HON. A. G. BLAIR STEPS OUT

HE RESIGNS THE RAILWAY PORTFOLIO.

Out of Sympathy With His Colleagues on the Grand Trunk Pacific Policy—Believes That the Moncton-Quebec Portion of the New Project Will, if Carried Out, Injure the Intercolonial.

Ottawa, July 14.—Like a bolt out of the blue last night came the report that the Minister of Railways had sent in his resignation to the Prime Minister. Instantly it monopolized attention to the entire exclusion of everything else. Members forsook the chamber and gathered in knots in the corridors to discuss the matter. When the report was brought to the Prime Minister's attention, he refused to say a word in regard to it. Hon. Mr. Blair was just as reticent, and politely but firmly declined to open his mouth on the subject. Nobody, however, doubts that the report is true, and the probability is that the Prime Minister will be consulting the Governor-General with respect to the matter to-morrow morning.

The action of Mr. Blair is apparently connected with the Government's decision to build another Government line from Moncton to Quebec. He seemingly takes the view that such a policy will not be beneficial to the Intercolonial, which it has been his special pride and ambition to build up and extend. Being out of harmony with the majority of his colleagues, Mr. Blair doubtless felt there was only one course open to him. He was out of town on Saturday and Sunday, having gone to pay a visit to his daughter. He returned about 12.30, but did not attend the afternoon meeting of the Council, neither did he visit his department.

The Premier will in all likelihood announce the policy of the Government on the Grand Trunk Pacific project at the end of the present week or the beginning of the next. Sir Wilfrid has from the very beginning taken an active part in the negotiations, and will elaborate the Government plans for the benefit of Parliament.

Before the adjournment of the House of Commons at 1 o'clock this morning, Mr. R. L. Borden asked the Finance Minister, who was leading the House, whether he could give the House any information in relation to the rumors current that the Minister of Railways and Canals had handed in his resignation. He had no doubt the Minister of Finance was aware that throughout the corridors the rumor was current that Mr. Blair had resigned.

Hon. Mr. Fielding replied that he had not had the pleasure of seeing either the Prime Minister or Minister of Railways during the evening, and therefore was afraid he was not in a position to give the leader of the Opposition any information with regard to the question asked.

Mr. Borden suggested that perhaps before this evening the Minister of Finance might be able to get into communication with the Minister of Railways and Canals.

EXCITED BELFAST.

100,000 Men Participated in the Orange Celebration.

Belfast, Ireland, July 14.—The Orangemen yesterday engaged in their annual celebration of July 12, in their customary way. About 100,000 men participated in the celebration here. The entire police force was on duty and the troops were confined to the barracks to be ready in case of emergency. At Rostrevor, County Down, there are 1,700 police and soldiers in the town and vicinity, which gives the place the appearance of being in a state of siege.

Belfast, Ireland, July 14.—The procession of Orangemen on returning from the demonstration here were attacked by Nationalists and a serious riot ensued. There was an exchange of missiles, many windows were broken, and a number of policemen and civilians were injured. Strong reinforcements of police restored order. Similar rioting occurred at Carrick Hill.

FREE FOOD LEAGUE.

Formed by Unionist Free Traders—Educational Crusade.

London, July 14.—The Unionist free traders held another meeting last night under the Chairmanship of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a committee room of the House of Commons. The Unionist Free Food League was formally organized, and it was announced that a large campaign fund was accumulating. The league will immediately start an educational crusade. An appeal will be made to Premier Balfour to set an early day for a full fiscal debate.

PLOT AGAINST PETER.

To Avenge the Late King Alexander—Twelve Officers Involved.

Bucharest, Roumania, July 14.—It is said that the Servian authorities have unearthed a conspiracy to avenge the late King Alexander. A lieutenant of a frontier garrison has been arrested charged with making threats against Colonel Maschin. A search of the lieutenant's quarters disclosed evidence that twelve officers had formed a league to take vengeance upon the regicides.

TWO CIVIC COMMITTEES AIR THEIR TROUBLES

Differences Between Board of Works and Property—Splendid Half-Year's Record Shows $900 Saved on Last Year

—Aldermen will play Baseball and Spirited Competition Ensues for Places on the Team.

The recent row between the Property Committee was threshed out at the City Council meeting last evening.

Ald. Edmondson brought the matter up under the head of Inquiries. He said:—

"Being that the Board of Works have assumed the responsibilities of the Property Committee, I would like to ask Ald. Mounter whether or not he intends to place a guard chain on the new Rankin dock. This matter of placing the electric light pole was referred to us, but Engineer Jones interfered and placed the pole himself, saying that he wanted to use it in putting a chain across the dock. I think if the Board of Works will attend properly to their duties they will be a busy body of men. Complaints against the Board of Works are coming in all the time."

Ald. Mounter replied that Engineer Jones had the matter in hand.

Under the head of new business, Ald. Edmondson brought the matter up again. He moved that the line-men, Moore Bros., be given control of the circuit outside of the electric light plant. As it is now, when a complaint comes in about the lights, the line-men blame the matter on the Engineer and the Engineer blames the line-men and, as a result, the aldermen of the Property Committee take the blame.

Ald. Edmondson wanted to give Moore Bros. full control, so Council would know whom to hold liable if lights are not burning.

Ald. Mounter here took occasion to reply to Ald. Edmondson on the pole business.

He thought Engineer Jones had a perfect right to place the pole, as he had orders to place it ten days ago. He also thought that the sooner this department had a head, the better.

The Mayor ordered the Property Committee to bring in a report on the matter.

All the members of the Council were present at the meeting, with the exception of Ald. Robinson and Taylor. The electric fans were in working order, and a marked improvement was noticed in the atmosphere of the room. One fan was placed on the desk near Ald. Martin and one of the Aldermen announced that it was for the purpose of keeping the little alderman cool. Ald. Martin himself thought that the fan was as opposition to him in the matter of wind. Glasses of ice cold water were placed on the desks of the Aldermen and reporters. This act on the part of the janitor was much appreciated.

Letters from Messrs. Moore, Robinson and Scott, re dog taxes, were referred to the Finance Committee.

J. E. Thomas complained of the poor service in sprinkling the streets. Some of the Aldermen also made complaints in this matter. The contractor will be notified to live up to his contract.

The annual report of the Chief of the Fire Department was referred to the Property Committee.

A communication from Thomas McKie, re injuries received by his boy on Queen St., was referred to Finance.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association will be held in Guelph on Aug. 12 and 13. The matter of sending delegates was left with the Finance Committee.

ATHLETIC ARTISTS.

An invitation was extended from J. W. Shackleton to the City Council to play a game of baseball with the Council of Algona at Walpole Island, on the day of the Christ Church Sunday School's excursion to that place. The invitation was accepted, and after the meeting the aldermen discussed the question of the different positions on the team. It is a tight race between Ald. Scullard and Martin as to who will play "short" stop. It is thought that Ald. Scullard will win out, for if Ald. Martin's baseball playing is anything like his Council speeches, it is a sure thing that he would never qualify at short stop. Ald. Piggott is billed for first base, as that position requires a man with a long reach, and Ald. Piggott is fast developing along this line in trying to secure factories for the Maple City. He also might qualify behind the bat, as it is claimed, especially by ambitious mothers with marriageable daughters, that he would be a "good catch." The team will be made up of aldermen and ex-aldermen of ex-mayors. This fortuitously lets in ex-Mayor T. A. Smith. The guarantee from the Ontario Asphalt Block Company was referred to the Board of Works.

The engineer will be instructed to tear up the plank walk on Forest St. from Victoria Ave. to Van Allen Ave.

Moved by Mounter and Piggott, that owing to the delay in the execution of a paving company or partnership and sureties the deposit should become subject to forfeiture, but that the matter be referred to the Board of Works to consult the solicitor and take any necessary action in default of satisfactory agreement and bondsmen not being given to re-let the work or to report back to the Council.—Carried.

In this by-law a fee of $100 was charged to the Chatham Navigation Co. for the use of the Rankin dock for one year. As this company are now paying $100 a year taxes Ald. Scullard asked that this clause of the by-law be laid over till the next meeting. The by-law passed and Ald. Mounter later made a motion that half of the fee be rebated this year, owing to the lateness of the season when the dock was completed. This carried.

Two by-laws for plank walks, one on the east side of Ingram street from Head street to the north end and the other on the west side of Ingram street from Head street to the north end and 22 local improvement by-laws were put through their reading and passed.

THOUGHT ALL KNEW

"I thought everybody knew. Abe. Savage sidewalk inspector," remarked that dignitary this morning, "after 37 years' residence in this city, but do you know there are some who do not. Why, this very morning, Irish Jack came up to me and said, 'When you start that Queen St. pavement, don't open up more than one block at a time and finish as you go.'"

"I looked at him and after a minute I realized he thought I was one of the bilkable pavement contractors, and I got wise. A little earlier I would have given him a flight of imagination that would have made his hair stand."

TO BREAK MORGAN.

SAID TO BE THE AIM OF JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

The Rumors Are Denied by Both, but Wall Street Traders Anticipate a Great Battle.

New York, July 14.—One feature of the dull market is worthy of note, writes Walter Wellman to The Chicago Record-Herald. It is the renewed gossip that John D. Rockefeller wants to "break" Pierpont Morgan.

I am told by a man who is in position to know whereof he speaks that Mr. Rockefeller has never approved of Morgan's promotion enterprises. He particularly disapproves of the steel trust, and in forming his opinion jealousy over the creation of a greater industrial concern than the Standard Oil Company played a natural part. Mr. Rockefeller is a man who lives a good deal within his shell. He is not communicative even to his family. But in divers ways he has permitted it to become known that he is opposed to wild-cat promoting, and that he regards Mr. Morgan as the chief offender in that line. It is known to everyone that a year or so ago, while Mr. Morgan was still in his reorganization fever, Mr. Vanderbilt made an address before a bankers' association, in which he pointed out the danger of manufacturing too many securities without adequate property behind them. Mr. Vanderbilt aimed this blow at Mr. Morgan, and from that day to this the wise men of the street have known that there was a coolness between the greatest man of money and the greatest financier on the American continent.

But this is quite a different thing from a desire on Mr. Rockefeller's part to "break" Mr. Morgan, and this part of the story will have to be dismissed for want of both evidence and inherent probability. If Mr. Morgan were to get into trouble, doubtless the first man to offer help would be Mr. Rockefeller.

Mr. Morgan is not likely to get into trouble. Idle gossippers, men with plenty of imagination and very little information, have tried to make themselves and others believe the king was about to be dethroned. They point to the colossal failure of the International Mercantile Marine Company, and to the steadily dropping values of steel trust securities. They say Mr. Morgan has "lost his grip"; that "he is no longer the wizard of Wall Street," and that he "could not organize a $5,000,000 company now to save his life, because he has no followers." So much for the gossips. Now for the judgment of better informed men. These latter admit Mr. Morgan's prestige is a little weakened by his shipping trust failure and the weakness of steel shares, but he is still easily the first financier of the American continent, if not of the world. Men who talk of his going to pieces don't know anything of the facts.

Mr. Morgan has millions and millions of money and sterling securities in his strong boxes. He has, for the most part, been gambling with other people's money. He rarely makes large investments on his own account. He prefers to engineer deals, as the guide, philosopher and friend, and stick away in his vaults the commissions on other men's buyings and sellings. No one that will tell knows how much money or its convertible equivalent Mr. Morgan has stuck away, but it must be a very large sum. Mr. Morgan has a number of hobbies, and one of these is the maintenance of a big cash surplus. He carries money in his vaults far and away beyond all ordinary needs, because, as he says, one can never tell what is going to happen. There has not been a money tightness in New York in twenty years that Mr. Morgan did not take the first step in relieving, and he always appears to have plenty of stuff on hand to do it with. Mr. Morgan makes so much of this point of having a large available surplus that the first question he asks his partners whenever he returns from a voyage is, "Well, boys, how's the ammunition? Plenty on hand?"

His use of the word "ammunition" indicates his attitude of mind. High finance is a good deal like war. There is no use of going into battle unless you have plenty of powder.

The Planet

TUESDAY, JULY 14.

KENT GERRYMANDER

As it now stands the County of Kent is to be gerrymandered. A fair and equal allotting of the constituencies would be, as The Planet has previously pointed out, to make the river the dividing line with the city of Chatham in the northern constituency. This plan makes the population of the two Kent constituencies almost identical and observes the natural dividing line supplied by Providence.

But some "Liberal" politician evidently thinks he sees a party advantage in zigzagging the boundary line across the map and perpetrating that farcical division of Tilbury village, necessitating the preparation of two voters' lists for the village—and the "eminently fair" Liberals at Ottawa have agreed to that.

It is, however, possible that better counsel will ultimately prevail—and the ridings be made to conform to the natural boundaries and in population.

WANTS LOW RATES FOR PEOPLE.

Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the Conservative party, has raised his voice in protest against the granting of railway charters, which permit companies to over-capitalize and raise excessive sums on bond issues. There is no good purpose served by such legislation. In the end the people are made to bear the burdens of this unhealthy inflation of values. If too much capital is invested in a railway somebody pockets the surplus. But interest must be paid and dividends are welcomed by those induced to put their money into such projects. The natural result is that those dependent upon such railways for service are compelled to pay rates that are much higher than would be necessary, if capitalization were kept within proper bounds. Another evil will be found to raise out of the system, if in the future, the Government attempts to force upon such companies a reduction in rates. The large capital and its poor earning powers can always be urged as an excuse for raising an equitable arrangement of traffic charges. Mr. Borden is speaking for the people who are forced to support railway freaks but he cannot prevail on the Government to check the outrage. To the Ministers, the railway which is not over-capitalized is an object of pity.

Speaking of the dying Pope, The Presbyterian says: "It is needless to say that we dissent from the system of religious thought which is held by the Roman church, and that we utterly repudiate and abhor the claims to spiritual and temporal authority that are put forward by the so-called 'viceregent of God upon earth.' One can do all that and yet admit and admire the splendid talents and the personal attractiveness of Leo XIII. Not all the Popes have been examples of godly living, but Leo's character was unstained. The remarkable evangelical letters which he put forth from time to time, while abating no jot of papal assertion, yet breathed a true spirit of good will and a desire for the betterment of humanity. And upon the whole his influence was for greater enlightenment and freedom within the bounds of his own communion." This is a striking testimony, not merely to the purity of Leo's life, but to the growing spirit of toleration. From Antichrist to the character described above is a vast stride.

WANTS HER CHILD

Application for the custody of the child of Mrs. William Wright, Ridgeway, was made yesterday by the child's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright have separated and the father took the child to the paternal grandmother. Mrs. Wright is seeking to obtain possession again. L. J. Reyceart appeared for the mother and Walter Mills for the father.

The motion was enlarged to permit of additional affidavits being filed.

FALSE REPORT

The many friends of Fred Weaver, Chatham Township, were very much grieved and considerably surprised on Saturday to hear certain reports of his death. It was rumored that he died from the effects of a kick from a horse.

These same friends will now be pleased and delighted to learn that there was not the least foundation for the report. Mr. Weaver never felt better in his life than at the present time and, in fact, was in the city on Saturday driving the horse which was blamed for all the trouble.

Don't be afraid to scatter the sunshine of laughter about you; it often helps to revive somebody's faith in the sweetness of things.

My heart palpitated, I had faint and dizzy spells and felt weak and nervous all the time. My husband got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills but I told him it was no use, that I had given up hope of ever being cured. WERE MENBy John Habberton.

"Now," said the colonel, "as you two have declined (I hadn't) the commissions granted, as you think, under a misapprehension and through the imagination of a young woman, I shall at once recommend you for commissions in your own old regiment, and you may be sure that you'll get them."

The colonel looked surprised.

I've no more captaincies at my disposal. To make a vacancy for McTwyne I'm going to force a good for nothing captain to resign. But you shall both have lieutenantcies—first lieutenantcies, if possible."

"In the old regiment?" exclaimed Brainard. "Hurrah!"

"Hurrah!" I echoed. The colonel grasped our hands and almost crushed them in his own. Then he said:

"Meanwhile, on the basis of the commissions to the Forty-third, I'll have both of you as enlisted men discharged at once. That will enable you to go home and tell your story, and McTwyne's—

"Will also enable you to see that imaginative young woman."

"I'll also enable you to draw your pay, and, as the paymaster is about six months overdue, you'll be able to go home in officers' uniform—shoulder straps and all—eh?"

I looked into Brainard's eyes and saw that the fight with Phil Hamilton was on.

"Give a man an inch, and he'll take an ell, colonel," said Brainard. "Would it be possible to get our papers at once? I think it might save a life if I could get them for home tonight."

"It shall be done. Please say to your captain that I would like to see him."

After tattoo, and also after a howling time in our company street, our comrades having learned of our good fortune, we started for Yorktown, 12 miles distant, to catch the morning boat for Fort Monroe. We were in time for the Fort Monroe boat for Baltimore and the morning train for New York. We got officers' uniforms, and I made it my special business that Brainard's should fit perfectly. He was in such haste to reach Summerton that he would have been content with anything topped with shoulder straps. I even saw to it that he wore a sword belt. Meanwhile I prayed that my letter about Brainard might reach Summerton before us.

We did not reach town till long after dark. As our house was on the direct way to Brainard's I suggested that he should stop with me, if only for a moment, and he did not refuse. As we approached the house I was glad to see that it was still lighted. Village people retire early, and I had feared I might have to rouse a sleeping family. On reaching the piazza I tiptoed to the parlor blinds and open window to reconnoiter and to increase the pleasure of anticipation. There sat my cousin May, and I was startled at the change that a single year had wrought, for she was no longer a girl, but a vision of womanly beauty. I could have stood there many moments for the joy of gazing at her, but I heard a familiar voice and then saw, at the left of the room, Phil Hamilton. How handsome he was, confound him! Oh, if I could know that my letter about Brainard had reached May! For Hamilton was saying:

"I asked you an important question in two or three successive letters, but you did not answer it, so I've used my earliest possible opportunity to repeat the question in person."

Quickly I drew Brainard after me through the doors and pushed him into the parlor. Hamilton rose quickly, and despite his habitual and superb composure he literally staggered as he saw two of his late brother noncommissioned officers in lieutenant's uniforms. Apparently May had received my letter and been properly affected by it, for, though she turned pale as she rose and looked at us, she quickly became rosy, courtesied to Hamilton and said:

"I like you very much, but here is my answer."

Then she hid the red scar on Brainard's cheek with two red lips. At that moment our dog Rover entered the room and sprang upon us with a joyous whine, and as I tried to abate his frenzy of affection I heard Hamilton say:

"Lieutenant Brainard, I esteem it an honor to be the first man to congratulate you."

Of course we called on McTwyne's Norah, a rosy, modest, dainty girl who compelled us to recall the story of "Beauty and the Beast." We had not intended to tell her all the details of the fight for the fence, but she extracted them from us, and she shivered, shuddered, cried and laughed. She also kissed us both and commended us to the eternal guardianship of all the saints.

Brainard and May were not married till after the war, by which time Brainard was a brigadier general in a high staff position, and General Grant and many other general officers attended the wedding; so did Phil Hamilton and his wife, who was as handsome and distinguished looking as he; so did Norah and Mick McTwyne, the latter in the uniform of a lieutenant colonel of cavalry. But, as "journeys end with lovers' meeting," this story, too, must end.

THE BUGLER'S CHEST

Is well expanded. He uses his lungs to their fullest capacity. People in ordinary do not use much over half their lung power. The unused lung surface becomes inert, and offers a prepared ground for the attack of the germs of consumption. There is no need to warn people of the danger of consumption, but warning is constantly needed not to neglect the first symptoms of diseased lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding lungs, and other conditions which, if neglected or unskillfully treated, find a fatal termination in consumption. It is entirely free from opiates and narcotics.

"About three years ago I was taken with a bad cough, vomiting and spitting blood," writes Mr. H. J. Johnson, of Spring Garden, W. Va. "I tried many remedies, nothing seemed to help me."

"I commenced using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After using ten bottles and four vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' I commenced to improve. My case seemed hopeless. Doctors pronounced it ulcer of the lungs. I was sick nearly two years—part of the time in bed. I was unable to do any work. I thought it would be impossible for me to live over night at one time. I haven't spit blood now for more than twelve months, and worked on the farm all last summer. It was Dr. Pierce's medicines that cured me."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

HINDOO SUPERSTITIONS.

Sneezing Is a Bad Omen and Keeps Men From Business.

A resident of Dharmapuri, writing on the subject of Hindoo superstitions, says that a married woman, a dancing girl, a mirror and an ass—the most neglected of the Indian domestic animals—are also among the first objects of good omen which a Hindoo should meet as soon as he wakes from his sleep. A Hindoo does not stir out of his house on any errand, not only during the Rakukalam—an hour and a half a day—but also some time before it. Some do not do any work during Gulikakalam as well—another one hour and a half a day. The correspondent does not mention that in more advanced countries some people make Rakukalam and Gulikakalam last a great deal longer. Besides these there are Natchathrams (stars), of which there are twenty-six, each of which occurs every day. A particular Natchathram on a particular day is either good or bad. At times an orthodox Hindoo will not have a "good" day even in a fortnight. Even sneezing is inauspicious. Instances are not rare in which men are prevented from attending their office by sham sneezing. The sneezing of a male and a female together means the approaching death of the observer. His fate may be averted by writing a letter to some of his relatives at a distance saying that he is dead. The appearance of a rat snake at the right hand side of a journey is considered most lucky. A Hindoo will never feed a guest for the first time on Sundays, Tuesdays or Thursdays—these days are supposed to bring enmity between the host and the guest. A Hindoo doctor will never administer medicines to his patient, even if he is very dangerously ill, for the first time on any day other than Sunday or Thursday. It is also laid down that a Hindoo should never sleep with his head toward the south—the direction in which Yama, the god of death, is supposed to live. East and west are always preferred.

A Hindoo doctor will never administer medicines to his patient, even if he is very dangerously ill, for the first time on any day other than Sunday or Thursday. It is also laid down that a Hindoo should never sleep with his head toward the south—the direction in which Yama, the god of death, is supposed to live. East and west are always preferred.

A resident of Dharmapuri, writing on the subject of Hindoo superstitions, says that a married woman, a dancing girl, a mirror and an ass—the most neglected of the Indian domestic animals—are also among the first objects of good omen which a Hindoo should meet as soon as he wakes from his sleep. A Hindoo does not stir out of his house on any errand, not only during the Rakukalam—an hour and a half a day—but also some time before it. Some do not do any work during Gulikakalam as well—another one hour and a half a day. The correspondent does not mention that in more advanced countries some people make Rakukalam and Gulikakalam last a great deal longer. Besides these there are Natchathrams (stars), of which there are twenty-six, each of which occurs every day. A particular Natchathram on a particular day is either good or bad. At times an orthodox Hindoo will not have a "good" day even in a fortnight. Even sneezing is inauspicious. Instances are not rare in which men are prevented from attending their office by sham sneezing. The sneezing of a male and a female together means the approaching death of the observer. His fate may be averted by writing a letter to some of his relatives at a distance saying that he is dead. The appearance of a rat snake at the right hand side of a journey is considered most lucky. A Hindoo will never feed a guest for the first time on Sundays, Tuesdays or Thursdays—these days are supposed to bring enmity between the host and the guest. ## DELIGHTFUL TOUR

Dr. and Mrs. T. K. Holmes have returned from a very pleasant trip to England and the continent. Dr. and Mrs. Holmes left Chatham three months ago and have since been spending a most enjoyable time visiting Paris, Versailles, Pisa, Rome, Naples, Florence, Venice, Verona, Milan, Frankfurt, Mayence, and Brussels on the continent and different places in England.

The time of year was most fitting for visiting these places, as everything is now in full bloom. The climate also was very agreeable and pleasant.

In London they were joined by their daughter, Miss Edith, who was in London prior to the doctor's visit. She accompanied them over the continent and is now at Paris, where she will attend school and study French for six months.

While away the doctor took occasion to visit most of the principal hospitals of Europe and acquired a great deal of information in modern surgery.

"I enjoyed my trip immensely," said the doctor to The Planet, "and feel now in the very best of health."

This is the doctor's second trip to the Old Country. He went over in 1886 in company with the late Dr. Tye. His trip then, however, was confined to Great Britain and France.

Pope is Sinking Fast.—Disease Has Reached His Brain.—It is Conceded that End is Near.

(Special to The Planet.)

Rome, July 14.—2:55 p. m.—The organs of the Pope are gradually ceasing to perform their natural functions. All processes of elimination have ceased and no more nourishment is taken.

Rome, July 14.—The following medical bulletin was issued at 9:15 a. m.: There has been no change in the grave condition of the Pope as stated last night.

LAPPONI, MAZZONI.

The Pope has delirium for the first time.

The news of the grave condition of the Pope spread rapidly and many cardinals and members of the diplomatic corps hurried to the Vatican. Dr. Laponi left the sick room at 1:25 and went to see his sick daughter. This is taken to indicate that the Pope's danger is less imminent.

Washington, July 14.—Mgr. Falconio, the papal delegate, to-day received a cablegram from Cardinal Rampolla saying that the condition of the Pope continues grave.

LAID TO REST

On Sunday, all that was mortal of the late W. C. Baxter was reverently laid to rest in Maple Leaf cemetery. A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the obsequies to pay their last respects to one of the best young men this city has ever produced. The Rev. T. Beverley Smith conducted the funeral service of the Church of England. Among the floral tributes were remembrances from the Merchants' Bank staff, New York City, and the Chatham Gas Co. The pall bearers were Harry Northwood, W. H. and W. J. Taylor, Bert Macdonald, Harry Stevens and W. E. Rispin.

The late Mr. Baxter was one of the most promising young bankers in New York. He was in command of a salary of $4,000 and the directors increased his income $500 per annum shortly after he came to Chatham. His wife was notified, but Mr. Baxter never learned of the merited recognition of his good services.

There is surely a reward hereafter for the man who lives up to his wife's expectations of him.

KENT ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF GLORIOUS 12TH

Reports of the Observances at Tilbury and Dresden—Immense Crowds and Interesting Proceedings.

(Special to The Planet.)

Dresden, July 14.—One of the largest crowds ever seen in Dresden, composed of some six thousands of people from the surrounding towns and country, witnessed the Orange celebration held here yesterday. The weather was perfect except for a light shower in the afternoon, which served to lay the dust and make the witnessing of the procession much more pleasant than it would have otherwise been, for in spite of the fact that the roads were constantly sprinkled, the heat of the sun, the wind and the tramping of many feet, the dust rose very thickly.

A walk through the business part of the town at an early hour showed that great preparation had been made to cater to the wishes of the inner man, for refreshment booths on each side of the street were as plentiful as the street could well hold, and each secured a liberal patronage during the day. Pretty arches and banners spanned the streets at the Westcott, Clifford and Queen's hotels, flags floated from each of the public buildings, stores were gaily draped in orange, purple, red, white and blue, and each telegraph pole had its flag decoration.

Promptly at 1:30 the procession started, and headed by the Dresden Band, wended its way from the market square up Brown street, Main street, St. George and to North Dresden, where several speeches were made at the school house. The order of the lodges was as follows:—

Chatham Ladies and Gentlemen, Wallaceburg, Keith, Walpole, Sydenham Valley, Tupperville, Dawn, Beecher, Beatty, Union Lodge 1220, Oil Springs, Oakdale, Wilkesport, Fargo, Blenheim, Bothwell, Moraviantown, Thamesville, Ridgetown and Dover East.

Many good bands were in attendance and each lodge had a fife and drum band. Two fine exhibitions of trick drumming were made. The procession was a fine one, and not the slightest hitch occurred to mar the proceedings. Much of the success of the success of the day was due to the good management of Adam Irwin, of Chatham Township, whose efforts were much appreciated.

A heavy shower in the evening dispersed the crowds much earlier than they evidently wished or intended, but the majority wended their way to Hicks' Hall, Wright's Hall or the Agricultural sheds, where dancing was kept up until an early hour this morning.

The games held on the market square in the afternoon were as follows:—

Baseball—Sarnia and Dresden: the score was 11 to 13 in favor of Dresden. Ridgetown and Dresden: score 6 to 5 in favor of Dresden. Lacrosse—Wallaceburg and Dresden: score 4 to 2 in favor of Wallaceburg.

AT TILBURY.

Tilbury, July 14.—Essex Orangemen held one of the most successful celebrations here yesterday in the history of the Order. The weather was all that could be desired, no accidents happened to mar the pleasure of the day; there was an entire absence of drunks, and altogether the brethren may well feel proud over the excellent management of the affair. As early as seven o'clock in the morning the influx of visitors commenced, and with the arrival of two special trains over the Michigan Central from Detroit and Windsor, it is estimated that there were nearly 4,000 people in town. All lodges in Essex were present, besides Glenwood Lodge from Kent and a quota of fifty from McKinley L. O. L., Detroit. The procession formed up on the baseball ground after dinner and paraded the principal streets. There were about 700 in line, and the neat appearance and excellent marching of the men showed that the spirit of loyalty to the Order is increasing year after year.

Besides the fife and drum bands of the sixteen lodges represented, there were four other excellent bands in attendance—the Pipers from Detroit, regimental band and bugle band of Windsor and Essex brass band. Arriving at Bonaire's grove, half a mile west of the village, the speaking commenced and several spirited addresses were delivered, the speakers including Bro. Park, Detroit; Bros. Johnson and Uren, of Tilbury; the Masters of the several lodges, and gentlemen from Chatham and Windsor. There was a large crowd of attentive listeners at the grove. At the conclusion of the speeches the procession re-formed and marched back to town, arriving about six o'clock, bringing to a close a celebration of the glorious 12th that will long be remembered for its success.

NOTES OF THE CELEBRATION.
 The Scotch Pipers from Detroit presented a fine appearance.

Sam Warnock, of Chatham, attended the celebration.

There were no fakirs in attendance but for five cents you could try your luck at knocking down the rag babies for a vile cigar.

The lemonade and peanut stands did a rushing business all day. A dancing room on Queen street did a lively business from early morn till late at night.

The hotels made great preparations to feed the visitors, but without assistance could not have begun to handle the crowd. The ladies of the Methodist church fed several hundred in the skating rink, the ladies of the Presbyterian church accommodated as many more in a building on Queen street, and half a dozen other enterprising citizens also served meals to the crowd.

A few Indians and squaws were about the only ones noticed "under the influence."

The baseball games in the morning and afternoon attracted large crowds, Tilbury winning both.

STRIKE DECLARED OFF.

After a Struggle of Nearly a Year Moulders Give In.

Providence, R. I., July 14.—The strike of the iron moulders in several foundries in this city, which was inaugurated in September last, has been officially declared off. The demands were both union recognition and a new wage scale. No concessions have been made by the master moulders, and few of the strikers have been reinstated.

FOUR UNIONS EXPELLED.

By the United Board of Building Trades

New York, July 14.—The United Board of Building Trades held a long and stormy meeting. The four unions that accepted the plan of arbitration offered by the Building Trades Employers' Association and which sent their men back to work to-day were expelled from the board. These four unions are: Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers, the Hexagon Labor Club of Tile Layers' Helpers, the Electrical Workers and the United Cement Masons.

Ames &amp; Co. Pay an Installment.

Toronto, July 14.—Messrs. A. T. Ames & Company have sent to creditors checks for 25 per cent. of their indebtedness, promised by July 15. It is understood that these checks totalled about $140,000. The letters accompanying the checks state that the balance is payable in 6, 12 and 18 month from the 15th.

The international limited ran into an open switch at Hamilton and collided with a yard engine. The passengers escaped serious injury, but both locomotives were smashed.

BAD FIRE

A very disastrous fire occurred at twelve o'clock to-day just outside the city limits on the farm of Frank Wilson, near the cemetery. As a result, Mr. Wilson is minus all of his barns and outbuildings.

The fire started in some unknown manner in the straw stack at the end of the barn. It was soon noticed and Mr. Wilson and his men began at once to fight the flames. A neighbor came into the city on a wheel, and telephoned from Weaver's for the fire department. When they arrived they found that the peak of the barn had caught fire and soon the flames spread over the entire building.

The men had the fire in the stack almost extinguished when the fire caught in the barn. The flames were soon out of control and in spite of the energetic efforts on the part of the city firemen and the neighbors who were present, all of the buildings were burnt to the ground. Fortunately the house was saved.

The loss will probably be between $4500 and $5000.

THAT ENTENTE CORDIALE

St. John's, Nfld., July 14.—The cruisers Lavoisier and Charbydis, the flagships of the French and British squadrons, respectively, in these waters, have sailed for the treaty shore of Newfoundland to investigate an alleged attack by French fishermen on a colonial customs office, which is causing serious friction. Admiral Douglas, with the British cruisers Ariadne, Retribution and Tribune, will arrive here August 7 for a three days' visit, meeting the British and French squadrons in these waters.

REFUSED KING A WELCOME. A WILD SCENE AT THE DUBLIN CORPORATION.

The Lord Mayor Made a Violent Speech Against an Address—Maude Gonne Demonstrates.

Dublin, July 14.—Wild scenes yesterday marked the second debate by the municipal Corporation on the question of presenting an address of welcome to King Edward on his arrival in Dublin. The public gallery was filled with people long before the meeting began, and the huge crowd, which was shut out subsequently, broke down the doors in its efforts to get in.

Lord Mayor Harrington made a violent speech against the address, and compared the Nationalists who favor it to men who had "sold the Irish Parliament."

Maud Gonne (Mrs. McBride) was among the demonstrators who continued the uproar until the Lord Mayor finally called in the police, who cleared the hall.

After a stormy sitting of four hours the motion in favor of the address was defeated by 40 to 37 votes.

THE TENT BLEW DOWN.

Upon the Convention of Christian Endeavorers.

Denver, Colo., July 14.—The big tent where the Christian Endeavor convention has been held for the past four days was blown down yesterday while over 6,000 people were inside. A dozen persons were injured, but none seriously. The presence of mind of Mr. A. M. Ramsay of Chicago, who sprang to a chair and called to the people to hold up the canvas and poles, undoubtedly prevented many from suffocation.

Many women fainted and were extricated from the folds of the canvas with much difficulty. When the majority were extricated from the tent they held an impromptu prayer service in the open air.

The convention was in full progress at the time of the accident. The sides of the tent had been opened to admit air, and this enabled a sudden wind to lift the big canvas as if it were a balloon. Immediately the 6,000 occupants of the tent were in a panic. Hundreds of men sprang to their feet, however, and raised the tent. More than 1,000 people who were seated near the tent walls escaped the folds and immediately organized a rescue corps.

PROVINCIAL RIGHTS AGAIN. Sir Wilfrid Laurier Disclaims Any Infringement.

Ottawa, July 14.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the House yesterday made it quite clear that the Liberal Government have no intention of countenancing any policy which has for its object the invasion of the rights of the Provinces to control those matters of railway and other legislation which belong to them under the British North America act. The Premier quoted the Toronto & Hamilton bill as an instance illustrating the position of the Government. The debate upon Hon. Mr. Fielding's resolution authorizing the increase of the issue of Dominion currency gave the Minister an opportunity of placing briefly before the House the great expansion which has taken place in the trade of the Dominion, rendering the increase necessary. At the same time he announced that the Government are considering the propriety of issuing $5 Dominion notes. Mr. Fisher's bill respecting the inspection and testing of seed grain occupied the attention of the House for the greater portion of the time the House was in session. Replying to a question by Mr. R. L. Borden, just before adjournment, Hon. Mr. Fielding confessed his inability to enlighten the House in reference to the rumors respecting Hon. Mr. Blair's alleged resignation.

FASHION HINTS.

The Chief Feature of the Short Skirt.

The Plain Parasol.

The chief feature of the short skirt at the moment is that the back is shorter than the front, and the tendency is still toward a very short waist at the back and a long pointed one in front.

Some of the prettiest hats are very simple, and, despite all efforts to the contrary, they are very flat, but this

PICTURESQUE EVENING GOWN.
Appearance is somewhat modified by the wide bandeau, and the way in which they are worn on the face is a distinct innovation with Parisians.

The parasol of the moment is very plain, with an abnormally long handle, the shade often decorated with spots or a wide border.

Somehow all the smart morning frocks seem to be worn without ruffles or even bows, but with a very neat turn over muslin collar. This style is becoming to some and certainly suitable for the short skirts, but for smarter gowns certainly the softening ruffle at the neck is more becoming.

White linen shirt waists are made with skirts to match.

Shirred effects are quite the mode and very becoming to tall people. Skirts and jackets are made in this fashion of thin veiling and have linings of lustrous silk, sometimes of a contrasting shade.

Gowns of white d'esprit are smart for young girls. These are always pretty trimmed with ribbons shirred or lace medallions.

The illustration shows a simple and at the same time picturesque evening gown of white silk.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE GREAT ADVENTURE.

There's many a quiet seaport that waits the dawning sail;
There's many a lonely farer by many a doubtful trail.

And what should be their star
To lead them safe and far,
What guide to take them o'er the crest,
What pilot past the bar—
Save Love, the great adventurer, who will not turn nor quail?

As a voyager might remember how the face of earth was changed,
And the dreary grey of winter forgotten and estranged—
When he rode the tempest through
Or a tranquil tropic morning diaphanous and new.

With palms upon the sea-rim where the dying light ranged:
As a lover in old story on a night of wind
And rain
Might have stood beneath a window till a lamp should light the pane
And a lady lean one arm
On the glowing square and warm,
A girlish, golden figure in a frame of dark and storm—
To look the longest moment ere he turned to life again—

Then set a stubborn shoulder to wind and sleet and snow,
With the weather foul above him and the pavement foul below;
So it happened in my case:
When I saw her, every trace
Of doubt and fear and languor to the pulse of joy gave place,
And the world was great and goodly as he planned it long ago.

There's a shipman who goes sailing where the sea is round and high;
There's a lover who goes piping where winds of morning cry;
And the little beneath his heart
Was timed to stop and start,
Till no more ships go sailing and the great hills fall apart.
O, friends, that minstrel-lover, that mariner am I!

—Bliss Carman.

Could not Stand Before Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. Charles Gilchrist had Diabetes For Years—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Port Hope, Ont., July 13.—(Special).

Mr. Charles Gilchrist, Chief of Police here for fifteen years and afterwards Dominion Fishery Overseer, is always willing to add his testimony to the volume of proofs from all parts that Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure any form of Kidney Disease.

"I am a healthy man, Dodd's Kidney Pills have done the job," is the way Mr. Gilchrist puts it. "When I first started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills I was in an awful state. I had been a sufferer from Diabetes and Kidney Disorder for ten years. My urine was of a dark brick color and I would suffer something awful while passing."

"I tried everything and tried the doctors but could get no help till I was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have made me a new man."

Mr. Gilchrist is getting on in years but he feels young. That's what Dodd's Kidney Pills do for a man.

"Explanation of Advance in Price.

Cod liver oil has lately been quoted at a price nearly three times as high as it was a year ago. The explanation of the advance is that practically the entire supply of oil used for medicinal purposes comes from the Norway fisheries, and the cod have been destroyed or driven from their feeding grounds by predatory seals.

A Strong Man's Feet.

Otto Peterson, physical director of the Danish Athletic Club, Brooklyn, was locked up a few days ago in New York because he had attempted to drag a Broadway car from Twenty-third street one block north with his teeth. Peterson ran from the sidewalk and signaled a north bound car to stop. The motorman did, and the strong man hitched a chain to the fender and tugged away at the other end like a fox terrier at a piece of meat. There were fifteen passengers on board. He had moved the car about six feet when a policeman arrested him.

Some men undertake too much, but we do not say that of the undertaker.

Little Harry's oldest sister has just presented her husband with a new baby.

"Well, Harry," said his father, "do you feel proud of being an uncle?"

"No," replied the uncle.

"Why not?" asked his father.

"Cause I ain't no uncle; I'm an aunt. The new baby's a girl!"

His Assumption.

"Scribbler's such a queer fellow."

"Is he?"

"Yes. He sent the manuscript of his new book by express and labeled it 'Valuable.'"

WORKING WITHOUT SYSTEM

Lack of Mental Control and Concentration is Fatal.

A man who does forcible work must dismiss a subject from his mind when he is done with it. This increases the grasp and power of the mind and keeps it clear for concentration upon the thing under consideration. Nothing can be accomplished with half a mind; you must concentrate or focus all your powers upon the thing you are doing. This you can never do when things by the score are half settled in your mind; continually obtruding themselves for consideration, and hindering the thought of present problems.

When you have anything in hand, settle it. Do not look at it, lay it down, then look at something else and lay that down also, but settle things as you go along. It is a thousand times better to make an occasional mistake than never to settle anything, but be always balancing, weighing and considering many things at a time.

It is vigorous thought which counts. A subject which is handled so, to speak, with the tips of the mental fingers, never amounts to anything. You must seize and grasp with all your might the thing you are attempting, and do it with vigor and enthusiasm, as if you wish to bear the stamp of superiority when completed. Another defect in your work, which arises from the faults I have mentioned, is failure to complete things. Your work bears the impress of incompleteness, and seems always to lack something.

If you could overcome these defects you might be successful, for you really possess great ability, but lack definiteness. Evidently your mind has not been trained to exactitude. There has been carelessness in your education somewhere. It may be partly the fault of your teachers or your parents in not calling your attention to early life to these deficiencies. If this had been done the task of correction would have been easier than it is now, but the faults may still be overcome if proper diligence be used. I hope, for your own sake, that you will set about it with determination.

Sticky Onion Juice.

A very convenient mudlage can be made out of onion juice by any one who wishes to use it. A good sized Spanish onion, after being boiled a short time, will yield on being pressed quite a large quantity of very adhesive fluid. This is used quite extensively in various trades for pasting paper on to tin or zinc or even glass, and the tenacity with which it holds would surprise any one on making the first attempt. It is the cheapest and best mudlage for such purposes and answers just as well as many of the more costly and patent cements. Some of the cements sold by street fakirs at 10 cents a bottle consist of nothing but onion juice and water, and the bottle and cork cost a great deal more than the contents.

"My dear Floyd," said he, "I am sorry to see you in this destitute state. Will you go home with me to my lodgings?" And they turned in on the bulk together like the good fellows they were.

PIONEER DAYS.

Trials of Settlers at Guelph and in the County of Bruce—Down the Saugeen River in a Scow.

"Incidents of Pioneer Days at Guelph and in the County of Bruce" is the title of an interesting little volume by Mr. David Kennedy, sen. His father and mother having come from Scotland settled at Guelph in 1830, when he was two years of age. It had been surveyed only three years previously and had only a few log houses. After a short residence there his father selected a lot in the Paisley Block, near Guelph, and the homestead, which was called Craigmorriston, was his own home for 55 years. Among the incidents in connection with his father's settlement Mr. Kennedy mentions that the contractor for the house and each assistant were paid four shillings and a bottle of whiskey a day. While looking on, his father was struck by a falling tree, which broke his leg. They had sent all the way to Hamilton for Dr. MacKellan, and owing to the delay the leg was crooked ever afterwards. He gives a vivid description of the privations they endured in those days.

"Sometimes we were for weeks without bread and had to subsist on potatoes and turnips, and these were very often frozen during winter. I can remember well seeing my mother putting the potatoes into cold water to draw the frost out of them before being cooked, and then we had neither meat, milk nor butter to eat with them."

"The labor of clearing the first acres of unbroken land was all performed by the settlers, when they subsisted entirely upon potatoes as a diet, baked and boiled time about, by way of change or variety, with sometimes a dish of greens made from cow cabbages or the tops of young turnips, added when in season. All this may seem strange when I tell you that the forests abounded with various kinds of game, and the creeks were full of speckled trout, yet it rarely happened that the settlers succeeded in capturing any deer. In 1851 he and his brother William decided to shift for themselves in the valley of the Saugeen River, which they had heard was a remarkably rich mining country. After six days' traveling through unsurveyed forest with a wagon of supplies and a team of oxen, they reached the Saugeen above Walkerton. Here they built a scow made of decks sawn by themselves out of a green pine tree, with the intention of floating down the river to its mouth. Their hardships at this time were almost unendurable. It was the end of March, and for two weeks they were compelled to remain there without shelter in inclement weather, with their feet and clothes wet all the time. Finally they started, and on the second day down the river reached the shanty of Mr. Simcoe Orchard, founder of the Town of Paisley, and that night stopped about three miles from the lake, near the present Village of Port Elgin. Not far from here they chose some land and built their shanty. Others following their example tried to float down the river but were not as successful. One party, in a scow, which consisted of four men, two women and five children, struck on a rock and partly sank. Their provisions were swept off and they were compelled to stand in a couple of feet of icy water for over 24 hours before they were rescued and brought for shelter to a shanty. Among those who passed there in the following months were Mr. Vidal, now the Senator.

Their shanty was overrun by white mice, which gnawed their way into everything of wood. "My brother," writes Mr. Kennedy, "often caught them with his hands and killed them by the dozen while sitting at the table."

The only place in which they could keep their provisions was an iron bake-kettle with close-fitting lids. They finally brought a cat from Southampton, but one day it upset a fatiron upon the kettle and smashed the cover, rendering it useless, and their last condition was worse than the first. Another day he undertook to ferry across the river a man from Nova Scotia, who hesitated to trust himself upon the raft used for that purpose.

"He got down upon his knees on the raft," writes Mr. Kennedy, "and commenced to pray. I pushed the raft off into the stream and I noticed that it was sinking very much deeper in the water than usual, and I told him that I thought he would be better standing up, for he was getting wet, but he answered me by saying that he preferred to remain upon his knees, and he continued in this position, with his eyes closed, earnestly engaged in prayer, although his end of the raft was sinking about a foot under the water, and when we reached dry land, although wet nearly up to his waist from kneeling, he thanked me, and said that he would never run the risk of crossing that river again, for rather than do so he would travel by land all the way."

That fall occurred the wreck of a schooner laden with flour and other supplies required by the inhabitants of Southampton for the winter.

"You may imagine the consternation and alarm caused by this sad catastrophe. I was told that our friend, Mr. McDonald, the captain, had remained much longer in Goderich than was prudent at this season of the year. But there was an election in the County of Huron going on at the time, and so anxious was he to assist his friend, the Hon. Malcolm Cameron, in his election that he had neglected to return in proper season, and thus it ended with such serious results to so many, for all were concerned, for there was no way of getting any more supplies during the winter but by packing it across by the trail through the woods from Owen Sound."

Next year he returned to help his father on the homestead, where he still is. His interest in the Saugeen farm he disposed of to his brother William, who is still living in his 77th year in the Village of Tara.

Magnets as Weight Lifters.

The lifting of massive iron and steel plates, weighing four, six and twelve tons, by magnetism is now done every workday in a number of large steel works. The magnets are suspended by chains from cranes and pick up the plates by simple contact and without the loss of time consequent to the adjustment of chain and hooks in the older method. It is also found that the metal plates can be lifted by the magnets while still so hot that it would be impossible for the men to handle them. A magnet weighing 300 pounds will lift 45 tons.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick in the back of the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in proper working order, and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvellous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal action of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

It is only the dyspeptic who uses his stomach as an ante-chamber to heart.

LETTER BOX

THE RIVER BANKS.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—Owing to the many comments through the Chatham papers on the manure piles along the river banks, I would like to say a few words, that although these comments are getting common, they are getting serious. I would like to know who the parties are who are responsible for the comments. As for my own part I paid $20.00 to Wm. Dulan for hauling away, what the papers say, is an eyesore to the public. Yet that does not seem to satisfy a few kickers, who perhaps would like to see a nice green lawn, or a fancy trimmed hedge wherever they go, or wherever their eyes gaze and, to give every opinion, I think that these kickers do nothing but sit and look on a lawn day after day, and when they go out they are shocked to see, even once, a manure pile. I wonder would it be better if they saw it scattered around, or if it were in one pile. I have no other place for my manure, I throw it out of my stable and implement warehouse, and I do not think that kickers have a right to kick, when it cannot be avoided, to throw it in a small pile until a few loads can be hauled away. I believe that there are to-day fifty or over manure piles within the city limits, and I would like to know if one manure pile, is not as bad as another, so far as the city's health is concerned, and I think if these people who are doing so much kicking would look at their own back yards and stables, they would keep their mouths shut, and attend to their own business, if so they would get along much better. I think the Health Inspector had better take his instruments and clean up all the stables while he is at it. Again, Sir, if you will stand on the Fourth street bridge and look east and west, you will see more unhealthy and unpleasant sights than manure piles, just go to the bridge and see, the back yards. If it is eyesores there are many worse sights than manure piles. But that is not the idea, the kickers want to kick wholly on manure piles. Sir, I think the meanest person on the face of the earth is a kicker, never satisfied, never contented, never happy unless he is kicking. If you will think for a moment and when you want to kick, just keep your mouth shut, instead of straining your brains to find a kick coming, the people of this world would get along better.

I see every few days a citizen's complaints, a citizen's kicks. It seems as though the Council should pass a by-law that whenever a kick comes from or through the papers, that it should at once become law, and authorities take the matter up at once. I wonder is the City Council running the city or not?

Again, I think these kickers do not pay one cent rent, one cent taxes, or one cent towards keeping up the city, but just simply live to kick, and if they ever own a horse, they will keep their mouths shut.

Yours, etc.,

STANDS BY CANADA.

Lord Lansdowne's Position About German Tariff.

London, July 14.—A white paper was issued by the Foreign Office last night, giving the correspondence between Great Britain and Germany in connection with the Canadian-German tariff discussion. The general tone of the correspondence indicates a greater willingness on the part of Germany to discuss the question in a friendly way after Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's public advocacy of a retaliatory tariff policy.

On June 27 Germany suggested an interchange of ideas with a view to a friendly settlement. This suggestion was accepted by Lord Lansdowne, although the British Foreign Secretary, in closing his note, reiterated Great Britain's refusal to admit Germany's right to treat Canada, or any other colony granting a special tariff concessions to the mother country as a separate customs territory to be made to suffer by retaliation for privileges granted to the United Kingdom.

THE PONTIFF SINKING FAST.

All His Relatives Summoned to His Bedside.

Rome, July 14, 2:16 a.m.—"While there is life there is hope" was all the consolation that Dr. Laponi could give to-night in admitting that Pope Leo's condition was very grave.

The Pontiff has suffered another relapse, and he lies this morning in a more critical condition than at any time since the middle of last week.

The semi-comatose condition into which he fell at midnight and the confused state of his heretofore lucid mind on his awakening at an early hour this morning, accompanied by still greater depression than during yesterday, are regarded as symptoms of the gravest nature, and as pointing to an imminent dissolution. Even to his evening medical opinion was less pessimistic, and Dr. Mazzoni thought the end was not within sight. He expressed the belief that unless the disease took an unexpected turn there was no reason to apprehend death for two or three days. This statement, however, did not relieve the anxiety of those who know that powerful stimulants are being constantly administered. Some attribute the Pontiff's weakness to-night to the excessive mental and physical efforts undertaken yesterday in receiving visitors, hearing Mass, etc.

Never before has the patient's weakness progressed as it did yesterday. For the first time since his illness the Pontiff asked to have the shutters almost closed, as the light hurt his eyes; and at the same time, contrary to custom, he begged to be left as quiet as possible. Another noteworthy symptom of his weakening condition was the docility with which he took medicine and nourishment. Previously, indeed during his whole life, Pope Leo has been against the prescriptions of doctors or anything which had the aspect of being forced upon him. His feeling of fatigue and indifference was interpreted as a sign that his vitality was fast diminishing. Late last evening Cardinals, including Satolli and Martinelli, were admitted to the sick-room, but the Pope could not even speak to them, merely giving them his hand to kiss.

Rome, July 14, 4:30 a.m.—Dr. Laponi has succeeded in reanimating the Pope with stimulants. He also gave him a little nourishment. The patient's breathing is again difficult. He says he feels very tired.

CANADIANS AT BISLEY.

Shooting in Waldegrave and Barlow Matches.

Bisley Camp, July 14.—Yesterday was not as favorable a day for shooting as was Saturday. The sky is overcast, and a strong wind blows directly in the faces of the competitors.

The Canadians are by no means dispirited over the result of the shooting in the Palma Trophy match. They believe that it will be easier for them to regain it at Sea Grit than at Bisley. Tonight Col. Sherwood will attend the Prince of Wales' State ball at Marlborough House.

Matches yesterday were the Waldegrave and the Barlow. The former is of little importance. In the Barlow the conditions are as follows: Aggregate value, £400; distances, 800, 900, 1,000 yards; 7 shots at each distance; squared. There are 172 prizes, of from £28 to £1. At the first stage the Canadians, considering the weather conditions, did well. They scored as follows:

THE HARROW HOMICIDE.

Autopsy Shows the Kidneys Were Penetrated.

Windsor, July 14.—Dr. McKenzie of Harrow performed an autopsy on the remains of Edmund Matthews, the colored man who died on Saturday from wounds inflicted by O. Richardson on Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock. It was found that the bullet which caused Matthews' death entered between the ninth and tenth ribs on the left side of the body, penetrating the lining of the stomach, passed through the kidneys and lodged in the spine. The wounds were such that recovery would be impossible, the kidneys being very badly injured. The remains of the deceased were interred this morning, the funeral being from the family residence to the Central Grove Cemetery. There were many curious spectators present, and a large number of friends and relatives followed the remains to the grave.

This morning at 10 o'clock Coroner Hassard of Harrow will hold an inquest into the death.

The dead man was regarded as a good citizen, and, with the exception of his quarrels with Richardson, he was peaceable and law-abiding, as were the members of his family.

SUMMER THINGS.

Summer things don't express it. The term embraces too much and too little. It may be said to mean anything that is necessary in these summer vacations and outing days and that's perhaps too much. But when it comes to things men wear, we can't say enough or make a list long enough to include all that we can do.

The Arthur took a party of excursionists from Happy Days to the Park yesterday.

Mrs. Jean Blewett, the Canadian poet, is the guest of Mrs. W. D. Samson at Drumtochty Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Alger returned to Chatham after a brief sojourn at Happy Days with Mr. and Mrs. McArthur.

Mrs. A. C. Blackburn, of Madison, Wis., arrived at the Eau yesterday as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Geo. B. Merritt.

Rev. J. C. Tolmie, the eloquent Windsor divine, returned to Erieau yesterday after spending Sunday at the Frontier City.

W. H. Harper says that G. S. Heyward may have the medal, but Archie Park has the leather belt. You can see him wearing it every day.

A picnic was held at Mrs. Geo. B. Merritt's yesterday. The party from the west end went down in a pale green row boat. The wind was blowing a gale and the fair occupants of the craft, owing to the unkindness of their neighbors, found it necessary to propel themselves with one paddle.

While the citizens of Erieau were enjoying their afternoon rest on Monday, what might have proved a disastrous conflagration took place.

Several planks of the sidewalk on Lakeview avenue between Mushroom cottage and The Rest, were completely destroyed. The origin of the fire is not known. As there is no insurance the loss will not be estimated.

This morning on the Eau train, W. H. Harper said he would show how long the fish was had caught. At this stage W. E. Hall, Blenheim, who sat across the seat, and Archie Park, across the aisle, both began to show signs of uneasiness. Asked what was the matter, they both remarked that they desired to give W. H. room to describe the fish.

LACTATED FOOD

Is the Only Prepared Food that Yields Complete Nutrition to the Infant

Lactated Food has met with the greatest favor at the hands of the medical profession. It is put up under the supervision of food experts, and the greatest care and cleanliness is used in every process of its manufacture.

Lactated Food is the only perfect substitute for healthy breast milk, that medical men know of. Thirty thousand physicians say it is the ideal infants' food when mothers find it impossible to nurse their little ones. It has made tens of thousands of children strong and happy, and saved them from cholera, infantum and other infantile diseases.

Mothers should not fail to give their babies Lactated Food during the hot summer months. In every case it yields complete nutrition and is adapted to nature's needs. No cramps, peevish and weak babies when Lactated Food is made their diet in summer time. Ask your Druggist for it.

The man with kind eyes and a gruff manner is like the dog that growls and wags its tail—you are never sure which sign to believe.
