FAMOUS GEMS OF PROSE

THE LIBERTY OF THE PRESS

By Edward Everett

From a Speech in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Oct. 27, 1852.

AMONG the many memorable words which fell from the lips of our friend just before they were closed forever, the most remarkable are those which have been quoted by a previous speaker—"I still live." They attest the serene composure of his mind; the Christian heroism with which he was able to turn his consciousness upon himself, and explore, step by step, the dark passage (dark to us, but to him, we trust, already lighted from above), which connects this world with the world to come. But I know not what words could have been better chosen to express his relation to the world he was leaving—"I still live." This poor dust is just returning to the dust from which it was taken, but I feel that I live in the affections of the people to whose service I have consecrated my days. "I still live."

The icy hand of death is already laid on my heart, but I shall still live in those words of counsel which I have uttered to my fellow-citizens, and which I now leave them as the last bequest of a dying friend. In the long and honored career of our lamented friend, there are efforts and triumphs which will hereafter fill one of the brightest pages of our history. But I greatly err if the closing scene—the height of the religious sublime—does not, in the judgment of other days, far transcend in interest the brightest exploits of public life. Within that darkened chamber at Marshfield was witnessed a scene of which we shall not readily find the parallel. The serenity with which he stood in the presence of the king of terrors, without trepidation or flutter, for hours and days of expectation; the thoughtfulness for the public business, when the sands were so nearly run out; the hospitable care for the reception of the friends who came to Marshfield; that affectionate and solemn leave separately taken, name by name, of wife and children and kindred and friends and family, down to the humblest members of the household; the designation of the coming day, then near at hand, when "all that was mortal of Daniel Webster should cease to exist!" the dimly-remembered strains of the funeral psalm of Gray; the last faint flash of the soaring intellect, the feebly-murmured words of Holy Writ repeated from the lips of the good physician, who, when all resources of human art had been exhausted, had a drop of spiritual balm for the parting soul; the clasped hands; the dying prayers. Oh, my fellow-citizens, this is a consummation over which tears of pious sympathy will be shed ages after the glories of the forum and the senate are forgotten.

His sufferings ended with the day.

Ye lived at its close.

And breathed the long night away.

In statue-like repose.

"Certainly," cried Edith, instantly resolving to pursue the tactics of the penny novelette. "I have been deserted. My lover has run away from me by another woman—at least, that is what I am informed. So do not wish to make any trouble about it. There are plenty of good men as he left in the world; but, on the other hand, I must not act impulsively. I have been told that he is living with her here at this moment, in fact. If I will go away and never see him again upon my own account, and then you may be sure I will not see him again. I am not one of those silly girls who break their hearts over a faithless man."

Marie was reassured.

"I should think not," she said, with a sympathetic smile. "I had a very nice experience last Sunday, when Philippe—the grocer's boy at the corner—kissed me along the Quai de la Rivé Neuve with a bit of a girl out of a shop. She thinks herself better than we are because she stands behind a counter, and am sure she made eyes at Philippe one afternoon when his master sent him there on an errand."

"Philippe must have had taste," broke in Edith. "But I am sorry to hear that you know walked along the Quai de la Rivé Neuve with a bit of a girl out of a shop. She thinks herself better than we are because she stands behind a counter, and am sure she made eyes at Philippe one afternoon when his master sent him there on an errand."

PRESENT WATERWAY PROJECT TO PREMIER

Great Plan for Opening of Columbia River by Canada and the United States

Nelson, B. C., Aug. 29.—The creation of international waterways of commerce was the big project presented to Sir Wilfrid Laurier today by the Nelson and Revelstoke boards of trade, reinforced by the Associated British Columbia chambers of commerce and a delegation from Oregon and Washington states, headed by United States Senator Chamberlain.

They seek to open the British Columbia river from its source to the ocean with a view of opening a canal to create a route of commerce on a water rate basis from the heart of the Rockies to London, New York and the markets of the world.

The proposed route will cover 750 miles of railway from Kootenay and Okanagan districts to Portland, 100 miles being on Canadian territory.

The United States has already taken action, for some distance, under appropriate laws of the national and state governments.

The Canadian project contemplates a considerable dredging and the building of three, and possibly, four locks. Graham and Chamberlain conferred with the large delegation on the data and proposals. Replying, the premier stated that much of what had been presented appealed to him. How the opening of a navigation route north and south would have the full desired effect on railway tariffs running east and west, he was not prepared to say without further information.

"But," said the premier, "Anything which goes to develop trade and encourage better relations between Canada and the United States appeals to me. Our relations with the United States are friendly every day, which means better civilization and the welfare of the world. On this ground alone the government has a call to look into the project with favor."

"It will be my duty and pleasure," said the premier, "to ask the minister of public works to have a survey made from Lake Windermere to the boundary, and determine what is required and what it will cost."

Sir Wilfrid pointed out that the Canadian and United States governments could deal with the projects in two ways. Each government could approach it independently of the other.

"But," he added, "if it is possible it seems to me the better method would be to come to an understanding on the work, secure surveys, approximate cost and de-

"I cannot emphasize too strongly the conviction that anything which tends to develop transportation between the two countries and encourage better relations would always receive favorable consideration from the government of Canada."

The preliminary hearing of Paul Boyce, the fourteen year old Boston boy, charged with stealing several articles at Diaby, was ended yesterday with his being committed for trial.

Even amidst the exciting circumstances surrounding her, Edith recognized the absolute necessity there was to maintain the credibility of her previous narrative. Unquestionably Dubois and the lady intended to embark on one of the fishing boats. They hastened to the further end of the harbor, through whose tiny entrance Cuticura could now see the dark waters of the bay beyond, for the night was beautifully clear and fine, and the bright stars of the south sent some radiance to the scene, when the girls quitted the deep shadow of the houses.

A solitary boat, a deeked fishing smack of some forty tons, was lying by the side of the quay, apart from the others. Edith, who knew something about yachting, re-

"That is he!" cried both girls together. "The scoundrel! But tell me," went on Edith, whose excitement was ready to burst its bounds. "Instantly the sailor ascribed Dubois and Mademoiselle Beaucare to step down from the quay on board the smack. He followed them, and three other men, who appeared out of the chaos of night and fog, commenced to labor with a large pole in order to shove the sturdy vessel into the harbor.

"Do they mean to have an orgy on the water?" asked Edith, in an angry undertone. "Yes, quite alone. They rent the place from Pere Didon. He owns most of the boats in the harbor, and he is a regular skinflint. He won't let anyone get behind with their rent for an hour. He is so old that you would not think that he could live another week, yet he is that keen after his francs you would imagine any man would be glad to get money for a gay life. You ought to have heard the row here last Saturday when he turned the people out from their rooms where your lover now lives. There was a poor woman with two sick children."

"What a man!" cried Edith, with a gasp. "Pere Didon's iniquity might have gone as far as that, but at that moment there came an interruption. From the opposite direction appeared the figure of Mlle. Beaucare, carrying a small bag. She was followed by a man, tall, slight, and closely muffled up, who shouldered a large portmanteau. Edith gazed at both the girls, and pulled them close to her against the closed door behind them.

"Is he?" she whispered tragically. "Silence! Let us watch them!"

The man darted a suspicious glance up and down the street. There was no one whom even the clever Henri Dubois could construe as an enemy—no one save himself. He was followed by a man, tall, slight, and closely muffled up, who shouldered a large portmanteau. Edith gazed at both the girls, and pulled them close to her against the closed door behind them.

DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE

The Times-Star has received from the honorary secretary a copy of the tenth annual report of the National Chapter of Canada of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, and a copy of the constitution and statutes of the order, and a copy of the magazine Echoes, which is the official organ of the order. The Canadian headquarters is in Toronto. Countess Grey is the honorary president, and the wives of provincial governors are honorary vice-presidents. The order is strong in Ontario, and it is now announced that a delegation will tour the Maritime provinces to arouse the interest of the people and introduce the order, whose objects are thus stated in the constitution:

- 1.—To stimulate and give expression to the sentiment of patriotism which binds the women and children of the empire around the throne and person of their gracious king and beloved sovereign.
- 2.—To supply and foster a bond of union amongst the daughters and children of the empire.
- 3.—To provide an efficient organization by which prompt and united action may be taken by the women and children of the empire when such action may be desired.
- 4.—To promote in the motherland and in the colonies the study of the history of the empire and of current imperial questions; to celebrate patriotic anniversaries; to cherish the memory of brave and heroic deeds, and the last resting places of our heroes and heroines, especially such as are in distant and solitary places; to erect memorial stones on spots that have become sacred to the nation, either through great struggles for freedom, battles against ignorance, or events of heroic and patriotic significance.
- 5.—To care for the widows, orphans and dependents of British soldiers or sailors and heroes during war, in times of peace, or under sickness, accident or reversal of fortune.
- 6.—Members are pledged to promote unity between the motherland, the sister colonies and themselves; to forward loyalty to king and country; to promote good work for the betterment of their country and people; to assist in the progress of art and literature; to draw women's influence to the bettering of all things connected with our great empire, and to install into the youth of this country patriotism in its fullest sense.

At the annual meeting held in Toronto in May, it was stated that there were 136 chapters of the order in Canada, with nearly 9,000 members. Twenty-nine new branches were formed during the previous year. A national chapter for the United States, for British women, was also formed, with 25 branches. It will thus be seen that the order is in a flourishing condition. Prizes are offered by chapters for best essays on the empire and other patriotic subjects, rifles are presented for shooting competitions, the boy scout movement is encouraged, flags are presented to schools, benevolent work is carried on, and much activity in various other directions is manifested.

INTENSIVE FARMING

One of the most encouraging signs of the times is the extent to which public attention is focussed on the question of improved agriculture. One finds in every magazine and periodical for general reading, as well as in the daily and weekly press, accounts of experiments made and success achieved in better methods of farming. Emphasis is placed upon the relation of improved agriculture to national prosperity, and upon the danger of too great growth of cities at the expense of the rural districts.

The Youth's Companion tells an interesting story of the model farm villages in Montana and Idaho, where intensive farming is being made the subject of government experiment. We quote:—

"In the Sun River valley, Montana, twenty towns are now being laid out six miles apart, so that no farmer, even if he lives in the most remote corner of his farm, is more than three miles from the school, church, store and offices of the village. Moreover, the towns are connected by trolley-lines, the power being supplied by the irrigation canals which furnish water and power for the farms. There is a similar arrangement in southern Idaho where thousands of people have found homes and have prospered in a region which was absolutely desolate and uninhabited a few years ago. This plan eliminates the loneliness and many disadvantages of farm life, where the homes are far apart and many miles from a city or village. Of course it is possible only in a new country, where the town is arbitrarily located and made to order, and not the result of natural conditions and slow development. The older farming communities of the country will watch with interest the government programme in this matter, for in it they will find hints for the solution of their own problems—problems toward the happy settlement of which long steps have been taken within the past generation."

COMMONPLACE

"A commonplace life," we say, and we sigh. But why should we sigh as we say? The commonplace sun in the commonplace sky. Makes up the commonplace day. The moon and the stars are commonplace things. And the flower that blooms, and the bird that sings, But mark where the world and we end our lot. If the flowers had faded and sun shone dark, And God, who studies each separate soul, Out of commonplace things makes His beautiful whole.—Susan Coolidge.

NOT INTERESTED.

"She's not at all like other women."

"No?"

"No, she says she doesn't care a whoop to know whether or not Mrs. Nick Longworth smokes cigarettes."

THEN SHE RAKES THEM UP.

A woman promises to forget man's mistakes and she does—until the next time she loses her temper.

COLLECTING ARRIBARS.

"Caravats," he said, "is it all over between us?"

"Yes, Geoffrey! It is all over. Henceforth we are merely friends."

"If you don't mind, I'll take back that diamond ring."

"No, Geoffrey," she said, "you didn't give me this ring until we had been engaged six months. I'll wear it six months longer, if you please."—Chicago Tribune.

IT WAS A HARD SUM.

A school teacher in a neighboring county received the following from a complaining parent, says a scholastic periodical:

"Miss— will you please for the future give my boy sum easier so as to do at night. This week he brought home to or the rats back: 'if fore gallons of bere will fill thirty-two pint bottles, how many pint and half bottles will one gallon fill? Well, we tried, and could make nothing out of it all, and my boy cried and weed he didn't want to go on. Do not do it. So I had to go and buy a nine gallon cask of bere, which I could fill afford to the bottles, and then counted them; there were nineteen, and my boy put the number for an answer. I don't know whether it is right or not, as we will soon be doing it. Please let the next some be in water, as I am not able to by any more here."

"PRAYER OF A HORSE" IS POSTED IN POLICE STABLES

At the direction of Acting Police Commissioner Bagley in New York there is posted in every stable where police horses are kept, throughout the city, a neatly printed card bearing a copy of "The Prayer of a Horse."

The acting commissioner came across the prayer while he was in Pittsburgh recently, and it struck him so forcibly that he arranged to have it reproduced in large type for use in the police department.

The prayer reads:—

"Thee, my master, I offer my prayer:—

"Feed me, water and care for me, and when the day's work is done, provide me with shelter, a clean, dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in content. Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the reins. Pet me sometimes, that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you. Do not kick me, when I do not understand what you mean, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I fall to do your bidding, see something is not wrong with my harness or feet.

"Examine my teeth when I do not eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth and that you know, is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position, or make any violent or sudden movements, or mosquitoes, by cutting off my tail.

"And finally my dear master, when my useful strength goes on, do not let me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some cruel owner to be slowly tortured and then sent to death, but do thou, my master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You may not consider me in reverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen."

They Take The Prayer Books

Some difficulties are being experienced by the Canadian Pacific in keeping up the supply of prayer books for their passengers on the Empresses. Some time ago the company installed organs in the first-class saloons, and made arrangements for Sunday services. These arrangements included a supply of English Church prayer books, with ancient and modern hymns at the back, and handsome morocco binding, with the C. P. R. crest on the outside.

These prayer books increased the interest in the services very much, but proved a considerable source of expense to the company. The users of the books liked them so well that a large percentage of them vanished after each service, being retained by the worshippers as souvenirs. New supplies are being sent out as fast as possible, but it is altogether likely that the exuberance of the souvenir hunter will necessitate a cheaper form of prayer book before long.

THE ONLY ONE.

"William," she shouted, in a voice fit to command a regiment, "take your feet off the parlor table this very instant."

"Margaret, I want you to know," he said, in a voice that was charged with many determination, "that there is but one person in the world that I will allow to sit on that table."

"And who is that, sir, may I ask?"

"Why, you my dear," he gently answered.

"Why, you my dear," he gently answered.

"Why, you my dear," he gently answered.

FOOLED THE CZAR HIMSELF

A confidence man of large ability, "Cocan" Nikolaev Leontiev has died in Paris. While Voltaire, the cobler of Keoplenick fame, imposed only upon the mayor of a small town, Leontiev succeeded in hoodwinking the Russian Government and even the Emperor Alexander III, himself. The so-called count after a long residence in Abyssinia, returned in 1886 to his Russian home. He was accompanied by a black bodyguard of natives, who were supposed to represent a special mission from the Emperor of Abyssinia, of which Leontiev was the head.

On his seeking an audience with the Czar he was received by the Russian government with open arms. Honors were paid to the special mission, whose members were loaded with presents and with the Russian Order of Merit.

In return Leontiev bestowed on many Russians a token of the Emperor of Abyssinia's gratitude an order called the Star of Abyssinia. It was only after the departure of the count and his mission and their arrival back in Abyssinia that it was discovered that the whole thing was a hoax.

The Emperor Menelik had sent no such mission and the star of Abyssinia was a bogus order. Leontiev had accomplished the object of his journey. During his stay in Russia he interviewed many of the leading merchants, convinced them of the excellent trade prospects in Menelik's country and induced them to entrust him with large quantities of goods for sale. He sold the goods in Abyssinia, but the money he received for them went into his own pocket.

In 1888 Leontiev appeared in Belgium as the "Governor of Ethiopia" and induced many financiers to form companies for the financing of worthless concessions in Abyssinia. In the course of time these came to grief and many people were ruined. The Belgian police making it too hot for him, he fled to Paris, where he died.

Clarence Kiesel of Jack Haven, Pa., picked up his father's farm at Dumbarton (a tomato that weighed two pounds and six ounces. It was 19 1/2 inches in circumference and 4 1/2 inches in diameter.

Lucky Strike in West

Three prominent gentlemen from an Ontario town, one a banker, another a doctor, and a third a member of Parliament, on a pleasure trip through the West, caught a cancelled homestead on the fly while passing through Edmonton, the other day, that will net them a sum something close to $10,000.

The particular homestead which was thrown open for re-entry lies alongside the townsite of Mackin, on the Grand Trunk Pacific, and is, by reason of the development that has taken place within the past year or two, a particularly valuable one.

The Ontario men, passing through Mackin, accidentally heard of the fact that the cancelled homestead was to be thrown open again at Edmonton. They hastened to the city, and prepared to make entry for the valuable piece of land.

The fortunate man who got the land was Dr. Elliott, of Ingersoll, Ont., and he had with him his brother, J. C. Elliott, member of the Ontario Legislature for West Middlesex, and another brother, Geo. Elliott, a banker at Ingersoll. Dr. Elliott spent one night on the land office steps and filed on the coveted homestead in the morning.

P. R. Ballbridge of Princeton, Ind., bought at a local grocery store a gallon of buttermilk. He took it home and the family was enjoying cups of the beverage when a pocketbook was raked from the bottom of the bucket. It contained $23. The money was returned to the store, and it was found the farmer who brought in the milk, had been hunting high and low for the wallet, which he had accidentally dropped into the milk can.

NEW HORSES AT MOOSEPATH RACES

Improvements at Track For Meet to Open on Saturday—The Officials

If the well-laid plans of the St. John Driving Club materialize, the meeting which will open at Moosepath Park on Saturday will even surpass that conducted here in the early part of the summer.

Through at the late meeting the sport event was most spirited, that which will be witnessed in the immediate future is expected to be more so.

Among the more prominent ones that will be seen here for the first time may be mentioned such bang-up performers as John A. Munro, one that has been winning races around the metropolitan course; Blue Crest, a sprinter recently imported to this circuit from New York; Polly Lee and Master Lemore, from Saratoga; Postalgio, Ed Keck and Congo, horses that are among the best now racing; Miss Felix, which has been taking the best of them in camp; Isabel and the veteran horseman with whom Mary's Aunt, four of the younger brigade shipped from Sheephead Bay to the meeting in June at Detroit.

The officials with the exception of the judge, will be the same as at the previous meeting. In the stand will be Judge W. G. Lynde, a veteran horseman with a world of experience; Geo. C. Dillon, racing secretary, and J. Milton as starter.

A force of workmen will start in tomorrow putting the track in readiness for opening day, and such improvements will be added as to make the sport more enjoyable than at the last meeting.

MISS THOMSON BREAKS MONGTON LINKS RECORD. Montreal, Aug. 29—Ideal weather for the maritime lady golfers in the opening day of the annual meet on the Links at the Links. Many visitors including Gov. Tweedie, were present to watch the play in the qualifying round.

The sixteen qualifying for the championship were: Miss Thomson, 81; Miss Cook, 82; Miss Unacke, 83; Miss Baird, 84; Miss Unacke, 85; Miss Baird, 86; Miss Cook, 87; Miss Baird, 88; Miss Unacke, 89; Miss Baird, 90; Miss Cook, 91; Miss Baird, 92; Miss Unacke, 93; Miss Baird, 94; Miss Cook, 95; Miss Baird, 96.

RUSSIA IN GRIP OF CHOLERA. Fearful Ravages of the Plague in the Czar's Country—Peasant Deems it Futile to Combat it. (Toronto Mail and Empire).

RUSSIA is once more in the grip of cholera. Fifty-seven thousand people have died up to the present time, and the disease continues to spread with appalling rapidity.

THE KUCH VIBRIO. Thanks to Koch, the world knows more about cholera than it did a few years ago. The disease is produced by an intestinal parasite which has been called the Koch vibrio.

RECALL Eczema Ointment is very prompt in relieving pimples, blotches, skin disease, itching, ringworm, acne, nettle rash, letter, hives, ulcers, insect bites, and for healing sores and wounds.

Sanitary Science Vain. It is a matter of historical record that nearly every pestilence that breaks out in Asia finds its way into Russia, where the ignorance of the people and their unsanitary ways of living make them as satisfactory hosts of all malignant germs as any Oriental.

LOCAL NEWS

Battle line steamer, Tanagra, Captain Kehoe, sailed from San Nicholas for London today.

Wm. Dixon has been reported by the police for driving a cart for hire in the city without a license.

While walking along Prince William street yesterday afternoon, Edward Bennett fell in a fainting spell and had to be driven to his home in Carleton.

A wagon owned by the Union Ice Company broke down yesterday afternoon in Charlotte street, and delayed traffic for a short time until it was removed.

All articles for the "Made in St. John" exhibit must be sent to the building today or tomorrow. Some manufacturers have not yet sent their samples. It is important that this be done at once.

The Battle line steamer Selasia, Captain Grady, arrived at Barry yesterday from Manchester, bound for Rio Janeiro.

The work of painting the court house in Sydney street is being rapidly proceeded with, and the men employed have their work well under way.

John McDonald, aged about sixty, who was arrested more than a week ago in Main street, on a charge of drunkenness and begging, was put on the train this morning by Policeman James H. Goulin and sent back to Prince Edward Island, where his home is said to be.

A meeting of the boat owners of the R. K. Y. C. will be held in the city rooms on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to consider the advisability of holding yacht races in the harbor during the exhibition. A full attendance of those interested is requested.

On Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock the men who have applied for positions as special policemen during the exhibition will be examined as to their general fitness by Chief of Police Clark, at the central police station. From the number of applications received, it should not be difficult to choose the required number.

W. A. Scelling, who has been pastor of the Baptist church at Hopewell Hill for the last two years and a half, preached his farewell sermon there on Sunday last and will begin his work as pastor of the St. Martin's church on Sunday, September 4. Rev. F. E. Bishop will occupy the pulpit at Hopewell on Sunday next.

If the board of health has on its list of employes one who has a sensitive nose, he might make an interesting find by strolling along Union street, west end, between Guilford and Duke streets. The find would be more likely to materialize if the visit were made under atmospheric conditions such as prevailed last Sunday night. It is suggested that the visit be made aloof, not by carriage.

NOT THE MAN Stephenson Was Arrested on Warrant on Charge of Interfering With Police

After having occupied a cell in the central police station since a little after midnight, Robert W. Stephenson, of Brussels street, was allowed to go this morning by Judge Ritchie. Policeman Silas Perry, at whose instance a warrant was issued for the man's arrest, said that he was not the one wanted. Stephenson was arrested last night on a warrant sworn out by Perry, in which he was charged with interfering with the policeman in the discharge of his duties, in arresting Stanley Brown, on Saturday afternoon.

Perry, as soon as he saw Stephenson this morning, said that he was not the man, and that rioter was let go. He murmured something about false arrest and imprisonment.

Mary Walsh was sent to the Home of the Good Shepherd for two months and Samuel Fought was fined $4 or ten days on a charge of drunkenness.

THE ANNETTA KELLERMAN DIVING GIRLS, SEPT. 3

Every known diver is expected by the Annetta Kellerman diving girls who come to the St. John exhibition on September 3 and remain until the close of the exhibition. The girls will be seen to dive, the jack knife dive, the balloon dive and many others are executed with marvellous grace and skill. The young ladies who are coming to St. John have drawn crowded houses, daily and nightly all summer at Dreamland, Coney Island.

The third annual meeting of the New Brunswick Cold Storage Co., will be held tomorrow, Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock in the company's office, E. S. McCombs, of Ottawa, one of the directors of the company, is now in the city to attend the meeting. The business of the meeting will be largely of a routine character, the election of officers and receiving reports of the year's business.

It is not likely that any further action will be taken at the meeting regarding the negotiations with the C. P. R. for the disposal of the property, as it is now for the C. P. R. to act, it being generally understood that an option on the property has been granted for two months.

David McNicol, vice-president and general manager of the C. P. R., is expected to arrive in the city the latter part of the week on his way to Nova Scotia, to inspect the D. A. R. facilities, and it is possible that there may be some developments with regard to the local situation.

While it has been generally understood that the C. P. R. deal with the Cold Storage Company and J. A. Lively has been under way, the Times-Star learns that as yet there has been no arrangement made for properties of John E. Moore and Sayre & Holly.

AT 90 AND 97 THEY ENJOY RIDES IN AN AUTOMOBILE

Samuel Scovil, Now Cincinnati Banker, Visits New Brunswick Home—Donation For Up-Keep of Old Kingston Cemetery

Samuel Scovil, son of Mrs. W. E. Scovil, of Roxbury, has just returned to his home in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he is now a banker, after spending several weeks in New Brunswick. He brought with him his automobile and gave great pleasure to people of Roxbury and Kingston, especially the older residents, by taking them for rides in his motor car.

Among those who enjoyed outings with him was his mother, who is in the vicinity of ninety years of age. Another passenger on one of his trips was Mrs. Mary Perkins of Kingston, who is today celebrating her 92nd birthday.

While here Mr. Scovil visited the old homestead in Kingston, a spot made historic by his association with the Loyalists, and while there he made a donation of $20 for the upkeep of the burial ground in connection with the old Kingston church. It is interesting to note in this connection, that Mr. Scovil's father, grandfather, and great-grandfather, were all pastors of this same church, and are all buried beneath the chancel.

REPORT OF ANOTHER BIG BUSINESS DEAL

Merger of Gibson, Partington and Cushing Mill Properties is Talked of Another big business deal is being talked of, no less than a merger of all mill concerns at Marysville, the Partington Pulp and Paper Mill here and the Cushing saw mill interests in St. John. It is reported that there is a probability that such a deal is likely to be consummated within a short time. A local promoter is said to be working in the matter and an announcement of a definite character is expected soon.

The properties mentioned are among the largest in the province and a merger of the three would make a very big concern.

ST. JOHN IS MARRIED AT MCADAM

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Clements church, McAdam, this morning at 4 o'clock, when John J. O'Neil, a popular young man of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Charlotte Ann Evans, of McAdam. Rev. M. Murphy performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Thomas Evans, was very becomingly attired in a dress of grey silk with hat to match and carried a white prayer book. The bridesmaid, Miss Martina Evans, sister of the bride, looked very pretty in a dress of grey wool, with black picture hat to match. Roy D. O'Neil, a brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The groom's present to the bride was a pearl brooch, and to the bridesmaid a signet brooch, and to the groomsmen a diamond stick pin. After a tempting breakfast at the home of the bride, the happy couple left on the Montreal train for St. John. They will leave tonight for Montreal and Toronto, and will return by way of New York and Boston.

The bride's travelling dress was of green broadcloth with hat to match. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents. They will reside at McAdam, where Mr. O'Neil is employed with the C. P. R. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Neil were present at the ceremony.

ENTRIES COMING IN

Entries are already coming in for the Every Day Club sports on Wednesday, Sept. 7. In response to requests both from St. John and outside points, the club has sent the high jump to the list of events. Lee, of Moncton, expects to bring a strong relay team from the railway town. There will be a group of athletes from Charlotte town, and Nova Scotia will be well represented.

Local runners are on the club's track every evening, getting in condition. They will be one of the best athletic meets in St. John in recent years.

THE MELBA SALE

The ticket sale this morning commenced with a rush. The first to buy were the boys in line since 3 o'clock, and well over a choice location. Excellent prizes are remaining at all the different prices, and those who have not secured positions should present themselves early tomorrow.

Stores close at 6 o'clock. St. John, Aug. 30, 1910.

VERY ATTRACTIVE New Fall Suits

If you are a lover of good clothing it will be a real pleasure for you to go through the fine range of new Fall Suits that we are showing now. It would be quite out of the question to give any good description of them in the small space at our disposal. It would be much more satisfactory to have you drop in and look them over. It does not matter whether you wish to buy now or not, we would like you to see the new lines before they get broken in sizes. The style and make of these splendid fitting garments will recommend themselves to you.

Men's Suit Prices: $6.00, $7.50, $8.75, $10.00, $12.00, $13.50, $15.00, $16.50, $18.00 to $20.00.

When At The Exhibition You Will Have a Chance To Examine All Ranges

There will be no better chance for purchasers of stoves and ranges, to examine all kinds and judge for yourself than at the Exhibition. You will find all the leading stove firms around the same place. For the GLENWOODS you will be made welcome at our booth, whether you want to purchase or not. It is always a pleasure for our clerks to show the workings of the Glenwood Ranges, to show you how the nickel fastens on the sliding grate, the divide oven bottom, the roomy clean-out door, the direct draft with a short handle, divided centres, and to answer all questions you may want to ask. Examine all ranges and you will find that the Glenwood Ranges are equal to any range made in Canada today. Made and sold by

WELL, BOYS, THE FIRST DAY IS OVER!

And from now on things will become rosier every day, especially if you have the right suit. That is where we come in. We first studied the Boys' Clothing problem in the school of Earnest Desire; then we went to the university of Practical Experience, and we are still there, taking an endless course in Success.

Here are Boys' New Fall Suits that best explain what we mean. Yes, you can pay less for suits, or more, but you cannot get better for the same money. Every good warm fabric; every good pattern and every tasteful model.
