Prominent Fruit Grower Interested in Mining

Valuable Copper Mines at Letete, N.B.—Record Year for King Brand of Apples—A Fallacy to Prophecy an Apple Crop From Quantity of Blossoms.

C. E. Starr, of Canby, N. B., arrived in the city yesterday, bringing with him a report on the prospects for fruit growing in the present year. Mr. Starr, who is a fruit grower in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and is considered an excellent authority on existing conditions as well as prospects for the present year in fruit growing. Mr. Starr is also manager of copper mines covering an area of 1,200 acres, located at Letete, near St. George, in the county of Chateaufort, which according to the statements made by mining experts, is destined to become the most valuable mining property in New Brunswick. "We have now several thousand tons of ore mined," he told the reporter, "and according to certificates of analysis from state assayers in Massachusetts, the average showed one assay showed 34.4 per cent and another made by Clarence Hershey showed 34 per cent. We have not a smelter at work on the property yet, but expect to be in a condition to have one there by next year. "The vein is about three feet wide on the surface and has gradually widened until now it is ten feet wide. The ore is 'chocolate' in color, and about seventy-five per cent of the world's supply of copper is obtained here. "Regarding the fruit outlook for this season, Mr. Starr said that in his opinion it would be about two-thirds of the average crop, taking into consideration all varieties. Most people had the idea that because an enormous amount of blossoms were on the trees in the or-

Horrified at Shooting His Boy Shot Himself

Lowell, Mass., July 26.—Filled with remorse over the probable fatal shooting of his three-year-old son, Walter, Eliza Philip Drake, aged 30 years, a quarry man of North Chatham, yesterday killed himself by firing a bullet through his brain. The shooting of the boy is believed to have been an accident. Drake, it is said, had been acting peculiarly for the past week and yesterday his wife noticed that he was very restless. During the afternoon he took out his revolver and said he was going to shoot the family cat, which had been acting somewhat viciously towards the children. Going down cellar he fired a few shots to test his weapon and then returning to the kitchen fired the revolver again. His wife remonstrated at the indiscriminate shooting, but without paying any heed to her, Drake fired another shot through the kitchen window. This shot hit Walter, who was playing outside and passed through the lad's body, breaking a rib and inflicting a wound, which the physician think will prove fatal. With the boy's screams of pain, Mrs. Drake turned to her husband, crying out that the boy had been killed. Drake, horrified at the deed, turned the weapon on himself and fell to the floor dead, with a bullet through his brain. The boy was removed to a neighbor's house where he received medical attention but little hope is entertained for his recovery.

In Memoriam

Death comes to all, sooner or later in many and varied forms—often attended by strange, unaccountable circumstances—but always the dread inexorable foe from whom stern demands there is no appeal, from his dread, relentless grasp no escape. Sometimes with slow, uncertain foot step he steals upon us, yet with his cold, icy hand forces our unwilling feet on to the brink of the silent sea. Sometimes, "like a thunderbolt from a clear sky," the dread summons falls pitilessly, blotting out the light of day, forcing with relentless haste down the dark valley, careless of breaking hearts and the sorrow too deep for tears. Thus suddenly, death came to one in the strength and vigor of active manhood. Never a fairer morning than when James A. Kirkpatrick—"Al," as his friends familiarly called him—crossed the threshold of his pleasant home, to take up again the duties of the responsible position which he had so faithfully discharged for twenty-eight years, and possibly the too careful attention to those so served, resulted in the distressing accident, which after a few hours of suffering caused his death. That he leaves behind him such a record of honorable, faithful service, beloved and respected by those whom it was his duty to direct, as well as those whose interests he served, is one cheering ray in the darkness that surrounds those who cherish his memory. James A. Kirkpatrick was born in Aylesford, Kings County, and was one of a family of ten children—two sisters and eight brothers—his connection with the railroad commencing there after eight years, in which he held a responsible position, he came to Round Hill, Annapolis Co., where he remained until his death—a period of twenty years—making in all, twenty-eight years active service, more than half his life. "I have done my best for the road and now it has brought me to my death," or words to that effect, came painfully from his lips, before the end. In 1902 he married Lizzie, daughter of W. C. Healy, of Round Hill, and in their pleasant home, only a little removed from that of her girlhood, they spent six happy years, the brightness of which was so suddenly blotted out, leaving her to the sorrow and loneliness of widowhood. Fifteen years ago, Mr. Kirkpatrick united with the Episcopal Church, of which he was a consistent member until his death, which ended a useful life under very sad circumstances. For the young wife, bereaved and broken in spirit, for the sorrowing mother, and the mourning family, the sympathy of the entire community is strong and deep. For the men, too, so long connected with him, some of whom with kindly hands helped to bear him tenderly to his home, who seemed to regard him with so much affection, there is also deep and kindly sympathy.

Clayton MacKenzie Legge Leaves Stage for Pulpit Oratory

(Boston Post.) Clayton MacKenzie Legge, for several years past one of Worcester's favorite actors, will enter Cambridge divinity school in September to study for the ministry in the Episcopal church. The determination to change from the life of a Thespian to that of a clergyman, from entertaining an audience to the saving of souls of a congregation, is not new with Mr. Legge. He has had the change in mind for five or six years, even when listening to the applause of audiences before the footlights in the Franklin-square theatre, when he was a member of the Malcolm Williams company during its engagement there. Mr. Legge has taken the initial steps in his ministerial career, for he has conducted two services in the Church of the Ascension, Brooklyn. He was baptized there April 2nd, by Rev. Walter B. Bentley, himself a former actor of considerable note. 20 years ago, in Scotland, Mr. Legge was confirmed by Bishop Frederick Burgess, in the same church. He was invited to address a congregation, so that Bishop Burgess and Rev. Mr. Bentley might offer a criticism on his oratory, as he had taken them into his confidence as to his future life. They said that they were afraid his congregations would lose sight of his words of religion in their delight at his splendid delivery. A telegram reporter called yesterday afternoon at Mr. Legge's home, but found that he had just gone out for a walk with his mother, Mrs. William Legge, of Bridgetown, N. S. Mrs. Legge was at home, and when asked whether it was true that Mr. Legge was about to become a clergyman, she confirmed the statement, and was sorry that the news of the change of heart from the stage to the pulpit on the part of Mr. Legge had leaked out. "It is nothing new on Mr. Legge's part," said his wife. "He has had that purpose in mind since before we were married, and although he was baptized and confirmed, it does not follow that he was less a Christian when before the footlights. He has always been religiously inclined, temperate and moral, and his theatrical associates have repeatedly spoken well of his good moral habits so that it will really be no deprivation to him to forego any of the worldly pleasures which his new calling may carry with it." It will, however, be somewhat of an innovation for Mrs. Legge to occupy the position of a parson's wife, instead of that of an actor's. She is widely known in Worcester, and will leave her home, 84 June street, in the fall, and will live in Cambridge to be near her husband, while he is studying to be a rector. His room is already assigned, and all arrangements made for his coming.—Boston Post.

Family Reunion

A very pleasant gathering of a branch of the Saunders family took place at the home of Mr. B. W. Saunders, Paradise West, Wednesday July 22nd. Wallace Saunders, B. W. Saunders, Rev. H. H. Saunders and Mrs. Charles Covert and families represent all who now reside in Paradise. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster, Clarence John Vidito and wife of Kingston, M. N. Vidito, of Niagara, Mrs. Daniel and daughter, of Lexington, Mass., Mr. E. Dwight Priest, of Seneca, N. Y. The home-coming of some who have made their abode in the United States gives occasion for such gatherings. Quite a number of those present had never met before and the fellowship was all the more pleasing, because we could see those who to us before were only names. Of this branch of the family only three of the preceding generation remain. Two of them were present—Mrs. Sarah Saunders, still active at 86 years of age, and Mrs. Eliza Saunders, at 90, feeble in body but still retaining all her faculties. It was a mutual enjoyment that could be present. A beautiful repast was served, at which twenty-eight sat down. From year to year we hope to repeat the reunion. By far the larger part of this family live in Massachusetts and other parts of the United States, and it is proposed to have a similar gathering of them at Revere Beach, Mass., Sept. 12th, to which all the Provincetowners are invited.

Some Old Friends Aboard

The Monitor was favored with a full party from Paradise, on Saturday. Mr. Foster, who is accompanied by his family, is visiting his friends, Mr. Sydney Foster. Mr. Foster has identified himself with the West, having left Bridgetown twenty-five years ago. He is the C. P. R. station agent at Yorkton. He informs us that an unprecedented wheat crop is expected from the Yorkton station. "The Ontario station," he said, "is conducting a furniture business, Herman is a school-teacher and also running a college course, while another brother is a farmer. James Dodge, son of Wainford Dodge, of this town, is also located as a store-keeper at Oranville, near Yorkton. Of his nephew, Ralph Foster, who is learning telegraphy in the Yorkton station, Mr. Foster says that he is doing well and making good progress, and is pleased with the country.

Cherry Carnival

The Cherry Carnival held at Bear River on the 20th was one of the most successful celebrations ever held there. It is estimated that about 2,500 people were assembled in the town to witness the program of sports. Cherris were plentiful and the wants of the inner man were well supplied by the ladies of the Baptist and Methodist Churches. The visitors represented all parts of the two counties of which Bear River is the border line, as well as many from more distant places. Bear River's annual Carnival is becoming an event of more than local interest. All the sports were well contested. In the horse races H. M. Rice, with his bay mare, Fletchie won the Farmer's Race, and M. Armstrong's bay gelding, Willie Mack, won the free-for-all. Bear River defeated Annapolis in a ball game, 15 to 13. The music discoursed by the Bear River Band added pleasure to the occasion. Local amateurs repeated the play "Our Folks" in Oakdene Hall in the evening to a full house.

COUGH MEDICINE KILLED BABY

Adams, July 25.—The death of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juray of this town was caused by a dose of a patent cough medicine, according to the finding of Medical Examiner O. J. Brown. The parents bought the medicine at a grocery store and gave a dose to the child. Soon afterward the baby became violently ill, and a physician was sent for. The doctor discovered that the medicine contained opium and codine, and placed the case in the hands of the medical examiner, who will make an examination.

Middleton Outlook News

Major Murray Elliott has purchased from Mrs. Chute, of Boston, "The Commons," so called, situated at the Spa Springs. Rev. G. Leonard McCain, M. A. of Sussex, N. B., has accepted the call to St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Middleton, and will be inducted on Thursday evening, August 6th. An accident occurred at Port George yesterday. A monster shark was caught in one of the wharves. Mr. William Hunt attempted to shoot the shark, but the bullet striking a rock was smashed in pieces. The flying pieces struck four boys standing near, but none were seriously injured. One of the boys was Max, son of Postmaster Reed, of Middleton.

WIRE WOUNDS.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks, the sores have healed and best of all the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds. The shooting at Halsey is over and the Canadian team has made a fairly good record, though not out what was hoped for. The team won the City of London prize of eighty pounds, given the team from the colonies scoring the highest number of points in the Rplapore cup contest. Sergt. Morris won the Grand Aggregate Challenge trophy and Sergt. Bayles the Imperial Tobacco trophy. Sergt. Morris won Lord Strathcona's prize, and Lieut. Spittal that of the Canada Company.

Stamps Worth Preserving

If you go to any post office in Canada today and ask for a postage stamp you will probably find that the familiar unit which you have been accustomed to attach to your letters has been replaced by some thing which, if you only knew it, would be of great value to your children in years to come.

The series of stamps on sale today in every post office in Canada is undoubtedly the best collection of specimens of the engraver's art yet offered to any country for the mere service of postage.

Just as the historic fets in Quebec this week and the following week will illustrate to the world that Canada is the country of the Twentieth Century, in which all old-time fets can be forgotten, so the postage stamps which you will buy today or for days to come will prove to you and to your correspondents that this year our country is celebrating its thirtieth birthday.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY WOULD HAVE SAVED HIM $100.00

In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar, of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief.

Patriotism.

The following address was presented by Miss Eva Darling, parents and children of Clarence Centre on the occasion of the Flag-Raising, July 1st, and is published by special request.

I wonder if many of us realize what this word means. It certainly means a great deal, namely, the love of one's country, and willingness to serve, and even give one's life if need be, for one's country.

Just as the historic fets in Quebec this week and the following week will illustrate to the world that Canada is the country of the Twentieth Century, in which all old-time fets can be forgotten, so the postage stamps which you will buy today or for days to come will prove to you and to your correspondents that this year our country is celebrating its thirtieth birthday.

Not only should our boys be patriotic, but also our girls. Let us take a lesson from the American and endeavor to have the children of Canada love the flag, our flag, the flag of Canada.

Arrival of Prince of Wales

Quebec, July 25.—Amid the most gorgeous state ceremonial the Prince of Wales arrived at Quebec this afternoon, and at last the tercentenary has reached its zenith, the reception of the Prince being one of the most interesting events that has happened in Canada.

The arrangements for the reception of the prince on the King's wharf were almost perfect, and the ceremony passed off without a hitch, the whole reception being concluded within an hour from the time that the first guns were fired from the waiting fleets as the launch bearing the royal standard of Great Britain left the Indomitable and the air fairly shook with terrific concussion from the big cannon as the prince and his entourage approached the landing.

Permanent Results. "I had been suffering for over two months with an obstinate cough, as had also my little girl. M. M. PIPER. PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER. WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1908.

Of the historic pageants at Quebec the Toronto World's critic writes: "Nothing on the American continent has ever been produced like it, and it is doubtful if Europe has seen such pictures of her romantic past, while the dramatic incidents of purely Canadian story could only be produced on native soil. It would be an undying regret to anyone who could understand the beauty and interest of the spectacle to think that he had willingly missed them."

An Independence party was organized at Chicago on the 27th inst. when W. R. Hearst was nominated as leader to oppose Taft, candidate of the Republican party, and Bryan candidate of the Democrats. In his address Mr. Hearst stated that a new party was necessary "to preserve the government as the fathers framed it, to promote progress and prosperity, to encourage the honest business man to protect the honest working man to uphold the people in their struggle with the tyrannical monopolies which constitute the trusts."

Taft's chances are doubtless better than ever as the floating element is with the Democratic party. A REMINISCENCE. To the Editor of the Monitor:—Your readers may be interested to know that forty-eight years ago today (Tuesday, July 28th), King Edward, then the Prince of Wales, landed in Halifax. Your correspondent was within two feet of His Majesty when he landed, and a green looking urethra he was. However, he could handle a horse. He rode horseback up from the docks and the animal was a bit restive when he mounted, and the old held the bridle until His Royal Highness ordered him to leave go. "I can manage him," he said, and he did. The Prince made a good impression in Halifax and was very popular there as he is now. In view of his son the present Prince of Wales being now in Canada, your correspondent thought the readers of the Monitor-Sentinel might be interested in the facts stated.

E. C. Y. COST OF A STEEL VESSEL. Speaking at the launch of the steel schooner James Wilham, at New Glasgow, N. S., on Monday of last week, Mr. J. C. McGregor said that he hoped this was the beginning of steel shipbuilding. He said that this vessel would carry more than a wooden vessel of similar tonnage, and allowing ten trips a year, the earnings of the steel ship will be $2,000 a year more than the wooden one. Then, suppose that the cost of a wooden vessel is $80,000, her life is from 15 to 20 years. A sinking fund of $2,000 a year will have to be provided to pay for her. A steel ship is classed for 35 years. Supposing she costs $5,000 more than the wooden one, her life being twice as long—if she don't run on the rocks—there is only about $1,000 a year to be paid up as a sinking fund, which makes her, with her larger earning power, worth $3,000 a year more than a wooden one.

Clementsport.

A good number of our villagers attended the Carnival at Bear River last week.

Mr. Rawling and family arrived here from Boston last week to spend a few weeks.

At the time of writing Colonel Ray, who has been very ill for some time, is not expected to recover.

Mrs. Chute, of New Hampshire, is spending a few weeks at the home of her father, Capt. J. H. Berry.

Schooner Emma R. Potter also arrived at this port on Wednesday last from Boston. Captain Walker has made some very quick trips this season.

Captain Albert Musells left on Thursday last for Farnborough, where he expects to take charge of a fine new schooner recently launched near that place.

Tea meetings, clam bakes, ice-creams, and picnics seem to be the order of the day, and I suppose will be for some time.

Miss Johnston and her brother are spending a few days with their aunt Mrs. Williams, at the home of Mrs. Louisa Shaw.

Steamer Bear River, Capt. Woodworth, arrived at this port from St. John, Saturday last, landed freight, and then proceeded to Bear River.

Quite a number of our native born people, who are now living in the States or have their homes there, are visiting friends and relatives here for a time.

The day-school teachers belonging to our village are at their several homes, enjoying a well-deserved rest from teaching the young "idea how to shoot," and seem to be having a good time.

Mr. Herbert Hicks has enlarged his store to twice its usual size and otherwise made improvements, which add very much to the success of carrying on his business, as well as to the improvement of the village.

Colonel Ray has given his residence a fresh coat of paint. Also our esteemed livery stable proprietor, Mr. James H. Merritt, has made some very much needed improvements in connection with his buildings.

Mrs. Musells and her son, Howard arrived from the north-west a short time ago, where they spent the winter. Mr. Musells has been teaching in this part of the country and expects to return soon to take another school.

Clementsport at present seems to be booming. There are quite a number of Americans in the village, which is an incentive to activity, and the residents of the place seem to be more alive than usual in the fixing up of their homes and places of business.

Schooner B. R. Hardwick, which has been to Bear River during the past few months, undergoing a thorough overhauling, arrived at this port last Saturday, looking as good as brand new again.

Captain Potter, the principal owner is much pleased with her, and her genial captain, J. N. Berry, expects to do a good business with her during the remainder of the season.

Among the American tourists here for a time, we notice Dr. Reeves and wife, of Boston; Dr. Gould and family, of Norwood, Mass. We also have a number from our capital, Halifax, spending the warm weather. Clements-port is the place, with its refreshing sea breeze and its beautiful and picturesque scenery, to build up the physical man and revive the spirits.

Centrecia. Miss Alfreda Brooks leave here for Westfield, Mass., on Wednesday this port last Saturday. F. D. Miller, Rev. W. H. Warren preacher, a very impressive sermon on Sunday last, his text being the Coming of the King.

Councillor DeWitt has investigated the cost and maintenance of a watering cart for the town, and though he recognizes the need of such a service, he does not think it expedient to purchase this season. Mr. DeWitt will lay before the council at its next meeting the result of his enquiries and recommend that the matter lay over till another season.

A leaky tank was the cause of a serious fire on a gasoline sloop owned by Bigelow, the contractor for the public work at Digby, Saturday evening. The steward lighted a lamp in the cabin, and went on deck when the whole interior became ablaze. The fire department saved the boat before the fire reached the gasoline stored forward. The interior of the sloop was badly burned.

The Band Minstrels repeated their entertainment on Wednesday night, when owing to doubt as to rainy night, they had a very small house. On Monday night they played in Middleton where they had a full house. Owing to the expense of transportation, etc., the proceeds were slim. Out of the proceeds of the entertainments given in Bridgetown, we are informed that the Band received as its portion about $55.

The latest to be added to Bridgetown's small industries is a shop fitted up by Mr. William Howse for the purpose of larrigan-making. The shop is equipped to tan and manufacture the leather and make it up into larrigans, and during the past few months 600 pairs have been manufactured. Mr. Howse has secured a contract with a St. John firm for the purchase of his next season's stock, and intends to add motive power for running his machinery. Mr. Howse is by trade a saddler so is not inexperienced in the manufacture of leather. Our citizens will join the Monitor in wishing him success in his new venture.

The date of the burning of the Royal Tar, which took place off the coast between St. John and Eastport, some seventy odd years ago, is a matter of dispute between some of our older citizens, who would like the question settled by anyone who could give the exact date of the occurrence. The vessel had on board a menagerie of wild animals and horses, which had been touring the province, all of which were burned, and a number of our older residents have vivid impressions of seeing the procession of animals as they came down over Prat's hill and paraded through the town, and their childish distress at hearing of the unhappy fate which destroyed the menagerie. A few survivors of the wreck among the crew and passengers were taken off by a revenue cutter, but many were lost.

A representative of the firm arrived from St. John and made an examination of the schooner. It is not unlikely some litigation will follow before the matter is settled, as the captain claims that he was not given the proper wharfing accommodation. The captain and crew are foreigners. It is hoped that the vessel may float after she is unloaded, when she will be put on a dock for repairs.

The 16th Annual Y. M. C. A. Boys Camp opens this week at Big Cove Sutherland River, Pictou County, and will be under the leadership of Mr. Archibald, formerly of the Y. M. C. S. P. C. Cases at Round Hill

The need of a home for defective is very amply illustrated by a case brought to the attention of the S. P. C. from Annapolis county. A small Protestant girl of seven years of age, had been assaulted in that county, and Mrs. Egan's services were acquired by the government to hunt up the person who had committed the crime. The result was that Mrs. Egan had the offender arrested and brought before the court in Round Hill, Annapolis County. The offender was committed for trial to the higher court. In the meantime the small child has been suffering from the effects of the assault, and is also slightly paralyzed on one side. No home will take the little thing, and the problem is now before the society whether it will have to send the child back to Annapolis and place it on the poor farm, or whether some kind hearted person will open a home for this waif in some part of our province. Another case was brought before Mrs. Egan while she was in Round Hill, and a small girl of 13 years who has been incorrigible, was brought before the magistrate. As a result of the investigation, the child was placed under the guardianship of the society. In the meantime, Mrs. Egan placed the little girl in a home in Annapolis county where she will be under probation for some time.—Halifax Herald

ADVERTISE IN THE MONITOR-SENTINEL

In The Fog

BY Richard Harding Davis.

Copyright, 1901, by Robert Howard Russell.

"She smiled charmingly and begged me not to disturb myself. Then she arranged her own things about her, and, opening her dressing-bag, took out a gold cigarette case.

"Do you object to smoke?" she asked.

"I laughed and assured her I had been in great terror lest she might object to it herself.

"If you like cigarettes," she said, "will you try some of these? They are rolled especially for my husband in Russia, and they are supposed to be very good."

"I thanked her, and took one from her case, and I found it so much better than my own that I continued to smoke her cigarettes throughout the rest of the journey. I must say that we got on very well. I judged from the coronet on her cigarette-case, and from her manner, which was quite as well bred as that of any woman I ever met, that she was some one of importance, and though she seemed almost too good looking to be respectable, I determined that she was some grande dame who was so assured of her position that she could afford to be unconventional. At first she read her novel, and then she made some comment on the scenery, and finally we began to discuss the current politics of the Continent. She talked of all the cities in Europe, and seemed to know every one worth knowing. But she volunteered nothing about herself except that she frequently made use of the expression, 'When my husband was stationed at Vienna,' or 'When my husband was promoted to Rome.' Once she said to me, 'I have often seen you at Monte Carlo. I saw you when you won the pigeon championship.' I told her that I was not a pigeon shot, and she gave a little start of surprise. 'Oh, I beg your pardon,' she said; 'I thought you were Morton Hamilton, the English champion.' As a matter of fact, I do look like Hamilton, but I know now that her object was to make me think that she had no idea as to who I really was. She needn't have acted at all, for I certainly had no suspicions of her, and was only too pleased to have so charming a companion.

"The one thing that should have made me suspicious was the fact that at every station she made some trivial excuse to get me out of the compartment. She pretended that her maid was traveling back of us in one of the second-class carriages, and kept saying she could not imagine why the woman did not come to look after her, and if the maid did not turn up at the next stop, would I be so very kind as to get out and bring her whatever it was she pretended she wanted.

"I had taken my dressing-case from the rack to get out a novel, and had left it on the seat opposite to mine, and at the end of the compartment farthest from her. And once when I came back from buying her a cup of chocolate, or from some other fool errand, I found her standing at my end of the compartment with both hands on the dressing-bag. She looked at me without so much as winking an eye, and showed the case carefully into a corner. 'Your bag slipped off on the floor,' she said. 'If you've got any bottles in it, you had better look and see that they're not broken.'

"And I give you my word, I was such an ass that I did open the case and looked all through it. She must have thought I was a Jungles. I got hot all over whenever I remember it. But in spite of my truthness, and her cleverness, she couldn't gain anything by sending me away, because what she wanted was in the hand bag and every time she sent me away the hand bag went with me.

"After the incident of the dressing-case her manner changed. Either in my absence she had had time to look through it, or, when I was examining it for broken bottles, she had seen everything it held.

"From that moment she must have been certain that the cigar-case, in which she knew I carried the diamonds, was in the bag that was fastened to my body, and from that time on she probably was plotting how to get it from me.

"Her anxiety became most apparent. She dropped the great lady manner, and her charming condescension went with it. She ceased talking, and, when I spoke, answered me irritably, or at random. No doubt her mind was entirely occupied with her plan. The end of our journey was drawing rapidly nearer, and her time for action was being cut down with the speed of the express train. Even I, unsuspecting as I was, noticed that something was very wrong with her. I really believe that before we reached Marselles if I had not, through my own stupidity, given her the chance she wanted, she might have stuck a knife in me and rolled me out on the rails. But as it was, I only thought that the long journey had tired her. I suggested that it was a very trying trip, and asked her if she would allow me to offer her some of my cognac.

"She thanked me and said, 'No,' and then suddenly her eyes lighted, and she exclaimed, 'Yes, thank you, if you will be so kind.'

"My flask was in the hand bag, and I placed it on my lap and with my thumb slipped back the catch. As I keep my tickets and railroad guide in the bag, I am so constantly opening it that I never bother to lock it, and the fact that it is strapped to me has always been sufficient protection. But I can appreciate now what a satisfaction, and what a torment too, it must have been to that woman when she saw that the bag opened without a key.

"While we were crossing the mountains I had felt rather chilly and had been wearing a light racing coat. But after the lamps were lighted the compartment became very hot and stuffy, and I found the coat uncomfortable. So I stood up, and, after first slipping the strap of the bag over my head, I placed the bag in the seat next me and pulled off the racing coat. I don't blame myself for being careless; the bag was still within reach of my hand, and nothing would have happened if at that exact moment the train had not stopped at Arles. It was the combination of my removing the bag and our entering the station at the same instant which gave the Princess Zichy the chance she wanted to rob me.

"I needn't say that she was clever enough to take it. The train ran into the station at full speed and came to a sudden stop; I had just thrown my coat into the rack, and had reached out my hand for the bag. In another instant I would have had the strap around my shoulder. But at that moment the Princess threw open the door of the compartment and beckoned wildly at the people on the platform. 'Natalie!' she called, 'Natalie! here I am. Come here! This way!' She turned upon me in the greatest excitement. 'My maid!' she cried. 'She is looking for me. She passed the window without seeing me. Go, please, and bring her back.' She continued pointing out of the door and beckoning me with her other hand. There certainly was something about that woman's tone which made me jump. When she was giving orders you had no chance to think of anything else. So I rushed out on my errand of mercy, and then rushed back again to ask what the maid looked like.

"In black," she answered, rising and blocking the door of the compartment. 'All in black, with a bonnet!'

"The train waited three minutes at Arles, and in that time I suppose I must have rushed up to over twenty women and asked, 'Are you Natalie?' The only reason I wasn't punched with an umbrella or handed over to the police was that they probably thought I was crazy.

Mr. Arthur Tension, 88 London Street, Toronto, writes enthusiastically of the merits of Psychine for all stomach troubles.

"For seven years I have had indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried scores of remedies. My room resembled a drug store with nostrums which I had bought. Eventually I used Psychine, and every dose brought permanent relief."

All throat, lung and stomach troubles quickly relieved by Psychine. It is the prescription of a great specialist. At all drugists, 50c and $1.00, or Dr. T. A. Stearns, Limited, Toronto.

SCIENCE WILL TRY TO FIND USE FOR DOGFISH.

Boston, July 22.—The "harpoon studd" of the Massachusetts Department of Fisheries and Game has started out on an investigation which means a mighty lot to the fishermen along this coast. With $10,000 the Legislature has given them to spend they're going to find out if the dogfish can be utilized as glue or oil or fertilizer. Down to date the most a dogfish has ever accomplished has been to set the fishermen delving in the dictionaries on a hunt for new and choicer words or pull up their lines and wrathfully seek fishing grounds away from the ravages of these prowling wolves of the deep.

If the commission can find some profitable commercial method of turning dogfish into glue or shellac or oil or fertilizer, a market would be provided for those incidentally caught on the hooks of angry fishermen, and the latter might be induced even to engage in the dogfish industry. Conversion factories would probably be established along the Massachusetts coast.

The investigations of the commission will likely take all summer. First the squad will read up on the subject, and then they will hook a good assortment of dogfish and set to work on them in the marine laboratory at Woods Hole.

QUEBEC'S GIFT TO THE PRINCE.

Quebec, July 22.—The citizens of Quebec have a present for the Prince. An air of prudence hung over its purchase, unlike the kind thoughtlessness of the girl who presents a Crown Derby dinner set to the bride who will fare forth to a new home where civilization's ways are young. The gift of Quebec is a useful gift. It is a gasket the citizens have chosen, but it contains no fair portrait within, like the one Portia's suitors saw before them, but a cigar box!

The gasket is in the main of gold and a handsome and artistic piece of work. The height is ten and one-half inches, with a length and width of seven and one-half inches. In its decorations there is the symbol of unity that characterizes the distinctive features of the tercentenary—scenes of French Canada linked to the emblems of British fealty.

Canada's Banner Year to be 1909

A. J. S. Copp, M. P., for Digby, arrived in the city yesterday en route to his home from Ottawa. In speaking of present conditions in Canada and the prospects for the future, he told the Sun that Canada would have the most prosperous year of its history in 1909.

"It is generally believed by members of the government and business people," he said, "that the money stringency is practically over and the present condition of the crop, as well as trade and all that goes to make progress, indicate extraordinarily good times in Canada next year."

"One of the main reasons why the depression was felt so keenly in Canada was the financial stringency in the United States, which is always a fore-runner of the presidential election."

"The crops were also a failure in the West and in fact all over Canada. Next year the elections will be over and a bumper wheat crop is assured in the West."

Regarding prospects for a Dominion election this year, Mr. Copp said that it was doubtful if there would be one. He was more inclined to think there would be another session. In considering this he said that new lists would have to be made out in all the constituencies, and this could not be accomplished in time to have an election. He believed there would be another session in November.—St. John Sun.

QUEBEC THIRTY-FIVE YEARS.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment and has for thirty-five years maintained its record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that may seem a cheaper profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by W. A. WADE & CO., BRIDGETOWN, N. S. WADE AND BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, BEAR RIVER.

UNSANITARY MILK.

We believe some farmers are producing milk which is the very essence of cleanliness while others are producing milk which, although clean when drawn from the cow, is allowed to get so contaminated with innumerable germs and filth that it becomes the bane of the cheese and butter makers and the scourge of the milk vendor. The contamination of milk does not rest all together at the farmer's door. A great deal of this contamination takes place after it has left the farm. Some vendors handle it in dirty cans, and in filthy surroundings. It is no uncommon sight in some of our towns to see cans, in which the milk is distributed, covered over with a filthy, hairy horse blanket, or something worse, and where the milk is supplied, as if it were on tap, from the wagon, the quart or pint, or whatever measure is used, is very often thrown down on such rugs and allowed to get all contaminated with city germ-laden, dust-bacteria, whose name is "legion."

If customers are willing to pay the present prices for milk of doubtful sanitary qualities, they should encourage a movement for sanitary milk by being willing to pay a cent or two per quart extra to the farmer or middleman who can produce and furnish milk whose sanitary condition is positively guaranteed.

We believe the time is fast approaching when the vendor and farmer, who supply sanitary milk will have as much trade as they can possibly handle, while the vendor or producer of dirty, unsanitary milk will be a back number and whose commodity will not be bought for human consumption at any price.

A Prized Cough Cure
 I have not been without a bottle of Coltsfoot's Expectant in the house for over nine years. At that time I procured it for a bad cold I had. It worked such wonders then that it has been a household remedy ever since, and we will have no other for coughs and colds—it is so pleasant to take, and all of my children look for it as soon as they get a cold at all. Nearly all of them have been subject to croup, and that's why I find Coltsfoot's Expectant useful. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you wish.
