

HEAVY FIGHTING;
HEAVY LOSSESLatest From Kuropatkin Tells Of Fresh Battling.

JAPS ARE SHELLING MUKDEN

Mikado's Leaders Preparing for Another General Advance and Wide Turning Movement.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—Later in the day a dispatch was received from Gen. Kuropatkin announcing that Gen. Rennenkampf and Samsonoff are conducting important reconnaissance, which have resulted in rather heavy fighting, with many casualties.

London, Sept. 19.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg today, says the reconnaissance were towards the Japanese front and right flank, resulting in the Japanese being driven back.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—From Gen. Kuropatkin's telegram, which was dispatched at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, it appears that Gen. Rennenkampf had recovered from his wound and had resumed command of his troops. The increase in the Japanese forces at Yantai and Bentianspitz. The Russians have occupied several villages near the Japanese front.

Gen. Kuropatkin yesterday reviewed the thirty-seventh division of the first army corps.

London, Sept. 18.—It is asserted in a dispatch from Tokyo to the Express that the Japanese are vigorously shelling the Russian positions at Mukden, preparatory to a general advance and endeavoring by a wide turning movement to cut off General Kuropatkin's retreat. The Japanese armies, the dispatch adds, are disposed in the same front positions as in the fighting before Liao Yang.

Was Unavoidable.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—Under date of Sept. 16, General Kuropatkin telegraphed to the Japanese commander, "The entire Manchurian army rejoices inexpressibly at your majesty's appreciation of the military and military deeds. We are all animated by one desire to beat the enemy and justify the confidence reposed in us by the supreme chief of the Russian army, who may feel perfectly assured of the army's future self-denial and devotion."

"Our departure from Liao Yang was unavoidable and was accomplished under conditions fraught with great difficulty. Even our adversaries upon this occasion were very modest, their report not mentioning the capture of prisoners, guns or other trophies."

"Gen. Kuropatkin's official report confirms the statement that on the morning of Sept. 4 his entire force, which is the strongest of the three Japanese armies, was on the right bank of the Taishet River, and could, if conditions had been favorable, cut off the troops occupying Liao Yang from the Russian troops operating on the right bank of the Taishet River."

Japs Have Them Scaared.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Another wave of popular agitation against the yellow peril has resulted here from the Japanese recent remarkable display of force. This apprehension is shared by a considerable extent in official circles, where it was suggested today that the danger might compel European powers to consider the necessity of effecting a coalition for self-defense against the peril. Newspapers and political leaders also emphasize the growth of the peril. Henri Rochefort, who is a warm advocate of the French navy, says that France will be one of the last to fall.

Little Freight Moving.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19, 7:30 a.m.—Vehement complaints are again being made of the freight blockade of the Siberian railroad in consequence of its monopoly by the military authorities. It is stated that goods started last March for Sakhalin have not yet arrived. Many inquiries as to the communication is unsafe, are rapidly running out of absolute necessities of life, and there is a prospect of much hardship the coming winter if no special permit of the authorities are not allowed to go through.

The Novik's Crew.

Sakhalin, Sept. 19.—Life here is proceeding as usual. The population is busy harvesting crops, which are going owing to an abundance of rain in July, but the fishing is unsatisfactory. Capt. Schultz and some other officers of the cruiser Novik, which was sunk after the sortie from Port Arthur, have arrived at Alexander Station. They were entertained at the club and received with the greatest enthusiasm everywhere. The crew left on Sept. 13.

Oku's Big Haul.

Tokio, Sept. 18, noon.—Marquis Oyama, commander-in-chief of the Japanese forces in the field, telegraphed this morning that General Oku had reported having captured thirteen prisoners at the battle of Liao Yang. He also gave a detailed list of the Russian stores which General Oku captured as follows: Thirty horses, 2,288 rifles, 127 ammunition wagons, 582 rounds of artillery, 653,820 small arms cartridges, great quantities of timber, flour, rice, forage, engineering implements, clothing and accoutrements.

Marquis Oyama reports that the armies under General Kuropatkin and Nodzu made no prisoners in the fighting before Liao Yang. General Kuropatkin captured 40 horses, 389 small arms, 3,000 rounds of artillery and 600,000 rounds of rifle ammunition, telegraph apparatus and various small implements. General Nodzu captured 490 rifles, 114 rounds of artillery and 37,580 rounds of rifle ammunition, 2 heliographs, telephones, tools and large quantities of foodstuffs and timber. General Oku captured sufficient timber to construct railroad depots.

No Court-Martial.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—The Associated Press is authorized to again deny absolutely the story that Rear Admiral Prince Oukhtomsky has been court-martialed. It is positively stated that he has never been under arrest at Port Arthur, and that there has never been a question of his trial by court-martial. He has simply been superseded by Rear Admiral Wirtz in the temporary command of the Port Arthur Squadron, which Oukhtomsky took over when the late Rear Admiral Wirtz fell. This does not necessarily mean that the admiral is satisfied with Rear Admiral Oukhtomsky. On the contrary, his shortcomings are recognized, leading to the decision to place Rear Admiral Wirtz in command of the squadron.

The latest dispatches received by the war office here leave the situation at the front practically unchanged. There is no truth in the report called to the Express of London, from Tokyo, that there is nothing yet to show that the Field Marshal Oyama has begun to move in force. The reported fighting between the Japanese and Major-General Mischenko's Cossacks, probably refers to the sharp skirmish southeast of Mukden, news of which has already been cabled to the Associated Press.

Wingham, Ont., Sept. 19.—Mr. Thomas Holmes, the last of the editorial staff of the Colonist, Toronto's first daily newspaper, died Saturday at his residence here, in his 82nd year. He had been ill for some time. The cause of his death was a gradual breaking-up of the system.

His Diamond Teeth.

London, Sept. 19.—The most notable figure nowadays in the west end is the Sultan of Lahore, who is stopping at the Hyde Park Hotel. The Sultan is seen driving out in his automobile. The machine is glorified with gorgeous crests and coats of arms. The Sultan, owner himself who always is the center of general attraction. The reason is that the Sultan possesses a set of teeth, all his own, all the front ones being set in diamonds encrusted in the effect at close quarters is astonishing.

On the trip from Denver the thing which impressed the visitors was the sight of the vast cornfields of the midwest. The party made a tour of Chicago in carriages, and will go to Detroit.

SOUTH AFRICAN WARNS BRITAIN

Warns Britain

Says She May Eventually Lose Some Colonies.

TRADE IN OUR FARM PRODUCE

Government Anxious to Develop It in the Old Country—Manitoba Wheat the Best.

London, Sept. 19.—A. Bailey, M. P. for Barkley West, in the Cape Parliament, told a deputation of South African representatives that Britain might eventually lose some of her colonies by making colonial questions party questions in Britain. The remedy for this would be the giving of representation to the colonies in proportion to their subscriptions to some common imperial fund.

Mr. F. W. Leigh, president of the Federation of Grocers' Associations, speaking at the grocery exhibition, hoped the enterprise displayed by the Canadian Government would next year be emulated by the other belligerent nations, that the movement would bind closer the daughters and the motherland.

Canadian Commissioner Brodie, speaking at the Grocery Exhibition, said the Canadian Government was anxious to develop the trade in farm produce, seeing that nearly 50 per cent of their population was employed in agriculture.

In the journal of the board of agriculture, Mr. A. D. Hall, writing on the Rothamsted experimental station, enables the baker to make one or two more loaves to each sack of flour. While No. 1 hard Manitoba sold last season at 35 shillings a quarter, the best British sold for 29 shillings.

Czar Has Decided to Form a Second Force.

TALES OF FRICTION UNTRUE

Alexieff and Kuropatkin Not at Loggerheads the Latter Not Interfering With Operations.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19, 1:57 p.m.—Acting upon the advice of his military advisers, Emperor Nicholas has decided to form a second Manchurian army, to be formed of the corps which are being sent to the Far East and sent to the Far East. The announcement was made in the command of the second Manchurian army, which will be under the command of both armies, but probably without the title of commander-in-chief. It is this impending reorganization which seems to have led to the countless rumors and reports about the alleged friction between the two commanders. Kuropatkin will virtually be in command of the second Manchurian army, and as such he will not be subordinate in title to Alexieff. The Associated Press is informed that Alexieff will continue to be vicerey, and as such he will not be subordinate in title to Alexieff. ## CRAP GAME CAUSES DEATH OF SIX Bloody Battle Between White and Black Gamblers at Cairo, Ill.

Cairo, Ill., Sept. 19.—A negro employed by Bryan's Landing, four miles below here, has been killed in a quarrel over a crap game. Six men were killed, three whites and three negroes. A white man who had lost his money in the game went away and summoned a party of friends, returned to where the game was being played and demanded the money. A fight with rifles followed.

A MEAN TRICK

Practical Joker Flakes Things Uncomfortable for Young Men.

London, Sept. 19.—In Colchester, England, a practical joker made things very uncomfortable one night for 40 young people. Twenty young men each received a letter, delicately worded and written in a feminine hand, asking him to meet the writer outside one of the largest buildings in town. The writer vowed her affection for each and asked in order to make identification complete, that he should wear a straw hat slightly tilted on the right side, a rolled umbrella under his right arm and a sprig of ivy in his button-hole.

Then at the appointed hour a number of young men were observed to approach the building, where they were gradually reinforced, and each wore a straw hat set rakishly on his right eye, twirled an umbrella in a vain attempt to appear unconcerned, and sported a leaf of ivy in his coat.

Presently the young men themselves began to study one another's attire with increasing embarrassment and discomfort. The lamb and the wildcat under the inquiry whether the success was lasting. As soon as the hands were free, the practical joker predicted that it is more likely that the Middle East question will become a matter of dispute.

The Novosti, on the other hand, contends that British and Russian interests in Asia are identical, and oppose the idea that the treaty will become a bone of contention, especially as it was concluded with the knowledge and consent of Russia.

IS OPPOSED TO CHURCH UNION

Dr. Milligan Declares That the Various Sects Would Not Long Agree.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—During his sermon yesterday morning at old St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Milligan raised a dissenting voice against the proposed organic union of the churches. He said his experiences in Scotland had taught him that union of different creeds could not be attended with success.

Should the proposed federation of the Presbyterian churches be accomplished, might be possible to set aside certain points for baptism, whether by immersion or otherwise, and for other rites peculiar to each sect, but he did not believe the different sections would long agree.

Some might hold out for a week, and some a year, but the ultimate result would be to pass a word of caution. Each church had its own "gears," and the Presbyterian Church had its own "gears." He was opposed to any scheme that would do away with it.

DEATH OF PRINCE HERBERT BISMARCK

Eldest Son of the Iron Chancellor Passes Away—His Career.

Friedrichshagen, Sept. 18.—Prince Herbert Bismarck died this morning at 10:15 o'clock. The end was painless. Since he ceased to be foreign minister on the retirement of his father in 1890, Prince Herbert Bismarck had taken part in public affairs only as a member of the Reichstag. His attitude had been that of a man not appreciated by his sovereign, and who was waiting in the background for an opportunity to resume his career. His delivery as a parliamentary speaker improved year by year. He always declined to join any political group, steadily calling himself an independent. His haughty and imperious manners of early life, when he was ever conscious of the fact that he was the son of the most powerful statesman in Europe, softened in later life. Prince Bismarck's father trained him for his successor as chancellor of the German Empire, and advanced him rapidly in the diplomatic service, until at the age of 40 years he was Minister of Foreign Affairs, in which position he took part in nearly every important international transaction.

An incident that nearly wrecked Prince Herbert's career and that caused the old chancellor great annoyance was Prince (Count) Herbert's elopement with Princess Carola, Beuthen, the wife of Prince Karl, the head of that distinguished Silesian house. The princess was of the Hatzfeldt family, and young Bismarck at the time was his father's private secretary. Count Herbert lived with the princess in Southern Italy for a few weeks, and then, at the command of his father, returned to Germany. The princess afterwards was divorced and has since died.

The title of Prince Bismarck and the large fortune of the deceased will go to his 7-year-old son, Otto. The late Emperor Frederick's eldest grandchild, Prince Bismarck, who has since increased in value, and the chancellor's grandchild, Prince Herbert, $2,400,000 in securities and cash. The estate is now estimated to be worth $4,000,000, exclusive of the lands.

Why Your Head Aches

The mechanism of the human body is wonderful. Like delicate machinery even a slight cause may so disturb its working as to render it practically useless. Sick headache indicates more than a trifling stomach disorder. The liver and kidneys are sure to be affected.

To cure the cause of headaches and prevent new attacks use Ferrozone. It adds the stomach, tones the kidneys, sends a stream of vitalizing blood to the brain and nerves.

Ferrozone braces, gives tone, elevates your spirits. No such headache is known. For headaches it has no equal; try it. Price 25 cents per box or six for $2.50, at all chemists or Folsom & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

The late Marquis of Salisbury and Prof. Lecky are succeeded on the British historical manuscripts commission by Mr. Morley and Prof. C. H. Firth. Prof. Kuno Fischer, whose 80th birthday was celebrated recently, was for half a century an ideal college lecturer. His auditorium was always crowded.

THE ROCK SLIPPED

Expert Bell Explains Cause of the Recent Earthquake.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Dr. Bell, director of the geological survey, attributes the recent earthquake to a slight slip in the rock surface of the earth. He says: "There is exerted a constant lateral pressure of the rocks on the earth's surface. This pressure is greater laterally than horizontally, or by gravitation, because the earth is cooling and contracting, and the outer shell, in an effort to accommodate itself to the diminishing inner body, presses laterally with a constant strain. The greater resistance is found in the Laurentian rocks, whose extent is two or three thousand miles, solid, to Baffin Land, and Greenland. The rocks to the south are more broken, and when they slip they come against the Laurentian mass with a shock and quiver which constitutes the earthquake. The cause of the slip, however, which fixed the time of its occurrence, is found in the positions of the sun and moon. The moon is now in its first quarter. As the tides are affected by these influences, so is the crust of the earth. When both are pulling together or opposite, tides are higher than at other times, so the attractions being crossed at the first and third quarters of the moon, are lessened, and the lateral pressure is left more free to exert itself, with the result that a slip is liable to occur. This cross strain helped to allow the rocks to yield to the pressure. It may be seen that the earthquake shocks in the Ottawa Valley occur between the southern edge of the ancient granitic rocks and the newer rocks to the south."

SLAIN BY RUSSIANS

An Officer of the Czar Started a Massacre of Armenians.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—It has leaked out that when news of the latest Armenian massacre in the Turkish empire, of Sassun reached Russian Armenia, of Armenian patriots, headed by Russian officers of Armenian blood, and accompanied by a priest, crossed the frontier to attack the Kurds who were pillaging the villages. During the ensuing fight, Capt. Zykoff, commanding a force of Russian infantry and Cossacks, followed the Armenians into Turkish territory and opened fire on them from behind.

Messengers were sent to the Russians by the Armenians to inform them that the patriots were not fighting against the Russians, but against the Kurds. The messengers were killed by order of Capt. Zykoff. Then the priest, holding a cross, approached the Russians, only nine of the invading Armenian escapees. The Russian were responsible for all the deaths except five, which were due to the Turks.

Next night the bodies of the Armenians who had been killed were carried into Russian territory, stripped and photographed as proof that Zykoff's orders were executed in the territory of the Czar. One of these photographs was sent to a friendly officer. It shows the hillside thickly strewn with naked corpses.

THE SERVANT PROBLEM

English Woman Plans a Great Co-Operative Society.

London, Sept. 19.—Of the many schemes which have been suggested as a possible solution of the domestic servant problem, probably the latest is the most ambitious. The idea, which had its inception in the mind of an unmarried daughter of a country earl, and which has been largely discussed in the London press, is that of the formation of a co-operative government between mistresses and maids. The scheme is called "The National Registry, Limited." It is planned to obtain an army of 100,000 mistresses and 300,000 servants to bind themselves together in a friendly union. The work is to be done systematically. A town or district will be taken and a few ladies there induced to interest themselves in the movement.

"Then," says a cynic, "the trouble will begin for the whole place is to be canvassed in order to get into touch with those who want situations and those who will have them to offer. The response will not doubt be prodigious and the tales told each side will be edifying when they are not scandalous."

But it is to come out all right in the end, for when two hundred ladies are prepared to take a 21 (25) share each a local committee of management will be formed and the good mistresses and the good servants will embrace each other. Of course only exemplary servants and mistresses with good characters will be admitted into this noble society which pronounces the doom of the bogus and undesirable registry of fees and is to save a million pounds ($5,000,000) a year alleged to be paid in fees by mistresses and servants to the registry offices.

"He that does good to another man also does it to himself, not only in the society which pronounces the doom of doing it, for the consciousness of well-doing is an ample reward."

LEADER BORDEN AT THE ESSEX

Speaks at Kingsville and Windsor on Issues Between the Parties.

Windsor Ont., Sept. 17.—Mr. R. L. Borden, Opposition leader, addressed audiences at Kingsville and Windsor today. This was Mr. Borden's first visit to the Essex, South and North, and he received a hearty welcome from the Conservatives of the two ridings. His speeches at the meetings were along similar lines and did not differ to any great extent from those made at St. Thomas and Aylmer.

The alleged broken pledges of the Liberal party served as a starter in his tirade against the Government. He said that they had promised free trade as it was given to England, and prohibition as given to Maine, neither of which promises had been kept.

He attacked the Government appointments to the judiciary, claiming that in the several cases they had been made the subject of disgraceful intrigue. Referring to the appointment of J. B. Jackson as commercial agent for the Dominion at Manchester, Mr. Borden said he had received it simply because he had been a party hostler.

The speaker next launched into the Dundonald case, eulogizing his lordship and accusing Hon. Mr. Fisher of interference for selfish and party ends. He rehearsed the celebrated case in detail, but did not throw any new light on the incident.

The Grand Trunk Pacific contract came in for the usual denunciation. Mr. Borden declaring that he objected to spending millions to build up United States terminals.

Speaking of fiscal matters, Mr. Borden said it has been impossible to find out the Government's attitude on the matter of protection as against free trade. He said he had said one thing at one time and another thing at another time. Sir Wilfrid, asked to say whether he was a free trader or a protectionist, had said he was a practical man on the subject. Such, however, was the policy of the Conservative party. Protection of an adequate nature, had been the policy of the Conservative party since the days of Sir John A. Macdonald laid down the great national policy, and it was the policy of today from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The policy of the Conservative party, the policy of the people who had been so much benefited by it.

Mr. Louis Wigie, the Conservative candidate for South Essex, and a number of others spoke at the Kingsville meeting.

NO QUARTER AT PORT ARTHUR

Ferocity of Combat for the Stronghold Increases.

RUSSIANS ABUSE WHITE FLAG

600 Japanese Offering to Surrender Wiped Out by Defenders of the Fortress.

Paris, Sept. 17.—The correspondent of the Matin at Chefoo says that the Japanese are preparing for a decisive attack upon Port Arthur, and that troops are daily landed at Dairi with powerful cannon.

Chefoo, Sept. 17.—Today's contribution to the news from Port Arthur is a rumor to the effect that the Japanese have succeeded in tunneling under the line of the northern line of Russian forts at Port Arthur, and exploded a mine which almost entirely wrecked the fort. The story, however, rests on very slim foundation, and has not met with ready belief. Very little can be learned of the progress of the siege, but all accounts agree that the Japanese are making great progress, and that the Russian fire is very weak and has no appreciable effect in checking the steady advance of the Japanese toward the city.

Chefoo, Sept. 18, 9:30 p.m.—According to Lieut. Prince Radzivil, of the Russian army, who reached here last night from Port Arthur, bearing dispatches from Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, the commander-in-chief of the forces of the Russian stronghold, to General Kuropatkin, the temper of the belligerents at Port Arthur has reached an absolutely hopeless stage. Prince Radzivil declares that the men of both armies are absolutely venomous in their mutual animosity. Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel has addressed his garrison, saying that if the Japanese soldiers entered the fortress it undoubtedly will be impossible to raise the white flag, and that they must prevent a massacre. For this reason Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel is making no objection to civilians leaving Port Arthur. In consequence of the fact that flags of truce are ignored, and the Japanese are hoisted, there have been lying on the slopes of the hills of the northeast defenses for weeks past are still unburied, and the stench in Port Arthur from decomposing bodies is almost unendurable.

In the course of the assaults which took place in the four last days of August two companies of Japanese soldiers, according to Prince Radzivil, had themselves at the mercy of the Russians and hoisted a white flag. To this, however, the Russians paid no attention, and continued to volley rapidly into the helpless ranks of the Japanese. In the meantime Japanese troops in the rear of the companies that hoisted the white flag saw what their comrades had done and expressed their disapproval of the surrender by firing into their rear. As a result of this 600 men were annihilated. For days afterward the wounded men of the Russian army were lying on the ground in their hands in pleas for help, but the Russians were afraid to venture to give succor. A number of heaps of dead the prince saw two soldiers—one a Russian and the other a Japanese—lying locked in a death embrace. The teeth of the Japanese were sunk in the Russian's throat, while the Russian had forced two of the teeth of the Japanese into his own mouth. The prince cited this as merely an incident, denoting the ferocity of the conflict at Port Arthur. The prince will leave here tomorrow to rejoin General Kuropatkin. Prince Radzivil said that the Russian army was a Russian staff officer, left Port Arthur the night of Sept. 16 on a junk, and arrived here last night.

When he landed in this port he did not make himself known under the name given above, but the correspondent of the Matin discovered his identity. The prince and the officer accompanying him brought out dispatches and mail matter from Port Arthur weighing in all 80 pounds.

Correspondent, the prince said the shortage of ammunition supplies of the Russian army was not true. There is an abundance of ammunition for both large and small arms and plenty of preserved food. Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel in the best of spirits. He is encouraged by the heroic example set by the soldiers of whom 5,000 of the original 8,000 in the hospital have returned to the front. There has been no fighting since Sept. 14, with the exception of artillery and outpost exchanges. The Japanese shells have done great damage to the hospital and other buildings in Port Arthur, but the loss of life from these bombardments has been very slight. Madame Stoessel, wife of the Russian commander, is at the head of the Red Cross work in Port Arthur. She is in constant attendance on the soldiers who are considered her guardian angel. The newspaper Novik has been suppressed for one month for having published news that was detrimental to Russian interests. Individual acts of heroism during the fighting have been numerous. For long an absorbing topic of conversation, Petroff became surrounded by some Japanese soldiers whom he fought successfully till his sword broke. He then used his fists and was able to hold his own. He was wounded all over his body. One company of Russian troops were occupying a perilous outpost, and when they found their position to be untenable, they sent the following message to Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel as follows: "We are unable to hold this position." "But you can die," he said in reply, and so they did. The fact that the Japanese have on several occasions used explosive bullets has been verified by Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel. He gives an instance which occurred at Taku Shan, when two men of the Sixteenth Regiment were killed by such bullets, their bodies being blown to pieces. On Sept. 14 the boxes of 2,000 Japanese soldiers were discovered between fort No. 2 and fort No. 3. The stench from the decomposed bodies attracted investigation. The Russian authorities admit that they are not strong enough to engage in a battle with the Japanese. According to this version, a Japanese artillery fired on the two companies, when the white flag was raised, whereupon the two companies turned and charged the battery. According to this version, Gen. Nogi, who happened to be present,

REPORTED FOR BRIBING

Judges in 500 Trial Name Several for Corrupt Acts.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 17.—Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Tuckwell, sat for a short time this morning to decide what persons should be reported for the commission of corrupt acts. They will report that these were very general.

"We have good reason to believe that they were," said the chancellor. "There was a large amount of money floating around, and it was lavishly dispensed. Men, whose railway fare was $5, got $10, and others, whose fare was $10, got $25. And look at the roll of money that was said to be on the 'Minnie M.'"

Their lordships report Napoleon Audette for bribing J. P. Bonham; Geo. Grant, for paying the fare of Brompston; L. Kennedy, alias Ferguson, and Patrick J. Galvin, for organized proposition; Wm. Coyne and David Hopson, for furnishing refreshments for voters; J. D. Lamont, for furnishing refreshments and transportation; Wm. H. Goodwin and W. C. Kilpatrick, for paying fares.

Mr. Duvernet suggested the deputy registrar of the court should be reported, but the judges would not condemn him unheard, while agreeing to report the others. The petitioners are only allowed witness' costs in the charges that were heard and proved. The chancellor condemned the multiplication of charges in election cases.

HOGUE MURDER TRIAL

Montreal Man Charged With Having Killed His Wife.

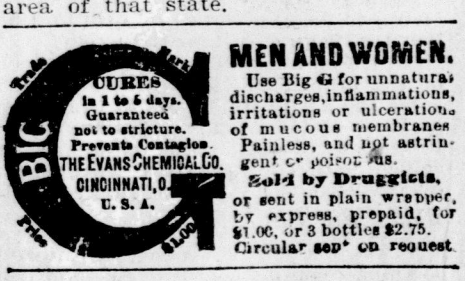

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Magloire Hogue is on trial for his life at this session of the court of King's Bench. He is charged with having killed his wife at the rear of 301 Montcalm street on the night of April 2.

The murder is thought to have taken place at 9 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hogue, and about 8 o'clock they went out to spend the evening with some friends. When they returned about 10:30 they went to their room, and soon after Hogue came in to see them. When they quitted the house Hogue was having a bitter quarrel with his wife. They were, then, not very much surprised when Hogue said to them, according to the statement, "Come quick and see: I have killed my wife." They went with him to the bedroom and found Mrs. Hogue lying in a pool of blood on the bed, her throat and head fearfully cut, as if with a razor. Hogue went out soon after and went to the police station, where he tried to get some drink. He then made admissions of having killed his wife, and soon after the constables were called and he was taken to the police station. Hogue was formally arrested on the strength of the coroner's jury's verdict charging him with murder.

The North Grey Fiasco.

The North Grey election trial has been postponed until Oct. 31, but before adjournment Chief Justice Moss and Mr. Justice Street dismissed what are known as "the Buffalo charges," upon which the petitioners mainly rested their case.

The good name of prominent and respected citizens was attacked by the petitioners on the strength of unsupported statements by two Buffalo seafarers named Nelson and Mulloy. These men offered the Conservative party an affidavit in which they swore that they and several associates had been engaged by "Cap" Sullivan to do crooked work in the North Grey, North Perth and North Norfolk. The Conservative organizer, Alex Wright, went to Buffalo to meet them, and drew up the affidavits which they signed, though he denies paying them for their part in the arrangement. These documents, containing the most astounding accusations against respectable residents of Stratford, Warton and Owen Sound, were given to the Conservative press and spread broadcast. The complete explosion of these charges reveals the desperate means employed to discredit Liberal candidates, and open up their constituencies.

The witness Nelson, who was shown to have been convicted of theft and assault in Buffalo, swore, among other things, that he had been ordered to report to two well-known citizens of Stratford, Mr. R. T. Harding, barrister, and Mr. William O'Brien, of the Stratford Beacon. Both these gentlemen swore they had never seen Nelson. He gave a minute account of his movements, and it was proved by the train service that he could not have traveled according to his own schedule. His fellow-conspirator, Mulloy, told a story about meeting Dr. Hough at Warton, and receiving a map of the roads and money for corrupt purposes. Dr. Hough, in rebuttal, said he refused to have any converse with Mulloy, and the latter could not produce the alleged map, which would have been a documentary evidence of a damaging kind. Mulloy went to Owen Sound, but was ordered out of the riding by Mr. MacKay's financial agent, the present Judge Hutton. Every person accused in the Buffalo affidavits swore to their falsity.

Mr. Aylsworth, counsel for Mr. MacKay, used strong language in addressing the court, alleging "a vile conspiracy" against the honor of respectable citizens. Judge Street, in dismissing the charges, remarked that wherever the story of Nelson and Mulloy was brought into contact with the names of persons in this country who are mentioned by them and are called, the statements of the men who are imported from the United States, and who are disreputable men on their own showing, are contradicted by a number of men in this Province who are admittedly respectable men, and who have not discredited themselves in the way that these two foreigners have done.

Chief Justice Moss was even more pronounced. Replying to the request of petitioner's counsel that Captain Sullivan be reported for perjury, he said he would hesitate to report any person as guilty of corrupt practices upon the testimony of such men as Nelson and Mulloy. They were both men who admitted themselves willing for pay to enter into a compact to do a most discreditable thing. "The men who were so engaged," continued the chief justice, "and they say they carried out their employment to a certain extent. They now come forward, not at all because they repent it and desire to make atonement for the wrongdoing they say they were engaged in, but actuated by the very low motive of being revenged, or, as they said, 'getting back at' those persons who they think wronged them. With a view to that they have concocted a story, at all events, with regard to this riding, and endeavored to support it by evidence which is not to be evidence at all. They have been met at every point in regard to their statements, so far as this constituency is affected. They have been proved to have stated in the box matters which in the face of the other evidence could not have occurred, and to such an extent has that appeared here that speaking for myself, I would not be disposed to subject any man to any penalty on statements which they make concerning his conduct."

The heading of the report of the Sault Ste. Marie election in Saturday's Advertiser stated that the member, Mr. C. N. Smith, had been disqualified. This was a misreading of the dispatch. The personal charges against Mr. Smith were dropped by the petitioners, and he came out of the trial unscathed.

Rev. Armstrong Black, of St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, has resigned, and will return to the old country where he came five years ago. Mr. Black attracted much attention three years ago by a sermon in which he declared that Canada would never be a great nation until she had had a baptism of blood. Perhaps he has become tired of waiting for it.

"Britain" Correct.
[Toronto Globe.]

A correspondent, referring to our statement that "England has no general," remarks that "the majority of Britain's generals are Englishmen."

He misses altogether the point of our statement, which was made in correction of Mr. G. E. Foster's inaccurate use of the name "England" instead of "Britain."

Our correspondent has himself used the right name, and perhaps Mr. Foster also will do so after this second reminder.

Love's Young Dream.
[Chicago Record-Herald.]

They were just a young couple beginning life in a pretty flat, and what they didn't know about housekeeping would have filled three volumes. Being very much in love and a domestic turn of mind, they worked together like a pair of turtle doves. Tommy made the fire and set the table while Polly was getting breakfast. And they washed up and dressed in the kitchen together.

One night Polly awakened at midnight and slipped stealthily into a kimono. "Is it burglars?" whispered Tommy. "Is it burglars?"

"No," answered Polly. "You know we were to have a party to-night, and I forgot to put them to soak."

Tommy murmured something about any old day being good enough for beans, but Polly continued on her way to the kitchen. Soon Tommy heard a shriek.

"I-knew-it was b-u-r-g-l-a-r-s," he said, and, seizing his revolver, he hurried to his wife's assistance. She stood in the middle of the kitchen, very pale and firm, brandishing a lighted candle like Liberty enlightening the world.

"What's the trouble?" asked Tommy, making a big bluff. He wore a sheet wrapped around him like a Roman toga, and one glimpse of him would have frightened a burglar to death.

"Oh, Tommy, what do you think I have done?" another one.

"Set fire to the flat?" hazarded Tommy.

"Oh, not so bad as that; but, dear, we can't have baked beans tomorrow!"

"Why not, love?"

"I forgot to get any beans."

[New York Press.]

It is always too late to mend a broken pledge.

The only way for a politician to earn a kind word is to die.

When none of her female friends do, it is a sign the men do.

A woman's dinner party talk is almost a foreign language to her family.

It is a good deal easier to listen to the driest kind of a sermon than to try to live up to it.

The Fight.
[Chicago Chronicle.]

How nice it is that we can read how Jeffries slugged Munroe, and how he was hit by the big pug.

How elevating it must be to see two human dogs get up and snarl and bite and bleed, and how about like dogs.

How fine it is that we can know the joy without a flaw.

That for a day or two one can "pug" can't work his blatant jaw.

How grand it is that one big brute may whip another one.

And smash him in his hardened face, with mitts that weigh a ton.

But, oh, how grand if both the men could slug each other.

That neither one could ever want to fight another dog.

Automobiles in England.
[Saturday Review.]

We may take 1896 as the year when motor cars began to be common. But up to the end of last year not more than 14,000 "self-propelled" vehicles had been registered.

Since the bill came into operation on Jan. 1 the number has increased to over thirty thousand.

The total number of motor cars has actually been tripled in the last seven months. Probably the number of motor cycles is even greater than that.

It is a not uncommon practice for owners of cycles to take out a car license, which costs a few shillings, and includes the right to ride the smaller machine.

Finder Is Not Keeper.
[Toronto Globe.]

Under the criminal code of Canada, the finder of a lost article must take steps to discover the owner if he wishes to escape risk of indictment for theft.

A London young man has been charged with the theft of a somewhat heavy expense, having been required to restore a purse and money, and pay seven dollars cost for prosecution.

The German Emperor's English.
[M. A. P.]

The recent visit of King Edward to Kiel once again brought into notice the admirable English spoken by the German Emperor.

At the luncheon table, the emperor was in the happiest of moods, and made every one feel at his ease.

Prince Henry, referring to a speech made by an Englishman at a garden party, had given a few days before, said: "What a beautiful language, English is."

"Well, sir," said I, "you speak it so perfectly no one would know you were not an Englishman."

"Yes, we were taught well," he replied. "Until I was five years old, I spoke no other language, so also the emperor, and he and I both follow the same rule with our children."

This no doubt accounts for the very perfect English of Emperor William.

[Tokio Correspondence.]

The boys and girls, the young men and women of Japan, do love each other, I suppose; but one never sees the slightest shadow of evidence to prove it.

The spirit of wife adoration, she stood in the middle of the kitchen, very pale and firm, brandishing a lighted candle like Liberty enlightening the world.

"What's the trouble?" asked Tommy, making a big bluff. He wore a sheet wrapped around him like a Roman toga, and one glimpse of him would have frightened a burglar to death.

Mohair Wraps.
The wrap of the hour is mohair with wide wing sleeves. Beneath, a quite ephemeral gown is possible, or the ubiquitous shirt and blouse permissible. But the wrap is not at the same time the alpha and omega of the matter.

Traveling, in many instances, spells touring, under which condition a costume specially devised to meet the proposed exigencies is far and away the most comfortable conclusion to the matter.

A costume, let it be said, in no sort dependent on laundried details beyond perhaps some trifle in the shape of an incidental moustache collar, for its successful issue and for choice, with the most comfortable conclusion to the matter.

Now, this is a fabric that has stood the test of time, without a rival and, entirely apart from the fact that La Mode has granted it the grace of an immediate approving smile, is what I should advise, with never a thought elsewhere.

Respecting the fashioning thereof, my prophetic instinct whispers the elegance of a princess effect, closing down the left side from throat to hem.

This in effect only however, the skirt, a simple, well-hung affair, guileless of pleats, but with a nice flare at the feet, being planned apart from the slightly blouse upper for choice, two, however, finding admirable alliance beneath some chit leather belt.

Paradise of Umbrellas.
Saraka is the paradise of umbrellas. They are carried proudly over the heads of every official and every nobleman, but beneath this is the most striking person of higher rank, and inside the kraton an umbrella may be carried open, except that of the emperor himself. The umbrella is the crown, the wand of office, the outward sign of rank and distinction. There are umbrellas of gold, silver and out for the emperor; of gold and silver for the nobles; of silver and white for the lesser nobles; of white and black for the common people.

ing private wire from Bartlett, Fraser
& Carrington today:
New York, Sept. 19.—The fact that today was a Jewish holiday to some extent accounts for the smallness of the transactions up to noon. Further sentiment is somewhat unsettled, there being apprehensions of higher rates for money and some doubt about the condition of the corn. After the first hour it was known that there was singularly right in regard to the predictions about the wheat crop, had estimated the corn crop at 1,500,000,000 bushels, which is 500,000,000 bushels less than the Government estimate, and is the lowest in seven years, except one.
The effect, however, of the publication of these figures was not as large as it might have been. One of the strongest stocks was A. C. P., the conditions in the copper trade having shown decided improvement during the last week. In the steel stocks there were evidences of liquidation. It seems not probable that the reaction will go further and that stop orders, of which there are quite a number only slightly below current prices, will be uncovered. Sales to noon, 23,000.
