the Congress of the United States, by virtue of the Constituted Authority vested in them, have declared by their act, bearing date the eighteenth day of the present year, that no War exists between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the United States of America and their territories: Now, therefore, JAMES MADISON, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the same to my concern; and I do specially enjoin on all persons holding offices, civil or military, in the service of the Government of the United States, that they be vigilant and zealous in discharging the duties incident thereto: And I do moreover exhort all the good people of the United States, to exert themselves, as they value the precious heritage derived from the virtue and valor of their ancestors, to resist the wrongs which have forced on them the last resort of injured nations; to consult the best means, under the blessing of Divine Providence, of abridging its calamities; to exert themselves in preserving order, in promoting concord, in maintaining the due efficacy of the laws, and in supporting and invigorating all the measures which may be adopted by the Constituted Authorities, for obtaining a speedy, a just, and an honorable peace.

Witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed to these presents.

At the City of Washington, the nineteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and of the Independence of the United States the thirty-sixth.

(Signed)

JAMES MADISON

President,

JAMES MONROE, Secretary of State.
