Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XXXVI.

“Would you like to see my ferns?” she asked. “Constance says they are very good—almost as good as they are in Aus—”

The poor woman stammered, and pulled herself up; but Geoffrey was too engrossed in Cottie's movements to notice; and with a curt “Thank you,” he marched off to the fern house.

As Mrs. Sefton had said, whilst parties were being formed; and Cottie, who had been helping her guardian, was free for a moment or two, and not knowing that Geoffrey had gone to the fern-house, she fled to it for refuge, as much from her own thoughts as from the exigencies of the party. She came upon Geoffrey standing in a corner, amongst the big ferns, with his hands thrust in his pockets, his chin upon his breast, his brows knit grimly. He raised his head as her light footfall fell upon his ears, and looked at her, and she saw that his face grew paler even than it had been at dinner.

“Have you come here for a cigarette, Mr. Bell?” she asked, with a smile which masked her throbbing heart, and moving her fan to and fro with the graceful, careful motion which seemed to Geoffrey the perfection of grace.

“May I smoke here?” he asked. “Don't you mind?” “Not in the very least,” she replied.

He took his cigarette-case from his pocket with the air of a drowning man who makes for a spar floating on the wild ocean on which he is cast. “I suppose you smoke a great deal in Australia?” said Cottie, sinking out to a rustic seat under a palm.

He threw himself down beside her. “Yes, one smokes all the time,” he said. “It is the only thing to do when one is not at work.” “And do you work much?” she asked. “Yes, pretty much,” he replied.

“It is a delightful country, is it not?” she remarked. “I suppose you are quite anxious to get back there. You find England very tame and uninteresting after Australia?” “I am anxious to get back there, in a sense,” he said. “I only came over here, Miss Sefton, on a—on a kind of mission. I came in search of my partner.” “The boy?” said Cottie, forcing a little laugh. “How strange it seems—to have a boy as a partner.” “Yes, it is strange,” said Geoffrey.

BEAVER FLOUR

“BEAVER FLOUR” is the unfailing friend of the housewife. It saves her the trouble of keeping two kinds of flour—one for bread and another for pastry. Being a perfect blend of Manitoba Spring wheat and Ontario Fall wheat, it gives to bread the rich, nutritious properties of the former and the lighter qualities of the latter, making a large white loaf of delicate texture and exquisite flavor. Pastry, biscuits and cakes, made with BEAVER FLOUR cannot be excelled. Ask your Grocer for it today.

FLOUR

So wistfully, she grew white, and her hand—for the moment she forgot Eva Rashleigh—stole near to him; it would have touched him, and all would have been told and understood without another word; but at that moment Mrs. Sefton entered the fernery.

“Are you there, Cottie?” she asked. “Yes,” replied Cottie, faintly.

She arose, looked at Geoffrey, standing knowing his lip, his dark eyes glowing with the fire, the source of which he did not understand, and in a low voice, murmured, “Yes,” and left him.

Geoffrey sank back into his seat and drew a long breath. His brain was in a whirl, his heart was beating with an emotion which bewildered him. He forgot his manners, the etiquette of the world to which he had been newly introduced, and, striding into the hall—got his hat and coat and left the house.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Geoffrey rushed away from Mrs. Sefton's house and strode up the under-parade for hours. For the first time his thoughts were divided—divided between the boy of his heart and this lovely girl with the deep violet eyes and the soft voice, whom he had just left. He dreamt both of her and Ronnie that night, and he woke in the morning with the devouring desire to see her again.

It never occurred to him that he was in love with her, that it was love at first sight; he only knew that he wanted to see her, that he wanted to be with her. He could not call at Montague Square before the regulation hour, but he haunted the parade during the morning, and about twelve o'clock he saw Mrs. Sefton and heard her driving towards him.

Cottie was the first to see him, and she clenched her hands in her effort to keep the blood from rushing to her face, while her heart beat nineteen to the dozen. Oh, shame! a man who was in love with another woman! Geoffrey snatched off his hat, his eyes flashing, his still pale face flushing at the meeting.

“Oh, dear! there he is!” whispered Mrs. Sefton, as she bowed and smiled sweetly. “Oh, I wish he would go!” Cottie said nothing, because she could not speak. Geoffrey went off when they were out of sight, and tried to eat his lunch; then he smoked a pipe, impatiently waiting for the first moment at which he could do cently call; and when it arrived, strode off to the house. He was shown into the drawing-room, and Cottie came to him, and as he rose and looked at her, he thought her more beautiful in her plain morning-dress even than he had thought her the previous night, if that were possible. Cottie said that Mrs. Sefton was lying down with a rather bad headache; Geoffrey was sorry for her headache, but glad of her absence; and yet for some minutes he could scarcely find anything to say.

He was not a goodtalker at any time—was it of the reserved and reticent order of man; but now he was almost speechless, and it was Cottie who started the talk. She appeared perfectly self-possessed and at her ease. You see, she had been preparing herself for the interview—and a woman forewarned is indeed forearmed. She drew him to talk of himself, and gradually and artfully led the conversation towards his past life with Ronnie. On this subject Geoffrey proved himself fluent and eloquent enough, and Cottie had hard work to keep the tears from her eyes and her voice steady while he spoke of the lad's many virtues and their mutual love. It was a relief when the maid brought in the tea. As Cottie gave him his cup and watched him out of the tail of her violet eyes, she, remembering their many meals together, had still harder work to conceal her emotion.

Presently some other of the guests of the preceding night dropped in to pay their duty call. Geoffrey found himself separated from her, and, after drifting about the room aimlessly, took his departure. Cottie felt his hand burn as she shook hands with her.

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time, and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Bread made from

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

"Be noble, and the nobleness that lies in other men, sleeping but never dead. Shall rise in majesty to meet thine own."

I heard it in a newspaper man talking a boy about their experiences in the profession the other day.

One said: "The more I see of men the more I like dogs. The set of half-baked, cranky, hypocritical, overreaching men and women I've met since I've been in this business makes me ashamed of being human. I've a good mind to go on a long ocean voyage and see if I can't get shipwrecked on a desert island."

The other said: "I guess you've had bad luck. I didn't know there were so many obliging, well educated, interesting people in the world as I've met since I took to newspaper work."

Now I disagree with what the second man said on one point. I don't think the first man had had bad luck at all.

I have an idea he simply got exactly what he expected, exactly what his own mental attitude called forth, very much what he gave.

I don't believe most of us realize to what a large extent we get what we expect of the world.

"Courtesy begets courtesy," says someone. "The surly man finds a world of disagreeable, disobliging people; how good everyone in the world is," rejoices the kindly soul. And yet it's the very same world.

And that isn't true of courtesy alone, by any means.

Suspicion begets dishonesty, trust begets honor, ill temper and impatience beget ill temper and impatience, hypocrisy begets hypocrisy, and overreaching disposition begets the desire to overreach, and so on down the infinite line of vices and virtues.

When Judge Lindsey has to send one of the boys whom he tries in his famous juvenile court to jail, he gives the boy the money necessary for fares and sends him absolutely alone and unwatched to the prison. Sometimes the boy has had to travel many miles to his destination, and yet hard though this test is, I believe it is in but three cases in over one hundred, that the Judge's attitude of trust has failed to rouse in the boy an answer of trustworthiness that carried him straight to his prison cell.

Elbert Hubbard writes, in description of his wife:

"Her mental attitude brings out the best in each, so in her presence the boor becomes gentle, and the loud and coarse moderate their voices and are on their good behavior. She carries with her an aura in which vulgarity cannot thrive nor pretense flourish."

I think this is one of the highest compliments a man or woman could receive.

Are you a cynic? Do you find most of the world deceitful and self-seeking?

If you do, suppose, instead of being proud of your cynicism, you remind yourself that the world the mirror of life shows you, is only a more or less accurate reflection of the little world within you.

For

"Life, like a mirror, doth but show. The moving shows that pass in view. Give to the world the best you have—The world its best will give to you."

Ruth Cameron

Do You Feel This Way?

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights, unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your lazy liver to work. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. It will purify your blood. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about a cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good." Dr. Pierce's medicines are of known composition. Their every ingredient printed on their wrappers. Made from roots without alcohol. Contains no habit-forming drugs. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

SIMPSON'S, Rawlins' Cross head of Prescott Street—may 16, t.

Fads and Fashions.

Skirts are fuller without being voluminous.

Lingerie gowns are taking on touches of bright color.

Sleeves generally are still close fitting and quite long.

Kimono sleeves remain quite fashionable for elaborate gowns.

Colored embroidery on white is one of the fads of the season.

A huge bow at the back is the sole trimming on some of the new turbans.

Coat of mail sleeves are coming in for evening gowns, supple and graceful.

Present fashion demands that the figure be kept in slender lines about the hips.

The envelope flap is in evidence and is not an unattractive trimming below the waist.

Some of the handsome new sweaters are of white with large sailor collar and cuffs in color.

A noticeable feature of the season's blouses is the tendency to simulate a side-front closing.

Suede, patent leather and natural kid belts are in high style with silk, wool and linen costumes.

Long skirts are worn for afternoon and evening, but even at such times many women wear short skirts.

A unique and most effective trimming for a gown is made of shirtings of satin over colored satin rattach.

The shawl-shaped collar, cut pretty narrow, is quite prominent, being faced with satin, moire and even velvet.

Coat lengths vary a good bit.

Weak Lungs

Seventy years of experience with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral have given us great confidence in it. We strongly recommend it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak throats, and weak lungs. It prevents. It cures. It soothes. It heals. Just the help nature needs.

SHE COULD NOT HOLD A TEACUP
But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. James H. White.

They took away her backache, cured her urinary trouble and made her a well woman.

Preville, Gaspe Co., Que., May 16.—(Special).—After suffering for four years from ills which many a woman knows, and being treated by a doctor who failed to give her relief, Mrs. James H. White, a farmer's wife living near here is again a well woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

"My trouble started from a strain," Mrs. White states. "I had a pain always across my back and a steady pain in the back of my neck, and I had urinary trouble that caused me a great deal of annoyance."

"Four years I suffered in this way and the doctor I consulted did not do me any lasting good. In the morning I was dizzy and I finally got so nervous I could not hold a cup."

"Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I got relief right from the start. Three boxes cured me completely. To-day I am a well woman."

Mrs. White's troubles were Kidney troubles. So are the troubles of nine out of ten of the suffering women of Canada to-day. That is why Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure them.

Service in Westminster Hall.

London, May 12.—The service in Westminster Hall on Tuesday next will be brief. The music will be under the direction of Sir Frederick Bridge. The voices will be accompanied. The 23rd Psalm will be sung as an ordinary chant. "Blest are the Departed," from Spohr's "Last Judgment," will follow, and the only other musical portion of the service will be the funeral hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," sung by a choir of fifty voices.

The Home Office has limited the number of wreaths that will be accepted at the funeral of the King. Among representative wreaths, those presented by the self-governing colonies will have a prominent place.

South Africa has agreed to act in concert, so that its wreath will bear the names of all four contributory colonies about to enter the Union.

Of the important public bodies to which the privilege of presenting a wreath to be granted is the Royal Colonial Institute, which will be in the forefront with a wreath emblematic of the unity of the Empire.

General Mourning in the Dominion

Ottawa, May 11.—The Masonic lodges of Ottawa will unite in a memorial service for King Edward at All Saints Church, on Sunday, May 22. It will be held to honor the memory of the departed monarch as Past Grand Master of the Grand United Lodges of England. The local lodges will march to the church in full regalia and Rev. A. W. Mackay will preach.

Scores of telegrams of regret at the death of the late King have been received by the Canadian Government from the principal Government and public bodies throughout the whole Dominion. A noteworthy feature in connection with them is that some have also been received from the United States, where King Edward was well known and much liked. These have all been sent here for transmission to the British Government.

No Open Air Joint Service.

The Dominion Government has not yet received official notification of the date set for the funeral of Edward VII., but preparations are under way for the issuance of the extra of the Canada Gazette, which will declare the day of the funeral one of general mourning and a general holiday.

The suggestion that there should be an open-air State service on Parliament Hill here on the day of the funeral does not seem feasible. In the first place, the administrator of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Ottawa, Vicar-General Routhier, has already issued instructions to his clergy to have memorial services held on the day set for the funeral; the executive of the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Ottawa has appointed a committee composed of His Grace the Archbishop, Ven. Archdeacon Lauder, Rev. Canon Kitson, Rev. Rural Dean Mackay, and Rev. W. M. Loucks, to make all arrangements for services on the day of the funeral; and the pastors of the other denominations are also arranging for services which shall be representative of their respective churches.

Grenfell of Labrador and the Domesticated Reindeer.

Very few people in this country realize the great work that Grenfell has carried out for Labrador and Northern Newfoundland. He took a splendid degree, was well known as one of the most promising young surgeons of his day, the favourite pupil of the distinguished Sir Frederick Treves. Grenfell could easily have made not only a great reputation, but a fortune. He was already famous for his skill as an operator. The young enthusiast, however, gave up all these brilliant prospects and took up—first the Deep Sea Mission, and then Labrador and Northern Newfoundland. Of all his services to our Colony the most striking, the most successful, and the most philanthropic, was first of all his pilgrimage to America, the raising of funds, and lastly, the successful bringing over of the herd of tame Lapland reindeer with their attendant Lapp drivers. My readers will notice that I don't give Grenfell any titles. He has now become so famous that he does not want any. I have just received some notes from the Doctor about the reindeer. I am only allowed, however, to give some extracts, but I am sure that they will interest my readers. One fact is very cheering. The original herd numbered three hundred head. All winter he has had fifteen stags hauling logs out of the woods. They draw out heavy 22-foot logs of green spruce. One stag will do more work than six logs. They are very gentle animals and allow us to keep cattle, sheep and poultry which the savage dogs everywhere on Labrador destroy. The move has been so far a great success and if, as Grenfell hopes, the wild reindeer will interbreed with the Lapps, the stock will be greatly improved. One wild doe has been with the herd all winter and several of the wild stags were with them in the fall. Our native caribou is among the largest and finest of the great deer family. The success of the experiment is now assured. It means to our poor Labrador and Newfoundland settlers for the future, food, relief, transportation, comfort and happiness. The results are so satisfactory that it calls at once for a Government grant to import more deer. Whilst the move was in the experimental stage the Government of the day might be excused from contributing to such a very novel and doubtful venture. All doubts have now disappeared. No money could be expended for the benefit of our settlers. There must, however, be one condition to whatever locality the reindeer may be brought, it must be only on the condition that no dogs are allowed there.

The Labrador dog is as savage as a wolf. They have been known to kill a whole flock of sheep simply through the wanton lust for slaughter. None of the sheep were eaten every season some poor settler or Eskimo is killed by these murderous brutes.

Newfoundlanders should never forget their immense debt of gratitude to Grenfell. On Labrador and Northern Newfoundland he is a kind of Noah-bah—doctor, missionary, magistrate, Lloyd's agent and general philanthropist. Alone and practically unaided, except by some small local subscriptions, he has raised the great sum required for the building of the Fishermen's and Sailor's Home, now in course of erection on Water Street.

D. W. PROWSE.

Our own experiment began three years ago with a shipment of 300 deer and three Lapp families from Alten Foyrde, in Lapland, north of the North Cape. The deer got but a cold reception. They were landed on a scattered over the frozen sea surface. Eventually by aid of deer with bells on being posted at distances along the land. It had been a mild fall, followed by a sharp December without snow, and the poor beasts, after their long sea voyage across the Atlantic in the dead of winter, found the moss buried in sheet ice, known here as "glitter." Everything seemed against them.

There is room in Labrador for feeding easily 3,000,000 or more reindeer, enabling it to export hundreds of thousands of skins and carcasses annually, while the help to other branches of industry, like pulp producing, mining, fisheries, etc., that the presence of this herd and of this population would be, is self apparent. The initial expense of starting this, like every other enterprise that can return large results, is great; and while with our few hundred deer we have demonstrated the possibility of the scheme, it will take capital, or more subsidizing, if big results are to accrue in a reasonable time.

Mr. George Kennan, of Siberian fame, told me what it meant there to be able to purchase reindeer all standing at 50 cents a head. It meant at least food and clothing right off. Mr. Vanderlip in his "Search for a New Klondike" states that he purchased full grown deer at 25 cents. A carcass weighing only 300 pounds should be worth $25.00 to sell in the market, while the skin is worth a dollar anywhere. We pay two dollars here on the coast for them, where they are used by trappers in the woods for sleeping on, for making babbage for raquets and other purposes. Dr. Campbell, who resides near Nome on Behring Straits, where he is surrounded by ice nine months out of every twelve, where no trees grow, and no food supplies can be produced, whose mail comes once a year, in 1900 purchased 70 deer. In 1900 these 70 have become 438, and that deducting all losses and all used for food.

We have conquered the ice and the opposition of the North Atlantic and forced its reluctant waters to pay us a handsome annual tribute of cod, halibut, salmon, herring, seals and whales. But the land, from which man generally first exacts payment, has yet yielded nothing. It does however, seem that if man can't transform these hundreds of thousands of unoccupied acres into pasture lands

Itching Piles For 27 Yrs.

Despaired of ever getting relief until cure came 3 years ago with use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mr. John Johnson, Cawley, Alta. writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of twenty-seven years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I could ever get from the terrible misery of piles. Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time now and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this Ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Any one doubting this can write direct to me."

Do not accept an imitation or substitute in place of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there has yet to be discovered a treatment which so promptly gives relief from itching and so thoroughly cures every form of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

Struck by Lightning

The Foremast of the Almeriana Damaged on Her Way to Halifax.

The Furness Line steamer Almeriana, which arrived in port last night, was struck by lightning when about 120 miles off Halifax recently. Her voyage from Liverpool was quite uneventful until she suddenly ran into what an officer on the ship called a heavy sou'-wester thunder squall. The lightning was quite vivid at times. One of the bolts struck the foremast, knocking off the foretruck, which fell to the deck. There was a conductor on the foremast, or the damage might have been serious. As it was the force of the lightning bolt was sufficient to be felt in all parts of the ship.—Recorder, May 13.

First Aid to the Injured

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Now that His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to order that from and after the 1st day of July next, all candidates for certificates of competency of all grades in the merchant marine shipping service shall produce to the chief examiner a certificate from the St. John Ambulance Association to the effect that they have passed an examination in First Aid to the Injured, I would like to know who are more injured than the men who have weathered the storms of the ocean passed their examinations, and then if captain be compelled to go as mate with friend, or if mate to go before the mast, while unceremonious men are allowed to take charge of foreign-going ships under certain tonnage. First Aid to the Injured, is it? Then for goodness sake make an effort to aid the men who ply this very arduous calling, are poorly paid and little thought of. It seems now that a man besides studying seamanship also must be half a doctor before he can get the necessary papers. What would this country be but for its seamen? Another question or two, and I am done. How many passed captains are now sailing as mates? How many mates are compelled to go before the mast? Also, what number of foreign-going ships can sail without passed men? Give our sailors a chance to work themselves up; encourage them. They are injured; yes, give them first aid and they will be sure to give it to others.

Thanking you for space, I am,
Yours, &c.,
SALVAGE.
Harbor Grace, May 10, 1910.

The Municipal Election.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Mr. Editor,—I consider the attack of your correspondent, W. T. G., on the men who are now offering themselves as candidates for the Municipal elections most unwarranted. The funny man is allowed to say many things, "For Wit a diamond brings, and cuts his bright way through," but the serious writer is taken seriously, even when he tries to be funny, and to try to be funny at the expense of men who have the courage to face the problem which presents itself to the incoming Councillors, is just too funny.

Just two of the old Councillors seek re-election, why? Out of a population of 30,000 just 11 others seem to have any earnest desire to take up the burden of Councillorship. Why?

Does W. T. G. think it is a case "where fools rush in?" Then where are the angels? What do they fear? Ridicule!

Yes, ridicule, the angels are afraid they'll get their feathers singed, and a la W. T. G. "who can well blame them?" We shall always have the man in our midst who sits back in his superiority and finds fault with the work done for him by his energetic friends. We have him in club, society, committee, church and state. He is N. G., and his posing as critic can only be accounted for by an abnormal swelling of the ego.

Good, easy man, look to thyself. Think what a crime it is, to this struggling city, that a man who seems to possess such wonderful initiative as you should be deterred by the jeer of the cynic or the gibe of the prig from coming forward as the Moses of this St. John's of yours, and leading us in sight, at least, of the long promised land.

The man who is able to size up things is a valuable man, when he puts his talents to the proper use; when he sizes up a thing just for the gratification of "downing" it, we grow suspicious. Does he want to shine as a "downer"? Or is it that his passion for letter-writing is as insatiable as the late lamented William Macawber's?

I have lived long enough to see newspapers perish with the same disease as W. T. G. and others of his ilk are suffering from just now, superior judgment (?) of the "kill 'em quick" brand that drips back with deadly effect on the would-be reformers.

What has this Willie Too Good or his mind anyway? Is he one of the smart set? Are there too many mechanics in the field for him? Did he expect to be called out himself? Or is he the "long felt want" that St. John's citizen has failed so long to discover? Then let him proclaim himself! We are waiting for his coming as the toper, in the early hours of morning waits for nine, anxiously, eagerly, hopefully, longingly; if he is the long expected, let him come, but save us Mr. Editor, spare "the long suffering public" (for whom he seems to have such compassion) from a continuance of the rather scattered remarks of which he promises to unburden himself in the near future unless he comes out as a man and tells us what he will do for his native city "if elected."

DO IT NOW.

The Siberian Here.

The Allan liner Siberian, Capt. J. Williams, arrived here at 4 p.m. yesterday from Liverpool after a run of 9 days. She left on Saturday, the 7th, and at the start the ship experienced head winds and rather heavy sea, but later the weather cleared and it became fine. Off this coast, especially on Friday last, the ship encountered dense fog, and as several icebergs were met the ship ran at very slow speed. The northeast winds prevailing made it very cold, and Saturday when the fog lifted and cleared away the ship came along at normal speed. She brought 619 tons of general cargo and 54 bags mail. Her passengers for this port were H. L. Braithwaite, J. Cowan, Cecil Clift, P. and Mrs. Morell, Rev. A. G. Reeves, Mrs. Frances, E. Stewart, Miss Cos-stance, J. Stewart, Master Cecil C. Stewart, and 11 steerage. The ship has in transit for Halifax 8 saloon passengers, 11 second cabin and 282 emigrants in the steerage, all of whom with the exception of 100 Russians, who go to Sydney, will locate in the Canadian Northwest. There are some changes in the ship's officers. Capt. Williams, the ship's former master, who was for a while commander of the Mongolian, has again taken command. The purser, Mr. J. W. Bauchop, was until recently on the Hesperian. Mr. McPhie is the chief steward, succeeding Mr. Robble, who is now on the Livonian. The chief officer is Mr. W. Henderson, chief engineer, Mr. McCreundale; doctor, G. H. Rudolph, and Miss Ferguson, stewardess, all of whom have been on this service before.

Notes From Hr. Grace.

Mr. James Foley has just completed a very pretty model of a brig—a type of vessel that we seldom see about our wharves or harbours at present, but which were quite common in former years. The work is highly spoken of by all who viewed it. Mr. Foley has presented it to his old friend Mr. H. P. Shortis, St. John's. Mr. Shortis will appreciate this gift and be reminded of the good old days when the seal-fishery was mostly conducted in this class of craft. The name given to the model is the "Belle."

The different churches were nicely draped during last week in mourning for our late King.

The Conception Bay British Society and its Juvenile Branch will meet in their hall on Wednesday evening to make arrangements for a church parade on Friday next.

Constable M. Grouchy has been on his rounds the past few weeks seeing the sanitary regulations carried out. Any person whose yard and premises are not in a good condition will be brought before the Court. This is a good law and one that should be strictly carried out. Constable Grouchy is determined to have it done thoroughly.

CORRESPONDENT.
Harbor Grace, May 16th, 1910.

Will Hold Memorial Service.

We understand that arrangements are now in progress for the holding of a memorial service at the Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. Friday. Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite will occupy the pulpit and a special programme of music will be rendered by the choir, led by Mr. Moncrieff Mawer. All who wish to attend will be cordially welcomed.

GOOD SALMON FISHERY.—We learn from passengers by last night's shore train that large numbers of salmon were taken yesterday morning at Bay Roberts, Clarke's Beach, Harbor Grace and Carbonear. Some of them were of very large size and sold as low as 9 cents per pound.

COMET'S TAIL MERE VACUUM.

BOSTON, May 13.—"There is no danger from the comet," said Dr. Wilson, professor of astronomy at Harvard University, in his lecture last night before the Boston Scientific Society. "The cyanogen discovered in it was found only a little way from the comet's head, and as for the tail which we are going through on the 18th, that is about as good a vacuum or as bad a one."

Do Liberals Need Apply

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—A second public wharf is being built here, but it is not of that I write; it is the prejudice shown to us fishermen who were known supporters of Gear and Davey during the last election. No one but a supporter of Robinson has been employed thus far, and I must say that it is the first time that a distinction of this kind has ever been made here as far as public works are concerned. I must also say we miss the upright and many policy adopted by the last Council, who did not ask a man which side he was on but treated all alike. The present Council are not representing us with our good wishes. They were sneaked in over our heads just when we were expecting to elect our proper Councillors, according to the promise of the People's Party last spring. Well, sir, I must say a word about our money. No one knows where it is gone here, although it is thought to be kept back to build the second wharf. Last fall we only got one dollar and twenty cents a man as against an average of three dollars and eighty cents for the last four years. It was reported that there was a $250 marine grant sent here last year, but when several of the Councillors were asked, they knew nothing of it. It seems that no one knows anything but the Chairman. He has got all the "know" and he keeps it to himself. Thanking you for publishing this, I am,
Yours respectfully,
FISHERMAN.

C. E. T. S.

A meeting of the C. E. T. S. took place last night. Three members were initiated. The Chairman, Mr. Bell, made a pathetic reference to the death of the King and informed the meeting that a message of condolence had been sent from the Society to King George V. through the Governor. The Secretary informed the meeting that he had received letters from several gentlemen who had been elected honorary members in which they accepted the membership as Associates of the C. E. T. S. The list included Sir E. P. Morris, Hon. Geo. Knowling, Hon. R. Watson, J. Outerbridge, J. A. Robinson, W. J. Ellis, A. Outerbridge, Rev. J. Thackeray and Rev. C. Hackett. The membership gives them the freedom of the club rooms. The following is the resolution of condolence sent to the King:—

"The Church of England Temperance Society in Newfoundland most humbly desires to tender to the King, Queen, the Queen Dowager Alexandra and the Royal Family an expression of its heartfelt sympathy and deepest condolence on the death of His late Majesty, King Edward the Seventh, Patron of this Society. The Society prays that God, in His infinite mercy, will alleviate the poignancy of their sorrow, particularly that of the bereaved Queen Dowager, and grant to His Most Gracious Majesty King George health and happiness, and an abundant outpouring of his wisdom, which will enable him to guide aright the destinies of the Nation for many years to come."

JOHN F. KENNEDY.

John F. Kennedy, business agent of Boston Sheet Metal Workers' Union 17, achieved great prominence as a member of the first Boston Finance Commission, and the ability and independence that he exhibited as a member of that body illustrates his value to organized labor.

Mr. Kennedy has been business agent of Union 17 for about 10 years. Largely through his efforts the organization has become strong in numbers and financially. Wages and working conditions have been greatly improved. The union is now one of the strongest in the city.

As a delegate to the Boston Central Labor Union, Mr. Kennedy has taken a prominent part in the affairs of that important central body. He has been a member of the board of trustees and served on important committees. A number of difficult labor disputes have also been adjusted by Mr. Kennedy.

His name was submitted to Mayor Fitzgerald in 1907 by the Central Labor Union for its representative on the Finance Commission. Mr. Kennedy made a study of municipal affairs, and was altogether a creditable representative of the labor unions on the commission.

Mr. Kennedy lives in Ward 20, Dorchester. He comes from a Southern family which traces its ancestry back to the time of Lord Baltimore and the Calverts of Baltimore. His father was Charles L. Kennedy of that city, a

Brothers Arrested for Thieving.

Two brothers, Patrick and Richard Grey, who are hard cases and often get terms in jail for drunkenness and theft, were arrested by the police yesterday afternoon for stealing. One went on board the s.s. Bonavista yesterday afternoon and getting into the men's quarters tried to get away with their clothing, while the other attempted to steal some clothing from Mr. Pike's residence, Pleasant Street. Both men are incorrigibles and will no doubt spend another term in jail.

Post Mortem Held.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Rendell went to the Morgue and examined the body of the infant found in a grating yesterday morning at the foot of Chapel Street. He found that it was a child of immature birth, as the police had supposed. The body will be interred to-day. The police are now working on the matter and have a clue which might lead to the discovery of the mother.

London, May 11.—The feeling of the Irish party is that any question of compromise or of the postponement of the veto question is impossible. They believe it would be suicidal. The Irish party recognizes that it might be necessary, for formal purposes, to have a fortnight's delay, but any idea of postponing the veto issue till autumn, still less till next year, would cause the Liberal party to fall to pieces.

DOCTOR ON FOOD
Experimented on Himself.

A physician over in Ohio says: "For the last few years I have been a sufferer from indigestion and although I have used various remedies and prepared foods with some benefit it was not until I tried Grape-Nuts that I was completely cured."

"As a food it is pleasant and agreeable, very nutritious and is digested and assimilated with very little effort on the part of the digestive organs."

"As a nerve food and restorer, Grape-Nuts has no equal and as such is especially adapted to students and other brain-workers. It contains the elements necessary for the building of nerve tissue and by so doing maintains an equilibrium of waste and repair."

"Grape-Nuts also enriches the blood by giving an increased number of red blood corpuscles and in this way strengthens all the organs, providing a vital fluid made more nearly perfect."

"I take great pleasure in recommending its use to my patients for I value it as a food and know it will benefit all who use it."

Amazon Roofing

Leads the list of so-called Rubber Roofings, and leads them in all the qualities that make a perfect Roofing. It has the appearance of Rubber, feels like it and is as thoroughly waterproof; but there the resemblance ends, for AMAZON is made of roofing materials only, and affords a Roof service that no composition of rubber could possibly offer.
