

BRANTFORD GIVES ROYAL WELCOME TO LIEUTENANT ASHTON COCKSHUTT RETURNING INVALIDED FROM FRONT

Vast Crowd of Eager and Sympathetic Onlookers Cheered the Young Officer Repeatedly—Mayor Spence First to Greet Him as He Alighted From the Train Accompanied by His Mother and Father, W. F. Cockshutt, M. P.

"I did the best I could. I am going back as soon as I am able. I thank you for your kind reception." In such words were the people thanked by Lieut. Ashton Cockshutt, home on furlough, and in them there is an appeal to every fit man. Let each young man read it as he best can. Have you done your best?

A HOME-COMING.

There was an immense throng, upwards of many thousands at the G. T. R. depot last night to welcome home the gallant officer, Lieut. A. Bishop, D.S.O. and Lieut. Ashton Cockshutt. Contrary to expectation, however, Lieut. Bishop, who had arrived home earlier in the day was not present and to the gallant, young soldier, the heart of the crowd went out and some stirring huzzas rent the air. Carrying a hold-all, jostled by an eager crowd, he passed to the car, quiet, self-contained, modest, a type of the noble youth who are giving all to serve King and Country.

Round the G. T. R. environs, up on the fountain, on the mound, lining the adjacent street, crammed on the platform, kept back by the ranks of red-coated Dragoons, they surged and swayed, old men and boys, iron and maiden, every class and every rank of life, represented in a diversity of loyal people who foregathered to give welcome and show sympathy. The Second Dragoons were present and their rousing cheer featured the entry of the 7-33 from Montreal. Brantford has rarely seen such a stirring moment, when the heart scanned each successive carriage, till at last as the khaki clad figure emerged with his left arm swinging a little stiffly, his eyes dimming as he took in the home scenes, a little pale, but looking each inch an officer in his service khaki, carrying a cane and with a quick salute answering the greetings that were hurled through the air in a ringing shout of admiration.

Rare indeed, are plaudits at such an hour; the thoughts of comrades sleeping their last sleep, amid such grim scenes as Flanders holds, often sets the desire to cheer; the dead hours ahead, the hearts that would gladly express their sentiments more noisily, feel more attuned in silent sympathy than in loud voiced cheering; and bravely, more than one mother's trial is turned with a look of sincere sympathy. It was a royal welcome for Brantford, a response dictated from full hearts, a rare tribute to a gallant son.

THE ARRIVAL.

"I thank you for this reception. At the front I did the best I could, and I am going back as soon as I am able." So spoke Lt. Ashton Cockshutt from his father's car in response to the magnificent reception accorded him last night by hosts of cheering and admiring citizens.

Fresh from the old land, having only landed in Canada on Sunday, Lt. Cockshutt home on furlough to recuperate from his wounds, arrived last night on the International Limited from Montreal. He travelled in a parlor car and when the train drew up stop his car was almost opposite Market street. The people rushed to the car steps, as the Lieutenant was easily discernible in his khaki uniform and as soon as he descended a rousing cheer went up in greeting. Mayor Spence was the first to meet him, Mr. and Mrs. Cockshutt having accompanied him from Montreal. Lieut. Cockshutt was then escorted to his father's motor car, which, gaily decorated with flags was drawn up on Market street. Immediately the crowd thronged about the returned soldier, cheering and curious, eager to gaze upon him.

It was in response to their cheers and welcome that Lieut. Cockshutt stood up and spoke a few words of thanks and gratitude. Upon resuming his seat, Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., the proud father also thanked the assemblage in a few words. "We thank Almighty God that He has sent him home in safety," said Mr. Cockshutt. "Should any young man here wish to show his appreciation of my son, let him emulate his example and go to the front."

Hearty cheers greeted the speech and then, led by Mayor Spence, the crowd gave three hearty cheers for Mrs. Cockshutt. Led by Mr. Cockshutt's car, the line of motors then ran up Market Street, a lane formed by the over-the-seas detachments of the 2nd and 25th Dragoons.

This concluded the formal part of the programme as Lieut. Cockshutt was borne swiftly home and intended remaining in privacy for the remainder of the evening.

CIVIC OFFICIALS.

Present in fifteen cars were the civic officials of Brantford, and noticeable in the crowd was Lt.-Col. H. Leonard, an old soldier, whose nephew, Lt. A. Bishop has also returned so far as safely. In command of the No. 10 Dufferin Rifles quota were present as they were in Paris in response to Lt.-Col. Fisher's invitation.

AT HIS HOME, LATER.

The men of the 25th, not to be denied a soldier's audience with the officer, demanded that Lieut. Crouch where they stood and gave three ringing cheers for the returned lad. Lieut. Ashton Cockshutt in response to their cheering appeared and had exhausted himself, he enquired: "All ready to go off to the front, men?" "Yes, sir, all ready," came the unanimous response, to which the officer replied: "That's the place to be, lads!" The little incident was closed in a further volley of cheers and to the rattle of their drum they departed.

Von Tirpitz Journals Says Germany Has No Apologies Ready

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Aug. 31.—The Daily Mail says: "Admiral von Tirpitz's two mouth-pieces, Count Reventlow and the leading writer of the Hamburger Nachrichten, are extremely indignant at the Washington correspondent of the Wolff's Agency because he dared to telegraph that the German government had better produce some kind of excuse for the Arabic business. They are some of the excuses he suggested adding that almost any excuse would apparently be accepted. Americans on the Arabic were guests; that is persons granted free tickets on condition that they would sail on the ship; the Arabic either made or appeared to make such a manoeuvre as justified or might justify the submarine in thinking she meant to 'am her or to escape.' "No excuses," shrieks the Hamburger Nachrichten, "if a German submarine really sank the Arabic, the whole German people approve its action."

Similarly Count Reventlow urges that "whatever the facts may have been the German Empire has neither reason nor occasion to offer apologies. The German submarine warfare against England will be extensively and intensively increased the longer the war lasts."

"Count Reventlow is rather scornful of the suggestion that American passengers were guests, saying: 'We really can't see what difference this makes. We suppose an American remains an American even if he did not pay his passage.'"

ONLY MINOR FIGHTING.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Petrograd, Aug. 30, via London, Aug. 31, 4.04 a.m.—The following official statement was issued to-night at the headquarters of the army of the Caucasus: "On the entire front there have been only minor engagements and changes. During the recent fighting men to continue to work until a decision, expected to-morrow, is reached by the London conference."

Miss Laura E. McCully, Treasurer of the Women's Home Guard, Toronto, has resigned.

LIEUT. BISHOP HAS LITTLE TO SAY OF THE FRONT

Young Middlesex Officer is Modest and Reticent Regarding Himself.

Interviewed by a Courier representative to-day, Lieut. A. Bishop, D.S.O., looked remarkably fit, being big, husky-looking, and but for the scar across his right eye and a slight reduction in weight, he is to all intents as good as ever. He is in good spirits, and speaks highly of the spirit of the men who are just dying to get into action.

Kitchener's army is splendid, and recruiting in England, despite the pessimists, still goes on well. He is surprised at the large numbers of young men on the streets of Brantford, "they could all be used," he says.

The Middlesex Regiment has suffered frightfully, and few indeed are left of the officers. They took part in several big fights and were severely cut up.

Lt. Bishop does not know whether he was the officer referred to in the despatch published some months ago [about a young officer of the Middlesex who maintained a heavy fire in the teeth of dreadful odds. Quite a number of them did plucky things, he says. "We were all acting as well as we could under the circumstances." He declines to talk on the action which brought him the coveted distinction, and says every man there but awaits the opportunity to distinguish himself equally well.

ENGLISH OFFICERS

He admires them every way, they are such sportsmen, have their games and favorite sports at the front. Hounds and shooting in the rear are a surprise to the natives who, however, have a high opinion of their fighting qualities.

THE TERRITORIALS

"Are splendid—fighting like veterans, and have made a name for themselves. They showed the best of their spirit and courage shortly after their arrival in the firing line, and deserved the praise given them by the French."

TRIBUTE TO MIDDLESEX

Lt. Bishop pays a high tribute to the "Tommy's" of his old battalion. He declines to say if he is a great grogser over little things, but game when in greatest of pain." In fact, the troops are ready and game to a man—showing wonderful spirit, he concluded, and "conscripted won't be required." He thinks the men can be got all right, and, saying goodbye, the interview was closed.

Coal Strike Is Settled

TROUBLE IS OVER.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Aug. 31.—The trouble in the South Wales coal mining districts, which threatened to precipitate a serious strike, has been settled.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, Aug. 31.—Definite progress is being made in the effort to prevent a spread of the South Wales coal strike. The conference of Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade; David Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, and representatives of the miners and mine owners was continued to-day. At the conclusion of the morning session Thomas Richards, member of Parliament and member of the miners' executive committee, said: "A settlement is probably on the way."

One of the mine owners volunteered a remark which was regarded as significant. "The men have been reckoned with," he said.

The representatives of the miners telegraphed to the labor leaders now meeting in Cardiff a request that they suspend action. The delegates at Cardiff adopted a resolution advising the men to continue to work until a decision, expected to-morrow, is reached by the London conference.

Miss Laura E. McCully, Treasurer of the Women's Home Guard, Toronto, has resigned.

DID HIS PART AS WELL AS HE COULD

Such is the Trend of Lieut. Cockshutt's Story to Courier Man.

"I haven't much to tell anyone. I've been in England two-thirds of my time sick. I'm only one of a very large number."

In this wise did Lieutenant Ashton Cockshutt modestly and soberly seek to depreciate any attempt at a formal interview to the Courier representative. He did not leave England with his regiment being on the sick list from an operation he had undergone, but followed them up later and was under quite heavy shelling in the reserve trenches at Festubert.

BOMBS LOVELY.

So says this active soldier. Some of them are fiendish in their ingenious construction. The "jam pot" is the commonest kind and is constructed from an empty jelly tin in which two plugs of dynamite are inserted together with a collection of nails, iron chips; anything, in fact, and covered which a fuse is inserted, which is about six inches long. The thrower holds it at arms length and then lights it. The thrower has to move rapidly to get it down and away from him. The best kind, however, is one shaped like a large goose egg which has an automatic adjustment, which when released from pressure of the fingers, will release a pin on the detonator and on alighting will explode within three seconds.

"The worst of the lot, however, is the high explosive shells and bombs the enemy possesses. They are shockers. I think every man ought to be trained in their throwing and making as their effect is nerve shattering on a foe even in trench. Bullets are nothing to them," and apropos of this statement it will be noticed that training along these lines is general now at Niagara.

Mr. Armand took this message as his death sentence, and he says that he was again arrested and brought before a German officer, who threatened to shoot him for having transgressed military orders. Mr. Armand protested his ignorance of these military orders, and after much pivoting, he was permitted to have a respectable room but was kept under surveillance.

MONTREAL MAN RETURNS AFTER AN AWFUL YEAR

Was Kept Close Pressed by Germans in Ruhleben—Was Badly Fed.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—After experiencing twelve months of what he himself described as martyrdom, at the hands of the Germans, a Montreal mining broker, J. T. Armand, reached home yesterday from Germany where he had been kept close pressed for a year. An Alsatian by birth, Mr. Armand left Montreal in June, 1914, to pay a visit to his parents at Strassburg, and was at Baden, with two Americans when war was declared. He endeavored to leave Germany, but found it impossible. At Appenweiler he was held as a suspect being known as a British subject, and was carried off to Bulathal. Thanks to the influence of some Americans he received permission to leave this fortress but it did not take the Germans long to find an excuse for his further apprehension.

He was again arrested and brought before a German officer, who threatened to shoot him for having transgressed military orders. Mr. Armand protested his ignorance of these military orders, and after much pivoting, he was permitted to have a respectable room but was kept under surveillance.

In November an order was given that all British subjects in Germany must be interned, and following out this order, Mr. Armand was taken to the fortress at Rastad. The American consul there made representations to the German government concerning the conditions in which the prisoners were kept, and Mr. Armand had another move, this time being marched under eyes of an armed guard to Bulathal. Here, after being in prison for twenty two days, he was brought before a court martial of the 14th corps and accused of being a spy. For three hours he was closely interrogated by the German officers. On March 26 he was brought before them again, and the officer in command declared, "You must be ready to-morrow morning at six o'clock."

Mr. Armand took this message as his death sentence, and he says that he was again arrested and brought before a German officer, who threatened to shoot him for having transgressed military orders. Mr. Armand protested his ignorance of these military orders, and after much pivoting, he was permitted to have a respectable room but was kept under surveillance.

WILSON IN DANGER OF BEING A TEUTONIC CATSPAW, SAYS TIMES

British Press Comments Strongly on German Prize Court Decisions and Their Findings—Praise for Wilson and His Self-Restraint Over Repeated Insults.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, Aug. 31.—3.10 a.m.—Germany's submarine warfare is again the subject of editorial comment to-day as the result of the publication in the Times of the British Foreign Office on Germany's prize court decisions and the statement contained in Washington despatches that German officials have made it plain that they regard the German government as being the strain of its relations with the United States by limiting its submarine activities, will ask the American government demand that Great Britain and her Allies cease interfering with legitimate neutral commerce and thus permit the importation of foodstuffs for the German civilian population.

"That Germany will abandon her submarine campaign in order to appease the United States and without solid compensation to be provided at our expense we do not believe," says the Times in an editorial. "Nor is it likely that President Wilson will consent to be used as a Teutonic catspaw. The mere hint that the German government meditates such a surrender has stirred the von Tirpitz press referring to the organs of Admiral von Tirpitz the German Minister of Marine) to furious protest. It could, indeed, only be carried out by a radical displacement of the present balance of the military and political power in the German Empire."

DIFFICULT TO SYMPATHIZE

The Daily Mail in an editorial says it finds it difficult not to sympathize with Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, German Imperial Chancellor, in a effort to extricate Germany from the difficulties of the war office and the admiralty, but says that even if President Wilson should lend himself to a compromise, which is unlikely, Great Britain could not be a party to it.

"The British foreign office communication," says the Daily Mail, "shows that Germany has forfeited all right to protest against our blockade, and Great Britain has no intention of sacrificing in order to assist Germany to escape the consequences of her criminal practices. She must settle with the United States as best she can at her own expense, not at ours. We will pay no blackmail!"

DISHONEST PROTEST.

The Daily Graphic, commenting on the foreign office communication says that the judgment of the Hamburg prize court clearly shows the dishonesty of the German protest against British interference with the freedom of the seas and may be "commended to any American who has been deluded into the belief that Germany is acting in good faith."

UNEXPECTED RESTRAINT

The Times pays a tribute to what it terms the unexpected self restraint the Americans have shown, and adds: "We do not believe the Americans have lost any of their national high spiritedness or of their old desire to make themselves and their flag respected abroad. On the other hand they certainly have surprised their friends in Europe and may even have surprised themselves by the quite unprecedented self restraint and charity with which they have suffered at Germany's hands equally unprecedented insults and injuries."

"That there is a limit to their forbearance we are well aware, but it seems tolerably clear that it has not

MAYOR MEETS THE "MOSES" OF TERRACE HILL AT MEETING

Advises Him as to Where the Best Interests of His Country Can be Served—Short, Snappy Session is Held by the City Council.

The communications were very limited last evening, and were soon dealt with by the city council. Only one chair was vacant and the business on hand which had accumulated all through the month of August was soon transacted. The council worked like a machine after its vacation and the meeting ran smoothly until it was adjourned at half past nine.

Two petitions from Galt against the selling of the municipal railway from Galt to Paris received some discussion, as they introduced the misunderstanding between this council and the Trades and Labor Council, this was all clearly explained by Mayor Spence.

MAYOR LAUNCHES OUT

Then the Mayor said that the wise Moses of Terrace Hill who was trying to lead the citizens of Brantford from darkness into light in connection with street railway matters; fill in the columns of the local papers with a lot of trash, had no right to express any views, as he had not contributed his share towards the upkeep of the municipality. He (the Mayor) had personally inspected the records of the city with regard to those paying taxes, and had found that this individual had never even paid poll tax since 1912. He was owing for the same since that date.

Mr. Thompson jumped to his feet and said that, at the present time many citizens were fighting for the cause of the Empire at the front. He was doing equal duty in fighting battles of the citizens of Brantford at home in connection with the street railway deal.

The Mayor: "If you want to fight for your country go and enlist and in the mean time pay the city the $3 poll tax you owe." Mr. Thompson was making another demonstration, when the Mayor exclaimed: "Silence. If you come up here and show contempt of the council, you will be conducted from the building."

TIME LISTS

The city clerk read the time lists of City Engineer Jones from July 7 to the end of August, and also the monthly report of A. K. Bunnell, city treasurer. The Brantford General Hospital report was also read, and those of Relief Officer Glover and Market Inspector McAuley. The money expended in relief in August had been $40.46, and the total amount of market fees collected during July was $244.64. These reports were all confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS

The communications from the International Irrigation Congress which is holding a convention in California in September, and from the Union of Canadian Municipalities were also filed. The requests made by Mrs. Albert Prouse and Mrs. Annie McCusker, Mrs. Mary Simpson and Mrs. H. Hills, for a rebate in their taxes were all referred to the court of revision. A communication from John J. Hawkins, secretary of the Board of Parks management, concerning a resolution passed by that board, stated that the members appreciated the action taken by the city council in connection with Mohawk Park. The board agreed to follow the district

SPORTING LIFE LED IN INDIA BY "TERRIERS"

Letter of a Territorial Now on Active Service in Northern India.

Chakratri, Wednesday, June 9. '15 Of course the fifty men in a platoon divided by four is only roughly. As a matter of fact I have got forty men in my platoon, of whom several are staff sergeants, etc., who don't count on parade. I never have more than 25 on ordinary parades and seldom as many as 20, so for drill purposes I only have two sections. Bayonet fighting is done with dummy rifles, with round bayonets, which slip up the barrel when you bayonet anyone and come back with a spring when released. The bayonets have a pad on the end.

Thursday, June 3rd—Cricket and football matches; corporals and privates of the 7th and some of the 7th. We lost both matches again. A storm threatened in the afternoon, but passed over. On Friday we did have a storm for one, and a half hour in the afternoon, but managed to get some tennis afterwards.

Saturday, June 5th—Another storm for an hour at lunch time. We seem to be getting the beginning of the monsoon, but it has not actually started yet in India. Jenkins Jun. and Blake (one of the 6th) got up a concert which was held in the gym, in the evening. It was quite good and some great fun.

Sunday, June 6th—Went for a long walk with Bagg, a Lieut. of the 6th, all day. He was after butterflies, and I got some flowers. We started about 8.30 a.m. after breakfast and scrambled the hill side north east of the mess to the head of the big valley going east from cantonments. The waterfall is further down it. It is fine scenery where we first went in and down. A small valley climbs steeply towards Morrogh's neck, but the watercourse is dry. Steep, wooded hillsides slope up on each side and the trees and bushes overhang the stream and there are bushes growing among the rocks. It was very pretty to look up through a kind of tunnel of trees. Bagg got one or two fine butterflies here. We went down to where this side valley joins the main valley, following the stream up some way. It is not easy to do this as a rule. The mountains here slope very steeply down right to the stream and on the right were splendid cliffs about 600 or 700 feet high. The stream is generally lined with trees and bushes, many of them with long thorns. At times we found a bit of a track and sometimes it was easy jumping from rock to rock, but there were frequent waterfalls (none more than 25 feet high), as the valley ascended steeply. We went up a good way and then down again, and we followed the stream right down to the waterfall, where we arrived at 4.30 p.m. We had lunch where the stream winds around through a small gorge. In a pool here we saw a number of large, bright green frogs with black spots on their bodies. They would jump out of the water and sit on a ledge in the rock and looked exactly like some small patches of maiden hair fern growing near. Since I gave you that list of birds, I have seen a good many of the water and sit on a ledge in the rock and looked exactly like some small patches of maiden hair fern growing near. Since I gave you that list of birds, I have seen a good many of the water and sit on a ledge in the rock and looked exactly like some small patches of maiden hair fern growing near.

round to the left westwards. It is a fairly level path and is very pretty. Most of the way is through the woods, and you get a fine view of the valley on the left in which there is a deep gorge with cliffs on each side, through which runs a small stream. You look down through the trees to this and up through more trees to the rock hill tops above. There are a great many interesting flowers and shrubs. White Jammie in flower, but berry (in seeds) in Virginia Creeper. Two sorts like ours, but not quite the same; spiraea plants (not out yet), and many other interesting plants.

On Tuesday we started a tennis tournament at the club. We started the tennis in the first round, but was beaten on Wednesday (to-day) I had a most energetic day today. We all went up Deoban this morning. Major Smith leading.

There are lots of new flowers out since I was there before. Blue Columbine everywhere and others which I hope to press, if I have a chance to go up on Sunday. I found a rippling little mountain iris, blue, and like a small Spanish iris.

I played tennis at 4.30, and then played for one hour in platoon teams in the six-side soccer tournament. Each platoon sent 24 names and we drew four teams. It is quite good fun and keeps the men occupied. We had one map short, who did not turn up at the last minute, and so were rather at a disadvantage, and lost, and we had an awful lot of running backwards and forwards. We only play ten minutes each way, but I was absolutely done out.

When I was in the woods on Sunday I found a big lily growing in the dense undergrowth. It is something like a tiger lily—a big white flower with a few red spots, and a big yellow stamens. I picked a lot of them and have them in my room. They have a very strong sweet smell.

Monday, June 14th—We started out in platoon for a walk at 10 o'clock, but rain came on and clouds came down, and we came back after an hour's walk and had to change our garments. Played tennis in afternoon, and had a dinner with Capt. Jenkinson at the Stringers. Played bridge afterwards. I rode Capt. Smith's pony there and back—the first time I have been on a horse since Cetu Mawr, 1905. I hope to get more riding, as well as other things I want. I got my outfit allowance the other day Rs 837.8 or £42 10s. Since leaving England it was raised to £50 including my pay for which I had £25 and got £10s. So now I have had £70 out of the government altogether. Previously I had been running rather short of money, but am all right now, and hope to get a rifle for my shooting, as well as one or two other things I want.

Tuesday, June 15th—Fine in morning and had usual parades. Rain early afternoon, but fine enough for tennis later on. Had dinner with Capt. Jenkinson on Monday.

Wednesday—We all went for a walk this morning—rather all who could, as some of 'A Co' are doing musketry. We went past Kalana and Kalana Neck (between East Hill and Kalana Hill). Fine all day.

Thursday—Fine and sunny most of the day. Short storm at 3 p.m. Tactical exercise at Chilmeric Neck beyond Kalana Hill.

6 inches long and two or three large leaves like an ordinary purple English orchid. Another was more like a tropical orchid. It had greenish yellow flowers, about five green petals and a yellow middle and yellow brown lip. There were a number of flowers on a tall stalk, the flowers about 1 inch across.

I don't think I have mentioned the big monkeys here—angours they are called—think grey hair with white breasts and black faces. They live in the woods round here, and I saw them one day, three or four, as they jumped down the hillside and across the road, close to the mess. They are less four times as big as the usual small monkey.

Another interesting animal I saw was the Indian or yellow-throated marten. I was coming up to bed one night and I saw a long tail hanging down and waving about on the bench under the roof of the mess. I held my lamp up and saw the animal. It had beautiful glossy dark brown fur and its chest and throat were a rich yellow grading from brown to creamy brown. It was about as long as its body and it was stretching out its front legs trying to climb up underneath the roof. It could not get down. I knocked it down with a stick and a dog went after it, but it got away.

round to the left westwards. It is a fairly level path and is very pretty. Most of the way is through the woods, and you get a fine view of the valley on the left in which there is a deep gorge with cliffs on each side, through which runs a small stream. You look down through the trees to this and up through more trees to the rock hill tops above. There are a great many interesting flowers and shrubs. White Jammie in flower, but berry (in seeds) in Virginia Creeper. Two sorts like ours, but not quite the same; spiraea plants (not out yet), and many other interesting plants.

On Tuesday we started a tennis tournament at the club. We started the tennis in the first round, but was beaten on Wednesday (to-day) I had a most energetic day today. We all went up Deoban this morning. Major Smith leading.

There are lots of new flowers out since I was there before. Blue Columbine everywhere and others which I hope to press, if I have a chance to go up on Sunday. I found a rippling little mountain iris, blue, and like a small Spanish iris.

I played tennis at 4.30, and then played for one hour in platoon teams in the six-side soccer tournament. Each platoon sent 24 names and we drew four teams. It is quite good fun and keeps the men occupied. We had one map short, who did not turn up at the last minute, and so were rather at a disadvantage, and lost, and we had an awful lot of running backwards and forwards. We only play ten minutes each way, but I was absolutely done out.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $200 per acre.

Duties—Six months' residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 30 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $200 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $200.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

CONDITIONS ARE NORMAL, SAYS GENERAL FRENCH

London, Aug. 30.—A report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British army in the field, was given out by the British War Office last night as follows:

"Since my last communication of August 18 there has been no fighting on our front to record. There has been a certain amount of mining activity, but conditions generally have been normal.

"Between the 18th and the 21st we succeeded in snuffing down enemy aeroplanes. On the 25th our heavy artillery set fire to a railway train at Langemarck station (about five miles northeast of Ypres). On the same evening our Royal Flying Corps co-operated with our allies in an aerial attack on the forest of South Hulst, which was successfully carried out without the loss of any machines."

EXPORTS PROHIBITED

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, Aug. 31.—The Daily Mail says that the exportation of all wines from France is prohibited until further notice. Since last Wednesday no wines have been shipped. It is understood that the French government wishes to keep all the ordinary wines, which are cheap and practically national beverages, for the use of the troops. This year's vintage prospects in Bordeaux are exceptionally poor. Usually large quantities are exported to South America and other countries, and, faced with the probability of a shortage, the government has ordered that none shall be sent out of the country.

LONG DISTANCE RECORD

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Los Angeles, Aug. 31.—Announcement was made today that "Ben Bolt" a carrier pigeon, had established a new long distance flight of approximately 2,200 miles from Norwalk, Ohio to this city. It made the trip in five days, nine hours and 31 minutes, arriving yesterday. The best previous flight, according to records was made in 1912 by a bird which covered 1,000 miles in two days, nine hours and 43 minutes and 12 seconds.

LARGEST COLLECTED

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Tonnage taxes collected on the entry of American and foreign vessels in the foreign trade of the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30th, were the largest in over 30 years, aggregating $1,314,916, the department of commerce announced today. This is $41,757 greater than the record of this fiscal year. British and French ships paid $792,004, or $201 more than during the previous year.

INVESTIGATE REPORTS

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, leaves for Boston today to investigate reports that gambling is being run in the ball parks there. Although he indicated that he believed the rumors of betting were exaggerated, Mr. Johnson declared that he would leave no stone unturned in punishing any persons found guilty of this offense in an American league park.

JAPS SHOWING SPLENDIDLY.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—To-day all the Panama-Pacific Exposition was set apart for Japan, the nation whose exhibits at the fair rank among the grandest ever created. Haruki Yamawaki, Imperial Japanese Commissioner to the exposition and Yasutaro Nuvano, acting consul general of Japan. The program included an automobile and float parade, kite flying contests, Japanese wrestling and games.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Clear cool weather greeted the tennis players at the National championship tournament this morning. Prospects were that the opening matches, postponed yesterday on account of rain, could be run off without further delay. The first contests were set for ten o'clock. Yesterday's program had been transferred to today without change.

WOLGAST OUTFOUGHT

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, Aug. 31.—Packer Hommey, the local lightweight, outfought Ad. Wolgast, of Cadillac, Mich., in their ten round bout in Brooklyn last night. Hommey had an advantage in five rounds. Wolgast in three, and the other two being even. In the sixth round, Hommey closed the left eye of the former champion with a right swing. Hommey weighed 135, Wolgast 135 3/4.

THE SITUATION.

It is still the same story, as far as the Eastern theatre is concerned, of the continued retreat of the Russian forces. Germany is evidently bent on giving them such a hammering as will put the troops of the Czar out of business as far as any big factor is concerned, for some time to come.

Heavy rains are reported to have commenced, the beginning of the winter season, and rivers are swollen and morasses becoming more and more impassable. These conditions, of course, will greatly hamper the foe, especially in the matter of heavy artillery.

The French continue their big artillery efforts, and manifestly are now well equipped to spend tons of munitions daily in this regard.

The Italians still continue to make slow progress, and a brief report from General French shows that the British forces have not been engaged in anything of moment.

THE MUNICIPAL RAILWAY.

Elsewhere in this issue there appear further details with reference to the report of the Municipal Railway Commissioners in regard to the operation of the city and Grand Valley lines from Jan. 1st to June 30th, 1915, inclusive.

There has been some criticism because the document in all its details was not sooner made public, but as a matter of fact it was first the property of the City Council, and that body had not met for some time, owing to a summer recess.

It will be noticed that for the period named the Grand Valley showed the biggest revenue, although the city lines have commenced to very nearly approach that total.

The entire report will no doubt be carefully analyzed by the railway committee of the Council, and this paper would like to see a detailed showing evolved of the earnings of the Grand Valley line between this city and Paris and Paris to Galt.

COTTON AS CONTRABAND.

Some of the United States papers are very wrathful over the action of John Bull in placing cotton on the contraband list, but others take a more sensible view.

The Philadelphia Record advises its readers to remember how the North and South looked upon cotton during the Civil War. That paper remarks that "we must admit, when we come to think of it, that our blockade of the South during the Civil War interfered very seriously with British trade."

"In our Civil War the Springbok was a vessel proceeding from a British port to the port of Nassau, in the Bahamas. Her cargo was chiefly non-contraband. She was seized by one of the northern cruisers before her arrival at Nassau and brought before a prize court. This court condemned both vessel and cargo on the ground that the cargo was in fact destined for some Confederate port. On appeal the supreme court released the ship on the ground that conceivably her owners did not know the ultimate destination of the cargo. But the condemnation of the cargo was upheld. In the flattest way the supreme court asserted that if the ultimate destination of the cargo was a Confederate port, the cargo was seizable anywhere on the high seas."

"On the strength of this precedent the British Foreign Secretary argues that we may not complain if the British Admiralty similarly stops cargoes from going to or coming from Germany via neutral countries."

INVASION TALK.

In a recent letter the Bishop of Huron pointed out that, according to report, there are two and a half million German and Austrian reservists in the United States, and that they have an abundance of arms and ammunition available. In this regard he urged that more should be done in the matter of Canadian defence.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review, in discussing his communication, says: "It may be said in reply that anything like an armed invasion of Canada from the United States is very improbable."

The Courier is not an alarmist paper, but at the same time it can heartily endorse the timeliness of the warning issued by the Bishop. The fact has been pointed out in these columns on more than one occasion that it would be very undesirable, from the Canadian standpoint, that the United States should get into the war. That there are big and organized pro-German forces across the border does not admit of any question. In the event of our neighbors officially joining the Allies there can equally be no very much doubt that they would soon get out of hand.

He has a standing army of 95,000 men, many of them in the Philippines and elsewhere, and he has in his state militia when at full strength 121,000 more. In both it is not too much to say there are many German sympathizers, and in any event the total available force could not begin to compete with a possible situation. The Dominion, in the event of such domestic trouble, would surely be visited. Canada is in this war just as much as the Mother Land. She has troops on the firing line, and her territory would be one for legitimate invasion by sympathizers of the foe.

The probability may not be great, but the possibility undoubtedly exists and should be faced in a thorough and an efficient manner. Help for the Mother Land ungrudgingly given should not obliterate the necessity for all essential means of self-defence.

THEODORE WOLFF ADVISES BERLIN FROM THE PRESS

That the U. S. Problem and Constantinople Are Not Separate Issues.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, Aug. 31.—A Berlin cable to the Times says: "Theodore Wolff, editor of the Berliner Tageblatt, who is close to the Chancellor, writes significantly: 'While the German armies in the east are solving a knotty problem, here behind the front must be found the right solution for two problems which are surrounded by all sorts of difficulties, a solution which might be decisive, and in any event is serious and pressing.'

"The Balkans, including Bulgaria, have not yet committed themselves to a binding policy, and the sinking of a great passenger steamer, the Arabic has led to new diplomatic pour-patlers between Germany and America. It might seem as though the two problems had nothing to do with one another, as if there was no connection between America and the Balkans, but the political battlefields are not so sharply separated."

"Those who like us, desire a free road to Constantinople must see that in order to achieve this task, rich in future possibilities, we must not split our strength and pile up avoidable difficulties. Those who with clear insight are fighting for a free road to Constantinople will not forget this most important goal in considering the American question, which apparently is so remote from the Balkans."

"Even without this consideration, the responsible leaders of the German foreign policy harbor a very natural wish to work toward improving German-American relations, and as far as possible preventing a serious conflict, which no sensible person, either here or in America, desires. It is safe to assume that Ambassador von Bernstorff has been instructed to work in behalf of such an understanding, and that the means of achieving it have been given to him."

"So much one can say without going further into the Lusitania-Arabic affair. Discussion of this theme is barred by an order which is quite understandable."

About six hundred men have volunteered for the Hamilton machine gun battalion, and the depot battalion is now nearly a thousand strong.

George Johnston, 198 Berkley St., Toronto, attempted to murder his wife, then took poison and shot himself, with probably fatal results.

tions laid upon them by the council in looking after this part. This was referred to the buildings and grounds committee.

Mrs. Phoebe Williams requested the city to purchase the property owned by her in Block A at the intersection of Clarence and West street. The ground could be used for park purposes, or for the extension of Clarence street to West. This was referred to the Board of Works.

A communication from H. Symons, secretary of the Brantford Trades and Labor Council stated that the council was very much opposed to the selling of the Galt end of the Grand Valley Railway, without the people having a vote on the matter first.

This was referred to the Railway committee for consideration. W. W. Pope of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission wrote regarding the crossing of the G. V. A. and the public highway on Concession 19. This was also referred to the Railway committee.

City Clerk Leonard explained that after two letters had been received from Thomas J. Rogers, he had received a communication from Heyd, Clarke and Ironsides of Toronto, who, acting for Mr. Rogers threatened to issue a writ upon the city and Schulz Bros. Co. for the obstruction of Queen street in front of Mr. Rogers' Store. The clerk explained that the matter had then been placed in the hands of the city solicitors.

Mr. Oscar Cookshutt replying to the report asked for an extension of the street sewers on Erie Avenue, so that connections could be made with his house. Referred to Board of Works.

The time lists of John Thresher of July 24th, amounting to cemeteries, $100, of Aug. 7th amounting to $100, and of August 21st amounting to $108 were confirmed.

MUNICIPAL RAILWAY. The report of the Brantford Municipal Railway Commission was read by the clerk and briefly discussed. It was expected that the report would include the expenses of the line from Galt to Paris and from Paris into the city.

Mayor Spence said that the report didn't have to be definitely formed until November. It was referred to the Railway committee for consideration. In the misunderstanding between the Trades and Labor Council and the City Council, the trouble had been caused through the secretary of the Labor Council, not replying to a note sent to him by the city.

Two petitions, one from Thomas Patterson, ex-Mayor of Galt, and others, and the other from A. McPherson and others requested that the Galt end of the Grand Valley Railway should not be sold and that the cars be run at regular intervals.

It was moved by Ald. Bragg that these petitions should be referred to the railway committee for consideration. The mayor enquired if the railway committee alone would handle the matter, or include the three members elected by the Board of Trade, Messrs. Powell, Ellis and Matthews.

Messrs. Symons and Phipps of the Trades and Labor Council and the standing committee. Ald. Bragg stated that the committee alone could handle the matter, but if the other gentlemen wished to be included they were perfectly welcome if they were willing to shoulder part of the responsibility.

Mayor Spence stated that the matter should be transacted openly. Ald. Bragg said that it would be perfectly open.

A LETTER FROM MR. THOMPSON. Brantford, August 30, 1915. Sir—Anent Mayor Spence's remarks in the Council Chamber this evening referring to myself and my position on the railway deal.

TIME FOR ALL TO ENLIST. "I'm sure this war will last long enough for every fit fellow to be able to do his part. I am sure I'll be back in time for lots of it."

Lieut. Cookshutt—all the way through the conversation naturally preferred generalities to the topic of war. It is, perhaps, natural to one to whom death has been a companion for many days, and the realization of how little can be said in the face of the work to be done, is ever present.

yet been reached. The recent German assurances given in Washington seem to mark some approach to civilized warfare. To that extent they naturally inspire hope among a sanguine people, and doubtless the president has accurately interpreted the wishes of his people in giving Germany every opportunity to justify her action."

MET 36TH OFFICERS. While in England at Shorncliffe, Lieut. Cookshutt met Colonel Ashton and the officers of the 36th. He also had a chat with Colonel Colquhoun there on six days leave from the trenches, who looked well and was in his usual cheery mood. "Mac" is as big as a favorite as Colonel as he ever was while over on his visit.

On June 3rd Lieut. Cookshutt left France and though hoping to be able to do so and was sent on leave. He does not think he will remain in town long, but he wants to thank the people who turned out to see him. "They don't know how it felt to see them," he says; "they were quite a surprise to me. I'm sorry I couldn't say much to them," and with a reminder that this be not forgotten he bade "good-bye" to the Courier man.

London, Aug. 31.—The efforts of the Government to avert a spread of the South Wales coal strike led to protracted meetings at the board of trade chambers yesterday between Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, David Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, and representatives of the miners and the coal owners.

At the conclusion of the conferences no official announcement of their result was made. According to one report the coal owners agreed to the inclusion of Mr. Runciman's recent award of those workers to whom the award did not extend, which would mean that the strike was settled. According to another report, a hitch has arisen in the negotiations which will render necessary another meeting with Mr. Runciman on Tuesday morning.

Dressmaking and Tailoring Depts. We are pleased to announce that this season our Dressmaking and Ladies' Tailoring Departments will be under the capable management of MISS HARGADON (Dressmaking) and MISS GARDINER (Ladies' Tailoring). This will be welcome news to the patrons of this store, who will see at a glance that it is impossible to improve on these two very important departments. The ability of these two departments, with such capable managers, speaks for itself.

Orders may now be left at the Dress Goods and Silk Departments. Opening of these two departments for the season will be the first week in September.

Health and Beauty GO WITH "GOSSARD" The two things which every "Gossard" Corset gives to every woman is better health and added beauty. Health because every organ in the body is insured against displacement through the front lace principle; Beauty because the lines of the figure are youthful and harmonious.

Millions of women to-day wear only "Gossard" Corsets. Thousands of eminent doctors prescribe and recommend them. We are the sole agents for "Gossard" Corsets in Brantford, and we believe we have benefited a good many of our patrons by inducing them to try a "Gossard." If you once try them we assure you nothing will ever induce you to change again. Another feature with the "Gossard" is that by the correct lines of every model combined with the front lacing, correct abdominal support is obtained, consequently nothing but good can come from your wearing a "Gossard."

The New Fall Models Are Here! Expert Corset Fitting Free Special Private Fitting Rooms Besides carrying a full range of Gossard Corsets, we always show all other leading makes, such as C/C la Grace, American Lady, Danda and Madame Lyra. Stocks are now complete with the new fall models. Prices range: $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4, $4.50, $5 up to $15

HAMS OUTPLAYED BY BRANTS IN EVERY WAY

VISITORS WOULD HAVE BEEN SHUT OUT, BUT FOR THE RUN FORCED IN WHEN CLOSE WALKED TWO MEN—VERY POOR BALL DAY.

Brantford outplayed their opponents yesterday afternoon in every angle of the game. Close was too strong for the visitors. They could not connect with his clever benders at all and during the whole nine frames, could only get five singles, which were of no importance. They would have been shut out but for the run which Close gave them in the fourth. Jones pitched for the first time here, and he either was no good or the cold weather affected his "stuff". At any rate, the Brants smashed out fourteen times.

part of the game made it very unpleasant and the one-sidedness of the battle made the afternoon tiresome. The score: BRANTFORD AB. R. H. O. A. E. Sporting Comment

Brantford defeated Hamilton yesterday and drove another nail into third position. In spite of the cold—and it was almost as chilly as opening day—it was a good game, though the visitors were clearly outclassed. Matty Lamond had an unfortunate day and the Brants ran bases recklessly, even Gabby Ivers stealing third in the excitement. The most trouble Close got in was with the umpire who breezed the game along in striking contrast to Saturday's official. The combination of two teams, two games and Tuesday was too much for Halligan yesterday, so some people might not have understood that what he wanted to say was that there would be a double-header to-day. With those over, to-morrow, the two teams meet for the last time here, and on the same occasion the Brants bow their farewell for the season. They have made a lot of friends, they have played good ball, and a decent sized crowd, it is hoped, will turn out and mourn in a noisy manner. Then the Brants go to London and finish the season Monday at Hamilton. When Ottawa fell twice here on Civic Holiday, they looked to be sliding. Just how much of a downgrade they were on is shown by the fact that they have only lost two games since. On the last road trip of the season, Ottawa has won every single game, and have the championship in a walk. Shag is almost impossible to beat.

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle" —clear as crystal —sparkles like diamonds —mild, yet full flavored —costs about half as much as the imported beers

O'Keefe's Pilsener Lager MAY BE ORDERED AT 25 COLBORNE ST., BRANTFORD.

Guelph looked a better team than Ottawa, but there is something lacking about it somewhere. Ottawa wouldn't have divided a double-header with a crippled team at this stage of the season. There is a lack of punch about both Guelph and Brantford that Shag could supply. The difference between Ottawa and the two following teams is just Shaughnessy—and that difference has won four championships in a row.

The Brantford Thistles Football club, which has made a most remarkable record for themselves in soccer circles this year, were on Saturday evening presented with the Expositor trophy, which is emblematic of the championship of the Brantford and Paris football league. The presentation was made after the game by Mr. W. B. Preston, on behalf of the Expositor, who in a short address, referred to the excellent achievements of the Thistles during the season just about closed, they having won all three cups offered. The Expositor, Courier and the John Hill Charity, thus duplicating the record of Tutela team of last year.

HESTER, AND A LEGACY

He thought about her a good deal during dinner, and was ralled by Mrs. Vavasour on being so silent that one might almost imagine he was in love. He made no attempt to defend himself against her gay taunts, and allowed her to amuse herself at his expense much in the same spirit that a big dog submits to being worried by a little one without retaliation. In the intervals that were left him he went over again the conversation he had just had with Hester.

"She has a sweet face," he said to himself, as he sat turning his wine-glass round and round by the stem in an absent-minded way, "and it is perfectly charming when it lights up, and she is animated. I wonder why she wants money so badly? I wonder if she is saving it with some particular object in view? I wonder if she is engaged to some fellow, some bank clerk or doctor's assistant, that is some fellow to add her mite to the joint housekeeping?"

These speculations seemed to be displeasing to Lord Lynnmouth, for he frowned at the inoffensive whistles in such an absent-minded manner that Mrs. Vavasour rallied him again and asked him whether the lady he was thinking about was dark or fair. He replied that she was neither dark nor fair, but of a medium coloring, and by reason of speaking the absolute truth threw his questioner off the scent and caused her to conclude that his reflections had not been engaged on a lady at all. She turned to Lady Lynnmouth with some trivial remark about the subject, and he was left in peace for a time.

"Yes," he added to himself, continuing the line of argument he had been before pursuing. "I am afraid that is what it is—she is engaged to some fellow, and they are saving up for the housekeeping. That is why her face lighted up so and her voice changed when she spoke of it. Well, just what one would wish, but I'll be bound the man isn't good enough for her—fond of him as she is!"—and he rose from the table with a frown that remained on his face even when the offending wingless had disappeared from view.

It was not his fault that they arrived late at the Town Hall, but owing to an unfortunate split in Mrs. Vavasour's gloves as she put them on, he had to delay that ensued in scolding her maid and finding others of a suitable color. The performance was just about to begin, and Mrs. Laing-Stonor rushed down the hall to see to him at once, declaring that every thing had been at a standstill till he came, and, if he was really and truly going to make himself useful as he had promised, would he be so very kind as to hand the ladies' shawls to the room, and as he passed between the rows of seats many eyes were turned on him admiringly, for he was a handsome and distinguished looking man, his shoulders were broad, and he was very well dressed.

Lady Muriel's however, were fixed on her program as he went by, and she fancied that the man at her side would be able to hear the ringing of her heart and guess the reason why the color had rushed into her cheeks and was flaming there—a traitor to her secret. Lord Lynnmouth was her hero, her one perfect man, and she waited, happy and trembling, through the music which she scarcely heard, for the sake of the few words which she might chance to have with him at the end of the evening. When they came they hoarded them in her memory, and they were more to her than all the vows and protestations of eternal love which the man at her side was pouring into her ear whenever he got the chance.

The performers gathered together in the "green room" at the back of the hall were in a state of fuss and excitement that made them somewhat unmanageable. One of the string of music; another had broken the string of his violin; a third had developed a sudden sore throat and was certain he should be as hoarse as a crow; a fourth felt nervous and retreated to the back of the hall, and a fifth had scratched off the program and allowed to sit among the audience.

Mrs. Laing-Stonor who was equal to every occasion, was hurrying backwards and forwards, encouraging, exhorting, and commanding like a veritable commander-in-chief. Lily Cox, in her blue gauze, with her mother's diamond necklace and pearl and gold fan, was monopolizing Harry Vereker, in a corner, and glancing surreptitiously at Lord Lynnmouth to see if he showed signs of jealousy at her flirtation. Violet Langworthy was receiving whispered encouragement from one of the tenors from town, who fluttered his eyes, and thought her flutterings sweetly feminine. Harry Vereker was trying to get a peep at Lady Muriel through the half-open "green room" door, and wondering in the intervals Lily Cox left him for reflection whether the "black-browed brute" at her side was making love to her when he whispered in her ear.

half was packed, and every one declared afterwards that Lynnmouth had never had a greater success in the way of concerts.

During the first song or two there was no one on the platform to turn over the music for Hester, but directly Lord Lynnmouth was released from the various small duties that Mrs. Laing-Stonor imposed upon him he came to her side for that purpose, and there he remained for the rest of the evening, deputing Harry Vereker to his vacant post at the platform steps. And he was duly thanked by Mrs. Laing-Stonor afterwards for his excessive amiability.

Later in the evening a little occurrence took place to which he was witness. A group of performers were standing at the "green-room" door, and it was time for the next singer to go on to the platform. At the last moment she discovered that she had left her music in the cloak-room, and Mrs. Laing-Stonor immediately turned to Hester with the request that she would fetch it as quickly as possible. The request was made more in the manner of a command, and for a moment Hester hesitated before she replied to it. She drew herself up, and the color rushed into her face as she assented to the request, but it was not uttered. In the next instant she had turned to do as she was asked. As she was passing Lord Lynnmouth stopped her.

"I would offer to go for you," he said, "but I am afraid that those round about to hear, 'only I am afraid that the ladies' cloak-room is forbidden ground to me!'"

She thanked him and pushed her way through the crowd. She was ready with a smile for him on her return, and all signs of her resentment had vanished from her face. He drew nearer to her.

"It was abominably rude!" he said in a low voice.

"Oh, I didn't mind!" she replied. "He met her eyes and they both smiled."

"Was it one of the sixpenny insults you were speaking of?" he said.

"No, I call that one worth a shilling," she returned.

Then they both laughed again with a sort of mutual understanding that entirely robbed the episode of any little sting which might have held her in that moment.

"But, indeed," she added presently, more gravely, "I am not so thin-skinned as you seem to think. I am no fine lady who has been spoiled by the sun and the sea breeze, and who does not know how to take life. I am accustomed to fitting myself to other people's demands and caprices, whatever they may be, and I dare say it is remarkably good for me if the sun and the sea breeze know it."

"Then a course of the other thing would be remarkably good for you too!" he exclaimed.

"What other thing?" "Being spoiled and indulged by some one who cared very much about every trifle that might happen to you."

Again that dangerous accent in his voice and the answering flash in his eyes. She turned away quickly and plunged into conversation with someone—she scarcely knew whom—afraid of allowing herself time to dwell upon her sensations or of letting him see the effect his words had on her. His attitude towards her was a strange one, and she had not yet decided how to meet it.

At the end of the evening, by an oversight during the commotion when she was trying to get off at once, Hester was left to walk back to the Chaise by herself. Lady Lynnmouth thought she was with Mrs. Laing-Stonor, Mrs. Laing-Stonor thought she was with Lady Lynnmouth, and neither of them, it must be confessed, gave her more than a passing thought as their carriages came up. So between the two she had the prospect of a long dark walk at past eleven at night to go through the Chaise.

It was not a pleasant prospect, but there was nothing to be gained by wasting time in useless fears, so she set out as bravely as she could, and got on well enough in the country road, where vehicles were constantly passing her and people from the village were going the same way. But the mile of dark avenue was a very different thing, and once past the lodge gates an awful silence pervaded all around, and the thick trees on either side seemed to shroud a whole army of ghosts or ill-intentioned tramps to her exaggerated state of mind. She remembered hearing a story of some one having been knocked down once in that avenue—a servant who was returning late, she thought it was—and returning late, she thought it was—and afterwards to have been a half-mad tramp who had been lurking all day among the trees. These reflections did not serve to dissipate her fears, and when she reached the end of the road where the shadow from the trees was absolutely impenetrable and black, she set off fairly running at the top of her speed, regardless of puddles and splashes and mud and the inequality of the ground.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the Standby in This Ontario Home

SCOTLAND, Ont., Aug. 26th, 1913. "My wife was a martyr to Constipation. We tried everything on the calendar without satisfaction, and spent large sums of money, until we happened on 'Fruit-a-tives'. We have used it in the family for about two years, and we would not use anything else as long as we can get 'Fruit-a-tives'."

J. W. HAMMOND. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" is made from fruit juices and tonics—is mild in action—and pleasant in taste. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

"No, only the trees were so thick and it was so dark!" "He did not say anything, and she could not see him, but she fancied he was smiling." "Don't tell me I am a coward," she said, with sudden shame, "for I know it only too well!" "I am only too glad if you are" he returned, "as in that case you will probably not mind my having come to meet you."

"To meet me?" she exclaimed. "Yes, I found when we got home that you were not in. I inquired of Dixon, whom I sent to the concert, and he said we passed you on the road, walking alone, after we stopped to put down Miss Langworthy. Dixon was on the box of the carriage, you know."

"And you came to meet me?" she replied, with increasing astonishment. "Yes, I had no idea you were a prey to such fears as you seem to be— it was simply that I did not like the idea of your being out alone so late at night."

THE PROBS

Toronto, Aug. 31—Pressure is low over the northwestern portion of the continent and quite high over the lower lake region, and the central states. Showers have occurred over Lake Superior, also from the Ottawa valley to the Maritime provinces. In the west the weather has been line and very warm. Lakes and Georgian Bay: Moderate to fresh southwest to south winds, fine to-day and on Wednesday. Warmer Wednesday.

United States And Teutons Nearly Agree

By Special Wire to the Courier. New York, Aug. 31—A London cable to the Tribune says: "The minutest attention is being paid here to every move in the Arabic situation. In no quarter is there the slightest disposition to agree to any modification of the blockade in return for Germany's cessation of the submarine campaign. It is felt that Germany's desire to abandon the submarine war is due to her knowledge that previous efforts have proved failures and that she is now building submarines as fast as they are being destroyed. The fact that Germany is ready to abandon a species of warfare which outrages every canon of international law as well as of humanity will be entertained as a reason for Britain foregoing a practice which she regards as perfectly justified in every way.

Athens Hears Turco-Bulgar Treaty Made

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Aug. 31—A despatch from Athens to the London Daily News says: "According to information from one of the local legations, it is confirmed that the Turco-Bulgarian treaty has been signed. "It is reported from Roumania that Austro-German troops are massing on the Austro-Roumanian frontier and that Germany is threatening to prohibit the exportation of Roumanian grain to Germany and Austro-Hungary, the object being to force Roumania to allow free passage for war material to Turkey. "On the Serbian frontier, near Orsova, there are 120,000 troops massed. It is, however, considered unlikely that they will attack Serbia as long as the attitude of Greece and Roumania remains undefined."

FIRST MEETING

Rio Janeiro, Aug. 31.—The first meeting of the Brazilian members of the International High Commission, instituted by the recent Pan-American financial congress at Washington, was held yesterday, the minister of finance presiding. The measures proposed by the Washington conference, including the creation of uniform laws relating to trade and the inauguration of an international commercial court, were considered.

INCIDENT CLOSED

London, Aug. 31, 6.15 a.m.—The German government considers the Arabic incident closed and has declared its willingness to punish the commander of the submarine which sank the steamer, according to a despatch which the Exchange Telegraph Co.'s Amsterdam correspondent says has been received there from Berlin. It is reported to be considerable feeling in German militarist circles because of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's so-called "weakness," towards the United States.

BLOWN UP BRIDGE

London, Aug. 31—An Athens despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. says that a submarine of the allies has blown up a portion of the bridge between Constantinople and the suburb of Galata. It is not apparent whether this is merely an echo of the similar report of several weeks ago, which brought forth a denial from Constantinople.

Col. Hilkeah Martin, of Berlin, provincial organizer of the Socialists, has been appointed a major in command of the companies of the 71st Battalion and will assist in a vigorous recruiting campaign.

Dead Soldier's Sister Resides in Brantford

Hamilton, Aug. 31.—Official word was received from Ottawa on Saturday that Bombardier William Perry, Third Canadian Artillery Brigade, had died as the result of wounds. His mother, who resides on the mountain and his sister, living at 174 Kensington avenue, were the recipients of the sad news. They had never been informed that he had been wounded and were greatly surprised and shocked. The deceased soldier was born in Leicester, England, and would have attained his twentieth birthday in October next. He had lived in Hamilton five years, and up to the time of enlistment worked as a pattern maker at the Westinghouse. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters and worshipped at the Gospel Hall. Bombardier Perry went with the first contingent and served under Major Carscallen, fighting successfully at Langemarck, Ypres, St. Julien and other places. It is supposed he received a gunshot wound in the arm. His sister and sister only received a letter from him last week stating all was well and that he was expecting a well-earned furlough. He has a brother serving with the Army Medical corps now at the front. He is survived by his mother, another brother at present in the city, two sisters in this city, one in Brantford, two residing at Victoria, B.C., and one at Vancouver, B.C.

AS USUAL—TORONTO FAIR

The Independent Order of Foresters' spacious tent once again heads Society Row. This will be the headquarters of the I.O.F. during the fair, and it is the one spot that every patriot should visit, for it is one of the most desirable places of rest that one can secure on the grounds. During your visit you will find much literature regarding the great Fraternal work that this gigantic body is doing and other particulars pertaining to membership in this great order. G. A. Mitchell, Assistant Supreme Chief Ranger and Superintendent of field work, is again in charge, and is ably assisted by Ed. Fellmuth, D. S. C. R. and J. C. Davidson, D. S. C. R. A hearty welcome is extended to all and each visitor will receive a souvenir of a button-hook and a ruler. Do not miss this spot when you are feeling tired.

Albert Pegg of Cataract, a market gardener, who died at the age of 64, is survived by his father, who is hale and hearty at 98.

Small Beginnings is the Law of Nature

A wealthy man now at the head of one of the leading and most successful manufacturing concerns of America said: "I believe in Classified Advertising. My success has been due to liberal advertising in Classified Columns. It does not make any difference what line of business you are in, the small ad is read by a great number of people, and it influences according to the way the ad is written and the value of the proposition. Advertising on a larger scale will follow if you use good judgment in selecting the medium that reaches the people you want."

This is not the experience of one man, but many successful merchants to-day use and read the Classified Columns.

If you want to reach the people, these columns are waiting for men like you who want quick action results and a good showing in return for every dollar you spend.
