THE Lady of the Night
OR
Amelia Makes a Success

CHAPTER III
THE BOUNDER.

He looked her up and down, and his smile grew more gallant, and therefore more insolent. The face of her unaccountable shoe had come undone; she had removed her gloves to fix it up, and had slipped them in her pocket, and in her surprise at seeing a stranger on the water had forgotten to put them on again. This gentle bouncer could not imagine a gloveless lady, and jumped to the fatuous conclusion that he was talking to one of the farmer's daughters.

"I am usually pretty lucky," he said boastfully, "but I am new to this river. Suppose you have a cast or two, and show me the meadows operant—I mean the proper way." He added condescendingly.

Nora hesitated, but the trout were rising exasperatingly; and, after all, what did it matter that the man was probably a shopman from Nelsworthy of one of the bigger towns? Probably he did not even know that he was offensive; it would be doing him a good turn to give him a wrinkle. So she took the brand new rod and made a throw or two.

"Your cast is too short," she said. "You want a longer gut," she explained, and she saw that he did not understand her. "And the fly is too big. Get that it is not a real one. There is a big fish under that opposite bank; if you miss twice, I'll try for him, if you'll stand a little farther out."

SEALED TIGHT KEPT RIGHT

The Flavor Lasts

Trade supplied by MEEHAN & COMPANY, St. John's, Nfld.

He drew back a yard or two, and with his hands thrust into his pockets, stared at her face with what he considered a captivating smirk. The cast was so short that Nora had to stand on the brink of the still swollen river. She threw the fly lightly over the trout, it rose presently and, of course, she looked at it. A real sportsman would have been filled with admiration at the way in which she played her fish; but the young man only saw his opportunity for an act of gallantry, and, pretending that he thought she was in danger of slipping into the river, he sprang forward and put his arm round her waist.

Nora uttered a cry, not one of alarm, but of amazement and indignation. Still holding her fish, she turned her crimson face and blazing eyes upon him.

"You're all right; I have got you quite firmly," he said with a stammer, pressing her still more closely to him. Nora did not struggle; she was still too much amazed to move; and, indeed, almost before she could move or speak, there was a thud from behind, something leapt on the young man's back; he released Nora, lost his footing, and fell into the river.

The romantic rescuer was none other than the faithful Bob, who, sniffing his mistress's footsteps, had followed her and arrived at the psychological moment. He stood, with his feet planted on the very brink of the stream, glaring savagely at his floundering victim, and evidently longing for a closer acquaintance with him. The man was in no danger, for the river was not very deep at this part, and Nora's indignation gave place to her sense of the ridiculous. Indeed, the would-be gallant cut a ludicrous figure floundering in the stream, and gasping for breath; but presently she saw that he was really frightened, and with difficulty suppressing her laughter, she called to him.

"You're all right; you're in no danger. You can stand there if you'd only try."

Thus encouraged, he found his feet, but he eyed Bob as if he were afraid to come ashore. Nora said a word or two to the dog, and he subsided on his haunches, but still continued to growl. The wretched young man waded to shore, and stood wet, muddy, and shivering. He was very angry as well as discomfited, and presently, as he wiped the water from his face, he stammered angrily.

"That's a head of a dog of yours—I might have been drowned. He ought to be shot."

Nora laughed in his face. "Shoot Bob for doing his duty!" she said. "He never allows any one to touch me. You have behaved very foolishly, and you deserved your ducking."

"I don't know about that," he said. "I thought you were going to slip into the water."

"That is not true," said Nora contemptuously. "I was never near slipping. However, it doesn't matter. You are wet through. You had better go home—and have a hot bath," she added, her face screwed up with laughter.

He glared at her angrily, with the impotent fury of a man whose little effort at gallantry had gone cruelly awry.

"I suppose you will make a song of this," he said. "You'll tell the people up at your farm how you've played a trick on a gentleman."

"What gentleman?" asked Nora, looking round, with the air of one desiring information.

His vacant face grew dark, and he scowled at her.

"Oh! you take it like that, do you?" he said. "It's evident you don't know whom you are talking to."

MOST OF THE AILMENTS THAT MAY ATTACK YOUR BABY

arise from improper feeding, and it is important that mothers should understand that the baby will thrive best if fed in the natural way—at the breast. This will not be so difficult of accomplishment if the prospective mother includes in her daily food a bowlful of Neave's Health Diet.

But there are very many cases when the baby cannot be breast-fed, and then an important decision has to be made—Which food shall we give our baby?"

It is nearly a century since Neave's Food was first made, and the remarkable way in which delicate and ill-nourished children have thriven on it has caused its fame to extend throughout the world.

"I don't know, and I don't want to know," said Nora, with an indifference which must have been exasperating. "I suppose, judging by the way in which you throw a fly, that you must be one of the shopmen from Nelsworthy?"

He glared at her, as if too astounded and indignant to speak, but at last he stammered—

"Shopman! Nelsworthy!"

Nora shrugged her shoulders. "Don't trouble to tell me," she said. "You had better go home."

She called to Bob, who was sniffing about the young man's drenched legs and growling threateningly and turning away. As she did so, Elliot Graham came riding towards them. He was coming at a gallop, and he pulled up so neatly and cleverly that, even at that moment, Nora accorded him admiration. His looked from her to the dripping youth and, naturally enough, said—

"What is the matter?"

"This gentleman has fallen into the river," explained Nora demurely, but with her eyes dancing and a suspicious twitch of her lips.

"Oh!" said Elliot, "how did he manage that?"

"Bob managed it for him," said Nora as demurely as before. "Bob thought—but it doesn't matter."

"It matters a very good deal," said the unfortunate young man. "I come here fishing, I make myself—pleasant."

By this time Nora was in high good humour; perhaps the presence of Elliot Graham tended to her exhilaration.

"I don't remember your making yourself pleasant," she said. "But it is of no consequence. Please do go home and get dry."

"That's all very well," he said sullenly. "I should like to know who you are," she said, almost good-naturedly.

Elliot Graham, who had dumfounded, and was still looking from one to the other gravely, cut in here.

"This lady is Miss Ryall of the Grange," he said. "You seem to have been fishing the Ryall water—and without permission."

The young man looked disconcerted for a moment, then he raised his still dripping head with an air of hauteur.

"I am Mr. Ferrand," he said. "I thought this was our water. I apologise."

"That's the nicest thing you have yet said," remarked Nora. "The Ferrands' water does not begin until you get about half a mile lower down. You had better fish there, for the future. It's not so deep as this."

Mr. Ferrand buttoned his coat round his shivering figure, raised his limp cap, and turned away. The other two watched his retreating figure in silence for a moment or two, then Elliot said—

"How did it happen? I was at the top of the hill, and saw him—I thought I saw him."

Nora grew red. "Oh, he thought I was falling, or pretended that he did, and—"

The text of the reply as delivered to the Prime Minister began as follows: Mr. Prime Minister, in accordance with instructions just received I am commanded by my Government in accordance with the decision of the Reichstag and with reference to the resolutions of the Allied Powers of May 5th, 1921, in the name of the new German Government to declare the following: The German Government is fully resolved, first, to carry out, without reserve or conditions, its obligations as defined by the Reparations Committee; second, to accept and carry out without reserve or conditions the guarantees in respect of those obligations prescribed by the Reparations Committee; third, to carry out without reserve or delay the measures of military, naval and aerial disarmament notified to the German Government by the Allied Powers in their note of January 23. Those overdue to be completed at once and the remainder by the prescribed date; fourth, to carry out without reserve or delay the trial of war criminals, and to execute other obligations of the Treaty referred to in first paragraph of the note of the Allied Governments of May 5. I ask the Allied Powers to take note immediately of this declaration. Signed, Sthamer. Mr. Lloyd George in giving terms of the reply to the Commons said, "this is a complete acceptance of every demand."

"I have smoked and smoked," said Mr. Bisell on his birthday, and it never seems to hurt me. In fact, I think it has helped me to live and enjoy life for more than a century. Asked if he ever drank, Mr. Bisell said: "When I was young every one drank and I always drank a little but not enough to turn my head."

Instead of taking bunker coal for the round trip at Montreal, the usual practice when there are coal strikes in Britain, some of the British steamers will take bunkers of German coal at Rotterdam for the west-bound trip. It is not known what price the reparations commission is charging for the German indemnity coal, but it is presumed that it is profitable to shipowners under present strike conditions.

Frank A. Goodwin, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Massachusetts, has suspended not only the licenses, but the registrations and number plates issued to twelve men in various parts of the State who have been convicted of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A man-trap consisting of a sawed-off shot gun, connected with the knob of a cellar door by a cord and several pulleys, in the home of Adolph Zuker, motion picture producer at Nyack, New York, was sprung late one night recently by a burglar who was instantly killed. This contrivance was designed by Patrick R. Murphy, Superintendent of the estate, after the place had been visited three times by burglars within the past ten days. Murphy explained that during the absence of Mr. Zuker, who is in Europe, he became alarmed by frequent burglaries, and set the trap as a precautionary measure. The dead man, who was found near the door of the cellar, was identified as Edward Coates, former convict, who had served a term in Sing Sing prison.

Mr. Edgar Allan Dickinson, Leigh's double-voiced vocalist, who now resides at Beech Hurst Farm, Lewton, near Leigh, has received a letter from Lord Derby's secretary commanding him to sing before H.R.H. the Prince of Wales at Knowsley during the coming visit of the Prince to Lancashire.

Mr. Dickinson used to be a window-cleaner, and was employed nine months in that capacity in Liverpool, and during that time as a tenor singer was under Professor Alexander Phipps.

Subsequently he went to Manchester as a window-cleaner, and was accustomed to sing over his work. It was whilst doing this that a Manchester musical gentleman heard him, and was surprised to hear at the same time a bass and a tenor singer, though only one man was visible.

He made inquiries, and found that the workman had a remarkable gift for producing two voices at the same time.

Dickinson was taken to a throat specialist, who could distinguish nothing abnormal. Since then Dickinson has sung in London, Liverpool, Manchester and Edinburgh, and a few weeks ago at the Pickwick Club, London, he sang before the Countess of Athol, better remembered as the Princess Alice of Teck.

Up to a short time ago he was prohibited by contract from singing in public, but now he has been released from it, and is thus able to re-appear. No other member or relative of his family has shown any indication of a similar gift.—Weekly Post

German Crimes

Inflicted on British.

Captain Muller, a German who was in charge of 1,000 British war prisoners at Havel Marz in April, 1918, is being tried in London. The evidence is being taken by Sir Charles Biron, Chief Magistrate for the case in the trial of the German war criminals at Leipzig. Terrible tales of suffering are being detailed by the witnesses.

It is charged that the 1,000 men were herded together in three huts. There were no floor boards, bedding or camp utensils, and the men had to sleep on the floor. There was not even room for all of them to lie down. There were no sanitary arrangements and the only water supply for washing was in a small trough, the water in which was changed about once in a fortnight. Rations were inadequate. No meat ration was supplied. The men rapidly became weak and were compelled by blows, in spite of their weak condition, to go to work. Dysentery at once set in. Within a month five hundred men were down with it and the deaths averaged about six men per day. It was also alleged that Muller committed many acts of violence on the prisoners. It appeared to have been his amusement to ride his horse into the ranks of the British prisoners on parade, scattering them in all directions and in many cases doing serious bodily harm. On more than one occasion he was actually seen taking photographs of the men while they were in the agonies of dysentery, which indicates the character of the man.

Mr. Muller was taken to a throat specialist, who could distinguish nothing abnormal. Since then Muller has sung in London, Liverpool, Manchester and Edinburgh, and a few weeks ago at the Pickwick Club, London, he sang before the Countess of Athol, better remembered as the Princess Alice of Teck.

Up to a short time ago he was prohibited by contract from singing in public, but now he has been released from it, and is thus able to re-appear. No other member or relative of his family has shown any indication of a similar gift.—Weekly Post

Entered Murder Pact;

But Fell Down.

Basel, Switzerland, April 4.—Two men who had entered into a contract with a woman to end her life were recently haled into criminal court at Basel, by the party of the second part for taking her money and failing to carry out their bargain. Robbery was charged by the plaintiff in the action, and the men were sentenced to a term in prison. The woman narrowly escaped trial for attempted self-murder. Fraulein Krauss, brooding over her spinsterhood, decided to end her life, but she could not bring herself to suicide. She found a chemist who professed to be willing to act as executioner for a consideration, and after the two had conferred in the presence of a third person, terms were agreed upon. The woman insisted upon being beheaded, it was alleged, but the chemist with a show of professional pride, held that poison would be just as efficacious and more in keeping with the conventions. The third party suggested drowning as a compromise, and the deal was closed. The three started for Lake Lucerne, but the chemist, having exacted advance payment of 75 per cent of the 400 pounds contract price, vanished en route and prosecution followed.

Swiss Parliament

The question as to whether pastors and priest may sit in the Swiss Parliament has just been definitely decided by a test case. The Rev. Pastor Knellwirth was elected a member by his constituency, but the Swiss Parliament unanimously refused to acknowledge him as a member unless he first gave up being a pastor, which he declines to do. Thus they adhered to the Swiss Constitution, which stipulates that neither priest, pastor nor rabbi can represent a Swiss constituency.

Important Session at the House.

Sir John Crosbie Produces Some Startling Evidence-- Fish and Salt Purchase Scandals Discussed.

There were some startling occurrences at yesterday's session of the House which was one of the most important sittings held during the term. Some sensational charges were made by Sir John Crosbie in connection with fish and salt purchases which were substantiated by documentary and other evidence.

The House met at 3.15 p.m. Sir Michael Cashin gave notice of the following Motion:—

"That he would at to-day's session move that an address of this House be presented to His Excellency the Governor in Council, praying that he will be pleased to appoint the three Judges of the Supreme Court a commission under the provisions of Chapter 21, Consolidated Statutes, (1918), entitled "Of enquiries concerning Public Matters," to enquire and report, concerning the appropriation and expenditure of public money, in 1920, for fish and salt, and particularly into the purchase, shipment and disposition of the cargo of the "President Coaker" and all matters relating thereto, and into the purchase, sale, custody and control of the salt cargo stored at Port Union; and praying that until the said Commission shall report, the Hon. W. F. Coaker, who holds the dual and irreconcilable positions of representative of both buyer and seller in these transactions, shall be suspended from his office as Minister of Marine and Fisheries, in which he controls the evidence and sources of information essential to the protection of the interests of the Colony."

Notices of question were given by Sir Michael Cashin, Messrs. Moore and Sullivan.

The questions on the Order Paper were discussed at some length. Sir Michael Cashin impressing on the Government the need for collecting the money due from the Commercial Cable Company. It was the Opposition's duty to see it was done.

With reference to the question as to whether local coopers were suffering from the Fish Regulations Mr. Bennett expressed his surprise that the Prime Minister should answer it in the negative and said it was plainly evident that the Government was responsible for work being taken away from them. The Prime Minister told Mr. Bennett that the travelling expenses of Mr. Penney in Norway were $2500. He received no compensation. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries was the Minister of the Crown who instructed the Deputy Minister of Finance to draw the cheque in payment for the Tuckahoe's salt cargo. It was decided to purchase this salt on Government accounts, the matter being left in the hands of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. About 4000 tons were left at Port Union.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Bill to Repeal the Codfish Exportation Act.

Sir John Crosbie continued his speech of the previous day. He first said that the Royal Stores Woolen Mills had received orders from the Public Works Department to the value of $10,000. He thought Mr. Salter's salary should be discontinued and the job given to someone else. He told the Minister of Public Works that he could not explain the matter satisfactorily.

Minister of Public Works.—"You don't know it all."

Sir John Crosbie.—"No, there's a lot more that I haven't been told."

Continuing, he referred to the "President Coaker's" cargo. He was prepared to tell the story of that cargo now. He read the reply to Sir Michael Cashin's question of April 4th and said he would explain it later. The cargo of the "President Coaker" was not mentioned amongst the names of the firms who received the Government guarantee. The first bought by Mr. Sellars was paid for at a higher rate than that bought by Barr's and Job's, choice Labrador fetching $9.00 and other kinds proportionately lower. The firms who bought this fish on Government account were being paid for storage and labour and he knew that some of the men who sold the fish had stored it themselves. He charged that there was a deliberate attempt to deceive the House in connection with the "President Coaker's" cargo. Capt. Kean had told him that Mr. Sellars said he had had nothing to do with the "President Coaker's" cargo although it was in the statement of the fish bought by him. The cargo must therefore have been manipulated for Mr. Coaker's own ends. Those were the facts. Not only for but her cargo and expenses paid for but her freight was paid in full before her cargo was delivered to market. These were facts which could not be denied and yet they could not get an enquiry into the matter. Only half freight was paid on the "Jean Wakely" but full freight on the "President Coaker". Sir John had asked Mr. Coaker to explain the matter and he had refused to do it. Mr. Sellars's statement was not in detail like those of Messrs. Barr and Job. It was an attempt to pull the wool over our eyes. He could not see how Mr. Coaker could wiggle out of this. The transaction in itself immediately casts suspicion all around. Something would have to be done to straighten it out. He had made it clear that Mr. Sellars had had nothing to do with the "President Coaker's" cargo although the Minister of Marine and Fisheries had said he had. Sir John regretted the position the Minister had taken. He thought the whole affair absolutely wrong and indecent. $8.50 was supposed to cover cost and expenses per qt. for choice Labrador, but Mr. Sellars got $2.00. Was the $3.00 fish shipped in the "Jean Wakely" or the "President Coaker"?

Minister of Marine and Fisheries.—"It went in the Wakely."

Sir John Crosbie wanted to know by what right Sellars should get more for his fish. He was going to leave this case rest on its merits as there was a Motion before the House but he said it was plain there was some intention to hide something in connection with this cargo from the public. He appealed to Mr. Coaker to have the matter investigated and cleared up. He next referred to the sufferings of the coopers in St. John's West. Did the Premier know that coopeage products were unobtainable in St. John's West to-day. He told the Premier if he wanted to employ a good liar he would take him, in response to a comment thrown across the floor of the House. The Fish Regulations was the cause of half the St. John's coopers walking the streets to-day. Drums were now fetching 50 cents which formerly sold for $1.10. If the Advisory Board had not been so greedy for profit these thousands of qts. of fish now in the country would have been sold and would be in our foreign markets in local casks. The Fish Regulations were the sole cause of the prevailing distress amongst coopers. The Premier had cast a reflection on his word but there were men who would take his (Sir John's) word before the Premier's signature. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries had as much to do with keeping up the price of fish as he had. It was supply and demand that had done it. Mr. Coaker could not raise the price of seals this spring. He wasn't even able to make the St. John's firms pay the same that was paid in Harbor Grace. The Minister was only human and could not do the impossible. What greater incompetency could be displayed than the action of the Government in purchasing five steamers and spending $500,000 of the Colony's money without thinking about where it would come from. The country would lose $400,000 on the transaction. Even the Lobelia must have cost nearly $80,000 and she now stood a standing disgrace. He asked that she be taken down and put in Port Union. He would take her down free if Mr. Coaker would anchor her. Referring to the Railway Sir John said it was a hopeless proposition and the Government did not know what to do with it. He wanted to know why the Fortia and Prospero were included in the list of ships run by the Railway Commission, which list was contained in the circular mentioned on the previous day. (None of the Ministers, however, seemed to know anything about it.) Would anyone seriously tell him, said Sir John, that the railway was any credit to the Government of the country. The losses on its operation were so serious that if there were nothing else, it would bring about financial collapse to the colony, and the Government took over the Railway because it was defunct. It was a pity that it did not go into the hands of a Receiver. The cost would be between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. No attempt to tell the Government's position in connection with the Railway had yet been made. Sir John thought that Reid's would not take it back. He thought moreover arbitration would be necessary through the Government's taking over something they did not understand. Did they know an expert was in the country to-day looking over the Railway how we would later learn to our cost. Matter of raising a loan for the City Council came up a few days ago and the Premier said the Royal Bank of Canada were shylocks and he would get the money elsewhere. But, the Royal Bank had advanced the loan on their own terms. The only conclusion he could come to was that no one else would advance it and the Premier had to go to the shylocks. This condition was brought about by squandering money. It was a nice state of affairs after eighteen months. The time had come when something must be done quickly to change conditions here or very few would be left to carry on business in the country. If the Government had shown any foresight the position would not now be so bad. Each week the loss on revenue was astounding. It would run into three millions of dollars whilst the estimated expenditure would be increased $1,000,000. $2,500,000 was lost on the railway and $2,000,000 on sugar, salt, fish and other things. He was told that more men were being paid off at Bell Island. How serious that was, few realized. Bell Island was the life of the Conception Bay labourer. He believed the Premier had tried to save the position and he asked what results had been obtained.

The Prime Minister said it depends on whether the Companies can dispose of the ore on hand.

Sir John Crosbie said he had heard that. He was told by the Premier that certain propositions had been made to Mr. Wolvin with reference to the matter and that it had also been considered by the Government.

The Premier here gave a lengthy explanation of what had been done in the matter.

Sir John Crosbie continuing, said he feared that his statements regarding the colony's financial position would be borne out shortly. The country at large knew his opinion and he believed the country had enough conference in him to believe his statements. If something were not done quickly to alleviate conditions he greatly feared the consequences.

The Prime Minister referred to some portions of Sir John Crosbie's speech. He asked the House to deal leniently with that part of the estimates dealing with Road Grants.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries replied to Sir John Crosbie with reference to the "President Coaker." He said that the facts presented by the Fisheries Department were correct.

Sir John Crosbie asked a question concerning Mr. Sellars, but the Minister of Fisheries refused to answer and continued his address, reiterating his former statements. He then went on to make a lengthy explanation of the matter. He offered Mr. Higgins the full freedom of the fisheries department to investigate the matter.

Sir John Crosbie replied to Hon. Mr. Coaker. He regretted that he should make such a statement and expect it to be taken seriously. The Minister placed himself in an awkward position by not letting the motion, turned down on Tuesday, go through. If he were satisfied for Mr. Higgins to investigate, why not let the public do so. He refuted Mr. Coaker's statements by reference to the official documents. These documents showed that the "President Coaker" was paid freight before leaving here. The information Sir John had used was reliable even if it were second hand. Sir John then crossed the floor of the House and showed the documents to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who admitted they were the official ones.

Sir John then said, why not have Mr. Sellars examined on oath before a Select Committee. He charged that Joseph Sellars never received the cheque for the fish and never had anything to do with the "President Coaker's" cargo.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries.—"It is not true."

was to have the matter investigated by a Select Committee in that case. He knew three days after he landed in this country, the facts about the "President Coaker." He affirmed that the statements were absolutely true. He regretted Mr. Coaker's statement for he had made matters worse for himself rather than better. Once more he asked the Minister to appoint a Commission and ascertain, under oath from Mr. Sellars, who told the truth.

Sir Michael Cashin next spoke to the House. This evening it had fallen to his lot to say a word or two concerning the many important matters which had come before the House. He first referred to the charge made by Sir John Crosbie. The country knew what had happened since last session. Many extraordinary things had happened since the House had closed last year, including the taking of $500,000 for the purchase of fish by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Sir Michael reviewed at length the circumstances leading up to this allocation including an account of the Fishermen's and Mr. Coaker's meetings in the C.C.C. Hall last November. Mr. Coaker had promised the fishermen that their fish would be bought at $8 per cwt., and to keep his promise he took this half million dollars from the Treasury and gave it to three men to buy fish.

The Minister had asked this afternoon that if a charge similar to that made against him by Sir John Crosbie had been made in the English House, what would happen. Sir Michael wanted to know what would happen to the Minister against whom such a charge was made. By refusing to pass the motion for an enquiry, the Prime Minister had himself convicted Mr. Coaker in the minds of all intelligent people.

When the allocation was made, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries was in sole control of the country, and he took the money without consulting the House. What was the House for? The money was handed to a chosen few and not to the whole island, and the Minister had come up to-day and put up a bluff when he was charged with wrong-doing. Was it not the Opposition's duty to probe matters of this sort?

If Mr. Coaker's hands were clean, it was his place to court justice instead of using his influence with the men behind him to whitewash himself. In the matter of the "President Coaker" there was no charter party between the F.P.U. and Mr. Sellars. How does anyone know how many quintals of fish were on that ship? If the Minister were honest he had put himself in a false position. If he had been clean and honest he would have supported the motion.

He was not prepared to take his seat in the House and throw the spotlight on the actions of the Government. Sir Michael then referred to the Auditors who had been brought down from the States to cast the spotlight on the doings of the Government. They got $10,500 for giving Sir Michael Cashin and Sir John Crosbie certificates of honesty. Mr. Coaker was to-day in a worse position than any man in the country. He did not support the amendment to the address in Reply and all this debate had been the result. For four weeks the Prime Minister and his following sat tight whilst the speech from the Throne was being debated, and all he could say after that time was that he had decided to take off the Regulations. Sir Michael then quoted from the Premier's speech. He had said he was a believer in the Fish Regulations. Yet, he is taking the Regulations off. What kind of legislation was this. He said he be-lived in them because Coaker believed in them, and as he, himself, had no backing in the House, he was fawning upon the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to get the F.P.U. vote. All principles had been sunk to grasp the reins of power. If the Minister of Marine and Fisheries in his (Sir Michael's) Executive had done as Mr. Coaker has done, he would have kicked him out. It was impossible to get away from Supply and Demand. The Minister had, by trying to get away from these laws, made himself the laughing stock of the world. He had actually descended so low as to use confidential information to undersell other fish exporters for his own benefit. Sir Michael next read the letter of Mr. George Penny, of Ramona, published in the Telegram last week, and in which was told the story of the "Cavell's" cargo. Messrs. Coaker and Barr had got together and the former had advised Penny to take 10s. less than the price he could have sold at. And now, Penny could not get a cent, whilst the men he had supported in the general election sat on the Government side of the House with their fingers in their mouths. There had as yet been no pronouncement as regards supplies, although over 20,000 fishermen were to-day without the wherewithal to go fishing, and there were not two merchants who would supply. There was not a dollar coming in for our products. There were 10,000 families without enough food in the country to-day.

At this juncture Sir Michael adjourned the debate. The committee rose and reported progress. Adjournment was taken until 3 p.m. to-day.

NOTICE OF QUESTION.

Sir M. P. Cashin.—To ask the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if it is the intention of his Department to employ the services of Mr. George Hawley to advise the Department during this year as to conditions in European markets, and if not who does he propose to employ for that purpose?

Sir M. P. Cashin.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if a printed circular originating in Oporto and addressed to him with the prefix "Your Excellency" pretending to be a statement of Oporto fish exporters with reference to the Newfoundland trade, but which was republished by the recognized codfish exporters there in a statement published in the newspapers of this city on April 15, and certified by Mr. Hanover Grant, British vice-consul at Oporto was fabricated in the office of the Newfoundland Trade Commissioner at Oporto, Mr. S. K. Smith, or with his connivance; also if the Minister during his visit to Oporto was a party to this transaction or knows anything about it; if it was fabricated in the office of the Newfoundland Trade Commissioner was any public money paid for its composition and printing and if so how much; and in that case does the Minister consider that this was a creditable transaction for an official of the Colony to be engaged in, and if the Minister does not believe that it was fabricated in the office of the Trade Commissioner or with his connivance, can he suggest any reason why any parties should undertake to fabricate such a communication and represent it as coming from a body of commercial men who had nothing whatever to do with it?

Sir M. P. Cashin.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if it is correct that members of the Codfish Exportation Board, commonly known as the Advisory Board, manipulated sales of fish in the foreign markets from time to time in their own interests, so that they were able to get rid of cargoes to the disadvantage of ordinary exporters, and whether these members of the Advisory Board utilized the private information coming to that Board to assist them in accomplishing these objects; and if so, will he lay on the Table of the House a statement of the cases in which this occurred and the names of the members of the Advisory Board who thus misused their positions?

Mr. Moore.—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if Mr. H. V. Simms, who left here some weeks ago to visit Canada, United States and Europe, has been despatched by his Department on any official business or has been commissioned to undertake any business for the Department during the course of his trip and if so to state the nature of the undertaking committed to him and to give an approximate estimate of the cost which such work will be to this Colony.

Mr. Sullivan.—To ask the Minister of Public Works to lay on the Table of the House a statement of all orders, and amount of same, sent from his Department to the firm of Hon. John Anderson, and if no orders have been sent, why discriminate against such a well-known supporter of the Government?

Mr. Walsh.—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister, in the absence of the Hon. Minister of Finance and Customs, is it correct that one James J. McGrath of St. John's, formerly a Fish Inspector, has been lately employed by the Customs Department and is now attached to the South Coast revenue service?

Mr. Walsh.—To ask the Minister of Public Works if the 1921 grants for Roads and Bridges have been sent out to the different Road Boards and commissioners as promised in this House some ten years ago?

Mr. Walsh.—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister, in the absence of the Hon. Minister of Finance and Customs:

(a) For a detailed statement showing the name and address of all applicants for the Old Age Pension, whose applications are on file in Mr. Woods' office and who have not yet received said pensions.

(b) Is it the intention of the Government to vote a sufficient amount, the present session, to give all applicants who are qualified, this pension?

Mr. Simeott.—To ask the Minister of Public Works to lay on the Table of the House a statement showing all orders sent from his Department to Steer Bros., and amount of same. If no orders have been sent, why not?

"Civil Servant" Writes Again.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Gentleman signing himself, "A Real Civil Servant" writes in the News of the 11th inst. questioning the authenticity of your humble servant to his more humble position of "Civil Servant," and goes on to lay the blame on the shoulders of some Water Street business man, who says, "A Real Civil Servant" wrote the letter, or inspired it to be written. Wrong, utterly wrong. The first letter was written by "Civil Servant" and this one is written by the same individual. The "customs" of newspaperdom in the "Long Room"—I mean the long-run—ask for personal names as a guarantee of good faith, and as the average Civil servant is a gentleman—this one hopes he is, his name has gone into the personal ear of the Editor of this paper, and there it abideth.

The two longest things I can remember are, the first reading of "Slide Kelly Slide," and hearing and seeing and knowing of the suppressing of the Civil servant. Like Dante's Inferno it is written of the man who joins the Civil service. "He who enters here leaves all hope behind"—for Halley's Comet visits us oftener than the friendly intimation of a raise. Men now deceased, but who worked in a Government office, got a rise a few years ago of $10.00 (ten dollars) a year. A young man of my acquaintance got a rise a year or two ago of eleven cents a day, Tee-hee! He is not dead yet. Man 35 years in Civil service got a salary of $1400.00 a year. Ho, ho! Superintendents are made out of mere nonentities in the Civil service. Good men are passed by in the Civil service. Years count for naught in the Civil service. One man is made a Deputy with a salary of $300.00 a month; another man—a better man, a more able man—gets a little over $100.00 a month, and this, dear sir, is the Civil service. So it goes on, Mr. Real Civil Servant.

Yours truly,
A CIVIL SERVANT:

"What Happened to Jones?"

WILL BE REPEATED TO-NIGHT.

The second performance of "What Happened to Jones" at the Casino last night was attended by a capacity audience, who appreciated to the full the funny situations of the pseudo-Bishop and the excellent acting of those who formed the cast. Miss Angela McGrath as the Professor's wife, portrayed her part with an excellence which showed her to be possessed of no small amount of dramatic talent, whilst Miss Ida Howlett's work was also very good. Mr. W. E. Stirling made a most diverting "Jones" and his clever work in a most difficult role, earned the unstinted admiration of the audience. Mr. Stirling is fast making a name for himself in amateur theatricals, and his impersonation of Jones will go far towards adding to his dramatic reputation. The Professor, as played by Mr. R. W. Jeans, was all that could be desired and all the minor parts, both male and female, were exceedingly well played. The Wallace-Jardine-Hay trio were very well received, being encored several times. The C.L.B. Band was in attendance during the evening and rendered some very fine selections. The performance will be repeated to-night in aid of the C.L.B. Cadets, and those unable to attend the first two performances will undoubtedly take advantage of this opportunity and go to-night.

CONDEMNED BY THEMSELVES.

Honorable members on the Government side of the House developed a keen perception of their sense of duty to the party machine, when they voted to support the resolution of Sir Michael Cashin for the appointment of a Select Committee, consisting of five members of the House to enquire into and report upon the appropriation and expenditure of public money in 1920 for the purchase of Fish and Salt, and into certain other matters in connection with the said purchase and sale. F.P.U. members naturally voted the resolution down, as also did those who belong not to the ranks of that organization. Their allegiance to party was greater than that to country. The members for Burin did not vote. They were not in the House; neither did Mr. Cave (Bay-de-Verde) or Mr. Archibald (Harbor Grace) who were absent also. But Mr. Warren (Fortune Bay), and Mr. Small (Burgeon and LaPoile) stood up like little men when division was taken, and recorded their vote against the motion, being no doubt filled with a high sense of propriety and a sincere desire to perform their duty in that state of political life to which it had pleased the voters of their respective districts to send them. Mr. Coaker was in his seat when division was taken, but his presence gave tacit consent to the rejection of the resolution. But there was something more than that in his attendance on Tuesday, and it was to so overawe his followers and those of the Premier that none of them dared kick over the traces and record their vote as conscience directed and principle dictated.

The Fish and Salt Scandals have been unearthed after much labor on the part of the Opposition. Money belonging to the public at large was unauthorisedly and illegally taken from the Treasury wherewith to purchase Fish and Salt. The benefit, however, of such purchase was not for the public at large. Those who derived advantage from this misuse of public funds, belonged to a section of the island in which Mr. Coaker stands politically firm. The money spent on fish went to Northern fishermen, and no producer of any other sections derived any financial advantage from its expenditure. The West was not protected in the same manner as the North. Fishermen there were not paid for their catch out of public monies, yet West-ern members, who are so punctilious on keeping an "open mind" on less important matters, are guilty of a gross betrayal of their constituents in voting against the appointment of the Select Committee called for in the resolution of the leader of the Opposition. Their regard for the rights and privileges of their districts vanished and to save the face of their political "Boss" they stood against the motion. What can be thought of their action in this connection? Nothing complimentary to them, and they appear shorn of all the virtues of principle and on exhibition as mere pawns to be moved around according as party expediency demands. Thousands to buy fish from the North. Not one cent to help out the West. And yet the Minister of Marine and Fisheries had the consummate audacity to state in the House that the lack of business ability on the part of Messrs. Penny & Sons of Ramea, had been the cause of their losses on fish cargoes. (May we ask in passing, what of the cargo of the schooner Edith Cavell?)

And Mr. Coaker was permitted to get away with such a statement without being challenged by the member for the district in which Penny & Sons conduct a flourishing business. Mr. Coaker's knowledge of fishery affairs covers a period of but very few years. That of the Messrs. Penny a term greater than the age of the honorable Minister. They were doing a fish export business years before Mr. Coaker was born, and had possibly forgotten more about it than Mr. Coaker knows to-day. And how much that is can be gathered from the confusion in the export business which has existed ever since he assumed the portfolio of Marine and Fisheries. That, however, by the way. The Government were afraid, but unashamedly afraid to have the searchlight of enquiry turned upon their Fish and Salt transactions. They know that there is something surrounding them which should be kept concealed so long as possible. If there were nothing whatever to hide, if the Fish and Salt purchases were perfectly square and above board, it stands to reason that they would court—nay demand—enquiry in order to justify themselves. Moreover in the face of all the criticism of the Opposition they would have welcomed such an opportunity of proving the purity of their action in this expenditure of the people's money. But they cannot. There is something that they are determined must not be known, and they stand in the opinion of the public condemned by themselves of being guilty of misdoing in an appropriation of public revenue to protect private interests. The whole iniquitous story has to be told. It must be dragged out in detail word for word, even if it becomes necessary to impeach the Governor, Ministers of the Crown and Finance Department officials responsible for it.

He asked who really got the money for the cargo of the schooner President Coaker, and if it were not true that a certain Water Street Commission Merchant had not been made the "boat" in connection with this most nefarious transaction. Mr. Coaker sat silent, having apparently lost that old time fire attributed to him by the Advocate a little while ago, and refused to accept Sir John's challenge to appoint a Select Committee to enquire into the whole matter. (N.B.—The Government have a horror of Select Committees.)

The suavity of the Prime Minister was in the ascendant when he arose to reply to certain individual questions that had been put to him, and in his usual style of camouflaged rhetoric he made answer in a manner which satisfied nobody and further obscured the issue. Richard is in a class all by himself, and his polished periods are not at all convincing, as an evidence of which the applause which greeted both Sir John Crosbie and Sir Michael Cashin might be quoted. Anyway the Premier by the Grace of Coaker could not stand fire and left the House while the Leader of the Opposition was quoting freely from the only speech he (P.M.) has made since the opening day.

The House sat and listened astoundedly while the Leader of the Opposition read a letter from Messrs. Penny & Sons, of Ramea, published in the Telegram a few days ago, referring to the manner in which they had been bamboozled on account of a cargo of codfish shipped by the schooner Edith Cavell last summer. There was no man in the Government ranks in a position to refute the damning indictment made by Mr. George Penny, manager for the firm, against the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who allegedly had collaborated with Mr. G. M. Barr to take over the Cavell's cargo on Government account, but for which not one cent had yet been paid.

Steaming, Sugar, Salt and Codfish purchased for favorites, will cost Newfoundland about Two Million Dollars this year; the Railway Commission will have to expend another Two and a Half Millions; there will be an approximate shortage on estimated Revenue of Three Million Dollars, and an increase over estimated expenditure of One Million Dollars after eighteen months of the Liberal Reform Government. As these statements were made by the Opposition, auditors heard them with dismay, and man asked man what it all meant. Government members apparently do not care. They were swept in on the crest of an accidental wave, and they appear determined to take advantage of their opportunities.

Seen From the Gallery.

It's some time since the scribe who sits in the Gallery has made an effort to report the happenings that come under his vision, because of late there has not been much in the way of spectacularity worthy of note.

Tuesday afternoon saw the Government benches filled in order to be in readiness for the vote on the resolution of Sir M. P. Cashin that a Select Committee be appointed to enquire into the purchase of Fish and Salt and kindred buyings made by the Government.

When the vote was taken all the little men from the Western Districts registered according to order, even the popular Mr. Small recording his influenced decision against the resolution. Mr. Small, by the way, as well as receiving a seasonal indemnity of $1,000, is also in receipt of a nice little sum amounting to $250 as member of the Board of Works, consequently he had to vote to save his emoluments. But of course, he is a patriot.

Yesterday there was but a sprinkling of Government members on the benches and they all looked uncomfortable and down in the mouth. Many were conspicuous by their absence, whose names perhaps would not adorn this column; but they were all patriots without exception. The few who did show up were obviously ill at ease and kept nervously coming and going, ranging from the Prime Minister down. The honorable junior member for Trinity did not occupy his seat on the extreme left. Other back benches as well thought that it would be diplomatic to stay away.

Sir John Crosbie opened the proceedings and gave both the Prime Minister and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries a bad quarter of an hour. When Sir John got well underway on the transaction of the Sch. President Coaker, there were some revelations made, and President Coaker visibly wilted, particularly when Sir John crossed the House with a formidable sheaf of documents in his hand, to ask the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if they were genuine, which the Minister had to admit. Then the member for Port de Grave opened out, and simply flayed the senior member for Bonavista, accusing him of questionable actions in connection with the subject under discussion.

The staging of the National Anthem brought to a close a meeting fraught with great possibilities for the future of this city.

Alarming Conditions.
Offers Pony and Cart for Food.
This morning a man from a nearby settlement went to the office of a well-known merchant, to ask for some needed supplies for his family whom, he said, were in a destitute condition. The man gave his name as Furlong, and offered his horse, wagon and harness as security for one barrel of flour. The merchant, who is eulogised for his goodness of heart, gave the poor fellow the barrel of flour on his word. Asked by a reporter of this paper as to the conditions of others in his settlement, the man refused to say anything, except to state that the straits of his own family were desperate. In relating the incident to three prominent gentlemen, one day, another man overhearing the conversation, stepped in and said, "Well, men, I will pledge this pony and cart to any of you if you will give me some molasses and a little flour to take home to my family." This incident may be made the subject of discussion in the House of Assembly this afternoon.

The Brotherhood Federation Organized

A very interesting and important event took place yesterday evening in connection with the Brother Movement in this city. Rev. I. W. Williamson invited the Pastors of city churches together with the President and Secretary of all the Men's Church Organizations to a complimentary luncheon at Wood's Restaurant. Twenty gentlemen took part in most delightful fellowship around the table while enjoying an excellent repast. The object of the gathering was then set forth by the generous host in his well-known clear and forceful style. Mr. Williamson spoke strongly in favour of a city Brotherhood Federation presenting among others the following reasons:

- (1) Brotherhood Federation while respecting denominational loyalty provides a means of the interdenominational co-operation and Fellowship.
- (2) It provides a clearing house for circulating the best methods of church work for men.
- (3) It brings the help of the strong to the support of the weak.
- (4) It provides a medium for the men of the church to function as church men in any worthy community enterprise.
- (5) It gives the united voice of the manhood of the church on any vital National or International issue.
- (6) It ties every local church men's group to the great world Brotherhood Federation.

At the close of his address several questions were asked and answered; whereupon it was moved, seconded and carried unanimously that a city Brotherhood Federation be organized. The following officers were forthwith elected with unanimity and enthusiasm:
President—C. E. Hunt, Esq.
Vice-President—H. N. Burt, Esq.
Secretary—W. G. Smith, Esq.
Treasurer—H. J. Burnell, Esq.
Appointments of other officers were deferred.

Upon motion of the new President, a vote of thanks and appreciation was unanimously extended to Mr. Williamson for the great service he has rendered the city during his visit, with the hope warmly expressed that he may ere long repeat his visit. In acknowledging the vote the Rev. Gentleman expressed in glowing terms his appreciation of the kindness he has so uniformly received in Newfoundland. The staging of the National Anthem brought to a close a meeting fraught with great possibilities for the future of this city.

12 Months' Imprisonment.

Constable Peter Lee arrived by train yesterday with a prisoner named Parry, who was tried at Placentia and convicted of larceny. The man was arrested some time ago by the detective in connection with the larceny of goods and cash to the amount of $300.00 from the stores of Kelly at Woody Island and Poach of Arnold's Cove. The prisoner received a term of twelve months in the Penitentiary at St. John's.

Grand Falls Strike.

According to the men returning from Grand Falls, the whole plant is closed down, and there is not a wheel turning, on account of a strike which started on Saturday night last, when the Company notified the Local 63 Company—some 800 men—of a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent in wages. As a result some 800 men besides those of the union are also without work. About 500 of the total are non-resident and within a few days most of them will be returning to the city on their way home to engage in the fishery, that is if they get supplies. The residents say they cannot live on the wages offered as the cost of living is still high. Coal recently advanced from $8.00 per ton to $19, while milk supplied at 5 cents per pint, is now selling at 10 cents since May 1st. Rents range from $4 to $17 per month. The lowest rate of pay under the new schedule will be $2.08 cents per day. The men say that work has also ceased at Millertown, Badger and Botwood, so that over 2,000 men are now out of employment in these sections. The men further say that when they left there were reports that the light and water at Grand Falls were to be shut off from the striking employees' houses.

Legislative Council.

WEDNESDAY, May 11.
The session opened at 4 p.m.
A Bill entitled "An Act to amend the Terra Nova Spinnite Company's Act, 1920" passed the third reading without amendment.
A Bill to amend the Crown Lands Act also passed the third reading.
The Bills entitled "An Act respecting Sheep Farming" and "An Act to amend the law relating to Lotteries," which were to go to committee, were referred.
A Bill entitled "An Act respecting the Board of Pension Commissioners" passed the committee stage, and will be read a third time to-morrow.
Hon. George Shea, in answer to Sir Patrick McGrath, said "the Board of this Board was to be re-named for the sake of economy." Sir Patrick admitted that "the score of economy made a strong case," but in his opinion "it would be judicious to have three members on the Board; there might arise cases where a difference in assessment on a man's dis-ability might cost the Government more than the $2,000 saved in salary."
A Bill respecting the High Commissioner for Newfoundland in the United Kingdom, was up for second reading. Sir Patrick McGrath opposed the measure, and said we ought to abandon the whole Commissioner-ship, as he thought it did not bring returns commensurate with the ex-pense. "I have never been able to re-sultantly myself the substantial re-sults have ever followed from this position."
When it comes to a matter of appointing a man with a salary of perhaps $15,000 which added to the expense of keeping the office, I think we would be paying altogether too high a price for the benefits to be gained. I think we could do without a High Commissioner until such time as the country gets back to normal. We have been fortunate to have a gentleman thoroughly conversant with Newfoundland affairs, who ably filled the office for the past 5 or 6 years without remuneration except the up-keep of the office which would be about $10,000 per year.
Hon. Geo. Shea.—The Bill is not intended to provide for a new ap-pointment. The Government has had the definite information as to the resignation of Sir E. R. Bowring. The Bill is designed with the idea of regaining the position as it now stands.
The Bill passed the second reading and goes to committee to-morrow.
The House adjourned at 5 o'clock until Monday, 15th.

Typographical Errors.

Dear Sir,—I beg to draw your at-tention to two typographical errors in my letter of yesterday regarding Ore Tax. The paragraph containing er-rors is as follows:

"The establishment of a Smelting Plant on Bell Island, handling 100,000 tons of steel, 200,000 tons of ore per annum, will be immeasur-ably more beneficial to Newfound-land than anything else, although of doubtful value as an investment. Therefore, it will pay Newfound-land to MAKE A BID for the estab-lishment of this plant. Further the expenditure of $3,000,000.00 will not be a serious question for the Steel Co. if the next five years demon-strates a demand of five or ten million tons of Bell Island Ore, as they will readily pay $3,000,000.00 on Capital Account in five years to save six million dollars in profits in twenty years, with only an aver-age output of 4,000,000 tons (not 800,000) as published."
As the errors are important please good enough to publish this cor-rection.

Yours very truly,
F. W. ANGEL.

To Bring Down Tug.

Mr. F. H. Ellis, Manager of the Newfoundland Tug Co., by the sailing yesterday for Halifax, to ar-range matters in connection with the tug boat Hero, purchased by him some months ago. Captain Arthur Benson, Engineer Forbes, and a crew also went by the Rosalind and will bring down the tug. It is learned that Mr. Ellis has secured another ship to re-place the Stadium, lost at St. Pierre while on the way to this port, last winter.

Lumber Prices Lower.

One of the city lumber dealers, who has some millions of feet to dispose of, has made sweeping reductions in the prices which have prevailed for the past twelve months or more. Stud-wood and inch spruce board is now quoted at $40.00 per thousand and matched board from $40 to $50.00. Former prices ranged from $60 to $75 per thousand.

Rev. J. C. Joyce, B.A., S.T.B.

ACCEPTS PASTORATE.
Wesley Church has extended an invitation to the Rev. Joseph Joyce, B.A., S.T.B., to assume the pastorate of the circuit after the conference of 1922, when their present Minister's term expires. Mr. Joyce will prove a worthy successor to the Rev. Mr. Bugden. Like him he is a Newfoundland-lander. Mr. Bugden is from Trinity Bay, whilst Mr. Joyce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Joyce of Carbonear. He is not a stranger to Wesley Church, having occupied its pulpit when here last year, with much acceptance. We learn that the talented young minister has given his assent, subject to the approval of Conference. So many of Newfoundland's sons find their way into Canadian and United States pulpits that it is very rare pleasure to welcome back to the Home Land, one who after some years of faithful endeavour, and successful work in Boston, returns to render service to his native land. We congratulate Mr. Joyce and Wesley Church as well. Mr. Joyce has been attached to the Newfoundland Conference since entering the ministry; but during the past four years has had leave of absence to enable him to prosecute his studies at the University.

Quarterly Meeting.

Board of Trade Discusses Ore Tax.
A large number of members were present at the regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Trade, which was held yesterday afternoon. The chair was taken by the President, Mr. H. E. Cowan, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary, Mr. E. Pava, and were received and adopted. Mr. A. E. Hickman was elected to fill the office of 1st Vice-President, left vacant by the resignation of Mr. R. F. Goodridge, and Hon. S. Milley was elected 2nd Vice-President in place of Mr. Hickman, and Mr. D. M. Baird was elected as a Councillor in place of Hon. S. Milley. The Bell Island Ore Tax agreement now before the House of Assembly was discussed by several of the members and strongly condemned as it now stands. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Council, who will take the necessary steps in connection with same.

C. E. I. Spend Enjoyable Evening.

The C.E.I. Smoker and Card Tournament held last night in the Institute rooms was a great success. Mr. C. Butler won the prize in the Card Tournament. The presentation of medals took place after the card game. Mr. C. E. Hunt, ex-President, making the presentation. Mr. J. J. Long occupied the chair and conducted the proceedings in a very able manner. Speeches were made by Messrs. B. B. Harris, W. Reid, J. Gould, W. Winsborough and others. Refreshments were served by the Committee. The prizes presented were medals for football, 1919 and Regatta Cup, 1920. The evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Correction.

We have been asked to state that an error occurred in the account of the Fourth Annual meeting of the Newfoundland Motor Association, as published both in our columns and those of our contemporaries. The name of Mr. J. J. McKay appeared as 1st Vice-President, whereas Mr. J. A. MacKenzie was appointed to that position.

Arrived From Banks.

One of Messrs. Kemp & Co.'s vessels has arrived at Salmonier from the Banks with 500 qtls of codfish. Another schr. belonging to the same firm has also arrived with 250 qtls codfish. The arrival of these two schrs. should put a little stir in the old town of Placentia.

Noonan's Life Had Become a Burden to Him, He States

Quebec Man Was In Bad Shape Before He Got Tanlac But Feels Like New Man Now.

"One day I happened to mention my stomach trouble to a friend of mine, and he spoke right up and said: 'You take Tanlac, it made a new man out of me and I'll do the same thing for you.' Well, I took his advice, and sure enough it has done just what he said it would, for I feel like a man made new."

The above statement was made by G. Noonan, well known millwright residing at 52 Joliette St., Quebec, recently.

"Over a year ago," said Mr. Noonan, "I commenced losing my appetite, and suffering from indigestion. I got so sick it was a great effort for me to continue with my work. Nothing I ate would agree with me, and my strength and energy left me rapidly. After every meal I had a dreadful pain in the pit of my stomach for hours, and was bloated all up with gas. My nerves kept me from sleeping scarcely any, and I had dizzy spells so often, and felt so bad all the time, that life was a perfect burden to me."

"Well, I think it was about the luckiest thing I ever did when I got Tanlac. My appetite is wonderful now, and everything agrees with me so well I've gained nearly ten pounds in weight and feel strong and full of energy all the time. I sleep soundly every night, and am doing my work with ease and pleasure, without the least fatigue. Tanlac certainly does the work."

Picking the Old Lady's Pocket.

For more than two centuries the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street," as the Bank of England is called, has jealously guarded her money-bag; but, in spite of all her vigilance, they have plundered again and again until her losses have soared into seven figures.

The first of these swindlers was a rogue of genius known as "Old Patch," son of an old-clothesman in Monmouth Street, a man who had been in turn stockbroker and brewer, lottery-office keeper and gambler. When these variegated callings failed to keep his purse full he determined to relieve the Bank of England of a goodly store of its gold.

He made his own ink, we are told, manufactured his own paper, and with a private press worked off his own notes by the thousand. Then, in a score of clever disguises, he set to work to cash his bogus notes in all parts of England, and succeeded in reaping a harvest of £200,000 before at last he was laid by the heels and lodged in prison, where he anticipated his fate by hanging himself in his cell.

To Old Patch succeeded Fauntleroy, a shady banker of Berners Street, who was so incensed by the Old Lady refusing to honour his bills that he vowed "the Bank should smart for this." By forging powers of attorney he was able to sell stock belonging to his clients to the tune of £300,000 before he was invited to mount the scaffold steps. Even then, it is said, he saved his life and escaped to the Continent by the expedient of placing a silver tube in his throat.

No less daring was Richard Vaughan, a young linen-draper of Stafford, who, with the object of impressing with his wealth the young lady he was about to marry, forged a large number of the Bank's notes and proudly placed them in her hand, with the result that he spent his honeymoon in a cell, and the prison chaplain pronounced the Benediction at the foot of the gallows.

William Guest, one of her own cashiers waxed rich at her expense, by starting a mint of his own. He would take home a small bag full of new guineas daily, skillfully file down the edges, reproduce them, and take back the "doctored" coins the next morning, each a few grains lighter. The filings he converted into ingots, which he sold, thus adding many thousands of pounds to his bank balance before he was caught red-handed and sent to his doom.

A cleverer rogue than William Guest was John Mathison, a clever mechanic and engraver, who gave the Old Lady many sleepless nights before an end was put to his mischievous activities.

After successfully practising his hand on the Darlington Bank and the Royal Bank of Edinburgh, he was emboldened to attack the Bank of England itself. Buying the necessary copper, he manufactured his plates, engraved them, forged the watermark, and printed notes by the hundred; each such a marvellous facsimile of a genuine note that the cleverest expert had the utmost difficulty in detecting the fraud.

Thus equipped with his bundles of spurious notes, he travelled "like a duke" all over England, cashing them to feed his extravagance. For months his notes never aroused the least suspicion, and he had put thousands of pounds into his pocket, and spent most of it, when at last the fraud was discovered and he was arrested.

In vain he offered to explain the secret of his forging of the watermark if the Bank directors would spare his life. His offer was rejected, and he paid the full penalty of his crime. Among other rogues who have grown rich at the Old Lady's expense appear Edward Beaumont Smith, one of her own most trusted servants, who robbed her to the extent of £800,000 before the hand of the law could grasp him; Burnett, an ex-cavalier, who reaped a harvest by forging notes printed on paper stolen from the Bank's factory at Laverstock; and those arch-soundrels the Bidwell brothers, who are said to have relieved her exchequer of a round million pounds by means of forged acceptances.

But, as we have seen, it is a dangerous game to play, with heavy penalties to counter-balance ill-gotten gains. Within four years from 1797 no fewer than eighty-five forgers and circulators of forged one-pound Bank of England notes were sent out of the world by the hangman. And hundreds of others, before and after, learned the same lesson—that the man who dared to touch the Old Lady's gold did so at the peril of his life.

ALWAYS FIRST TO ANSWER HUMANITY'S CALL.

Wherever the Elk travels to-day he is received with honor and with respect, for he belongs to an organization which stands for the highest principles of fraternity and of humanity.

First and foremost of all the Elks' organization is by no means a secret order. They have no secret signs, for the only sign of which they boast is the sign of charity and of brotherly love, which is on the front door of every Elks' Home in the Nation.

Growth of Order.

The growth of the Elks' order during the past quarter of a century has been splendid and remarkable. But the growth of the organization has been the result of the noble work in the causes of charity and of humanity which the members have performed.

In all the courses of humanity in the Nation since the order was founded the Elks have been among the first to answer the call of duty and of humanity. They were first at San Francisco during the fire. They were first at Galveston during the flood. They were first to answer the call of duty during the late world war. But their noble work did not end with the closing of the war. For thousands of our maimed soldiers returned from the battlefields of France they turned their attention with characteristic zeal and with splendid energy to the great work of caring for the men who had been wounded in the service of their country.

The result was that splendid reclamation hospitals were erected. The hospital which the Elks erected at Boston at a cost of $350,000 was the first exclusive reclamation hospital to be erected in the world. From this hospital more than 3,000 former service men went back to work in civil life better equipped to earn their livings than ever before. Because of the fact that at first there was no appreciation for this work, thousands of Elks throughout the country went down in their own pockets and donated money without any thought of getting it back. The committee in charge of the reclamation work of the Elks is composed of ex-Governor Tennor of Pa., Congressman Reid and John C. Fanning of New York.

Work for Education. The Elks have gone into the field of education with their characteristic zeal and determination. They have built splendid additions to the University of Virginia and to the University of Oregon, each costing $50,000. Because of the princely generosity of the members of the order poor boys throughout the country are today being educated and fitted for lives of service in the world.

Small country schools have been aided in substantial manner by the Elks in the same manner which they have aided the hospitals. In the civic life of the cities of America the Elks have come to have a part so vital and important that no movement for the uplift and for the betterment of communities is ever started first securing the aid and the support of the Elks.

"When citizens of a citizen to-day want a big 'put over,' who is the first man approached for support? The Elk. In every city in the Republic the Elk is the leader in the civic affairs. For the Elk is progressive, ever sympathetic, ever tireless, and he belongs to an order which is in truth a FRATERNAL AND A HUMANITARIAN ORGANIZATION.—Charleston American.

Ghost Causes Reign of Terror. A "black ghost seven feet tall" is causing a reign of terror in the little mining town of Braidwood, fourteen miles from Joliet, Ill., and officials of the village have appealed to the Joliet police. Braidwood citizens have put double locks on their doors, night workers in the mines go armed, and timid persons seldom leave their homes after dark, so great is the fear of the ghost, which is said to spend its time in a house long vacant. Numerous persons have reported seeing the vision as it glided across the porch or on the lawn, and all describe it as seven feet tall.

There have been numerous robberies in Braidwood lately, and it is believed the capture of the "ghost" may solve them.

The "Divine Sarah."

English Actresses' Tribute to Great Artist.

"Madame Sarah Bernhardt—We actresses of England desire to express our great veneration for you on this your visit to London. To us your great genius, your indomitable spirit and glorious courage, shine out as the splendid qualities of France, our great ally, whom we delight to honour in you as the greatest artist of our time. We greet you."

These were the terms of an address of welcome by English actresses to Madame Sarah Bernhardt at the Prince's Theatre recently. The presentation was made by Mrs. Kendal, supported by Miss Ellen Terry.

Mrs. Kendal said she claimed the right to address Madame Sarah Bernhardt as the "Divine Sarah." "We are glad to welcome you again amongst us," continued Mrs. Kendal. "We are glad to see your incomparable art. We are happy to know that you still possess that indomitable power and that marvellous courage which makes you what you are. It is a great happiness to have you to ourselves for a few moments."

The company present then cheered Madame Bernhardt, and she was presented by Mrs. Patrick Campbell with a bouquet of carnations. Acknowledging the presentations, Madame Bernhardt said: "I cannot speak English, but I thank you all. My heart is with you."

Among the passengers on Tuesday last, 3rd inst., was Miss Jennie Ploughman, who arrived on the Heart's Content train from Green's Harbour, where she was visiting friends. Miss Ploughman is a pyrography student of the Commercial School at St. John's. She left for her home at Port Rexton the same day.

Thursday, Ascension Day, was as cold as winter here. Services were held in the Anglican Church, as usual. Those who attended rejoiced to find a warm church.

Messrs. James Mercer and George Gushue returned home from town on Friday and Saturday's train.

Mr. J. Rogers, of the Postal Telegraph Office, visited New Harbour last week and purchased a horse and buggy.

Rev. J. T. Beauchamp, incumbent of New Hr., T.B., left for Brigus Junction on Monday, 8th inst., going East.

Messrs. W. Kennedy and R. Hutchings are busily engaged in erecting a new saw-mill some two miles West of Whitbourne. The old mill was completely destroyed by fire early last winter, which meant a great loss to the owners. The new mill will occupy the old site.

Rev. Canon Smart, R.D., went East to-day, to attend an Executive meeting at St. John's.

There was frost here on Monday night and those who have small seeds in the ground are feeling anxious as to their fate.

The Psychology of Good Times.

(From the Brooklyn Times.) Although walls about 'bad times' are beginning to decrease in numbers as business picks up, they are still numerous enough to make this extract from a personal letter shine out like a good deed in a naughty world:—"We are located in the northern Michigan dairy and resort region. We are not suffering directly from the industrial depression, and our industries are in operation and new ones being added. Just added the world's most modern cement plant on the lake here, and now are adding a line of freight steamers to carry coal, cement, crushed rock, etc. The city is growing. We have a city manager, who is also Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, combining the work of two bodies for the city's good. It works out nicely and all business men and industries are well satisfied." This sounds like regular old-fashioned Americanism. The writer's town is said to be the best and most prosperous on the map. We do not doubt the least that it has the best and quickest fire departments in the world. All bustling American towns have it. Seriously, it is good to know that there are towns here and there, which are booming, and whose inhabitants are pouring cheer into a gloomy world. This is the kind of confidence that brings results. When all Americans once more get to feeling this way about their towns the country will be prosperous and safe.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

ON TALKING ABOUT ONE'S FRIENDS.

What sort of things do you say about your friends to your friends?
There are some people who, even when they like someone very much cannot seem to refrain from talking about him or her when with other friends in a way they most certainly would not talk before the friend's face.

A Fortunate Flaw.
One of the sweetest women I know, who is gifted (or, tempted) with a very keen sense of humor and a witty tongue, simply cannot refrain from witty but sharp comments on any one group of friends to any other group. It is one of the few flaws that keep an otherwise so lovely character human and lovable, so one can easily forgive it in her but it is not always so forgivable.

And then there are the people who love to discuss their friends' foibles with other friends in an isn't-it-foolish-when-she-is-such-a-nice-girl-that-it-ceters, way. They seem to feel that they have done justice to the bond of friendship by that method of beginning, but the rumour of faults that follows the "but" is pretty sure to outweigh the faint praise of that beginning at least ten to one.

The German Fleet Revolt

A carefully recorded impression of the mutiny in the German High Sea fleet on October 29 and 30, 1918, is published in the "Deutsche Wehr," a Berlin military review. The author of it is Lieutenant-Commander Pflanzsch, of the battleship "Thuringen," who has related, with the minuteness of one accustomed to logkeeping, the events on board his ship. The article is summarized in the London "Times." He describes how, on the night of October 29th, the entire fleet lying in the Schilling Road received the order to prepare for sea. In accordance with the usual practice, a boat was called away to fetch the secret orders from the flagship. This envisaged night operations with light vessels against that part of the British fleet which was operating on the Belgian coast, but, of course, this was not then known to either officers or men in the "Thuringen."

The boat's crew did not respond to the summons, and it was with difficulty that the boat was got away. Next morning a great part of the crew refused to turn out and remained in their hammocks. About 8 o'clock came the order to put to sea, but the crew refused to carry it out and shut themselves in the forward battery, where they began to sing. The commander then gave the order, "Muster by divisions," to be piped; even then the ship's company was only got to the deck by personal appeals and orders on the part of the officers.

In the circumstances the order to put to sea was postponed, little weather being given as the ostensible reason. The day's duty was got done, and when in the evening the order came to get ready for sea the mutiny broke out.

The officers waited impatiently to see what steps would be taken by the authorities. After the midday meal the signal was given from the flagship to be ready for sea at a certain time. The order had hardly reached the captain when the mutineers again gathered forward and barricaded themselves in the battery. All exits were then covered by the officers. At the same moment a steamer from Wilhelmshaven brought alongside a company of marines, old and tired men and these men were at once posted about the ship. Then the captain, with some of the officers, threw open the doors leading to the fore battery and ordered the men to come up on deck.

His order was greeted with howls from the mutineers. Meanwhile two torpedo boats had come alongside and brought the squadron chief on board. A third torpedo boat lay cleared for action, with guns loaded and the gun crews standing by, two hundred yards away. A submarine also approached and prepared for action. Then on the battleship "Heligoland," five hundred yards from the "Thuringen," the crew swarmed on deck and turned the casement guns on the submarine.

Finally the order came to unload, and the dangerous moment passed, in one respect it was only apparently dangerous, since the mutineers on the "Heligoland" had not a single shell. The "Thuringen's" mutineers next offered to negotiate with the captain, who demanded unconditional surrender. They refused, and the squadron commander issued the order, "Resistance will be broken by force." The after deck was cleared and the torpedo boat received instructions where to put its shots into the ship.

At that moment a seaman who had remained loyal undertook to persuade Likes It When Other People Say Unkind Things.

Another method is employed by a certain type of person who does not like to say unkind things of his friends but is not averse to having other people imply they are not perfect. I have heard this type of person lead other people on to discuss those whom he calls his friends, and while he did not assent or, himself, contribute to the discussion, you could somehow feel that he took pleasure in it.

I suppose the reason we like to discuss other people's faults is that we seem to feel self-righteousness in contemplating other people's weaknesses—why, goodness knows, because so-and-so is "selfish" and "close" does not make us any more generous, but we seem to feel that it does.

The Most Interesting Things in the World.

Of course it isn't human nature not to talk about one's friends sometimes. People are the most interesting things in the world and our friends are the people most interesting to us. But to talk them over in a kindly, friendly fashion is one thing, and to talk with malice, with sarcasm, with injustice, is quite another.

And remember, when you are talking about one friend to another you are revealing your own character and perhaps giving him a warning of what he may expect.

the men to come on deck to save bloodshed and the order was countermanded while he tried. Ultimately he succeeded.

MY RIGHTS.

I do not lie awake o' nights, until the clammy dawn, in terror lest my sacred rights should be infringed upon. My neighbors are a pleasant lot, their conduct always good, and no one's shot in all our neighborhood. Each one assumes the other gents are fair and decent scots, and so no one has rights laments, or for that matter, rights shouts. Yes after we go our way, and never have a row and I lend Smith a bale of hay, and he lends me his cow. And I could change this atmosphere of peace and its delights, and make discordant things appear, if jealous of my rights. For Johnson's hens at times arrive and scratch up all my greens; But better have our concord thrive than raise a crop of greens. And Bilhad's dog sits by my gate and bays the moon awhile; but better his awake till late than miss the Bilhad smile. And Hawkins plays an alto horn that jars things in my flat; but he's all right, and I would scorn to punch his head for that. And when I sing "Sweet Belle Mahone," as I am prone to do, no rocks or bricks at me are thrown, the parlor window through. The other's faults we all forget, and talk of "rights" with tact, and no one's ever offered yet to read the riot act.

Her Little Girl's Trouble Vanished.

SHE USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS FOR BED WETTING.

Mrs. W. W. Abbott is recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to Mothers whose Children Suffer From Weak Kidneys.

Ingebright, Sask., May 11th.—(Special)—"I can highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to mothers who have children that are troubled with bedwetting."

So says Mrs. W. W. Abbott, a well-known and highly respected resident here. And Mrs. Abbott gives her reasons for making this statement: "My little girl was troubled with weak kidneys and bed-wetting; and I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills for the trouble. After she had taken one box I could see a change, and when she had finished the second box there was no more trouble."

Weak kidneys are not confined to grown people. They are too often found in children, sowing the seeds of future ill unless the kidneys are strengthened and put in condition to do their full work.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy that weak or sick kidneys are crying for.

With a ten hour day working schedule in effect as compared with a nine hour day last year, and wages generally reduced fifteen per cent. as compared with last year's figures, Douglas, Limited, commenced the operation of their lumber mills at South Devon, N.B., recently. Mr. Douglas said that many more men had offered than he had places for.

High Heels and Health.

The mothers who train their children in walking with toes pointing outwards, and counsel their little girls never to wear high heels when they grow up, were told they were all wrong, by Dr. W. H. Trethowan, orthopaedic surgeon, in a lecture on "Healthy Feet," at the Institute of Hygiene, London.

"To walk properly," he said, "the feet should be kept absolutely parallel. The more the heel was raised," Dr. Trethowan went on, "the more the foot tended to turn in, and reasonable high heels were very excellent things. Low heels were all right for children or for adults with a perfect foot, but, unfortunately, no foot was perfect."

"I advise, unhesitatingly," he said, "the use of high heels. I do not mean by that the silly 3 1/2 to 4 inch Louis heel, with its curved mechanical shape and lacinated support. The height of the heel for remedial purposes should not exceed 2 1/4 inches, and in the house shoes should not be less than 1 1/4 inches. In cases of overstrained feet, slippers must be avoided. Boots and training, and not hardness, were to blame for many disabilities such as flat feet, too arched, clawed, toes, hammer toes, corns and bunions."

SPREADING DISEASES.

Defective teeth, diseased gums, discharging abscesses, gum boils are positively dangerous because of the spreading of the infection to other parts of the body; indeed that infection can spread to others. More than this, those suffering from these conditions are more likely to contract diseases entirely apart from the infections themselves. Their systems are likely to be permeated with virulent germs and therefore in no condition to make the resistance necessary to ward off these other afflictions.

Mr. Stone of the Associated Press.

From the New-York Herald.

For nearly thirty years Melville E. Stone has directed the operations of the Associated Press. His name has come to be, to the general understanding, almost a synonym for the energetic collection and effective presentation of the news of all the world. Our neighbor the Tribune speaks justly of Mr. Stone as a great reporter. Our neighbor the Times reflects that perhaps no other man on this earth has come into daily relations with so many of its inhabitants as this modest gentleman. Probably among the twelve hundred or so newspapers in the membership of the great organization which Melville Stone has long served and overseen with tireless fidelity and steadily increasing technical success there are few, if there is any, unready to join in the tribute of esteem and approval which marks his retirement from the active management of the Associated Press. The New York Herald adds its own special expression of good wishes and high appreciation. Connected yet in an advisory capacity with the institution he has done so much to uphold, Mr. Stone's experience and knowledge will continue to count for the organization's welfare; and he, as well as all others concerned, will be glad that the immediate responsibility of management falls now to so capable and competent a successor as Mr. Frederic Roy Martin.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

HUNDREDS ON THE JOB.
LONDON, May 11.
Determination of authorities to move coal into the country by sea, despite threat of Transport Workers to frustrate Government's plans through refusal to handle such coal, was indicated to-day by the re-opening of recruiting offices for volunteer transport workers. These offices were first established when there was a threat of a general strike in the earlier stages of the coal tie-up. Long queues of applicants formed outside offices this afternoon.

A LITTLE EXCITEMENT.
DUBLIN, May 11.
Two Sinn Feiners, running from a lorry here to-day, leaped into the cabin of an engine, and compelling the engineer to drive away at full speed, made their escape. Disorders throughout Ireland resulted in the killing of two men at Galway by armed, disguised men, and the shooting of a constable. Crown forces surprised eight civilians near Limerick, killing one, wounding two, and rescuing a former soldier, whom they were holding prisoner.

ANTI-DUMPING BILL.
LONDON, May 11.
Early this morning the Government succeeded in putting through a second resolution, which provides for the protection of industries by the prohibition of dumping.

THIRTY PER CENT. CUT.
MANCHESTER, May 11.
Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' Association has given notice of thirty per cent reduction in wages in the weaving section. Three hundred thousand operators will be affected. A similar notice has already been given in the spinning section.

SURPLUS SUPPLIES.
OTTAWA, May 11.
A cablegram, received to-day from the International Institute of Agriculture, states the Institute has estimated that the available world's supplies of wheat and rye will cover all requirements this year, and leave, on August first, stocks amounting to fifty-one million bushels.

PAPER MILLS CLOSED.
THREE RIVERS, Quebec, May 11.
The mills of the St. Maurice Paper Company here were closed down this morning. Several hundred employees are affected. Difficulties over wages were given as a cause.

ONE RESULT OF THE COAL STRIKE.
LONDON, May 11.
The London Times says it understands that the chartering of steamers to bring coal from United States has subsided in the past two or three days, the slump being probably due to the length of time occupied in crossing, and limited facilities for unloading steamers of the tonnage required. The amount of coal on the way from States, or expected to be on the way shortly, the Times estimates at more than a hundred thousand tons.

PAPERMEN QUIT WORK.
SUDBURY, Ont., May 11.
Seven hundred men ceased work to-day at the Espanol Mill of the Spanish Pulp and Paper Company, pending a settlement of difficulties with that Company. An identical situation exists at the Sturgeon Falls Mills of same Company, where over five hundred men quit work this morning.

CARRYING ON.
GREEN BAY, Wis., May 11.
Officers of the Northern Paper Mill, whose employees are on strike against the proposed twenty per cent. cut in pay, announced to-day that another paper making machine had been started, making three in operation. Reports from Rhineland Mills to-day were that Rhineland Paper Co. is working with seventy five per cent. force.

Police Court.
A woman who has been before the magistrate several times, for vagrancy, appeared in court this morning on a similar charge and was sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment.
Six boys who were charged with loose and disorderly conduct on the public streets, were fined $2 or 5 days each.

Prices Lower.
A notice to the Trade from the local factories announces a reduction of 6 1/2 cents per lb. in the price of creamery butter and 3 cents per lb. in that of butterine, to come into effect after May 30th. The wholesale price then will be 35 cents for creamery and 30 cents for butterine. The reduction follows the decline in the Canadian article.

"Columbus" Brand is second-to-none in Quality; only the finest materials are used. The actual making is entrusted solely to experts, who would not dream of producing work below the high standard they have set for themselves.

It is the aim of the "Columbus Co." to manufacture only a high-grade product. Special attention has been paid to QUALITY, FIT and STYLE, with the result that there is now no better Rubber Footwear than "Columbus".

Each year brings an increased demand from the Public for "Columbus Rubbers". This in itself is proof that this popular line of Rubber Footwear is meeting with the approval of the Public in every direction.

Card Party and Dance.
A very successful card party and dance was held last night in the C. C. Hall by several young ladies, for the purpose of helping to pay off the debt on the Hall. Over 200 people were present at the card party and the prizes, which were two five dollar gold pieces, were won by Mr. T. Ryan and Mrs. Kemp. After the tables had been cleared away dancing began and continued except for the supper interval, until an early hour this morning. Quite a large number of people came in after the card party for the dance and all had a very enjoyable time. The C.C.C. Band furnished the music, playing some new dance selections, which were enthusiastically received by the dancers.

Pink Daffodils.
A pink daffodil was perhaps the most interesting exhibit at the show of the flowers at the Royal Horticultural Hall, London. It was a bloom with white perianth and salmon-pink trumpet—a very beautiful and delicate flower, which has not yet been named. It was the product of Messrs. Barr and Sons, Covent Garden. Seven other new varieties of daffodils were exhibited by members. Messrs. R. Cuthbert, of Southgate, staged over twenty new varieties of azaleas.

A number of voters in this town sign it and I have been informed that 18,000 electors signed the petition. Now Mr. Editor I would like to know why the request of these 18,000 electors ignored? I hope Government intends to take the matter up during the present session. Thanking you for space.

All-Sports Ground.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Acting Mayor Mullaly has assured me that he is heartily in sympathy with the idea of the Parade Ground being taken over by the Sports of the city, and is anxious that the matter be revived and brought before the Council. Mr. Higgins has also told me that he would be with the movement. I am sure that the other members of the Council would be glad to see the Parade Ground turned into a sporting park under the control of the energy of the city. All that is necessary now is for the Football, Baseball and Hockey Leagues to meet, pass resolutions to the effect that while continuing their separate existences, they are willing to pool their revenues and then have a joint meeting of all three leagues and appoint a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, with say, two members from each League, call it the Newfoundland Amateur Athletic Association, appoint a committee therefrom to approach the Council and the thing is done. Then when the Council passes over the ground, get the advice of an expert in laying out the ground to the best advantage, so that what is laid down this year will not have to be taken up next year. I am sure that any help that Government Engineer Hall and City Engineer Ryan can give will be cheerfully given.

Let the Sports get together, pass the necessary resolutions, and later in life they will be able to look back on having brought to pass one of the best things ever accomplished for Newfoundland. In days to come their children's children will rise up and call them blessed. If they do not do so, I would not like to put in print what they will call them and deservedly.

Yours Sincerely,
GEO. W. E. AYRE.

A Socialistic Failure.

North Dakota has been conducting an experiment in Socialism that has brought that state to the verge of financial and economic disaster. Thirty-five banks have failed in the past year and the rest of them are in peril. The state has been unable to borrow money at 9 per cent, while the neighboring state of South Dakota has secured loans at 5 per cent. The two states have identical resources and opportunities. Yet one is prosperous and the other bankrupt. There is only one explanation for the difference. South Dakota has adhered to conservative principles of business and the sister state has been experimenting in socialism and non-party politics. An agitator named Townley actually swept the farmers of North Dakota off their feet and hurried them into a whirl of high finance that has brought the state almost to ruin. He persuaded them that the old political parties were robbing the farmers. He succeeded in driving the Republicans and Democrats from power, and undertook to bring the millennium overnight to the farmers. Now it is discovered that his facts and figures do not work out as predicted. The return to normal life will be painful after the Townley orgy, but it will be a lesson to North Dakota, and incidentally a horrible example to other states of the republic.

We may in time adopt many of the principles of socialism. The only way that can safely come about is by a process of evolution, and altogether different from the Townley plan of social and economic revolution.—The Sentinel.
