of Dr. Emil Sincere, 4,129 Michigan avenue. Both are prominent in the younger society set on the south side, and their friends were surprised yesterday when the news of the singularly arranged wedding became

Her former symptoms have been de scribed as follows:

Nervousness, rheumatism in the left arm, pains in the small of the back, up the spinal column, and back of the head through the eyes, the left side of the body and occasionally the right side as well, no appeptite and could not sleep at night."

The child. who is but 3 years old, was playing about the cistern with her brother, two years her senior, and accidentally plunged into the water. The boy ran screaming to his mother, who rushed frantically to the cistern and was about to leap to her child's rescue, when a neighbor woman called to her to stop. The neighbor then grasped her firmly by the heels, and lowered her to the water's edge. The little one was unconscious when her mother seized her by the hair and dragged her to the surface.

Men of Genius Who Could Not Write Legibly.

Instances of Ludicrous Blunders Caused by Illegible Writing-Case of Rufus Choate.

When the instructors at Rugby took a lad to task for his poor penmanship he replied: "Many men of genius order he copied for transmission was fellows their lives. Of course, it is true that the hand-writing of many men of genius has been hopelessly bad. But such men have been great in spite of their faults. Imitation in this direction is decidedly unsafe. Even a great author's style can rarely be imitated with success. There is a passage in Macaulay's Diary which is full of significance. "I looked unsafe model. My manner is, I think, characteristics of my style which are the most easily copied are the most questionable."

But whatever may be thought of the folly of imitating the style of an author, to seek to emulate his greatness by imitating his handwriting would seem as hopless a venture as that of certain South Sea Islanders who are said to deceive themselves with the fancy that they can acquire the desirable qualities of a great man by eating him.

The writer of execrable scrawls may, indeed, often find himself in great company, for the number of great men who have written badly seems almost legion. Byron, for example, wrote what would seem to be, at a glance, a schoolboy's sprawling hand, and Sydney Smith's manuscript was the woe of printers. A certain college student once remarked: "If I were to write better people would find out how I spell." The same may have been true, perhaps, of the witty Canon of St. Paul's, for he was a notoriously poor

The first Napoleon's writing was even ters, J. Wilson, T. Humphrey, J. worse than Rufus Choate's, which, it has been declared, could not be de-Smyth, S. J. Gage, E. Bruce Mallett, Ciphered "without the help of a pair of compasses and a quadrant." Na-Corporal J. Taylor has returned to poleon's letters to Josephine from Ger-Robt, Stock.

Corporal J. Taylor has returned to Wolseley Barracks from his recruiting tour. He secured over fifty young men for the Halifax garrison.

Deep Stanley's style was as The usual weekly assembly at Wolsely Barracks was largely patronized transparent as plate glass, but his conrespondents found it difficult to read even the signature to his letters. Mr. Gladstone was said to have spoiled his hand by his overindulgence in post cards. Professor Huxley was one of the most lucid of English writers, yet his manuscript was very hard to decipher. Verily, viewed from some standpoints, it would seem as if great-ness and legible writing were not on friendly terms.

It may be safely asserted, however that men of genius rarely, if ever, pride themselves upon their poor handwriting. "I write a detestable hand," says Mr. Labouchere, the well-known English editor; and he further declares: "I am sure that I spend an hour every week trying to deciper signatures, and all those who receive many letters must do the same."

Perhaps the most incorrigible of all oad writers, among men of undoubted genius, was Rufus Choate. His handwriting, as is well known, was ex-He once sent a note of advice to Webster concerning an important case. After struggling in vain to decipher it, Webster impatiently exclaimed: "This fellow advises me what to do, and I can't read a single word of his infernal hieroglyphics." A certain Bostonian presented, among other papers, a copy of a letter to President Buchanan from Rufus Choate, with a note stating that he sent a copy because he knew that the president could never decipher the original, and that he had left blanks for some words which he could not himself transcribe. Choate, himself, seemed conscious of this infirmity, and once wittily remarked to a presiding judge: "I write well, your honor, but slowly." As already indicated, the subject has a serious side as well. Few seem to realize that thoughtless negligence in this direction may be attended by most serious consequences when least expected. The address on the letter is illegible—the note goes to protest, and the fortunes of a great house are in the dust, while the all-important message, on which the fate of the firm had hung, has been sent to the dead letter office. "We have no scales by which we can weigh our faithfulness to duties, or determine their relative importance in God's eyes." That which seems a trifle to us may be the secret spring which shall move the issues of life and death .- William J. Tilley,

Snow Cleanses Air.

[American Medicine.] The cleansing effect upon the atmosphere of a snowball is illustrated by a report of the Chicago Board of Health. On Jan. 18 shallow glass dishes containing the usual preparation favorable to the growth of atmospheric germs were exposed to the air for three minutes in ten different localities within the half-mile bounded by South, Water, State and Adams streets and Fifth avenue.

After 72 hours' incubation these showed an average of 630 colonies of growing germs, the greatest number, 1,050, being found in the northeast corner of Dearborn and Washington streets, a few feet above the street level; the least, 330, in the south court between the city hall and the county building, and the next fewest, 335, on the roof of the city hall, about 130 feet above street level. On the 21st snow fell to the equivalent of 0.28 of an inch of rain, and the experiment was re-peated on the 22nd. The average colonies from these latter exposures numbered 66, ranging from 19 in the south-east corner of La Salle and South Water streets, to 180 at the southeast corner of Washington and Fifth avenue. The atmosphere was nearly 90 per cent purer on the 22nd after the snowfall than it was before.

VERDICT FOR MRS. GOLDSTEIN. Toronto, March 7 .- A consent judgment was filed at Osgoode Hall by which Mrs. Fanny Goldstein receives $1,000 insurance, the amount of the policy upon the life of Mrs. Goldstein, a second-hand dealer, who died by poisoning under suspicious circumstances about two years ago. Mrs. Goldstein was arrested in connection with the death, and was subsequently discharged. It was alleged that she had not been legally married to Gold-stein, and the Knights of the Maccabees refused to pay over the insurance money. In the consent judgment the Maccabees recognize her as the lawful widow of the poisoned man, and admit she had proved his death to their satisfaction.

chief intention of the Y. P. S. C. E. in giving the "At Home," and wis was fully carried out. Dr. Sowerby is doing a good work in the Talbot Street Church, and his energy is evidently infectious, as the members of the Y. P. S. C. E. seem to be enthusiastic in their endeavor to make strangers welcome and to extend such a greeting as will entice them back again. Dr. Sowerby's popularity is evidently increasing, and with the assistance of such a corps of young people the work will increase. Much of the success of the entertainment is due to the indefatigable efforts of Miss Nellie Evans, the president

LONDON MUSICIAN ASSISTED. Describing the very successful and enjoyable organ recital given Monday evening at Forest on the occasion of the formal opening of a new pipe organ, the Forest Free Press says: "Local talent was assisted by Vivian Reeve, organist of Memorial Church, London, and Herman Stahl, agent of the Karn Company, who had placed the organ in position. Among Mr. Reeve's selections were Mendelssohn's 'War March of the Priests,' and Handel's 'Hallelujah Chorus,' both of which were rendered in a masterly manner, receiving hearty applause. Mr. Reeve is deserving of the warmest thanks for the work he so unselfishly gave during the evening. In addition to his beautiful recitals, the duties of accompanist were discharged by him most efficiently, and should he again favor Forest will be warmly received.'

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT. The Sunday school entertainment given in the Southern Congregational Church proved a complete success and reflected great credit on the committee which consisted of Mr. Babb's class, under the direction of their teacher, and the energetic Sunday school secretary, Mr. Gervys Smith. The church was crowded to the doors, with chairs in the aisles, for the audience who attentively listened to one of the best of programmes. Two drills were well given by little folks and a pole drill by the class. The outside talent, in every instance, was excellent, and the efforts of the contributors were much -One drunk, Samuel H. Claris, was appreciated; but the piece of the evening was the pantomime, by the class "Nearer, My God, to Thee," which was perfect. The tendency of the whole programme was uplifting.

ST. CLAIR GIRL

Married a Man Who Robbed Her HON. MR. STRATTON'S Aunt's Home.

The Youth Was Wealthy and Turned Burglar as a Relief From Ennui.

Binghamton, N. Y., March 6 .- A romantic wedding took place at Bradford yesterday when Miss Ethel Moore, of St. Clair, Mich., was married to H.

Louis Park. Park is the son of wealthy parents and is a fellow of appearance, with an irresistible longing for the sensa-tional. Though he has property in his own name, he became a burglar, not for gain, but for the excitement attendant upon the robberies.

There have been numerous mysterious burglaries in the locality, in which valuables were stolen, to be afterwards returned to their owners through a mysterious and undiscoverable source. Miss Moore was at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. E. K. Hollenbeck, at Wells, Bradford county, when Park forced his way into the dwelling. She had met him at a party a week previous and being awakened by the noise recognized the intruder. Asking an explanation, he finally confessed and promised to discontinue his practices. He requested the privilege of calling, which was granted under conditions, and the midnight meeting ended in yesterday's wedding.

STRAIGHT DENIAL

As to Connection With $4,000 Grant-The Implications Are Absolutely Untrue.

Toronto, March 7. - The public accounts committee concluded their work for the session yesterday.

Hon. Mr. Stratton asked to be called, and made a statement in connection with the $4,000 grant to the Dickson Lumber Company for the Stoney Creek dam. Mr. Stratton said he had first been asked by representatives of the company, before he was a member of the government, to endeavor to secure a grant in connection with the works on the creek, as they were of more or less service to the settlers, and to the other lumbermen getting out logs in the locality, and also of value in conserving the water and regulating the flow. The request had been repeated after he had become a member of the government. It was on his representation to the cabinet, he said that the grant was made $4,000 instead of $5,000, in view of the dam costing $8,100 instead of from $10,000 to $13,000, as was originally estimated. "As for having any conversation with Mr. Shook or Mr. Hail," Mr. Stratton continued, "with Mr. McGill or any other person possibly connected with the company, by which there would be any payment by the company, it is absolutely untrue. It never was suggested, it was never thought of, never dreamed of, so far as the government or myself was concerned; no payment was received, no payment was promised, no payment was made. I do not know that I can make it any stronger."

NO-PROFIT SYSTEM IN GREAT BRITAIN

Excessive Drinking.

Ottawa, March 7 .- Earl Gey, who ame to Canada to explain to temperance deformers here the methods of the British public house trust, and who spent some time in Ottawa visiting his sister, the Countess of Minto, a few days before leaving Ottawa invited a correspondent to Rideau Hall, and there spoke of the work of the public house trust in Great Britain.

The earl said he felt a certain delicacy in speaking here on the subject of drink, because he found it a matter of division between the political parties. "In England," he said, "one may wait until the grave without the hope of getting any temperance re-form. A practical reformer should act himself if he wants to get any reform. My object is to try to put a ring fence around the public house. At present we ask the license authorities to grant us any new licenses they may consider necessary, and we may buy other icenses in the open market if we can. We want to have a trust which will be able to take over any new licenses in a way that will be best for the people. In this we are encouraged by

The gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Lamb) paid the cow a beautiful and eloquent tribute, but let me say to him that the Virginia cow cannot be compared with the big fat cows of the Mississippi Valley and beyond. I am well aware that Virginia is entitled to the proud distinction of having been the "mother of presidents," but she was not the mother of the cow. The Mississippi Valley cow is a marvel of wonder and the pride of every home. She never goes dry. She is kind and gentle, and has such a maternal affection that she often licks the milker instead of her calf. If I fail to vote for this bill I shall feel that I cannot go home and ever again look an honest cow in the face. The cows in my country are Democratic cows. HE WAS BUSY.

It is scarcely credible that so faithful a servant and so good a courtier as John Brown of Balmoral could ever deliberately have kept his sovereign waiting, but the London Tattler relates an anecdote which shows that he had a very human side.

Brown was very fond of fishing, and one day, when he had a fine salmon on his hook, there came a message from the castle on Deeside, desiring his presence at once. Queen Victoria was going for her afternoon drive, and it was Brown's duty to attend her, as he always did, sitting in the rumble of the carriage.

CHAPTER XII.

Warden had no particular inclination to spend his Christmas at home; he was not a person of domestic tendencies; his father bored him, and he was not fond of the society of his father's friends. Nor even did he care to cultivate the even did he care to cultivate the acquaint-ance of Mr. Brown, even though he was an attorney's managing clerk. But still, much to his sister's delight, he announc-ed at the beginning of December that he was about to pay them a short visit. It was nothing more than a very ordinary sort of coincidence that Miss Raymond was going to spend her Christmas at Earl's Dene. Hugh ought to have spent his there also; but he was a man of many engagements, and felt rather afraid of his visit besides, for he also felt inmany engagements, and felt rather afraid of his visit besides, for he also felt instinctively that the breach between himself and his aunt had practically begun, and that he should, as it were, be making Earl's Dene his home under false pretenses. She felt gratitude, as she said; but, in her eyes, he was doing no more than his duty to his liege lady in undertaking to keep her heir from forming an unsuitable alliance. What his own private views might be were nothing to her, nor did she even remember that he might possibly have any. And if he had, what could they matter even to himself when the interests of Earl's Dene were concerned? Nevertheless, the interview did open out to him a new and strangely exciting train of thought, of which the burden was, "If

Mile. Chauvin, the woman barrister, has played a fine trick on her male colleagues. She delivered an impassioned speech at a debating society of young barristers, for which she was applauded to the echo by one section, but disparaged as theatrical by the other.
Finally M. Fallieres, son of the president of the senate, discovered the flowery speech, word for word, in a book by Victor Hugo.

It is not a new scheme, and of course something more than the resolutions of a conference will be required to put it on the way to realization. But the engineering difficulties are not insuperable; and the amount of new construction necessary to link existing railway systems into one continuous transcon tinental line is estimated at only five thousand miles. If the amount of new mileage built in the United States during the year 1901 could have been distributed in the proper districts along the proposed line, the scheme would have been realized.

Probably the proposed railway would cost less money and would be attended by fewer difficulties of construction than the great railway which the czar has been building across Siberia: but behind the Siberian enterprise there was a resolute national purpose and great resources. There must be powerful incentives before either governments or capitalists can be induced seriously to undertake the Pan-American railway. Yet when the railway is built as probably time it will be, its material advantages and political consequences may dwarf those of the czar's great enterprise. It will bring the American people closer together, in sentiment as well as in time; It will promote the ex-change of ideas as well as of products; and by quick travel, commerce and

U. C. C. JUNIOR CHAMPIONS. Toronto, March 7.-The last game of hockey played in Toronto this season was played last night. One thousand eight hundred spectators saw the final struggle at the Mutual street rink between Stratford Juniors and Upper Canada College for the junior O. H. A. championship, which resulted in a win for U. C. C. The game of Monday night at Stratford, with its score of 4-4, had nerved both sides for a keen contest, and it was not until after twenty minutes of extra play last night that Upper Canada College won by 7 to 6. A fast, clean game it was through out, the youngsters playing a far speedier match than even the Wellingtons have put up. As the time came near and the score stood at 5 to 4 in favor of Strat-ford, there was intense excitement, and the partisans of the teams yelled them-selves hoarse. Then U. C. C. scored and e extra play was taken to break the

It was in the fourth round of the fight that Uphouser received injuries likely to prove fatal. He had received terrific punishment in the second and the third and in the fourth And is it true? Is the parlor doomed? Must it give way to the living room? That apartment cannot make good the loss of the other. Who does not ber the darkened glories of the oldfashioned parlor, which was seen at its best in the middle-sized town, village and country? Shut up the week through, sometimes nearly the year through, with blinds closed tight and lace curtains tied primly back; with its hair-cloth-seated chairs set in a line Detroit, March 7.—By unanimous vote the magnates of the American League adopted resolutions fixing the admission against the wall; a "rocker" ready to gallop in one corner, and a what-not in the other, ornamented with rice basto the grounds in all cities except Phila-delphia, at 25c, 50c and 75c, for bleacher, pavilion and grand stand respectively, kets, praying Samuels and family daguerreotypes and photographs; a cenand increasing President Ban Johnson's salary from $5,000 per annum to $7,500, They also adopted the schedule for the ter table, set exactly in the midle of the room, with a few handsome books and the large Family Bible, the mantelpiece with vases filled with crystallized glasses at either end, and odds and ends of strange things fitting up the rest of the space; who among the older erations does not know it well? Instead there is the living room, that actually is a living room, where the baby's perambulator stands near the piano, where the work basket is on a convenient table (no one ever saw a work basket in a parlor); where there are plants, a writing desk; where the sun pours in as much as it may. It is indeed a living room. If one has space, there is a reception room, to be sure; but everyone understands that amounts to little—the caller and the friend are shown into the living room. To a person used to a parlor, no matter how long ago, a call in a living room seems hardly like the solemn function it

MIDDLESEX.-A father has 300 acres of land, He gives his son a deed of 75 acres signed only by the father, the mother's name being canceled wherever it appears on deed. All parties being alive, is such a deed valid? Can the mother dispose of any portion of that property? Can the son dispose of such property while all parties are living? Ans.—The deed is valid as to the title of the father. The mother has a right to dower, and can sell her right. If she survives her husband the dower would be one-third of this land. The son can sell the land subject to the right of dower.

MANY DON'T KNOW

Lack of Right Food Is the Cause of Sickness.

It is hardly fair to blame the doctor for not curing his patient when a patient attempts to live on food that furnishes the wrong kind of nourishment. When sickness comes on it is a pretty good sign that the food is not keeping the body up. There are thousands of cases where a change in food alone has brought the sick one into a prime condition of health.

As an illustration. A lady in River-
