NOMINATIONS HELD TO-DAY

Herbert S. Clements and George Stephens the Candidates for West Kent.

The New Ballot-A Cross in the First Space Means a Vote for Coments and Kent's Interests.

The candidates who will contest this riding for the Commons were named to-day. Returning officer, Sheriff Gemmill was at the Court House at 10 o'clock to receive nominations. In accordance with the statute, S. B. Arnold, filed the requisition from 34 prominent farmers, merchants, etc., of this riding, asking H. S. Clements to be the Liberal-Conservative candidate in West Kent. Fred Stone, in behalf of George Stephens, filed a similar paper signed by 32 manufac-tures, farmers, etc., of this constitu-ency. Mr. Clements is described as a farmer and George Stephens as a hardware merchant. The ballot this hardware merchant. The ballot this year is the best that has been used yet and the returning officers thinks it will do much to stop the number of mistakes. The body of the ballot is black and the names of the candidates are printed in the two white spaces on the ballot. As, according to ballot, the names are put on alphabetically, Mr. Clements' name will will be first. A cross anywhere on the white space where Mr. Clements' name is will' be counted for him. All that is necessary is that it should be in the white space where Mr. Clements' name is.

The nominations are held open from The nominations are held open from 10 a. m. to 2 o'clock p. m. In the old days, speeches used to be delivered and the nomination was an excuse for the candidates to air their views. Mode of proceedure since then has changed and on nomination day the candidate is generally found hustling around the county seeking the voter instead of having the voter

AN ATTEMPT TO BRIBE SAYS DOVER'S POPULAR REEVE

No Other Meaning Could be Taken From George Stephens' Words-Dr. Thornton and the Meeting Have Some Fun With J. G. Kerr Who Gets Badly Rattled and Very Angry-Says Hotly that Ross Government Should be Turned Out-The Audience Gives Him Some Answers-Great Meetings in Dover.

"I am not supporting the Ross Government! They ought to have been turned out long ago, anyway!" This was the way that J. G. Kerr announced himself last evening at Dove Centre and he went farther to say that it "depended on circumstances" whether he appeared on the platform in the next election to support the Ross candidate,

A rousing Liberal-Conservative rally was held at Dover Centre last evening to promote the interests of the people's popular candidate, Herbert S. Clements. It was a good meeting from every standpoint. The hall was crowded when the meeting commenced and everyone was deeply interested. The meeting was enthusiastic for Mr. Clements and the reception tendered him was only another of the triumphs which Mr. Clements is meeting with all over the nents is meeting with all over the ments is meeting with all over the riding.

As is always the case with Conservative meetings, opposition speakers were invited and as a result J. G. Kerr and Harry' Westman were on hand to put in a word for Mr. Stephens, the other candidate, but the enthusiastic reception when Mr. Stephens' name was mentioned was sadly wanting.

There were many speakers, including Mr. Clements, Dr. Thornton, S. B. Arnold, Reeve Purser, Councillor Boyer, J. G. Kerr and Harry Westman.

Boyer, J. G. Kerr and Harry Westman.

Mr. Kerr asked an extension of time to introduce the bribery charges and the hog cholera question and his request was granted.

He said that Mr. Clements had been going around the country saying that a man named Bray had a cure for hog cholera.

Mr. Clements—Mr. Bray is here to speak for himself.

Mr. Clements—Mr. Bray is here to speak for himself.

Mr. Bray (from the audience)—I have purchased sick hogs in Chatham, brought them home, cured and fattened them and then sold them in Chatham again.—Applause.

Mr. Kerr had nothing more to say of the hog cholera question.

He then turned his attention to the bribery charges against George Stephens. He said:

"Mr. Boyer is a Frenchman and therefore cannot understand English as well as an Englishman. He may have been mistaken in his recollection of what was said in English a year ago."

Mr. Boyer—I think, Mr. Kerr, that you will understand after this meet-

Mr. Boyer—I think, Mr. Kerr, that you will understand after this meeting that I understand and can speak the English language, Cheers, Mr. Kerr—Angrily, and in a loud voice—You didn't remember some voice—You didn't remember some things very well when you were in the Court of Revision on the Rivard drain scheme.

Mr. Boyer—If you will attend to this matter alone, Mr. Kerr, I will attend to the Rivard drain scheme and this too. Great applause.

This was all Mr. Kerr could say to Mr. Boyer so he again switched and attacked Mr. Purser.

"What does this man say?" said he. "When asked if he thought Mr. Stephens intended to bribe him all he can say is "Take it as you like." And with this parting shot Mr. Kerr resumed his seat,

Mr. Purser, the esteemed and respected Reeve of Dover, followed Mr. Kerr. Mr. Purser made his manly straightforward statement of facts in reference to the bribery charges straightforward statement of facts in reference to the bribery charges as before published in The Planet. Dr. Thornton—Mr. Purser, may I ask you a question growing out of Mr. Kerr's speech?

Mr. Purser—Certainly, Doctor.
Dr. Thornton—When Mr. Stephens made that statement that it would be worth $250 to you did you understand tha the was trying to bribe you? you? Mr. Purser—How else could I un

Dr. Thornton — But I wish you would make it so clear that even Mr. Kerr'can understand it. Did you thinke he was trying to bribe you? Mr. Purser, decidely-I certainly

Mr. Purser, decidely—I certainly did! Applause.
Mr. Boyer followed Mr. Purser and he, like the Reeve, was greeted with round upon round of applause.
Another feature of the meeting was the manner in which Dr. Thornton deatl with Mr. Kerr on the corn question.

deatl with Mr. Kerr on the corn question.

Mr. Kerr stated that it was absurd for Mr. Clements to say that the farmers here should be protected to the injury of the farmer east. Legislation must be made for the majority and the majority must rule.

Dr. Thornton—Are you content to abide by the fact of that statement?

Mr. Kerr—Yes.

Dr. Thornton—What about the Ross Government.

Mr. Kerr then made the statement as above quoted that he was not supporting the Ross Government and they should have been turned out long ago.

A voice—But you will be on the platform when the election comes around. (Laughter).

platform when the election comes around. (Laughter).

Mr. Kerr-I don't know about that. It all depends on circumstances.
Dr. Thornton, who spoke first and who made a masterly and scholarly address on the issues of the day, also scored off Mr. Westman.

Mr. Westman referred to the Blair matter, which had previously been dealt with by Dr. Thornton. The doctor asked Mr. Westman to read Sr. Wilfrid Laurier's tribute to Mr. Blair, but the tribute was not read at the meeting and Mr. Westman switched his speech off into something else.

The statement was made at the meeting that the Liberals are now saying "wait till the boodle arrives and the Liberals will show the Tories something."

Mr. Kerr--It's a dustardly lie! No such statement was ever made.
Dr. Thornton (to the audience)

laughter and applause.
Dr. Thornton, smiling—I wonder if
Mr. Kerr thinks he is answered.—

Applause. Mr. Kerr's closing words were, un-Mr. Kerr's closing words were, un-less Mr. Geo. Stephens can prove conclusively that the charges pre-ferred against him by these gentle-men are absolutely false, then it would be his duty, even if he were elected, to immediately resign his seat.

would be his duty, even if he were elected, to immediately resign his seat.

Mr. Clements closed the meeting with an able address on the public issues and it was received with much interest and frequent applause. Mr. Clements is certainly a popular speaker, and he spoke earnestly and forcibly for an hour and a half without reference to a note and at the conclusion the audience was just as interested as at the beginning.

When he had finished Mr. Westman jumped up and shouted out "three cheers for Laurier!" He was interupted by Dr. Thornton, who said, "Nay, at Conservative meetings the King comes first," and the three rousing cheers were given to the King and followed by cheers for Borden and Clements.

Mr. Westman then peaks in traduced.

Mr. Westman then again introduced his three cheers, and he and Mr. Kerr gave them as a duet.

APPLES GONE

Harwich Farmers in the City Endeavoring to Collect for Their Apple Crop.

A number of farmers in the vicinity

f Northwood are regretting the loss of their apple crop. In the early fall a man came along and bought their apples. He made his headquarters at the Hotel Rankin, Chatham, and superintended the picking of the apples. He told the farmers last week to haul the apples to the station at Northwood on Saturday and he would not ship them before next week. Unbeknown to the farmers, the apples were all loaded on the train and shipped and when they wanted their money they were politely invited to get it the best way they could.

Amongst the farmers interested were Chas. Pilkey, Nelson Goudreau, Mr. Glenn, Richard Jewel and Alfred Everitt. They came to the city yesterday and wanted a warrant for the apple buyer. The Crown Attorney, however, said that their only recourse was to sue for their money and they are talking of doing so, only it is not thought that the buyer is worth anything. of their apple crop. Special to The Planet.

London, Oct. 27.-1.42 p. m.-Up to this hour there is no sign of the end of the deadlock over the question of the punishment of the Russian of ficers responsible for the North Sea tragedy and the situation is taking on a decidedly warlike phrase.

miral Rojestvensky's explanation of the trawler incident is fully as sensational as the news of the firing upon the fishing fleet which set all Engand aflame. He declares he was attacked in the darkness by two torpedo boats which came upon the squadron from the direction of the ng fleet.

He opened fire and believes he sank one of the torpedo boats, the other making cover among the fishermen. As soon as he noticed the fishermen Admiral Rojestvensky ceased firing. He proceeded on his way without eaving any vessel behind and cays he believes the vessel which the fishermen reported remained on the scene for six hours without offering succor to the drowning men was the other torpedo boat, either waiting for her consort or repairing damage inflict-

S. STEPHENSON Proprietor. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1904.

ARE YOU A HALF-HEARTER OR A WHOLE HOGGER

What are you going to do about it? That is, if you are doubtful about state ownersh'p. The Government are not giving you a fair chance to decide whether the country should or should not build and own the Grand Trunk Pacific.

The fact is that there is no such abstract question before the country;

The Liberal party, according to Mr. Blair are going into a scheme whereby the Government "will build and own the lean section of this railway and provide a company with Government credit to enable them to build and operate the fat section."

If you were asked to join an enterprise, for which you were to provide three-fourths of the capital and credit, you would not bother about whether you or your junior partner was the owner or who would have the say in the matter. And you would not feel yourself by debating whether you ought to give it to someone to operate at your expense but for his own prefit.

Look the present situation squarely in the face. The country is providing the capital and credit, yet the Grand Trunk Pacific, as wirtual owners, control the railway and are to reap all the profits. And if the eastern end does not pay, this same country is the only possible operator of the lean half of the projected rail-

The Liberal party is imitating the ostrich on this question, but the people of the country are watching it. Mr. Blair's strong conviction is that this country could not wisely adopt and carry into operation what he called the hybrid Government policy, owning the road and yet not controlling it. Mr. Borden's view is that since that policy has now been adopted and put before the country, the only possible course is to accept the situation. But he insists that the hybrid policy shall give place to or a whole hogger on this question?

THE FARMER AND THE G. T. P.

If the people of Canada, and particularly the farmers of Ontario, could be made to realize the tremendous importance of the issue in the present election, there would be no doubt of the result. The Government have brought on the election in such a hurry that Mr. Borden 's unable to conduct such an educational campaign as is necessary to fully acquaint the people of Canada with the demerits of the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme. But certain glazing defects can be made plain.

For 50 years in Ontario and for 20 years in the west, agriculture has been at the mercy of the gailroads. Throughout Western Ontario, the farmers have been subjected to treatment which has during the last few years roused them to a vigorous agitation against the railroads. They know from past experience that railway rates will be fixed as high as the tariff will bear. They know that the accommodation provided for them will be just as scant as the railways

We venture to say that had this province enjoyed a railway system managed upon the same plan as the railways of New South Wales during the last 25 years, our progress and prospects would have been many times greater. The same is true of the Northwest Territories. That great country is now served by the Canadian Pacific Bailway, with which corporation the people of the west have had to contend for 20 years to get fair rates and fair conditions If Mr. Borden should be returned to power, and his Government should build a railroad through Manitoba and the Northwest Territories as they are pledged to do, the period of exactions would cease and the development of that great Territory would proceed with greatly accelerat ed movement, 'A standard would be fixed in the Northwst that would regulate charges and railway service in every other province of the confederation. It is apparent to those who have studied the railway problem that Government operation under a Minister of th Crown is a failure, but it is clear from the experience of Australia New Zealand and South Africa that Government operation through a Commission of railway experts has been eminently satisfactory in these countries and would be satisfactory in Canada. Mr. Borden pledges himself if returned to power to construct the Grand Trunk Pacific as a Government enterprise and to substitute for the present railway man-

Dominion that this policy should prevail. The latest report from New South Wales shows that that colony operated 3200 miles of railway last year and earned a dividend of 3% on a capitalization of 210 millions of dollars. What the Anglo-Saxons of New South Wales can do the people of Canada can do as well.

FIFTY YEARS IS A LONG TERM

A young man and his mother sit before an open grate fire.

"The third of November will be one of the most important days in the history of Canada," said the young man, gasing thoughtfully into

"You will cast your first vote on that day," said his mother, looking up from her book with a smile.

"Yes," he said, "and a great many other young men will do the same but I was thinking that something is to be decided on that day which will affect us for fifty years." "Fifty years is a long time," said his mother. "I was a young girl fifty years ago and many things have happened since. There have been great changes in Canada within fifty

"Yes, and there will be great changes during the next fifty years. I am twenty-four years of age now and I will be seventy-four years of age fifty years from now if I live that long, yet if the Liberals are victorious they will give the Grand Trunk Railway Company control of the railway situation for fifty years. The popular sentiment in all progressive countries is moving toward Government ownership of railways, yet no matter how progressive other countries may be Canada will be tied down to corporation ownership for fifty years if the Liberals are wictorious. And even at the end of that time while the Go voernment may gain control of the main line between Moncton and Win-niveg all the profitable branch lines and all the terminal facilities on the eastern section will belong to the Grand Trunk Railway Company and the whole of the western section from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast will be owned by that corporation. Under such circumstances the Grand straight Government ownership and Trunk Railway will still control the situation and may be able to dictate terms to the Government elected by our great grandsons just as it has dictated terms to the Laurier Government to-day."

A WOMAN'S LOYALTY

London, Oct. 26.-One of two ex-London, Oct. 26.—One of two ex-markable women whom marriage suc-cessively bound to one of the most re-markable statesmen in the world met sudden death as did her predecessor when the second Lady Charles Went-worth Dilke burst a blood vessel in her Woking home and died almost instantly instantly.

The first Lady Dike had an untimely end through devotion to her brilliant husband when Englishmen stoned him on the platform fo this public views; the second is believed to have been a victim of her equal loyalty to the baronet when the British press lashed him and English constituencies required him at the British press lashed him and English constituencies repudiated him at the polls for his private morals.

Sir Charles, though besmirched by the confession of Virginia Crawford, his sister-in-law's young sister, and forever branded by his unsuccessful aftempt at vindication when he insisted on reopening the case that gave divorce to Donald Crawford, M. P., was great enough to win and hold the love of two good women who, each in her turn, stuck to him through thick and thin and paid for who, each in her turn, stuck to him through thick and thin and paid for their fealty with their lives.

The whip of public rebuke fell on her fair shoulders more sharply than on his, for her great love made her suffer for him as well as for herself. She brayed public opinion by becoming his bride in October, 1885, after the Crawford divorce, and she it was who called for the intervention of the Queen's proctor that the case might be tried again and her husband have opportunity to prove himmight be tried again and her husband have opportunity to prove himself as innocent as she believed him to be. Even when a jury found the decree Crawford obtained on his wife's confession was justified, thereby fixing the stigma indelibly on the baronet's name, she nailed her colors to the masthead and defied all England to keep him out of parliament. She braved so powerful an opponent as Lady Henry Somerset and faced down the whole Social Party association when Sir Charles, after a full, laid his plans to capture the Forest of Dean constituency. But she wrecked her health in the long, cruel fight.

Lady Dilke the second, before her marriage to Sir Charles, was the widow of the Rev. Mark Pattison, rector of Lincoln College, Oxford. Her first husband was a close friend Her first husband was a close friend of George Eliot and was immortalized as Causabon in "Middlemarch." The young wife was written into the famous novel as Dorothes Causabon. But she needed no other woman's pen to give her a place in literature. She made one for herself as the author of the "Rennaissance of Art in France"

Although a soldier's daughter and the wife of a don whose learning took heavier form than hers, she detook heavier form than hers, she devoted herself to letters from early youth and made a deep impression on the aesthetic world. Her books on art, though analytical, run in a graceful vein that illumes the subjects. Mrs. Pattison became engaged to Sir Charles Wentworth Dilke soon after her first husband's death, it being the rector's request she should become the wife of any good man she could love.

Now English society wonders if the baronet will pay to his second wife

Now English society wonders if the baronet will pay to his second wife the same tribute he gave to his first, who was Miss Kate Sheil, a beautiful Irishwoman. The first Lady Dilke's death at the birth of her son was attributed to personal violence she suffered at the hands of a mob late in the seventies when she appeared. fered at the hands of a mob late in the seventies, when she appeared on the platform with her husband at the height of his red republicanism. Sir Charles grieved deeply for her. He had her body cremated and preserved her ashes in an amphora of great antiquity and enormous value. The costly vase accompanied the statesman on all his travels nor did it lose its honored place in his household when he took another wife.

OPERATIONS A FAD

PUBLIC GENERALLY AWAKENS TO THE FACT. The latest fad in operations has been the appendicitis fad; before that the fad for rectal operations, piles, etc., held sway. Hundreds of patients were frightened and hurried away to hospitals, operated upon and rob-bed of their last dollar, when the trouble was a simple case of hemor-rhoids or piles only, easily cured at home with a simple remedy, costing home with a simple remedy, costing but fifty cents a box.

"I procured one fifty cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure of my druggist, with the intention of buying a larger box later, but was happily surprised when I found that I was cured, and still have six pyramids, left over of the first and only box. I have not had the least sign of piles since I used this one box, which has been about two months; previous to using Pyramid Pile Cure I had the worst kind of bleeding piles and protruding piles for over thirty one years, and no one knows, except those who have had piles, the pain and misery I suffered.

ly related with and necessary to the petroleum trade.

With none of these affairs has the Standard Oil Co. been at any time connected.

Neither is it true that the Standard Oil Co., Mr. John D. Rockefeller or any officer of the Standard Oil Co. has Taken part in securing the nomination of any can-didate for office as is so positively stated. Furthermore it is entirely untrue that there is any "Standard oil party" banded together for speculation in stocks, as is commonly charged. Morse was lorced into several tight corners by Attorney Bowers, refused corners by Attorney Bowers, refused to answer some questions and made the admission that it has been his practice to destroy all of his records of money ventures at least once, and usually twice, a year. McDonald alleges that, for properties that had cost him $800,000 Morse received $14,000,000.

McDonald's purpose is to sift to the bottom the creation of the ice trust, and it is expected that the name of ex-Mayor Robert A. Van Wyck, John F. Carroll and several other Tammanyites who got in and out of the ice trust at the right time, thanks to Mr. Morse, will be drawn into the proceedings.

A BIT OF

DAILY COMMENT

Section by section, our west is opening up its riches. The little mining town of Coleman, in Alberta, near the Crow's Nest Pass, is a striking instance. A year ago Coleman had no existence, but the sinews and inspirations were hidden there in mervellously rich fields of bituminous coal. The development of these deposits, once begun, was fostered with the true western enterprise. 30,000 tons of coal have been taken out since last October, while the mining operations were still in a preparatory stage. Before the New Year the colliery will have an equipment with a capacity of maintaining an output of one thousand tons daily.

One hundred and four coke ovens have been erected there recently and three more ordered. The coke produced is of a high quality, readily sold in British Columbia smelting centres. There are seven seams on the coal lands, running throughout the seven miles of lands, owned by the company developing Coleman. The reports of the Geological Survey have from year to year pointed out the vast mineral wealth of the west, But interest in the daily calls of the east upon life, the reports are put down and forgotten until some mush-room-town like Dawson or Coleman spring up. The Territories conceal many prosperous Colemans of the future.

With elections in the air on both sides of the boundary, a happy village without politics and reluctant to enter their domain, is somewhat of an anomaly. This village of Roseto, Pa., is peopled by Italian quarrymen and displays in a score of ways the manner and characteristics of Summy Italy. In view of the Italian question in Montreal this year, this Pennsylvania village takes on added interest, Seven years ago it was only

THE CHATHAM DAILY PLANET a shiftless colony with many shacks that sheltered—it could not be called "de rentertained," from one to two dozen of the quarrymen. They were without other ambition than to save money to send home to Italy. Their quarters were not very comfortable until a priest of their own race came out and purchased property at Rose to, began to organize the young men. Cleanliness and sanitary regulations were his first care. The village contains 500 heads of families and tasteful new houses are going up constantly. Taxes, and not particularly light ones, are regularly paid to the municipal township. The council's care of the streets was anything but satisfactory, however, until this summer a clever warning placarded in the streets roused the municipality to move in street improvement. The improvement, The improvements are sufficiently as the street of calling the municipality to move in street improvement. move in street improvement. perative need of political knowledge in securing efficient administration has impelled the colony's leader to open a class in citzenship. One hundred of these people are now eligiable for membership, and politics will presently, take its foothold in this modern Arcadia.

ing of Geeds.

London, Oct. 27.—(C.A.P.)—At a meeting of Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, referring to the new Canadian customs regulations, J. Crooks, jaid: "The members of the general trade committee were hopeful that if they put forward their moderate resolution the Canadian Government might recognize and remove or modify might recognize and remove or modify the conditions so as to make it possible for us to continue our legiti-mate trade."

The chairman said it was some-what remarkable that Canada in protecting herself from the evil of dumping should put the Mother Country in such a jacket and make it almost impossible ta continue her trade with Canada. Canada, on the other hand, assisted in dumping in this country by giving bounties to their iron and steel manufacturers in order to supply the Mother Country with goods below the cost of production. Charles Lancaster pointed out that Canada dumped more pig iron in this country than America, Germany and Belgium combined.

Low Cheese. Cheshire cheesemakers complain of the lowness of prices. This they at-tribute to the competition with which they are met from Canada.

Sir John Gorst, in speaking at the Free Trade Union meeting at Mac-clesfield, said it was an undoubted fact that the tax upon food tended to raise the price of food, and the measure of advantage to the colo-nies of a tax upon food was the measure of increase in its price.

London, Oct. 27.—(C.A.P.)—Colonial Secretary Lyttleton, speaking at Warwick, said a grave responsibility would be incurred if the colonies, being willing to meet in conference, Great Britain was pusilanimous enough to refuse discussion. A Farce and a Fraud.

London, Oct. 27.-In a general attack on the Government at Norwich, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Liberal leader, said a conference on marriage to Leslie Johnson, of Harwich. Rev. Rural Dean McCosh tied couple will spend their honeymoon in St. Louis.

Liberal leader, said a conference on the question of an unrestricted preference between the Mother Country and the colonies would be a farce and a fraud upon and befooling of the colonies because taxes on food
the colonies because taxes on food
the colonies because taxes on food were wholly opposed to the interests and sentiments of the British people. The country was sick of the whole thing. The fiscal controversy showed the Premier's contempt for the intelligence of the country.

Oct. 27.-Chief Hamilto is out in the country looking for a counter of armed tramps, who committed an outrage at Dalmeny Saturday.

About 9 o'clock Saturday morning a little son of Alex. Stewart, a welt-to-do farmer, went to the bush to but a shinny stick, and on the edge of the woods was accosted by two men, who asked him where his father kept his money. The lad replied that he did not know, and the tramps led him further into the bush, tramps led him further into the bush, where they stripped him completely of his clothing.

Wandering in his pitiable condition, the little fellow bravely started to find his way home and weeded in reaching it. home and succeeded in reaching it at 6 o'clock that evening. He told his story and Chief Hamilton was notified.

The boy was able to give a good description of the men, and they will likely be run down. One was a stoutly built man and carried a gua and was apparently well up in years. The younger had no gun, but in a belt he carried a pistol.

THE UNIVERSITY DEGREE.

6it William Ramsay Speaks of Its Mean ingless in Some Cases.

I have often seen men whose circumstances or whose character or whose deliberate choice has led them to abstair from taking a degree and to abstar wom taking a degree and who are none the less most successful investigators and who have proved inspiriting teachers.

On the other hand, I have perhaps more frequently come in contact with raduates whose only claim to recognition is a parrotlike ability to repeat what has been told them and a knack of gauging the idiosyncrasies of the examiner. The older I get the less I believe in the university degrees as a test of capacity.

The pernicious system of competitive scholarships and fellowships instead of eleemosynary support given ro the necessitous and the deserving youth has also contributed to the de-basement of the scientific spirit, for it has early implanted in the young mind the idea that to outrun his fel-lows and to work solely for money reward are the ends to be aimed at instead of the joy of the exercise of a divine gift for the benefit of man.—Sir William Ramsay.

The distinguished novelist, Henry The distinguished novelist, Henry James, who is now on a visit to the United States, has resided abroad since 1869, alternating between England and Italy. When he landed in New York a few days ago one of the first things he did was to go to the postoffice and call for a three cent stamp, one of the old-fashioned kind that was used before people could send their ordinary letpeople could send their ordinary let-ters at an expenditure of only two cents. Mr. James' sensations on learning that the stamp in question had not been in use in the memory of many now grown almost to manhood and womanhood were akin to those experienced by Rip Van Winkle by any means during his residence abroad. The years since 1869 have been filled with arduous literary la-bor, which has advanced the author to a foremost place among romance writers in the English language. Indeed, he has been very profific both as novelist and essayist. Mr. James is credited with originating the in-ternational novel. It is interesting to observe how the circumstances of his boyhood influenced the work of his later career. Born in New York, in 1843, he was educated under his father's supervision in New York, Geneva, Paris and Boulogne-sur-Mer. His family went abroad in 1885 and stayed there until 1888. He remained a year more. In 1862 he entered the Harvard Law School. In 1865 he began to contribute sketches to maga-zines, but during the first ten years of his literary career he produced no extensive and ambitious work of no extensive and ambitious work of fiction. Familiarity with the old world furnished the young author with suggestions and material for a kind of social study that has characterized most of his writing. He has delighted in contrasting Americans and Europeans in his stories dealing with Americans abroad.

Iron Turned Into Copper.

A curious find was recently made in one of the copper mines at El Cobre, Cuba. These mines, once among the richest in the world, have been abandoned for over thirty years, because during the Cuban insurrection of 1868 the coal supply was cut off by the insurgents, and consequently pumping became impossible, so that the mines filled with water. After the Spanish war an American company bought the mines and procompany bought the mines and proceeded to pump out the water. In one of the shafts thus made accessible was found what once represented an iron pickaxe as well as some crowbars. The metal in these implements had, however, turned to cop-

Wonderful as this may appear, there is a simple scientific explanation. The water filtering through the rocks and the copper ore veins dissolved some of the copper, the solution containing sulphate of copper. solved some of the copper, the solution containing sulphate of copper. As soon as the sulphuric acid has a greater affinity for iron it at once dissolved that metal and deposited copper in its place, for sulphuric acid has a greater affinity for iron than for copper. In the process certain impurities which had existed in the iron were left behind undisturbed. The wooden handle of the axe was in good condition. The metal was porous and irregualr in shape, but in the general outlines preserved the form of the axe somewhat enlarged in size. larged in size.

Wonderful Echoes.

One of the finest echoes of which we have record is mentioned Barthius, in his notes on the The Barthius, in his notes on the Thebais of Statius. This was on the banks of the Naha, between Coblenz and Bingen, where an original sound was repeated seventeen times.

At Milan is an echo which reiterates the report of a pistol from fifty to sixty times. In a cave of the Pantheon it is said that the guide, by flapping his coat, makes a noise equal to the report of a twelve-pounder. The sweetest echo in all the world answers a call at the side of the tomb of Nur-Mahal dud Jehanhgir, at Agra. The guide raises the cry: "Great is God, and Mohammed is his Prophet-Allah!" At first three distinct musical notes are heard in the echo, which reverberate round the dome, and ascend until they reach the smaller dome, where they re-unite, and escape from the temple as one tone.

GRAND OLD MAN OF BASEBALL PAYS A VISIT TO CANADA.

Pather Chadwick Telts the History of Ball -Easeball Master Gives An Interesting Sketch of How the Modern Came Developed From Rounders-A Writer of Books and a Veteran Journalist -Congratulations on Soth Birthday.

On the 1904 anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, Toronto was honored with the presence of the Grand Old Man of baseball, Mr. Henry Chadwick, of the New York Press Club. Mr. Chadwick has had more Club. Mr. Chadwick has had more to do with the evolution of baseball from the old English game of rounders than any other man, living or dead. He is practically the organizer of the game as it is played to-day and though not working alone along these lines still he was always the guiding spirit and the man who kneaded the sport into its present highly scientific state.

To-day Mr. Chadwick is the one connecting link between the past and the present. Not that he has with-connecting link between the past and the present. Not that he has withdrawn from sports and baseball yet, for he is still a very active member of the press and the compiler of Spalding's baseball guide that rules the bat and ball world. But he is the one man who has seen the game evolve from chaos to art and was largely instrumental in that evolution.

mr. Chadwick is now an old man— In his eighties—and his influence for good in the game is inestimable. In appearance he is tall and straight, with white beard and hair. As a acwspaper man he is kind and af-

But. as They frequently take the form of a small mud hut, having a dark interior filled with smoke, tea tables, forms, and an oven, where a cook is kept busy baking tea bread and frying puddings for the entertainment of the entertainment the papers the next day reported, he was more modest in his estimate of his speaking ability than he had occasion to be. But 'twas ever thus; modest worth would always hide its light under a bushel.

The hot water is sold passers-by, who usually carry with them their teapot and tea, so that they may have a cup at every station. This custom of carrying one's own tea is so common that it is difficult to procure a cup of tea in any of the restaurants, as they do not keep it, and do not care to go out of their way to buy it for you. In 1833 the Olympic Club of Philadelphia was the first organized club to play the game of rounders, though it had been the sport of the town game at Staten Island, playing short-stop.

In rounders the pitcher stood in front of a square, with the batsman standing guard over a hele in the ground, into which it was the pitcher's duty to put the ball and the batsman's to keep it out.

Soon the square was turned about angle-wise, as it is at present, and the pitcher placed in the centre. The old hole was replaced by a base, and the progress toward the modern game of baseball was fast and easy from that point on. To quote Mr rom that point on. To quote M: voyage in a two and a note.

A 3-YEARS' CANDE TRIP

Captain Voss began his journey from Victoria, British Columbia, on May 21, 1901, having as his companion Mr. Luxton, a son of the former proprietor of The Winnipeg Free Press. The craft draws 24 inches of water, and her skipper had done his best to make her seaworthy by adding a leaden keel of three hundredweight, and constructing a cabin as a protection from adverse winds. The Tilikum or Friend is fore and aft rigged, possessing three masts and a canvas area of 88 yards. She was built by a North three masts and a canvas area of 88 yards. She was built by a North American Indian, long dead. Mr. Luxton left the cance at one of the intermediate calling places and Captain Voss engaged another mate. Unfortunately the latter fell overboard 1,200 miles from Sydney, and carried with him the only compass. According to the captain's narrative, after leaving British Columbia he rounded the coast for Vancouver, thence entering the North Pacific.

The voyage around the Australian coast was attended by an unexpected incident off Melbourne. Here the frail craft was damaged by the negligent use of a crane, and Captain Voss brought an action for damages, which he won. From Melbourne he went up to Ballarat, where he took part in a regatta, conveying the canoe for this purpose to an altitude of 1,400 feet above sea level.

The Tilikum encountered at times very rough wear encountered at times very rough weather. When the cange put in at Christchurch her skipper was able to give before an assemblage of 7,000 people a demonstration of the value of his patent sea anchor, by the use of which the boat had lived through heavy seas. He had put the anchor to a practical test off the Australian coast, since it enable him to weather a four days gale. He gave a second exhibition at Wellington, From Auckland he went an eighteen days' trip to the New Hebrides, and his health having failed somewhat, he made for iled somewhat, he made for Island, in the Torres

A run of 2,000 miles across the Indian Ocean brought the Tilikum to Rodrigues Island, where the canoe was re-provisioned. Subsequently Captain Voss landed at Durban, Conth. Arriva and west on to Lady-Rodrigues Island, where the canoe was re-provisioned. Subsequently Captain Voss landed at Durban, South Africa, and weat on to Ladysmith, Colenso, Pretoria and East London. From Cape Town he voyaged to St. Helena, reached Pernambuco on May 21, exactly three years from the date of his first sailing. The arrival at the Azores was delayed, owing to the indisposition of Captain Voss, who naturally was suffering from long confinement to so restricted an area as the deck of his canoe. Making his course, after thirty days' sickness, to the English coast, Captain Voss bespoke two British vessels, one of which he boarded. The second of these was the Colonial Empire, outward bound to San Francisco. Her commander, Captain Simpson, asked Captain Voss to report him as having been spoken. Good weather prevailed in the North Atlantic, and the long run ended at Margate, where Captain Voss was welcomed by a large concourse. He shook hands with at least 500 people, says The London Graphic, who had watched the Tilikum enter the harbor, and had pressed forward to congratulate him.

Anticipating the don ning of the red gown he informed his friends that after the ceremony he would have to be treated as a person of respectability. "I have done my best to avoid that misfortune," said he, "but it's of no use." It was Oxford that paid him the compliment, as it and done to Darwin two years earlier. When Darwin was given the degree Huxley let him have no false idea as to the honor bestowed. "Canon Pusey," he declared, "has been making inquiry as to who are the blackest heretics or the list proposed. CULTURE AND EDUCATION. Prof. James Bryce's Address to Stude of Political Science at the University of Toronto.

Prof. James Bryce, the noted British Parliamentarian, historian and biographer, addressed the Political Science Club of the University of Toronto recently on the sudiy and benefit of history and economics. In preface to a concise but convincing talk he expressed his pleasure in noting the great development of our Canadian universities. We were reproducing in our seats of learning the greatest institutions of England. Our universities were, in fact, being felt in our national life as great organs of enlightenment. Congratulations were due to the University of Toronto for its extensive course in political descriptions. to for its extensive course in politi-cal science and economics, the more so since in England and Scotland these studies were saily neglected. There was no time, said the speaker, when the internal questions, the fis-

There was no time, said the speaker, when the internal questions, the fiscal questions and the absorbing international problems of trade and commerce constituted such a danger to peace as at present. These problems must be examined scientifically and determined economically.

We would give millions, continued Professor Bryce, to know more of the constitution of ancient Greece. The last man to apply political science in his public life was Aristotle, and his treatise is the finest we have. With free constitutions here and throughout Europe how much more possible is it to have a basis for political science at the present time than in the days of Aristotle. The people of England have totle. The people of England have political habits and traditions fixed political habits and traditions fixed and formed by time and long experience. This is not yet possible in Canada. "Your Legislature needs guidance," said Prof. Bryce. "Does it contain men of culture, education and pure public spirit? At any rate, it is impossible to discount the value of knowledge and culture."

In reverting to the study of history the speaker declared the history of art, literature and economics to be as much a part of history as wars of art, iterature and constraint of art, iterature and revolutions. Freeman's epigram, "History is past politics and politics is present history," was too narrow a view. They should study economics and political science in the economics and political science in the light of history. To see a man in bold light, with his primary qualities in bold relief, Prof. Bryce held to be the advantage of studying ansient and mediaeval history. Then it was that human nature had more free and ample play. Moreover, the imaginative appeal is stronger, and without it no history is worthy of the name. The great historian possesses strong imaginative powers. sesses strong imaginative powers. Literature of the times, studied in sesses strong imaginative powers. Literature of the times, studied in conjunction with history, is a potent aid in training these faculties. It gives us powerful pictures of a remarkable life and civilization. The Norse Sagas, a rare sample of poetic prose, gives us a vivid picture of mediaeval times. The Divine Comedy of Dante is a veritable epitome of the Middle Ages. He is the competent historian's guide book. Prof. Bryce expressed his pleasure in noting that the study of Dante was being revived on this side of the water. His importance to history must be considered greater than a mere accumulation of bald facts and dates. Having suggested the task of mastering Icelandic as well as Italian to his heaters, the speaker humorously declared he was sorry he

In conclusion Prof. Bryce expressed In conclusion Prof. Bryce expressed the hope that an increasing number of university men would go in for politics. It was the emphatic duty of men with minds filled with the wisdom of antiquity to use their gifts in their country's service.

Prof. Bryce's remarks were followed with the closest attention of a large body of students and professors.

A MODEST REQUEST.

Remarkable Letter for Information A Many are the curious epistles which find their way into the Government mail from importunate but ill-in-formed individuals abroad. Ignor-ance of Caracta and Caracta ance of Canada and Canadian institutions are frequently illustrated in these communications, but perhaps the letter which was received at one of the departments recently reached the limit in this regard. It came from an individual in the city of New York, addressed to "The Governor-General of Canada," and requesting that the writer be informed of all the places in Canada where hardwood could be obtained, also of the names of all Canadian railways and their freight rates.

BRITISH HARD TO HOLD

Absence of Russian Apology Increases the Tension.

ndon Papers State Britain's Ultimatur to Russia Expires This Afternoon-Rojestvensky Says He Saw Japs Among His Battleships, But His Explanatio Does Not Explain-At Gibraltar British War Vessels Are Under Orders to Chase

London, Oct. 27 .- At three o'clock London, Oct. 27.—At three o'clock this morning there is no sign when Admiral Rojestvensky's report will be made public, but if unofficial reports should turn out to reflect the admiral's official report, it is evident the Russian officers made an extraordinary blunder in mistaking trawlers for torpedo boats and fired on their phantom foes.

The newspapers this morning evince more heat and impatience than here-ofore at Russia's delay, which is considered absolutely indefensible in the present circumstances.

Tension Increases.

Tension increases as time passes without a definite settlement of the situation created by the Russian blunder in the North Sea. Ambassador Benckendorff's tentative communications ication to Foreign Minister Lans-downe yesterday and the fact that it was regarded as unsatisfactory, only serves to inflame the public mind; and while official circles are giving out intimations that it is their confident belief the whole mat-ter will be satisfactorily arranged, it is now quite evident that only a ort time will be allowed Russia in which to give final and complete as-sur ces of her intention to comply with any and all demands that Great Britain may make within rea-arrival of Admiral Rojestver y at Vigo and the certainty that is in direct communication with side of the occurrences of the night of Oct. 21. With this official version of Oct. 21. With this official version before the Russian Government, together with the official statement of the members of the fishing fleet, it is unlikely that the British public or the British Government will allow another 24 hours to pass quietly without receiving a quick answer. Meanwhile the Admiralty is not idle. Navy Grows Active.

Reports from , all naval stations show that a tremendous state of ac-tivity exists. This is especially true of Gibraltar, from which place it is announced that some of the best of Great Britain's war vessels are under Great Britain's war vessels are under orders to proceed in the direction of the Russian second Pacific squadron, and that all the ships of the British Channel fleet are ready to go to sea at a moment's notice. Hitherto there has been no indication that a time limit has been set by Great Britain for Russia's reply to her demands, but the fact that three battleships and three cruisers are under orders for the morning of Oct. 28, is con-strued in some quarters to mean that Great Britain will not wait longer than that date before unleashing her sea dogs, while it is also evident that the Russian cruisers and small-er boats of the squadron may find difficulty in passing the gateway to the east, unless the crisis is comtely over by the time they reack entrance of the Mediterranean. Everything Arranged.

Information has reached the Associated Press from an authoritative ource that puts a brighter light up-n the situation. It is understood that practically everything has been decided upon to the satisfaction of Count Lamsdorff, the Russian Foreign Minister, except the question of the punishment of the offending of-ficers of the second Pacific squadron. It is further understood that Great Britain is not demanding final and formal written undertakings before announcing that she is satisfied, but that an undertaking in general terms on the part of Russia will be accepted as sufficient guarantee for an official announcement that the crisis has passed, Colonial Secretary Lyttelton, speaking at Leamington last night, said he had no further information to disclose, but he had no doubt Russia would make full reparation and punish the offenders.

Reflect Grave Situation

All the public utterances of minis-ters and influential men reflect the gravity of the crisis, but also confi-dence that Russia will give the required satisfaction. Premier Balfour will make a speech at Southampton on Friday, which is awaited with in-tense interest. Lord Selborne, first Lord of Admiralty, left London late last night for Portsmouth to give his personal attention to naval preparations there.

While the good faith of the Rus sian Government, in its efforts to probe the affair is not questioned, it probe the affair is not questioned, it is evident from British enquiries at the Foreign Office and Admiralty on Wednesday that while no time limit for a response to the British note has been fixed, King Edward's Government is neither in a humor nor a position to brook unreasonable delay. It is realized here that each day's delay will render the temper of day's delay will render the temper of the people of both countries more un-certain. The hope is expressed at the Admiralty that the report may be received to-day.

ROJECTVENSKY'S EXCUSE.

Admiral Says He Saw Japs Among His

Vigo, Spain, Oct. 27.—The Associated Press has succeeded in obtaining an interview with Admiral Roing an interview with Admiral Rojestvensky, who expressed great regret over the North Sea incident.
The admiral stated that the unfortunate occurrence was purely accidental. The weather, the night in question, was rather hazy. About 1 a.
m. two torpedo boats, which the Russians supposed to be Japanese craft, suddenly appeared between the two divisions of the squadron and seemed to discharge torpedoes. The Russians immediately opened fire. They saw no fishermen and were not aware that any damage had been done. Evidently, the admiral said, the fishermen had shown no lights. The admiral reported that he greatly regretted that any injury had been done the fishermen, and added that he had no doubt the Russian Government would make ample recompense.

The arrival here of the Russian battleships Emperor Alexander III., Borodino, Orel and Kniaz Souvaroff and the transport Anadul, which have anchored in this port, has caus-ed considerable excitement. The commander of the port immediately boarded the Russian flagship and in formed Admiral Rojestvensky that the Spanish Government could 'not permit the warships to coal within the port. Admiral Rojestvensky re plied that his vessels needed repairs and that for that reason he had separated from the remainder of his quadron. The commander of the port promised to inform the Span ish Government of the admiral's statement and communicate the Govment's reply as soon as it was re

In spite of this five German coalers anchored in port alongside the bat tleships, whereupon the commande of the port sent an aide-de-camp to beg Admiral Rojestvensky not of the Spanish cruiser Estramadura to notify the colliers that they must obey the port authorities. Eventual-ly Admiral Rojestvensky promised that he would not coal in Spanish waters, at the same time begging the commander of the port to obtain the government's permission for each warship to take on 400 tons of coal with which to reach Tangier. Short-ly afterwards three colliers sailed for Tangier, but two remained alongside the Russian warshins.

The tone of comparative modera-tion and calmness hitherto shown by the press of London is observed to be yielding to one of an outspken bellicose nature. in a position of responsibility is a menace to every vessel that navigates the sea.

The Daily Telegraph, representing the Government view, says: "There is no doubt whatever of the Govern-ment's seriousness. No responsible Ministers would order a fleet athwart the path of the vessels of a foreign power without recognizing the responsibility of such a grave step; yet this is what His Majesty's Govern-ment has done with its eyes wide op-

An equally bellicose tone characterized the British correspondent's despatches from St. Petersburg.
Lord Rosebery, in sending a cheque for $500 for the sufferers, describes the North Sea affair as "an unspeakable outrage."

Later, howev-er, she died from its effects. Mrs. er, she died from its elects. Mrs. Hawes was 36 years of age. She has five children, the eldest being 14. Nine years ago her husband deserted her. An inquest will be held.

Healer Preceded Death.

Calgary, Oct. 27.—Inspector Worsley returned from Olds Tuesday, where a post-mortem was held on the body of a man named Newsome, who died a week ago. Newsome was convalescent from typhoid and dismissing his medical practitioner he called in Fyke, a magnetic healer, who burnt powder, gave other treatment and declared him well. Newsome took a full meal and died shortly afterwards. A warrant is out for the arrest of Fyke, who cannot be found.

Oftawa, Oct. 27.—Edgar Tripp, Canadian commercial agent in Trinidad, writes to the department here saying that there is a market for Canadian boots Of $300,000 worth

Men's Overcoats

Man's most important winter garment is his overcoat. A good stylish, correctly fitting overcoat will cover a multitude of minor clothing faults.

If we pay more attention to anyone branch of our manufacturing business than another, it is to the making

Although the selling of winter overcoats really extends only three or four months of the year, we are either I buying the cloths, designing the patterns or making the overcoats during the whole twelve. The results of our buying, planning and tailoring can be seen in the extensive displays of luxurious garments with which we are ready to greet you.

Come in, look them over, try them on and see what we have done. Prices, $6 to $20.

When I saw John Kerr's own re-port of his own speech at Fletcher, I thought that he must have got into a western Texas town instead of peaceful law-abiding Fletcher.

I suppose that the reason the Banner recognizes personalities so quick-ly is owing to the ready way in which the local Stephens organette is able to deal in personalities of the worst kind.
