Mr. Errington, who was in his seat during Mr. O'Brien's statement, replied that the document alluded to by the member for Mallew was either a forgery or genuine, and if genuine it had been obtained only by some gross breach of honesty or honor, and that in either case it was not his duty to answer it and thereby further Mr. O'Brien's purpose, and he would prefer to leave the weapon which Mr. O'Brien claimed to possess, such as it was, in his hands.

"Daar Sir: Will you please allow the Catholic prisoners to attend mass on Sunday? I respectfully demand their attend ance whether under extra punishment or, not, 'Yours, etc., M. Jeffoort, chaplain."
At that time nine prisoners were confined in their own cells and one in the dark cell. For giving this information to the chaplain he was found fault with by the deputy warden and was afterwards suspended without being told what for. Last January on behalf of the guards he had handed to the warden a petition to the government for certain changes which they desired made in their condition. He heard nothing more of it.

He denied that he had been told that the reason he had been suspended was that he had left his post te find how many prisoners were confined. Had he done so for a Protestant minister his experience was that nothing would have been said of it. He denied saying that his party would "find the warden out," and that the agitation would end at least in the dismissal of the deputy warden. He had held conversations with other guards shout the warden. At this point he wished to read the rules which he said were generally disregarded both by the warden and the guards. "Oh, never mind," said Judge Sinclair. "I have ne doubt that the trace have been disregarded both by the warden and the guards. If the guards meet and discoust the conduct of their superior officer unfavorably, then either one or the other vought not to be there."

The absentees at the city council meeting ast night were Ald. Brandon, Hall, Irwin, Mitchell, Saunders, Sheppard and Taylor. Communications were read from J. Berkeley Smith, bursar of University college, stating that the college authorities would not consent to any change in the agreement for paving College avenue; from Dr. Thorburn, saying that the Zoo is a nuisance, and warning the council that if the matter is not seen to legal measures will be taken; from A. Anderson, electrician, stating that the defects in the present fire alarm system are due to the non interference attachment, and stating that he is willing to supply the want at a comparatively small expense; and from John Leys asking why the council have not paid over the money received for the several tons of chain taken from the Jarvis street boulevards to the property-owners, for whom he acts.

St. George's society petitioned to have the taxes on their headquarters, No. 7 Louiss street, remitted for one year.

Ald. Defoe moved that Ald. Carlyle and himself be appointed a committee to intercollege, stating that the college authorities

He thought that no "servant of the city" should accept a pass from any railway company. The mayor struck out the last section relating to the pass, and the motion was carried.

was carried.

An amendment to by-law No. 627, adopted at a meeting of the board of works in the afternoon, was read a first time and referred to the fire and gas committee.

The amendment provides:

1. That all that part of the city bounded on the east by the Don, on the west by Dufferin street, north by the south limit of the Esplanade, and on the south ly a line known as the windmill line, be known as fire limit D, and that no wroden buildings or erections or fences of any description shall be effected on old or new foundations, etc., within the limit named, unless covered with zinc, sheet iron, or other incombustible material.

At the meeting of the works committee in the afternoon a by-law to build a new attrect south of the Esplanade was proposed. The by law recommended that a street 60 feet wide be opened up and established south of the Esplanade from Berkeley to Simcoe atreets. West of Simcoe there is now a 60 foot street extending to Brock street. City engineer's Sproat's estimate of the cost of the new street is $130,000. Both at the committee meeting and the council meeting the estimate of the cost of the new street is $130,000. Both at the committee meeting and the council meeting the bylaw was freely discussed. Ald Baxter strongly contended that the new street would cost not less than $260,000, and that if it were built it would be for the sole benefit of the railways. Mayor Manning was very pronounced in maintaining that a new street there was strictly necessary and that it would be a benefit to the whole city. The fire of Sunday night had removed many of the buildings which stood in the way of a new thoroughfare. After considerable discussion the council decided to submit a bylaw to the people to provide money for the establishment of such a street, the width to be not less than sixty feet. Aftertise ments containing full information will be inserted in the daily papers.

A bylaw to adopt the court house site oward was rushed through all its stages.

The New Minister of the Interior. Mr. Thomas White, M.P. for Cardwell, succeeds to an inheritance of trouble; but the honor of having been chosen to fill so difficult a position should be held commensurate with the trouble to be encountered and the responsibility to be carried. Amid all the difficulty, it must be cheer ing to the new minister to find how favorably his appointment is spoken of, even by political opponents, and how very general prove "the man for Galway." At the very start it is evident that much is expected of him: which is a compliment of a very significant kind. The opportunity now before him is a great one, and we fully believe that he will justify the general Mr. White enters the cabinet as a repre-

But he is by birth and training an Ontario man, and his residence in Montreal does not yet count very many years. As bearing on this point, let us listen to what it said by Henry George. Coatrasting the English political system with the American, he says that, will be in essentials more democratic than the latter. And thus he proceeds: "The system of responsible government brings questions of public policy more directly before the voter than do elections in which the choice of an executive (often turning on matters of personal character) is apt to overshadow everything, class; while the selection of representatives without regard to residence gives political machine or fall to main tain his popularity with his immediate constituents." It cannot be presumed that an average of four runs per innings is anything approaching the correct form of the American players. As a horse-racing man would say, the running was too bad to be true. But, come as it may have come, victory perched on the Canadian banner and consequently an amazing impetus will have been given to what its admirers consider the noblest of games. On this point there may be room for discussion; but it bat in an awkward crabbed half-hearted style which is anything but amusing to spectators. When two free players get together and runs and hits come fast, an acme of enthusiasm is reached, which perhaps can be witnessed only on a cricket ground; but few indeed are the young batters who have the necessary nerve and confidence to play a bold, and, at the same time, careful game, when national interests are at stake, and the gallery is crowded with spectators who expect every man to do his duty. Their eagerness to succeed kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them, where coolness and experience leaves are at stake, and the gallery is crowded kills them. The former added five to his score, which in former added five to his score, which in the aggregate, by the way, was the second highest of the match and then retired to a shooter from Law. Morrison, the young phenomenen, failed to do anything worthy of his alleged title except to return a kindly one to Lowry, who held fast. Ogden fellowed and also secured a cypher, but Gillespie, who came next, made the stand of the innings—a patiently and well played for 18 not out.

The second innings of the visitors was a trifle more productive than the first, but it failed to place them at the head of the poll, thanks to the admirable bewling of Ferrie and Gillespie, the former's analysis reading 16 overs, 8 maidens, 19 runs and 3 wickets, while the latter's read 19 overs, 2 balls, 7 maidens, 24 runs, 5 wickets. Ogden secured one wicket for 4 overs, but it was at the expense of 9 runs. Cummings bowled two overs which cost 4 runs without a wicket. Law alone effered any construc-tion obstruction to the Canadian artillery, he putting together 21 by perhaps the best display of batting of the match. Morgan appeared set for something big when a too venturesome attempt to run sent him to the right-about. Noble's turn with the villow was brilliant but brief.

The wind was strong and the wind was cold yesterday afternoon, consequently it the last sixty years. was not a day when all the beauties of baseball could either be realized or enjoyed. Still seven or eight hundred people, including a fair sprinkling of ladies, assembled on the Jarvis street grounds to see if the Torontos could wipe out the stain left at their previous meeting with the flowery club. They succeeded in accomplishing their design, but there was no enthusiasm over the accomplishment. Time was when the very appearance of the aldermanic Mr. Smith at the bat was sufficient to induce applause, but yesterday a spanking hit over the east fence, which meant a home rup, was regarded with the same coolness that it would be were it an every day occurrence. Nothing quald arouse the audience out of their torpor, their whole attention seemingly being confined to keeping the roofs on their heads. But yet the game was a good one. But yet the game was a good one. Errors on neither side were over numerous, and one or two particularly good pieces of fielding had to be chron-field as well as some fairly smart batting. The start in the Queen's plate and the start in the queen's plate foled as well as some fairly smart batting. A catch made by Shefiler out in the centre field in the face of the wind was exceptionally clever and two or three stops made by Macklin at second base were worthy of all praise. The fielding of the Primroses was on the whole weak, but their batting was weaker, a third of the game being completed before they even reached first. McKinley once more pitched an excellent game and O'Rourke more than ever distinguished himself behind the bat. In fact the work of the two was entirely confirmatory of the view previously exonfirmatory of the view previously expressed that as a change battery it would be difficult to find better. Only one of the four new men engaged by the home club filed an appearance, and that was Warner of Baltimore, one of the pony battery of which Horner is the other component part. The latter component component part. The latter eccupied a seat among the spectators, but his partner figured in the play and in spite of a decided and excusable propensity to shiver gave an excellent account of himself, his work both at short stop, the position temporarily assigned to him, being clean and reliable At the bat he did creditably, making one hase hit out of three times at the plate but proving a trifle too rash in running bases, although as quick as a flash.

Lord Rosebery's horses in training were sold at Sandown on July 24, the sixteen lots averaging 451 guineas, or a total of 7220 guineas. The highest priced was the two-year-old Kannitz, by Kisber—Illuminate, by Rosiocucian, which brought 2000 guineas and was bought by Capt. Machell, Kinsky, a four-year-old full brother going to Col. Carew Read for 1350 guineas. A two-year-old daughter of the American bred Queenfisher went for 30 gs. Lord Roseberry will still keep a few horses in training, but his colors will not be seen nearly so frequently as formerly. He has let his Newmarket house to Lord Durham.

It was common report, a little while ago

It was common report, a little while ago that Fred Archer was about to marry a titled widow. We have other items about this celebrity. First, one of England's sporting dukes has placed at the disposal of the horseman for a holiday residence his villa on the banks of the Lake of Come. Next, that his earnings this season up to the present have been in round numbers $100,000. This seems rather small than otherwise, seeing that he has ridden some hundred and forty winners or se, and having regard also to such facts as the fees paid him for single races, sa for example the Grand Prize of Paris, 37here he was paid, win er lose, $1000 for fiding Para-dox and a cool $5000 more if he got the animal past the post first.

It would seem, says London Tru'h, that the Prince of Wales intends to take seriously to racing, as he kas entered one yearling for the Derby of 1887 and another for the Oaks, the pair having been pur-chased for 1500 guineas during the New onased for 1000 gamesa carring in Rew market July sales by Porter, of Kings-clere, who is to train them. I hold a very strong opinion that the Prince would have done better to abstain from the manifold perils of ownership. It may be hoped, however, that he will be more fortunate in all respects than were his grand-uncles, for the racing career of George IV. was dis-graceful and caused a succession of flagrant scandals, while the Duke of York's connec-tion with the turf was not only utterly ruinous, but was fruitful in highly equive-cal transactions, and it is at least certain that turf morality has not improved during

The fourteen two year olds who went to the post for the Spinaway stakes at Saratoga on the 1st inst. took two mortal hours to meetings. Fancy a two-hours' wait for the start in the Queen's plate and the fourteen or fifteen who start for that event being mainly untried and ridden by green boys are just as well calculated to give as Tooley street fire of London, Eng., was also a large fire. Acres of underground storehouses were in flames. As the cockney told the tale, "Heven the bloomin old gal herself (meaning the Thames) was on fire." And so she was, theusands of casks of burning oil floated down the river. At Sunday night's fire hundreds lost their hats of had them ruined. They all replace them? at Dinear's corner King. all replace them at Dineen's, corner King and Yonge streets.

A Dangerous Condition.

Bon't Miss This Picuic. -On Monday, 20th instant, commeno the big slaughter sale at the Waterloo House; this is the only word that properly conveys any idea of the reductions that conveys any idea of the reductions that have been made in prices of all classes of goods. Mr. McKendry has been very busy for several davs using the blue pencil, and those who want dry goods, fancy goods or milinery should not hesitate one moment as to where they should go to spend their money. Waterloo prices are always away down, but with 'a reduction of 20 to 25 per cent. off; oh! dear, what a picnic. 246

-In honor of the Grenadiers I have had made up a first class 5 cent cigar called "The Royal Grenadier," which I will warrant equal to the majority of 10 cent cigars now in the market and superior to any 5 cent cigar without exception "The Royal Grenadier" cigar beats crea tion for quality and make, and is bound to give satisfaction. Boys, try them. To be had at the Jewel Cigar Store, 104½ Queen street west, 3 doors west of Elizabeth street.—A. B. MACKAY. 246.

The prize will, however, probably find its way to one of the anterprising readers of these lines who goes beyond the obvious words. There is a chance for every industrious mind, as mere eleverness will not go for so much in this competition as perseverance. Boys and girls may occupy themselves with this problem as well as their elders, and there is no limit to the number of lists which may be sent from one family.

Any patron of the Li-Quor Tea Co, is free to mail us his list, and it is to be hoped that many will be heard from, one having as good a chance as mother in this competition. Those not already customers may become eligible to compete by sending with their lists in Haif-pound Vouchers taken from our packets of tea at either 50 cents, 60 cents, 70 cents, or 80 cents per lb., for which they may select as usual the books or bonuses to which they are entitled.
