GOES AFISHING
AT AGE OF 92

Record of Wm. H. Bowman on the Eve of His Birthday.

A remarkable case of activity in old age has come to the attention of The Times. Wm. H. Bowman, who in the winter resides in Stanley street in the summer with his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Fisher, at Lakeside, celebrated his ninety-second birthday on Thursday last. On Wednesday he went to Loch Lomond fishing. It is doubtful if there are many men of his age who would undertake a fishing trip at the age of 92.

Mr. Bowman was a contractor until 10 years ago. The last work he had in mind was the repairing of the spire of St. Paul's church, which was formerly a captain in the St. John fire department and has been a very active man all his life.

The London of Dickens

(Boston Christian Science Monitor's review of Walter Dexter's Book)

To the average American the word "London" might be amplified to "Dickens' London" for, after all, this is where we get our knowledge of the great English metropolis. Who ever writes of London of the talk of London of the myriad railway stations? All is subordinated to the good old Victorian London, which we can assimilate and love.

The volume is extremely readable; but the great value lies in the printed lists at the end of each route, of which there are 18, most of which can be accomplished in two hours by Dickens' own favorite mode of locomotion—on foot.

AFTER HARDING—?

Both parties in the United States today are rather poorly equipped in the matter of presidential numbers. The Republicans would probably have renominated Mr. Harding, and though the radical element is giving the party increasing trouble American reviewers thought he would have a fair chance of election next year, barring unexpected developments.

ACCIDENTAL PRESIDENTS.

(Toronto Globe) In the history of the Republic there have been five "accidental" Presidents. General Harrison, elected President in 1840, died just after his inauguration, and was succeeded by Vice-President Tyler, who fell out with his party and was refused a re-nomination when his term expired.

Mr. W. S. Fisher makes a valuable contribution to the discussion concerning the advancement of the Maritime Provinces by advocating direct action in regard to shipments through our ports.

"What we want," he says, "is the Maritime Provinces, or if we can't do it for the whole of the Maritime Provinces, then for New Brunswick or even St. John, in a representative—a trade commissioner—who will travel about the country getting into personal touch with manufacturers and exporters and educating them as to the desirability of importing and exporting their goods via Canadian ports."

Lloyd George's autumn trip to this country and the United States is now declared uncertain by his private secretary. London suggests that the development of events at home and in Europe generally prevent a positive decision on the part of the former Prime Minister.

Mrs. Louis Sherwin Evicted, Homeless

Turned Out of Old Mill, Where She Lived a Year With Her Three Children.

Oyster Bay, N. B., Aug. 4.—Allegedly defiant and resistant, Mrs. Louis Sherwin, wife of a former New York dramatic critic, and three children were evicted from an old mill on the North Shore Road which she had made her home for a year. The vacation of the premises, which are owned by the Beekman estate, had been ordered by the courts.

Mrs. Sherwin, without a roof, refused all offers of help and declared she had no idea where she would live. She would not stay at the mill, or with friends or in the woods. Her children—a boy of 11 and two girls, 13 and 14 years old—were being well cared for by a neighbor she would not name, but she declared she did not know where she would spend the night.

The next minute she said she would stay at the mill. Sympathetic persons offered her money or to provide for her the Oyster Bay Inn. All were refused and to none would she confide her plans.

The furniture in the ancient structure, which Mrs. Sherwin had converted into a studio and living apartment in accordance with her ideas of artistic decoration, was removed by Constable Russell Ebbetts and his helpers to a storage warehouse in Gold Spring Harbor. Mrs. Sherwin rode on the last load, leaving her children at the mill.

On her return she found that the structure had been boarded and nailed up, with the children inside. It appeared that the constable, after the household goods had been removed, knocked to see if any one remained and, getting no answer, had closed the place.

Climbs In to Free Children. Mrs. Sherwin climbed in through a window to get the children and took them away. She returned to the mill, and still declared her intention of starting to clean the place. To all inquiries she would not tell where she would sleep even if she knew.

Earlier in the day she had said it looked as if she would go to jail or live "next to nature," but she was confident, she maintained, that she could provide for the children.

"I do not intend to expose them to any danger, even if their mother sleeps in the woods or in the jail in the Town Hall," she said.

Mrs. Sherwin moved into the remedied grist mill in July, 1922. She paid one month's rent. After that she declared it an unhealthy place in which to live and paid no more. Last May County Judge Lewis J. Smith gave the Beekman estate possession. Mrs. Sherwin carried the case to the Appellate Division, but Judge Smith was sustained.

She told of a dream of an art centre, and said she had taught her children to play the piano and the violin as well as to draw and paint. As workmen brought out an old-fashioned square grand piano she referred to it as her "choice possession" and "a relic of better days."

Several months ago the Children's Society tried to get possession of the three children, but failed. Mrs. Sherwin declared she had her own ideas on the upbringing of children and maintained that her methods had been vindicated by her three, whom she said were in excellent health and were well behaved and self-reliant.

"We almost froze last winter," she said. "We had only one coal stove and two kerosene oil stoves, but we managed."

According to neighbors, Mrs. Sherwin had no great desire for money and seemed content on very little. Poverty, they said, evidently had no horrors for her.

About ten years ago she instituted a divorce action against her husband, but failed to prosecute it when he moved to California as scenarist with a motion picture company.

It was reported last December that Mr. Sherwin and Mary Miles Minter, a screen actress, were engaged, but she met an obstacle in Mr. Sherwin's failure to get a divorce.

ten longer to his plans of hard luck caused her to have him dispossessed, d'Harcourt said.

"I'm flat broke," said the "art poet," as he calls himself. "People here are too materialistic. They don't recognize genius, or the spark of genius, or whatever you want to call it, when they see it. So why should we let 'em have it at all? I'm going to burn up my paintings, and every artist in New York who has the same hard luck that I have, and there are many, ought to do the same thing."

"I've given them the opportunity to view my paintings and to buy them. I even sent 500 invitations to the wealthiest people in New York to come to my exhibition up here. But do you think any came? They did not. And I spent $25 for the list of people with their addresses and another $30 for the printing and stamps."

"Look at those paintings," he said, pointing to a few that still adorned the walls, while the others were being carried to the street by two moving men. "They are what I call 'impressionistic color poems.' I tried to emphasize the principle of romance, mystery, and poetry in life in my paintings."

Kelly looked up from the dispossessed notice in his hand. His eye rested on a small framed painting which the painter said was worth $500.

"Well," said the Marshal, "if Woolworth was selling that thing for 10 cents I'd think they were profiteers."

"Now look at this one," said d'Harcourt, unmindful of Kelly's criticism. "This was always my favorite, but I don't like any of the stuff now. I'm sick of the whole thing. No, I don't think I'm going to paint any more. I haven't done any painting in two weeks. I tried to, but the inspiration

New York, Aug. 4.—Piled up against a small mountain of furniture, rugs and pans of every size and shape, about fifty pictures painted by Child de Rohan d'Harcourt, were viewed by hundreds on the sidewalk at Lexington Avenue and Seventy-second Street.

The exhibition was held at the request of William J. He admitted that he owed $45 a month and a half's rent to his landlady, Mrs. Louise A. Cobb. Her refusal to let Practical Suggestions for Insuring the Longevity of the Car.

Remember This Rule of the Road! The motorist who passes the vehicle ahead of him, unless it is a street car, to the right is in constant danger.

A Safety-First Tip. Because flowing gasoline seems to cause static electricity to spark, a motorist when filling the tank of a car should make sure that the spout or nozzle is in contact with the metal of the opening of the tank into which the gasoline is poured.

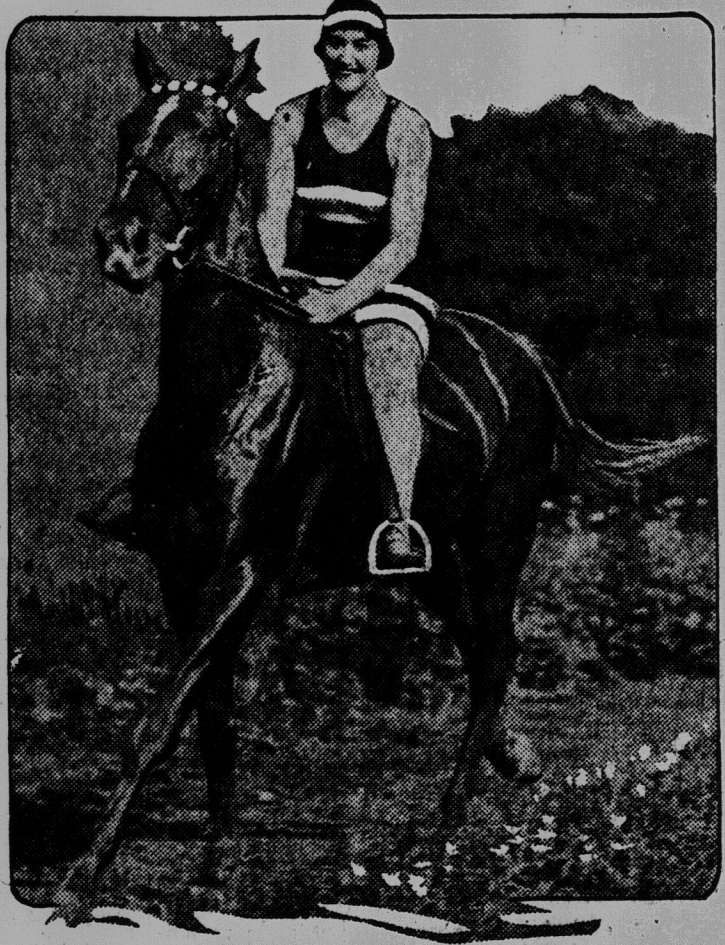

Wire Wheels. Wire wheels should be carefully inspected at frequent intervals. While the wheel is considered flexible enough to return to normal position after almost any blow that may be given it, still spokes do come loose occasionally and this condition should be remedied.

Kind of Lubricant Used in Autos. Cup grease in grease cups. Transmission oil in rear axle case. Cylinder oil in crankcase and oil cups.

Towing Intelligence. Never fasten a tow rope to the axle of a car when towing. The rope should be fastened to one of the front portions of the frame, so that the pull comes on the chassis.

Battery Connections. The connections on dry cells should always be kept tight. Any one connection in a series which happens to be loose will cause difficult starting.

vibration of the car is very apt to loosen these, and a frequent inspection will oftentimes save a lot of delay in starting the engine.

Care of Spare Tubes. Never store spare tubes in the tool compartment where they are likely to be injured or covered with oil. Pack them under the seat or in some convenient location where they can readily be reached when needed.

Requisites of Efficient Engine. The important factors of the engine are lightness and balance of all moving parts, especially the reciprocating parts which consist of the upper portion of the connecting rod, piston, piston pin and piston rings.

Squeaks From Rusty Springs. Squeaks are often caused by rusty springs. By lifting the weight off them, it is an easy matter to insert lubricant. This will not only eliminate the squeak but also produce easier riding qualities.

Importance of Good Insulation. All wiring, whether of the single or double system, should be perfectly insulated from all metal parts of the car.

Tires, wheel spokes, differential gears and universal joints are the parts of an automobile which suffer most from sudden and severe brake applications.

Electric connectors, which have become loose, will cause a loud explosion in the muffler.

Universal joints are not adjustable for wear, and consequently worn parts must be replaced.

Rubber compounds, asbestos, etc., when used for gaskets, can easily be cut with a hammer.

If an engine is subject to considerable vibration, there is danger of the bolts coming loose at the base.

The distributor points should be cleaned frequently when the car is equipped with the battery ignition.

Continual dripping of oil from a car indicates leaks or worn bushings.

All brake connections should be lubricated carefully and regularly.

Heavy-Husky-- Right for Canadian Roads. Ames Holden Tires were designed in Canada—by Canadians—for rough Canadian country roads. Their thicker treads of new live rubber not only resist the ruts and stones, but last longer because they wear evenly right down to the carcass. Put an Ames Holden on your "south-east" wheel and any other tire on the other rear—Compare the Wear!

How Can You Prevent Frequent Tire Changes?

Many tire changes are made necessary by tube failures. Heat raises havoc with tubes. It is the inner tube's constant enemy. The way to save yourself tube trouble and consequent annoyance is to buy tubes that resist heat.

Firestone High Test Tubes resist heat successfully. Steam welding is a Firestone process that prevents air leakage and flat tires because even extreme heat will not break down the splice.

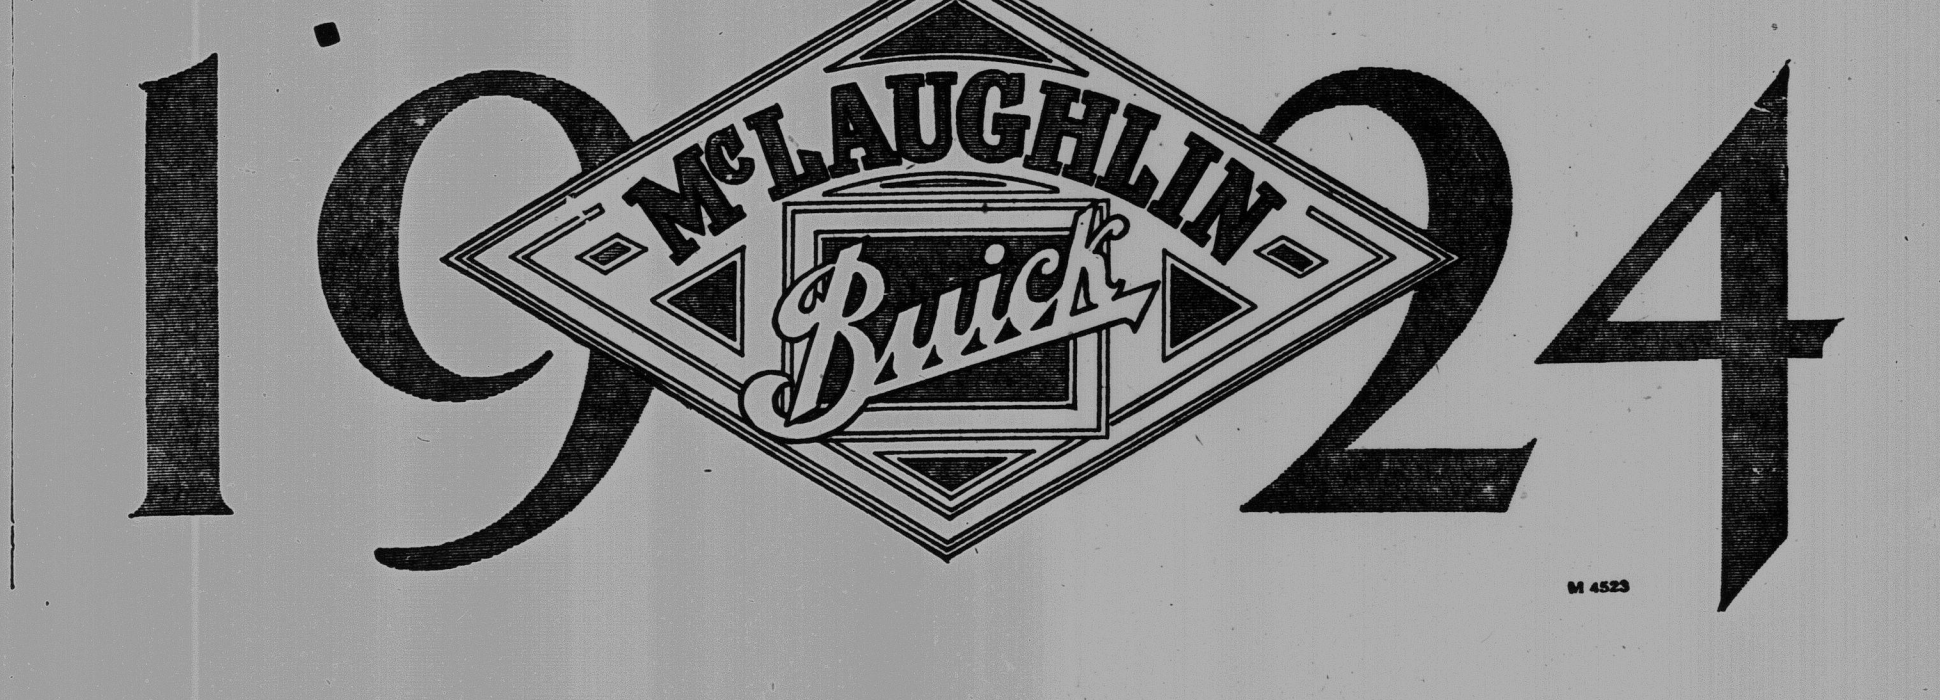

Firestone High Test Tubes have strength as well as heat resistance. The Firestone method of placing ply upon ply of rubber so that the grain of each ply runs in opposite directions gives the strongest tube wall.

GRIM ST. JOHN TALE OF IMMIGRANT BAND DEAD AT GATES OF CITY

"Dr. Harding and Collins were well aware of the terrible infectious character of the fever, but they went to the island to do their duty, whatever might be the result. They had more than enough to tax their energies. During the month of June thirty-five vessels embarked, but nearly 200 had died in quarantine, and on the island, while some 800 of those who had been landed were sick in the hospital at the end of the month. By that time, however, both Harding and Collins were prostrated with the fever, and on the 2nd of July Dr. Collins died, a martyr to his duty and a hero in the truest sense of the word. The funeral took place on the following Sunday, and was the largest ever seen in St. John. The body was brought from the island to Reed's Point, followed by the harbor by a long line of boats. The funeral procession reached from Reed's Point to the head of Dock street, and was composed of nearly 4,000 people, all classes of citizens meeting to pay tribute to the memory of the devoted young physician. Bishop Dollard and his clergy were among those who followed the body, and the pall-bearers were all medical men. The burial was at Inglewood cemetery, but the body was afterwards removed to Fort Howe cemetery, where a simple monument marks the spot."
One other physician in New Brunswick shares with Dr. Collins the crown of sacrifice. Dr. Vondy of Chatham died of ship fever while attending the Irish immigrants who arrived at Inglewood in St. John, Dr. W. S. Munnich. In St. John, Dr. W. S. Harding, Dr. George G. Harding, who was port physician at Bayville, Westport and Fiddock were all prostrated and recovered. Andrew Barnes, steward of the main hospital, died of the disease. Father James Quinn and Father Edmund Quinn, brothers of Mr. Collins, along with Father Dumphy were in constant attendance on the sick, the first named going daily to Partridge Island, but all escaped the disease. Mr. Robert Irvine, pastor of St. John's Presbyterian church, who attended at the poor house hospital, contracted the fever and narrowly escaped death. Mr. Reynolds tells us that the scenes on Partridge Island from May to November are beyond description. In some instances as many as five hundred people would be landed from one vessel. Some died before landing, numbers had to be carried ashore, and of those who could walk great numbers were compelled to lie for the night on the ground, and next day contrive what shelter they could with tents, or even boards sent down to make cots for the dead. The accommodation was utterly inadequate even to shelter them from the elements. One heart-rending suggestion of the horrors endured is given by Mr. Reynolds:

"Alexander Reid, who was then keeper of the light house, and to whom I am indebted for some interesting facts, has told me how, lying in his bed of a calm summer night, he would be startled by an agonized wail, the lament of some woman whose husband, son or father, had drawn his last breath. In time such sounds became so common that they ceased to disturb him."
Long after the fever epidemic had been brought under control, destitute immigrants had literally to beg from door to door. Many, after their recovery, went to the United States, which was their original destination. They had come this way because ship passage was more easily obtained, and they were forced to leave their native land to escape, as they thought, the death which dogged their passage to the shores of America and took its dreadful toll.
Such is outline is the story of the Irish immigrants of 1847. Many of their descendants, and of those who came before and after them to these shores, are today well-to-do citizens of Canada, with only a memory of the horrors endured before and during the exodus which deprived Ireland of millions of her sons and daughters. It is fitting that some memorial should be erected on Partridge Island, to mark the resting place of more than six hundred victims of famine and fever and man's inhumanity to man; and to commemorate the self-sacrifice of the young physician, who gave up his happiness and the prospects of a brilliant career, to the ministry of service which so soon terminated in his lamented but noble death.

Mr. George Walker, of 82 Sydney street was taken ill while in Princess street yesterday afternoon, and was taken into the store of the W. H. Hayward Co., Ltd. A doctor who was summoned ordered her removed to the General Public Hospital for treatment.

Mr. Haley said that dressing rooms were needed at the Rockwood grounds if the boys were to use the grounds for athletic meets or for games of any kind. He believed a temporary building could be erected for from $250 to $300 and that the lumber might be donated.

A. M. Belding said the Rotary Club had had back because the city had not yet received the deed of the grounds and they still belonged to the Historical Association but whether they were owned by the city or the Historical Association they were for the use of the boys. It was recognized that they should be turned and if that was done then only the running track could be used next year, but a dressing room would still be needed. There was a property there of twenty-one acres in extent and the piece already prepared was only about half of the total area. The present running track was in good order but it required using to get properly laid and it could not be used unless there was a dressing room. Mr. Belding's motion that Mr. Haley, T. H. Hamilton, Roy Handren and S. C. Webb be a committee to take the matter up for immediate action and if possible secure the erection of a temporary shelter strong enough to provide for the needs of the next two years, was carried unanimously.

TO ARRANGE FOR DRESSING ROOMS AT PLAYGROUNDS

Committee to Take Action - East End Club May be Homeless

The Playgrounds Association has appointed a committee to get immediate action, if possible, with regard to the erection of temporary dressing rooms on the Rockwood Park grounds. The committee was appointed at the regular meeting of the Association yesterday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. when W. K. Haley, the president, was in the chair. Before the meeting the members and some of the leading citizens were taken in automobiles to make a tour of the six playgrounds in session. Both members and visitors were greatly delighted with the work being done. At the meeting after the tour of inspection, Miss E. Heffer reported on the work being done at each of the playgrounds, Alexandria, King George, Centennial, Allison, West St. John and East St. John, telling of the various handicrafts which the children were learning and of the recreations and sports which they received training. The average daily attendance at all of the playgrounds was 867; the East end grounds had the largest daily average, 185, and the Carleton grounds the second largest, 169. At each of the grounds the attendees were told of the work being done at each of the playgrounds, Alexandria, King George, Centennial, Allison, West St. John and East St. John, telling of the various handicrafts which the children were learning and of the recreations and sports which they received training.

It was recognized that they should be turned and if that was done then only the running track could be used next year, but a dressing room would still be needed. There was a property there of twenty-one acres in extent and the piece already prepared was only about half of the total area. The present running track was in good order but it required using to get properly laid and it could not be used unless there was a dressing room. Mr. Belding's motion that Mr. Haley, T. H. Hamilton, Roy Handren and S. C. Webb be a committee to take the matter up for immediate action and if possible secure the erection of a temporary shelter strong enough to provide for the needs of the next two years, was carried unanimously.

STRENUOUS BALL GAMES OF 80'S

ism Costigan got one whale of a hit to the drill shed in this contest.
The Men of 74.
This story led back to the really old originals and Mr. Connolly recalled the line up as including Dennis Costigan, catcher; John McCarthy, pitcher; John Mitchell, first base; John Fitz, second base; James McCarthy, third base; Spence, an American, short stop; John Walsh, left field; Michael Collins, right field. Other players he recalled in successive years until the impertation of professionals began included Patrick Kenne, P. J. Gorman, Arthur McHugh, William O'Leary, Joe Gleason, Jeremiah McCarthy, Joe McCullough and Fred J. Power, now of Vassie & Co.'s. Mr. Power he said, was one of the best first basemen of his day.
The pitcher in those times employed the underhand style. Then came the curve, brought here first, the narrator said, by one Riley of a Bangor team. Connolly acquired the art and was said to be the first local man to use the curve. In a game against the New City team, he had 17 strike outs with the new delivery. John Russell, James Christie and Robert Nichols were among the opposing players. Connolly was a very powerful man.

hard working and with muscles of iron developed at longshore. There was no training in those times and the writer recalls as a boy boasting of "Danny" knocking off work after a hard day at sea to go to ball field for a tough pitching assignment. It is a fact that for an afternoon contest, a boatman would put out to a ship in the stream where the pitcher was at work storing deals, bring him ashore, for a change to uniform on the Ballast wharf, and then have him go into action on the Barrack Square. He was a powerful batter as well as pitcher, and the records show him leading the city in two years.
Mementoes of Old Times.
Mr. Connolly possesses several cherished souvenirs of those days. They include a baseball bat of 1874, won at an Irish Primary Society picnic, and a pair of foot flags of the same year, trophies of Shamrock victories in a league in which the other teams were the Nationals, Athletics and Invincibles. He has the first umpire's indicator used in St. John and a prized souvenir in a "Dead Red" ball that has not been seen in forty years.
St. Peter's.
Asked about his management of St. Peter's baseball team, Mr. Connolly had words of praise for the players and summed up his policy by saying to his group of interested listeners what he said to the "Saints" when he took charge, "I'm not a manager for you, as much as I am a father to you boys."
Regarding Mr. Connolly's picture got into The Times man's possession is not to be told, even to himself. He was asked for the picture and he said he would be as sparing of self-boasting. But here it is and it is one of a good sporting man whose life's are high and who lives up to what they demand.

ending as the purse was recovered and was forwarded to the owner, who got through to her destination without further untoward adventure.
Very satisfactory reports were given at the meeting of The King's Daughters held yesterday afternoon in the Guild with the president, Mrs. H. W. Robertson, in the chair. The house report was particularly gratifying. The hospital committee report told of visits to the East St. John hospital, the Home for Incubables and the General Public Hospital. In-His-Name clinic had been in charge of the hospital visiting. Routine work in connection with the arrangements for the recent convention was also dealt with.

Mr. Haley said that dressing rooms were needed at the Rockwood grounds if the boys were to use the grounds for athletic meets or for games of any kind. He believed a temporary building could be erected for from $250 to $300 and that the lumber might be donated.

A. M. Belding said the Rotary Club had had back because the city had not yet received the deed of the grounds and they still belonged to the Historical Association but whether they were owned by the city or the Historical Association they were for the use of the boys. It was recognized that they should be turned and if that was done then only the running track could be used next year, but a dressing room would still be needed. There was a property there of twenty-one acres in extent and the piece already prepared was only about half of the total area. Watch your children blossom after your artistry with Sunset

Here are six easy, economical ways to make new summer clothes for your children:
1- Remove the summer's faded clothes;
2- Change the color of last year's clothes;
3- Change the color of clothes worn by the older children;
4- Buy plain, white clothes (usually cooler and less expensive than colored ones);
5- Change the color of hats, scarves, neckties and handkerchiefs to match or harmonize with the new summer colors;
6- As mark-down sales, buy clothes at un-usual prices and make them new and beautiful by changing their colors.

TRAVELERS' AID WORKER AGAIN SAVES THE DAY
To the Rescue of Woman Who Loses Money, Ticket and Papers
The resourcefulness of the Travelers' Aid worker at the railway station has solved many knotty problems for the stranger arriving in St. John and last Saturday that resourcefulness was once again the means of helping a solitary woman traveler. Miss Hoyt, the Travelers' Aid worker, had already had the befriending of the unfortunate woman who found herself in such a sad predicament. The woman had tried to enter the United States and had been sent back from Vancouver because she had not the correct papers. In St. John she had been assisted by Miss Hoyt, who has guided more people through the maze of the documents of the United States immigration department than she is able to reckon. The necessary papers were secured, the ticket to the correct destination was purchased and all of the troubles seemed to be well over. Miss Hoyt was assisting other travelers when she learned of the catastrophe. The woman she had recently aided had lost her purse, mislaid it in the waiting room, and she was minus the precious papers, minus her ticket and minus her small fund of money.
The train was due to leave in a very few minutes when Miss Hoyt was made aware of the situation. She was equal to the emergency. She started a collection among the people at the station and had almost enough to buy a new ticket. The station authorities on her guarantee issued a new ticket and the conductor undertook to collect the remaining sum from the passengers on the train. Particulars were given regarding the loss of the papers and with breathless haste a much relieved woman was hustled on board the train. Miss Hoyt had stood prepared to take her back to the Transient Home over the week-end if the trouble had not been solved at the station. The occurrence had a satisfactory

CHAMPIONS OF LAST YEAR ALL OUT OF
N. B. TENNIS TOURNAMENT NEXT WEEK

A Glance at the Names and Speculation on the Results.

Not one of last year's champions is entered this season for the annual tournament of the New Brunswick Tennis Association. In some cases the champions have left the province and are therefore not eligible to play, but even allowing for this, it is remarkable that not one player who figured among the winners last season should appear this year. This will mean an entirely new collection of representatives for the province in the annual inter-provincial meet with the Nova Scotia champions.

The tournament will be staged this year at Sackville, commencing on Monday and continuing through the week. In view of the smaller number of entries than in former years it is hoped to get the meet finished early and to be ready to plenty for the journey to Sydney where the Maritime titles will be decided. It is the opinion in this city that the teams turning out for the provincial event are not up to the strength of former years and will probably be their opponents from the sister province when they meet.

George W. Hudson of Rothesay, is figured as one of the best chances for the singles title, although there are others in his own club who are capable of giving him a good run for his money. Young Jack Frith of Rothesay, is also mentioned as a championship possibility along with Jack Thomson, Dick Starr and others of the same club. In addition to these there will be H. M. and W. T. Wood, the brothers who have often been upsetting the aspirants for the title, and Webster, a newcomer who played such a fine game last year. Plazan Short, title holder last year, is not entered this season although he is the holder of the premier place in the Rothesay list of players.

The three teams expected to be among the favorites in this year's tournament are Hudson and Thomson of Rothesay; Starr of Rothesay, and Kirk of Westfield, and W. and T. Wood of Sackville. Three of last year's best teams have been broken up, among the champions, Short and Healy of Rothesay, and the runners-up, Hudson and Fitzgerald. Of these only one player is entered, George Hudson.

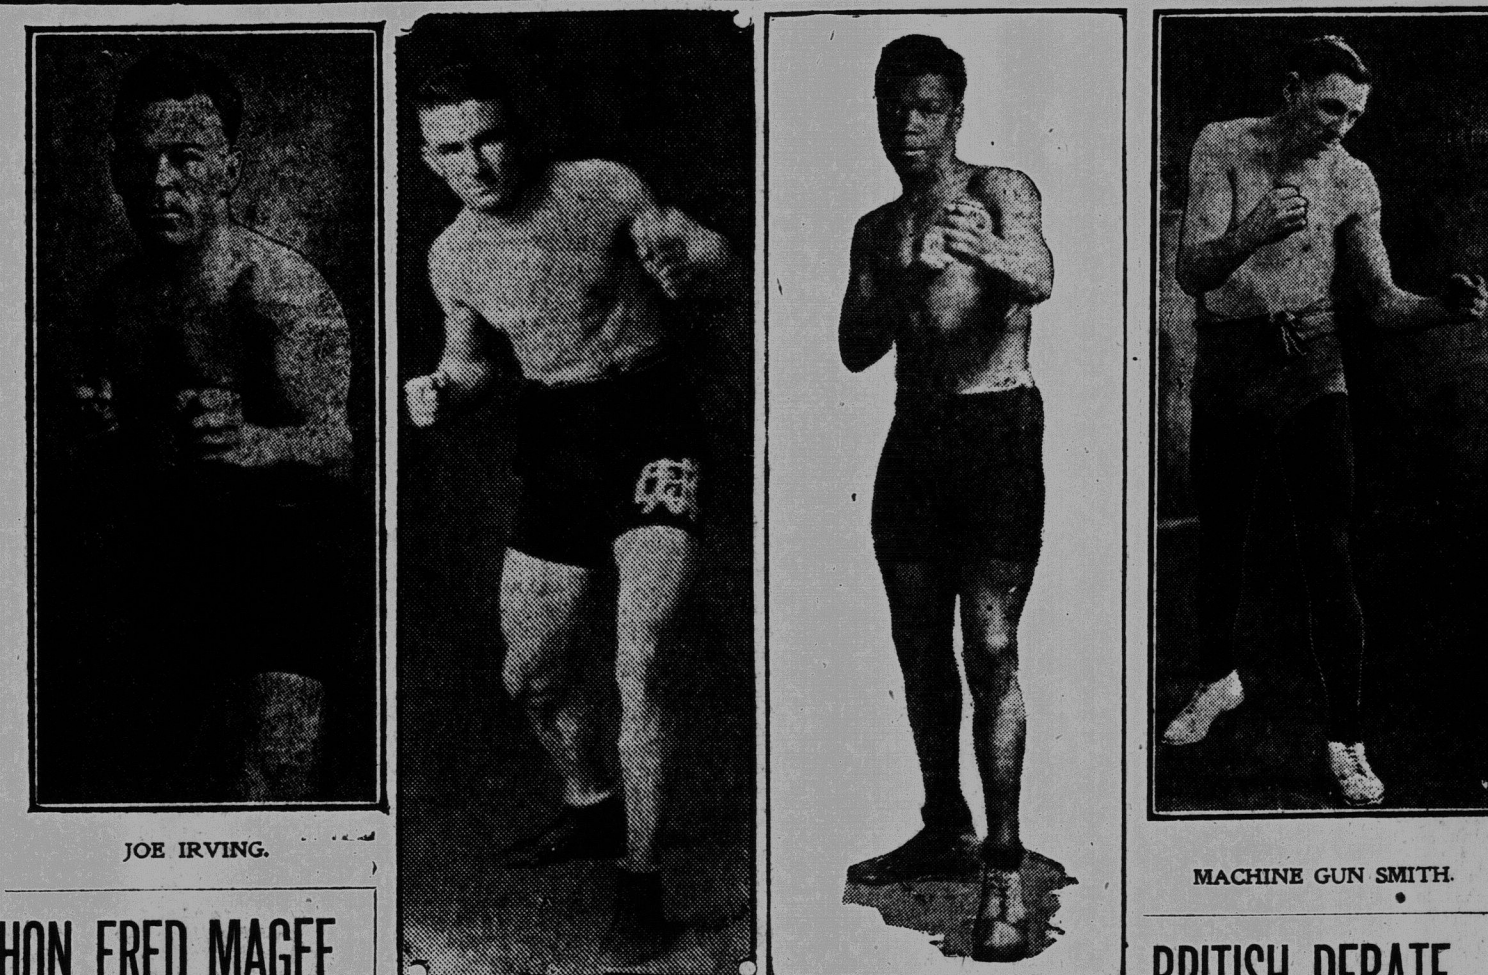

Neither Mrs. Babbit of Fredericton, nor George Harley, formerly of St. John, are entered. Mrs. Babbit is in name for the tournament. Last year they won the mixed doubles title. This event is probably one of the most uncertain of the lot scheduled, any one of six or eight teams having a good chance for the championship.

The ladies' singles schedule is a little better filled out, thirteen players having entered in this event. The title holder is not entered, Mrs. Babbit has not entered and Mrs. Johnson will result in this class also.

The complete list of entries in the various events is as follows: Ladies' Singles—Mrs. H. W. McKel, Miss Alice Tilley, Miss Margaret Tilley, Mrs. J. D. Hickman, Miss Margaret Black, Miss Jean Angus, Miss Alberta Hansen, Miss Lily Raymond, Miss Doreen McAvity, Miss Kathleen MacKenzie, Mr. Joseph Wood, Mrs. Brittain, Miss Marie Davies. Ladies' Doubles—Mrs. J. D. Hickman and Miss Alice M. Hickman, Mrs. T. W. McKel and partner, Miss Alice Tilley and Miss Margaret Tilley, Miss Alberta Hansen and Miss Lily Raymond, Miss Doreen McAvity and Miss Marie Davies, Miss Kathleen MacKenzie and partner, Mrs. Joseph Wood and Mrs. Brittain.

Mixed Doubles—H. W. Hickman and Miss Black, T. H. Hunton and Miss Alice M. Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McKel, John H. Thomson and Miss Margaret Tilley, J. O. S. Murray and Miss Barbara Black, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hickman, Dick Starr and Miss Alberta Hansen, C. F. Inches and partner, W. K. Kirkpatrick and partner, J. H. Drummond and partner, Mr. and Mrs. R. Taylor, George W. Hudson and partner, K. B. Palmer and Miss Margaret Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood, Lorne Stamp and Mrs. Brittain. Men's Singles—R. P. Chapman, Karl F. Mosher, S. H. Hunton, J. L. Black, H. W. McKel, J. D. Hickman, J. O. S. Murray, J. D. Hickman, W. C. Robinson, A. Lorne Wry, Dick Starr, C. F. Inches, J. H. Drummond, W. K. Kirkpatrick, E. B. Palmer, E. R. Richard, W. T. Wood, H. E. Bigelow, H. M. Wood, Joseph Wood, Lorne Stamp, David Schofield, Walter Foster, J. H. Thomson, J. R. Frith, George W. Hudson, James McInerney, A. L.

TOUR PLAYGROUNDS OF CITY WHERE MORE THAN 800 KIDDIES GAMBOL

Dressing Rooms at Rockwood; Club for East End Boys.

The hand-work that is being done on the six supervised playgrounds in this city during the summer holidays is a revelation of aptitude and a proof of efficiency in teaching concerning which all the people should know.

This is the view expressed by the members of the Playgrounds Association and some others who visited all the grounds yesterday afternoon. The arrangements were made by the president, W. K. Haley, and Secretary L. M. Farquharson, and automobiles were waiting near the Imperial Theatre at half-past two o'clock.

The party proceeded first to the Allison playground in the south end and then in turn to the Centennial, East End, Alexandra, King George and Carleton grounds. At each ground the teachers exhibited samples of the work done in knitting, crocheting, plain sewing, millinery, paper and wax-work. The ladies were chiefly interested, but the gentlemen were also amazed when they saw some of the work and were told the ages of the children by whom it was done.

Only on the Allison ground has there been any trouble with big boys, and it only occurred once. A group of boys in the south end have each year shown that they do not really ap-

Posse Gets Fugitives Accused of Murder

'Bad' Bill' Monroe, Wanted For Crime on Countess D'Ivry's Estate, Caught.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 4.—'Bad Bill' Monroe and Edward Barrett, both sought for the murder of Andrew Barrett, who was brutally slain in his shack on the estate of the Countess d'Ivry, were captured in New Jersey and are being brought back to Poughkeepsie for trial.

Details of the capture have not been learned, but it is rumored that a posse, starting in the mountains of Sullivan County, where 'Bad Bill' had often flown to escape punishment for lesser crimes, followed the trail over the State line.

The crime was a particularly atrocious one, inasmuch as relatives of the dead man are supposed to be involved. Monroe is accused of having crept up on Barrett in his cabin and half his head cut away with the blow of an axe. A body was not discovered for days. The crime was first discovered when a madman, as Barrett, though dead, had been tied with rags and ropes. Several thousand dollars were missing from the shack.

Col. Jacob Rupert, owner of the New York American Club, said yesterday:

REFINERIES AND ST. GEORGES WIN

The Sugar Refineries showed St. John the Baptist the way in the fourth frame, when they cornered (2) Melaney across the plate, in a baseball battle which ended 6-2, with the Refineries in the lead. St. John's bats, however, were diamond last night. Many attended. Although Dalton held the Refineries bowlers six hits, his team made only seven errors and failed to connect at the right time. On Monday night, the Refineries will attempt to stamp the Royals in their run towards their second pennant in this league. The summary and box score of last night's game follows:

REPORT SURGEON'S ART GIVES BARD A NEW NOSE.
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 4.—It is now declared possible to change one's face to suit the season or if to suit the latest role, if one is in the theatrical profession.

Ben Bard, a star of the Dancing Girl, has had his nose "taken up" perceptibly through "facial sculpture." The operation was performed with the patient in a chair and reporters looking on. It lasted about forty-five minutes. When all was over Mr. Bard returned to his hotel with the straight man nose he wants for the fulfillment of some movie ambition.

Next week, it is said, the Chicago surgeon goes to New York to work on the face of Miss Fanny Brice. It is said she feels she has gotten all she can out of her nose and mouth and she wants new ones to fit her for the comely roles to which she aspires. It is hinted that she may wear incensements in next season's play, in which she has a sort of feminine David Warfield role.

Champion Wins.
Toronto, Aug. 4.—Bobby Eber, of Hamilton, bantamweight champion of Canada earned the decision over Eddie Pinchof of Boston, in the main bout at the International A. C. open air boxing show last night. The fight went ten rounds and the Hamilton boy had a good margin when the final bell sounded.

Created Precedent.
New York, Aug. 4.—The calling off of all games yesterday by the National American and minor baseball leagues in memory of President Harding was the first time such tribute had been paid any man in the history of organized baseball.

Firpo Takes Ten Rounds to Whip Kalamazoo Smith

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 4.—Luis Angel Firpo, challenger to Jack Dempsey for heavyweight honors, was forced to go through ten rounds with Homer Smith, Kalamazoo, Mich., heavyweight, last night before winning by a referee's decision. Firpo won the bout by a large margin, newspapermen at the ring-side said, scoring knockdowns almost at will. It was the first time since the Argentine's entry to this country that he did not win his fight via the knockout route.

Governor Stops Bout.
St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 4.—The ten-round non-decision boxing bout scheduled for Monday night between Firpo, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, and Tom Cowley, was ordered stopped in a telegram received here tonight by Phillip H. Brockman, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, from Governor A. Hyde of Missouri. In his telegram, Governor Hyde said the proposed bout was in violation of state laws.

Who Played God in Your Life?

Beggars might fly—If airplanes were wishes. And life would be all sunshine and golden spoons—If wishing brought fulfillment of desires, hopes and ambitions. But, only to children is Santa Claus real, and to all of us come dark hours of despair when hope dies, the world forgets. Who played God to YOU in YOUR days of darkness? Who brought YOU back into the glad days of restored faith, renewed ambition!

GIVE BABES A PLACE TO PLAY

Why Not One of the Sections of The King Square?

One of the spots of which St. John is proud and which is used to a very large extent in the summer days is King Square, and any fine day sees there are at a premium. Mothers who cannot get out of the city take their children there to spend an hour or two and breathe the pure air and absorb the bright sunshine which spells health to the kiddies.

A suggestion has been made to The Times that a very small expenditure would make this natural and lovely playground more attractive and beneficial to the children and keep them off the grass and asphalt walks where bumps and scratches are frequent.

The plan as suggested is to set aside the triangular section between the walk leading from Leinster street and that leading from the Imperial Theatre, to the centre of the Square for a playground for the little ones. Build an ornamental fence around it, place within it some seats for the mothers or nurses of the children, haul a few loads of sand and dump it on the ground around the fence and they will be their hearts' content.

This scheme, it is rightly asserted, would not detract from the beauty of the Square, but rather would present a crowd of happy children enjoying themselves and add to the attractiveness of the place.

W. Kenneth Haley, president of the Playgrounds Association, asked his opinion of the project was very much in favor of it. He had had the matter under consideration for some time, he said, and thought the idea was an excellent one. He would go further and in the hot weather would allow the little ones to play in the fountain, as was done in other cities.

This square, he said, lying as it did between the street and the fountain, was an opportunity of this kind would be appreciated, was an ideal spot for a playground, and he felt sure the majority of the citizens would support such a move.

All that need be done is to take out the flower beds, fence in the plot, put in a few benches, throw in some pieces of sand and there you have it. Mothers might rest as the kiddies gambol in absolute safety with no fear of torn frocks, or faces or noses, and no contact with asphalt walks. What a rest for tired mothers; what a source of delight to rolicking kiddies! And the Square would suffer not a bit.

The Times will welcome expression of opinions on the suggestion that this small section of the city's best breathing space be allotted to this good use. Come along with our ideas on the subject and City Hall may be influenced to give the future citizens of St. John a chance to play and breathe for the burdens they must assume as the years multiply. This newspaper is with the city on the subject and invites co-operation.

Commissioner Prink when asked for his opinion of the project was very outspoken in opposition to such a move. He said that a great deal of money had been spent to beautify the square and place flower beds in it and he failed to see how a playground and garden could be carried on in the same area.

If it was necessary to have a playground for the children in King square, then take out the flower beds, grass the whole area and let them play to their hearts' content on the grass.

As Hiram Sees It

"Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter, "it's a true saying that every dog has his day. Now you take the fir-tree. We always used to say the sooner it was cut down the better. If a fellow tried to sell us fir woods we'd chase him with an axe-handle. If we had some ourselves we'd mix 'em up with spruce and call 'em spruce—and 'em away."

"What's that?" interjected the reporter. "Do I hear aright? Hiram Hornbeam adulterating goods?"
