ALLIED SUCCESSES ARE DRIVING HUNS TO SEEK NEW POSITIONS

CZECHO-SLOVAKS CAPTURE TOWN OF IRKUTSK

WAR, FAMINE AND DISEASE HAVE CAUSED THE DEATHS OF OVER 800,000 RUMANIANS

Heroic Little Country Has Suffered Higher Percentage of Mortality Than Any Other in the Conflict—One-Eleventh of Population Has Died.

Paris, Aug. 16.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Rumania's toll of deaths since her entrance into the war in August, 1916, has been more than 800,000 persons, or about 11 per cent of the total population. This probably is a higher percentage or mortality than in any other country of like size.

War, famine, disease and starvation claimed the largest number of victims, while a considerable portion of deaths were those of prisoners of war who died in the prison camps in Bulgaria, Turkey, Austria and Germany. In Bulgaria more than 20,000 Rumanian prisoners of war, including officers and soldiers, were deliberately put to death. These facts have been brought to Paris by Col. R. Rossetti of the Rumanian army, who has made a study of the subject.

AIR FIGHTING IN PAST WEEK MOST VIOLENT OF THE WAR

Allied Aviators Account for 339 Hun Planes in Six Days.

London, Aug. 17.—Measured by the number of machines engaged the intensity of the fighting and the magnitude of the losses inflicted on the enemy, the fighting in the air during the past week was the most formidable of the war.

Some of the most severe conflicts occurred on August in the sector between Albert and the Amiens-Roye road, where the German air forces were increased considerably shortly after the opening of the allied offensive. The air fighting resulted in the destruction of 48 enemy machines while 17 others were driven down out of control. Fifty British machines did not return.

During the six succeeding days 185 enemy airplanes were destroyed and 89 driven down out of control, making a total of 339 German machines for the week, compared to 123 British airplanes missing.

In the same period British bombing squadrons continually attacked enemy airdromes, railways and other military objectives, dropping more than 320 tons of bombs and causing great damage. Low flying scout machines raked the enemy's congested roads of retreat with machine gun fire, inflicting many casualties.

A notable feature of the air operations was the virtually continuous night and day bombardment of the enemy bridges over the Somme. This greatly hampered the supply and reinforcement of the German troops. The week's work also included a number of destructive raids into Germany.

Senators also were informed that the Russian situation is very bad because of the general complexity of affairs there. They were given to understand that there was not much chance of establishing a real offensive on the eastern front because of the great number of men that would be required.

KAISER SANCTIONS PRINCE'S EXPULSION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—The German emperor has given his sanction to the decision of the Prussian House of Lords in voting to expel Prince Lichnowsky, the German ambassador to England at the outbreak of the war, who in a series of memoirs has declared that the war cannot be laid at the doors of Great Britain, France or Russia, but was the direct outgrowth of carefully-laid plans of the German militaristic ruling class, according to a dispatch received here today. The former ambassador, by a decision, loses his seat in the Prussian House. He is now reported to be living in Switzerland.

CANADIANS OPERATING TANKS OVERWHELMED HUN FORCES

Soldiers From the Dominion Swept Through German Lines, Breaking Down All Oppositoin.

[By J. F. B. Livesay, Canadian Press Correspondent.]

With the Canadian Forces, Aug. 16.—All ranks of the Canadian force freely admit the great part played in the victory by the imperial tanks operating under the commander of the Canadian forces. The tanks are an imperial force, exactly as the Royal Flying Corps, and in both are many Canadian enlisted men. In this battle the tanks went ahead of our infantry, clearing the way, beating out roads through entanglements, overwhelming the enemy trench system, breaking up machine gun nests and even coming to grips with concealed enemy batteries. Here, too, are the humors of war that alone make it endurable. One tank was standing on Thursday at the limit of its objective.

"Why the devil don't you go on! You are badly needed ahead!" cried an excited staff officer as he galloped up.

"No petrol and no paper, sir," was the reply.

"What on earth do you need paper for?" queried the officer.

"We have run right through our map, and want a new one for the most part," was the explanation given.

The tanks are commanded by imperial officers. Each ran his own show, and a gallant and resourceful lot they are. Most of them fought with us at Vimy, and they are our tried comrades.

"We will go anywhere with the Canadians. Such a show as you put on has never been seen in this war," said one of them.

RUSSIA DENIES THAT DIPLOMATS ARE DETAINED

Government Claims It Is Awaiting a Reply From Germany.

London, Aug. 17.—Statements that Entente diplomatic and consular agents have not received authorization to leave Russia are denied in a Russian wireless message received here. The Russian Government, it is added, is awaiting a reply from Germany to the request that safe conduct be given agents wishing to leave Russia by way of Petrograd and Stockholm.

Russia has proposed that British agents be free to leave Russia if similar facilities are given to Ambassador Litvinoff and other Russian officials in England. Similarly members of the French mission will be given such facilities if Russians in France are permitted to leave for Russia together with three members of the International Red Cross and three members of the Russian Red Cross.

Bolshevik Troops Claim Important Successes ni the Volga Region.

Civilians between the ages of 18 and 40 are being mobilized by the Soviets for the construction of trenches.

Bolshevik troops advancing toward Onego Bay have occupied Kiritov in the Government of Novogorod east of Petrograd. It is reported that violent fighting is proceeding on the southern front in the direction of Tcherkask for the possession of the Don Railway bridge.

U. S. AVIATOR KILLED IN UNEVEN COMBAT WITH HUN MACHINES

Paris, Aug. 17.—Sergt. William McKerness of Wallingford, Conn., attached to the Lafayette escadrille, was killed in a flight with eight enemy airplanes on Thursday, according to the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune. The sergeant was flying with a French pilot and their machine was accompanied by two French airplanes. Eight German machines appeared and the French airplanes boldly attacked them. They kept up the unequal fight until the machine in which McKerness was flying crashed to the ground in flames. The bodies of McKerness and the French pilot were picked up within the French lines.

GERMANS SEIZE RUSSIAN PORT OF KRONSTADT

Former Great Fortress Reported To Be in Hands of the Huns.

Paris, Aug. 13.—Reports are in circulation in Finland that the Germans have seized the Russian naval port of Kronstadt, according to a Stockholm dispatch to the Matin.

Kronstadt is 20 miles west of Petrograd at the eastern extremity of the Gulf of Finland. It was the principal fortress of Russia. Reports received through Germany early in the week were to the effect that Premier Lenine and War Minister Trotzky had fled to Kronstadt from Moscow. It was added the other departments of the Soviet Government also would go there.

GERMANY'S GREATEST FLYERS ARE MISSING

Thirteen of Kaiser's Aviators Unaccounted For Since July 1.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Thirteen of Germany's leading aviators have been listed as missing in action since July 1, according to an official dispatch from France, received here today. The aviators who have been thus listed, and the number of Allied machines which they were credited with bringing down are:

The German crown prince already has bought two places at ridiculously low prices, and is said to be negotiating for another.

ALLIED PRESSURE FORCING GERMANS BACK TO THE NEW HINDENBURG LINE

Paris, Aug. 17.—The Germans are preparing to evacuate the Roye-Lassigny-Noyon salient, says the Echo de Paris. It is indicated, the paper adds, that German pioneers and laborers are at work behind the German front lines on a new Hindenburg line.

The German position in Roye is serious. Not only are the Allies a mile and one-quarter west of the town, but the roads leading out of it toward Peronne, Nesle and Noyon are under the fire of Allied guns.

FRENCH REACH OUTSKIRTS OF LOGES WOOD SOUTH OF ROYE

Paris, Aug. 17.—In the region south of Roye, French troops have made further progress in the Loges Wood, and have reached the outskirts of the wood on the east, says the official statement from the war office today. There was heavy artillery fighting west of Roye during the night.

Northwest of Ribecourt the French have repulsed two strong German attacks.

The enemy efforts were directed against the Monolithe and Carnoy farms. A German raid northwest of Rheims failed. The statement reads:

"In the region west of Roye there was heavy artillery activity during the night.

"South of the Avre, French troops continued to make progress in the Bois-des-Loges, and reached the eastern outskirts of the wood.

"Between the Matz and the Oise we repulsed two heavy enemy attacks against Monolithe and Carnoy farms and maintained our positions.

"Northwest of Rheims an enemy raid near La Neuvillette was without results.

BRITISH TROOPS GAINED FURTHER GROUND NEAR VIEUX BERQUIN

London, Aug. 17.—British troops have gained further ground in the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin, at the apex of the Lys salient, says the official statement from Field Marshal Haig today.

In Picardy, British troops have made additional progress, says Field Marshal Haig in his official statement today. The British lines have been pushed eastward north of the Amiens-Roye road and north of the Ancre.

The text of the statement reads:

"The pressure of our troops north of the Roye road and north of the Ancre continued, and progress has been made by us in both sectors.

"In the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin our patrols had sharp fighting yesterday, and further encounters took place during last night. Our troops made progess in this sector and in the neighborhood of Merris and have taken prisoners.

"The hostile artillery has shown considerable activity about Mount Rouge and Scherpenberg and in the vicinity of Zillebeke Lake."

The Loges Wood, five miles south of Roye, also has been penetrated deeply by the French.

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS BY BRITISH.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The British Thursday evening repulsed a strong German counter-attack at Damery, and today, in cooperation with the French, made substantial progress in the direction of Fresnoy-les-Roye and Franscart, according to the report of Field Marshal Haig's headquarters in France, issued tonight.

South of Albert, the British have advanced their line slightly in the region northeast of Morlancourt, according to the early official statement today.

Further to the north further progress has been made by the British, who have pushed their patrols eastward on the three-mile front between Neaucourt-sur-Ancre and Puisieux-au-Mont.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

LAYMAN ON GENESIS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Those who are in the habit of railing at the "higher criticism" as an essentially destructive system of truth will take cold comfort from a sage remark made by Dr. McCrae while commenting on some of the opening verses of the book of Genesis in the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning last. He said, in effect, that the book, including the opening chapters, had an intrinsic spiritual value that was inestimable, ever new, and which is wholly independent of the results of modern criticism, and the mere exterior literary form. All the great vital truths expressed therein in symbolic terms such as: the tree of the knowledge of good and evil; the tree of life; the river of life that flowed through the earthly paradise; the serpent; the flaming sword, etc., were universal and permanent in their nature and teaching, and were still in harmony with the best religious thought of the day.

Such sane teaching, if accepted, should act as a tonic to many who have allowed their respect and veneration for the Bible to decline because of the changed attitude of the critical world toward the historical verity of the early Genesis record. It would also enable many to avoid the clumsy and unscriptural doctrine often paraded by open-air orators, such, for instance, as the childish view recently aired here regarding the nature of God. The speaker condemned with loud-affected ridicule the orthodox view that God is a spirit, he himself claiming that the Divine Being has a physical nature, and from which even our bodily lineaments were copied. It is wholly unnecessary to combat such a grotesque and absurd view. It only betrays a complete lack of spiritual insight as well as ignorance of the meaning of literary forms and expressions on the part of those who lacking such insight, yet have the hardihood to pose as spiritual "instructors" of the public and "expounders" of God's word. BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in homes where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if these troubles come suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

LAMBTON COUNTY'S INSURANCE SCHEME HELPS THIS MOTHER

An Englishwoman Will Get $1,000 for Son's Death.

IN NEED OF THE MONEY

She Wrote Asking if There Was Anything, and Got Glad News.

A striking incident of the present war was related by Major C. O. Fairbank of the local military headquarters staff at Wolseley Barracks today. Pte. Arthur Howell, a young Englishman of 27 years of age, enlisted in the 24th Battalion at Point Edward, shortly after the outbreak of hostilities. He was promoted to the rank of lance-corporal while serving at the front, and was killed in action on April 11 last.

Mother's Inquiries.

A short time ago, Major Fairbank received a letter from the dead soldier's mother, who resides in Norwich, England, asking him if she was entitled to any patriotic fund allowance owing to her son's death in the service, he having informed her before his death, that in case of such an unfortunate happening she would be entitled to such a grant.

Had $1,000 Insurance.

Major Fairbank immediately communicated with the Lambton County clerk at Sarnia, regarding the case, and was informed by him that Lance-Corp. Howell had been insured by the county of Lambton for $1,000, the policy being in favor of his mother. The county had been in the habit, according to the clerk, of insuring all boys who enlisted in that district, and the young hero was insured in the State Life Insurance Company.

Will Be Welcome.

Major Fairbank has written to Mrs. Howell in England acquainting her with the facts, and the insurance policy will be paid to her in the near future. From the text of the letter received from England it would seem that the mother of the dead soldier is in straitened circumstances, owing to the fact that another son was killed at the front, just three years to the day prior to Lance-Corp. Arthur Howell's death, and the glad news that she will receive about £200, will no doubt aid materially in lightening the burden of the brave little mother in England.

"EXTREME PENALTY" MEANS TWO YEARS FOR OLD DESERTERS

Those Who Fail to Surrender in Time Liable.

In connection with the notices appearing in local papers, inserted by the Dominion Government, calling upon deserters, and defaulters under the military service act, to report to their respective units before August 24 or suffer the "extreme penalty of the law," the local military authorities yesterday informed The Advertiser that the extreme penalty does not mean the infliction of the death sentence.

It simply means that such men under this classification who do not surrender themselves under the new amnesty, when apprehended will receive the heaviest penalty possible, which with a district court-martial is two years in civil prison, and with a general court-martial means death, if the sentence is confirmed at Ottawa. No death sentences have been meted out in Canada to date for military offences, the military authorities being of the opinion that a long term in prison for deserters apprehended serves their purpose as a deterrent to others contemplating a similar course.

In Military District No. 1 it is reported that many deserters and defaulters under the military service act are taking advantage of the recent amnesty, and are escaping punishment for their offences by reporting to the military authorities here. These men are taken on the strength at the local mobilization centre, and are treated as recruits, being posted to their original units without punishment. This amnesty expires on August 24, after which all such military offenders will be dealt with as pointed out above.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO HARVESTERS.

There is every probability that Harvesters' Excursions to Western Canada after August 22 will be cancelled. Those intending to go west should leave on the first excursion.

Dates of sale: From Toronto and east and north August 20; from Toronto and west and south August 22.

Canadian Northern Railway Special Trains leave Toronto Union Station 10:00 p.m., August 20 and 22. R. L. Fairbairn, General Passenger Agent, Toronto, Ont. Aug.21

THURSDAY IS DOLLAR DAY IN THIS CITY

Merchants Decide To Hold Big Day Next Thursday—Huge Success Expected.

Every dark cloud has a silver lining. Even the dark cloud of high prices, which is hovering above the buying public during these war days. The silver lining that will show soon is Dollar Day which will be staged in London on Thursday, August 22, by the Merchants' Association. Dollar Day needs no introduction to the people of London and district. It has proven a huge success on other occasions to both the merchants and the people.

This huge success of Dollar Day is due in no small part to the wonderful co-operation of the retail merchants of London, who have worked together in an endeavor to make is a success. Bargains that were real bargains, worth going miles to get, were offered by these merchants in practically every line of business, and the people appreciated them. This was evidenced by the wonderful turnouts made even in the height of winter and in zero weather.

This Dollar Day Association of London is somewhat different from that of other places in that it is made up entirely of London merchants who work together in getting streamers, tickets, etc., of a standard size and color. The most important thing from the standpoint of the customer, that is outside of the purchasing power of a dollar on Dollar Day, is the Treasure Chest towards which every merchant in the association contributes. This time there will be $250 offered in prizes, and every person making a purchase has an opportunity of winning a prize. These prizes run from $1 to $25, and as there is a number of them to be distributed each person making a purchase will have an excellent opportunity of being a winner.

The Advertiser will as usual offer a novel prize to Dollar Day purchasers. This will be announced in The Advertiser on Monday. Watch for it. It will be well worth your while.

WEDDING BELLS

An interesting wedding took place today in St. Andrew's Church, Strathroy, when Miss Mary Isobel McKellar, B.A., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dougall McKellar was united in marriage to Rev. James McCrae, B.A., B.D., pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Petrolea, and youngest son of Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae of this city. The ceremony was performed by the groom's father. The church was prettily decorated with golden glow and daisies.

The bride was attired in a navy blue traveling suit and carried a bridal bouquet of orchids. She was assisted by her cousin, Miss Ruby McKellar, a bride-elect, who wore a gown of silver grey georgette crepe with picture hat of silver lace, and carried pink roses. Adrian McDonald, M.A., of Toronto was groomsman and Miss Nellie Watson of Strathroy played Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" during the ceremony. Alex. McKellar and Gordon McCrae, soldier brothers of the bride and groom respectively, were ushers for the occasion. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when about forty guests of the contracting parties partook of a dainty luncheon and offered their good wishes to the happy couple, who left later for Sarnia and sailed on the Noronic for the upper lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. McCrae will return to Petrolea in September.

M. J. Maitland has received official word that his second eldest son, No. 90985 Driver A. J. Maitland, artillery, has been admitted to No. 2 Canadian Hospital, with gunshot wound in the left arm, August 4.

Driver Maitland enlisted May 18, and went to France June, 1916, since when he has been serving continuously.

IMPROVE QUEEN'S PARK

Fair Board May Have Charge of Park and Buildings Also.

Not only may Queen's Park be taken from the control of the utilities commission and handed over to the Western Fair board, but the control of the buildings may also be handed over to the board. At the present time they are controlled by the city.

Controller Little is the father of the movement to centralize the control of the exhibition grounds and park under one body instead of having three dabbling at it.

The fair board has a number of plans for the park and it is understood it will make quite a change if it gets full charge.

Work on erecting the new Egerton street entrance for autos is now proceeding.

THIRD TIME WOUNDED

Mrs. Shannon, 227 Victoria street, this morning received word that her brother, Pte. B. W. Carter, a son of Albert Carter of Thamesford, had been wounded. This is the third time his name has appeared in the casualty list. The advices from Ottawa say that he has been wounded in the arm. Pte. Carter was wounded in the leg in October, 1916, and in almost the identical same place in April, 1917. On that occasion he had just reached the trenches after nine months in the hospital. He enlisted with one of the district's pet battalions, and has been in France ever since with the exception of his period of convalescence and one leave of absence for fourteen days.

TEACHERS' REPLY ON DEFIANCE STAND IS NOT AS YET OPENED

Committee May Not Meet for Some Days To Read It.

SITUATION INTERESTING

Officers of Guild Are Asked To Repudiate Stand of the Organization.

Secretary R. McElheran of the board of education has five interesting letters lying on his desk. They are unopened. They are the answers of five teachers to the questionnaire put to them by the teachers' committee of the board. This questionnaire asked if they were in sympathy with the attitude of defiance which the Teachers' Guild adopted to the board in regard to charges of discrimination. The five teachers who were summoned to appear before the committee were given a week to state in writing whether they approved or not.

The situation is interesting. The committee took care to point out that it was dealing with the five as employees of the board. It was not recognizing the guild. The next interesting fact, however, is that of the five who appeared before the committee, one was the president and the other the secretary of the guild. Two others are believed to be high in the councils of the guild as they were the guild's delegates to the National Council of Women. They are alleged to be the ones who fired the shots at the Women's Council and with such force that a resolution of censure, charging the board with discrimination, sprang into existence, and judging from subsequent events, raised the ire of the members of the board not a little.

For these facts the replies which are now in the hands of the board are interesting. The president of the guild and the spokeswomen of the guild must say "yes" or "no" to a question dealing with a policy or a declaration of policy with which they, as officers of the guild, must have had something at least to do with.

However, the public must curb its impatience as it is going to be some little time before it will know what the teachers' answers are. There are some members of the committee holidaying, and Chairman J. S. Barnard states that he does not believe it will be able to get together to open the letters until perhaps the middle of next week.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

Two Who Made Restitution Given Another Chance.

Mrs. Jenny Metcalfe, who accepted $33 on a 33-cent check from a local bank some time ago, has made restitution, so sentence was suspended by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon this morning. Mrs. Metcalfe was found guilty in court some weeks ago and was remanded on bail for sentence.

Restitution having been made by a youth, who stole a wheel in East London some time ago, he was allowed off on suspended sentence.

Grandmother Gave It To Mother, Mother To Me, I To My Baby

Read what Mrs. Wm. Gray, Jacquet River, N. B., has to say about Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. She writes: "There is no medicine I know of that can come up with Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has been in our house for forty years. My grandmother gave it to my mother, she to me, and I to my baby. For summer complaint it has no equal. I never miss a chance of telling my neighbors about it. I would not think it safe to go to the country in the summer without a bottle of it. It has saved us many a doctor bill."

For the past 72 years, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been recognized by both the people and the medical profession as the greatest remedy known for all cases of diarrhoea, dysentery, cramps, colic, pains in the stomach, cholera infantum, cholera morbus, seasickness and all bowel complaints.

There are so many spurious "strawberry" preparations on the market today that it would be well for you to see that the name, "Dr. Fowler's," is on every bottle you buy.

Our guarantee, that it will do what we claim for it, stands behind every bottle. But the imitations—what is their record, where the guarantee?

KAISER GIVES IN TO AUSTRIA ON POLISH QUESTION

Emperor Charles Takes Strong Stand and Wins Out.

London, Aug. 17.—Germany has made concessions to Austria on the Polish question in consequence of the strong stand taken by Emperor Charles and the Austro-Hungarian Government, according to information received by the correspondent of the Daily Mail at The Hague, to which the Mail gives much prominence.

It is possible there will be no personal union of the crowns of Poland and Austria, but the king of Poland is certain to be an Austrian archduke, says the correspondent, who adds that the discussion at German main headquarters had the following basis:

The Germans demanded that Austria send to the western front from ten to fifteen divisions of picked troops, confining themselves to the defensive on the Italian front.

Emperor Charles' Demand.

Emperor Charles and his advisers made the counter-demand that Germany make further declarations regarding Belgium, guaranteeing evacuation, restoration and indemnity, make a powerful movement in the direction of peace, and that the Polish question be solved in a manner favorable to Austrian wishes.

The advisers of the Austrian emperor, it is declared, emphasized that the opposition of Austrian military and public opinion to the transfer of troops to the western front was universal. The opposition could only be quieted if the government was assured of Polish support, which could be obtained by securing from Germany concessions on the account of Poland, and if the public could be shown the German Government had been influenced in the direction of another strong effort to obtain peace. Short of this, Austria would not send troops to the western front.

THE WAR SITUATION

New York, Aug. 17.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following:

Roye, the central bastion of the German defence line from Peronne to Noyon, which has withstood allied thrusts for nearly a week, is menaced by advancing French, British and Canadian troops, and its fall would appear to be a probability of the next few hours.

With the town in allied hands, the southern end of the German line at least undoubtedly would have to retire, although the northern end, through Chaulnes to Peronne, would be affected. The Allies are now but a scant one and one-quarter miles west of the town, while they are pressing eastward in the north and in the south.

Along a front of nearly nine miles north and south of the Avre, which flows through Roye, the Allies have pushed back the enemy in stubborn fighting. The most notable advance was made on a front of three miles in the centre by French and Canadian troops, who now are fighting in a line through Goyencourt, St. Mard-les-Tricot and Lauconnt. St. Mard is west of Roye, and there are no villages in the intervening mile and a quarter.

Allied Successes.

French troops on the south have forced their way almost through the Loges Wood, which borders the Roye-Lassigny road on the west. The wood is five miles directly south of Roye, and it would appear that a further advance might enable the French to outflank both Roye and Lassigny and force the Germans to readjust their lines eastward toward Noyon and probably beyond. North of Goyencourt, British forces, after having repulsed an enemy attack on Dumery, in which 250 prisoners were captured, are pushing eastward with French units toward Fransart and Fresnoy-les-Roye.

Artillery activity continues on the remaining sectors of the main battlefront between the Ancre and the Oise. The British on the northern end and the French on the southern maintain their newly-gained positions and the enemy has shown no disposition to attack.

German Gas Again.

Berlin reports officially that allied attacks on both sides of the Avre on Friday failed. The German war office has nothing further to say of the withdrawals in the Lys salient and along the Ancre. Admission of the loss of Attiche Farm, southwest of Noyon, to the French is made, but it is said that six French attacks against Lassigny on Thursday were repulsed.

American and French troops along the Vesle have undergone an attack in which the Germans used gas, artillery and bombing aviators. This attack followed an incursion by American aviators, who heavily bombed German bridges over the Aisne and discovered enemy artillery and machine gun nests. The German airplanes were brought down by American airmen Thursday. British and French airmen on the same day put 32 enemy machines out of action, while Berlin reports the destruction of 24 allied airplanes.

Italians Repulse Attacks.

Italian troops in the Tonalee region, northwest of Lake Garda, and along the south Piave have withstood Austrian attacks against their new positions on these sectors. Otherwise the situation is unchanged in Northern Italy. Spain, which recently sent another note to Germany protesting against the destruction of Spanish merchantmen by submarines, is reported to have notified Berlin that hereafter the Spanish Government will make up losses sustained through U-boats by seizing German shipping in Spanish harbors. German vessels to the number of 90 have found refuge in Spanish territorial waters.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain in the Back are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

A CANADIAN NAVY REVIVAL?

CERTAINLY, BRITAIN has been able to keep the German navy hawsered to its docks or anchored in various basins. The overwater damage done by the navy of the kaiser has been usually beyond the power of the grand fleet to prevent. The home navy and the Australian navy cleaned up this menace to world shipping, although serious delay was caused through the necessity for sending warships from English bases to reach, for instance, the isolated group of German war vessels commanded by von Spee. The Australians cleaned up their own waters with their own navy.

Recently the Canadian naval question has been reopened for debate because of the presence of one or more submarines off the Atlantic coast. Much has been said pro and con. What might have been is usually the basis of argument, and the old contentions are being advanced as to the necessity of having a Canadian navy. The advance in shipbuilding methods has shown definitely that Canada could have constructed a good sized navy since war began, and those who were advocates of a Canadian navy are now confronting the Government with its tardiness in naval affairs since war began. Writing to the Toronto Star, J. W. Wilkinson, late R. N. A. V., give his views as a naval officer as follows:

> With reference to the correspondence which has recently appeared in the press, with regard to naval matters, I would now like to add one or two remarks upon the same subject, which have been suggested by recent events.
> In view of the fact that German submarines have for some time past and are still operating with a moderate degree of success on this side of the Atlantic, off the coast of the United States, it was only reasonable to expect that sooner or later we should be subject to the unpleasant experience of discovering their presence in Canadian waters. This has been forcibly demonstrated in the Bay of Fundy, when our fishing fleets a few days ago became an easy prey to the German U-boat. Another instance was as recent as August 5, when the Lux Blanca, after a three-hours' battle with a submarine, was torpedoed and sunk, about thirty miles east of Halifax, and two of her crew killed. Notwithstanding that we thus have the enemy in our own waters, performing deeds of piracy and destruction at his own free will, without let or hindrance, as far as Canada's ability to defend herself is concerned, we read in the newspapers that the naval department at Ottawa calmly makes the statement that "all steps possible are being taken to meet the situation," and that a fleet of submarine chasers from the United States and British navies had put off after the enemy submarines. Are we to understand from this that Canada still refuses to assume any responsibility whatsoever as regards naval defence, but merely assumes the right when attacked by German U-boats to call for help to the United States and British navies? What greater proof is our present Union Government waiting for to make them realize that the great need of Canada today is a navy of her own? When we remember the indifference displayed by Canada in the past with regard to her naval responsibility, any thoughtful person must surely look on with amazement that even after four years of war, and the enemy sinking our ships at his own free will in our own waters, that no action appears to be considered necessary for our Government to take in the way of providing a navy for our own protection. Had Great Britain supinely looked on and treated the matter with the same indifference that Canada has and is doing, I can only say that we should have lost the war, which would have meant the enslaving of practically the whole civilized world.
>
> J. W. WILKINSON,
> Late R.N.A.V.

The Canadian navy, the completion of which the Borden-Bourassa alliance of 1911 rendered impossible, would have been a wonderful nucleus for a much greater navy. Its construction would have come about before the war, and the mariners along our coasts would have been trained to man the ships. With the cruisers and destroyers planned under the Canadian policy, a vast contribution would have been made to the machinery for the convoying of ships and the destruction of submarines.

THE VIEW OF HOLLAND.

THE ATTITUDE of Hollanders towards the Germans is summed up in an interview given by a prominent Hollander in New York: "The German people, as well as the kaiser, have made themselves hated by us." The reason is that neither the people nor the kaiser play the game.

Germany cannot force a decision in its favor on the field of battle. It must accomplish this by negotiation, and abide by what it can get. It has not been able to subjugate the world, and every day that passes makes it more certain that if the war is fought to a finish, that finish will be a victory for the Allied nations.

The whole world is against Germany, as the Italian poet-aviator, De Annuncio informed the Austrians in the message he dropped from his aeroplane. It is not only the nations actually fighting them, but any nations still remaining neutral. Their attitude is with Holland—hatred of the Germans and their kaiser for their unfairness.

GREAT BRITAIN AND AMERICA.

SIR AUCKLAND GEDDES, minister of national service in Great Britain, is proud of what Great Britain has accomplished in the war, proud of every branch of the service, proud of every man and woman. He is greatly pleased by the part America is taking in the war. "With all the pride of his Scottish decent he means to see to it that Britain's strength in proportion to her population shall not be beaten by America."

General Smuts recently said: "It may not be long before the American army in France will be as large as those of France and England put together."

Sir Auckland Geddes says: "Yes, the men of England are all in it, and so are all our women. We rejoice, too, in the colossal effort of America. I myself know parts of America fairly well; and I know that when America puts her hand to the plough, she will never look back until the furrow is driven true and straight. We have only one rivalry with America, and that is to see that she does not do more to win the war, per head of population, than we are doing, and if she does—well, good luck to her! We will take off our hats all right. We are out to win. Let us see who can do the most for the common cause. We had the start all right, but America is still fresh, whereas, we are not so fresh as we were."

The cause is one of world-wide humanity. Years ago Martin Farquhar Tupper wrote of England and America:

> "Oh, brothers, could we both be one,
> In nation and in name,
> How gladly would the very sun,
> Lie basking in your fame!"

It looks as if the poet's dream might come true. It looks as if Great Britain and America would form an alliance that would soon be joined by France, Italy and the other allied nations, to secure peace for all time to all mankind.

A PUBLIC POOL FOR LONDON.

WHILE THE WRITER watched a travelogue picture of Banff at a local theatre the other day, he was impressed with the wonderful swimming pools which were shown.

Why not, came the thought, a fine swimming pool somewhere in London or Springbank Park? A place with every modern requirement, every device to make the place interesting and every dollar necessary to keep it at the top notch of cleanliness and attractiveness would be a boon to the whole city.

We have not in mind a pool roughly constructed, with match boxes for dressing-rooms, and a certain reek of stale towels about the place. A shining, tiled place, with spotless appointments, and uniformed, intelligent attendants as instructors, with abundance of clean towels and bathing suits and water that was always clear and always of a proper temperature—that's the only thing for London whether private capital or the municipality should take it up. And our advice would be that such an undertaking should be municipal; and while a pool might be located either in the city or at Springbank Park, perhaps even at both places, it should be worthy of the city.

Thousands of people would patronize such a place at Springbank Park. For winter bathing quite as many would take advantage of the chance even in winter. The city and Springbank have an abundance of sulphur water, but any kind of water would be welcomed by those who cannot take the time or cannot afford to go to Lake Erie more than once or twice a year.

Under municipal ownership a moderate charge could be made for maintenance. This should not cost a great deal, and the adoption of the idea would result in the development of the fine acquatic sport and accomplishment under safe conditions. A great many of London's finest swimmers learned their tricks at the old sulphur baths.

When the application of the police court stenographer for a salary increase was before the finance committee on Wednesday night it was declared by one alderman that the council could not revise the estimates. The official in question, it was said, had been on the job long enough to know this. The council itself is to blame for mid-year applications for salary increases. Certainly it should not make meat of one and flesh of another. If the council deviates from its alleged policy for one it should not raise a cry because some other employee attempts to take advantage of the precedent it created.

"PUNCH" ON TITLES.

[Journal of Commerce.]

The recent wholesale conferring of titles in Great Britain, especially the voluminous list of "Members of the British Empire," has done much to weaken whatever respect there was for the system under which such honors are granted. The average Englishman does not adopt the radical hostility to all such honors. If used sparingly, and with something like intelligent discrimination, the system might still be approved by many who, while not enthusiastic in the matter, are disposed to regard it as a legitimate means of giving recognition where it is deserved. But there is a very general complaint that in many cases honors have been given to people who have done nothing particular to deserve them, while many men who have rendered great service have been ignored. The consequence is that the whole system is being discredited, and, as the London Chronicle remarked, the value of the honor to those who have really merited it is much diminished. Punch is not a radical journal, not one disposed to belittle any institution of the British people. When we find that famous weekly joining in pouring ridicule on the honors list, we may be sure that it is giving expression to widespread public opinion. In a recent issue, "O. S."—Mr. Owen Seaman, the editor of Punch—has some verses on the recent distribution. We quote a part:

> Others in manhood's prime were tempted
> To challenge fate across the foam,
> But I preferred to be exempted,
> And help my country nearer home:
> I felt that I could better serve her
> By noble deeds this side the sea;
> And now they've recognized the fervor,
> And made me M. B. E.
>
> I had a friend who took a fancy
> For the delight of battle-shock—
> And, being shelled to bits in France, he > Got his discharge—a hopeless crock.
> How was he paid for all that racket?
> He got no ribbon—only three
> Gold stripes on his discarded jacket,
> While I'm an M. B. E.
>
> And when my child shall ask me, "Father,
> What did you do to win the war?"
> I shall not give details, but rather
> Expand my chest a little more,
> Saying, "Observe this decoration,
> Conferred on just a few like me,
> As tribute from a grateful nation,
> I won this M. B. E."

MOLLY PUTS IT OVER.

By Imes MacDonald.

It sometimes happens that beauty and brains do not happen to the same girl, so when Fred Barton brought his new girl home to dinner one night his mother and sister were much disturbed, for Molly Stanbury was perfectly, insipidly lovely.

Fred had had other girls in his youthful career, some of whom were good-looking and some of whom were not. All in their turn had been passed upon by Mother Barton and Sister Jane—and found wanting. However, it is doubtful whether this had anything to do with the failure of those romances to develop into matrimony, for Fred had perfect confidence in his own talents as a picker of winners. This is one of the fallacies of youth. Besides passing on those sweet young things, for whom Fred seemed disposed of his own accord to fall, Mother and Jane further added to their bit as Fred's romance arbiters by trotting out at various times several of Jane's "the-dearest-girl-in-the-world" friends who were exposed to the indifferent Fred without result, for that ungrateful young brute loved them not. And now he had picked a brainless beauty, who would "just ruin his life."

"She's a rotten card player," twinkled Barton Senior that night, when Fred dropped into his father's study for a smoke after having taken her home, "but she is sure a little beauty, son!"

While at that identical moment Mother Barton sat on the edge of Sister Jane's bed and literally groaned for her beloved son's future happiness.

"Men are such fools!" she said. "Take a shapely girl with nice hair and eyes, and they fall like an angel cake when you slam the oven door!"

"She hasn't a brain in her head—that girl," opined Sister Jane, who was—well, skinny—and just loved to teach school.

But Molly, in her own room, with her shining hair in two pigtails down her back, stood before her mirror and inspected her pulchritudinous self through tragic eyes. Something was the matter with her. They had been perfectly lovely to her, Fred's mother and sister, but although Molly was entirely too lovely to have good sense, she was murmuring to herself.

"They don't like me!" Why—why don't they like me?" The lovely figure in the glass didn't know the answer to that, so Molly turned out the light and wandered toward her bed.

"They don't like me," was the first thing she said to Fred the next evening.

"Who does?" demanded Fred, trying to adjust his own ordinary brain to the new topic under consideration.

"Your mother and sister."

"Rot," said Fred. "They fell all over themselves. They think you're great! How could they help it?"

"But they don't," insisted Molly.

"What put that into your head?"

"Well, I just know they don't."

"How do you know?" Men insist on being logical.

"I feel it!" And Fred was being introduced to intuition, which is another term for hunch, and women without brains specialize in it.

"For one so young," grinned Fred, "you have a very mature imagination."

Whereupon it was necessary at this point to pursue the fleeing Molly and give her the kiss she deserved, so that some time later Molly's horrified mother found these two young things planning a quiet wedding to take place within a week.

So it happened that Fred told his employer the next morning that he guessed he'd take his next summer's vacation right then.

"What's your hurry?" asked the old man.

"Getting married," admitted Fred.

"Anybody I know?"

"Molly Stanbury."

The old man laughed delightedly and patted the proud Fred on the shoulder.

"Good boy. But say," he said, "old Gragin will be sore. He's always bragging about Miss Stanbury. Says she's the most level-headed private secretary that ever bossed her boss Going on a trip?"

Fred nodded.

"Well," he offered, "if you'll go to Cleveland and put over that Clayburne contract we'll call it a three weeks' job, and you can have your summer vacation, too."

And so it came to pass that Molly and Fred, happy, though married, climbed aboard the limited for Cleveland, gaily intent on the only real honeymoon that ever happened. For no matter how commonplace other lives might get to be, they looked into each other's eyes and knew that theirs would be different. Strangely enough, when they returned and started housekeeping in their little apartment, they were still of the same mind. Then came that most notable of events—the family's first dinner with the newlyweds. Fred had instructions to come home from the office early that night if possible, but he was so late that Mother Barton, Sister Jane and Dad were already there when he arrived.

Molly dropped everything at its most critical stage and danced out of the kitchen to fling herself shamelessly into the ready arms of the stalwart Fred, hugging him with a long, eager kiss, as if those who looked on did not exist. Fred's mother would have taken him to task for being late, but Molly leaped to his rescue, explaining that her experience in an office had made it clear that things were bound to occur at the last moment to make men late for their dinners.

And Molly's dinner was a thing to dream about. The modest appointments of her table were set with exquisite taste. Her salad was perfectly beautiful as well as edible; her meat loaf was a great success, as was the pudding and the cake that accompanied it. The cake could not have been duplicated by Mother Barton herself, and Dad Barton's heart was entirely captivated by the quality of Molly's cookery and the lure of her demure youth.

"Molly, you're some grand little old cook," said Fred's father fondly.

"Why shouldn't I be?" said Molly innocently. "Mother taught me a good many things at home, and I took a domestic science course at night school. I learned efficiency and management in my work in the office. Besides, I've been planning for this job all my life because I hated office work, and I knew I was intended for just this sort of thing. My ambition has always been to be a housewife.."

And that night Mother Barton sat on the edge of Sister Jane's bed.

"Fred's a mighty lucky boy," she said. "That child's a wonder."

"You'd never think it to look at her," conceded Jane. "But she's got brains. Molly has. You know what a time we always had managing Fred, but she's got him eating right out of her hand."

"I only hope it lasts," signed Fred's mother.

So you see that a change of mind is much easier than a change of heart.

Finds Cure For Rheumatism After Suffering Fifty Years!

Now 83 Years Old — Regains Strength and Laughs at URIC ACID.

Goes Fishing; Back to Business, Feels Fine! How Others May Do It!

"I am eighty-three years old, and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over fifty years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures,' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Mr. Ashelman is only one of thousands who suffered for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false theory that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced him and legions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatments. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints, by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know that Uric Acid never did, never can and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe, and that without it we could not live!

HOW OTHERS MAY BENEFIT FROM A GENEROUS GIFT.

These statements may seem strange to some folks, because nearly all sufferers have all along been led to believe in the old "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out this truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," a remarkable book that is now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of The Advertiser wishes a copy of this book that reveals startling facts overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a postcard or letter to H. P. Clearwater, Fifth street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return mail without any charge whatever. Send now! You may never get this opportunity again. If not a sufferer yourself, hand this good news to some afflicted friend.

TEDDY POSSUM TAKES A NAP AT THE WRONG TIME.

It was a big mistake for Bobby Skunk and Teddy Possum to have a race sucking eggs in Farmer Jones's hen roost that night, for both those rogues got reckless. And, to make matters worse still, Teddy Possum robbed the nest of a setting hen who was hatching fourteen fancy eggs of a famous breed, which cost Farmer Jones one dollar apiece. And Farmer Jones expected to get a big prize at the State Fair for the exhibition of those beautiful chickens. But Teddy Possum never stopped to think that these chickens were to be prize-winners. So he ended their career right there.

Teddy Possum never stopped to think that these chickens were to be prize-winners.

And Farmer Jones and his family and Ranger, were all asleep this dark night. But all of a sudden Bobby Skunk fell over a box in reaching for some eggs, and it made a big noise, and the noise woke up the big dog, Ranger, and he began to bark.

Bobby Skunk darted out of the little opening and scampered across the fields to get home. But Teddy Possum decided to use his tail and hide in the hen house. So he climbed up near the roof and wound his wonderful tail around a pole, and swung himself into a little box which was fastened near the roof for a setting hen. But the old hen had hatched her chicks, and the box was empty. So Teddy Possum hid in this little box, and he decided to lie low until Ranger stopped barking.

There was a soft nest in the little box, and it was so cosy and comfortable that Teddy Possum took a little nap. You see, he had eaten so many nice fresh eggs that he felt very sleepy. Teddy had a nice nap, and he dreamed of hens, roosters, chickens and fresh eggs. But suddenly he awakened with a start, for he heard the door of the hen house open with a bang. Teddy was terribly frightened. You see, he had over-slept, and he knew that he might lose his precious life. And he trembled all over with a great fear in his little heart.

And he heard the big voice of Farmer Jones exclaim: "What thief has been here tonight? I wish I could catch that little imp, for I would wring his neck!"

And Little William came into the henhouse, and he was awfully excited, and gasped: "Father, look at all the egg-shells! One Skunk, or Coon, or Possum couldn't eat so many eggs in one night! There must have been more than one. Let's call Ranger, and perhaps he can follow their scent."

ANNA HELD IS DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Rare Spinal Disease Followed by Fatal Attack of Pneumonia.

BEGAN AS STREET SINGER

A certain local interest centres in the death of the actress, Anna Held, since the first engagement she was obliged to forego on account of illness which resulted in her death last week was when the musical comedy "Follow Me" came to London in the spring. Her daughter Liane, who was understudying her mother at the time, appeared in her stead.

After facing death for several months, during which she fought hard against the grip of what was thought at first to be pernicious anemia, Miss Held finally succumbed on August 12 in the Hotel Savoy, New York.

Miss Held had been ill since April of a rare malady known as myeloma, a disintegration of the spinal marrow, and her condition was reported several times as critical. She rallied repeatedly, however, and until attacked by pneumonia a few weeks ago was regarded as on the road to recovery. Her physicians said that only her remarkable will power had prevented her from succumbing long ago.

A Personality Rather Than an Artist.

Throughout her American career, Anna Held ranked rather as a stage personality than an artist. Her histrionic gifts were as slender as the fashionable French figure of 25 years ago, of which she was a much-photographed exponent. Her voice was small, but her eyes were large. She used them with Gallic animation, and indeed her whole bearing was chic and sprightly.

Much of her original popularity was born of one of the most successful press-agent yarns in American theatrical history. The music-hall star of the boulevards was accredited with a prediction for milk baths. Some forty quarts of the lacteal fluid daily were said to be essential to the maintenance of her health and complexion. Interest in the tale never flagged. It was longer lived than the story of Mrs. Patrick Campbell's nerves and the tan-barked streets.

Moreover, the fertile mind of the press agent, presumably responsible for the exploitation of Anna Held's fondness for milk baths, appreciated the value of a certain amount of authenticity in his "copy." A court case actually came up in which the actress was sued for failure to pay for one day's precious 40 quarts.

Her American Debut.

About 22 years ago Anna Held was brought to America as the result of a London hit, which she had made at the Palace Music Hall with the song, "Oh, Won't You Come and Play Wiz Me?" It was the first number she had ever sung in English, and her quaint accent and the Parisian mockery of her manner were much admired in vaudeville. Her American debut, of which the little song was a special feature, was made in connection with a revival of the breezy Charles H. Hoyt farce, "A Parlor Match," with Charles Evans and "Old Hoss" Hoey as the chief comedians. The Auditorium Theatre, now the Casino, was the scene of her first Philadelphia appearance in the piece. "Bill" Hoey's repeated references to the star's milk were hilariously greeted.

Anna Held's early career reads like a typical romance of stage life. She was born in Paris in 1873 of a French father and a Polish mother. M. Held opened a little restaurant, but it was not remunerative, and Anna at the age of nine worked at cleaning and curling feathers, at making buttonholes and fur caps. At her desk she interested her associates by singing street songs with a piquancy which suggested a certain stage sense. Her father died in a hospital and her mother, having relatives in England, took the girl to London, where eventually she secured a position in the chorus at the Princess Theatre. She could not speak English, but she had learned French, German, Polish and Spanish, and occasionally she offered song specialties in these languages to the London audiences.

Career Began at Age of Twelve.

At the death of her mother she was left alone at the age of twelve. She joined a theatrical company bound for Holland, and gave chansonettes in the Dutch music halls. Her personality found favor and she achieved further successes in Norway and Germany. At the age of sixteen she made her Paris debut and almost immediately became a footlight favorite. Her London success followed, and it was at the Palace that Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., first heard her and induced her to come to America.

After "A Parlor Match" Anna Held toured the country in the then popular "animated song sheet" given on a bill with Chester Bailey Fernald's one-act Chinese play, "The Cat and the Cherub." The next season she joined the road tour of the English musical comedy, "The French Maid," playing the title role. Subsequent productions, all musical comedies, in which she was starred were "Papa's Wife," "The Parisian Model," "Mlle. Mars" and "Miss Innocence." During 1916 she spent several months in France, appearing for the benefit of soldiers in camps and at hospitals. Her return to the American stage, from which she had been absent for several years, was made in "Follow Me," given last season at the Lyric Theatre. She has not appeared here since that time.

The Franco-Polish star was married to Florenz Ziegfeld, but was subsequently divorced. She leaves a daughter, Liane Carrera, who is on the stage.

The young couple left for a motor trip, taking in Windsor, St. Thomas and other points east, returning their home south of Wroxeter, where they will be at home after September 1.

RED CROSS AND C. W. C. A. COLUMN

Prisoners of war departments have been organized in the province of Ontario. the extent of whose districts correspond to Military Districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3. Their headquarters are as follows: Miss Dorothy Gunn, Hyman Hall, London, Ont.; Mrs. Carpenter, 30 Hess street S., Hamilton, Ont.; Mrs. J. C. Galway, 270 Cooper street, Ottawa, Ont.

A gift of $480.91 has been received at Toronto headquarters, representing a collection in aid of the C. R. S. S. taken up at Belle Isle, U.S.A. The donors towards this little gift were almost entirely working people, mostly of the poorer class, many of them being foreigners whose native lands suffered at the hands of the Hun. Even little children have contributed their nickels, cents and dimes. "Nothing," says the gentleman who sent the money, "could have been more affecting than the whole-hearted eagerness with which so many of these people, young and old, contributed their quota to the little collection. It was all done in ten minutes. The hat was passed round to receive the willing shower. You have there the dime of the poor Armenian woman whose husband and sons are now at the front; the hard-earned dollar of the old Frenchman, who remembers the fair vineyards of other days; the half dollar of the Belgian boy; the dollar of the Jew, and the little all-dime of the American child, given with eager outstretched hands and swimming eyes. I felt that here before me was epitomized simply and absolutely the whole deep, sincere love and sympathy of the American people to the Canadian and British peoples to whom their ineffable debt of gratitude could never, never be wiped out; gratitude for the magnificent course which they unhesitatingly took in the great cause of human freedom."

A message from the French Republic, through Monsieur Justin Codart, deputy for Lyons, France, who came to Canada to carry to patriotic workers a message of gratitude from the French people:

"The Canadian Red Cross Society has rendered wonderful service to France. "By its generous assistance, especially in respect to the hospital at Joinville, where the Laval University Medical Unit is stationed, and by the sending of thousands upon thousands of cases filled with supplies which have been distributed in our hospitals, your great society has woven between Canada and France new bonds of love and brotherhood.

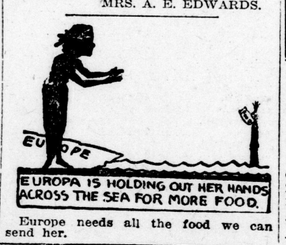

"By their gifts of money, whether large or small, your members have shown that they intend to take a personal part in the great war.

"By knitting and sewing garments for our wounded men, the women of Canada have given their support to the noble cause which the Allies are defending against German barbarism. On the day of victory for our arms, the Canadian Red Cross Society will be entitled to a place of honor.

"In the name of France, I offer to the Canadian Red Cross Society our heartfelt gratitude for all it has done already and for what it will continue to do until victory shall crown the colors of the Allies."

The fourth annual meeting will be held in the Masonic Hall on Thursday afternoon, August 22. The reports for the year will be presented. The meeting will be addressed by Sir John Gibson of Hamilton, and Major A. Kirkpatrick, returned prisoner of war.

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 18, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.
(By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)
Working in the church. Acts ii., 41-47; iv., 32-35; vi., 2-4.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

18.—Chap. vi: 2-4. Did the apostles do well, or not, and why, to divide the church into two orders, or would it have been better to have added to their number, dividing the whole work among them?

19. Why is it necessary for men who minister to the physical needs of the people to be "filled with the Holy Spirit?"

20. How much more successful is a minister, other things being equal, who spends much time in prayer, than one who spends less time in close communication with God?

Golden text: Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise; give thanks unto Him, and bless His name.—Psalms c: 4.

ALL OUR POWERS SHOULD BE DEVOTED TO GOD.

Every true Christian craves worship; he loves to be among the people who do worship. Whenever he is in a strange city he is glad to be among the people of God, and our church services should be so that every individual can take some part in them and use his devotional powers to help in the public worship of Almighty God. Not only in church, but always, and everywhere, our powers should be devoted to God. We should cultivate the spirit of thanksgiving, and practice singing his praises. We should thank Him and bless His name. This should be done privately, and in our homes, and with the people with whom we mingle, and especially we should do this when we meet with the people of God. The church of the future should provide a means for everybody to take part.

NATIONAL SERVICE WORKERS DISBAND AFTER BUSY SEASON

Farmerettes Loath To Leave Camp.

After six weeks of hard work during the hottest days of the fruit-picking season, the national service workers have disbanded. After the raspberry season was over the young farmerettes pruned raspberry bushes, which was perhaps the hardest work they had done during the season. Girls were never more loath to leave a camp than these farmerettes were to leave the W.C. T. U. camp, of which Mrs. Harrison was the hostess. All kinds of farm work was done during the six weeks, including weeding and hoeing corn and pruning bushes.

WYOMING.—A very pleasant lawn party took place Wednesday evening, August 14, when Mrs. Kidd entertained the members of the "Currie" Club. The evening was spent in games and music. As Dr. and Mrs. Kidd are leaving in two weeks for London, the girls took this opportunity of expressing their appreciation for all Mrs. Kidd has done towards making their first year as a patriotic society a success. An address was read by D. Brittain and N. Middleton presented Mrs. Kidd with a silver pie casserole and pie knife, with all good wishes from the girls. Mrs. Kidd made a suitable reply. Mrs. Kidd will be greatly missed by the "Currie" Club, but the girls feel that what will be their loss will be another's gain. Mrs. Kidd served a very dainty lunch at the close.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Socks for Somebody.

Dear Cynthia,—Have been a very interested reader of "the page" for some time and enjoy it very much. I am inclosing a stamped envelope for the stocking foot pattern. Would like the address of a lonely, as I have two pairs of socks for somebody in need of them.

BUSY MOTHER.

Ans.—Kind heart, I could not find your envelope inclosed. Did you forget it, or did I accidentally destroy it? I hope to receive it, for there are several pairs of feet just aching for those socks.

Mildew on Curtains.

Dear Friend,—In times of distress turn to Cynthia Grey. Can you tell me how to remove mildew from voile curtains? The mildew is not recent, and it covers a large area. Gratefully,

MAW.

Ans.—One method is to dip the stain in soap suds, then spread with equal parts of soap and powdered chalk; place in the sun for an hour, rinse thoroughly, and repeat if necessary.

Another way is to dip the stained part in a weak solution of chloride of lime and expose to the sun; rinse thoroughly afterwards. I do hope one of these ways may prove efficacious.

"Cherry," This For You.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am returning the patterns to "Cherry," with many thanks for same, and would ask you to put a note in the Mail-Box asking "Cherry" to please tell me what is wrong with my duplicate of the daisy edging. I don't seem to get the start of the daisy right. I wonder if she would be kind enough to tell me in the Mail-Box? I will send along my sample and she can tell me what is wrong with it, please. Well, it is so hot we are nearly all melted.

Am sending you another envelope, so if you come across a few more patterns, I would be pleased to have them, especially a lace or edgings suitable for tiny tots' underwear. I remain a grateful

TWO LITTLE GIRLS' MOTHER.

Ans.—"Cherry," I hope you may see this mother's letter. Shall welcome a response from you. If anybody else has a few edging patterns, an envelope awaits them here.

Becky Ann's Thanks.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you kindly give "F. M. V." my many thanks for her kindness in sending the canning recipe for peas. Hers was the very one that I was wanting, and it came just in time. I have seventeen quarts of peas and beans canned, and they are just fine. I was so glad to get that recipe, for it was so successful last year, and I hope I may be able to do a return favor for "F. M. V." sometime. Sincerely yours.

BECKY ANN.

Ans.—So glad, "Becky," that the recipe reached you in time. Your canning shelves must look very interesting.

Little Datura's Box.

Little Datura,—There are regular boxes for overseas parcels. Many of the grocery stores keep them and usually the stationery shops. But a biscuit box does if that is more convenient. When packed wrap securely in brown paper, place a layer of corrugated cardboard over this, and, lastly, sew the cotton (unbleached factory) around as tightly as possible. A strip of white cotton, starched, makes a good label. Indelible ink is best to use. Make two labels and sew on after printing the address plainly.

The overseas cake would be fine, but don't ice it; oatmeal cookies (unless put in twos with jam) would be rather dry, I fear; gum, milk chocolate, maple sugar, lump sugar, small jar of honey, fancy assorted biscuits, camp coffee, etc., are all good to send. A package containing court-plaster, medicated powder, boracic, tooth and shaving paste and soap, is usually welcomed by the recipient.

Maybe Not the Last.

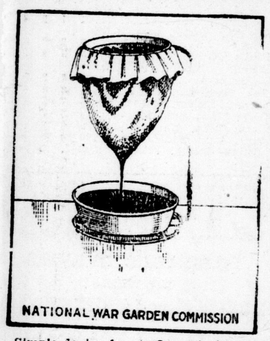

Dear Miss Grey,—This is the first time I have entered your useful column, although I am a regular reader. Could you send me the address of a lonely soldier? You will find inclosed stamped and addressed envelope for same. Yours sincerely, GOLDENROD.

Ans.—The name will be in your possession by this time. Now don't let your first visit be the last, "Goldie"

PHYSICALLY UNFIT.

My sight is bad and though my body's sound,
The great adventure which my soul has craved
Has been denied me; I'm by fortune bound
To live my life in peace until the grave.

What unkind fate has decreed that I stay
While all my friends receive the chance to die
For freedom's cause? What inconsiderate day
Did herald in my life with one bad eye?

But, if my sight is bad my vision's not,
For I can see quite clear my future life,
When the return of every patriot
Shall cut my heart like some relentless knife.

I see the day when our heroes return;
And like the man who gazed on blazing Rome,
And was content to let the city burn,
I know they'll think I tried to stay at home.

What would I give to sacrifice my life
And help the Allies fight Hun armament?
What would I give to take part in the strife?
But no! I am exempt! I am exempt!

What shall my answer be to my young son,
When he asks me if I have done my bit
In the great war? What shame in years to come,
When I must say, "I'm physically unfit?"

If you call me a gol darned hic
I'll sue you and you'll lose
For I can't hic I have found out
Without a flask of booze.

Because a player of the Rosedale Golf Club of Toronto made a record by doing a hole in a single shot, he was called upon to pay for a dozen drinks and a box of cigars to celebrate the achievement. Glancing at his pocketbook after the incident, the golfer decided in future to steer clear of breaking records.

John McGraw cannot understand why baseball is to be adjourned for the duration of the war in the United States. The inability of John to understand is shown by the fact that without baseball, his weekly pay envelope will become more weakly than ever.

CITY CHAMPIONSHIP BOWLING TOURNEY TO BE PLAYED AUG. 26-27

A meeting of the bowling clubs of the city was held last night at the Thistle Club for the purpose of outlining arrangements for the club bowling championship of London.

President C. B. Laur was elected chairman of the committee since the competition will be held this year at the north end club's lawns.

The championship series is a two-rink competition, in which 21 ends constitute a game.

It was decided to make a draw of the six clubs for a preliminary round and to play that portion of the competition on Monday evening, August 26, and then play the semi-finals on Tuesday, August 27, at 3 p.m., with the finals in the evening at 7 o'clock. D. B. A. rules will govern.

The draw brought St. Mathew's Club against the Thistles and the Bowling Club against All Saints in the preliminary. The winners will be drawn the next day to play off with the Elmwoods and Asylum Club rinks.

This series is a classic locally, and brings out the very strongest rinks that the six clubs can muster. Last year the following Thistles defeated the Elmwoods in the finals:

A. J. Smith, G. H. Backus, C. B. Laur, C. K. Bluett, skip; F. L. Willgoose, W. T. Douglas, N. H. Keen, A. M. Heaman, skip.

BINGOES AND TORONTO BOTH TAKE GAME

ROCHESTER, Aug. 16.—Toronto defeated Rochester 7 to 5 today in the first game of the series. Wilkinson was spiked in the sixth inning and gave way to Hagen in the ninth. The latter passed the first batter and four hits followed, giving the Leafs three runs and the game.

Score—	R.	H.	E.
Toronto	7	10	4
Rochester	5	10	2

Hersche and Howley; Wilkinson, Hagen and O'Neill.

HAMS GIVE POOR SUPPORT

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—Pat Donovan's athletes were away off color today and gave Aichelle very poor support, no less than seven errors being charged against the Hamilton team, and to make matters worse the Bisons got Aichelle for fourteen hits, and Hamilton's chance of victory faded away early in the game.

Score—	R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	14	3	2
Hamilton	5	10	7

Steffen and Bengough; Aichelle and Hopper.

BEARS FALL TO BINGOES

NEWARK, Aug. 16.—Binghamton defeated Newark here today by a score of 2 to 1.

ORIOLES DEFEAT COWS

BALTIMORE, Aug. 16.—The Orioles took kindly to the pitching of Lynch today and defeated Jersey City 5 to 4. A homer in the ninth inning by Zwilling broke up the game. Egan also made a circuit hit.

Jersey City	4	9	0

FRANK BULL KNOCKS OUT LISNER AT THE HAMILTON CONTESTS

Williams of London Defeats Gallagher in Three Rounds.

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—There was some little excitement at the boxing bouts at the arena this evening staged under the auspices and for the benefit of the G. W. V. A. This was caused when Frankie Bull knocked Scotty Lisner to the floor in the third round of the last bout of the night. Lisner was declared out by the referee, but his supporters afterwards crowded round Bull and his seconds and demanded the bout to continue. There looked to be some prospect of trouble, but the officers interferred. The bouts were fairly interesting, but were mostly of the no-decision order.

The results were as follows:

Pte. Gallagher, A. M. C., was defeated by Pte. Williams, 1st Depot, in a three-round bout. Gallagher was given the decision.

Eddie Harding, R. F. C., had an easy time in beating Sergt. (Darky) Daniels, M. D., No. 7, in a three-round bout.

Sergt. Deney Freeman, Pacific coast lightweight champion, secured a shade decision in his bout with Red Gallagher, amateur lightweight champion of Canada.

Bobbie Eber of Hamilton had no trouble in disposing of Kid Max in a three-round event.

Sergt. Gibbs and Kid White entered the ring for a three-round bout, but put up such a poor exhibition that they were chased out.

NEW SWIMMING RECORD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 16.—A new woman's record for swimming across San Francisco Bay from the foot of Broadway, San Francisco, to the Alameda mole, was made here today by Miss Katherine Flaherty of San Francisco. Miss Flaherty swam the course of five and one-half miles in 2 hours 26 minutes 20 3-5 seconds.

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—Word has been received here that Lieut. Cadotte, well known as a hockey and lacrosse player, was killed in action on Friday last. Cadotte was a member of the 22nd French-Canadian Battalion, and went overseas about two years ago. When in Montreal Cadotte played hockey for the Wanderers.

RED SOX TAKE FINAL CONTEST FROM CHICAGO

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Bush outpitched Cicotte today and Boston won the odd and last game of the series from Chicago, 2 to 0. Hooper's single, Shean's infield hit, and Strunk's triple scored one run in the first. Coffey's single and Mayer's double scored the other run in the second. Coffey's fielding was excellent. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	0	5	0
Boston	2	8	0

Cicotte and Schalk; Bush and Mayer.

TIGERS OVERCOME SIX RUN LEAD IN 16 INNINGS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Entering the ninth inning with a lead of six runs, Harper, pitching for Washington, weakened with the result that Detroit was able to tie the score, and in the sixteenth inning the Tigers made two runs, while the local team could make but one, and won the game 8 to 7.

Harper was knocked out of the box in the ninth inning, after five runs had been made, but Shaw, who relieved him, issued two passes, which forced over the tieing run. The winning runs in the sixteenth inning were the result of errors by Foster, who missed Harper's grounder, booted Bush's low hit and then threw wildly to the plate.

The score:	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	8	16	3
Washing.	7	14	3

Kallio, Jones, Cunningham and Spencer; Harper, Johnson and Ainsmith.

MACKIES GET SHORT END

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—Davenport for the second time in three days pitched St. Louis to victory over the Athletics today, 5 to 2. The Browns bunched hits off Johnson in the fourth inning and fifth inning, three of their five two-baggers coming in these innings. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	5	12	0
Philadelphia	2	6	1

"JOCK" HUTCHISON MAKES BIG SCORE IN GOLF MATCH

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Golfers today congratulated Jock Hutchinson, professional, at Glen View Country Club on his remarkable performance yesterday, when he played the 6,178-yard course in 64, 10 strokes under par, in a match with a club member.

The first nine holes, 3,162 yards, were covered in 30 strokes, eight under par, and said by statisticians of the game never to have been equalled in this country. Par was bettered by one stroke on eight of the holes and equalled on one.

ST. FRISCO, DRIVEN BY ED GEERS, HANGS UP WORLD'S RECORD

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—A world's record for trotting stallions was hung up by St. Frisco, driven by Ed. Geers, in the free-for-all event, the feature of the closing day of the Grand Circuit meeting here at Belmont track today. St. Frisco won the race in straight heats, with Lu Princeton second and Miss Bertha Dillon third.

In the first heat, pushed hard by Miss Bertha Dillon, the stallion stepped the half in 1 minutes and the mile in 2:01¾, equalling his own world's stallion record, made last year. St. Frisco won the second heat in 2:04¾, and the third heat in 2:03, and in the three heats lowered the world's record for three heats made by Etewah at Lexington in 1916.

How to Write Dr. Hirshberg to Get Most Helpful Replies

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG.
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

So many of the large number of letters that come to me from readers of this newspaper request advice without giving complete, but, of course, brief descriptions of the ills which trouble them, that I am sometimes puzzled, and time for my good friends is lost. Therefore, let's all just sit down for a moment together and talk over the best way to write that you may receive the most helpful replies.

In the first place, as you know, there are two ways in which answers may come to you:

First, you need not give your name nor your address. Sign some uncommon name or initials which you will recognize. Your answer then will appear in the "Answers to Correspondents" column that follows each of my articles.

The other—the second—way, is for use if your trouble is one that shouldn't be described in the column for everyone to read. In this way you will, of course, appreciate a personal, private letter. To receive such a letter it is necessary to give your full name and address, and, without fail, to inclose a return envelope, addressed by you to yourself, and bearing a 3-cent stamp, all ready for posting.

Now, here's the way to describe your ailment so you may be helped without loss of time. Don't write as M. H. did in a recent letter:

"Can a heart murmur be cured? If so, how? Have many cases of this nature been cured?"

No satisfactory answer can be given to such an inquiry, because there are many different varieties of heart murmurs. If M. H. had described in a very few words that his condition had been diagnosed as "mitral insufficiency" or "aortic stenosis," or had written in simple, everyday language, "I'm in perfect heart—or if not, describing how he felt—and have been told I have a heart murmur by a doctor," a precise, brief and valuable answer could have been instantly supplied.

Avoid, if possible, the use of popular, home-made, household and advertised names of ailments. To employ such phrases as "I have uric acid in the blood," "biliousness is my trouble," "acute indigestion killed my father; what would you have given him to have saved his life?" is to defeat your hope and my wish to assist you.

Avoid Misleading Names.

Let us suppose you have an ill that is precisely described by the following, then you should write:

"My knee joints are red, swollen and painful. My elbows and knuckles were so, but are better; now it has spread to my hips."

Such a simple description gives definite facts to assemble, classify, diagnose and judge. It is then possible to give you an appropriate, well-fitting treatment.

But if you write—as many do—that you suffer from "rheumatism" or "neuritis," it is necessary to decide between many kinds of joint canditions, flat feet, prostate disease and other disorders often foolishly included in that home-made name "rheumatism."

In other words, when you write, describe in detail just how your trouble affects you. Don't use such words as "indigestion," "lump," "cramps," "asthma," "rheum," "itching scalp," "barber's itch," "ovarian trouble," "blotches," "eczema," and all the others.

Describe Troubles Simply.

Now, here is a typical letter which made it necessary to question the writer half a dozen times, and caused a delay of many weeks before definite advice—which cured the gentleman—could be given:

Dear Dr. Hirshberg,—

You have helped so many and refused rewards and compensation, but I am more than able to pay you, so please accept the inclosed check with my compliments. I have had the eczema for fifteen years. I know of several whom you have cured, so pleaso cure me.

CHARLES O——
Fifth Avenue, New York City.

The check was, of course, instantly returned. Also he was instructed as follows:

"Please describe the location, the color, dryness or moisture, itch or pain, crust or matter, elevation or depression, thinness or thickness of the eruption."

This gentleman wrote again. This time he sent a larger check, but although evidently intelligent and obviously wealthy he still defeated his own purpose with these words:

"My eczema is on the inside of the leg, from which it sometimes spreads to the adjacent tissue. At present it isn't itching me, and it is not as troublesome as it has been."

Had he at first written: "There is an elevated rash with a sharply defined margin that is dry, scaly, is inclined to clear up a little now and then, to itch sometimes and to spread by contact"—as he did on the fifth letter—and if he hadn't guessed it was "eczema," I could have told him at once that his trouble was ringworm on the groin, curable with white precipitate ointment, massaged in and left on a few nights.

In place of such expressions, "I am nervous," or "My husband is a neurasthenic," or "I have psychaesthenia," it will quickly bring the more efficient remedies if you will describe—briefly, without repetition—just what your trouble really is.

Here is an oft-repeated inquiry: "What can be done for hemorrhoids?"

Better to say: "A few shot-like or grape-sized hemorrhoids project always or at times; itch or bleed, never trouble me except to project, are not painful—or are painful." These exact, but brief, descriptions will bring a precise and helpful answer. The former request necessarily brings only a general reply.

The "headache" query, to be sure, arrives almost as often as any other. "You tell us to avoid those blessed alleviations of headaches—the coal tar, pills, capsules or powders," begs one intelligent woman. "What, then, are we to do for headaches?"

Glad to Help.

She ignores the facts and the deeds needed, to wit, that she ought to describe just where, what kind, duration, extension and quality of the headache she has. When and how often does it assault her? Does it endure or is it dull, sharp, shooting, still or radiating? Does she sew, use glasses, write or work under artificial light at a desk?

In fine, then, to use names or send in snapshot guesses is to cause confusion and delay.

Thoroughly helpful advice can be given you if you will please describe in your first letter just what your trouble is.

Don't think you "trouble" me by writing as often as I can help you. This is just what I am here to do for every reader of this newspaper.

Answers to Health Questions

S. T. B.: Q.—Will you please tell me what to do or tuberculosis?

A.—There is only one way to treat tuberculosis, and that is to live in a dry climate, eat eggs, meats, greasy foods, cream and a plentiful diet. Take no medicine or alcohol. You should not treat yourself, but you should be in a sanatorium for your own benefit as well as those who are around you.

MRS. F. J.: A.—Your question is of a personal nature. If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with your query repeated, I will be very glad to give you the desired information.

ANXIOUS. Q.—Will you please tell me what to do in order to get a little color into my cheeks?

2. I would also like a remedy for removing pimples.

A.—Persons who eat green vegetables, fresh fruits and obtain lots of exercise rarely have rosy cheeks. You must not allow yourself to become constipated, either. Massage your cheeks with some good cold cream or cocoa butter, and also rub ice on the face to stimulate the circulation.

G. B. S., London, Ont.:

Ans.—If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your query repeated, I will be glad to answer your questions.

Dr. Hirshberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirshberg, in care of this office.

Birds are excellent barometers. A number of our birds—swans, wild ducks, coots, moorhens and others—build their nests either on the banks of a river or floating on its surface attached to the reeds or water grasses. These birds, it is said, never by chance get caught by floods, and if you see a swan's nest, say, a foot above the river level you may be sure that during the next few weeks there will not be rain enough to raise the river above that height. The common robin knows a great deal about forthcoming weather. If he sings in the morning it is a certain sign of bad weather.

TWO "ORIENTAL" GOWNS

Oriental Touches Frequently Seen

By Annette Bradshaw.

From the artistic point of view, nothing is so beautiful as the long, loose robe, moulding itself to the posture of the figure and revealing all the natural loveliness of outline that the tight-fitting garments repress. The beauty of the oriental costumes lies not alone in their wonderful colorfulness, but also in the softness of outline given by draperies which hang from the shoulder.

A slight touch of this oriental influence in American fashions is seen in the modern blouses or guimpes. The one shown here at the left is a rose crepe de chine, falling softly from the shoulders. The upper part is decorated with plum-colored ribbons, and is embroidered in little squares in plum and rose. It is worn with a skirt of plum-colored satin.

The gown at the right shows the square-cut Chinese jacket, most becoming to the young girl of slender build. It is of plain blue serge, square in the neck, but the stiff lines are artistically contrasted by the introduction of big circles of blue embroidery in front of the bodice. Outdoors, this loose garment is worn with a pleated skirt of similarly colored blue. But it can be made part of a charming indoor costume by being worn over loose pajamas.

KITCHEN ECONOMIES

BY ISOBEL BRANDS
OF THE APPLECROFT EXPERIMENT STATION.

Here Are Five Delicious Breads Made Without Yeast.

There are a number of breads—not of the hot bread variety—which taste quite as good as yeast bread, but do not require the yeast and the amount of trouble which the yeast bread involves. These breads can be made within an hour, or a little more, and as they are served only when cooled off, they are more wholesome than the quick breads which must be served hot.

Quick Nut Bread.

2 cups of whole wheat flour
1 cup of white flour
¼ cup of sugar
¾ cup of chopped nut meats
5 teaspoonfuls of baking powder
1½ teaspoonfuls of salt
½ teaspoonful of soda
¾ cupful of hot water
½ cupful of molasses
½ cupful of milk

Sift together the dry ingredients, then add the liquids, mix well and put into a greased bread pan. Let stand for fifteen minutes, covered, then bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

Dark Bran Bread.

2 cupfuls of bran
2 cupfuls of entire wheat flour
1 teaspoonful of salt
½ teaspoonful of soda
5 teaspoonfuls of baking powder
½ cupful of molasses
¾ cupful of water
¾ cupful of milk

Sift together the dry ingredients, then add the bran, molasses, water and milk and beat thoroughly. Put into the bread pan, cover, let stand for fifteen minutes, and bake in a moderate oven one hour.

Peanut Bread.

3 cupfuls of flour
1 teaspoonful of salt
3 teaspoonfuls of baking powder
½ cupful of sugar
1 cupful of peanut butter
1 cupful of milk
1 egg

Sift together the flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Then add the milk, in which the peanut butter has been dissolved, and the well beaten egg. Put into a greased pan, cover, let rise for twenty minutes. Then bake the bread in a slow oven from 40 to 50 minutes.

Barley Bread.

2 cups of barley meal
1 cup of graham flour
1 cup of white flour
1 tablespoonfuls of sugar
2 cups of milk
1 teaspoonful of salt
6 teaspoonfuls of baking powder

Sift together the dry ingredients, then add the milk and mix well. Put into a greased bread pan, cover, and let stand for fifteen minutes. Then bake in a moderate oven from 50 to 60 minutes.

Raisin Bread.

2½ cupfuls of whole wheat flour
½ cupful of cornmeal
6 teaspoonfuls of baking powder
1 teaspoonful of salt
¼ cupful of sugar
1½ cupfuls of milk
1 cupful of raisins
1 egg

Mix and sift well the dry ingredients. Then add the well-beaten egg, milk and raisins and mix thoroughly. Put into the greased bread pan, cover, let stand for fifteen minutes. Then bake the bread in a moderate oven for 50 minutes.

One of the most enterprising Parisian theatre managers has opened two cellar theatres, one for each of his two houses. The regular performance begins in the upstairs auditoriums. But if the alarm is sounded for an air raid the audience is invited to adjourn to the cellar, where the play goes on. One of the cellars dates from the days of the revolution and is near the Palais Royal.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Madge Dreamed, Hoped and Feared As She Held Lillian's Child in Her Arms.

"Miss Sonnet! Hurry!"

The low-toned call in the physician's voice came from old Mrs. Morton's room. Katherine was on her feet at the first word. At the last she was almost at the door, throwing a quick command over her shoulder at me.

"Send Lillian up. You'd better stay with Marion."

I ran down the stairs noiselessly and across Lillian's wonderful scarlet and white living-room to the rose-hung boudoir where I had left the child asleep in her mother's arms. As I entered, on tiptoe, Lillian stirred slightly.

"What is it?" she whispered.

I bent over her and explained Katherine's message in a low monotone which I am fortunate in being able to use. I have found it to be far less disturbing to a sick person than a whisper. And there is little or no danger of awakening a sleeping person with its use.

"Help me get up," she whispered.

Marion was lying cuddled close to her mother in such a fashion that there was great danger of awakening her if the mother's arms were withdrawn. But I comprehended instantly what Lillian wanted me to do. She wished me to substitute my arms for hers, to cuddle the child in the same fashion, so that the little thing even in sleep should not miss her.

With infinite pains we made the substitution, and before Lillian left she looked down at us with a gaze that I shall always remember. There was a great love for her child in it, but there was something else, comprehension, aye! and comparison also for me.

She did not kiss either of us, for both she and I feared a single awkward movement might awaken the sleeping child. But the long look she gave us was a caress and a benediction.

In another moment even the frou frou of her skirts had grown indistinct, yet another, and I could hear no sound in all the house save the child's soft, even respirations and my own rather hurried breathing.

And then the waters of Marah closed over me.

For Marion, still restless, even in her sleep, threw one litle bare arm around my neck, cuddling her tiny hand into my hair.

"Mamma, mamma," she murmured sleepily, and then was off into slumberland again.

And I, quivering with the old, old longing that never could be stilled, lay staring out into the long years in front of me, years which might never be blessed to me with the touch of childish fingers.

The Mother Accolade.

With my arms strained around the soft, childish figure of my friend's little daughter, I tried, foolishly enough, to lose myself in the illusion that it was really my own child in my arms, that I, too, had been given that accolade of a woman's life—motherhood.

But to no avail. Little Marion, dear to me, beloved, was still my friend's child, not mine. And I found that it was torture to pretend.

Another thought, insidious, black, crept into my mind. Even if Dicky, always prejudiced against children, should change his feelings upon the subject, would I now want to bring into the world the child of a slacker?

It was a bitter thought, an awful thought, but as it crept unbidden into my mind, so it remained, even against my protest. Because he was just old enough to escape conscription. Dicky had stood back and seen all his fellows march away to the great war.

Is Madge Thankful?

Alfred Durkee was but one of these who had gone. Even Frank Lester, the man I liked least, the man I had always characterized as a "bounder," was in the aviation corps, while his wife and child were with her people, fortunately possessed of enough means for comfort while he was away.

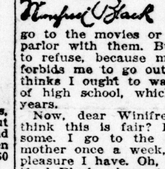

Only Harry Underwood and Dicky remained of the old, merry crowd. Harry Underwood was little better than a traitor, if he wasn't actually a conspirator against his country, while my husband—what was the reason that kept him puttering around illustrating an aviation serial when his comrades were giving life and everything that makes life worth living to the cause of world freedom?

For the first time I felt thankful that I had no child. Better to have empty arms all my life than some day to look into my child's face and to find there contempt for its father.

WINIFRED BLACK

Writes About "Lonesome's Letter."

Copyright, 1918, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

Dear Winifred Black,—I am a girl, 16 years old. As I go to high school uptown, I have few, if any, girl friends in my own neighborhood. I know two or three boys of my own age, though, who have asked me to go to the movies or to the ice cream parlor with them. But I always have to refuse, because my mother strictly forbids me to go out with them. She thinks I ought to wait until I get out of high school, which will be in two years.

Now, dear Winifred Black, do you think this is fair? I get awful lonesome. I go to the movies with my mother once a week, which is all the pleasure I have. Oh, please, dear Winifred Black, please tell me what am I to do?

Do you advise me to go out with them on the quiet or wait until I finish school?

LONESOME.

That's just one of them—only one. There were three others in the same mail, and all from young girls, and every one of them a moan of despair.

One girl of 16 feels that life really isn't worth living. She says she's afraid some day she will settle down to the river bank and "end it all."

Her mother makes her wear her skirts two inches longer than any of the other girls wear them, and people laugh at her, and she just simply cannot stand it another minute.

It's All So Real.

Another is from a girl of 17, who has a sister of 15, and she had to wear her sister's old hats trimmed over, and everybody knows they're not new—and at home they treat her just as if she were a "mere child."

Oh, of course, they're good to her, and all that, but she's tired of petting and coddling, and being called darling, and having to go to bed at 10 o'clock every single night, and never being asked to moonlight picnics or to go starlight canoeing or anything.

And if her family doesn't soon wake to the fact that she's a woman and no longer a silly child, she's going to run away and earn her own living, and come back some day a great actress, and be very cool but pleasant to those at home who tried so hard to "keep her down."

Don't laugh—don't you dare to laugh!

It's all so serious to them, and if they aren't very, very careful, any one of these cases might turn out to be serious for everybody.

Now, there's this poor little girl who goes to the movies with her mother once a week, and never, no never, can go out with any of the boys, even to get ice cream for a few minutes at the corner drug store.

She feels just as tragic about refusing the lure of the ice cream cone, as you would about refusing a trip to China, or a brand-new diamond necklace, or a $7,000 limousine.

As far as she's concerned, ice cream and moonlight, and fudge and roses, and boys and compliments, and notes and romance, and mystery and charm, are all part of the great game of life, which she is longing so hard to play.

She's like a little chicken just pecking its way out of the shell—she's interested in everything, even in the hawk that sweeps on strong pinions high above the chicken yard.

How strong he is, how fearless, how graceful—if she now could only fly like that—swoop!—look out, little chicken, run, run, the hawk will get you if you don't!

There, now, don't you realize that there really was some sense in what your mother told you about hawks, after all?

Be Patient—Be Good.

Now, about Lonesome. No, Lonesome, I don't think you ought to slip out and go to the movies with the boys, when your mother has forbidden you to do so.

I don't blame you for being lonesome, but it's better to be lonesome than it is to be sorry all your life, and that's what you might be if you began telling fibs to your mother now.

Dear me, Lonesome, what's your hurry, anyhow? You aren't out of high school yet. Don't you know that life hasn't even begun for you?

You must learn to creep before you try to run.

When you are at the movies with your mother on that one day of the week when you go, do you never see somewhere in the audience a haggard, miserable creature, shabby, down at the heels, forsaken? Whisper, little Lonesome, the very first step that led her into the wretched road she follows today was the step that made her fib to her mother.

Be patient—be good. Life is long; you are going to have lots of fun before you die, and some day you'll be very thankful to your mother for keeping you a little girl as long as she could.

And let's all be very patient, and very loving with the girls who are just beginning to feel that they are women.

And, whatever we do, let's never, never laugh at them.

Some jokes hurt worse than any scolding in the world.

Good Night Stories

WILLY WOODCHUCK'S LESSON.

Willy Woodchuck lived with his mamma and brothers in a lovely furrow at the edge of a clover field.

Like most Woodchucks, they were little sleepy-heads, and Willy was the laziest of them all.

"Better hurry before the sun gets too hot," said Mamma Woodchuck one morning. "You know you don't like hunting breakfast when it's so hot."

"I don't have to hunt," replied Willy Woodchuck sleepily. "I know where to get my breakfast."

"I do hope you won't go into Farmer John's garden again," his mamma exclaimed. "It's not so much what you take, but the thought that you're taking something belonging to another."

Then Mamma Woodchuck, followed by her children, left the burrow, leaving Willy Woodchuck still in bed.

When the last sound of their footsteps had died away, Willy Woodchuck rolled about in the burrow to get the cramps out of his joints, then he slowly crept out into the fields.

From the tree tops Jimmy Crow greeted him with a merry "Caw!"

"Better run and wash your face in the brook," cried Jimmy Crow. "Get the sleep from your eyes, or you'll never be able to find any breakfast."

"I know where to get my breakfast," snapped Willy Woodchuck, who wasn't in a very good humor.

"Better stay away from Farmer John's garden or something's going to happen to you." And with a happy caw Jimmy Crow flew away.

"He's only sorry he can't have beans for his breakfast!" said Willy Woodchuck as he hurried to the bean patch in Farmer John's garden, taking care to avoid his mamma and brothers.

Now Willy Woodchuck's teeth were sharp and the bean pods tender, and Willy Woodchuck began stripping them as if the whole patch was his own, and then—he heard Jimmy Crow calling him.

Willy Woodchuck paid no attention, and went on eating. But the next call came sharp and quick, with a note of warning in it.

Willy sat up on his haunches and looked around. But before he could make up his mind what to do a gun barked, and the frightened little woodchuck tumbled over among the beans.

Jimmy Crow flew away to warn Mamma Woodchuck.

"I saw Farmer John!" sobbed Jimmy Crow. "I gave Willy warning, then I heard the shot and saw Willy Woodchuck tumble into the dirt."

Mamma Woodchuck ran as fast as she could and peeped through the fence, but she couldn't see Willy Woodchuck, so she ran home.

What was her surprise and joy on arriving to find Willy Woodchuck sitting in the doorway.

"I did tumble," laughed Willy. "But then I got up and ran. Believe me, herbs, grasses and clover in peace is a better diet than beans and carrots in fear."

From that day Mamma Woodchuck never had to scold him again about taking things that belonged to others. Nor did she ever have to call him twice to get up in the morning, for Willy Woodchuck made it a rule to be up and out before sunrise.

How Your Neighbor Ends Her Corns

HAVE you noted how uncommon corns are nowadays? That pained look—that slipped-off shoe—are not very often seen. The reason lies in Blue-jay, which millions have adopted. An easy, gentle, scientific way to forever end a corn.

Those corn-free folks don't pare corns. They don't merely pad them. They don't use old-time treatments, harsh and mussy.

When a corn appears they wrap it with a Blue-jay, then forget it. It never pains again.

In two days, usually, the corn disappears. Only rare, tough corns need a second application.

The way is simple, easy, quick. It is right and scientific. A noted chemist evolved it. And it is made by a world-famed surgical dressing house. Don't keep paring and protecting corns. They are deformities—remove them.

Learn how Blue-jay does it. It will be a revelation. After that test you will never again let a corn annoy you.

Make the test tonight.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, AUG. 18-18.

In many respects Sunday will be a very active day, with the energies alert and ambitious, but the planets are not disposed to favor the best of efforts. All matters involving the exchanging of money should be avoided, though some advantage of a singular nature may be manifest even in a financial form. Squandering and extravagance must be shunned.

Those whose birthday it is may have an active year, but should not speculate. A child born on this day will be active and enterprising, but extravagant.

Monday will be a day of sudden and unexpected events, with the prospect of unplanned journeys, removals or changes affecting affairs radically. Under two opposing and contradictory positions of Uranus with the luminaries, it is difficult to predict whether the outcome of these changes will be beneficial or otherwise, hence the best advice is not to be completely carried away by these sudden astral impulses or visitations, and to refrain from unconventional and tumultuous actions as far as possible. A favorable Mercury aspect fosters business writings, etc., and with good management and moderation, entanglements and disturbances may be avoided.

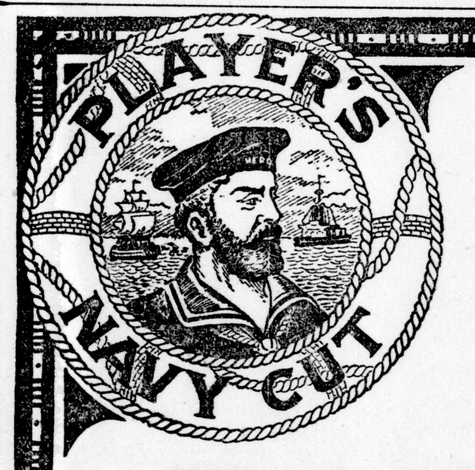

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of change, but may well avoid new enterprises. A child born on this day will be brilliant, original, adventurous, but unconventional.

Within the past few weeks a seven-league stride has been made in high speed telegraphy. An apparatus which in actual tests has proved its ability to transmit over a single grounded wire 6,000 words a minute has been evolved. The real significance of this escapes one until it is realized that 6,000 words set in type will fill seven and one-half standard magazine pages.

George M. Cohan in "Hit-the-Trail Holliday," at the Patricia Today.

There are several remarkable Teutonic types in "Hit-the-Trail Holliday," the Artcraft picture starring George M. Cohan, which is to be presented at the Patricia Theatre today. These represent the brewery element which figures in the story, and Marshall Nellan, the director, had to do considerable scouring about before he obtained the men he wanted. Some of the men objected to playing German roles, but when they realized that it was necessary in the interests of art to do so, they readily agreed to do anything Mr. Nellan demanded of them.

Jack Pickford and Louise Huff in "Mile-a-Minute Kendall," at the Patricia Theatre Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Admirers of Jack Pickford and Louise Huff will gather in force at the Patricia Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next, when their latest Paramount picture, "Mile-a-Minute Kendall" will have its initial presentation in this city. In this superb picturization of a famous stage success by Owen Davis, Jack Pickford has one of the finest roles in his career as cinema star, and he makes the most of it. The story is essentially dramatic, the situations being strong, but relieved by wholesome comedy. In Mr. Pickford's support in this picture is his sister Lottie, who is seen for the first time in a Paramount picture with her illustrious brother.

The Vesuvian Quintet at the Patricia Theatre Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Vesuvian Quintet, one of the finest musical and singing acts in vaudeville, coming direct from "Lowes," Toronto, will be the vaudeville attraction at the Patricia Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Special scenery is carried for this act.

Annette Kellermann in "A Daughter of the Gods," Showing at the Patricia Theatre Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

William Fox's wonderfully picturized story of "A Daughter of the Gods," with Annette Kellermann posing, acting, swiming and diving, will be shown at the Patricia Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

An audience, distinguished by President Wilson and party, filled the theatre and not infrequently gave expression of pleasure enjoyed from the beautiful spectacle.

Miss Kellermann, beautiful to behold, and the numerous scenes of the Caribbean Island, where the picture was filmed, divided the admiration of the audience. The director displayed the rare good judgment of having the form of Miss Kellermann exhibited in all its loveliness in at least three-fourths of the ten-reel film.

Admiration, too, was accorded the excellent work of William E. Shay, as Omar, the prince; Hal de Forest, as the sultan; Violet Horner, as Zarrh, the conspiring favorite of the sultan, and Jane and Katherine Lee, the wonderfully talented children.

The fantasy was additionally attractive by the injection of the human touch to the mythical land of gnomes, wherein the midget residents displayed grown-up knowledge by vigorously applauding the remarkable feat of swimming and diving by Miss Kellermann.

LOVE STORY BLENDS WITH STUPENDOUS SCENES SHOWN IN "HEARTS OF THE WORLD"

D. W. Griffith's Supreme Achievement in Motion Picture Productions To Be Shown at the Majestic Theatre Soon.

"Hearts of the World," the supreme triumph of D. W. Griffith, to be presented at the Majestic Theatre soon, inaugurates a new era in the realm of the screen drama. Here, with the great war as a background, Mr. Griffith has filmed a simple little love story, old as the ages, yet ever new. "Hearts of the World" has proven the latest sensation in the screen world. Mr. Griffith realized that the public which became enthusiastic over "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance" would expect something big from him in this latest picture, and therefore, instead of trying to outdo himself in staging gigantic battle scenes, he used the great war only as a background for the filming of a simple and attractive story of tremendous human interest.

"Hearts of the World" shows the happy, peaceful life of the people of a small village before the grim horror of war reared its ugly head over the horizon. The causes that led up to the war are shown; the meeting of the English Parliament on the eventful night when the vote was cast for war; the session of the French Senate voting upon the declaration of war; the session of the cabinet awaiting the fatal hour when the ultimatum to Germany would expire. These scenes come as a prelude; then the great drama begins when the German hordes enter France.

In taking the battle pictures for "Hearts of the World," Mr. Griffith had the assistance and co-operation of the British war office. It is the opinion of all who have seen "Hearts of the World" that Mr. Griffith has outdone his own best achievements and has established a new artistic record which it will take years and years for someone else to equal, if, indeed, such a thing is possible. Special augmented orchestra of 25 pieces.

At the Majestic today in his most brilliant photoplay. Extra added attraction, a Mack Sennett comedy, "Two Tough Tenderfeet."

At the Majestic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the beautiful Artcraft star, Elsie Ferguson, in the triumph of her career.

Beautiful Elsie Ferguson, Appearing at the Majestic Theatre Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in "The Danger Mark."

An inherited taste for intoxicants is a handicap that ought to terrify a strong man, but when the victim is a beautiful, wealthy, cultured young woman, it attains to the proportions of a tragedy, unless she succeeds in mastering her passion in time.

This is the situation presented in "The Danger Mark," a picturization for Paramount of Robert W. Chambers' famous novel, starring beautiful Elsie Ferguson, which is to be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Geraldine Seagrave, the character portrayed by Miss Ferguson, is a young woman of wealth and refinement, who has inherited with her brother, the vast estate of her dissipated grandfather. She is quite unconscious that she also has inherited her ancestor's taste for intoxicants, but her friends suspect it when they learn that she has formed the habit of dipping sugar into cologne and eating it with avidity. She then drinks champagne, and of course, gets intoxicated. Her condition is observed by only one man—the man who loves her and who would give up his life to shelter her from disgrace.

The desire for drink gradually is assuming full control over her when the young woman exerts her will power and banishes the drink demon that threatens to ruin her life and happiness. This is accomplished through the agency of a diamond ring given her by her sweetheart, the flashing of which recalls to her mind a solemn promise made by her to him, to think of him whenever the desire to drink seizes her. There is an attractive love story, the development of which is prolific of numerous thrills. Miss Ferguson is admirably supported throughout.

Constance Talmadge, In Her Newest Photoplay, "Up the Road With Sallie,' Showing at the Majestic Theatre Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Up the Road With Sallie," featuring Constance Talmadge, will be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It was adapted by Julia Crawford Ivers from the successful novel of the same name by Frances Sterrett, directed by William D. Taylor, and is one of Miss Talmadge's Select Pictures, in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick.

As Sallie Waters, this captivating comedienne has a role, in which her delightful vivacity and charm are given free rein. She inherits five thousand dollars along with other legatees unknown to her; the one who makes best use of his portion of the inheritance is to receive the balance of the estate. Sallie kidnaps her aged and dignified aunt in her automobile, but when a storm comes up, they take refuge in a deserted house. There, however, they discover two young men; Sallie recognizes the ring one of them is wearing as having belonged to her late uncle, and suspects that they are burglars who have broken into this house for refuge. When Sallie flourishes her roll of bills, the young men also suspect her of having come to this out-of-the-way place for a similar purpose.

When the sheriff arrives and quarantines them, each group believes its suspicions confirmed. Finally the owner of the house appears, and their true identities are revealed, making a surprising and unexpected denouement.

Appearing at the Majestic Theatre in her latest comedy success next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

AIR PATROLS EFFECTIVE IN FINDING SUBS

British Aviators Maintain Close Watch Over Home Waters.

London, Aug. 17.—Air Admiralty official report, giving details of recent operations, says:

"On the 11th, as previously reported, a German airship was sighted in the North Sea, and attacked by one of our machines. After a short engagement the enemy airship fell in flames from a great height. Enemy shipping also has been attacked successfully, and a direct hit was observed on a hostile destroyer, after which other vessels closed around the damaged ship. On the return journey, when about eight miles from the scene, a big explosion was seen to occur.

"During the engagements that have taken place sixteen enemy machines and one captive balloon were destroyed, and fifteen machines driven down out of control. Three of our machines failed to return.

"In home waters during the same period continuous anti-submarine and anti-hostile aircraft patrols have been maintained by seaplanes, airplanes and airships. Submarines have been sighted and attacked, and mines located and destroyed. All our machines have returned."

MRS. F. S. SKEFFINGTON MAY BE ALLOWED TO RETURN TO IRELAND

MRS. F. S. SKEFFINGTON.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The executive authorities in Ireland have reconsidered the case of Mrs. F. Sheehy Skeffington, and have recommended the home office with which the decision rests, to issue a permit to enable her to return to Ireland, according to the Manchester Guardian. It was announced yesterday that Mrs. Skeffington had asked for such a permit, and that it had been refused.

Mrs. Skeffington's husband was shot during the Easter riots in Dublin in 1916. Recently she returned to Dublin after spending some time in the United States, and was arrested, deported from Ireland, and detained in Holloway Prison. She was released from this institution August 12, and promptly applied for a permit to return to Ireland.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN FOOD PRICES BY LABOR DEPARTMENT

Increases Chiefly in Dairy Products, Fresh and Canned Vegetables.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—Upward movements in wholesale and retail food prices were again recorded by the labor department during July. In wholesale prices the increases were chiefly in dairy products, fresh and canned vegetables, textiles and lumber. There were decreases in fodder, livestock and meats. In retail prices there were increases in meats, eggs and potatoes, with slight decreases in milk and dairy butter. Coal, wood and coal oil and rents showed slight increases.

The index number of wholesale prices for July reached 284, as compared with 280.6 for June, and 242.6 for July, 1917. The cost of a weekly supply of food at the middle of July averaged $13 in some sixty cities, as compared with $12.77 for June and $11.62 for July, 1917.

SUB SHELLS TANKER TO GET OIL SUPPLY

German Sea Wolf Continues Operations Off U. S. Coast.

Beaufort, N. C., Aug. 17.—A large oil tank steamer is afire about 25 miles off Cape Hatteras, according to information brought here tonight. A submarine is lying close by. The members of the crew have been taken off by lifeguards. It is presumed the submarine is a German and the tanker was set on fire by shell fire.

At the navy department tonight it was said: "There is nothing to be given out," regarding the attack on a large oil tank steamer by a German submarine off Cape Hatteras reported in a dispatch from Beaufort, N. C.

It was generally believed that the German U-boat, probably the same one which recently destroyed the Diamond Shoals Lightship off Cape Hatteras, had run short of oil and had attacked the oil tanker with the purpose of replenishing its supply. After taking aboard the needed oil, it was thought probable that the submarine had shelled and set fire to the tanker.

Through such attacks on oil tankers and cargo vessels, officials here have said, German submarine commanders may replenish their supply of oil and food and thus remain indefinitely on this side of the Atlantic.

GEN. HUMBERT SAYS "WE HOPE TO DO BETTER"

Commander of French Third Army Expects Even Greater Successes.

With the French Army in France, Thursday, Aug. 15.—(By the Associated Press).—The commander of the French third army, Gen. Humbert, on receiving the correspondents just after the German rush toward Compiegne, had been stopped in June, said:

"We hope to do better."

Gen. Humbert talked to the correspondents today, after the capture of Ribecourt. He modestly refrained from reference to his previously expressed hopes, saying simply that he had got back on to the Lassigny massif and would stay there until he went farther on. He described graphically the work of his men.

The operations of the 3rd Army, which resulted in the wiping out of the Montdidier salient, was subordinate to the attack of Field Marshal Haig's forces north and south of the Somme. It was impossible for the 3rd Army to attack until the operations elsewhere had produced results, as there were serious terrain difficulties facing it.

As soon as the Germans began to give way before the combined French and British forces, the 3rd Army began to advance on August 10.

ALIEN ENEMIES ABOVE SIXTEEN MUST REGISTER UNDER NEW LAW

Chief of Police May Refuse To Let Any Such Depart From Any Place.

U. S. PUTS UP THE BARS

After September 15 Permits Will Be Required of Aliens Leaving United States.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—All alien enemies over the age of 16 years are now required to register under the alien regulations. Previously the regulations required only aliens of enemy nationality of military age and having no permanent residence or abode in Canada to register.

Existing alien regulations also require all registered aliens, including certain aliens of enemy nationality, who are nevertheless known to be friendly aliens, in fact, to report monthly to the chief officer of police.

By order-in-council it is now deemed expedient that certain of these friendly aliens, namely Czechs or members of the Bohemian national alliance, Turkish subjects who are by race Greeks, Armenians, Assyrians, or other community well known as opposed to the Turkish regime, be exempted from this obligation at the discretion of the chief commissioner of police.

Travel Made Difficult.

The new regulations provide also that all ticket agents and conductors of railway or steamboat companies, or other officers, shall refuse to sell tickets or give transportation to any alien of enemy nationality, who does not produce certificate of parole with notice of permission to travel from one point to another. A chief officer of the police may refuse permission to any enemy alien to depart from any place unless satisfied that he has complied with the law requiring every male person to be regularly engaged in some useful occupation.

WILSON'S NEW ORDER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Freedom of departure from this country of aliens, by means of which a number of dangerous enemy agents have been able to escape from the authorities since the United States entered the war, will not be permitted after September 15, under a proclamation signed by President Wilson, and an executive order, both of which were made public tonight by the state department. The proclamation and executive order puts into effect the alien control law passed by Congress last May.

Under the executive order, aliens after September 15 will be required to obtain permits before leaving the United States, and additional restrictions will be put upon the entry of aliens into this country.

No passports or permits will be required of persons going to Canada, except in the case of male persons of draft age, who will be required to carry permits issued by their local boards.

Cavalry Squadron From R.N.W.M.P. to Be Sent to Russia

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—A squadron of cavalry to be furnished by the Northwest Mounted Police will form part of the Canadian expeditionary force to Siberia. The squadron commander has not yet been appointed.

Although the composition of the force has not yet been determined in detail, it is understood that it will comprise all arms of the service. The aim is to make it entirely self-contained with its own medical and auxiliary units.

STRUCTURAL IRON MEN STRIKE IN HAMILTON

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—About thirty union structural iron workers employed in the installation of the Willputte coke ovens at the Steel Company of Canada plant, have gone on strike. This action was taken because the Hamilton Bridge Works Company, sub-contractors employed to look after iron construction, took into their employ non-union labor.

The work is proceeding with the assistance of the non-union help. The matter has been left in the hands of the Indianapolis headquarters of the international union.

FURTHER SUGAR RESTRICTIONS.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—As an additional sugar conservation measure the food board has ordered that, until further notice, manufacturers of canned fruits for sale must not use more than an average of twenty-five pounds of sugar to one hundred pounds of prepared fruit. The order is now effective. It does not apply to jams, jellies or marmalade.

MINES IN AUSTRALIAN WATERS.

SYDNEY, S. W., Aug. 12.—The finding of additional enemy mines along the Australian coast is announced.

Two enemy mines were reported found and destroyed off North Cape, the northern extremity of New Zealand, on June 13 last. The supposition is that these and other mines found in Australian waters were laid by a German commerce raider,

AUTO TAKES PLUNGE DOWN EMBANKMENT BUT NO ONE IS HURT

Six Occupants of Car Narrowly Escape Death in Accident Near Port Stanley.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 16.—An accident that was remarkable in that no fatalities resulted happened near the farm of Walter Stacey on the Union road, near Port Stanley, at a late hour on Thursday night. A Ford car driven by D. E. Carrol of Middlemach and containing, it is said, six persons was returning from the Irish picnic when it turned to the narrow side of the road to allow another car to pass. It crashed into the old fence, however, and plunged down a 30-foot embankment, settling finally in a bean field near by.

About half an hour afterwards a couple of Fingal young men came along the same road, and noticing that something had happened they tied their horse to a pole. After a time their animal became frisky and followed in the trail of the unfortunate Ford car, taking the buggy down the embankment. In this way the occupants of the car were located, and now it is said that a couple of actions may follow against the township of Southwold. The men claim that the road is in a terrible condition at this point.

FATHER APPEARS IN COURT ON CHARGE OF CONCEALMENT

George C. Schmidt Arraigned for Hiding Edward W. Pehlke.

STRATFORD, Aug. 16.—George C. Schmidt appeared in police court today charged with concealing Edward W. Pehlke, a defaulter from the W. O. R. at London. The evidence was taken and an adjournment was made until August 28. Schmidt had been committed for trial on Tuesday on a charge of concealing his son, Frederick Schmidt, who was a companion of Pehlke.

Following the receipt of their notices to report, the pair, according to a pre-arranged plan, met and took to the woods, taking provisions with them. They lived in an old house, existing on bread, ham, jam, water, stray chickens, and eggs as well, "if luck favored them," according to Pehlke. They returned to the house of Schmidt's father to replenish their larder, and it was at Schmidt's that Pehlke was arrested.

Schmidt pleaded not guilty to the charge. His son was ordered handed over to the military authorities today. Both young men declared they had grown pretty tired of the life. Pehlke stating that he had lost six pounds in the two months they were in the woods.

BODY OF FIREMAN DROWNED AT SARNIA PICKED UP FRIDAY

Remains Found at Mooretown Identified as Those of Burrell Manly.

SARNIA, Aug. 16.—A body found at Mooretown this morning was positively identified tonight as that of Burrell Manly, who was drowned in the St. Clair river last Monday evening while swimming off Mueller's dock.

His brother from Wellington, Ohio, came here and made the identification positive. The remains will be taken there for burial. The first report which reached here by telephone was that an unknown body had been found. This was followed by another that two bodies had been found.

Officers from here went down this afternoon to identify them, but only one body was there, and it was thought to be that of Manly. The body was bloated up almost beyond recognition, but several persons claimed it to be Manly.

He was 19 years of age and resided on Chestnut street, Port Huron. He was a fireman on the tug Annie Moiles and a good swimmer, but the current was too much for him.

When the report came that two bodies were found it was thought that they were those of John Sherman and Albert Carr, who were drowned last fall, when their rowboat sprang a leak and capsized in a heavy fog, while they were rowing from Port Huron. Only one body concerned in the tragedy was found, that of Steve Foreman.

OUTLOOK FOR WINTER'S LUMBER CUT NOT GOOD

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—The cut of lumber in the northern woods this winter is likely to be even smaller than last winter's output, owing to the shortage of labor.

According to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, the lumbermen are experiencing more difficulty than ever before in locating men for their camps. Last year most camps were operated with sixty or seventy, instead of a normal complement of one hundred.

GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Bullish crop estimates rallied the corn market today from weakness which was shown at the start. Initial declines were ascribed to favorable weather. Later, however, authoritative figures on the yield for the seven surplus states put the total at 410,000,000 bushels less than was harvested last year.

Opening prices, which carried from ¼c off to ½c up, with September $1.61½ to $1.61⅞, and October $1.63 to $1.63⅜, were followed by a slight setback, and then by an advance all round to well above yesterday's finish.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. Trade was of moderate volume. After opening unchanged to ¼c higher, with September 70c to 70⅛c, the market reacted a little and then scored substantial gains.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

New York, Aug. 17.—Scarcity of money, latest tax proposals and further delay in the railroad contract settlement again imposed restrictions on the stock market this week, although the prices held steady on the further stimulating war news.

The monetary situation doubtless arose in large part from heavy payments to the final installment of the third Liberty Loan, but these were accentuated by additional admonitions of the need of credit conservation from the Federal Reserve Bank. In authoritative quarters the belief prevailed that money would remain firm for the balance of the year, account being taken of next month's preparations for the fourth Liberty Loan.

The one illuminating feature of the investment situation was furnished by the rise of Liberty 3½'s to their best quotation of the year at 100.14, indicating a continuance of buying of that issue by leading financial interests.

Foreign developments found their chief reflection in the greater strength of exchange to all the allied centres, but remittances to neutral points were irregular, Spanish exchange weakening.

WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 17.—Further accumulation of Liberty 3½ per cent bonds at a new high record of 100.50 was the most interesting feature of today's dull session of the stock exchange. Rails and industrials reacted under pressure, the reversal extending from fractions in steels and equipments to 1¼ points for Canadian Pacific. Marine, preferred, was again in demand at a large fractional advance. Specialties were less prominent as a result of recent restrictions, but General Motors registered an extreme gain of 2¼ points. American Telephone gained over a point, and other utilities were steady to firm. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 100,000 shares.

New York, Aug. 17—Wall Street, 10:10 a.m.—Canadian Pacific's loss of a large fraction was the only notable change at the dull and irregular opening of today's stock market. Shippings were dull and industrials variable.

10:30 a.m.—The week-end session on the stock exchange began with every indication of a continuance of recent stagnant conditions. Most leaders were unchanged from the previous day's final quotations, C. P. R. proving the only marked exception on its reaction of 1¼ points. United States Steel and Marine preferred gained slight fractions, but equipments and coppers were irregular. Specialties yielded in the absence of pool support, declining from ½ point to a full point. Liberty 3½'s were in further demand at the year's new high record of 100.16.

MILITARY PRISONERS TAKEN TO LONDON

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 16.—Five prisoners from the military section of the Elgin County jail left here this afternoon for London. The men were held pending their trial by court-martial, among them being conscientious objectors, defaulters and absentees. There were four guards accompanying the men today.

Your Attention to Money Matters is decidedly needed now

More so now than ever before, hoarding money is unprofitable and unsafe, investing at low interest is unprofitable—"Get rich Quick" schemes are decidedly risky and dangerous ones. There are also investments that are as good as gold but the money may be tied up for years and not obtainable.

Unlike any of these investments Ontario Loan Debentures are good steady producers and can be purchased in denominations of $100 and up, yielding 5½% interest per annum payable half yearly.

They yield large returns, are absolutely safe and are as good as gold.

Write or call to-day for further information. 21

The Future Uncertain

No man can tell how much he may be worth or what may be the condition of his affairs when the end comes. His fine property may have slipped away, his gilt-edge stocks and bonds may have lost their value, his real estate may have depreciated or become completely non-productive. Life insurance will furnish a certain, sure and immediately available competency. Rates and full information cheerfully furnished upon request. Policies issued to suit every requirement.

SILVER STOCKS

The fixing of silver metal price of $1.00 means great prosperity for Cobalt properties. This price will remain for years to come. The purchase of 350,000,000 ounces by the United States Government cannot be completed under five years, possibly ten. Buy now before the boom starts in Silver shares.

YOUR ESTATE MAY BE SMALL, BUT---

Whether it involves one hundred or one hundred thousand dollars, it is equally important that it should have the advantages of The Premier Trust Company's Administration.

This company welcomes its appointment as executor of small estates, and gives them the same care, the same business experience and judgment and the protection of the same safety measures as larger estates.

The Premier Trust Company as your Executor is perpetual, competent, and costs no more than the uncertain services of an individual executor.

22 TOWNS CAPTURED BY THE CANADIANS IN PRESENT DRIVE

Operation Makes Ypres Success Look Small.

"SIMPLY IRRESISTIBLE"

10,000 Prisoners and 500 Guns Captured by Currie's Men.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—The following dispatch was received here by the director of public information from Sir Edward Kemp, minister of overseas forces:

"The capture of prisoners by the Canadians in recent operations is now reported to be 10,000, with 150 guns and machine guns, which are now estimaed in the thousand.

"The territory retaken in the advance of the Canadian corps, representing an initial frontage of 7,500 yards, finishing up on a front of 10,000 yards and penetrating to a depth of 20,000 yards, includes 22 towns, some of which are of considerable size. The proportions of this success will be better understood when it is remembered that in the battle of the Ypres salient last year, commencing on July 21 and continuing over four months, the total advance did not exceed six miles.

Glorious Chapter.

"The facts connected with the entire operation constituted one of the most glorious pages of the history of the Canadian army overseas. It reflects not only the gallantry and devotion of all ranks, but is a tribute as well to the efficient staff work and organization.

"The maximum secrecy marked the move of the corps to the attacking front. Many of our batteries were so close to the enemy trenches that not a single shot could be fired before the battle began. Despite this the infantry declare they never followed a more perfect barrage.

"The dash with which every division entered the attack and carried on day after day is illustrated in this observation from the Canadian corps commander, Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Currie, who states:

"'Canada has been thrilled many times by the record of the deeds in the field of battle by her sons, but never before have our battles given so much cause for pride as in the fine fighting of our men. They were simply irresistible.' One of the tanks, which accompanied us in the fight and was rechristened the 'A-1 Dominion,' went into action with a piper of an infantry battalion playing for all he was worth."

CHILD KILED WHEN HIT BY MONTREAL FIRE CHIEF'S CAR

Montreal, Aug. 17.—Six cases of auto accidents occurred yesterday in Montreal, with one fatality, when Fire Chief Riley, on his way to a fire, ran over Lucienne Tetrault, aged 12, who was crossing the road with her mother. The accident occurred at the corner of Notre Dame and Descourcelles streets, St. Henri, and though the chief sounded his Klaxon, the child was not able to avoid the car in time. She sustained a fractured skull, and died within a few minutes.

MAGRATH IS IMPLORING PEOPLE TO PUT IN COAL

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—On his return to Ottawa today from an official visit to Washington, C. A. Magrath, Dominion fuel controller, brought back a message to the people of the Maritime Provinces to immediately get in a supply of domestic coal, in order to prevent suffering this winter. His warning took the line of that already made to western consumers.

FLIGHT LIEUT. LANCE REPORTED KILLED ON AUGUST 13TH

Well-Known London Boy Makes Great Sacrifice—No Particulars Yet.

Another name was added to the long list of Londoners who have given their lives for their country last night, when the sad news was received here that Flight Lieut. W. George Lance had been killed on August 13.

The news came in the form of a cable to his family at 1093 Richmond street, but no particulars were given. It was signed by the secretary of the air ministry, and extended the sympathy of the air council to his relatives.

Lieut. Lance was one of the type of young Londoner that has caused the name of this city to stand for the best when self-sacrifice and comradeship are called into play. He was possessed of an exceptionally genial disposition, and his sunny nature won for him many friends in this city, who will hear with deep regret of his death.

He was employed as a traveler for the National Drug and Chemical Company before he donned the uniform. Ed Lance, secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, is a brother.

He enlisted in the Royal Air Force over a year ago and he reached the front about four months ago. He trained for a time in Texas and for a short time in England. When his turn came to go to Scotland for further training he refused to go, in his anxiety to get to France. He was then allowed to go to France, and had been at the front since.

WEST LONDON NOT IN DANGER WHILE DAM AT SPRINGBANK IS DOWN

A new phase of the Springbank dam question was presented to the board of control yesterday by Mayor Somerville, when the request of the board of health for a committee to inquire into the cost of repairing the dam was up.

Mayor Somerville said that the health officers declared the present state of the river to be insanitary. However, there were others who contended that the present state of the river would provide against any future floods, and West London and other low-lying points would not be threatened so long as the dam was left as it is. The mayor said that the breaking of the dam had exposed all the bad spots in the river that had been covered up by the water before.

Controller Little said that the river was no beauty spot now. Controller Saunders said that the city's sewerage plant was not in the best of shape now.

The request will be sent to the council.

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR WESTERN FAIR

Never in the history of the Western Fair has there been so much money expended at Queen's Park in preparation for the big event as this year.

The new subway and automobile entrance, just finished, will cost $7,000, and will make a beautiful entrance to the grounds at the corner of Dundas and Egerton streets, where the old speed barns used to stand. Autos may be left within the inclosure all day and evening if desired.

Nearly all of the buildings will be repainted this year, and the entire grounds will present a fine appearance. The ladies' building has been rebuilt, and more room provided for ladies' work. The process building will be occupied completely by a pure food show, which will be free to all exhibition visitors. The art building will be of unusual interest this year on account of the highly metritorious exhibit from the National Art Gallery at Ottawa. All the buildings will be filled to overflowing with interesting and educative exhibts of all kinds. Entries for the fair close on September 5, and for the dog show on September 3. All information as to the fair is obtainable at the general offices, Dominion Savings Building.

MILITARY NOTES

AN ATTRACTIVE UNIT.

Permission has been received at the local military headquarters from Ottawa to immediately recruit volunteers for the Siberian draft of Canadian soldiers. In addition to 100 men in the infantry draft, A. M. C., engineers, army service corps and machine gunners will be recruited in Military District No. 1.

This contingent will be self-sustaining, and returned men volunteering will be placed in the branch of the service in which they originally enlisted, thus making the draft a crack corps. Returned men will be allowed to retain their original regimental numbers.

Recruits will be accepted at the local mobilization centre, Carling block, and men accepted for the Army Service Corps will be sent to Ottawa, artillery recruits will be sent to Petawawa, engineers to Quebec and the infantry will train at Carling Heights until further instructions are received. Regimental numbers 2768001 to 2768250 have been allowed to volunteers in this contingent, who have not served before in the present campaign.

MUST TURN IN UNIFORMS.

Special instructions regarding leave of absence to draftees have been received from Ottawa as follows:

In every case in which a draftee is given 30 days' leave of absence without pay, and struck off strength on return to the registrar's records, all clothing and equipment will be turned in before the draftee is sent on leave.

In cases where men already on leave, ... uniform has been issued, are ... to the records of the registrar in accordance with the procedure set forth in the above-mentioned routine orders, and where the uniform has not been turned in, a communication will forthwith be sent to the man instructing him to return the uniform immediately, and advising him that on receipt thereof he will be refunded the $10 deducted from his pay therefor.

SPECIAL RATES.

In future army forms will only be good for exchange to obtain special military rate when signed by an officer euthorized to sign transport warrants. Officers issuing these certificates are to carefully limit issuing of same to officers, nursing sisters and men with the C. E. F., and caution recipients against transfer of certificates or ticket procured thereon, and that the special rate can only be taken advantage of when traveling in uniform.

All ranks are to be cautioned that tickets not used in accordance with these instructions will not be accepted by railway conductors, and persons tendering same will be required to pay full railway fare.

PAID ASSISTANT IS REQUIRED BY S.A.C. FOR RELIEF WORK

Soldiers' Aid Commission Holds Annual Meeting.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

Offices of Organizations Dealing With Returned Men May Be Brought Together.

The annual meeting of the local branch of the Soldiers' Aid Commission was held in the offices of the commission in the Royal Bank building Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with a fairly good attendance. Controller J. M. Moore, the president, occupied the chair. Reports of the different committees were read, considered and adopted in the following order: Finance, relief, reception, summer outing, employment, secretary's report, and a special report on vocational training, prepared by President Moore.

Paid Assistant Needed.

In the report of the relief committee it was recommended by Mrs. Lawrason that the work of the women of this committee in having to leave their work at all hours in order to go out and answer the calls of the needy ones was becoming too hard for the few that were taking part in it, and she recommended that a paid assistant or visitor be employed to look after this work. It was also stated that as the work of the women was voluntary in this part of the commission, it was thought that enough women could be secured to take over the work. It was finally moved that the recommendation by Mrs. Lawrason be transferred to the new relief committee. It was also decided to leave to the finance committee clause four, dealing with the awarding the sum of $1,000 to the committee.

Want More Privacy.

In the report of Secretary Ed H. Lance, it was recommended that his room be so fixed that he could obtain more privacy in hearing the grievances of persons brought before him, as he stated that the present conditions of hearing these were altogether too public. It was decided to leave this matter in the hands of the executive committee and let them deal with the request as they best saw fit. Mr. Lance will either have a partition put up in the rooms which he now occupies, or move to larger ones, which will be fixed to his liking.

It was pointed out during the course of the meeting that it would be a splendid idea if all the officers connected with the handling of returned and invalided men in this city could be moved into one building, thus avoiding a tremendous amount of unnecessary trouble and moving about, as one office is always referring a person to another office for the information required, and for anyone who is pressed for time it makes it very inconvenient. Nothing definite was done in regard to this statement, but it will no doubt be brought up later, when action will be taken.

Election of Officers.

The election of officers then took place, in which Controller J. M. Moore was re-elected president of the commission for the ensuing year; Mrs. Lawrason was nominated for vice-president, but declined, with the result that Col. A. A. Campbell was elected vice-president; W. W. Gammage was elected treasurer, to the place left vacant by Col. Campbell. The entire finance committee, with the addition of Mrs. A. T. Edwards and W. E. Grieves, was re-elected, as was the employment and the reception committees. F. G. Jewell was re-elected auditor for the commission.

The thanks and appreciation of the head office, which through some previous arrangements was unable to send a representative, was conveyed to the meeting by Lieut. W. W. Shaver of the local branch.

Those present at the meeting were: Mrs. A. T. Edwards, Mrs. S. F. Lawrason, Mrs. Wheeler, Rev. Mr. Stewart, Mrs. Campbell, W. E. Grieves, J. I. Johnson, Arthur W. White, Col. A. A. Campbell, Controller J. M. Moore, Col. W. G. Coles, J. W. Cunliffe, Rev. Ashby, W. W. Gammage and J. P. Moore, K.C.

QUERIES ANSWERED.

Editor Advertiser.—Will you kindly answer the following question for a subscriber? I understand there are three rates of pay for shopmen under the McAdoo award, 68, 58, and 45 cents per hour. What rate would a stationary engineer receive who has passed an examination and received his papers as an engineer?

ENGINEER.

Ans.—It has not yet been definitely ascertained just what rate the different shopmen will receive, but the opinion has been expressed to The Advertiser that a stationary engineer working in a railway shop would be classed as a mechanic and thus he would receive the highest rate, 68 cents per hour. If the engineer works for the G.T.R. and is not employed in one of the shops he would likely be classed with the bridge and building workmen. The schedule for these men has not been worked out yet. In fact the whole question is rather in the air yet, but it is expected that everything will be settled next week.

Advertiser's Popularity Gets Another Boost

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 16.—The ever-increasing popularity of The London Advertiser among St. Thomas residents was plainly shown this afternoon, when a well-known St. Thomas citizen approached a representative of that paper and gave an order to have the morning edition sent to Quebec for three months. A friend of this man is visiting there, and will be at that place for some time, and being desirous of keeping in touch with local happenings he decided to have his morning paper follow him.

THERE MUST BE NO RELAXING IN MATTER OF FOOD CONSERVING

Situation Improved, But Not Absolutely Safe.

MUST HAVE BIG RESERVE

Food Board Emphasizes the Necessity of Saving Harvest From Waste.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—The Canada Food Board today issued the following statement:

"Recent announcements that the food situation overseas has been relieved by the special efforts of Canada and the United States are being interpreted in some quarters as indicating that special food production and conservation efforts are no longer necessary.

"All optimistic reports relative to the easing of our Allies' food position are based on the assumption that the utmost effort to maintain and increase production and also to conserve food will be continued on this continent as well as overseas.

"Hopeful though recent developments in the food situation have been, it will not be safe until enormous wheat reserves have been accumulated on both sides of the Atlantic, and such reserves are not yet in sight. A comparative crop failure on this continent next year would, in the absence of hold-over reserves, make our Allies' position almost as desperate as it was last winter.

"Canadians cannot afford to relax in food production or food conservation because all that can be grown or saved will be needed. Nothing could be more dangerous than to assume that our position is yet safe. The food board wishes to emphasize especially the necessity for the utmost effort to save this year's harvest from waste or loss. The responsibility resting upon city and town men to see that the farmers have sufficient help to bring in the crops is still pressing, and must not be ignored."

CANADIAN NEWSPAPER MEN MAKE FLYING TRIP OVER LONDON

Have Chance To Experience Part Being Played by Airships in War.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press dispatch from Reuter's, Limited).—"The Canadian journalists have had an opportunity of seeing and testing the part being played by that great service which is giving Great Britain the mastery of the air, and will probably prove one of the deciding factors in the victory of the Allies," according to John Weld of London, Ont., Farmers' Advocate. The Canadians proceeded to a great airdrome on the outskirts of London, where some of them made a flight over London in a huge bombing airplane, the latest type of which on this occasion made its first practical flight.

Two trips were made by this machine which carried on its first flight M. R. Jennings of Edmonton, W. R. McCurdy of Halifax, F. Rinfret of Montreal and Hon. Frank Carroll of Quebec.

Looking down over London, the city appeared to the aviators like a huge toy city with miniature streets, and they flew so high that the streets looked like mere threads and showed no sign of life or moving things. The Thames ran like a slender silver thread through the picture. They also went up in a smaller machine for other flights.

CANADIAN HOSPITAL IN THE MARNE SALIENT

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—Roland Hill, Canadian correspondent at the front, referring to the recent great Allied offensive, cables from British correspondents' headquarters in France as follows:

"In the maelstrom behind where the fierce fighting is now occurring from Soissons to Rheims, there is a Canadian hospital doing its duty administering to French and American wounded. For some months it has been established out in the French lines tending to the wants of our Allies, and now those doctors and nurses from Canada are having their reward by taking part in what may be the greatest battle in history. Stories reach me too that several of our Canadian forestry units have joined in the fray and though not actually fighting, are doing valuable work of an engineering character.

SINCE 1895 EVERY BRIDGE ON G.T.R. HAS BEEN REBUILT

More Than 1,000 Miles Have Been Double-Tracked.

$6,000,000 SPENT IN 1917

Howard G. Kelley, Now President, Has Engineered All Reconstruction.

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—There is little that may be called new work, such as extension of line, engaging the attention of the engineers of the Grand Trunk System just now, when the necessary steel and labor is so difficult to obtain, but there is a considerable amount of important renewal and maintenance work proceeding. The road has been practically made over in recent years in order that the highest state of efficiency may be maintained.

Since the present board, now headed by A. W. Smithers, took office in 1895, every bridge on the system has been rebuilt, more than one thousand miles of line have been double-tracked, heavier rails have been put down, engines of ever-increasing power have been built, new and larger passenger and freight cars have been continually provided. The expenditure last year by the Grand Trunk for maintenance of way and structures exceeded six million dollars.

Howard G. Kelley was appointed chief engineer of the Grand Trunk when this large reconstruction program was under way, and it was under his supervision that the important work was carried to completion. His genius for handling large undertakings led to his appointment to the position of vice-president in charge of operation, maintenance and construction. As operating chief, Mr. Kelley again proved his splendid executive qualities, the operating efficiency of the road under his direction drawing forth high compliments from the best railroad authorities in America, while the largest freight and passenger business in the company's history was handled.

Mr. Kelley will complete his first year as president of the Grand Trunk on September 1, next year, with the system in all its departments in excellent condition.

FEARS MUCH OF N. B. CROP WILL BE LOST FOR LACK OF LABOR

Minister of Agriculture Advocates Compulsory Farm Service.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 16.—"Unless something is done to secure labor for the farmers of this province within the next five or six weeks a large portion of this season's crop will be lost," says the Hon. J. F. Tweedale, minister of agriculture, in an interview on the labor situation.

"New Brunswick has this year the largest increase in her history under cultivation and the next five or six weeks will tell the tale of whether the province will lose or save a large part of its crop."

Hon. Mr. Tweedale advocates compulsory service to get in the crops.

How to Look and Feel Bright in Hot Weather

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up for the afternoon or evening, just bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half-pint of witch hazel. You will find this more refreshing than an hour's rest.

As a wrinkle-remover the saxolite lotion is remarkably successful. Its action is almost magical. The deepest furrows, as well as the finest lines—whether due to age, illness, weather or worry—are immediately affected. Enlarged pores are reduced, flabby skin is "drawn in," facial contour is improved wonderfully. The simple ingredients of course can be had at any drug store, and you need not hesitate to try the lotion, as it will not harm any skin in the least.

All Overland Cars are Equipped with Champion

Dependable Spark Plugs

The Champion "O" Plug has been developed for and is exclusive factory equipment in all new Overland motors—it is the plug that gets the most out of each gallon of gasoline and helps to maintain an economy in operation that has made the name of Overland the "by-word" for efficient motor service.

The unfailing dependability of this and all other Champion Plugs is obtained through careful testing of the porcelain and the patented asbestos-lined, copper gaskets on each shoulder which form cushions that absorb the almost continuous shock of exploding gases in the cylinder.

Dealers everywhere sell Champions for Overlands and every other make of automobile, motorcycle, farm engine, tractor or motorboat.

Look for the name "CHAMPION" on the porcelain. It guarantees "Absolute satisfaction to the user or free repair or replacement will be made."
