Build No Warships for 10 Years; U. S. Proposal

Would Also Have Powers Scrap Many Ships Now Afloat or Being Built

Washington, Nov. 12.—The U. S. concrete proposal for limitation of naval armaments—the crux of the arms conference—was presented today by Secretary Hughes at the very opening of the first session. Briefly it is as follows:

A naval holiday, in which all building programmes should be abandoned and the older ships of present navies scrapped, was the keynote of the U. S. proposal.

Mr. Hughes laid down four general principles:

1. That all capital ships building programme, either actual or projected, should be abandoned.
2. That further reduction should be made through the scrapping of certain of the older ships.
3. That in general, regard should be had to the existing naval strength of the powers concerned.
4. That the capital ship tonnage should be used as the measurement of strength for navies and a proportionate allowance of auxiliary combatant craft prescribed.

HOW IT WOULD AFFECT THE POWERS.

For the U. S. the programme would scrap all capital ships under construction, fifteen in number and fifteen of the older battleships.

Great Britain would stop construction on her four new ships of the Hood type and scrap all her second and first line battleships up to the King George V. class.

Japan would abandon plans for two battleships and four battle cruisers not yet laid down, and in addition would scrap three capital ships and four battlecruisers in process of construction and all ten of the pre-dreadnaughts and battleships of the second line.

As a replacement programme the U. S. government proposed that no more ships be laid down for the next ten years and that a maximum replacement tonnage figure be fixed providing eventually for 500,000 tons for the U. S., 500,000 tons for Great Britain and 300,000 tons for Japan.

Compelling Appeal By U. S. President To Nations of World

(Canadian Press.)

Washington, Nov. 12.—Fresh with memories of the soldier dead, the conference of the limitation of armaments, met in its first session today, to seek "the rule under which reason and righteousness shall prevail."

Although the opening hour of the first session was set for ten thirty o'clock the notables began arriving soon after ten to hear the opening address of President Harding and to form their permanent organization with Secretary Hughes as president of the conference.

The galleries packed to the representatives of official and diplomatic life the world over contained many notable figures of present day history.

The meeting hall was a picture full of color as the delegations and spectators began to gather.

A proviso also would be included permitting replacement of capital ships when they were twenty years old and prohibiting construction of any ship built in replacement with a tonnage of more than 35,000 tons.

As Hiram Sees It

"Mr. Hornbeam," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I have been wanting to get your advice for some time. I know of no other man whose judgment I would prize more highly. As a matter of fact I have often heard others say that if they wanted advice on any matter of grave importance they would go to you. Whether you know it or not, you have gained a reputation for clear insight and hard common sense that all men might envy. As I was saying—"

"One minute," said Hiram. "You never called me Hiram before—no I don't remember you ever put much stock in my opinion about anything. Let's get it all over. Just what was you aimin' to get out of me?"

"My dear sir," said the reporter, "you are wrong—quite wrong. I am seeking nothing but advice, and I come to you as a man in whom I have the utmost confidence. As you know, the elections—"

"That's enough," broke in Hiram. "You won't get nothin' out of me. I knowed the game was loaded—'t this is my busy day I've been here too long now—good day."

London Papers See No Reason to Lose Hope—Times Declares There is a Step Forward in the Offer of Counter Proposals.

(Canadian Press Cable.)

London, Nov. 12.—Although one or two newspapers express grave disappointment at the Ulster cabinet's rejection of the government's plan for a settlement of the Irish question, the London press this morning generally sees no reason to regard the situation as being serious or hope for a settlement as being over the crisis.

It is pointed out that, while the Ulster cabinet's rejection of the government's plan for a settlement of the Irish question, the London press this morning generally sees no reason to regard the situation as being serious or hope for a settlement as being over the crisis.

A COMPELLING APPEAL BY THE U. S. PRESIDENT

"Mr. Secretary and Members of the Conference, Ladies and Gentlemen: "It is a great and happy privilege to bid the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the capital of the United States of America."

"Here in a meeting, I can well believe, which in an earnest of the awakening conscience of 30th century civilization, declares the conviction of this world to be a common cause for all nations."

"The higher hopes come of the spirit of our coming together. It is but to recognize varying needs and peculiar positions. Nothing can be accomplished in disregard of national appetencies. Rather, we should act together to remove the causes of appetencies. This is not to be done in intrigue. Greater assurance is found in the exchanges of simple human souls. As becomes leaders among nations, when civilization itself has come to its crucial test."

"It is not to be challenged that governmental falls when the nations are robbed of the people of the way to happiness and the opportunity to achieve. If the finer sentiments were not warring, the cold, hard facts of excessive cost and the eloquence of economics would urge to reduce our armaments. If the order of the world were not in peril, I could not have said these things."

"I can speak officially only for our less of armament, and none of war. Wholly free from guile, sure in our own minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we accredit the world with the same good intent. So I welcome you, not alone in good will and high purpose, but with high faith."

"There can be no one without the other, and they must be held the unequal possession of all peoples. Inherent rights are of God, and the tragical of the world originate in their attempted denial. The world today is infringing their enjoyment by aiming to defend or deny, when simple sanity calls for their recognition through common understanding."

"Make War Outlaw. "Out of the cataclysm of the world war came new fellowships, new convictions, new aspirations. It is ours to make the most of them. A world staggering with debt needs its burden lifted. Humanity, which has been shocked by wanton destruction, would minimize the agencies of that destruction. Contemplating the measureless cost of war and the continuing burden of armament, all thoughtful peoples wish for real limitation of armament and would like war outlawed. In soberest reflection the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and die in war wish their statesmen to turn the expenditures for destruction into means of construction, to live and follow after."

"It is not done that the world cannot readjust itself and cast aside the excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressively cruel and more destructive from the first. To have simple sanity calls for more our boasted civilization."

THE CONFERENCE

No more dramatic stage setting for a great event could have been devised than that chosen for the disarmament conference at Washington. The day selected, Armistice Day, recalled memories of the war which had wrought such colossal destruction, and these were rendered infinitely more acute by the imposing ceremonial associated with the burial of the Unknown Soldier, of whom Arthur Newbery Cloyne has written: "There were no leagues so weary but he came."

GIVE THEM WORK

There are men in St. John who would rather remain idle than work. There are others who refuse to work unless they can choose the kind of work and fix the rate of wages. But there are other men, and many of them, who have at any kind of work and at a very moderate wage rather than see their children suffer. For these men work must be provided. Is it not much better for the community to find some way of providing work than to raise money by levying taxes on the families in idleness? For they must be fed. The money must come from somewhere, even if soup-kitchens have to be established. Since it must be raised, why not spend it for useful work? A minister told the Times today of a man who has worked all summer, but has a sick wife and a family of children and could not save money for the idle period which has now come. He is scouring the city for work, as many others are, and he asks: "What can I do? Same kind as you sent me last?"

THE UNKNOWN DEAD OF WAR

(The Independent) Religion, older and deeper than all religious, finds expression in the homage that Europe and America pay to the soldier dead whose individual identities remain unknown. The tributes of private citizens and of public throngs, the pomp of processions, the burial in national shrines and of cannonades, the veneration that will continue as ceremonial in part, but also in part they are spontaneous and profoundly real. Before men had gods they bowed before the fatfulness of luck. Before they built altars they remembered their dead. Before Buddha and Christ they revered such effaced themselves that their names might live.

NEED OF POPULATION

(F. D. L. Smith in Montreal Gazette) For the five years 1916 to 1921 Canada received about 1,861,000 immigrants from all sources, or an average of 372,200 a year. If this rate had been maintained the succeeding seven years would have brought the dominion over 2,500,000 new citizens from outside the land.

MR. R. B. EMERSON

The passing of Mr. R. B. Emerson removes from the active life of the city one who was diligent in business, and who also found time to perform the duties of a public-spirited citizen. Mr. Emerson pursued an honorable and successful business career, and the house he helped to found is held in high repute throughout the business world of Canada. It is not easy to estimate the value to a city of the life and work of a quiet business man of progressive ideas, who in building up his own business gives encouragement to others and adds to the sum of the city's wealth. But Mr. Emerson was more than a merchant. In the Board of Trade he gave hearty support to movements for the trade development of the city, and he took an intelligent interest in civic affairs. His services for a time as chairman of the Board of School Trustees were of great value. For he held strong views on the subject of practical education. The Natural History Society, of which he was president, and other organizations to which he gave support, have sustained a serious loss. A gentleman of kindly instincts, with ever a pleasant greeting for those he met, he will be greatly missed by his business associates. The expression, "a solid business man and good citizen" would be the description of Mr. Emerson.

Cheap American Shoes!
GOOD SHOES TO COST $3.50 AND $4.00 SOON?
Anybody with sound judgment could surely not imagine good solid reliable shoes retailing at such prices as described here in this U. S. A. report.
Footwear bought now for spring, cost from the best manufacturers several dollars more than these supposed retail prices.
The cheap American shoes, some branded, others not, which have been put on the Canadian market do no credit to some of the manufacturers.

NEWS TOPICS IN EMPIRE CAPITAL

Irish Conference Chief Matter of Interest.

The Washington Conference—London Enjoys a New Production at His Majesty's—The Death of Ex-King Ludwig.

(From our own Correspondent.) London, October 20.—This has been a very distressing week for the London public. Never in our time has public interest been so intensely aroused in any political event as by the Irish conference at 10 Downing Street; and the opportunities of getting reliable news of gratifying it have been dimly scanty. Some well known parliamentary lobbyists formed themselves into a kind of syndicated platoon, and manoeuvred in open order in a desperate attempt to hold up some of the ministers engaged in the conversations, and private secretaries have been simply overwhelmed with invitations; but mostly in vain have been all these blarneying and coercive measures. Nevertheless, some gleams of intelligent and reliable gossip have been intercepted, and in the faint light of these revelations it must be conceded that the situation appears far from hopeful. One psychological fact has to be borne carefully in memory. All new states and young governments are exceedingly apt to be frightfully sensitive about their importance, and most susceptible to wounded amour propre. And Sinn Fein is by no means of mean exception to this historical rule.

Casualty and Drama There is little doubt what caused the first day's proceedings to be quite unexpectedly adjourned with a day's interval before the next meeting. I am in a position to be positive that neither the British ministers nor the Sinn Fein chieftains had the slightest expectation of this course when they entered the conference chamber on Tuesday. But grave questions concerned with the Irish in which the I. R. A. is keeping the peace, nor not keeping it, at once arose, and the arguments that followed, while being quite brisk and even lively, soon made the necessity of a day's interval as breathing space obvious to both sides. The Sinn Fein delegates were stiff and prim at first, but this atmosphere gradually wore off, largely thanks to the irresistible personal magnetism of the British prime minister, but helped also by little strokes of diplomacy by those two very close friends and advisers, Winston Churchill and "F. E." Eventually the Sinn Fein delegates responded to this savoir faire and it was, I am told, the remarkable Michael Collins, so truculent in physiognomy in repose, but so winning and boyish when he smiles or gets a bit excited, who first

SACKVILLE, NOV. 21

St. John, N. B., Nov. 9, 1921. 11-12.

CURRENT POLITICS

Thanks to the Liberals.

Moncton Transcript: "According to the commercial editor of the Montreal Standard, Canadian exporters are finding the various imperial preference tariffs of great assistance to them, especially in certain West Indian Islands where, the Standard writer says, United States exporters are finding the competition almost too keen to make the business worth while. When the Laurier government introduced the policy of a preferential tariff treatment of goods from the Mother Country, the Conservatives regarded it as a violation of the sacrosanct principle of high protection. But the Tories have consistently opposed any increase in the preference to Great Britain. Any advantage Canada may be now gaining from the various imperial preferential tariffs, is the direct result of the initiative of the Laurier government."

Our Rights Neglected.

Halifax Herald, Conservative: "The Herald has no great illusions concerning the attitude of the present C. N. R. board of management toward these provinces. Actions speak a great deal louder than words. When men trained to know every tie and spike in the L. C. R. from Sydney to Campbellton are shifted against their will, to be replaced by men, admittedly their inferiors in railway knowledge, men who, in the very nature of things can know little of the general conditions surrounding the road they are supposed to supervise, it will take much more than mere words to convince us that our railwaymen are not being discriminated against by the present board."

The "Drawing Rooms" Party.

(Brookville Recorder.)

The Tory organs and newspapers never tire in abjuring their own slogan of the Canadian of 1911. It was "no trucks or trade" with the Yankees. They cannot get away from it. They also deny Mr. Meighen's application of Bolshevism against the agriculturists. But the farming community will not be deceived by the pseudo protestations. Not satisfied with such things, a leading Conservative woman in Toronto has addressed a letter to other Conservative women in which she says that "crude and inexperienced farmers are not to govern the upper classes." The Farm Union sent a copy of the letter and verifies its authenticity. Here is the letter:

"Dear Madam—In this crisis of our country, where vital issues are at stake, my services have been requisitioned by the Conservative party in an effort to bring out the leading Conservative women of Toronto. Personally I call them Conservative women of the upper educated class, and by that is meant women of refinement and cultivation, who still count for so much in the community."

"The coming election, so far as the future of our country is concerned, is as serious as the war, and women of the upper class cannot afford to stand still. A series of drawing room meetings in the interests of the Conservative party is being arranged all over the city. If a number of women or men and women, can be brought together in a drawing room meeting, a good speaker, a gentleman either from Ottawa or Toronto, will be glad to address them. A good woman speaker will be sent to address a group of women. "I beg to remind you that press no-

In the city squares—at the country fairs—in the market places—at the football match or at the races, you will see them—foreign-made cars herded together—lined-up, awaiting their Canadian owners—hosts of millions of dollars that WERE Canada's; millions that have gone abroad; gone "to a better land."

But, shall WE say it is a better land? Shall we always buy our cars abroad? Cannot we do what others do? Is there anything physically wrong with us?

came out of his temperamental dug-out. It will be something exceptionally catastrophic in the political sense that keeps Lloyd George away from President Harding's disarmament conference. The real gravity of the issue which has called that conference into being is even though it is realized perfectly by the people at the head of our foreign office. The situation now is that Japan maintains a very definite naval supremacy in the Pacific until the year 1922. After that date, under the new American shipbuilding programme, Japan will thereafter lose her lead in naval strength. Now the military party is still, and has every prospect of remaining for some time yet, in power in Tokio. And

It is the absolute conviction of the best authorities that, before the Japanese naval supremacy vanishes, the Japanese government, on strictly business and military principles, will either use its strategic advantage before it is too late, or there must be a binding agreement arrived at which will curtail naval and military preparations. The position of our ally of one-cow and the friendly first ally of the other is extremely difficult, and our efforts to secure a three-power agreement by America, Japan and ourselves, rigorously restricting the shipbuilding programmes of all three navies. Unless the Washington Conference does nothing, other than, according to the highest authorities, the alternative is another great war, and one the duration of which is already in all-vance estimated at thirty years, because Japan would begin by sweeping America out of the South Pacific, and America would have to embark on a long struggle and a huge shipbuilding policy. "Cairo."

Occur Asche's new production at His Majesty's called "Cairo" because the Lord Chamberlain feared that "Mecca" might set the whole Sahara and the Mohammedan East by the ears, is a conscientious attempt to go one better than his remarkable predecessor, "Chu Chin Chow," which made a record run of more than five years. It is simply a gorgeous, spectacular melodrama, with musical interludes. The scenery and costumes are very elaborate, often quite beautiful, and sometimes exceedingly daring. The music is slightly more pretentious than that of "Chu Chin Chow," but includes some pleasing Eastern melodies, and one or two hunting songs.

Mr. Asche swaggers through the piece in the role of a wrestler chief of strolling players, and his huge bulk makes one rather of a heavyweight boxing champion playing Falstaff. Miss Lily Brayton wears a lot of Egyptian costumes most effectively and sketches in her part of a naughty Sultana quite agreeably. There is a battalion of clever mimes, beautiful girls and old friends the camels and donkeys, reinforced this time by a battalion of tame white mice. Whether "Cairo" has the cohesive swing of "Chu Chin Chow" is an open question.

Ex-King Ludwig of Bavaria.

The death of the ex-King Ludwig of Bavaria recalls some strange episodes of court life of particular interest to British people. There is a double bond between England and Bavaria. The dead monarch was the son of Prince Luitpold, who long reigned as regent during the lives of his two nephews—Ludwig II. and King Otto—both of whom were declared insane. Luitpold was a close friend of Queen Victoria, who frequently consulted him on matters of diplomacy connected with continental policy, and this caused the Kaiser acute annoyance. Finally it was whispered that there was some thought of an alliance between an English princess and a son of the dead king, which led to an acrimonious exchange of letters between the "war lord" and his royal grandmother. The second bond between this country and Bavaria is of peculiar interest. Through his wife (the Archduchess Theresa of Austria Este, who died in last February), the English Jacobites recognize the monarch as the lawful King of England, the Archduchess being the direct descendant of Henrietta, daughter of Charles I. Ludwig treated the Jacobite claim as good-humored indifference, but his son, Prince Rupprecht (whose name was conspicuous during the war as commander of the Bavarian troops) takes it more seriously, and does not object to being called "His Majesty of Great Britain and Emperor of India."

SHERIFF BLISS ILL

(Frederick Gleazer.) James P. Bliss, high sheriff of Sunbury County, is critically ill at his home at Oromocto and fears were expressed this morning that his eventual recovery was unlikely. His daughter, Mrs. Cartmel, of Montreal, was summoned to his bedside, but has since returned home. Sheriff Bliss is sixty-six years old and has been sheriff of Sunbury county for about ten years, succeeding Sheriff Holden. He is a son of the late George J. Bliss, former clerk of the New Brunswick legislature, and has carried on farming operations in Sunbury county for many years.

Opinions of The Nations On Situation

(Canadian Press Despatch). Washington, Nov. 11.—The following expressions, in part, are from the principal delegations on the eve of the assembly on the armament conference: M. Briand, French prime minister: "We enter the conference in an earnest spirit to assist in reaching a common understanding that shall give peace of mind to the world instead of armed peace."

SENT UP FOR TRIAL IN STREET CAR CASE

The case in which John McShane and Leonard Craig were charged with placing obstructions on the street car tracks at the corner of King and Ludlow streets was concluded yesterday afternoon in the police court. The magistrate decided that there was barely sufficient evidence to send the accused up for trial but, he said, as there was not a strong presumption of guilt he would accept bail for the appearance of the two accused at the next sitting of the circuit court. Bail was fixed at $700 of which the two defendants each stood for $200 while J. B. Dever, J. W. Tait and Rev. Jacob Heaney each stood responsible for $100.

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND BODIES

Mrs. Howard Houlette, Waskatamusk, writes:—I wish to tell you how this benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters. My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scabs and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-cent piece, and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and they grew steadily worse. I had an equal for the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters which I commenced giving them at once. "In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better. In about one month the sores had all disappeared."

BITE OF BULLDOG SAVES SIX LIVES

Occupants of Burning House Roused in Time. (Toronto Mail and Empire). Through alertness shown by two bulldogs owned by Herbert Jagger of Long Branch, six persons who were asleep in his home were saved from probable death by fire yesterday morning. All were fast asleep when the fire started and it was rapidly gaining headway when the dogs found their way up to their master's bedroom, where one of them jumped upon his bed and awoke him by biting him. He hurriedly alerted his wife, his two children, his mother and Miss Florence Tone, Bathurst street, Toronto, who was on a visit. The flames had made such progress that the occupants had only time to escape in their night clothes, having to leave their valuables behind.

LENIN VS. WELLS

(The Independent) H. G. Wells, who knows the true Lenin, writes:—Review of December 8, 1920, and some readers protested that our judgment was too harsh. For his honesty in describing it he received and deserved praise; on the other hand, for the propheetic assurance with which he declared that all this wretchedness was the result of causes which the Bolshevik policy had nothing to do with, so far as we have observed, very little condemnation. The absurdity of his pronouncing this judgment without even pretending to sustain it by any argument was pointed out in The Weekly Review of December 8, 1920, and some readers protested that our judgment was too harsh. For his honesty in describing it he received and deserved praise; on the other hand, for the propheetic assurance with which he declared that all this wretchedness was the result of causes which the Bolshevik policy had nothing to do with, so far as we have observed, very little condemnation.

ARMISTICE DAY AND THE DAY AFTER

To the Editor of the Times:—It was nice to read in your issue of last night's Times a really good description of the first Armistice day from the pen of Elmer A. Belding, whom I met several times over there. On that day, was seen the exuberance of joy displayed on the one hand by an army which had daily for four years been struggling through this event, sometimes hoping against hope for its fulfillment, and on the other hand the citizens who had long looked for the day when the victorious army of the Allies would break through to their relief, and rid them of the hated foe.

AMERICAN WILDERNESS LIFE

"And so in these early times (the forties) men sought the wilderness life because of its exemptions from the artificial restraints of civilization," writes H. M. Chittenden. "Like old Jim Bridger, they found the canons of the cities (as he called the streets) too narrow for their robust freedom, and they longed for those grander avenues laid out by nature in the boundless region of the West." The fictitious barriers which society erects between man and man, the power of wealth, the exclusiveness of rank, were equal and shared the toll of the day and the rest of night with their fellows. Such conditions are always attractive. Moreover, long absence from the frontiers, especially from the larger towns like St. Louis, threw one out of touch with the old life, and it was difficult, if not impossible to pick up the thread where it was left off. There was a sense of awkwardness on the part of the returned wanderer, a feeling that the old places he used to fill were occupied by some one else that made him the more ready to get back into the prairies and mountains where conventionalities never stood in his way.

PORTLAND EPWORTH LEAGUE

The Senior Epworth League of the Portland Methodist church met last night in the Y. M. A. hall with the vice-president, Frank W. Merrill, in the chair. The programme was a missionary one and there was a large attendance of members. The theme discussed was launching of Christian missionary enterprise. Four readings were given: Miss Cora Carr in her reading spoke of the "Witness of the Resurrection"; Miss Nan MacDougall told of the Church in Jerusalem, Judea and Samaria; Ralph Kirk dealt with the first mission to the Gentiles and Miss Mildred Ferguson described the missionary journeyings of St. Paul. A business session followed and Miss Hattie Wright, the president, took the chair. Reports were received from the membership competition. The Reds won, having secured the largest number of members and arrangements for the Blues, being the losers, are to give next night. The membership now exceeds eighty.

Dr. Baxter, who was leader of the opposition in the provincial house, yesterday received the appointment of minister of customs and excise in the Meighin cabinet. He will be one of the government candidates in St. John-Albert. Dr. Jones, who was local member from St. John-Albert, has been selected by the Conservatives to contest the seat in Royal (St. John-Albert).

The preliminary work of calling conventions and of nominating candidates for the coming federal election has been practically completed. Of the two old line parties, both the Liberals and Conservatives have placed candidates in all the constituencies with the exception of one in each case. In Carleton-Victoria no Liberal has been nominated, and the Conservatives have not placed a candidate in the field to contest Kent. Of other parties, the United Farmers named six candidates for various constituencies, but owing to the retirement of E. W. Stairs, in York-Sunbury, and David W. Maxwell, in Charlotte, there are now but four in the field. The Laborites have named F. A. Campbell to run in St. John-Albert, and it is possible that a United Farmer will be named to be his running mate.

Following are the candidates in the various constituencies:
St. John-Albert—Liberals, Dr. W. P. Broderick and H. R. McLellan; Government, Dr. J. B. M. Baxter and Dr. Murray McLaren, C.M.G.; Labor, F. A. Campbell.
Royal (Kings-Queens)—Liberals, Dr. D. H. McAllister; Government, George B. Jones; United Farmers, G. R. Perkins.
Westmorland—Liberals, A. B. Copp.

"Double the Amount"

would have meant double the satisfaction," said a highly pleased Policyholder a few days ago when receiving the return of his Policy the day it was due. "The fact is, I consider this Endowment Policy the best investment I ever made, and I could easily have saved considerably more than double the amount of the annual deposit. From the moment I received the Policy, I enjoyed a feeling of security, knowing that in the event of anything happening, my family would be provided for. My advice to all young people is to 'play safe' and carry a guaranteed policy with The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company."

CRERAR HAS LIVELY TORONTO MEETING

(Canadian Press Dispatch.)
Toronto, Nov. 11.—Tonight, in Massey Hall, Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, faced the largest audience of his campaign. It was his first meeting in a big industrial centre, and although there were interruptions from time to time, the reception Crerar got evidently gratified him keenly.

As he sat down the audience gave him a prolonged cheer and, amid applause, passed a resolution in favor of running Progressive candidates in the Toronto constituencies.

Some of the interruptions gave rise to considerable amusement. Mr. Crerar, at one time, was speaking of the lack of population. Why had people left the country, he wanted to know.

"Prohibition drove them out," a voice replied, and there was a roar of laughter. "You will have to talk to Mr. Ranney about that," retorted Mr. Crerar with a smile.

A sharp exchange between Mr. Crerar and a heckler at another point came. Mr. Crerar was asking what Canada's needs were when the interjection "more factories" came from the back of the hall. "Why do you want more factories," Mr. Crerar warmly retorted, "when half of those you have are closed?"

In his speech, Mr. Crerar broke some new ground. On the disarmament conference, he took the view that Canada was not represented as she should be represented.

RUSSIAN ALLIANCE?
London, Nov. 11.—The Outlook, in its weekly publication, in the issue of today, asserted that the Russian Soviet Government had unofficially approached the United States Government with a view to concluding a Russo-American Alliance in opposition to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. The Soviet overtures were ignored, the periodical said.

GOVERNMENT WINS HORNSBY ELECTION
London, Nov. 11.—As the result of the voting today for the by-election in Hornsey, made vacant by the death of Kennedy Jones, the Conservatives were successful in electing their candidate, Viscount Ednam.

The result was: Viscount Ednam, Conservative, 15,899; Leslie Burgin, Independent Liberal, 13,913.

The Light for the Bathroom

—should be ample—abundant—adequate. A cheerful, brightly lighted bathroom has an air of warmth and comfort, while a dimly lighted place gives one the shivers merely to contemplate.

The best lighting effect is produced from the use of LACO NITRO Lamps. They give a flood of pure white light of high intensity, and are of highest possible quality. Try a Nitro Lamp in your bathroom and note the difference. You will never again go back to a carelessly, dimly lighted room. The best results from LACO NITRO Lamps are obtained when they are used in fixtures to diffuse the light and prevent glare.

The more closely you consider the mechanical details and scientific marvel of a LACO NITRO Lamp, the more you will wonder that it does not cost many times its price.

The Man Who Saves

At age 19 his bills exceed his income.

At age 21 his Canada Life Policy creates an estate and saves his money.

At age 35 his "bills" include a "premium due," which, while counted as an expense, is really a saving.

At age 50 he can "spend" anything in reason.

At age 60 he has no anxiety for the future, and leisure for his many interests.

can be more easily saved than most people imagine

If you look ahead you can easily picture how useful $30,000 would be to you. If you were to start in and save $200 each six months and let it compound at 5 1/2% you would have that substantial sum in 30 years, but—you know of many people who could have set aside this amount, yet who are still "drudging along."

You know yourself how hard it is to save cash. Human nature is such that very few people allow ready money to remain untouched for any length of time.

The Canada Life Plan

Provides that any sum you name will be delivered to you in cash at any age you desire, or to your beneficiary should you die in the meantime.

You see by this Plan how an IMMEDIATE ESTATE is created in event of death—the full face value of the insurance policy. At one stride you anticipate years of effort, you capitalize your present health and earning power, you make certain of many years of progress now. Take, for instance, an issued by the Canada Life. It makes saving money attractive, systematic and very profitable.

You can be certain that the full amount will be paid in any case whether you live or not. Other investments may fail—the Canada Life Endowment is a certainty. It will take care of your home, your business, your children's future, or yourself, as nothing else can.

Profits Will Hasten Maturity

If the profits are allowed to remain each year instead of being withdrawn and spent, a special clause provides that the face value of the policy will be paid some time well in advance of the due date.

Regular saving, an immediate estate, substantial profits, absolute safety—this is a combination that you should look into today.

Ask for particulars.

ENTERTAINED AT MUNICIPAL HOME.
Most Enjoyable Function at Norton Institution.

The annual entertainment given to those in the Municipal Home at Norton on November 7 was marked with special interest. The birthday of Ex-Mayor F. W. Wallace of Sussex occurs on the same date, and this year, his sixty-sixth birthday was commemorated, as for some years past, by a visit to the Home. Mrs. O. P. King, Mrs. A. Y. Monah, Mrs. W. F. Miles, Miss Gretchen Mills, A. M. Floyd, Lorne Kelley, Haddow Shields, F. W. Wallace, Captain McGowan, Lieutenant Lavoie and six little girls of the Salvation Army left Sussex on the one o'clock train on Saturday afternoon. Fruit, candy, cakes and other eatables, and picture books were furnished by the Sussex Mercantile Company, the Farmers' Store, Miss Gertrude Sherwood, Mrs. O. P. King, F. W. Wallace and the Salvation Army.

On their arrival at the Home the Sussex party was met by Rev. George Sears, the Misses Campbell and about sixteen other Norton friends. F. W. Wallace occupied the chair. The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Sears, after which the chairman, in a neat speech, explained the object of the annual gathering which is to give a little sunshine in the lives of those in the Home. The Salvation Army officers put on portions of a concert recital, a group of the Sussex barracks, consisting of scari drill, dumb-bell exercises and hoop drill by the little girls. The choir gave several songs and recitations. Mrs. King presided at the organ. The Sussex ladies sang several hymns, and Rev. Mr. Sears, at the request of the chairman, offered prayer for a happy settlement of the Irish question, the success of the conference now meeting at Washington, and removal of the unrest and repression in the affairs of the world. All present recited the Lord's Prayer.

After the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" Captain McGowan offered prayer and benediction, and the meeting closed with the national anthem. All present voted a desire that it would be made an annual reunion and a blessing to those who live in the Home.

J. A. Barry, solicitor for the Union Bus Co., this morning filed an appearance in the matter of the request of the New Brunswick Power Co. to the court for a ruling on the question of whether the power company has an exclusive franchise to act as common carriers in the city of St. John. It is expected that the case will be argued at the January session. Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., solicitor for the power company, said today that if the courts decided that the power company had exclusive franchise, an injunction would be issued restraining the Union Bus Co. from operating. The bus company was formed during the summer following a dispute between the New Brunswick Power Co. and its employees and is composed chiefly of former railway employees.

FIFTH ATTEMPT TO KILL HOTEL MAN WAS SUCCESSFUL

Victim Had Quarrelled with Bootleggers and was Slain by Blackhanders—Sought Own Vengeance.

Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 12.—The fifth attempt to murder Luigi Apceella, proprietor of the Grand Union Hotel in Wood street here, proved successful this week when he was shot through the heart in a bakery near his hotel, after he had attempted to shoot half-dozen men there with a shotgun and a pistol. Apceella, who lived with his wife and four children in his hotel, had within the last eighteen months been shot at twice and had been blown out of bed by bombs placed at the entrance to his hotel because he refused to comply with demands of black-handers that he deliver to them $5,000.

According to the police, who arrested four men in connection with the murder, Apceella's hotel had been the rendezvous for men known to be identified with the bootlegging business in this part of Connecticut and had been raided half-a-dozen times as a disorderly resort. About a year and a half ago, they said, the hotel proprietor had a quarrel with the leader of a band of Italian criminals who frequented his place, and soon after he received a warning that he had been marked for death.

He scoffed at the warning, but the next night, while he was standing behind the bar in his hotel, a stranger entered and shot him through the right shoulder. The assailant disappeared before the arrival of a policeman, and when detectives endeavored to obtain a description of the gunman from the hotel-keeper he replied: "The police don't need to butt in to this thing. I'll get the fellow responsible for this shooting myself."

Less than a week later, while Apceella was standing in the same position a gunman fired several shots through the window in front of the barroom which narrowly missed the hotelkeeper, and smashed a large mirror in the back of the bar. Again the hotelkeeper refused to aid the police in their investigation of the shooting.

Explosion of Bomb.
The attempt to take his life was followed several weeks later by the explosion of a bomb in front of the hotel, and directly under the suite occupied by Apceella and his family. Although the bomb did considerable damage to the hotel, nobody was injured. Two months ago the second bomb was exploded at the entrance to the hotel. This time Apceella and three of his children, as well as several guests were painfully hurt by flying splinters of wood and glass, and the entire front of the building was wrecked.

As in the previous attempts on his life, Apceella blocked the efforts of the police to run down the would-be assassins. In the meantime detectives had learned from other Italians in the vicinity that Apceella, in an attempt to prevent what appeared to be certain assassination, placed a considerable sum of money for his enemies in the cemetery at Rowayton, a suburb of this place. This action, they said last night followed the receipt of a letter from the blackmailers in New York. Shortly before nine o'clock, Apceella, who had been drinking during the day, left his hotel with a short-barreled shotgun under his coat and a pistol in his hip pocket. He walked to the bakery of Jacob Bertino, a few doors from his hotel, and as he stepped in the front door, levelled his shotgun at four men standing near the entrance.

"Now I've got you," he was quoted as saying, "and I'm going to get even for the past." As he spoke, however, one of the men nearest him, grabbed the shotgun, and a few seconds several others were pummeling the hotel-keeper. Apceella backed off a few paces, and pulling the pistol from his pocket, fired three shots, one of which grazed the right thumb of Michael Formino. Before he could fire another shot a man in the rear of the store sent a bullet through Apceella's heart. As he dropped to the floor, the four men started to run into the street, but a policeman, who had heard the shooting, ran up and arrested the wounded man, Bertino, the proprietor of the bakery, the latter's brother, Charles, and Samuel Liberto.

HELIGOLAND AS FORTRESS WIPED OUT

Hamburg, Nov. 12.—(By Canadian Press)—Heligoland as a German fortress has been wiped out under the supervision of the Inter-Allied Commission, and little remains today of the once powerful fort. The work of demolition has been going on for two years, and while not entirely completed yet the commission, of which Admiral Sir Edward Charlton is the head, is said to be satisfied that the island of Heligoland never again can be a menace to the Allies. What little is left of the harbor, including the land reclaimed from the sea by Germany, it is expected will be gradually destroyed by the North Sea.

The work yet to be done in the demolition of the fortress is expected to be completed by next April. Then a final inspection will be made by the commission, and it is expected that Heligoland will then be handed back to Germany, under the provisions of the peace treaty. The commission has withdrawn the officers in control of the work of demolition, and the remainder of the undertaking has been left in German hands. Quarterly visits will be paid to the work by the commission until it is entirely completed.

The commission has left nothing to be taken for granted, even though the German authorities have aided, rather than hampered, the progress of the work. Naval officers have seen the great guns cut into pieces. In the destruction of the vast stores of explosives, where there is no residue to produce as evidence, they have personally watched the burnings. Admiral Charlton is said to be satisfied that very little in the way of warlike stores can have been concealed.

Besides the destruction of guns at Heligoland, gun emplacements and harbor works, on the island have been broken up. In addition to guns, many of which were very large, batteries of howitzers and aircraft guns have been demolished.

In order to make certain that Heligoland can not be utilized again as a site which to build a harbor for warships the commission has placed blocks of stone and concrete about the bed of the harbor so that dredging will not be possible.

McClary's

Cast Iron Ranges and Stoves

NO MATTER what your stove or range need may be, there is a McClary's that will fill it—will give the service, be it light for a small family, or heavy and exacting for a big household.

Whether your purse demands a range at an economical price with efficiency and durability, or whether you demand a range of the highest development with every refinement which seventy years' experience can suggest—you can get what you want in McClary's series of high-class stoves and ranges.

In the McClary's series of cast-iron ranges there is a range for every kind of service ever demanded of a range, and that service McClary's guarantees the range to perform.

McClary's Rob Roy Range
The Rob Roy is the third in the series of McClary's cast-iron ranges, and is handsomely designed and trimmed. It is an AI baker and cooker. The oven is good sized. A high shelf, a large broiler door, large ash pan, swing hearth, are some of the features which make the Rob Roy the popular medium priced range.

McClary's

McClary's Pandora Range
No range we have ever built has won its way to the hearts of housewives as has the Pandora.

Absolutely reliable all the time; economical of fuel, easy to manage; handsome in appearance, it is truly a housewife's friend. Made of heavy cast-iron; sectional fire box; triple grates which are easily rocked because only one at a time is shaken; large ash pan, double heat circulation, oven ventilated and made with nickel-plated steel walls, equipped with wire meshed glass oven door and thermometer if desired—You cannot think of a feature you would want in a range that is lacking in the Pandora. The Pandora range is made in six sizes.

McClary's Gloria Range
The Gloria Range is a well-constructed, practical and efficient range, built with a view to secure economy in price while, at the same time, maintaining the McClary's reputation for efficiency. The Gloria is a medium sized range, with an oven 18 inches square by 11 inches high. The fire box is properly proportioned to the oven, and the flue arrangement assures the greatest economy of fuel by putting to use all the heat generated. The Gloria has a burnished top easily cleaned; and has many features designed for the easy management of the range.

McClary's Casroy
At the price for which the Casroy is sold no one needs to be without a good stove. It is built as carefully as the Pandora or any other McClary's product. The Casroy has 4 cooking holes, a roomy, reliable oven, nickel-plated towel bar, knobs, etc. A generous sized reservoir gives a good supply of hot water. The Casroy is a fine stove at a price to meet the modest purse.

Smith, First Class badge to Patrol Leader Ronald Garvie; Grade "A" All Round Cord to Patrol Leader Ronald Garvie, Laundryman badge to Scouts W. Smith and W. Daley, Mason badge to Scout W. Smith, W. Daley, W. Moore, W. Scott, C. Masters, H. Hope, F. Bridgen, E. McInnis.

14th Troop—Victoria St.

The troop held its weekly meeting on Friday, the 4th inst., with almost a full turnout. Two new members were welcomed into the Troop. Quite a lot of Second Class badge tests were passed. The Court of Honor met and despatched routine business. A hike was held on Thanksgiving under Troop Leader Webster.

15th Troop—Centenary.

A very successful hike was held on Thanksgiving Day to Frying Pan Lake. Upon arrival Patrol Leader Goodwin had a fine going and several of the Scouts qualified for the Cooks badge. We hope to hold a series of hikes during the winter.

17th Troop—Trinity.

On Monday, Thanksgiving Day, the troop hiked to Brandy Brook and after cooking dinner and playing some scout games, hiked for several of the evening. The Court of Honor met and completed routine business. Regarding the pointed questions in last week's column we are glad to answer yes to all of them.

1st Pack—Trinity.

Quite a number of new boys joined the pack on Wednesday evening. Tenderpad and Proficiency Status of the boys are up, and several of the boys are ready to be invested as Tenderpad Wolf Cubs.

10th Pack—Mission.

There has been this week quite an activity in the 10th St. John's Pack. On Monday (Thanksgiving Day) part of the pack was out for a hike with their cubmaster and the day was cold. Notwithstanding the bad weather all enjoyed themselves immensely and returned home in the evening tired but happy. Another event of importance came off on Wednesday evening. Instead of the regular meeting the Cubs were treated to a bean supper given by Mrs. Fred Chaplin, who was assisted by Mrs. Foster. The boys all did well to the feast and the general impression was that the two cakes, which had been so kindly donated by Mrs. Young and Mrs. Rowland Frith were the best they had ever eaten. After the eat, Rev. Father Young, the chaplain, gave a very fine address to the boys and the evening was concluded in the investiture of six Cubs with their Tenderpad badges.

V. C. Timberley conducted the investiture ceremonies. The pack has been very fortunate in procuring Richard Whitecomb as the assistant cubmaster and without doubt a better man could not have been obtained for this position. Let us all congratulate Mr. Whitecomb on his decision in joining this good movement and wish him the best of luck and success in this venture.

By The Way.

You all know by now that our equipment department has been transferred to the Philatheas. The quarter-master's department has issued price lists and order forms to all chartered troops and packs. We want you all to support our equipment department as well as you have in the past supported your own. The quarter-master, George Ferguson, visited district headquarters this week and is promised to give us a twenty-four hour service. The equipment department will not fill any orders not leaving the scoutmaster's or cubmaster's signature and the number of your troop or pack charter.

GERMAIN STREET PHILATHEAS.

INTERNAL BATHS CHECK
DEADLY EFFECTS OF
HARDENING OF ARTERIES

High blood pressure, meaning hardening of the arteries and heart disease, is common and, unless checked, becomes dangerous after the age of forty. As is well known, the blood pressure is regulated by the arteries. Hence it should be our aim to keep our arteries as young as possible.

The best means of reducing blood pressure, and preventing hardening of the arteries lies in taking sufficient outdoor exercise and in keeping the system well regulated. Constipation must not be permitted to exert its harmful effects. It is the cause of auto-intoxication (or self-poisoning) with many attendant ills—headaches, biliousness, lack of energy, sleeplessness, indigestion, etc.

The one means of effectually reaching the seat of these ailments is the Internal Bath. Pure warm water, applied with the J. B. Cascade, cleanses and purifies the intestinal tract and removes the poisonous waste which accumulates there. The use of medicines for constipation is harmful.

The J. B. Cascade will be shown and explained to you by E. Clinton Brown, Druggist, Union and Waterloo streets, and by F. W. Munro, 325 Main street, St. John's, N. B.

WHERE, OH WHERE IS OUR SIR HENRY?

Why is Not the Finance Minister in the Struggle to Save the Sacred Tariff? (Halifax Chronicle)

If there is one thing upon which the admirers and official propagandists of Mr. Meighen delight to dilate it is the quality of courage possessed by the Prime Minister.

Now if that were so we should expect that the member of the government responsible for the tariff would be a man greatly in the public eye, that he would be proceeding from point to point addressing the electors and expounding the tariff policy of the government.

It seems to be necessary to make this statement plain, for Sir Henry Drayton, instead of being conspicuous in the public eye, seems to have disappeared almost wholly from public view.

The truth is that Sir Henry Drayton is in the unfortunate predicament of a man without an electoral home.

When your head is dull and heavy your tongue furred, your bowels constive, when you have no appetite, when you feel tired and weary, when you have no interest in life, your stomach is at fault.

PEACE OR THE SWORD?

*The Nations Meet in Washington To-Day!
A World Looks On—Anxious—Hoping—*

"Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hope of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!"

Washington Will Be the Capital of the World During the Arms Congress. There the question will be decided whether the civilized peoples of the world are to abjure war, and whether the battleship and siege-gun are to become as obsolete as the Roman catapult. Hundreds of millions are watching anxiously. The great Conference is being discussed in every civilized country on earth. What are they all saying about it? What are their hopes, and fears, and criticisms, and demands? It is necessary not only to know our own mind but to know also the view-point of all other peoples, especially of those most vitally concerned in the outcome.

Therefore The Literary Digest has gathered from all the four corners of the earth the opinions of statesmen and people as reflected in their press. This is one of the great features of the November 12th issue, now on sale.

The Composite Mind of the British Empire is disclosed, as from that far-flung "dominion over palm and pine" come evidences of a spontaneous entente between the English-speaking peoples of the earth. The Literary Digest presents the views of England, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, and the British West Indies.

The Spirit of Japan is Revealed Through Her Native Press. Important translations show the attitude of the Japanese toward the Conference and their opinions on the Chinese question, naval bases established by the United States in the Pacific, disarmament of navies, neutrality of the Panama Canal, and other troublesome problems.

China's Voice Is Heard through this Congress of Press and Popular Opinion which is gathered in The Literary Digest.

France Speaks Frankly the Things in Her Heart, and her views are open for all the world to read in this week's Literary Digest.

All Europe, from The Hague to Constantinople, is represented in this World Forum, and a study of the composite mind of European and Eastern peoples toward the Arms Congress and the issues to be decided there is of vital interest to all Americans. Nowhere else can this be found. If you want to know the real feeling of the world toward the effort for reduction of armaments now being made in Washington you must have this issue of THE LITERARY DIGEST.

MANY STARTLING FACTS, known to the Conference, will influence any action it may take. These facts are not easily accessible to the public. Without them intelligent discussion is impossible. There is one way to get a comprehensive grasp of the many facts which must be weighed and related before any conclusion can be reached. THE LITERARY DIGEST has with great care gathered these facts, and made them plain with diagrams, pictures, charts, and maps, in its ISSUE OF NOVEMBER 12th, which is

A VERITABLE MAGAZINE ENCYCLOPEDIA ON DISARMAMENT

It has permanent value and you will want to keep it for frequent reference during the sessions of the Conference. The edition necessarily is limited and will be sold out quickly. Buy your copy from your news-dealer at once. Every number of The Literary Digest during the next few months will keep you fully posted on the developments in and out of the Conference, as one feature of its world-wide service which some five million Americans are now enjoying from week to week.
