ST. JOHN GIVES SOLDIER HEROES A JOYOUS WELCOME

Imposing Procession, First Feature of Joy Day, Proves Great Success

Streets Thronged With Happy, Welcoming People to See Sights and Pay Tribute to Soldiers

Celebration Recalls Old-Time Festivities Which Stand Out in History of The City—Baseball Games, Harbor Regatta, Band Concerts And Fireworks Fill Out The "Joy Day" Programme

"Joy Day" has opened auspiciously and with the festivities well under way no room is left for doubt of the success of the great day planned in honor of the returned soldiers of New Brunswick.

The big feature of the day was the mammoth parade which was held this morning. Older citizens recalled the parades of other days and doubted whether the present generation could match their efforts.

The parade got away promptly about ten o'clock and as it proceeded through the gaily decorated streets thronged with citizens and visitors, exclamations of pleasure and congratulation were heard on every side.

It was not merely a local demonstration, for in the line of march were representatives not only of other parts of the province but also of the neighboring State of Maine.

THE MUSIC

The playing of the bands was an especially attractive feature of the parade. There were quite a few of them and the playing was good. The visiting bands from Moncton and Fredericton were heartily welcomed while the local bands lived up to their standard in popular favor.

CROWDS ORDERLY

The crowds of people along the line of route were very large. In King street they stood from six to ten rows deep on both sides while in all buildings along the line the windows were filled with eager faces.

Those in the reviewing stand in King square were Mrs. M. E. Edwards, Miss Nan Beock, Mrs. G. A. Kubring, the mayor and commissioners, R. E. Armstrong, E. A. Schiffeld, Rev. Major Hooper, C. Wardroper, C. B. Allan and R. S. Ritchie.

THE WAY THEY WERE ARRANGED

The order of parade as it passed the starting point at King street east was: Two mounted policemen, Harry Donahue and Robert Lindsay. Returned soldier policemen, ten in number—John Linton, Edwin Thomas, James Powers, Cecil McLean, Ralph Dykeman, Walter Coughlan, Joseph Paul, David Arbour, Wm. O'Dell, J. McElhenney.

Four Figures to Count Visiting Veterans Here for Joy Day

On all trains and boats coming to the city yesterday large numbers of returned soldier and friends from various parts of the province kept arriving, while the early trains today added to the numbers. In addition, many motor parties arrived and in this connection it is believed that the number of automobiles from outside points in the city at one time was never greater.

As Hiram Sees It

The Settlement, Aug. 14

When Mr. Hiram Hornbeam returned home last evening from the city he wore an air of importance that prompted Mrs. Hornbeam to ask him if he had been asked to run in the next election for county councillor. It was not until after supper and the chores, however, that Hiram explained the cause of his manifest elation.

"We had a meeting this afternoon," he said, "to count up how many people we'd let the prince shake hands with. They threw me out just after we got started, because I said this was a free country and he could shake hands all round if he wanted to. One of them Ottawa fellers give a sign to two more and they landed me on the sidewalk and I told me I could think myself lucky I wasn't put in a cage where I couldn't stand up or lay down for a week. I told 'em it 'ud suit Ottawa a darned sight better to tell us whether they're going to go on the side-tracks at St. John or the harbor or whether they're going to put us in the same class with Halifax and Quebec. Yes, sir, I said more'n that. I told 'em if they'd come outside the city limits I'd walk up their back an' give 'em a few lessons in how to make Canada safe for democracy. They didn't wait to hear all I said—but that ain't my fault. Wait till I see the Dook of Devonshire. Him an' me got quite chummy when he was here afore."

"Hiram," said Mrs. Hornbeam, "you know that hen that had her nest out. I found it today in the barn with eight chickens in it. You must 'ave fell over it forty times. If you didn't think an' talk so much about them tuff-thunkers at Ottawa you'd get more feathers 'at home."

"Next to a woman," said Hiram, "a hen is the most obstinate creature on air. Bein' a female you never know what it's goin' to do next."

"Well," said Mrs. Hornbeam, "I know what I'm goin' to do. I'm goin' to bed. If you want to keep this poor man awake with your long yawns the roosters won't forget to crow in the mornin'." She then always counted on them.

"Hiram," said the Times reporter, knocking the ashes out of his pipe, "that's a hallelujah. Good-night."

UNCERTAINTY OVER SITUATION IN HUNGARY

One Report Says Rumania Demands Annexation

THREAT TO RAVAGE LAND

Statement Said to be Presented to Archduke Joseph Attacks Great Britain and States—An Other Report Says Rumanian About to Quit Budapest

Vienna, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—A statement attacking Great Britain and the United States, demanding that Hungary be united with Rumania under the sovereignty of King Ferdinand, and threatening to strip Hungary if the Rumanian army is forced to withdraw from that country has been presented to Archduke Joseph head of the Hungarian government by the authorized Rumanian representative at Budapest, according to despatches received here.

The text of the statement according to report, follows:— "There are 250,000 workmen in Rumania who are only waiting for the Rumanians to leave Hungary to take their situation into their own hands, which means the return of Rumania to the Hungarian government cannot depend upon the Entente Powers for assistance for those powers have withdrawn all their troops from Rumania, and America is unwilling to send a single soldier. We do not trust the Entente, which want only to humiliate us. We are willing to withdraw our troops if necessary, starting tomorrow morning, but we will carry off everything and strip the country, as Field Marshal Mackensen did in Rumania."

"The only grudge the Entente has against us is that we refuse to have British and American capital dominate Rumania. Hungary must follow Rumania's policy in not accepting British and American capital. Whatever remains after the Rumanians are driven would be taken by the Entente anyway. The Entente idea is to have Rumania and Hungary fight and destroy each other, the Entente thereby getting all there is only one policy for Hungary to pursue, that is a junction between Hungary and Rumania, ruled by the Rumanian king. We do not care who the Entente or Premier Clemenceau or France wants to do or is doing. We will follow our own policy."

"We expect an answer from Archduke Joseph, head of the government by eight o'clock tonight. If an answer is not received by that time, we shall in form Bucharest, which will decide what action should be taken."

First Federal Conviction in States for Profiteering—New Stringent Regulations Proposed

Washington, Aug. 14.—Important new development in the government's fight to reduce the high cost of living came yesterday. One of the most interesting was the announcement by Attorney-General Palmer that the first federal conviction for profiteering had been obtained. District Attorney Lacey telegraphed from Birmingham that a retail grocer had been fined $500 for jelling sugar at a price ten cents a pound. No details were given and the law under which the case was brought was not known here.

"A few good cases of profiteering in each state will settle that trouble," Mr. Palmer remarked. In order to bring to book persons guilty of raising prices exorbitantly or hoarding food to advance prices, Mr. Palmer submitted to the draft of an amendment to the food control act extending its provisions to clothing and containers of foods and feeds, and providing a penalty of $5,000 fine or two years' imprisonment or both for violation of the law.

M. Antonesco continues by saying that "the happy result" of Rumania's intervention has been to permit Allied and Associated representatives to re-enter Budapest and the suppression of Bolshevik propaganda. He says that it is now the task of the Allies, with Rumania's assistance, to install in Budapest a government with which a definite peace may be concluded.

"I am sure," he concluded, "the Allies will find our representatives devoted and friendly collaborators. The bonds of union between France and Rumania especially are too strong ever to be broken for mere questions of form."

Berlin, Aug. 13.—According to a Budapest despatch the new Hungarian cabinet is as follows:— Premier, M. Lovassy; foreign minister, Count Julius Andrássy; minister of war, Stephen Friedl; minister of public welfare, Garamé Peidl; minister of agriculture, Stephen Szabo; minister of education, Herr Huszar.

Prices, Profits And What to do About Them

Action by Governments in Great Britain and Canada in Strong Contrast With Apathy Shown by Dominion Authorities

(Toronto Globe.) Within the past few days two governmental policies aiming to check profiteering and the high cost of living have been propounded—one in Great Britain, the other in the United States. The British programme throws the responsibility upon local bodies, representing the consumers, labor, and the mercantile community. Newspapers of all parties accuse the government of an evasion of duty. Similar reports covering other commodities are promised. The president's recommendations were in brief: (1) That the Food Control Act be extended to peace-time operation.

(2) That congress exclude from interstate as well as intra-state shipments goods which do not comply with the provisions of the act. (3) That substantial penalties for profiteering be provided. (4) That a time limit be placed on cold-storage, and that all goods released from cold-storage be marked with the prices prevailing at entrance. (5) That goods in interstate commerce be marked with the prices at which they left the producers. (6) That corporations engaged in interstate commerce be under a license system embodying regulations to insure competitive selling and prevent "unconscionable profits in the method of marketing." Canada has no legislation corresponding to these proposals. "A process has set in," said the president, "which is likely, unless something is done, to push prices and rents and the whole cost of living higher and yet higher in a vicious circle to which there is no logical or natural end." The situation is the same in this country, and it is not generally believed that the public authorities are trying earnestly to grapple with it. The light of publicity was turned on some abuses by the parliamentary committee during its too brief sitting. Since then Dr. McFall, dominion cost of living commissioner, has found that a combine exists in sanitary and plumbing supplies, "whose activities are particularly pernicious," and he reports "infractions of the law in the matter of articles of clothing and some of the most important foodstuffs, as well as less vital articles in domestic consumption." Another government official, Professor Jackman, has more recently issued a tell-tale report on the Canadian canning combine. But so far no move has been made to prosecute any offenders. Moral suasion has been used on the canning combine, but nothing stronger has been applied to any of the men who have been indicted out of court by public agents. Canadians cannot but grow impatient and indignant when they contrast the apathy of the Canadian authorities with the vigorous action of the federal and state governments across the line against profiteers and violators of the anti-combine laws. The criminal code of Canada prohibits combinations in restraint of trade, and provides penalties. Government officials report infractions of the code, and the attorney-general of Ontario upon whom rests the duty of prosecution, sits with deaf ears and folded hands. We are told that the new federal board of commerce will scrutinize industrial combinations and regulate prices so as to prevent exorbitant profits on articles in which there is restricted competition. It is not even organized yet. When is it going to begin work? And are all the offenses of the past and present to be ignored both at Ottawa and Toronto?

REMARKABLE CHIMPANZEE DEFIED ENGLISH CLIMATE Recently there died a chimpanzee which had spent the eight years of his life defying all the rules laid down for the well being of chimpanzees. His name was Antony and he was the only one of his tribe of monkeys who ever managed to stand an English climate unmitigated by artificial heat. He came from the Congo in 1911, when he was very young and small. At that time he weighed fourteen pounds, by last summer he was just six times as heavy. During the whole period of his civilized life he was kept in a brick building facing southwest and unheated and he slept in straw without blankets. Chocolates and sweets—poison to ordinary chimpanzees—were the special treats in Antony's dietary, and he had a less preferable fancy for beans—Manchester Guardian.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs (Beauty Notes.) Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone. They were talking of the great wars fought in the days when the old world was considerably younger. "But you know," Briggs said, "it always seems to me that those old warriors were very much like our modern financiers." "What on earth do you mean?" asked Briggs. "Well, they were always investing some one else's capital, weren't they?"

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy suds, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, sandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mulified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

THERE IS DANGER IN TENDER GUMS To preserve healthy teeth the ordinary tooth-paste is futile. You must first care for the gums, on which tooth health depends. How many people think of this? Yet four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-decay, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). At first the gums become tender, perceptible. But in time receding gums will surely loosen your teeth, and then only a dentist can save them. The tender, bleeding gums of Pyorrhea also act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—inflicting joints or tonils—or causing other ailments. Forhan's (For the Gums) prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. This means that it prevents gum-shrinkage, gum-tenderness, gum-bleeding. So, automatically, Forhan's prevents tooth loosening. Brush your teeth with it. It scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All Druggists. FORHAN'S, LTD., 307 St. James St., Montreal.

CHEER, AND PUT YOUR HEART INTO IT.

The soldier sons, our welcome guests, marching today through the streets of a proud and grateful city are true descendants of those who fought at Waterloo at Balaklava, on the Plains of Abraham, and in many another historic struggle that advanced "the meteor flag of England" and made it typify liberty and justice the world around.

Of the northern breed are said to be a cold race. In the words of the bard who best puts into verse the accomplishments and the spirit of the race,

"Deeper than speech our love, stronger than life our tether, But we do not fall on the neck nor kiss when we come together."

The race, in comparison with others, is cold on the surface, but the fire is there all the same, and when circumstances awaken it the heat is mighty and enduring. And that same poet craved penetrating knowledge of the Empire, and a touch of prophecy too, when he wrote—

"Also, we will make promise. So long as The Blood endures, I shall know that your good is mine: Ye shall feel that my strength is yours; In the day of Armageddon, at the last great fight of all, That our House stand together, and the pillars do not fall."

How well the House withstood the shock of the great war, the supreme test of Empire and of the race's fibre, all the world knows today; and we here by the sea, as we greet the veterans of New Brunswick, and make ready to greet the future Sovereign of the Empire, do well to keep these things in mind—the glorious facts and their profound significance.

Cheer then, and put your heart into it! The events of today and tomorrow will be memorable, marking as they do a mighty milestone in the rich and stirring history of the Lion and the Lion's Cubs.

rowing in their losses, but ever confident of final victory through their valor. St. John is proud of your record, gallant soldier sons. Today, the city is yours, and we feel honored to call you our guests. We rejoice to have those who have come through the campaign again with us, and though our joy is not untouched with sorrow for the memory of those who laid down their young lives for us on the fields of France and Flanders, it is a joyful sorrow—joy in the knowledge that theirs was the sacrifice of unselfish heroism, the spirit that put the Canadians as a whole in the highest place in the corps of the Empire, the spirit with which the great host which has returned will carry on against all enemies which may threaten the existence of our great country and enable them to win just as great a victory over the forces of evil in their civilian life as they did in their struggle against the armed hordes of Prussiaism on the other side of the Atlantic.

While the professional humorist makes fun for others, it is not all pleasant with himself. This is true of the stage comedian, the newspaper joke writer, and the artists of the comic supplements. Such must enjoy relaxation or his work will show the strain. And so Times readers must do without Matt and Jeff for a brief spell while "Bud" Fisher takes his popular puppets away on a holiday.

The sun, clearing away this morning's fog, gave promise of a cheery first day in our dual celebration. That was all that was needed for success.

The decorations in many sections beyond the centre of the city are not profuse. Can not better be done for the Prince tomorrow?

Mrs. Peter Peterson of Sandusky, O., paid $10 for the word "Safe," cabled collect by a son with the American forces in Russia. "I never before got so much for my money," said the mother, who, not having heard from her son in months had thought him dead.

In a crowded omnibus a stout woman vainly endeavored to get her fare out of the pocket of her cloak, which was tightly buttoned as a precaution against pickpockets, relates Titi-Bits. After she had been working in vain for some minutes, a gentleman seated on her right side said, "Please allow me to pay your fare." The lady declined with some coyness, and recommenced her attacks on the pocket. After these had continued for some little time her fellow passenger said, "You really must let me pay four fare. You have already undone my braces three times, and I can not stand it any longer."

RECENT DEATHS

Robert Billings.

The news of the death of Robert Billings, of St. Andrew's, will come as a great shock to many throughout the province. Mr. Billings had risen from the supper table on the evening of Tuesday, August 12, and had barely seated himself to read when he slipped forward dead. Mr. Billings was well known and highly regarded in St. Andrew's where he at one time conducted a meat and provision store in partnership with Andrew Lamb. He was also at one time fishery inspector under the Liberal government and throughout his life was a consistent and ardent Liberal in politics. Mr. Billings is survived by a sister, Miss Fannie who resides with her at St. Andrew's, and a sister and brother living in the United States. The deceased was supposedly in the best of health and was about sixty-two or sixty-three years of age. He was a native of St. Andrew's.

A. R. Purdy.

The many friends of A. R. Purdy will regret to hear of his death which occurred yesterday at his residence, Upper Jernise. He was in his eighty-fourth year and has been in failing health for some time. He is survived by two sons, J. Dykeman Purdy, of this city, and Orselo Purdy, at home, and by four daughters, Mrs. W. L. Hurder and Mrs. N. S. Springer, of this city; Mrs. Fulton Barnaby, Moncton, and Miss N. Purdy, at home.

J. Townsend Lansing.

Digby, N. S., Aug. 13—An aged summer visitor in the person of J. Townsend Lansing, of Albany (N. Y.) died here last night after an illness of but a few days of pneumonia. He was about eighty years of age. Mrs. Lansing was the only one of his family who was with him at the time of his death. His half-brother G. Y. Lansing, had been sent for and had left Albany with a doctor and nurse, but did not get here until today. J. E. Rice took charge of the remains and they were forwarded today to Albany.

BOSTON POLICEMEN FORBIDDEN TO JOIN

Commissioner Has Issued Order Against Their Being Members of New Union

Boston, Aug. 14—Police Commissioner Curtis has forbidden Boston policemen joining the new policemen's union which is being organized in this city, in a general order, the strongest of several issued by the commissioner recently dealing with this subject.

"It is one of the most sweeping orders affecting members of the department issued for some time. It falls upon the person that the police department of this or any other city cannot fulfill its duty to the entire public if his organization existing outside the department is a well recognized fact. It is a well recognized fact that a police officer is not an employe but a state officer. He is charged with the impartial enforcement of the law under the direction of a commissioner who is himself a statutory officer.

"The following rule interferes in no wise in a policeman's interests and activities as a man and a citizen. It does, however, forbid him and the department from coming under the direction and control of any organization which represents but one element or class of the community. If troubles and disturbances arise where the interests of this organization and the interests of other elements and classes in the community conflict, the situation immediately arises that always two masters—he must fall either in his duty as a policeman or in his obligation to the organization that controls him. Therefore the following is hereby added to and made part of Rule 85 of the Rules and Regulations and designed as section 19 of said rule:—

"No member of the force shall join or belong to any organization, club or body composed of present or former members of the force which is affiliated with or a part of any organization, club or body outside the department except that a post of the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Spanish War Veterans and the American Legion of World's War Veterans may be formed within the department."

Motor Car Owners Fined.

In the police court yesterday afternoon Jacob Fisher was fined $10 for driving on the wrong side of the street; the same amount was demanded of Edward Basen for not stopping when ordered to do so; Garfield Brown and Fred Glynn, found guilty of traffic law infractions were each asked for $10 each. A case against Louis Royanar was dismissed and Warren G. Walters was fined $10 for exceeding the speed limit at the I. C. R. crossing.

U. S. District Court decided in a test case that the new income tax law of New York State is unconstitutional in its relation to non-residents of the state.

THE RICHEST YOUNG WOMAN IN THE WORLD

His Daughter, Aged 22 Years,
Heiress to Andrew Carnegies
Millions

Interested in Charities—She is Wife of Young American Naval Officer—Her Father Believed to Have Left a Fortune of $500,000,000

Heiress to the Carnegie millions is his only daughter, Margaret, since April 23
Mrs. Rowell Miller.

"The richest heiress in the world" has been the easy expression most people have referred to in speaking or writing about her.

In 1897 there was as much concern occasioned by her falling and injuring her ankle, as there were remarks made about her being the "luckiest girl in the world" when in 1902 her father presented to her a $2,000,000 place in New York as a Christmas present.

When Mr. Carnegie's six-year-old daughter was brought in to see the king on the occasion of the king's visit to Sikibo Castle, His Majesty asked the child for a kiss.

She complied readily and then invited the king to go to the nursery to see her doll. King Edward laughingly accepted the invitation and visited the nursery.

Miss Carnegie was graduated on May 27, 1916, from Miss Spence's school, 26
West 56th street, New York, and in December of the same year she was introduced to society at the Carnegie home, East 91st street. Her coming out was one of the most elaborate social affairs that had ever taken place. Guests attended from all parts of the United States as well as from England and France.

After her introduction to society, Miss Carnegie was prominent in the younger set, but gave much time to philanthropies. When the United States entered the war she also devoted a great deal of attention to war work in addition to her local charitable efforts.

It was said when the girl was twelve years old she first began to interest herself in Pittsburg charities and it is believed that her father since trained her to carry out his scheme of benefactions.

She and Ensign Miller met for the first time at a social affair at the latter's home. Their wedding on April 23 was the last social affair Mr. Carnegie attended in New York. She is twenty-two years old and her husband is twenty-four.

Ensign Miller, son of an ex-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, who died in 1918, had not completed his college course when war was declared.

In 1916 he left Stevens Institute in Hoboken, where he was taking a course in civil engineering to drive an ambulance in France, and when the United States became involved entered the navy.

Wealth Put at $500,000,000.

Estimates of Mr. Carnegie's wealth put it at possibly $500,000,000. When he retired in 1901 he sold his securities of the Carnegie Steel Corporation for $308,450,000 in bonds of that company. He was possessed of large interests in addition to those bonds. When he started in 1901 to endow his great benefactions he made proceeds into his capital for several years in gifts to libraries for peace propaganda, and to other philanthropic causes.

The fortune of $308,450,000 in 5 per cent bonds if allowed to increase by the accumulation of interest and reinvestment since 1901 would amount to about $1 billion dollars today, but his numerous benefactions prevented this. According to financial authorities, however, the ironmaster's ambition to die poor was

SERVANT PROBLEM SOLVED

Dinner Ready for the Table a New Activity of the U. S. Government

The maid may depart at a minute's notice, and her mistress, if she lives in Buffalo, will experience no sinking of the heart, for she can order meals for her family from the cooked-food centre, and the family machinery will run as if there had been no interruption. The Buffalo food centre is under the supervision of the home demonstration agent of the Department of Agriculture and the State College of Agriculture, and the Buffalo Home Bureau. Complete meals are sent out from it to be served in the individual homes. Its patrons have the family life that centres around the home dining-room table with the saving of fuel, labor, and food costs which comes through large scale operations.

The work in Buffalo started in a small way, but a few weeks' experience showed that the equipment was inadequate to handle the business that immediately developed. The cooking of meals was discontinued until alterations could be made, and on June 17 the centre was ready to handle business on a large scale.
Two hundred people came the first day, and the regular orders for dinners and luncheons continue to grow. The menus are prepared under the supervision of the home demonstration agent, so that they represent balanced meals. These menus are distributed to the patrons one week in advance, and the orders are returned to the kitchen several days in advance of the delivery of the meals. In this way materials may be ordered when they can be secured at the lowest possible figure.

the Thursday night dinner, which is in great demand by those fortunate house-

THE CROSS ROADS.

"Together we lay in the trenches,
Together we held the foe,
Together we sped across No man's Land
And laid the allean law.

"And now that the fighting is over Shall we take the opposing roads,
You to the joys of the primrose path,
We to the gall of the goods?"

"If so, there's a struggle before us,
And the end of it none can tell,
With you lies the mighty decision—
Shall it be heaven or hell?"

"If we work as we did in the trenches,
When no man's life was his own,
But each strove for the good of all
And worked till the work was done.

"We can make this land of ours
The happiest land on earth;
When all men strive for the good of all,
And none shall suffer dearth.

"We are here at the cross-roads waiting,
We claim of our right fair play;
Shall we work as we did in the trenches
Or win by the rough, red way?"

This poem was quoted by Rev. Rob-Prebyterian church, Montreal, in a sermon preached recently.

Informality.
Mr. Root is fond of telling this story about himself. One day he said to his office boy, "Who has taken my wastepaper basket?"

"Mr. Johnson, sir, the caretaker" was the reply.
Some time later Mr. Root asked, "James, who opened that window?"

"Mr. Smith, sir, the window cleaner."
"Now, look here," said Mr. Root, "we call men by their first names here. We don't 'mister' them in this office. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir."
Ten minutes afterwards the door opened and the shrill voice of James was heard saying, "There's a man as wants to see you, Elihu!"

Rosey's Graveyard, near Vintage Penna. is a great heap of worn-out automobiles in which there are thousands of machines and parts of machines, from which automobile owners who are unable to get "parts" for their cars in the market may dig out what they want. During the war many users of foreign made cars resorted to this graveyard for their repairs. Any one machine ever thrown into the heap was ever "revived." Parts of several hundred other cars were used in its reconstruction—and it ran!

Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, says Hoboken, Montauk Point, will be used for 1,000-ton liners.

WOMAN HANGS HERSELF

Meiford, Aug. 12.—Martha B. Perry, aged sixty-one, took her life by hanging herself to a beam in the cellar of the house at 10 Chestnut street, where she lived with her son-in-law, James H. David, and her sister, Miss C. H. Barrows.

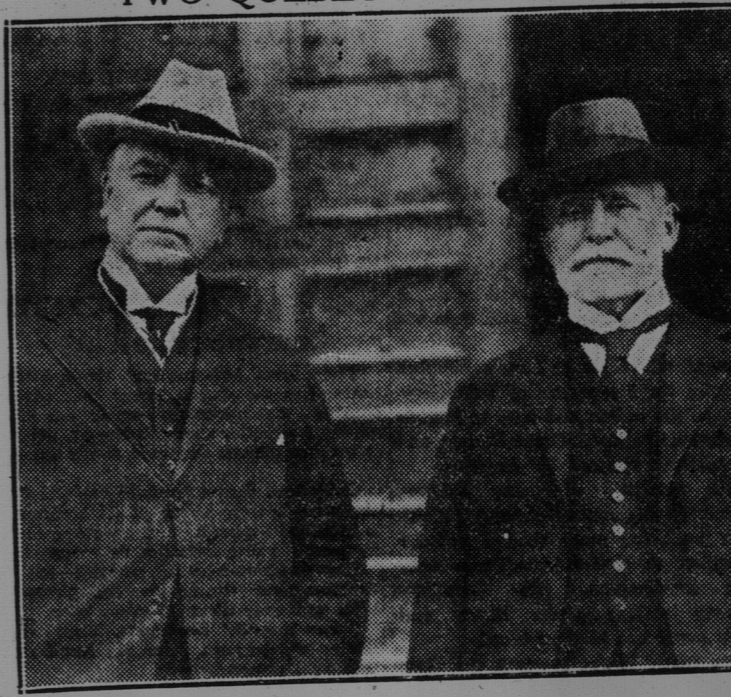

Perry had been in a morbid condition for some time. Miss Barrows discovered that her sister was not in her bed at five in the morning. She called to Mr. David to help find Mrs. Perry. He found the cellar door open, as his mother-in-law had left it and going into the cellar was confronted with the body swinging from a floor beam.

A butter fern under the beam was evidence of the way the woman had succeeded in accomplishing the suicide. Dr. Norman Chandler was called and found the death had occurred within an hour.

Mrs. Perry leaves, besides the relatives who lived with her, a son, R. A. Perry of Chicago.

LONDON COMMENT ON GREY APPOINTMENT

London, Aug. 14.—Viscount Grey's acceptance of the appointment of temporary British ambassador to the United States is given warm approval by the press here, which eulogizes his public services and for the most part regards his appointment as excellent. There is, however, dissatisfied criticism in some quarters not on the ground of Viscount Grey's fitness or his acceptability to the United States but because of the extraordinary responsibilities attached to the post at this moment. Doubt is expressed whether the naming of a temporary ambassador is suitable for this reason.

The Daily News severely scores the government for making an "emergency appointment," adding "to choose a statesman who for more than two years has been out of touch with active political life, is to say the least a singular proceeding."

The newspaper, which is an admirer of Viscount Grey, says his task will be singularly delicate, his power being at best limited.

The Post, which is an opponent of Viscount Grey politically, nevertheless assumes that America will regard his appointment as a compliment as he is a notable Englishman.

In most of the editorials, Viscount Grey's sympathy with the League of Nations is dwelt upon, though the Telegraph remarks he has not revealed whether he champions the particular form of the league incorporated in the peace treaty.

Sad Fate of a Ham.
A young man entered the village shop and complained to the owner that a ham he had purchased there a few days before had proved not to be good.

"The ham is all right, sir," insisted the shopkeeper.

"No; it isn't," insisted the other. It's bad!"

"How can that be," continued the shopkeeper, "when it was cured only last week?"

The young man reflected a moment, and then suggested, "Maybe it's had a relapse."—London Blythe.

GRAY AS AMBASSADOR BUT ONLY TEMPORARILY

London, Aug. 13—Viscount Grey, it is learned, has not yet decided when he will go to Washington, although announcement of his plans is expected soon.

His poor eyesight, which has given him much trouble caused him to consent to only a short term as ambassador. A year ago it was feared he might become blind, but since then his eyes have improved, although he still does but little reading or writing.

Questions arising out of the peace settlement, which Bonar Law announced in the house of commons today, would require the attendance of Earl Grey, the new British ambassador to the United States, are understood here to include a readjustment of the complicated financial relations between Great Britain and the United States growing out of loans and credits advanced by America.

There also must be an almost immediate re-arranging of many existing treaties between the two countries, necessitated by the radical changes following the war. Many of these conventions date back for more than a century and were said by officials to have been applied to modern conditions only by the exercise of the greatest liberality of construction.

The Lafolette treaty relating to the rights and duties of sailors and port authorities and this never has been replaced. In the early days of the war there were many issues between the state department and the British foreign office growing out of interference with American commerce by British warships and British orders in council and the many claims for damages by American ship owners and merchants pending when the United States entered the war are still technically open.

Earl Grey was the British secretary for foreign affairs when these issues arose and conducted the negotiations for his government.

NEGLECTED COLDS Lead to Consumption

Unless a complete cure is effected the inflammation passes rapidly to the throat bronchial tubes, and then to the lungs. You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or a new nose—hence consumption is practically incurable.

HEADACHES relieved in a few minutes by MATHEU'S NERVE POWDERS

Being in form of a powder they act instantly and cure the pain before any tablet or tablet could begin to work.

Learn to be a Nurse It is Easily Learned

Any ambitious woman who has the "mother instinct" can soon learn to be a practical nurse, by studying a book of 500 pages—just issued and called "Nursing in the Home," by Doctor Lee H. Smith.

One can learn all about nursing, not only in the hospital but in the home, by reading a new book just out, which teaches all there is to know about nursing, except the practical experience. This book is written for the ordinary reader and contains many illustrations, nicely bound, worth one dollar and a half, and sold by prominent drug stores in town for a limited time at 50 cents.

The home nurse will find within its pages reliable up-to-date instruction for caring for the sick, and the professional nurse will renew her hospital training. Such a book is invaluable, and every woman should have a copy for ready reference. If your druggist does not have it for sale, send 50 cents to the World's Medical Press, 654 Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y. Edition limited.

Plans were filed for a Cunard steamship building at 35 Broadway, New York, to cost $5,140,000.

ROBERT ROSS BILLINGS OF ST. ANDREWS DEAD

St. Andrews, N. B., Aug. 13.—The people of St. Andrews were deeply pained to hear yesterday of the death of a prominent and highly respected citizen, Robert Ross Billings. Born in St. Andrews sixty-two years ago, Mr. Billings always displayed the greatest interest in municipal activities. He was for some years jail-warden and served loyally throughout a long period as a member of the local fire department. Until the evening of his death he was in apparently good health and had been engaged in heavy work for the previous few days. Following a hearty evening meal came an attack of apoplexy, to which he succumbed. Mr. Billings was a life-long Liberal and at various elections was an ardent worker for the cause of his party. He was a member of No. 7, Sussex Lodge F. and A. M. Miss Frances Billings of St. Andrews and Miss Elizabeth of Boston are sisters. Charles Billings of Boston is a brother. Great sympathy is felt for the relatives.

The Living Room You Idealize

Love for home is perhaps influenced more by the living room than by any other room in the home. The most costly furnishings may fail to create that magnetism which is the measure of home enjoyment if the scheme of furnishing is not correctly carried out. On the other hand a very inviting living room may be created, at nominal cost, where proper judgment and taste are employed.

The right furniture, the right floor coverings, the right draperies and curtains and wall paper are all essential but they are no more important than the ability to effectively assemble them.

Your advantage in relying on this store to create the living room you idealize is that you have here not only the newest and the unusual living room furnishings to choose from, but you have the sincere and competent helpfulness of men who are qualified to assume the responsibility of working out most effective results at least cost.

We shall be glad to have you come here and compare values. We realize that our only reasonable claim to your patronage must be on our ability to give you as good as or better values than you can get elsewhere, and to supplement real values with service that is beyond competition.

We have made an interesting display of living room pieces in our windows which we hope you will make it a point to see.
