HIS REPENTANCE.

"You can tell her about this legacy to me, Sam; it will be the talk of the town before the day's out. And explain to her why I decline it."

The afternoon drew to a close. Dr. Dav-son, engaged with a succession of patients, scarcely noticed his progress. He was waiting to see Mr. Oswald Cray, and had hope he had not come, that note previously mentioned was pencilled, and Neal was disengaged with it.

The man brought the message back in due course; "Mr. Oswald Cray was unable to call upon the doctor, as he was departing for town," Dr. Davson was disappointed; he had been hoping to explain his intentions re- specting the money; he considered it due to Oswald to do so.

How it is that there are times when an idea, apparently without any cause to lead to it, any reason to justify it, takes sudden possession of the mind? Even as Neal spoke, such an idea took possession of Dr. Davson. He fancied that Oswald Cray was in some way not pleased at the disposi- tion of Lady Oswald's property; was, more or less, resenting its being left to Dr. Davson. He only made the doctor doubly desirous of seeing him. But, Oswald Cray having said, there was no chance of doing so at present.

Dr. Davson put on his hat, and went out to take a walk as far as Lady Oswald's. He found the Rev. Mr. Stephenson alone. His brother had gone away. The clergyman received him somewhat awkwardly. He had been brooding over his disappointment; he had been thinking what a crying wrong it was that the money should be left to the flourishing and wealthy physician, who put so many guineas into his pocket daily as would keep him and his family in their humble way for months. He was casting his anxious thoughts to the future, wonder- ing how his children would be to be educated, how his wife would be to be supported, and struggling to the very end of his life; and I am not sure that at that moment toward that one man was full of envy, hatred, malice and all uncharitableness.

Being in this frame of mind, it is little wonder that the reverend gentleman to see the object of his envy standing before him. Dr. Davson drew forth a paper, and said, "I dare say, Mr. Stephenson, if the truth were known, you are at this very moment brooding on the plenty of hard names."

It was so exceedingly like what Mr. Stephenson had been doing, that all the sympathy he could make was a confused stam- mer. Dr. Davson, who for the time ap- peared to have put away his heavy care, resumed in a frank, free tone.

"I have no right to the money, have I? It ought to have gone to you and your brother."

"Well, sir—perhaps you had been led to expect it by Lady Oswald," was the clergy- man's answer. Of a timid and refined nature, he could not, to Dr. Davson's face, express his sense of the wrong. With Dr. Davson before him, cordial and open, he began to think the wrong less. That it was not so much the doctor's fault, as he had been angrily thinking.

"No, she never led me to expect anything of the sort; and you cannot be more sur- prised than I am at its being left to me," said the doctor. When Mr. Stephenson came to me with the news, I could not be- lieve him. However, it appears to be the fact."

"Yes," meekly rejoined the clergyman.

"And I have now come to inform you that I shall not take the money, Mr. Stephenson. Let it stay of it. The will, so far as it concerns me, may be regarded as a dead let- ter for all practical use. I have desired Mr. Wedderburn to transfer the money to you and your brother; and if this may not legally be done, I must, despite my wish, accept the money. I shall take it only to restore it to you. You will not be too proud to accept it from me?"

Was he listening to fact—or was he in a dream? The words to the minister's ear, did not savor of reality. His pale face grew livid with emotion, his trembling hands entwined their thin fingers together. He did not dare to ask, it really felt the answer should dissolve the illusion.

"I could not expect this great sum to be the property of others who have a right to it," resumed Dr. Davson. "I should fear it is prov- ing something like ill-gotten gains, that bring- ing with them, instead of good. The money shall be yours and your brother's. Mr. Stephenson, just as surely as though it had been left to you by Lady Oswald, I shall be- lieving it shall keep and value, but not a shilling of the money. I thought I would come up and tell you this."

The tears were welling into that poor gentleman's eyes, as he rose and clasped the hand of Dr. Davson. "If you could see what I have suffered, if you could only imagine the struggle life has been to me, you would know what I feel at this moment. Heaven send its blessing on your generosity!"

The doctor quitted him. He found a heavy heart, and he left a glad one. He quitted him and went into the stillness of the autumn night.

He glanced towards the bright stars as he walked along, thinking of the future. And a prayer went up from his heart to the throne of heaven—that, if it was God's will, his children might not feel hereafter the sacrifice he had made—but that God would bless them and be merciful to them when he should be gone.

CHAPTER XXII

COMPANY FOR MR. OSWALD CRAY.

For some days subsequent to the inter- view with Neal, and that valuable servant's startling communication, Mr. Oswald Cray remained in what may be called a state of confusion. The happy circumstances attendant on Lady Oswald's death never left his mind, the strange suspicions first arising naturally, as they did arise, and there augmented by Neal's disclosure, seemed to be ever warring hot war within him, for they were entirely antagonistic to sober reason, to his life-long experience of Dr. Davson.

It cannot be denied that Oswald Cray, calm, of temperance, sound of judgment, though he was, did fall into the snare that the web of events had woven around him; and, in the midnight watches, when things wear to our senses a weird, ghastly hue, the disagreeable word matter, sug- gested itself to him often that he would have liked to confess in broad, matter-of-fact daylight. But as the days went on, his senses came to him. Reason reassured her empire, and he flung the dark doubt from him. It was impossible to connect such a crime with Dr. Davson.

But still, though Oswald Cray shook off the worst view, he could not forget the suspicious circumstances. Perhaps it was next to impossible, knowing what he did know of the doctor's intimacies as to chloro- form, hearing as he had heard Neal's account of the words spoken at the mid- night interview, that he could shake them off. They turned and twisted themselves about in his mind, in spite of him, he would have given much to get rid of them, but he could not.

Now taking one phase, now another, now looking dark, now light, there were, like so many phantoms, ever springing up from different corners of his mind, and putting legitimate thoughts out of it. Up or in bed, at work or at rest, these conflicting arguments were ever dancing attendance on him, until from sheer perplexity his brain would seem to lose its subtle powers, and grow dull in very weariness.

What conclusion to which he at length came, and in which he finally settled down, was, that Dr. Davson had been in a partial degree guilty. He could not think that he had given that chloroform to Lady Oswald with the deliberate view of taking her life, as some of our worst criminals have done; but he did believe that there had been some hidden culpability attached to it. Could it have been given in forgetfulness—or by way of experiment?—or carelessly? Os- wald Cray asked himself these questions ten times in a day. No, no, reason answered, Dr. Davson was not a man to forget, or to make experiments, or do things carelessly. And then, with the answer, rose the one wild, awful doubt, again, tormenting him not less with its darkness than with its pre- ponderant absurdity.

What weighed on his mind more than all the rest was, that he could see no solution, or chance of solution to the question, why chloroform was administered, why even it was taken to the house. Had Dr. Davson frankly answered him when questioned, "I thought, in spite of my conversation with you, that chloroform might be ventured with safety, that it would ease her sufferings, and was absolutely necessary to calm her state of excitement," why he could have no more to say. But Dr. Davson had answered nothing of the kind. In the con- trary, he had been mysterious over it, and at length flatly refused to satisfy him at all. So far as Oswald Cray could see, there was still a dark suspicion that could be cleared up, that the chloroform had been adminis- tered willfully and deliberately. If so, then with what view had Dr. Davson—

How They Regain Life and Strength!

Cheering News!

A Toronto Lady Speaks!

"Three Bottles Have Made Me a Different Woman!"

A few unbelievers, skeptics and doctors may scoff and ridicule even sworn state- ments, but their unbelief and disdain will never convert an intelligent people. No amount of professional medical sophistry will convince a man or woman who has been cured by Paine's Celery Compound, that some other agency wrought the cure. The cured people know that often they have been treated in vain by doctors—yes, in hundreds of cases, given up as incurable—and that there was only one agency on earth that gave them health and life after repeated failures.

MRS. THOMPSON.

To-day we are enabled to give all suffer- ers in Canada an instance—a most remark- able one, too—of the failure of doctors; and after their vain efforts, the triumph of Paine's Celery Compound.

Mrs. M. Thompson, of 610 Eastern Avenue, Toronto, was thoroughly broken down, and in a condition that caused anxiety and alarm. She writes as follows, after experiencing and realizing the good that comes from using Paine's Celery Com- pound:

"I feel it my duty to let the public know what Paine's Celery Compound did for me, and trust it will be a benefit to other sufferers."

"I was much reduced in flesh and in a thoroughly broken down condition, result- ing from dyspepsia and nervousness. I was recommended to try the Compound; I did so, and three bottles have made me a different woman."

"Previous to taking your Compound, I had taken medicine from some of the best doctors in the city, but with no good results. Therefore I have every reason to be thankful for Paine's Celery Compound, and take great pleasure in recommending it to others."

"Yours sincerely,"

"M. THOMPSON."

Suffering and diseased people of Canada, let us tell you that such cures as the above are being heard of every day. No failures, no long-continued days of agony and sus- pense when you use Paine's Celery Com- pound; it cures, heals, gives new life. See that you are given this wonderful medi- cine when you ask for it; take no sub- stitute.

MIDDLESEX ITEMS.

Jas. McPhail, of Proke, lost his barn and contents, consisting of three horse- loads of hay and grain by fire one night last week. The loss is covered by an in- surance of $1,200.

"Granny" Willis is dead. She was Exeter's oldest citizen, and had reached the great age of 90. She was a native of Ire- land, and came with her husband to this country in the year 1832, and located on lot 20, London road survey, Osborne, and were the first settlers within its present limits—and indeed the first between the point where the London road left the township of London and its point of junction with the Huron road, where Clinton now stands. The log house built by Mr. Willis was the first man's habitation in a section of country extending over twenty miles in length from the shore of Lake Huron to the shore of the St. Lawrence. One re- markable incident that occurred in Mrs. Willis' early life while here is worthy of note. On one occasion during her hus- band's absence, Mrs. Willis was roasting a piece of venison over the fire on the hearth. The door of the shanty was open, and while she was in the act of changing the position of the "roast" a monstrous gray wolf bounded into the apartment quick as lightning, snatched the savory morsel from her hands and as quickly disappeared. Mrs. Willis leaves four sons and two daughters. H. Kilber, of Crediton, met with a serious accident recently. He was standing at the doorway of Smith's blacksmith shop when the door blew shut, knocking him in- sensible. He remained unconscious for some time, and was badly injured. Medi- cine men will soon be sent to India by the Ontario Baptist Mission Board, in the persons of Dr. E. G. Smith, of St. Catharines, and Rev. J. E. Chute, of Strathroy. They will proceed to India about Sept. 1.

While finishing J. W. Whitling's barn, one of the carpenters, Abraham Gabriel, met with quite a serious accident by one of the planks of the scaffold breaking and allowing him to fall to the ground, a dis- tance of eighteen feet, striking his head and cutting it badly on some blocks of timber. He was picked up insensible.

The death is announced of an old resi- dent of Alisa Craig, James Priestly. De- ceased had been for some time a native of Bradford, Eng., and was over to this country visiting his friends and relatives, intending to pay visits to his sons in the United States at La Mars, Ia., and Mil-waukee, Wis., and spend a short time at the World's Fair, and return to his home in the fall. He had been for some time in poor health, and expected the trip would cure him, but while there he became ill, which illness resulted in his death the other day at Mrs. Garden's, his daughter.

A well-known Berlin physician states: "A healthy stomach is choleria-proof." K. D. C. will restore your stomach to healthy action, and fortify you against cholera.

If the Seventh Battalion ever returns to Sarnia to give us an exhibition of their drill, our city fathers will see that they will not have to do so on grass up to their knees. It is pretty hard for many com- panies to do justice to themselves in such a cramped up piece of ground as Wellington Park. The exhibition should have been held in Hayview Park, which is a much better place for the purpose.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC

AND

Stomach and Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.

It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nerve Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nerve Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indi- gestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nerve tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nerve Tonic as a builder and strength- ener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nerv- ousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nerve Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and cura- tive is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

It is a GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Headache, Sick Headache, Female Weakness, Nervous Chills, Paralysis, Nervous Paroxysms and Nervous Choking, Hot Flashes, Palpitation of the Heart, Mental Despondency, Sleeplessness, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervousness of Females, Nervousness of Old Age, Neuralgia, Pains in the Heart, Pains in the Back, Failing Health, Broken Constitution, Debility of Old Age, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Heartburn and Sour Stomach, Weight and Tenderness in Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Frightful Dreams, Dizziness and Ringing in the Ears, Weakness of Extremities and Fainting, Impure and Impoverished Blood, Boils and Carbuncles, Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Ulcers, Consumption of the Lungs, Catarrh of the Lungs, Bronchitis and Chronic Cough, Liver Complaint, Chronic Diarrhea, Delicate and Scrofulous Children, Summer Complaint of Infants.

All these and many other complaints cured by this wonderful Nerve Tonic.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nerve Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired diges- tion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not con- tain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nerve Tonic has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de- rangement.

To the Great South American Medicine Co.,

Dear Gents:—I desire to say to you that I have suffered for many years with a very serious disease of the stomach and nerves. I tried every medicine I could hear of, but nothing doing me any appreciable good until I was advised to try the Great South American Nerve Tonic and Stomach and Liver Cure, and since using several bottles of it I must say that I am sur- prised at its wonderful power to cure the stom- ach and general nervous system. If everyone knew the value of this remedy as I do you would not be able to supply the demand.

REVERENT FIDELITY.

LESSON X, INTERNATIONAL SERIES,
JUNE 4.Text of the Lesson, Ecclesiastes i, 1-12—
Golden Text, Romans xii, 11—Doctrinal
Suggestion, God's Presence With Us—
Commentary on the Lesson by Rev. D.
M. Stearns.

"This is the book and mirror of the natural man. The thread of the book is the expression, 'Under the sun,' which is found in it more than 35 times. Its conclusion, 'Fear God and keep His commandments,' has in it no redemptive power, but prepares the way for the Redeemer from above the sun, who alone can make all things new (W. J. Erdman). The life of Ecclesiastes is the life of the seventh of Romans compared with the eighth. It is the fruitless effort to do good and be good apart from Him.

1. "Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to hear than to give; for the reward is great they that consider not that they do evil." Our feet may take us to the house of God, but unless our hearts are right with God we shall be as fools. The life of a Christian is in the New Testament compared to a walk. We are to walk worthy of our vocation, walk in love, walk as children of light, walk circumspectly (Eph. iv, 1; v, 2, 8, 15).

2. "Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter anything before God, for God is in heaven and thou upon earth. Therefore let thy words be few." Not only do our feet words be few, but also our mouths. David's resolution was a good one, "I said I will take heed to my ways that I sin not with my tongue" (Ps. cxxxix, 1). His prayer is always appropriate, "Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips" (Ps. cxxxix, 3). How can we order our words aright before God? I know of no way so good as being filled with His words.

3. "For a dream cometh through the multitude of business, and a fool's voice is known by multitude of words." There are dreams from above the sun—from God himself—of which many are recorded in Scripture, but ordinary dreams are from worldly cares. As to a multitude of words, we are told that in such there wanteth not sin (Prov. x, 19), and this may be true even of some prayers we know about which occupy anywhere from 10 to 20 minutes or more.

4. "When thou vowest a vow unto God, defer not to pay it; for He hath no pleasure in fools. Pay that which thou hast vowed." Compare with this verse Num. xxx, 2; Deut. xxi, 23-25; Ps. lxxv, 13, 14, and be careful how you make promises to God. He is the faithful promiser (1 Cor. i, 9; x, 13; I Thess. v, 23; II Thess. iii, 3; Heb. x, 23), and our part is to trust Him, confide in Him, for all His promises are in Christ, yea and amen (I Cor. i, 20).

5. "Better is it that thou shouldst not vow, than that thou shouldst vow and not pay, because that would be simply lying, and neither deceit nor lies can dwell in God's sight" (Ps. ci, 7). Some people called Christians think it all right to make promises to their fellows which they have neither ability nor intention to meet. We would commend to such the last clause of Rev. xxi, 8, "All liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone."

6. "Suffer not thy mouth to cause thy flesh to sin." One member of the body may cause another member or even the whole body to suffer. We know this to be true physically. It is also true spiritually. See I Cor. xii, 12-27. If we believed this, we would be more careful of others' feelings and watch lest we should thoughtlessly cause another to suffer.

7. "For in the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities, but fear thou God." God said to Abram, "I am the Almighty God; walk before Me and be thou perfect"—margin, upright or sincere (Gen. xviii, 1). Jesus says to us, "Lo, I am with you always" (Matt. xxviii, 20). This fact believed is the greatest possible corrective of one's life if we think of Him as the One who so loved us that He gave Himself for us. Then His love will constrain us to love what He loves and to avoid what He dislikes.

8. "He that is higher than the highest regardeth, and there be higher than they." Oppression of the poor and persecution of the just are among the things of life even in this day. But it is a very old story. David, Asaph and Jeremiah were all distressed by these things (Ps. xxxvii, 1, 2; lxxxi, 3; Jer. xli, 1), but light is found in the context of each passage, and this verse of our lesson assures us that God does care.

9. "Moreover, the profit of the earth is for all; the king himself is served by the field." Nothing lives unto itself; all things exist for the good of all; even the king with all his wealth has to depend upon the produce of the field. No one can truly talk of being independent. The God in whose hand our breath is, and whose are all our ways, in whom we live and move and have our being (Dan. v, 23; Acts xvii, 28), will require an account from us for these things.

10. "He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver, nor he that loveth abundance with increase. This is also vanity." The king who could make silver to be as plentiful as stones (1 Kings x, 27) was qualified to speak upon this subject. A greater than Solomon has advised us that we should lay up treasure in heaven, and by His Spirit has taught us that the love of money is the root of all evil (Matt. vi, 19-21; I Tim. vi, 10). Nothing under the sun can satisfy the human soul, but it is written, "My people shall be satisfied with My goodness, saith the Lord" (Jer. xxxi, 14). "When goods increase, they increase increased that eat them." To possess and enjoy is worth while, but to possess merely for the sake of gazing upon is surely vanity, and yet take out of most lives all that is not truly profitable, and how very little of earthly goods will be left as the portion which gives satisfaction? Nothing under the sun can satisfy the eye nor fill the ear (chapter i, 8), but let us behold our Creator and Redeemer in the person of Jesus Christ.

11. "The sleep of a laboring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much, but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep." Riches are uncer- tain and profit not in the day of wrath (I Tim. vi, 17; Prov. xi, 4), but there are durable riches which accompany right- eousness, even the riches of His grace and glory (Prov. viii, 18; Eph. i, 7, 18), which the poorest laboring man can have without money and without price, and which will cause him to sleep all the more sweetly.

A VICTIM OF WHISKY.

Chaplain Milburn's Story of His Efforts to Reclaim His Son.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., June 2.—Rev. W. H. Milburn earnestly desires that the follow- ing letter be published in the Herald re- garding the fate of his son:

It is hard that the silence which befalls the presence of death should be broken and that the veil should be lifted which be- longs to the sacredness of the family and its relations, but in this awful extremity no other course seems open than that the only earthly possession left me, a good name, should be preserved. My son, Fletcher Harper Milburn, who would have been 40 years of age on my 70th birthday in Sep- tember, was for a long time a victim of the alcohol disease, but last summer spent some time at a retreat in Denver and was pronounced by its authorities perfectly cured, and himself assured me that he had lost all taste for liquor, and gave me the pledge of his honor that he would never use it again.

The assurances gave me immeasurable happiness. Against my earnest and re- peated advice he started on a journey, was two weeks on the way, and seems to have fallen into temptation and yielded. I had given him a letter of strong recommenda- tion addressed to a number of friends in Chicago, and when there at the opening of the World's Fair had interested others in his behalf. When his telegram came on Friday evening last asking to come here my heart failed me, having no home of my own in which to care for him, and I saw what must have happened. I wired and also wrote immediately, stating the condition of the house and family here—my only brother's widow and children in their home, and also my circumstances, narrow and hard—informing him at the same time that a number of my letters awaited him in the care of my friend Mr. Quincy. He said nothing about being penniless, but, on the contrary, wrote just before leaving Denver that he had saved a considerable sum of money, which I supposed was still in his hands. Then came the terrible news an hour or two after midnight.

I have with reverent submission bowed to the will of him whose ways are past finding out. Not seldom was the last cent I then possessed remitted to my son or for his use. But now that he was restored to a sound mind and body he promised to support himself. From that day, believing in his thorough care and the steadfastness of his will, I have used every means in my power, confident that I was justified in doing so by truth and honor, to regain the position in the world he had lost, and to which his energy, business talents and accomplishments entitled him, and my heart glowed with the hope of seeing my sole surviving son filling an honored place among men. My efforts have been un- sparingly his, and I have been under the Government with the hope of success, and meanwhile I tried to find him a situation in Chicago to tide over the period of waiting for a better place, at the same time urging him to remain in Denver until my friends and myself could secure a place for him. With lifted hand I declare before God and the world that I have used my best intelligence and unwavering love to rescue and redeem my son, and in the un- speakable anguish of this affliction I appeal to the kind judgment and sympathy of all sorts and conditions of men throughout the land.

W. H. MILBURN.

P. S.—May I ask that all the newspapers which have published the account of my son's death will kindly give equal promi- nence to this statement.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsville, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervous- ness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my health was gone. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." A trial bottle will convince you. Untold Misery—What a Well-Known Commercial Traveler Suffered, and How He Was Cured.—Gentlemen,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint, until at last time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to im- prove. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed.) T. S. Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity by Dr. Thomas' Elec- tric Oil is carache. The young are espe- cially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affec- tions of the throat, to which the young are especially subject.

AN ENDURANCE WALTZ.

Some Denver Young Men Make an Ex- hibition of Themselves—The Humane Society Called In.

DENVER, June 2.—An endurance waltz that began Tuesday night at 9 o'clock and continued until a responsible dancing academy was brought to a close yesterday afternoon, when ten dancers were still keeping up the dizzy movement after a steady whirl of 18 hours and 36 minutes, by the intervention of the police.

One young man had fainted from ex- haustion, when a doctor entered and begged her son to desist. He was nearly played out, and his young lady partner was holding him up with all her more vigorous strength. Yet he refused to obey the maternal command. Then the mother hunted up Secretary Thompson of the Humane Society, told her story, and he called the police.

During the day the scene in the hall was anything but edifying. Each contestant had the privilege of dancing with six young women, who relieved each other at inter- vals. The young men had to keep up the movement to slow waltz time without a moment's respite. They took refreshment as they circled about the room, holding a bowl of soup in one hand and a partner with the other.

During the last two hours the young women were compelled to fairly hold the young men up, generally grasping them firmly about the waists. When the police stopped the performance George Ivers showed the greatest degree of endurance and the prize was awarded him.
