day in her life.

Born in Aberdeen. Scotland, she came to Canada when a girl of sixteen

London, residing here ever since. Her children, four in number, are all dead.
Her husband died oved 60 years ago.
Mrs. Beattie delights in telling stories of older times in London and vicinity, when conditions were vastly different than they are now, and bondon was but a sollection of cabins surrounded by forests.

Mirs. Beattie is a devout member of Numerous congratulatory messages were received by the old lady on her birthday, the celebration of which on another occasion will have taken her Extensive Organization.

NEW YORK. Feb. 14.—A "pick-pocket trust" and other compact organizations of criminals exist in this city's underworld, according to testimony of Judge Edward Swann, of the Court of General Sessions, a witness yesterday before the aldermanic committee investigating vice conditions. Pickpockets dispose of their loot at central fences after being assigned to sections of the city to ply their trade, and when they are arrested, they are able to get bail readily and lawyers to defend them. The "trust" is run like any lawful business, he declared. To smash these "trusts" Judge Swann advocated that city detectives be divided into special squads nominally known as homicide groups, bomb-throwing group, and so on.

Referring to the "pickpocket trust," Judge Swann told of one member being assigned to Broadway and Forty-Second street for five years, rifling pockets ard pocketbooks of men and women in the matinee crowds. ### LIQUOR LICENSES ARE VALUABLE (Galt Reporter)

Liquor licenses disposed of last year in Toronto brought $700,000 in a competitive market. Competition down there is very keen, and buyers up in a night. The largest sum paid was $150,000, for the license held by Robert Falconer at 460 King street west to Charles E. Ziegler, a former resident of this section. The second largest amount was received for the Iroquois Hotel license, owned by Gearge Graham, formerly of Galt. These sales, showing as they do that the traffic in Toronto is tremendously profitable, will probably lead the Pro vincial Government to exact a great er percentage of the bar receipts. The licenses alone figured in the transactions that made up the grand total of $699,990. At the present time shops in which liquor is sold are not sub ject to the loss of a percentage of re ceipts, but as the hotel men are pressing for this in retaliation for the stand taken by the shop owners who ask that the bottle business in hotels b stopped, both may be put on an equal footing in the percentage exacted on sales. The traffic in Toronto can ap parently stand a heavy levy by the Provincial License Department.

THE HEROISM OF PEACE (Toronto Star)

In the achievement and the martyr dom of Scott and his comrades there is no comfort for those who talk about war as a nursery of heroism.

Nothing could be more unlike inter. national war than the race of Amundsen and Scott for the South Pole The parties did not try to destroy each other or to thwart each other or to deceive each other, all of which are necessary features of war. In fact, Scott and his party did their utmost to corroborate the evidence that their opponents had won the race. By their generosity and their sacrifice they won a greater victory than the finding of the pole or the winning of the race. But in war the conduct which we admire in Scott and his comrades would be described as Quixotic. It is the business of a military leader to win not to act like a Chevalier Bayard or a Scott.

The noble element in war is the willingness to die. Ruskin says, in his striking way, that we honor the soldier, not because he slays, but because he is willing to be slain. For this the soldier is honored, and rightly honored other or to thwart each other or to soldier is honored and rightly honores for his sacrifice. To this extent he entitled to rank with Scott.

But in other respects war is anything but a generous or chivalrous business It is not even as fair as a duel, in which men use precisely the same weapons and fire at a given signal The general who would not fight be cause he had an unfair advantage in numbers or armament or who would not take an opponent by surprise would be regarded as a lunatic. The use of these advantages is the "cruel necessity" of war,

The closest and truest analogy between the sacrifice made by Scott and the sacrifice made by the fireman or the saifer or the locomotive engin eer It is that which gives special value and significance to the story of the splendid heroism of the Arctic explorers. It is an inspiration for the toil and sacrifice of every day life. It ought to give us a new sense of our debt to the heroes who risk life and limb for us, every day.

SEND IT TO PEOPLE Redistribute Seats Then Deal With Navy Bill, Says Turriff.

WEST NOT REPRESENTED

Liberal Member at Second Reading of the Borden Measure Moves In Amendment That Measure Be Laid Aside Until the West Is Given Its Twenty-Four New Members In the Federal Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—A nod from Premier Borden was all he contributed to the debate when moving the second reading of the naval bill in the Commons yesterday afternoon. It emphasized the policy of silence as far as possible which the Government is relying upon, failing argument, to help it through the further stages of the measure.

J. G. Turriff responded with an amendment calling for a redistribution amendment calling for a redistribution of seats giving the west the 24 new members demanded by the census before the bill is proceeded with.

J. G. Turriff (Lib., Assiniboia) said his constituents did not favor either local navy or contribution. Personally he felt that Canada should make some start towards the defence of the country. He accused the Premier of being versatile in the matter of changing his naval policy.

Mr. Turriff asked that the naval bill be not further proceeded with until

Mr. Turriff asked that the naval bill be not further proceeded with until there had been a redistribution and an appeal to the country. He insisted warmly that, upon his western tour, Mr. Borden had promised to bring in a bill redistributing the Parliamentary representation of the provinces as one of his first acts, should he be returned to power.

Although the Prime Minister interjected vigorous denials. Mr. Turriff jected vigorous denials. Mr. Turriff returned to power.

Although the Prime Minister interjected vigorous denials, Mr. Turriff persisted in his charges, and presented an amendment to the effect that "the naval bill be not read a second time, but that the House resolves that the Government should at once bring in a redistribution bill, and when the same is passed, appeal to the people."

According to the census of 1911, Mr. Turriff pointed out that the west was entitled to 59 members instead of 35, as at present. "This important naval question," he concluded. "should not be passed upon by a Parliament in which one-half the country is only half represented."

Mr. Northrup (E. Hastings) declared that the Government's policy was a Canadian navy. The bill provides for three Dreadnoughts, which would be Canadian, although they might be loaned for a time to the British Admiralty.

THE LORDS AGAIN. Now They Have Killed the Scottish Temperance Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 19.-The Lords cor LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Lords continued their work of destruction yesterday when they killed the Scotch Temperance Bill. This latest act of incurable prejudice against progress is undoubtedly at the dictation of the liquor trade, to which some Lords are as completely tied as in 1908, when the Licenseing bill in England was rejected, and national aspirations destroyed.

A MOTHER'S DUTY TO HER DAUGHTER

REQUIRES THAT HER BLOOD SUP PLY BE KEPT RICH, RED AND PURE.

Every mether who calls to min'l her own girlhood knows how urgently her daughter is likely to need help and strength during the years between school days and womanhood. It is then that growing girls droop and become fragile, bloodless and nervous. Nature is calling for more neurishment than the blood can supply and signs of distress are plainly evident in dull eyes, pallid cheeks, rehing backs, a languid step, fits of lepression, headaches and a dislike for food. These signs show anaemia—that is bloodlessness.

The watchful mother takes prompt steps to give her girl the new, rich blood her system is thirsting for by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Miss Mamie Krouse, Copetown, Ont., says: "Dr. I williams' Pink Pills have been a sufferer for almost two years from anaemia, and seemed, no matter what I tried to be growing worse. I was very pale and seemed bloodless, suffered from frequent headaches, the least exertion would leave me completely tird out, and I was very much discouraged and fretful. At last I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and got a half-dozen boxes and by the time they were used I was feeling much better. A few more boxes fully restored my health and I have since been well and strong and able once more to enjoy life."

MADERO IS DEPOSED

His Own Generals Place Him Under Arrest.

HUERTA NOW PRESIDENT

Against Their Chief and Madero and His Cabinet Are Forced Out of Office-Plot Had Been In Preparation For Some Days-Federal Deserters Are Shot.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.—Francisco
I. Madero has been forced out of the Presidency. He was arrested at the National Palace shortly before three o'clock yesterday afternoon by Gen.
Blanquet. Gen. Victoriano Huerta, commander of the federal troops, was proclaimed provisional President.
About the time Madero was seized by Blanquet, his brother, Gustavo Madero, the former Minister of Finance, was arrested by Gen. Huerta, who was dining with him in a public restaurant. MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.-Francisc

All the members of the Cabinet were promptly placed under arrest with the exception of Ernesto Madero, the uncle of the President, who held the portfolio of finance. He was apprized of the intentions against the Government and managed to make his example.

ment and managed to make his escape.

Notwithstanding the fact that some definite action was expected yesterday, the coup detat at the palace created a sensation and the exact status day, the coup d'etat at the palace crated a sensation and the exact status of affairs could not be ascertained for several hours.

The direct movement against Madero was the result of a plot which had been brewing since Monday, and which possibly existed with Blanquet for a much greater length of time.

From the first it had been known that Gen. Blanquet was unwilling to fight. His men were of the same mind. He held complete command over them, and it was not doubted that they would follow him in any adventure, which they did at the National Palace yesterday.

The forces, numbering 1,000 men, which arrived late Monday, were sent immediately to the palace, ostensibly to relieve the reserves there. The reserves were sent into the fields.

An agreement between Generals

An agreement between Generals
Blanquet and Huerta was reached on Monday night, but the first intimation that Blanquet's men had of the tion that Blanquet's men had of the new role they were to play was shortly before the successful stroke was made. Blanquet drew his men up in order and delivered a stirring speech. "This inhuman battle must end," he said. "The time has come when some drastic means must be taken to stop a conflict in which father is killing son, and brother is fighting against brother; when non-combatants are sharing the fate of war—and all this because of the caprice of one man."

Blanquet then issued orders for the arrest of the President and assigned a detachment to that duty. Madero was detachment to that duty. Madero was soon a prisoner in his own rooms.

One reason given for the attitude of Gen. Blanquet from the beginning, was the presence of his son in the ranks of Diaz.

ranks of Diaz.

When the arrest of the President and his Ministers became known, crowds gathered in the streets through which they paraded shouting "vivas" for Huerta and Diaz.

A conference was held between the representatives of these two generals and an agreement was reached whereby the appointment of Gen. Huerta to the provisional Presidency was proclaimed.

Some federal soldiers who tried to join Diaz were caught, disarmed and marched back to the National Palace, where they were summarily shot. In one instance more than 30 federal soldiers were lined before the firing squad at the same time.

Gen. Huerta is negotiating with Gen. Diaz in an effort to come to terms with the rebel leader. His success in this effort is regarded as doubtful, in view of the fact that Diaz was tricked into defeat and captivity at Vera Cruz through representations that Gen. Huerta was coming to his support instead of coming to fight him.

United States Warships Will Keep an Eye on Mexico.

Eye on Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—It is not expected that the U. S. will be in haste to withdraw its battleships and cruisers from Mexican waters. The problems of reconstruction which Mexico must now face will require a little time to inaugurate and the presence of U. S. warships will serve as a reminder to all elements, that American life and property must be protected. Over 2,000 marines under orders last night to sail from Guatanamo, Cuba, probably will proceed to their camp there. In the event that their services are not needed in Mexico they can participate to advantage in the manoeuvres of the Atlantic fleet, now within only a few hours run from the Gulf of Mexico.

night at five goals each, the half-time score being 4 to 3 in Stratford's favor. It was a third round fixture.

Wo dstock scored the first three ca's but Stratford scored four before half-time. There was little to choose he ween the teams in speed, weight or combination play. Childs in goal for Woodstock, and Roffey in goal for Stratford, played stellar games, and Stratford would certainly have been beaten had it not been for the latter's stonewall defence. Vivian, for Stratford, also showed lightning speed and great tsick-handling. The most brilliant individual play was Woodstock's fifth goal, when Sandercock went right through the Stratford team and scored. Throughout the game Armstrong of Woodstock shone brilliantly as did also Jones.

Glen Smith, the local captain, was completely off color, and if he returns to true form on Friday, Woodstock's chances are by no means slim. Tonigh he was a failure. Hard checking was common to both sides. The teams:

IN ALL MY BONES

SUFFERED from Kidney Trouble for five long years. I also had Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles—could not sleep at night—and sometimes could hardly walk. I was treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over fifteen pounds, was very weak, and friends, who had not seen me for some time, were astonished. One day, I met one of our leading hotel keepers, who had been cured by Gin Pills, and he advised me to try them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

ELLIS FOLLOWS LEADER

Ottawa Member, Who Introduced the Assessment Reform Measure, Is Not Willing to Go the Length of a Vote of Censure-Mr. Proudfoot Opens Up the Subject of Temperance-Debate Goes On.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—After several more interesting tilts in the Legislature yesterday the opposition tax reform amendments to the Government motion to adopt the several from the motion to adopt the speech from the throne, was defeated by a vote of 73 to 20. J. A. Ellis, Conservative member for West Ottawa, who introduced the tax reform bill last year, took objection to the control of the con jection to the amendment as implying "want of confidence in the Government" and so voted with the Government. Allan Studholme voted with the Opposition.

The debate is still unfinished. The

The debate is still unfinished. The House was adjourned last night with W. H. Proudfoot on his feet speaking to an amendment which he brought down to the effect that legislation should be enacted to prevent the treating habit. This amendment, as well as the Government motion, will bring about a division to-day or next Tuesday. Tuesday.

Three speeches were heard during the afternoon, from Allan Studholme, Laborite for East Hamilton; J. A. Ellis, Conservative for West Ottawa, and W. H. Proudfoot, Liberal for Centre Huron.

J. A. Ellis of Ottawa stated his position on tax reform. He said that although he had introduced a bill for a revised Assessment Act to tring about the lowering of the tax on improve-ments, at the last session, he was in-deed surprised at the amendment of the Opposition which implied a want of confidence in the Government. In referring to the finding of the tax committee by the Conservative majority he said that he was one who did not agree wit. it, and he had not changed his opinion.

He said that he had no reason for censuring the Government although he disagreed with it in the matter of taxation. He was quite willing to give the view of the majority on the tax committee a fair chance and would agree with the Government's proposal to bring down an effective remedy if the act did not work out properly.

Allan Studholme, Labor representative for East Hamilton, for two hours

Allan Studholme, Labor representative for East Hamilton, for two hours criticized the Government, principally for not dealing with social and economic questions more effectively. He alluded to Mr. Rowell as a champion of the workingmen and expressed his pleasure at having the leader of the Opposition back of him on social questions. He declared that the Premier's definition of socialism was incorrect. There were all kinds of socialism, just the same as Christianity. The greatest men of the day were preaching and writing socialism.

He did not think that the Premier understood the land question. He urged tax reform, which he declared would be the most advanced step for the welfare of the masses.

In speaking on his amendment regarding anti-treating, W. H. Proudfoot, Liberal member for Centre Huron, challenged the Government to cite one case where the funds of the people were misapplied or handled improperly by the Ross Government, as stated by A. H. Musgrove, North Huron, who moved the adoption of the speech a week ago.

Mr. Proudfoot then dealt with tax reform and denied that this question was a political issue. He criticized them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

Before I had used one box, I felt a big change for the better, and before the second box was gone, I was completely cured.

I assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had known what I know now about Gin Fills, I would not have spent over one hundred dollars for nothing, when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me.

Anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, should never be without Gin Pills.

Mr. Proudfoot then dealt with tax reform and denied that this question was a political issue. He criticized Mr. Ellis, who, he declared, evidently did not want to vote for the amendment and against his party. It was party first and tax reform after with him.

The speaker also touched on the abolish-the-bar policy, which, he said, was still the first plank in their platform. They would stand by this banner till the bars were wiped out, and the shop licenses, too. The debate was then adjourned.

Charles Bowman, Liberal member for North Grey, has given notice that he will move next Monday in the Legislature that all federal grants for good roads should be paid over to the province and expended by it, and as part of such a policy the legislation should include the following provision:

"The levying upon automobiles of a substantial license fee, properly graded according to horsepower, the proceeds of such tax to be applied toward the construction and mainten-

The right hon, gentleman had made and broken so many pledges that it was hard to believe him to be serious in urging any person to pay the slightest attention to his word. The Prime Minister confessed he could not quite follow Sir Wilfrid's argument. He did not say in so many words that he would accept the leadership of Verville, but urged the Government to support the Verville amendment. The Government would do nothing of the kind. He (Mr. Borden) had never promised to go to the people before support the Verville amendment. The Government would do nothing of the kind. He (Mr. Borden) had never promised to go to the people before giving a contribution to the Imperial navy. On the contrary, when he had been challenged to state what he would do if he came into power he had frankly declared to Parliament and to the country that he would do two things; he would go to England and find if the need for assistance was urgent. If it were, he would ask Parliament for a vete immediately. "We are now facing a condition of urgency, the Prime Minister continued, "and the proposal of the Government will be passed by Parliament to restore our self-respect as a people and to testify to our firm intention of remaining a nation within the British Empire." Gen. Huerta, commanding the federals, had promised to rush the fortifications of the rebels, but he elected instead to employ his artillery from the various points of vantage. Only once during the early part of the day did the infantry come into action. During the heavy shelling of the palace, Diaz apparently moved some of his forces to the southeast of the city, and shortly after twelve o'clock the palace was made the target of both shells and rifle fire from that district. Coincidentally, the rebels succeeded in extending their zone of activity in other directions. Aberdeen's Son Had No Connection With Jewel Mystery.

Mr. Maclean, in proposing his amendment, said there was a general demand over the country for such Governmental supervision of corporations as would guard against melon cutting and watered stock.

A great memorial service was held in the Cathedral of St. Paul's in the centre of the meteropolis and this was centre of the metropolis, and this was attended by people in every form of life from King George, in the uniform of an admiral of the fleet, down to Hours before noon, the time set for the singing of the first h-mn, "Rock of Ages," the police had to turn away many thousands who could not even get within view of the doors of the cathedral.

The service was a simple but solemn one. It included the playing of the "Dead March In Saul," in which the great cathedral organ was accompanied by a military band. The service concluded with a hymn, "Jesus Lover of My Soul." In the closing Collects, the names of the five dead explorers were included. Vast crowds remained outside the cathedral and a great number of British bluejackets were present, both inside and outside.

Similar memorial services were held at Portsmouth, Devonport, Chatham, and other naval centres, and in many churches throughout the kingdom. The Union Jack flew at half-mast everywhere yesterday.

IS DEMONISM

Mediums Are Deceived as Well as Their Followers.

Spirit Communications Through Me diums Come Not From Dead Humans, But From the Fallen Angels, Says Pastor Russell-In the Bible He Traces Their History.

Opera House crowded to-day to Postor Rus hear Pastor Rus-sell. He spoke twice. We report one of his discourses from the text kept not their first estate, but left their own habita-tion, He hath re-(Jude 6.) He said:

Last Sunday we discussed the fall of the angels, who succumbed to sin, first introduced by Satan's rebellion, and continued by man's fall from Divine favor. Man's fall had to do with the fall of the angels, and they in turn have had much to do with man's further perversion mentally morally and physically. St. Paul declared that we wrestle not with the flesh and blood merely, but with the wicked spirits in high positions.—

Pastor Russell said that many who read his sermons in the newspapers will laugh at what may seem to be his superstitious belief that fallen angels are in close propinquity with humanity—a continual power for evil, God and Truth opposing. Personally he knows nothing of Spiritism; for obedient to the Divine command, he avoids everything occult. His knowledge of Spiritism comes mainly from the Bible but is well supported by the testimony of many rescued from the the Bible but is well supported by the testimony of many rescued from the thralldom of Spiritism.

The Bible styles the fallen angels demons, translated devils in our Common Version. These demons, not our forefathers, have perverted the True Gospel. St. Paul refers to their insidious teachings as "doctrines of demons." These demons have blasphemed God by teaching that He had prepared for the everlasting torture of nearly all of humanity—except the Elect—at the hands of fire-proof demons.

Elect—at the hands of fire-proof demons.

Thus the human mind was turned against God in dread. Thus humanity learned to think of Satan and his associates as in some far-off place—not mear them. But now, the Pastor said, that humanity are gradually learning that the theory of a great torture place is a hoax, these demons would lead truth-seekers to the opposite extreme, and convince them that there is no such place, nor are there any demons.

The Bible, however, teaches that these spirits are near us—in our atmosphere, and that they have power over us only as we yield our wills to their suggestions, and our minds to sin. St. Peter says that Satan goes about through the earth, seeking whom he may devour; and that his host of fallen angels are a present power for evil throughout the world. Similarly Jesus bids us pray, "Deliver us from the Evil One."

Cast Down to Tartarus.

Cast Down to Tartarus.

Pastor Russell said that St. Peter Pastor Russell said that St. Peter tells that the fallen angels were cast down to Tartarus at the time of the Deluge. The word Tartarus is used only once in the Bible, and mistranslated hell. It is generally conceded to refer to the atmosphere.

W must not confound the Bible story of the fall of the angels with the symbolic picture of the Revelation, where Satan is cast out of Heaven, said the speaker. This does not refer to the Satan is east out of Heaven, said the speaker. This does not refer to the literal Heaven. It is a figurative description of events which occured long ago, when the Roman Empire was overthrown and Papacy set itself up, claiming to be Messiah's Kingdom.

The Pastor then showed at some ength that although God could have th that although God could have broyed Satan at any time, yet He permitted him to continue in his destroyed Satan at any time, yet He has permitted him to continue in his course for six thousand years, in order to demonstrate the evil character of sin, in contrast with the beauty of holiness. When men and angels shall have learned their lesson well, Satan and all who love sin will die the Second Death.

Note Satan's persistency and effrontery, said the Pastor. od distinctly told Adam that discoedience would bring death. Satan contradicted the Almighty pointblank, declaring, "Ye shall not surely die." When mankind experienced death, Satan continued to pervert God's Word and men's minds by saying that when men die, they do not die really; but that a deac man is more alive than is a living one.

a dead man is more alive than is a living one.

This absurdity has been repeated to our race century after century, until all believe Satan's lie, and discredit God's Word. The way back to God and to sanity of reasoning is to repudiste the lie, and believe God's Truth: "The dead know not anything."

It never occurred to me that the correspondence mentioned had intended to be included in this return, had anything to do with a telegrap. had anything to do with a telegram like this. Evidently that was the view taken by some honorable gentlemen

"After my attention was drawn to it by veiled allusions, I remembered seeing this telegram and got it from the drawer in my desk at my house, and had it here for weeks waiting and expecting every day that some honorable gentleman would either move for the mask a question about it. When it, or ask a question about it. When I saw that instead of doing that there were a lot of veiled allusions, when I noticed that, no doubt unintentionally, allegations were made as to what was in the telegram, I thought I would just let the matter go. The honorable gentlemen took their course early this session and asked questions relative to this telegram. I suggested that a return should be asked for in order that the rules of the House should be complied with.

Before reading the telegram and the reply he sent, the Premier said: "If the honorable gentlemen had asked for it before by means of an order, they would not have avoided getting it." On reading his answer to the telegram, he added: "And the railroad has been built," following which there was much pounding of desks by Con-

"A great deal of difficulty would have been obviated had it been brought down in the first return. I disagree with the statement that the responsibility should be placed on this side of the House."

Very sarcastically, Mr. Elliott referred to the statement of the Premier last year that the telegram to which the Opposition referred was a forgery committed by some one. Mr. Elliott put emphasis on 'some one,' and gazed across the House at the Premier.

ELK LAKE, Ont., Feb. 17.—The search among the ruins of the Matabanick Hotel for the bodies of the two men who 'ost their lives in the fire on Saturday morning, revealed a gruesome sight and the fact that another man went to his death when the floors of the building crashed in. He was William Wilkinson, a caretaker, who for a number of years had been prospecting in the vicinity. The other victims were Edward O'Keefe and Robert Stovey. Two other guests at the hotel, Joseph Letcher of Gowganda and Edward McClellan of Elk Lake, were badly burned about the head, arms and legs in making their escape. McClellan's feet also were frozen and his condition is critical.

Robert Stovey had evidently been suffocated as he slept, as his body was found lying in the middle of the bed in the cellar. Edward O'Keefe, the prospector, was burned beyond recognition. All that was left of his charred remains was gathered on a fire shovel. His body was fearfully burned.

DEMANDS REFORMS

Mr. Rowell Calls on Government to Revise Taxation.

WHERE IS ANTI-TREATING?

Liberal Leader Challenges the Whitney Administration to Introduce Its Forgotten Temperance Measure-Premier Falls Back on Record In Reply to the Pointed Demands of the Opposition.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.-N. W. Rowell played havoc yesterday with the weak-nesses in the speech from the throne and recalled several things that the and recalled several things that the Government seems to have forgotten. He inquired after the anti-treating policy and delivered a telling argument in favor of relief from the present system of taxation. Sir James Whitney replied in his most vigorous style. For three hours the two party leaders engaged in one of the keenest debates in the history of the Legislature.

Mr. Rowell vigorously attacked the Government, because of what the speech from the throne did not contain. "I find in the heart of the speech, reference to the work of construction of the new Government House, and considering that there was no reference whatever to tax reform, the sittings of the tax committee, the proposed anti-treating legislation, the Government House must have more importance than on the face it ap-proposed anti-treating legislation, the Government House must have more importance than on the face it appears to have," he said.

As regards agriculture, the most vital question of the day, was rural depopulation, but nothing was said of this in the speech. The housing problem was not mentioned.

The conditions resulting from the employment of women and children in factories needed remedy. But there was not a word about it in the speech; it was not a thing of public importance; there was no proposal from the Government to consider it. As regards public health, apparently the Government did not think it a question of sufficient seriousness to propose measures for the future.

He was disappointed in not seeing a reference to the experimental and demonstration work and plans for extensions ir connection with the Hydro-electric system. What were the results of the demonstrations to farmers? In his opinion a statement should be forthcoming from the Government on plans for the future.

The Opposition leader then switched to the question of good roads and the announcement in the speech of a plan to expend $5,000,000. He was glad to see that the Government voted down our year the Government voted down our see that the Government had changed its opinion on this question. "Last year the Government voted down our motion calling for an adequate system of good roads, especially ones leading to markets," he went on. "But you can take our policy. We are willing to devise policies for the Government if it will be progressive.

"I am sure the public would like to have seen some mention of the liquor

"I am sure the public would like to have seen some mention of the liquor problem and tax reform in the speech," he said. "Surely the local option vote recently was of sufficient importance to be given a little prominence. What has become of the Government's policy on anti-treating? Last year, when the Government motion was introduced to eliminate the treating system, we thought that they were hoisting a banner under which they were going to fight. Or was it a signal of distress—any port in a storm? signal of distress—any port in a storm? It was an evidence of sudden conversion, which I hoped was sincere, but looks now as though the Government had hopelessly backslid."

had hopelessly backslid."

He then turned to the question of tax reform, which, he said, the Government was treating with silent contempt despite the wishes of the people.

Mr. Rowell went into detail to demonstrate the inadequacy of the present Assessment Act. Lands were being held idle when needed, and every proposal for improvements was handicapped seriously by local taxation.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta gave municipalities local option in

Mr. Rowell concluded, after speak ing nearly two hours, by voicing his support to the amendment to the ef-fect that the House regretted that the Government did not act upon the Government did not act upon the wishes of the people.

"I am surprised at a great many of the statements of the hon. leader of the Opposition," said Sir James. "If I did not know him so well I would be surprised at all of them. He has been in the House a little over a year and he has said a great many astonishing things, and I am afraid he will go on saying and doing them. We have just heard a straight-cut, advanced and matured declaration of socialism, the most advanced, I might vanced and matured declaration of socialism, the most advanced, I might say, ever heard in this House."

Regarding the anti-treating legislation Sir James said that the Government had gone on for years under the plaudits of the people. "This Government has dealt effectively with the manifold liquor traffic and liquor kabit, and has put on the statutes advanced legislation. At the proper time we will deal with this question of anti-treating in a manner not to be forgotten by the people."

He said that the people hardly realized the effect of the program to improve the roads in old Ontario.

"We intend to appoint a commission."

"We intend to appoint a commissioner and send him to New York State to enquire into the operation of the system there," said Sir James, "in order that we will be enabled to work out our great scheme on a reasonable out our great scheme on a reasonable and proper basis."

He asked where was the tax reform issue in those bye-elections. Evidently Mr. Rowell had turned his back on this policy and had run away as fast as he could and stayed away. Sir James then referred to the abolishthe-bar platform of the Liberal party.

The Liberal leader had stated in strong terms that there would be no evasion or sidestepping of this issue. "But despite this he turned his back and deliberately allowed the policy to go to —." The Premier hesitated a moment and a Conservative member followed up the remark with "We know."
Sir James then launched out on the question of tax reform, of which he had been informed was the entering wedge of Henry George-ism. "Single tax would ultimately result in the nationalization of land," he said, "or the taking away of property from everybody, to be used in common.
This is socialism of the advanced kind. The next two steps would be the abolition of home and marriage,

"I will not insult the intelligence of the members of this House and the people who have confidence in me and my colleagues by alluding further to the miserable, contemptible and unmanly attempt to suggest that the Conservative members of the tax committee were told to fall in line to my views. I am proud to know that I did not see the report, nor did I know one word in the report till the Provincial reasurer placed it in the committee.

"The people will go on endorsing the speech by reason of the good things that are in it. Never while we are in office will we be deluded and seduced by tactics such a sthose men-tioned by John Bright when he said, "There are men who always begin a new system of relief by robbing somebody."

After the Premier sat down Mr. Rowell arose. "I am neither a share-holder nor director of The Globe," he said.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.—At a further meeting of the Old Age Pensions committee held yesterday. Dr. Sinclair, provincial inspector of penal institutions in Nova Scotia, pointed out that the institutional system had a degrading and humiliating effect. As to the causes of poverty, he remarked that some people are born poor, some achieve poverty, and others have poverty thrust upon them. He did not think the abolition of intemperance and vice would remove poverty.

In reply to Mr. Verville's question as what most brought a man in contact with intemperance, Dr. Sinclair said he had never been quite satisfied as to whether insanity was caused by intemperance, or vice versa. He had been struck one year by the number of abstainers admitted to insane asylums, but afterwards found some of the stone man who wasn't—himself.

Despite the danger to which they are exposed, from 80,000 to 100,000 people live upon the slopes of Vesuvius, besides the 500,000 inhabitants crowded into Naples. ## DEBATE CONCLUDES Local House Votes Down Anti-Treating Amendment.

"HAS NOTHING TO REGRET"

Hon. W .J. Hanna Expresses Confidence That the Government Will Introduce Legislation Respecting Liquor Traffic-Sir James and Mr. Rowell Have Another Tilt Before the Debate Finishes.

Before the Debate Finishes.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—The debate on the speech from the throne concluded yesterday with the adoption of the speech by a straight Government majority, Allan Studholme (Labor) voting with the Opposition.

In continuing his speech on his anti-treating amendment from last Thursday, W. H. Proudfoot said that the Liberal party had adopted it abolish-the-bar policy from a progressive temperance standpoint. "Last year the Government carried its anti-treating amendment by a vote of 79 to 19. If the Government believes that the drinking habit would be curtailed by enforcing an anti-treating law it the drinking habit would be curtailed by enforcing an anti-treating law it therefore should enact one at this session. If the Government were hon-est in its intentions last year the act respecting anti-treating will go into effect. But after anti-treating is en-forced the Government will come around to our way of thinking that the abolition of the bar is the rem-edy."

Hon. W. J. Hanna followed. "I am very happy to be able to ask the very happy to be able to ask the House to say that it has nothing what-ever to regret with the Government's actions toward the liquor traffic since ever to regret with the Government's actions toward the liquor traffic since 1905. No session has come and gone without the act being very materially improved. Legislation has been enacted every year which has made for the better inforcement of the law and the minimizing of the evils of the drink habit.

"This session will not pass without further legislation in the same direction. This Government has been the judge in the past and will be the judge in the future."

Mr. Hanna then moved his amendment to the effect that the Opposition anti-treating amendment, which was presented last Thursday, be struck out and a vote of confidence substituted. Dr. McQueen, Liberal member for North Wentworth, was the next speaker.

North Wentworth, was the next speaker.

N. W. Rowell went over the abolishthe-bar platform. With regard to the residue of the traffic, he said that such other restrictions, which would limit the operations of the traffic, could be made. Political influence should be eliminated from the administration of the law. A commission with members of both parties should be established to make political influence impossible. The regulation of public houses in the interests of the traveling public was another necessarily important measure.

He regretted that he was not present when the Premier revealed the contents of the Elk Lake telegram. If congratulate the officials of the Government in having the suggestion contents of the Elk Lake telegram.

"I congratulate the officials of the Government in having the suggestion by the Prime Minister that his telegram might be a forgery, handsomely removed. Lest year the Prime Minister refused to answer our questions regarding the matter, and now we have learned that if we only stick at it we can get it out of him. Perhaps the forgery to which the hon. leader of the Government referred was another telegram."

Sir James Whitney spoke of the Opposition leader establishing his abolish-the-bar policy with "deep emotion." He raised the banner of "banish-the-bar" with deep emotion and lowered it with deeper emotion. Mr. Rowell had done much "lofty tumbling in East Middlesex on his emotional platform." "If any of my hon, friends can produce a political leader in this country or Great Britain with such an emotional policy and conducted by such a man as this, I will be willing to take a back seat for some time," he concluded. "When he had the chance to bring his policy to the notice of the people, he declined and ran away, hoping, perhaps, to fight another day."

The Premier then concluded his

ed and ran away, hoping, perhaps, to fight another day."

The Premier then concluded his speech and was followed by Allam Studholme, Labor man for East Hamilton. "I only wish to say," said Mr. Studholme, "that I will vote for the Opposition amendment because the Government failed to carry out its promise and do the right thing."

The vote was then taken, resulting in the defeat of the Liberal amendment and the adoption of the motion and amendment of the Government, all by straight majorities.

Perfectly unconscious of his opposite neighbor's ill-bred espoinage, Gus Featherstone, who had dined in town earlier, went around, meaning to enter by a drawing-room window at the back. Holy-Bush Lodge was a roomy, old-fashioned, double house, with dining-room, library, and breakfast-room in front, on either side of a good-sized hall, and spacious drawing-room, baywindowed at the back, en suite opening to the lawn and gardens, the stables and kitchen offices being built out to the right side of the house as you faced it from the front garden. Joint Water-Power Plan.

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 25.—As a result of a conference he had yesterday with the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden. Premier of Canada, Governor Sulzer last evening expressed the belief that a joint plan for the utilization of the water powers latent in such boundary streams as the Niagara and St. Lawrence Rivers might be formulated by the state of New York and the Dominion Government. No details have been worked out as yet, and the project is in a purely tentative stage. project is in a purely tentative stage. The three members of the Conservation Commission which is concerned with the water storage problem now confronting this state attended the conference, which lasted more than half an hour.

the conference, which lasted more than half an hour.

The close ties of friendship existing between the United States and Canada were dwelt upon in addresses last night by Premier R. L. Borden of Canada and Governor Sulzer, at the annual dinner of the University Club of Albany.

Referring to the natural resources possessed by the United States and Canada, particularly along the St. Lawrence River, Premier Borden urged that they be "preserved and developed for the people."

Governor Sulzer predicted that the great Canalian northwest is destined to become ere long the granary of North America. "Many of our bestitizens, I regret to say," said the governor, "are leaving our states of the west and going to the Canadian northwest because of the fertility of its soil, the liberality of the Canadian Government, and the ability of these people to better their conditions there.

"We should extend to them a helping band in their onward march of progress. Instead of closing our doors by tariff barriers against these countries and their products, in my opinion we should open them wider and do everything in our power to facilitate closer commercial relations." we should open them wider and do everything in our power to facili-tate closer commercial relations."

Normanby township residents ban-queted Andrew Schenk, who retired after thirteen years as reeve.

Windsor, Feb. 23.—Like the magic touch of a fairy wand turning everything to gold is the effect on adjacent property in Sandwich of the recent announcement that the United States Steel Corporation will spend $20.000,000 in erecting another new II canadian Steel plant there. A practical and striking demonstration of this rapid increase in land values came last week to Henry N. Williams, when he sold a 160-acre farm just back of the Steel Corporation's property for $500 an acre. Mr. Williams bought the land seventeen years ago for $25 an acre. Leaving taxes and other expenses out of consideration, his profit would be $76,000, or 1,900 per cent. The farm covers an area one-half mile long on each side, and is situated on the southeast corner of the Malden and Elliott roads, just back of Ojibawa. The sale was made to a syndicate, but Mr. Williams was unable to learn what interests it represents.

She also referred at some length to her work as a medical missionary. She stated that twenty years ago the natives had opposed the inauguration of Medical Missionary work. distribute the county road work each year in short sections, rather than to take up one road and build it from way for various reasons. Each council lor is anxious to have some work done may be a fear that certain ratepayers hausted before other roads are reached; there may be a desire to let all sections of the county see the class of work done on the roads and to receive some early benefit; a wish to construct a section of road that is especially bad, or is largely travelled. The tendency is greater in country and protecting the marriage relation. construct a section of road that is especially bad, or is largely travelled. The tendency is greater in counties where there are numerous market centres or shipping points; and less in the counties with one well defined centre, such as York, with roads radiating from Toronto; Wentworth, with Hamilton as a leading market; or Prince Edward, with much traffic leading to Picton.

Prince Edward, with much traffic leading to Picton.

To build roads in short sections in some cases may serve a useful purpose but the practice is an expensive one and adds largely to the cost. With road building almost entirely a work of labor, it is essential to economy that well arranged arganization be built. building almost entitely a work of labor, it is essential to economy that a well arranged organization be built up. It commonly takes a month to build a mile of road, and takes nearly that time to get the work going smoothly. To move the plant and equipment from place to place for every mile of road, means that the work will be kept in constant disorganization, that laborers and teamsters who have become accustemed to the location will leave and new men will take their place, that much time will be lost in moving the machinery from place to place while wages are still going on. Every move made means a loss of efficiency, loss of time, useless expenditure, for wages, fewer miles built, and a much increased cost Short sections are justifiable and ne cessary in some cases, but to carry work on in that way as a fixed prac-tice involves a useless increase of cost. The necessarily increased cost of "mo-del roads' is not an expenditure which ounties should voluntarily assume.

Men without training, men withou and put up with almost unspeakable hardships in order to stay there. They would be much better off in the coun try villages, where there would be some chance of getting a job on a farm. But the lure of the city seems irresistible These people with their families would rather put up with a ten by twelve coom in a city, than live in reasonable comfort in the country. One wonders whether the lavishness with which charity is dispensed in the big cities has anything to do with it. No one likes to see his fellowman suffer from hunger or want, and yet, when that hunger and want is brought on by the man's own action, is it the right thing to be charitable? The best kind of charity for the organizations in the cities which care for the poor would e to constitute themselve employment bureau for finding work for the fit and able on farms. The work is there for them, if they will go out and get it.—The Canadian Farm. Some discussion has taken place

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 .- "If rhapsody be OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—"If rhapsody be argument and anathemas logic, Parliament has heard a great speech," quoth Dr. Michael Clark amid a roar of Liberal laughter. The Red Deer man rose after 10 o'clock last night to follow Mr. R. B. Bennett. The member for Calgary had spoken at length, lashing himself into paroxyms of fortissimo oratory, pounding his desk, shaking his fists, cleanching his hands, and declaiming the "terrible hands, and declaiming the "terrible hands, and declaiming the "terrible peril" and "great menace" which threatened to wipe out the whole British Empire.

Dr. Clark met the heroics with biting sarcasm which riddle the flagwaver's arguments through and through and reduced them to mere oratorical flourish.

Mr. Bennett said that the policy of the Government met his views exactly. It provided for immediate and effective action, not by maintaining in Canada two or three worse than useless ships, but by providing three super-dreadnoughts, to add to the forces of the Empire.

Dr. Mawson and six of his companions have been left for the winter on

This news is received here in a,

"Some very successful sledging expeditions were made during the sojourn of Dr. Mawson and his companions in the Antarctic."

Lord Denman, Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia, has received a wireless message from Dr. Mawson, in which he says:

"Our sledging season has been very successful. We have opened up a large area of new land both east and west of Commonwealth Bay. We have obtained important new data from numbers of stations in close proximity to the Magnetic Pole.

"It is probable that six of the staff of the expedition, as well as myself, may unavoidably be detained for another year in the Antarctic."

New Bill Would Give Votes to Many Ontario Women.

F. G. Macdiarmid's Measure Introduc ed In Legislature Would Have Wife In Whose Name Property Was Placed Vote Instead of Her Husband - One Vote Each For Large or Small Corporations.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.-Ontario is to take a step in the direction of women suffrage. That is the effect of a bill now before the Legislature, introduced by Mr. Findlay G. Macdiarmid (West Elgin), to give married women who Eign), to give married women who own property the right to vote in municipal elections. Mr. Mcdiarmid's bill is to amend the Ontario voters' list act to make this possible, but the effect will be to disquality married men, who hitherto have held office on property standing in the name of the wife, from continuing to do so.

J. C. Elliott introduced an amendment to the present act yesterday.

There is a clause in the act setting forth that those who are entitled to vote are males, unmarried women and widows, who, of course, have the necessary qualifications, such as property, age, etc. Mr. Elliott stated that this clause should be extended by a provision allowing married women owning property the use of the municipal franchise, and he moved that the entire clause be struck out, believing that this would remedy the matter. He said there was no class of citizens as interested in municipal questions as married women. questions as married wom

"To strike out that clause and to leave the rest of the act to stand as it is would lead to interminable con-fusion," said Mr. Hanna. "It would disqualify at once many men now holding municipal office, such as ald-ermen, reeves and mayors in towns, townships and even cities. And it would be in direct opposition to the majority of the women who are now advocating that married women should represent their own property."

Mr. Hanna then said that he had stated on Wodnesder.

Mr. Hanna then said that he had stated on Wednesday that a clause was being prepared which would obviate confusion and make it consistent with the rest of the Municipal Act, and the entire Assessment Act. He stated that a private bill covering the situation had been prepared by a member and would be introduced later, and this, with the present act, would be considered in the municipal committee and then presented to the

Mr. Rowell did not see eye to eye with Mr. Hanna. He said that Mr. Elliott's amendment would not disqualify members of council and male voters. The amendment was not disqualifying, but extending.

The amendment was defeated.

Any corporation, big or little, in the province will be given power to cast one vote on a money bylaw. Legislation respecting this was passed in the form of an amendment to the clause covering those entitled to vote on money bylaws. W. H. Proudfoot said it was a bad precedent. He said that the shareholders of the corporation had votes, and there was no reason why the company itself should be extended the franchise, especially when thousands of tenants paying large rentals were denied the privilege.

In the same clause it was pointed out that all tenants were disqualified, but Mr. Rowell urged that tenants be given power to vote on money bylaws. Leaseholders especially, who paid out big sums, should be considered. The Liberal leader had a supporter in Allan Studholme, but both of their arguments went for naught. The Government even refused to lay the clauses aside.

MUST GO TO JAIL "

Government Asserts Its Dignity in the Miller Case.

DEBATED FOR SIX HOURS

After a Wordy Wrangle, Chairman Middlebro Has Contumacious Witness Sent to Carleton County Jail Until the Session Is Over-Liberal Members Question the Legality of the Step.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.-Canada's serioomic cause celebre, the Dignity and Authority of Parliament Miller, was temporarily decided last Miller, was temporaris, night after over six hours' debate, by ommitting State Prisoner P. Miller to the Carleton County jail till the end of the present Parlia-mentary session, pending a change of heart or a writ of habeas corpus.

Mr. Miller was committed to Carle-on County jail till the session is over. It was announced this morning that ounsel for Mr. Miller had applied for a writ of habeas corpus.

Mr. Miller and his counsel, were brought to the bar of the House. On moton of Mr. Middlebro the following question was at once propounded to Mr. Miller by Mr. Speaker Sproule: "To whom did you pay the sum of $41,026 for the purpose of securing contracts from the Government of the contracts from the Government of the Dominion of Canada, amounting to $117,000 or thereabouts between the month of June, 1907, until you ceased to be president of the Diamond Light & Heating Co., Ltd., in June, 1911, as alleged by you on your examination before the select standing committee on public accounts on Friday, Feb. 14, 1913?

Instead of replying to the question directly, Mr. Miller asked permission to address the House and also for leave to be represented by counsel. This was agreed to quite informally, and the prisoner then began reading a long address, the point of which was that certain persons were using the machinery of the House and of the courts in Montreal to extert money from him.

courts in Montreal to extort money from him.

This caused Mr. Meighen, Conservative member for Portage la Prairie, to rise to a point of order and precipitated a noisy controversy.

Finally, Mr. Miller was allowed to resume his statement and justify as best he could his refusal to answer the question. He protested his high respect for the House of Commons and all "governing bodies in Canada," but said that the present enquiry was an unfair one because it would prejudice his interests in the matter of certain law suits now pending in the courts of Montreal.

Mr. Harvey, counsel for the prisoner, then said that the question asked the witness was an unfair one. It assumed that Mr. Miller had stated before the public accounts committee that he had paid money to some one in order to get Government business.

that he had paid money to some one in order to get Government business. As a matter of fact Mr. Miller had never said anything of the kind. He had, during the course of several years, expended $41,026 in working up the business of the company.

When Mr. Harvey concluded, Mr. Middlebro moved that the witness, R. C. Miller, be adjudged guilty of contempt of court and be committed to the custody of the keeper of the Carleton County jail until the end of the present session.

meeting.

Mr. Carvell said Mr. Middlebro had raked up some old precedents which occurred in Ontario during the days of the family compact. People are more enlightened now-a-days.

Judge Doherty, Minister of Justice, who followed, ridiculed Mr. Pugsley's complaint that the question put to the witness was "leading."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to Judge Doherty, admitted that Miller was in contempt and should be punished. He ventured to doubt, however, whether the House had the power to commit the prisoner to a provincial jail. Even on this point he was not firm, but urged the House to proceed with caution.

The Prime Minister, in closing the debate, said Miller was fairly guilty of contempt. The House must decide whether this man could be allowed to defy Parliament.

Mr. Borden said that the private litigation of Miller was an unimportant detail. The public interest was the first and paramount consideration If this man were allowed to go free, Parliament might as well disband.

Mr. Middlebro's motion was then passed, and Mr. Speaker Sproule immediately signed the warrant under his seal, committing Miller to jail is the terms of Middlebro's resolution.

The New Ruler of Latin Republic Declares That He Will Restore Order and Bring Security Both to Foreigners and Citizens-Will Make It Possible to Invest Capital In Mexico With Safety.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 22.-That the new administration in Mexico expects to use the methods of Porfirio Diaz as far as is possible in governing the country was made evident yesterday, in a conversation Provisional President Huerta had with the newspaper

President Huerta declared that no matter what the cost should be, or who the men that paid it, peace would be restored in Mexico. He said it was his ambition that when he left the Presidency, people would say of him: "He has restored order throughout Mexico, made safe the investment of money and rendered secure the lives and interests of all, both foreigners and Mexicans."

Calmly and dispassionately President Huerta outlined his program for the use of the army in restoring and maintaining order. He admitted that in many parts of the republic where an many parts of the republic where the news of the change in Government had not been received, all was not in accord with peace. To these sections, he said, he would send emissaries in an attempt to bring about order, or, if necessary troops would be despatched to them to inform the people of the

Mr. Rowell Holds Up Duff's Conservatives Have Lowered Factories Measure.

Leader of the Opposition Demands Modern Provisions Regarding Child Labor In the New Act For the Protection of Workers-Mr. Duff Disclaims All Responsibility In Recent Land Deals.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.-Hon. Mr. Duff's bill for the protection of factory workers met with unexpected opposition yesterday at its second reading. Mr. Rowell moved an amendment and forced a division, which virtually asserted that the Government was opposed to modern principles regarding child labor.

After a speech criticizing the Government for bringing down an "antiquated measure," Mr. Rowell moved the following: "That this bill be not read a second time, but that it be resolved that it is the duty of the Government to immediately introduce a measure embodying modern principles of factory regulations and inspection.

of factory regulations and inspection, so as to more effectively safeguard the lives, health and physical and moral well-being of the men, women and children employed in the factories and sbops."

"Child labor is not properly dealt with," he said. "Children, or those under the age of 14 years, still have to work hours which are too long. There is nothing so important as limiting the hours which juveniles work. But still there is nothing to this effect in the act."

He then stated that there was too much loss of human life because of unguarded machinery, and the act should contain some provision which would lessen the human sacrifice. The working of overtime was also sanc-tioned under the act in excess of what it should. He said that seven of the nine factory inspectors had advocated the elimination of overtime work in factories, but the Government had not acted upon their suggestions. The inspectors had also reported against the working in basements, save bake-shops, but their advice was not em-bodied in the bill. There should also be an increase in the number of fac-tory inspectors, the present staff be-ing entirely too small. In conclusion Mr. Rowell stated that the act lacked many modern principles that should be embodied in such a measure. Allan Studholme, Labor member for East Hamilton, also criticized the Government. He said that child laborate in the control of the cont or, especially in canning factories, was not properly dealt with in the present legislation. He voted with the Opposition.

The Premier was apparently much at the introduction of the amazed at the introduction of the amendment. "Is it the purpose of the hon, member to divide the House on the amendment?" he asked, to which Mr. Rowell replied in the affirmative.

Mr. Crothers pointed out that Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1907, at the Imperial Conference, had declared that Canada would do nothing to increase the naval forces of the Empire. In 1903 Sir Wilfrid had received the commands of the people to do nothing in regard to naval defence, but he disobeyed those mandates, and in 1910 formulated his naval service act. Mr. Crothers then dealt with the emergency which confronted the Empire. The memorandum of the British Admiralty demonstrated beyond

Referring to the great debt which this country owed Britain and Canada's failure to contribute as and Canada's failure to contribute as yet to Imperial defence, Mr. Crothers declared that no Canadian dared to look an Englishman in the face.

Mr. A. K. Maclean favored a Canadian characteristic and the second control of the contr

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Feb. 22.—
After arriving here down and out several days ago, Captain Klaus P. Larsen, who twice navigated the whirlspool rapids in a motor boat, has changed his determination never to again dare death in a rapids trip. He said yesterday that he had challenged Thomas Fleming Day, a noted yachtsman, who crossed the Atlantic Ocean in a motor boat last year, to a motor boat race through the rapids.

"Cowards," "assassins," she called them, her voice pitched high. The officers stared impassively. "You, the man who fired on a defenceless man, you and your superior officers are traitors."

No effort was made to remove the women, nor did the officers attempt to silence them. Senora Madero continued weening and the girl did not cease her hysteri-cal tirade until the arrival of the Spanish Minister and the Japanese charge, who came to offer their ser-charge, who came to offer their services.

The Minister spoke with the officers in charge, but was told that on account of the autopsy it would be impossible for anyone to see the bodies. Later in the day, they said, the request would be complied with. The diplomats then conducted the women away from the penitentiary.

Madero's father and Rafael Hernandez, former Minister of the Interior, and other friends made efforts early in the day to recover the bodies, and it was stated that the American ambassador, Henry Lane Wilson, had interested himself and secured the promise of Minister de la Barra that the bodies should be delivered to their families for burial.

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—Another selection of chapters from the diary of Abdul Hamid, appears in the March number of The Review Nord und Sua giving his views on women. The ex-Sultan of Turkey says: "The countless divorces and scandals in Europe and America show that many men in those countries incline to polygamy. The west has an entire misapprehension regarding the position of women in Turkey. Which is more sacrificing or more beautiful, the Oriental woman or the European? In Turkey woman belongs to her home, belongs to a man alone; in Europe she has too many liberties to remain womanly. If only half one about western women be true then the lot of the men there must be truly lamentable."

Previous to the shooting, it is alleged, Mrs. Mogush repeatedly threatened the lives of her two stepchildren, of whom she was insanely jealous. In a fit of uureasoning anger she wilfully shot the boy, Akin, the bullet entering his forehead. She afterwards threatened Francina, the nine-year-old girl, with the same fate, but was prevented from committing the deed and placed in confinement. The boy's condition was at first critical, but has since improved.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—F. B. Carvell took strong exception yesterday to the patronizing meddling to which Canada had been subjected at the hands of an indiscreet and ill-advised wing of the British Unionist party, who mistake jingoism for Imperialism. By the conduct of these voluntary evangelists a majority of the Canadian people were being arrayed in suspicion against much of what the party which a majority of the Canadian people were being arrayed in suspicion against much of what the party which they essayed to represent stood for. He asked how this question of fact could be determined. Assuredly no private member on either side of the House was able to decide the point, but he believed it was their duty to accept the assurance of the Prime Minister, who had received confidential communications from the Admiralty.

Wilkins was so frightened after being questioned by an assistant district atquestioned by an assistant district at-torney that Mr. Whitman rushed him before an ordinary grand jury, not daring, he said, to wait even one day for the extraordinary grand jury to convene to-day.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—An outbreak of fire, which is attributed to the suffragettes, occurred in the grandstand of Kempton Park racecourse last night. It was extinguished before any damage was done. The point of the outbreak was the ladies cloak room, immediately opposite that part of the stand set apart for the King.

It is asserted, on what is claimed to be the highest authority, that the militant suffragettes, in addition to other contemplated coups, have laid plans to kidnap certain of the Cabinet Ministers. In support of the bill he declared it was a danger to society to allow those adjudged guilty of criminal offence to marry again. He condemned divorce as an evil, and said it was a growing evil. He would go further than the bill and would send to jail the guilty party to a divorce.

Senator Karchhoffer reviewed the history of similar bills in the British Parliament, and stated that they had all been rejected there.

Senator Power said that as the church to which he and Senator Cloran belonged did not recognized divorce, therefore the members of the church suffered no inconvenience or hardship through divorces. Such a bill as this had better have been introduced by a Senator who belonged to a church which did not take the same possible for one Parliament to bind a future Parliament, as would be the case if Senator Cloran's bill passed. His purpose might be accomplished by a change in the Senate's rules. He favored this.

Senator Douglas favored legislation which would make it difficult for men to go wrong, but he thought the bill would prove ineffective.

Senator Dandrand liked Senator Power's suggestion that the divorce committee be allowed in each case to decide as to remarriage.

committee be allowed in each case to decide as to remarriage.

Hon. Mr. Lougheed said the bill, by imposing an impediment to remarriage, seemed to infringe upon the statutory authority of the provinces over divorce so recently decided by the Privy Council. In view of the legal complications involved in this bill he thought it would be unwise for the Senate to pass this bill.

On division the motion for second reading of the bill was defeated by a vote of 12 to 27.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 21.-That Francisco Madero will get out of Mexico without having to face official investigations for one thing or another now appears improbable. He has already been charge with responsibility

Woodstock, Feb. 20.—That the charges made by the Guelph Club against the Woodstock club regarding the eligibility of Player Jack Timms, Berlin boy who has played left wing for the Industrial City youngsters this year, are absolutely false, is the statement made by the President and Secretary of the local club.

Regarding the charge that Timms did not leave Berlin for Woodstock until August 6 the club has evidence which should establish that the player in question was here during the last week in July, and it is stated that the payroll of the Bain Waggon Company by whom Timms is employed, shows that he began work on July 31. The officers of the Woodstock club had no companylostion, with Times regarding the country have been ordered releas-and Wounds Wifs.

HAMILTON, Feb. 20.—One of the most brutal murders in the history of Hamilton occurred early yesterday morning, when Casimir Linkiewitz, a Russian, boarding at the house of Wasil Boyko, 296 Ferguson avenue, was struck over the head with an axe and died a few moments afterward. Mrs. Boyko, the wife of the landlord, was also struck with the weapon and is at present in the hospital, where her death is hourly expected. Wasil Boyko was placed under arrest, charged with murder.

The story told the police is to the effect that the two men had been out until a late hour the night previous and returned home very much the worse of liquor, and in a short time started a fight. It is said that Boyko charged the murdered man with paying effects of the property of the started and the said that Boyko charged the murdered man with paying effects.

Having got the worst of the fistic encounter, it is said that Boyko is ran out of the house and returned a ishort time later with a hatchet, with which he struck Linkiewitz over the head before the latter had a chance to defend himself. As the accused's wife attempted to interfere, Boyko turned and struck her with the hatchet, inflicting a terrible wound. It would appear that the murderer then dragged his victim through the kitchen and across the yard to the woodshed, where he left him, either dead or soon to die. After this Boyko, if it was he who committed the deed, returned to the house, picked his wife from the floor, placed her on the bed and then retired.

Mr. Sinclair made a motion for a return showing all the presentments made by grand juries during last year, and in speaking on it, criticized the Government for alleged laxity in dealing with the recommendations. He then refers to decisions arrived at at last Imperial Conference, when Canada and Australia adopted the fleet unit scheme, and says the Australian agreement is the only one that has been carried out. If co-operation is to be insured it therefore becomes necessary for Canada and New Zealand to either carry out the schemes adopted by the 1909 conference or propose some others to take their places.

The importance of this statement is found in the fact that it would seem to refute the allegation that both the Canadian and Australian Governments of four years ago preferred to build and maintain their own navies rather than contribute in ship or subsidies to the Imperial navy.

DEPUTATION APPOINTED TO IN TERVIEW GOVERNMENT IN CONNECTION WITH CONTINU. ING THE SYSTEM.

From Wednesday's Daily. Alone Has Carried Out Plan—Agreement Now Necessary.

LONDON, Fe'b. 26.—(C.A.P. Cable.)

—The Commonwealth authorities in London issued this morning the text of an important statement made recently by Senator Pearce, Australian Minister of Defence, on the question of Imperial naval defence. Pearce explains the Australian Government attaches no importance to being reof Imperial naval defence. Pearce explains the Australian Government attaches no importance to being represented in the Imperial defence committee, because it is of a purely advisory character. Australians were concerned about questions of policy which the council had enacted and explainted their action for ratification. which the council had enacted and submitted their action for ratification still the ministers and engineers would insist upon some assurance that the road building already undertaken in Oxford would be completed To this effect council was requested to compel the municipalities to get in line with a scheme. It was suggested that the minister would be ready to receive a denutation from the council. receive a deputation from the council on Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 10.30 a.m., in Toronto.

Warden for Deputation.

Warden Denton immediately urged the appointment of a deputation to meet the Department in Toronto, as suggested, to fully explain the situ-ation here. While he solicitor had informed him that council had power in itself to repeal the by-law, it was undoubtedly the better procedure to have the Act properly passed.

Clerk N. E. Birtch then read a by-law which he had prepared on his own responsibility, without being aware of the correspondence from Col. Mayberry—and his effort was the subject of favorable comment from the warden. The new by-law with blanks, designates roads to be instituted as county concerns, and provides that Tillsonburg be includ-ed for an expenditure of $10,000, and ed for an expenditure of $10,000, and Tavistock for $5,000, and that the money be borrowed upon debentures.

Each Township for Itself.

The clerk explained that according to the new by-law he had drawn up each municipality itself pays for only what it gets, and is not, as in the present system, obliged to assist other municipalities which are behind, by a sort of balance arrange

Ingersoll was ready to go into the system, provided, it was separated, as he could see the justice of putting in only when anything was received.

Coun. Fleet backed up his townsman, remarking that Ingersoll should give no more money toward repairs and maintenance of roads in other parts of the county.

While Warden Denton had no objection to asking the Government to eliminate Ingersoil, he thought that town might bear with the council Tavistock residents had recognized he said, the value of good rural roads in directing trade to their town, and were willing to bear the expense. In concluding he advised the council to pass the by-law the clerk had prepared and get down to work.

A Household Medicine.—They that are acquainted with the sterling qual-ties of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the treatment of many ailments would not be without it in the house. Castlenau had staved off a possible langer, and both he and Lenore danger, and both breathed freely.

Featherstone was not likely to peril the loss of any good fish to his net for the sake of curiosity. He cared noth-ing if Castlenau were a scamp, so long as he served his purpose and played into his hands.

Ah! but how long would that be?

CHAPTER XX.

CHAPTER XX.

VERY LAUGHABLE SCHEMES

Mr. Gus Featherstone had a good deal to think of that night in the solitative tude of his own room, and it must have been indeed something of both weighty and immediate import to his own interest to keep that worthy a wake five minutes after he was in bed or wake him until he was called. But now one or more troublesome problems had rather, if not entirely, unexpectedly presented themselves to him, which promised to throw complications and cross-currents into his plans which might possibly prove as unmanageable as the veritable cross-curients and dangerous tides of the Solway, and which certainly called for his immediate action.

He had several irons in the fire and, though each iron, or scheme, was different, each depended to some extent on the other, since all were heat.

He had several irons in the fire and, though each iron, or scheme, was different, each depended to some extent en the other, since all were heated by the same furnace and therefore any dislocation of the fundamentals was disturbing the whole as one complete scheme for his own financial benefit; and it would have been a curieus study of ethics, alike for the moralist and the dramatist, to trace carefully the evolutions of this semicarefully the evolutions of this semi-criminal mind as it put before it the problems now arisen. There was a fine irony of humer in the calm ob-liquity of any moral point or aspec liquity of any moral point or aspect in the question; it was simply one of expediency and self-interest, a complete meral nakedness and deadly heartlessness under the surface of joyial good-nature and affection. Even that which most men hold dear was to him little, if any more, than a commodity to be used for his advantage if required. Five years ago, for instance, dire necessity had made it expedient for him to sell his young step-daughter, when too prostrate from recent fever to offer resistance, to husband because only on his man riage could his fortune be touched and out of it, therefore, Deleware ha paid him a handsome price for th paid nim a handsome price for the girl, who was simply a money-box to them both; but now he would almost as readily, certainly under sufficient pressure of self-expediency, sell the same commodity upon any terms that he deemed were to his own advant-

First, new, as to this new, and, he hoped, profitable acquaintance he had recently made, Mr. Clement Everest, he had fully intended, if possible, as usual, to draw him into the attractions of his social circle, where reigned a woman, who, do what she would, could not help being an attraction and an influence so long as men and women came within the circle at all; the former especially, of course, for if she were haughty, distant, or even wayward, it only piqued them. Men like Montague, for one, were not easily rebuffed into full retreat even if Lenore, under the terror held over her, and in the absence of her protector, had dared to go quite so far. Gus, therefore, had meant to ask Everest to the Lodge, the more so because his "trump card," as he reckoned the man he so little fathomed, was returning—a man whose great personal gifts and charm would enhance the glowing account he would give of the rich mines from which he had just come; and it was naturally more than vexing to the schemer to find his success met by a sudden complication and warning which he dared not disregard, coming from that quarter, for despite his overwhelming confidence in himself Mr. Gus somehow had an uncomfortable instinct that this careless eavalier, Errol Castlensu, was rather a dangerous man and not to be lightly trifled with.

Lenore's hand was on her lover's passionate lips, in dread of an answer-that might have, perhaps, sent rolling a ball not easily stopped; but she need not have feared—the stake was too great for the wildest tempest to forget

But her hand was instantly and silently kissed, and Castlenau said with a careless laugh:

"Pardon me—it's all for the same reason. Do as you like. It, won't hurt me or mine. I'll take care of that; but it will do for your hopes in that matter."

"You are very enigmatical, Castlenau," impatiently. "What has he got against you?"

"You are very enigmatical, Castlenau," impatiently. "What has he got against you?"

"Doesn't a base nature always hate savagely one it has injured?"

"Yoes; it is an axiom."

"And a true one. If you want to know what that means, for the more important difficulty, which is the old puzzlement renewed with the added complication that Montague will be awfully jealous. I must play my queen of hearts with care, and, by Jove! I'll show you my lady—if there is any nonsense or absurd prejudices against this one or that, I am at the bottom of it, and hark off in a huff; and if I find that this one does not care for you—wife or widow—I won't have him sent off for any absurd scruples about not marrying for the chance of Gerald's being alive. "Confound the girls! I say; and it you want the very quintessence of self-will, and passion, give me one of the chance of Gerald's being alive. "Confound the girls! "The question for me is, does, or did, he ever care for the girl? If he does, why did he go off to Sant Arna for two years, without taking her and darkened, laughed outright."

"You are a naughty little rebel, and like your mother all over," said Featherstone, angrily; but both Lenore and Castlenau, though his brow had darkened, laughed outright.

moble lives must surely have been too widely apart to cross?

"You can ask him if you choose, and believe him, too," Castlenau had said, with the coolest, haughtiest indifference and contempt, "I don't care, but he will have nothing to determine the coolest of the coolest of care, but he will have nothing to de with anything I have touched."

"What can it be, I wonder?" musted Featherstone. "I wish I could find out, unknown to either side; it might be something that weuld give me a grip. By Jove! I'd give much to get hold over that Castlenau, but I daren't venture to try in that direction; still, I'm not sure, I won't try to get a step further to-morrow. Now the child off, too? That caps me."

Not the remotest idea or the barest possibility crossed the dense mofal cross with the child, Gus, or her mopossibility crossed the dense moral obliquity of the worthy Gus, that honor, loyalty, and love had sent that man into exile—those three were factors in the sum of life absolutely not known to Gus Featherstone, save as fine-sounding words to trip off the tongue for effect, with a sneer for who ever took them seriously.

to the matter as far as his knowledge and part in it were concerned. He made his statement of facts, reported what had been done; explained, advised, suggested, answered questions promised the full accounts directly his "traps" were unpacked, and concluded, as a summing up:

"I've given you the straight, bare "I've given you the straight, bare flirtation."

Then he answered, half carelessly, half haughtily:

"It's a fair field and no favors, extept at the diva's own choosing. It take it; that's beauty's inalienable right from all time; and as she does not appear to respond to the adoring Montague, he is jealous as Othello, isn't that it? and it takes two to a flirtation."

"I've given you the straight, bare truth, good, bad, and indifferent, un-pleasant and pleasant; and, to my ex-perience, I'll stand to the fullest and in the best light it will bear, and ask "I've given you the straight, bare ruth, good, bad, and indifferent, unbeasant and pleasant; and, to my experience, I'll stand to the fullest and in the best light it will bear, and ask no questions, for conscience's sake as to what you make of it, for that's your look-out, not-mine, and I'll carry mental reservation to the extremest point of casuistry—which I believe in—but there I draw the line. Don't ing his lip.

"Oh, she has taken an absurd prejudice and fanciful dislike to him," said Gus, very vexedly; "she lets him see that his attentions are unwelcome, and would go much further only that I remonstrated with her about it quite decidedly." "What'a mild way of putting it, you scoundrel!" thought the listener, biting his lip. ask me to assert that the mines are and will pay the nobody-knows percent, because I won't do it, when I know that, if such had been paid, or ever is, it must come out of capital and write ruin within very measurable distance."

"Oh, that's all right, my dear fellow!" said Gus, with a laugh, but secretely rather startled to find that this man, reckless though he was, was not quite as unscrupulous a scamp as he had, very stupidly reckoned him to be; or was it that for some purpose of his own, that he chose is the most exquisite of flowers, but if you gather it roughly its thorns will tear your hand sorely."

if he could—through his stepdaughter and, thought Gus, quickly:
"He isn't the man to be scrupulous about obstacles if he is in love with a girl; and it's easy for him to get any woman in love with him if he chocses, and come round her to marry him, and chance it all. Yes, that's my game at present—play him and Mortague."

It never entered this worthy's head It never entered this worthy's nead that the proposed puppet had his game to play, and was by far the cleverer player of the two, in every respect including the fact that he fully gaug-ed and read his opponent, while he himself remained a complete enigma to which the very key was not known to Gus Featherstone. to Gus Featherstone said he, with his full, round few moments. Gus was considering how to touch on the question he wish-ed to reach, but he soon hit on an opening. CHAPTER XXI.

"HE HATH BEEN A VILE THIEF THIS SEVEN YEARS."

Lighting a fresh cigar, Feather-tone remarked:
"I expect that to-morrow evening "I expect that to-morrow evening when some of the fellows interested in it hear that you are the man, my friend, just back from Sant' Anna, you will have to stand a perfect fire of questions."

"They are quite welcome," with a shrug. "I can stand very hot fire without flinching—except from bright eyes, of course."

"Ha! Lauses you can be seen to the stand when the stand we had a stand without flinching—except from bright eyes.

without flinching—except from bright eyes, of course."

"Ha! ha! I guess you can do execution in return if you choose, you scamp. Apropos of bright eyes. I do not fancy that the person I spoke of at breakfast, Montague, will be especially delighted at your advent here."

"Come into the garden, Castlenau," said he; "and mix business with cigars. It's a lovely morning."

The young man followed, wishing gold mines just then very much further than this world, I am afraid, and in a much warmer region than the Brazils.

But he philosophically resigned himself to the inevitable and went into the matter as far as his knowledge and part in it were concerned. He made his statement of facts, reported

"How do, my dear Montague!" exclaimed Gus, coming up. "You're late for you. I see my daughter has done the introducing; my friend is just fresh from Sant' Anna, so if you want to know all the pros. and cons, ask him—ha! ha!—he can tell you;" then aside: "Been at the California gold mnies in his time, and knows a thing or two—clever fellow—up to everything—they couldn't feol him, I tell you. Ah! who is playing?"

Mrs. Deleware had riser, and crossing to a well-known pianist, who was present, asked him to play.

Dudley Montague's eyes followed her graceful figure, and then went covertly from her to Erro! Castlenau with such an evil look—hate, jealousy and a furtive, sinister triumph underlying the whole expression that was odd—it lurked too, under the smile, which, after a pause, he turned to Featherstone.

Why Men Fail.

It is just as interesting to know why men fail as it is to know why they succeed in business, because the natural tendency is to profit by mistakes and keep others from falling into the same pit-falls.

Metallington, N.Z., Feb. 28.—Lady Robert F. Scott, widow of the Antarctic explorer, arrived here yes terday on board the Aorangi.

Should the City of Woodstock pay for the benefit it receives from the good roads of the County? Couns. Stauffer and Hawkins think so. Coun. Hawkins said he hoped for legislation that would provide 'or this would soon be enacted. In his opinion it would be hard to show that the city, morally, and in every other way, was not entitled to contribute toward the upkeep of County roads.

From Wednesday's Daily.

A change in methods was strongly advocated at the meeting of the Board of Trade last night while a comparison was being made of industrial progress here and in some other towns that are constantly receiving publicity.

That the Rip Van Winkle drowsiness that seems to have settled over the town relative to industrial expansion should be shaken off was the keynote of several addresses in which the speakers did not mince matters.

It was clearly pointed out that for years the board had been meeting and talking, but results had not been very satisfactory. It was time that there was less talking and more actual work that would produce results.

An Industrial Commissioner.

The methods that have been followed by the Board were not looked upon as very conducive to the greatest degree of success. That there should be a guiding hand was the unanimous opinion. In this connection the suggestion was emphasized that the town should have for a short term at least. a Publicity Commissioner or Industrial Agent, a competent person whose duty it would be to get in touch with the various industrial opportunities that present themselves from day to day and conduct negotiations to the stage where both the Board of Trade and the council would be in a position to lend final assistance. This, it was pointed out, was the policy of practically every growing town in the West and of many others in the East.

The Mayor's View.

In discussing the matter Dr. Coleridge did not mince matters.

He asked: "Do not the gentlemen around this Board think the time has come when this town had better wake up? When I look around I see other places are getting in dustries and Ingersoll it sgetting in the west and on the places are getting in dustries and Ingersoll is getting in the West by publicity commission.

ter wake up? When I look around I see other places are getting industries and Ingersoll is getting none. . Why are we not getting some of them? . We will never get them by sitting and talking at this Board. We must go out after them in a business-like way. I think the time has come when the members of this Board of Trade should start out and stimulate a spirit of loyalty amongst the citizens and we can raise the funds by membership and through the council that will enable us to go out and get some new industries. . If we are to stay on the map and be a factor in the Province of Ontario we are to stay on the map and be a factor in the Province of Ontario that we would like to be, we have got to get more industries."

In conclusion the Mayor believed that a sum sufficient to pay a competent man for a short time could be raised without difficulty.

Conditions in Inland Towns.

Referring to the remarks of Mayor Coleridge, Reeve Fleet said it was all very well to talk this way at the meeting. Nothing along the line suggested by the Mayor, however had been done since the last meeting. He believed Ingersoll would compare well with most linkely to be anything done before the next meeting. Fraud Caused Farmers' Bank Crash, Says Meredith.

FIELDING IS EXONERATED

Chief Justice In His Report on Failure Finds That Nothing Worse Than an Error of Judgment Can Be Laid at Door of the Treasury Board-

Affair Unparallelled In History of the Dominion.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—The long-look-ed-for report of Sir William Meredith, the royal commissioner appointed to examine into the affairs and organization of the defunct Farmers' Bank and the part Hon. Mr. Fielding, ex-Minister of Finance, and his colleagues on the Treasury Board, played in regard to the granting of a certificate to that institution, was tabled in the House yesterday afternoon by Finance Minister White.

"Notwithstanding the irregularities on the part of Travers and his misconduct in connection with the application for the certificate," says Sir William. "the evidence satisfies me that if the Farmers Bank had been prudently and honestly managed there is no reason why it should not have succeeded. The promissory notes that had been given by subscribers were for the most part good, and were subsequently paid, and while it is true that if the certificates of the Treasury Board had not been granted the money of the shareholders and depositors would not have been lost, the efficient cause of that loss was the recklessness and fraud of those entrusted with the management of the bank and not the granting of the certificate.

He exonerated the members of the Treasury Board of any wilful wrongdoing, but says that they committed an error of judgment in granting the certificate in spite of the intimations they had received from Sir Edmund Osler and David Henderson, M.P.; in regard to Travers and the affairs of the institution. He believed that they should have at least investigated these statements before taking Travers' word in regard to the matter.

The chief justice does not rest a great deal of weight in the statements of Mr. Henderson and Sir Edmund because he points out they did not bring these facts to the attention of the House of Commons. William states that it appears that the provisional directors intended to sell Travers the charter of the bank and hand over to him full control of the bank's affairs.

He further points out that the accepting of promissory notes in payment for stock was done with the sole idea that Travers might be able to hypothecate those notes and thus raise the money with which to satisfy the Treasury Board. OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—The limitation of appeals to the Privy Council was discussed by the Senate yesterday.

Senator David moved that a committee be appointed to consider the advisability of limiting the right of appeal to the Supreme Court and to the Privy Council in certain classes of cases. He referred to complaints which have been made for yea. 3 of the advantage given to wealthy litigants over poor ones.

Sir Richard Scott said that having been a member of the Government which designed the court system he had watched its operations for many years with much interest. It had not come up to the expectations of its designers.

"The court of last appeal seem to have favored companies against the individual, and they certainly had favored companies against municipalities." added Sir Richard.

Sir George Ross believed he could properly say that there have been a multitude of appeals to the Privy Council which never could not be rightly judged properly except in the atmosphere in which the cases arose. Sir George Ross did not favor the abolition of all appeals to the Privy Council. There were cases where there is a dispute whether escheats belong to a province or the federal authority, there was a matter of cold law where a Privy Council decision could be properly given and would be unique.

However, it should be settled once and for all that in cases arising over municipal bylaws there should be no appeal beyond the courts of Canada. Hon. Mr. Lougheed, Government leader, said he could hardly discuss the proposal without some reserve. He thought all would agree that vested rights should receive that sanction to which they were entitled. Legislatures might be subject to capricious action, and it was desirable that not only in Canada, but the investing people of Europe, should be assured that vested rights, would be respected.

The note goes on to say that Britain has the right to object to an abrogation of the treaty by the passing of the bill quite irrespective of whether or not the act has been actually exercised. Britain does not desire to argue in the present note that its view is the only correct one, but merely to state that a case for arbitration exists as a result of the passing of the recent discriminatory toll schedule. Hotchkiss climbed a tree, in which the lion was crouching, unarmed except for a rope. The lion chased him down the tree several times, but finally Hotchkiss got within about three feet from him and threw a rope around his neck. The men on the other end of the rope attempted to pull the lion out of the tree, but were unable to do so. Hotchkiss worked around behind the lion, and twisted his tail until they jarred him loose. After getting the lion down they threw another rope around his leg. Hotchkiss then placed him on the saddle, fastening his feet and head to the horn, climbed on behind, and brought him into Colona.

C. B. Watts of Toronto spoke at length in advocating the policy, declaring that the present method of assessment was not equitable. Speculators held vacant property in cities for big prices and kept back the development of the municipalities. Were the burden of taxation placed on the land it would stimulate building and encourage development. He instanced numerous cases in Toronto where land was held at a high price, although the assessment was low because there were either no buildings or very poor structures. Mr. Watts declared that the City of London would have to pay three or four times the assessed value of property for the federal square. The western method was advocated by him. In many of the cities there buildings were not assessed at all, and in others not more these assessed at all, and in others not more essed at all, and in others not more

This assertion come unexpectedly just at the time when several speakers were endeavoring to introduce this question into the discussion. Needless to say it called a halt to the discussion as far as "mild" beer or any other kind of liquor was concerned.
Captain Lavergne of Montmagny, Que., introduced the discussion. If the men could not get beer in camp they would go to the nearest saloon and perhaps get vile whisky there and return to camp in an unmanageable condition, he said. His regiment had made a long march at camp and during the march the men were halted and given beer, and it did them good. His remarks were warmly applauded by a large section of the officers.

Col. Mitchell of Winnipeg had taken the contrary view. He said that militia camps had begun to become unpopular from the day canteens were allowed in them. Mothers refused to allow their sons to go to camp when they knew that they would be submitted to such temptations. Last year with no liquor in camp conditions were excellent. In the camp of 4,000 men he had not seen one man drunk. His remarks were interrupted with men he had not seen one man drunk

"The only way that you can get back the canteens in the camp will be by changing the Minister of Militia," said Col. Hughes. "I have had more experience in handling men than have most of you. I know that the greatest blight that a camp can have is a wet canteen." is a wet canteen.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson read from a speech made by Sir John A. Macdonald, in Charlottetown, P.E.I., in 1864. In this speech Sir John had strongly advocated the establishment of a Canadian navy and the independence of Canada. Mr. Emmerson declared that all the fathers of Confederation had favored the local navy idea. Mr. Emmerson declared himself to be opposed to that school of Imperialism which would make of Canada a small province in a big federation.

Mr. Knowles (Moose Jaw) who followed Mr. Emmerson, made a strong speech in favor of the Laurier naval policy, declaring that the Prime Minister had changed his policy on severer had changed his policy on sever-occasions to meet the exigencies of emoment. It was the duty of the beral party to oppose this contribu-n policy until they forced the Gov-ment to go to the country of sheer scention.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier followed. Enough Sir Wilfrid Laurier followed. Enough had been heard, he said, to make clear the differences between the respective positions of the parties hot only on the question of full debate of the measure, but on the broader problem of Imperial defence. Canada had passed out of the period of tutelage and infancy, and now, already having her land forces, looked beyond her own shores and was prepared to take up responsible duties for herself and Britain.

It must be declared, he said, that

as Canadians we had rights and as British subjects we had duties to per-form. On this double ground the Liberals attacked the Government's present plan. The contribution plan was not an alequate and proper discharge of Canada's duty to herself, and to Britain. The contribution was uncalled for and professed to give help which Britain did not need and had not select for had not asked for.

The present measure has been brought under false pretences. In the speech from the throne words had been put in the mouth of the Governor-General that were without founda-

The Liberal policy was based rather on the gradual development of all parts of the British Empire, with the daughter nations as they grew in wealth and strength protecting their own coasts and trade routes, and prepared, if the need ever came, to take their place in the Empire's fighting line. "This is our policy," exclaimed Sir Wilfrid, "and on it we challenge the verdict of the Canadian people." Sir Wilfrid, "and on it we challenge the verdict of the Canadian people."

Speaking for the Liberals, Sir Wilfrid said that they had not changed their naval policy. "Though assailed and defeated, we see no reason why we should change our course. Our ship to-day steadily holds the same course it has always held, and the port to which it is directed on the present occasion is Imperial unity based upon local autonomy."

Sir Wilfrid declared his adherence to the Turriff demand for redistribution and a general election.

In taking up the subject of redistribution, Premier Borden cointed out that in the 15 years Sir Wilfrid had been in power he had never brought down a redistribution bill the year after the election. He enquired of Sir Wilfrid if the bringing down of a redistribution bill would unnecessarily mean an election. Personally he thought not.

He leclared that the average Canadian young man was not keen for a life on the sea, but if ever there arose an emergency he never doubted for an instant but that there would be plenty of men available.

The Prime Minister advocated an Imperial unity, one flag, one fleet and one Imperial policy. He did not believe in the idea of five fleet units.

The divisions were then taken.

Speaking to the resolution Reeve Fleet stated he had been considering the advisability of taking such a step for some time. "You are assuming that I do sing or am musical at all," said he.

"A safe assumption when I hear you speak, and saw the rapt attention you gave Schemnitzberg's exquisite playing," retorted the lady, "Go, sir, directly, and sing 'Ungeduld."

Errol laughed, bowed and, rising, crossed over to Mrs. Deleware with the message.

"She has but anticipated me," she answered, rising at once. "I was go-ing to summon you to the piano. Shall I accompany you?"

"A beauty is always cruel, isn't she? It is her privilege, her right."

"I don't know; but I will concede anything," he said, eagerly, "if you will only honor me next Saturday to a matinee? Ah, don't refuse, and drive a poor wretch to distraction!"

For one second Lenore paused, as if results as a castlenau's rich tenor filled the rooms with its melody; but the woman who played for him almost trembled, for she felt, knew that every note, every word so charged with pathos and passion, was for her, straight from the singer's very soul; and in the burst of applause that followed the last "Dein ist mein Hertz!" she alone said nothing, but closing the book of Schubert's songs, was rising when Montague stepped quickly forward, exclaiming:

"Not yet, please Mys. D.

For one second Lenore paused, as it recalling engagements. Thank Heaven! she had a protector now; she could not dare her father's terrible sword.

"Not yet, please, Mrs. Deleware, We have not heard your delicious voice yet. May I choose from this sword."

"If you like."

"Thanks; this, then. I like Sullivan's songs," and he put "Guinevere" on the piano. "My tastes, I confess, are not so classic as yours."

"Your uncle, Lady Wyndham?Pardon me, where?" said Errol, glancing round.

"Sir John Ramory. Isn't he flirting disgracefully with Mrs. Deleware? Always does; so you know what to expect; and she's as wicked. I tell him he'll make all you younger men jealous."

Government Intends to Bring In a Measure to Limit Debate and Let Majority Fix a Time For Taking a Vote-Major Currie Tries to Stop Discussion, But Premier

OTTAWA, March 7 .-- Conspirators of the Rogers school, who tried to force a closure on the naval debate, were caught in their own trap in the Commons yesterday afternoon. The plot to apply the gag suddenly and take the Liberals by surprise had been carefully laid. But unfortunately the virtual Premier, Hon. Robert Rogers, and his henchmen, Major Currie and Solictor-General-aspirant A. C. Boyce, had apparently not consulted the titular Premier, Mr. Borden, nor had they reckoned on the astuteness of Hon. Dr. Pugsley.

Had the plotters succeeded in carrying out their tactics a practical closure would have been applied almost without debate, and in an arbitrary and utterly unjustifiable manner. Premier Borden spoiled it by promptly siding with the Liberals and practically giving directions to the Speaker of the House and to his followers not to support the ruling of lowers not to support the ruling of Major Currie, who was temporarily presiding in committee.

The Government now intends to bring in a special bill early next week amending the rules of the House so as to limit the debate and allow the Government to fix a time for taking a vote on any question after what the Government deems a "reasonable" time has been allowed for debate. Needless to say, this will cause a prolonged debate, and it cannot be put through before the Government is in extremis for lack of funds to carry the administration during the coming fiscal year.

Hon. William Pugsley protested that any member had the right to discuss a point of order, and when Chairman Currie ruled against him, appeal-

Major Currie announced that there could be no appeal from his ruling, and Mr. Speaker Sproule was sent for. His honor submitted to the House the question: "Is it permissible for members to discuss a point of order except with the permission of the chairman?"

Yeas and nays were demanded and the division bells rang sharply throughout the building. They wak-ened many sleeping members and ened many sleeping members and there was excitement, many suppos-ing that a vote upon the naval bill had been reached. Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that not healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day-over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema?

NEW YORK, March 7.—"You, man, go home, get another taxicab and go out and kill somebody else," Judge

"Gentlemen," continued the court, addressing the jury which had just that a drunken chauffeur can run recklessly with his machine through the street and go unpunished. # THE SPIRIT OF LOYALTY

The eleven members present at the meeting of the Board of Trade Tuesday night are to be congratulated on their efforts to lay the foundation for greater industrial activity. Of the eleven members in attendance, five we're retail n.erchants. While this measures up to nearly fifty per cent. the attendance was far below what it should be when the industrial and commercial prestige of the town and the individual enterprise that is to be seen are taken into consideration. Every retail merchant and every manufacturer should become a member of the Board and work as a unit for the upbuilding of the

Too much importance cannot be attached to the remarks of His Worship Mayor Coleridge relative to stimulating a spirit of loyalty amongst the citizens. The town in which a livelihood is earned, in which business interests are centred, in fact in which all that pertains to commercialism, social enjoyments and family ties, are to be found should have first claim on all loyal citizens.

A broader spirit of loyalty would do much for Ingersoll. It is a generally accepted fact that Ingersoll people as a whole are proud of their town is so far as general prosperity, ordinary advantages and contentment are concerned. But, while this is true, greater loyalty could be developed-a spirit of loyalty that has linked with it a desire to do something, to keep the stone rolling, and go on year after year, adding to the list of industries and increasing the population that will hold out prospects of cityhood some day.

If every retail merchant, every manufacturer, in fact every property holder of Ingersoll were seized with this broader spirit of loyalty, to become instrumental in advancing the town's interests, what a great change would soon be wrought. To create this broader spirit of loyalty petty prejudices and selfishness must be cast aside, and a stand taken to bring about the greatest good for the greatest number. This is what a successful Board of Trade will do

There are many businessmen in Ingersoll who have no difficulty in making a success of their respective businesses. They would be valuable men as members of the Board of Trade, and they owe it to the community to help advance the town. As businessmen they it to themselves. They have large investments in buildings and stocks. Any assistance they render the Board of Trade that will be productive of industrial expansion will mean a wider local market thereby increasing the sale of their goods. They believe in advertising their own businesses; why not work together and advertise the town? The same thing applies to the resident who is merely the owner of a small piece of property. The property is his investment, and he too, can assist the Beard in some respect. It may be simply in giving his sanction to an enterprise that might be brought up for public endorsation. But he can help nevertheless. The greater the development, the greater the value of the property in the

As Mayer Coleridge has said, talking at the Board of Trade will not produce results. These can be obtained through actual work only. The Board has at last got on the right course to do something of material advantage to the town of Ingersoll, and it should have the sympathy of every citizen who stands for progress.

Greater loyalty will intensify the interest and make results more

Great Britain.

LONDON, March 6.—(C. A. P. Cable)—In order to cope with the fresh demands made upon it of officering dominion battleships and the new requirements of the submarine and aerial service, the Admiralty makes announcements that a limited number of cadets will in future be taken from the public schools. The official estimate of the number of lieutenants likely to be wanted during 1916-1920 show that, after allowing for existing supplementary sources of supply there will still be a deficiency.

The first competitive examination will take place in June and the successful candidates will be sent to a naval establishment for a course of professional training and then be distributed as midshipmen in the fleet. Their service as midshipmen will be somewhat shortened in comparison with that of other midshipmen, in view of their greater maturity. The same subsequent career will be open to them as officers who have entered through Osborne. They will be free to volunteer for service in any one special branch.

BUDGET DEBATE GOES ON

Member For Monck in Address in the Legislature Vigorously Criticizes the School System-Overlapping and Bad Inspection Chief Faults-G. H. Ferguson Favors Tax on Real Estate Transfers.

TORONTO, March 7.-The budget debate occupied the floor at afternoon and night sittings yesterday, and in all eight speakers participated in a breezy discussion pro and con of the Government's administration, fiscal and general.

When the debate was resumed Charles A. Jarvis, member for Fort William, made his maiden speech in the House. He compared the Government's expenditure on colonization roads with that of the former administration. In 1905 the amount spent had been $140,000, while in 1912 it was $433,000.

Mr. Jarvis spoke briefly in praise of the new prison farm at Port Arthur. Since the farm began operation 402 prisoners had been kept there and only four had escaped. Up to the present 350 acres of land had been cleared, 1,000 cords of wood and 10,000 feet of logs cut. The land already cleared was worth $50,000 and within a year about 100 acres would be under a year about 100 acres would be under crop.

"Instead of prisoners being a burden upon this province," he said, "they will be an assistance in reducing the cost of maintenance."

J. C. Elliott, Liberal, West Middlesex, followed.

Hon. I. B. Lucas' address on the budget, he said, was marked by the fact that despite that the people of the province were prosperous, in the affairs of the Government there was a tremendous deficit. "If you cannot make ends meet in prosperous times, how are you going to do it when how are you going to do it when times are slack?" he asked.

"Timber receipts of $2,900,000 last year that are gone forever, cannot be termed current receipts," he said. Actermed current receipts, he said. According to the figures, he declared the expenditures for 1913 would be $12,123,000, while the estimated revenue would be only $9,945,000. "How is this deficit of nearly two and a half million to be made up," he asked.

Hon. I. B. Lucas protested that Mr. Elliott had added in $1,500,000 of capital expenditure.

Mr. Elliott reiterated his statement

Mr. Elliott reiterated his statement that after every thing was done the province would have a deficit.

"This Government has no regard for economy in administrating the affairs of the province," concluded Mr. Elliott. "The expenditures should be curtailed so that when hard times come the Government will be prepared to cope with them."

G. H. Ferguson, Conservative member for Grenville, replied, and defended the appointment of additional judges. He said that the Opposition had failed to point to one single dollar which had been misappropriated or improperly handled. In reference to the members of the Supreme Court opposing the appointment of two more judges, he said that the public as well as the judges must be considered.

Mr. Ferguson then turned his attention to the surplus which the Government had been able to show after eight vegrs of power. He admitted ernment to the surplus which the Government had been able to show after eight years of power. He admitted that the Government was spending much money, but it showed results. He pointed to the amounts given to education, agriculture and other enterprises.

The speaker then mentioned other sources from which the Government might collect revenue. For instance, in these days of real estate speculation, a tax might be placed on all real estate transfers. It was another case where unearned increment might

"The Government should also do comething to protect little local mar-

"The Government should also do something to protect little local markets." he continued. Large city departmental stores were ruining country trade, and, in fact, wiping it out of existence." He thought it would be a good idea to place a tax on all these establishments who did business outside of a radius of 30 or 40 miles of the city."

T. Marshall, Liberal (Monck), took up the criticism of the budget from the education point of view.

The curriculum had at least ten different subjects each day. The system tried to teach ancient, modern and mediaeval history, and yet taught no branch properly.

In Ontario the teacher didn't teach the course without teaching twice as many lessons as in Nova Scotia and British Columbia, and two and a half times as many as in the United States. "Now then," said the speaker, "take the matter of inspection, I think you'll agree with me that in this case the inspector has more of a depressing and retarding influence than the curriculum itself." The inspector's visit means a hard week's work of useless preparation. The inspector ran from one room to the other and his atmosphere was as ochilly, that he lowered the temperature of every room he entered, and when he left the school, there was a bad taste in everybody's mouth.

Liberal Forces Encouraged by Insurance Law Works Hardship,

Says Mr. McKeown. ROUTINE IN LEGISLATURE

Local House Gets Down to Routine and Deals With Private Bills-Proposed Amendment to Insurance Law Would Put Onus on the Companies-Mr. McDonald Has Electoral Reform.

TORONTO, March 8.-The smoke of battle on budget and temperance reform cleared away yesterday in the Legislature sufficiently to admit of considerable business of a routine

C. R. McKeown, Conservative for Dufferin, thinks that the Insurance Act as it stands creates a hardship for the heirs of insured persons, who have died, in that they must furnish the insurance companies with proof of the age of the insured before getting the insurance. In a bill, which at its second reading yesterday in the Legislature, was refrred to a special committee for consideration. Mr. Mc-Keown proposes to place the onus of the question of age upon the insurance companies after one year has elapsed, after the policy has been drawn.

a man took a policy with a company when he was 51 years of age. His age in the policy, however, was given as 49 without any attempt at fraud. The company accepted the man as "49," but fifteen years later when the man died the error was discovered and overthrow by adverse votes.

Three telling messages of Liberalism were placed on Hansard yesterday. In turn, Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and Hon. George P. Granam inspired their colleagues to tumults of confident cheering as they eloquently dealt with new and vital matters which affected the issue at stake. There was no reply. Both Dr. Clark and Mr. Graham emphasized the fact that since the "emergency" policy had been evolved a new set of international circumstances had developed in Europe, necessitating closer understanding between Germany and the British Empire. Almost hourly the Government was pressed for promised information, with no response, and the insistent demand that the Canadian people shall be consulted was driven man died the error was discovered and the company refused to pay the insurance to beneficiaries.

A. E. Donovan, Conservative, of Brockville, who is an insurance man, stated that in all his experience he had never heard of a case like the one narrated by Mr. McKeown. Placing the onus upon the company, he said, was not right.

It was decided to refer to a special committee to be dealt with.

Capt. H. H. C. Machin (Kenora) spoke in favor of his bill to amend the Statute Labor Act so as to provide that $2,50 a day should be paid as commutation of statute labor. The bill was referred to the municipal committee.

Conditions in Europe, he declared, were radically changed by the success of the Balkan allies against Turkey. He quoted an article from The London Spectator, showing that as a result of the was Germany found herself practically deprived of the support of the Tripke Alliance, and compelled to turn her attention to land rather than naval defence. "Germany," concluded the member for Red Deer, "has stopped bidding in the great naval auction-room. That is the great new development for Canada now to consider. ### BRITISH HOUSE RISES.

Prorogation Will Last Until Monday March 10 Only.

LONDON, March 8.—The British Parliament was prorogued yesterday for one of the shortest recesses in its history, as it is to reassemble on Monday, March 10, for another of those busy sessions for which the Liberal Government has become famous. The King's speech from the throne was probably the briefest on record on such an occasion, merely expressed regret that the members of the two Houses have only a nominal period of release from their labors.

Last session was a long one, but LONDON, March 8.—The British iwo Houses have only a nominal period of release from their labors.

Last session was a long one, but almost every day was marked by a determined fight between the two front benches in which the private member had little opportunity of doing anything but register his vote when the time came. There was always something, however, sufficiently interesting to keep the Government supporters in their places.

This session will be humdrum in comparison and the Government whips will have to work hard to keep the members up to the mark.

The home rule bill, the Welsh disestablishment bill and a few minor measures which the Lords refused to assent to, will have to be reintroduced and repassed. This will be rather dry work, the old arguments will perforce have to be repeated and there will be a weary march through the old interest.

On the other side the Unionists,

On the other side the Unionists, more anxious than ever to get the Government out before the Irish and Welsh bills become law through the operation of the Parliament Act, which does away with the Lords' veto after the House of Commons has passed a bill three times, will spare no pains to accomplish their end. They will be in wait prepared to take part in every division in the hope of catching the Government and bringing its overthrow by adverse votes.

He thought the Government could well afford to increase its rate of interest to four per cent. That would compel the banks to do the same thing.

A Government bill amending the Grain Act was given second reading.

Hon. Mr. Lougheed said that the amendments which it made to the Grain Act provided chiefly for details of administration. The bill embodied no question of policy. The most important change was a provision en-abling the Government to appoint weighmasters at mills, elevators or other points where marketing points might be established.

Collingwood Won.

Collingwood, March 7.-The London intermediates handed the Collingwood team one sweet surprise to-night in the first game of the O.H.A. intermed. iate finals. The home team could only get a lead of one goal which will scarcely be enough to land them the championship. The score to-night was 6 to 5 and unless Collingwood shows a remarkable reversal of form when the teams meet in the Forest City on Monday night the Londoners will be the new champions.

London checked like a lot of terrier and the home team could not get away with any of their famous combination rushes. Fryer and Burns were marked men and Hall also came in for large share of attention. Cook stopped scores of shots from all angles and prevented the visitors from piling up

Borland and Reid played excellent games for London. In speed the teams were about evenly matched. It was expected that the home team would pile up a big margin of goals here and then held London to a close score in the latter city. The teams:

Such was the gripping response of Mr. J. G. Turriff (Assiniboia) to the reading by Premier Borden of a communication from Rt. Hon. Winston munication from Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, in which the First Lord of the Admiralty, in response to a letter from the Canadian Premier, stated that it was impracticable to essay the building of dreadnoughts and battleships in Canada; that it was necessary for Austria, Japan and other foreign powers to have assistance from British shipyards; that it would be wholly unwise for Canada to undertake the building of a battleship, as the necesary shipyards and equipment would east £15,000,000, and could not be made ready within four years.

"The First Lord of the Admiralty has what the old Scot termed "a good conceit, of the Englishman." Mr. Turriff continued when Premier Borden resumed his seat, "and seems Borden resumed his seat, "and seems to have a very poor conceit of his fellow-countrymen in Canada. "It is not fair to Parliament and it is not fair to the country," proceeded the Liberal leader, "for my right honorable friend to extract from the communications what suits him and make it public, and withhold what does not suit him. I do not wish to cast any reflection on his motive, but we have shown that there is a wide difference between the information which he has supplied us and that which the Admiralty supplied."

Mr. Borden, in reply, said that the letter had been a confidential one. He had, however, obtained permission to make public all portions of it relating to the cost of constructing two fleet units in Canada. He had presented to the House everything that was relevant to the present discussion.

Mr. Turriff (Assiribaic) was relevant deet units in Canada. He had presented to the House everything that was relevant to the present discussion.

Mr. Turriff (Assiniboia) was speaking at the time of Mr. Borden's presentation of the Churchill correspondence. At the conclusion of the Premier's statement, he resumed:

"Mr. Churchill tells us that Canada cannot construct shipyards for turning out vessels of war under $75,000,000, while we know that at Fore River in Massachusetts they established a plant for less than four million dollars which within the last few years hast turned out one hundred vessels, including six dreadnoughts of the largest type. If that is the Canadian Premier's opinion of Canadianism let him appeal to the country and see what the response will be."

Mr. Carvell, following Mr. Turriff, said that Mr. Churchill evidently was not well acquainted with Canadian conditions. Otherwise he would not have made so much of his objection as to the inability of Canadian enterprise and industry to meet the requirements of modern manufacturing. Canada was now turning out steelmaking and electrical products equal to anything in the world. The Liberals did not contend the the Dominion should at once start to manufacture the highest class of guns and armor-plate which entered into the equipment of battleships. Just as England herself had to import from Germany some of the equipment of battleships, Canada could also at the start secure from the Motherland the special armament required until the industry here had been gradually built up." special armament required until the industry here had been gradually built

Wherein Did the Jews Fail?

Wherein Did the Jews Fail?

The Jews did not fail. All God's promises to them are still theirs. He never offered them spiritual favors, or suggested taking them to Heaven. The strongest promise, even to Abraham, was that all the land which could be seen would be given to him and his seed. Israel's blessings were to come through Messiah.

God foretold through prophets that Messiah would suffer. The Jews merely fulfilled a part of the Divine Program. Had Messiah gone to another nation, doubtless there would have been similar results. At the First Advent of Jesus God did more for the Jews than He had promised. He gave them opportunity of becoming members of Spiritual Israel. A few accepted.

Then Divine favor turned to the Gentiles, and gave them a similar opportunity. This work has required nearly nineteen centuries, and we believe is about completed. The Messiah class is about made up. Jesus the Head long ago entered into His glory. Soon the last members of His Body will pass beyond the veil. Forthwith the work of blessing the nations will begin.

BAR IS STRONGHOLD

Abolish It and Other Evils Will Go, Says Mr. Rowell.

LEADER RESUMES FIGHT

Liberal Leader Makes a Powerful Appeal For Action In the Suppression of the Liquor Evil In Ontario But Mr. Hanna, Speaking For the Government, Denies Demand For Reform Measure.

TORONTO, March 6.—Once again the line has been drawn in the fight to abolish the bar. Twice within a twelvemonth the Liberal party in the Legislature has challenged the Government to declare its position on this advanced measure of temperance reform, and twice has the Government precatived the proposal.

Mr. Rowell's exposition of the Liberal platform was lucid and logical. The liquor traffic was strongly entrenched behind the bar, and if the bar was abolished with it would go the admitted evils of the treating habit.

Hon. Mr. Hanna took up the cudgels in defence of the Government, and maintained that all was being done that could be done.

The Liberal leader's motion was that in the opinion of the House the public interests demand: 1. The immediate abolition of the bar, including therein the abolition of all hotel and club licenses and therewith the treating system. 2. Such other restrictions upon the residue of the liquor traffic as experience may show to be necessary to limit its operations and effective to remedy its evils. Local option to be mantained as a means of wiping out the residue of the retail sale, where the electors so decided. 3. The strict enforcement of the law by officials in sympathy with law enforcement and the elimination of political influence from the administration of the law. 4. Regulation and inspection the law. 4. Regulation and inspection of all houses of public entertainment so as to ensure reasonable accommodation for the traveling public.

He then referred to the resolutions which have been passed by church societies and representative bodies of men against retaining the bar, and almen against retaining the bar, and alluded to the gathering last week of the Ontario Alliance in Massey Hall and the resolution passed calling for the abolition of the bar. In framing the policy of the Liberal party, workingmen, manufacturers, professional men and all other classes had been consulted. "Don't attempt to introduce into this Province of Ontario and put upon the statute books laws that cannot be enforced in the community." said the Provincial Secretary. "How would it be possible to have all the bars banished from this province? Who will say in this House that we have not cities in this province where the bars would not be abolished without abolishing the shops?"

Turning to clause two of the resolution—the restriction on the residue of the traffic—Mr. Hanna said that through local option the Government of Ontario during the last eight years had certainly been alive to the restriction on the residue of the traffic. The three-fifths clause, he said, had in the past been continuously attacked by the Liberals, but to-day he was absolutely at a loss to know whether or not the leader of the Opposition supported or opposed the clause. "May I ask him now?" he asked.

Mr. Rowell: "I oppose it."

Mr. Hanna: "No matter the three-fifths clause needs no defence. The people of the province have come to

In concluding his address, Mr. Hanna proceeded to assail the leader of the Opposition on his banishment policy. "In my humble judgment," he said, "the honorable leader of the Liberal party is making a great mistake if he thinks public sentiment is with him. I might say that we are going as fast and as far as public sentiment will warrant. The moment we cannot enforce regulations which have been passed, that moment are we going back."

deprecation of the point, the temperance question into party politics.

There were three arguments against the liquor traffic, said Mr. Rowell, the demand for efficiency, the fight against social degeneracy and the battle for the promotion and conservation of public health.

During recent years much progress has been made by the local option law to limit the area in which liquor was sold. Out of 835 municipalities, 333 places only were now wet and 502 dry. And 123 of the former had voted for abolition by a simple majority, it, but the three-fifths clause was an obstacle to its enforcement.

"The bar is the strength and stronghold of the liquor evil and out the method is to abolish it," continued if Mr. Rowell, "and the Government method is to abolish the treating in the bar."

The preferred to the resolutions participated in the debate.

POLICY OF SILENCE

"GAG" IS THREATENED

Ottawa Paper In Inspired Article Says Closure Will Be Put on Liberal Minority-Arguments of the Opposition Are Being Met With Sullen Silence By the Supporters of the Government.

OTTAWA, March 6 .- Another twenty-four hours of continuous discussion from the Liberal benches of clause two of the naval bill finds the Opposi-tion more confident and more determ-ined than ever to keep up the fight, ined than ever to keep up the fight, with a corresponding increase of consternation in the Conservative ranks. The process of keeping the debate going is working into a smooth and easy task for the Liberals, who, with a well-organized change of shifts and ample supply of arguments to go on, have been able to average speeches running from one to two hours, every one adding to Hansard, for future circulation throughout the country, an increasingly compelling case against the makeshift policy of contribution.

To offset this there has been absolutely no defence from the Government, and not even an attempt to furnish the perfectly legitimate and necessary information demanded as necessary information demanded as ment, and not even an attempt to furnish the perfectly legitimate and necessary information demanded as to the details of the proposed expenditure, and as to the future intentions of the Government with regard to naval defence. Failing argument, the Government is simply meeting the Opposition with sullen silence.

Hugh Guthrie in the debate yesterday referred to an article in a local Conservative paper, in which threats were made that some drastic action would be taken to gag the minority in the Commons. "We don't object to threats," said he, "but we do object to highly-paid civil servants writing articles to the newspapers containing these threats."

Some of the Conservative members demanded the name of the culprit, and called Mr. Guthrie to order.

"I am not giving any names at the present." said Mr. Guthrie Hother.

Then a question morning and when th Liberal relief arrived at four o'clock, Messrs. Sinclair, McCrea, Buchanan, Turgeon, and Gauthier spoke. Then a question of order was raised by Mr. Devlin, who declared there was no quorum. Hon. W. T. White declared there was, and a heated debate arose for a moment. At the end of the dispute there was a quorum, so proceedings were continued. Just before eight o'clock Hon. Robert Rogers arrived and at 9.40 Premier Borden. Both were greeted with applause by the Government members. Mr. Lapointe (Kamouraska), who had been speaking for two hours, wished the Premier good morning. E. B. Devlin followed in French and then Thomas MacNutt (Saltcoats, Sask.).

Hon. Jacques Bureau, who took the floor shortly after noon, in the course of his speech, pressed Mr. Borden to say whether the proposed grant was a gift, a loan or a contribution, and when the Prime Minister remained silent suggested that perhaps Mr. Borden regarded the matter before the House as too unimportant for his at-House as too unimportant for his at-

Dr. Friedmann Makes First Tests of His Serum.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The first demonstration in America of Dr. F. F. Friedmann's treatment, which the visiting physician declares is a cure for tuberculosis, was given by Dr. Friedmann himself yesterday, in the presence of physicians representing the city, the state and the staffs of hospitals of several cities.

Three patients, two men and a woman, were selected by Dr. Friedmann from fifty tuberculosis sufferers gathered from all parts of the city, all hopeful that they would receive treatment. The woman has been ill three years. Hers is a chronic case of the disease at the knee, and is the most serious of the three chosen. The two men have tuberculosis of the lungs. Their cases are not beyond the incipient stage, according to the authorities of the People's Hospital, the institution where the demonstration was held. Each of the men patients has been showing improvement and gaining weight since the beginning, several months ago, the best recognized tuberculosis treatment of the day, it was stated.

Physicians present brought forward half a dozen patients suffering from the disease in all its stages. Statistics had been prepared at his request regarding the patients. The Berlin physician declined to treat any of these cases, however, but made his own selections.

Each of the three treated received double injection, in the muscle and in the vein. Dr. Friedmann explained to those about him that the first reaction might be expected to be observed after seven days. The patients went to their homes with instructions to return three weeks hence. Dr. Friedmann promised to treat them again at that time.

ELECTION TALK STRONGER

Even the Government Members Nov Realize That an Appeal to the People Is the Best Way Out-Liberal Speakers Keenly Resent Meddling of Churchill In Canadian Affairs - Coderre Absent.

OTTAWA, March 21.-Instead of be ing crushed, as Premier Borden and his followers fondly hoped, by the "bombshell" of the Churchill bogey as to the inability of Canadians to build their cwn vessels of defence, the effect on Liberalism has been directly opposite. The debate in the Commons on the naval Lill was continued Monday night and all yesterday with a renewed vigor, and a strong note of confident Canadianism, as opposed to the weak-kneed Little Canadianism of those who advocate tribute and reversion to the leading strings of Downing Street was struck with no uncertain sound. Both the facts and the logic of Mr. Churchill's letter, based on the representation of the present Goyernment, were mercilessly analyzed and refuted, and the Liberal speakers of the day emphatically declared that Canada was able to and would run her own show as a loyal and self-respecting daughter nation within the Empire.

As Hon. H. R., Emmerson put it last night: "The insinuation, at the behest of the Government here, that Canada cannot do what Australia is doing, is an unjustifiable reflection against the ability of the people of Canada, and is calculated to cause more irritation and do more injury to our constitutional government than anything which has come since the days of Lord North."

The situation as a whole remains unchanged. The Government policy of drift is still in force, but the talk of an election as the only possible way out of the present impasse grows stronger, even among the reluctant Ministerial members.

Hon. Louis Coderre, Secretary of State, was again absent yesterday from the House of Commons, and in consequence the charges in connection with the Hochelaga bye-election. Which Mr. Gauthier was prepared to proceed with Monday, were further postponed by the Government.

The speakers who held the floor from midnight-Monday until Tuesday forenoon were Messrs. G. W. Kyte of Richmond, E. M. Macdonald of Pictou, G. E. McCraney of Saskatoon, J. H. Sinclair of Guysboro, and W. M. Martin of Regina.

Money To Drain Lands.

TORONTO, March 12.—The budget debate in the Legislature yesterday was disturbed by a heated interlude between the Premier and Mr. Rowell regarding the possession of a copy of the Hydro-electric report.

At the end of Mr. Atkinson's speech on the budget, Sir James reopened the question, evidently under the impression that Mr. Rowell's duplicate was the original report and that the Opposition leader's possession of the document was the cause of the printer's delay. He showed Mr. Rowell's receipt given to the printer when he got the copy and charged the Liberal leader with improperly having the report in his possession.

Mr. Rowell denied the charge utterly and a vigorous encounter followed, in which the Speaker was forgetten

Hon. Speaker Hoyle then said: "In accordance with all the rules of the House I hope that the hon. gentleman will return the document to the King's printer."

At the end of the next speech, Sir James rose and announced that he had learned from Hon. Adam Beck that Mr. Rowell's copy of the report was a duplicate and not the original. "I do not wish to do anyone an injustice," said the Premier. "If I understand that my hon. friend was told by Hon. Adam Beck that duplicate copies were available, then that relieves him of any responsibility."

C. M. Bogman, Liberal whip, moved an amendment to the motion of ed an amendment to the motion of Hon. I. B. Lucas to adopt the budget,

On the elevation of Sir Mackenzie Bowell to the Senate in 1892, Mr. Haggart became Ontario leader of the Ontario Conservative party and was later prominently spoken of for the Premiership.

While in charge of the Dopartment of Railways and Canals, Mr. Haggart succeeded in running the Intercolonial Railway during the fiscal year 1892-3 with a surprus over all expenses. DURHAM, Ont., March 17.—For the past two days the worst spring flood in twenty years has had this place in its grip and apparently the end is not yet. Saturday morning the ice jammed above McGowan's flour mill and turned about half the swollen Saugeen down through the town, where it has done much damage to cellars and other property. About forty houses are affected and many families forced to leave, some of them being taken out through windows. Just after leaving the main river the overflow passed under the C.P.R. bridge and already has one of the abutments undermined so that it is not likely any trains will be able to go over till the river goes down and repairs can be made. This will shut the Walkerton branch off from communication with Toronto.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED.

Dominions Must Have Navies Says

New Zealand Minister. LONDON, March 14 .- (C.A.P. Cable.)—Speaking at a meeting of the Empire Parliamentary Association yesterday, Col. Allen, Minister of De-fence for New Zealand, said the pay-ment of a naval subsidy wouldn't in the long run appeal to Dominion senti-ment and patriotism. A permanent policy was needed, but this could hardly be said to exist under the Canadian or New Zealand schemes. He, of course, valued to the fullest extent the steps taken by New Zealand and Canada, but they needed a permanent policy, one which would endure. What they wanted was a living thing, in which the dominions would have a vital interest. It did not be the course of the thing, in which the dominions would have a vital interest. It did not matter so much for the moment where dreadnoughts were built. That could be arranged as conditions developed in the future. What did matter was that it should be realized that the dominions would not be content with merely putting their hands into their pookets. An Imperial navy must be a living reality to them, to which they contributed not merely money but contributed not merely money but men. There was more value in the lives of their men than in ships. The dominions must have the opporunity of doing their duty towards the per-sonnel of the fleet and manning the sonner of the fleet and manning the Empire's ships at sea. They must be prepared not only to help the Imper-ial fleet with material, but they must have an interest in the operations of the fleet itself.

London, Ont., March 13.— The petition of the Church of England women for representation in the programme was "Irish," and Irish history were given a prominence in the programme that one can only get at a real St. Patrick's concert.

The opening number on the programme, "A Royal Dream," by Dr. Henderson as King Brian Boru, was very good as was also the farce comedy, "The Sufragettes" by St. John's Dramatic Society. Mr. M. Morrison, as usual, was well received, and the comic songs and dance by Mr. W. Farrell of Woodstock, showed high elocutionary powers, and the vocal solos by Miss Dertinger of La Salette, and Miss M. Enright were of a very high order.

British Liberals Are Preparing to Discipline Churchill.

Discipline Churchitt.

LONDON, March 19.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Canadian Associated Press is informed that the text of a Liberal resolution, which will be submitted on Wednesday, when the House goes into committee of supply on the navy estimates, will take the following form, "That this House, while cordially welcoming and appreciating the generous desire expressed by His Mapesty's dominions beyond the seas to co-operate with the Mother Country in providing for the naval defence of the Empire, is of the opinion that no steps ought to be taken by His Majesty's Ministers, either to recommend or accept any scheme for carrying out such co-operation until the matter has been definitely submitted to this House."

House."
Although the resolution stands in the name of Morrell, it is 1 y no means one man's affair, as has been suggested. Enquiries show Morrell was chosen by ballot, and that the resolution in fact represents the sentiments of a group of Liberal members who feel that the policy of contribution, as a group of Liberal members who feet that the policy of contribution, as proposed by Borden, instead of uniting and securing the loyalty of Canada, will rather lead to disunion and disintergration, and will also raise the question of representation, which a great many of them are not yet prepared to accept.

SPRING BLOOD IS

HOW TO GET NEW HEALTH AND NEW STRENGTH AT THIS SEASON.

Spring ailments are not imaginary Even the most robust find the winter months most trying to their Spring ailments are not imaginary. Even the most robust find the winter months most trying to their health. Confinement indoors, often in overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms — in the home, the office, the shop and the schools taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery and is clogged with impurities. Some people have headaches and a feeling of languor. Others are low-spirited and nervous. Still others are troubled with disfiguring pimples and skin eruptions, while some get up in the merning feeling just as tired as when they went to bed. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order and that a medicine is needed. Many people take purgative medicines in the spring. This is a serious mistake. You cannot cure yourself with a medicine that gallepsp through your system and leaves you weaker still. This is all that a purgative does. What you need to give you health and strength in the Spring is a tonic medicine that will enrich the blood and soothe the jangled nerves. And the one always reliable tonic and blood builder is Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These Pills not only banish spring weakness, but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anaemin, nervous debility, indigestion, rheumatism, and other diseases due to bad blood. Miss Lillian Howe. Portland Ont., says: "A little over a year ago I was in a very anaemic condition, suffering from most of the symptoms of that trouble. Often I spent sleepless nights, and felt as though I did not care whether I lived or not. In this condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after the use of ten or twelve boxes I was restored to the blessing of perfect health. I feel, therefore that I cannot say too much in praise of this medicine."

Nothing Will Now Be Done Until After the Easter Recess and Next Move Is Up to the Government -Hon. Mr. Emmerson Will Raise Question of Rules-Day Is Spent Voting Supply.

OTTAWA, March 19.—Since the prompt backdown of the Government on Saturday night, following the collapse of the efforts to put the naval bill through by brute force, the Ministerial forces have been looking round "for something to turn up." Their isterial forces have been looking round "for something to turn up." Their promissory note to deliver the thirty-five million contribution or else appeal to the country is now due, and they are casting about for some way of renewing it. At present the method of doing so is not in sight. Meanwhile they are pleading with the Opposition for a few days' more grace.

Opposition for a few days' more grace.

Last night Premier Rorden paid a visit to the office of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He spent a quarter of an hour in conference with the Opposition leader. At the conclusion of the conference the brief but significant announcement was made that, so far as the Liberal party was concerned, "there is no change."

The next move is up to the Government. It will probably not be taken until after the Easter recess, and after the Ministerial members have had a chance to further sound public opinion in their respective constituencies. Yesterday the greater part of the day was spent in supply. The House rises this evening for Easter and will sit again on March 25.

Pathetic Scenes When Fried-Mr. Hugh Munro Speaks in Behalf of Abolition of Bar.

LEADERS SPEAK NEXT WEEK

There Are 281 Bars In Ontario Which Would Have Been Done Away With If the Voice of the People Had Been Consulted Fairly, Says Glengarry Member-Many Private Bills Are Introduced.

TORONTO, March 13.—Two Liberals and one Conservative participated in the debate on Mr. Rowell's "abolish the bar" motion in the Legislature yesterday and occupied the entire afternoon. It had been expected that Sir James Whitney and N. W. Rowell would wind up the debate and the vote would be taken, but it was decided not to hold a night session. A division will not be taken until Tuesday of next week.

Mr. Hugh Munro (Lib., Glengarry) said that the abolition of the bar in eight of the states of the Union had brought about a great uplift, both intellectually and morally, and that the greatest curse in Ontario to-day was liquor. Local option had been in force in all of the municipalities in the County of Glengarry, except the Township of Lancaster, and in Alexandria, his home, there had not been a "single solitary row since a year ago last May."

From his experience as a manufacturer employing more than 200 persons, he declared that the aboliton of the bar was necessary to the country's economic welfare.

The Government had done nothing for the temperance cause, he claimed. To-day there were 281 licenses in Ontario to the people had declared against them, and the vote, when the plebiscite was taken in 1902, showed that it carried with a majority of 96,000.

G. W. Neely, the newly-elected member for East Middlesex, was the next man to speak.

cite was taken in 1902, showed that it carried with a majority of 96,000. G. W. Neely, the newly-elected member for East Middlesex, was the next man to speak.

Mr. Neely discussed the bye-election in East Middlesex. The leader of the Opposition, he said, had not endorsed the Liberal candidate until he feared that the Dominion Alliance would put a straight temperance man in the field. Then he gave his endorsation "like a drowning man grasping at a "like a drowning man grasping at a straw, regardless of the position in which he was placing the temperance people of East Middlesex."

With regard to the election itself,

With regard to the election itself, the results unmistakably showed that the Government's policy of local option was endorsed, and abolition of the bar condemned. One subdivision, he declared, which under ordinary circumstances gave a Liberal majority of 400, gave the Liberal candidate a majority as small as 142 and this in 400, gave the Liberal candidate a majority as small as 143, and this in spite of the fact that it had already passed local option.
"Now which policy is public opinion supporting?" he asked, amid applause. "Surely the story tells it very plainly."

"Now which policy is public opinion supporting?" he asked, amid applause. "Surely the story tells it very plainly."

Sam Clarke (Northumberland) referred to the Government's prison reform work, and said: "By our legislation we make criminals by the wholesale and by our legislation we reclaim them by the retail." He said every jail and poorhouse was filled with drunkards, and this fact alone ought to make the Government abolish the bar. If the Premier will not go first, he'll go second, but if he will go first we will shove him along." he said, "to show that the Liberals are anxiously awaiting the day the Government will enact its anti-treating bill." He did not think that the Whitney Government had done anything for temperance, as most of the legislation now on the statutes was placed there by the old Government. Anti-treating, in his opinion, would be a very good law and, despite the fact that it did not go far enough, Mr. Clarke guaranteed that every Liberal would support it.

Yesterday was the last day on which private bills could be introduced by members and consequently about 20 were given their first reading. One of these was an amendment to the act regulating traveling on public highways, by George Gooderham (Con., S. Toronto).

LESSON FOR BRITAIN.

Reception of Churchill Memo Discuss ed by London Press.

LONDON, March 13.-Three London

ed by London Press.

LONDON, March 13.—Three London papers comment on the reception given in the Canadian House of Commons to Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill's memoranda on the naval question.

The London Daily News says: "The moral to be drawn from the attack on Mr. Churchill is the moral familiar to our readers. We have insisted throughout the discussion in regard to the Canadian naval problem that the first duty of this country is to avoid any appearance of dictating the lines of policy to be pursued. Mr. Churchill, of course, had no intention of interfering. In penning his memorandum he gave his view simply as an expression of opinion in the course of negotiations with Mr. Borden, but the reception given to it by the Opposition is a reminder of the elementary lesson which we ought to keep constantly in mind in our relations with the self-governing Dominions. Mr. Churchill's advice is probably sound from a naval standpoint. Our criticism, however, was directed from the constitutional side, for we see in it and its grave alternative the functions of the Imperial Defence Committee a subtle and far-reaching change in Imperial relationships which ought not to be carried out on a side issue."

The Daily Telegraph this morning, commenting upon attacks made upon Winston Churchill and the Admiralty document, says: "Surely there is nothing to justify such language as that used by Emmerson.

upon Winston Churchill and the Admiralty document, says: "Surely there is nothing to justify such language as that used by Emmerson. They are wild words of an angry man, and we deplore any suggestion that there has been interference by an Imperial Minister in affairs of the Dominion. The closest examination, will, we are convinced, show that the naval authorities in London, when directly questioned by the official exponent of the Canadian opinion, could not in politeness refuse to show the ponent of the Canadian opinion, could not in politeness refuse to show the same courtesy to Borden as that which they are willing to extend to all Dominion Ministers, including Laurier himself, when he was in office. The bare idea of interference with the politics of the Dominions who received their autonomous powers from the throne voluntarily and without reserve, is entirely foreign to British opinion. We trust, with some confidence, that any feeling of soreness which may be entertained by Canadian Liberals at the present moment, will speedily be removed by a more complete knowledge of all the issues involved." everything was in good working order and the rest of the demonstration passed off smoothly.

Patients were lined all the way down the corridor and all raised their heads as the doctor came through the Hon. Adam Beck expressed deep appreciation of the Duke of Connaught's interest in the subject, and referred with satisfaction to the great progress made in the campaign.

Concrete it the best building material

BROAD statement—Yet literally true. The aim of man from the beginning has been to make his building materials as nearly like natural stone as possible. The great labor required to quarry stone led him to seek various manufactured substitutes. The only reason he ever used wood was that it was easiest to get and most convenient to use. Wood is no longer easy to get. Like most building material, its cost is increasing at an alarming rate. The cost of concrete is decreasing. So, from the standpoint of either service or economy, Concrete is the best building material. Canada's farmers are using more concrete, in proportion to their numbers, than the farmers of any other country. Why? Because they are being supplied with a cement of the highest possible quality, which insures the success of their concrete work.

The secret of concrete's popularity in Canada lies in the fact that while we have been advertising the use of concrete, we have also been producing, by scientific methods, a cement so uniformly high in quality that the concrete made with it gives the complete satisfaction our advertisements premised.

Concrete would not have been in such universal use today, had an inferior grade of cement been supplied, lineist upon getting Canada Cement. It is your best assurance of thoroughly satisfactory results from your concrete work. There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

Dr. Pugsley Demands Withdrawal of Mr. Crother's Remark.

CLOSURE IS LOOMING UP

Hon. Robert Rogers Takes the Lead in Announcing That the Rules of the House Will Be Changed If Liberals Continue Their Fight Against the Naval Bill-Crothers' Incident Lasts an Hour.

OTTAWA. March 15 .- "If the language of the Minister of Labor were used anywhere else than in this House I would say that it was both dastardly and ungentlemanly. Since you rule, Mr. Chairman, that under the rules I cannot apply those words to the Minister of Labor myseli, I withdraw them, but I apply them to the language of the Minister of Labor as quoted in Hansard."

That was the receive of the with ducted in Hansard."

That was the measure of the withdrawal made by Hon. Dr. Pugsley yesterday afternoon in the Commons of a direct and sensational attack on the hoodlumism which has characterized the Conservative-Nationalist relays in the House during several nights past in the present deadlock. This hoodlumism is not confined to the back benchers, but has been encouraged by even some of the Ministers.

The episode dates back to Wednesday night, when Hon. G. P. Graham thoused some figures regarding the cost asy ngnt, when Hon. G. P. Graham moted some figures regarding the cost if a shipyard. Dr. Pugsley has made the chief research into this matter and the Government supporters called out "Your authority is Pugsley."

Thereupon Mr. Crthers added "Slippery Bill."

Dr. Pugsley yesterday rose to a guestion of privilege. He explained that he was not in the House on Wednesday night when Mr. Crothers used the expression, and the offence had not been dealt with at the time because at the time, if Mr. Pugsley was correctly informed, his hon friend, the Minister of Labor, was somewhat intoxicated.

feet with an indignant denial, and the Conservative members shouted, "Take it back," "Order," etc.

Chairman Armstrong called Mr. Pugsley to order and the latter admitted that he might have been misinformed. He had been told that the expression had been overlooked on Wednesday night because of the Minister's conditior. He was delighted to learn that the information was not correct and therefore withdrew the charge of intoxication. He desired, however, to say that the expression charge of intoxication. He desired, however, to say that the expression used by Mr. Crothers had been "dastardly" and "ungentlemanly."

This led to another scene of wild disorder, in which the cry "Withdraw" played a large part.

Chairman Armstrong appealed to Both gentlemen to withdraw their statements, and after some semblance of order had been restored, Mr. Crothers explained that he had only used the phrase "Slippery Bill" in a gentral way, having no particular person m mind, but if Mr. Pugsley was of the opinion that he was the only member of the House to whom the phrase could be appropriately applied, then he (Mr. Crothers) would withdraw it.

Then Mr. Boyce (West Algoma, caffed upon the chairman to direct Dr. Pugsley to withdraw the words disastardly and "ungentlemanly."
Mr. Armstrong ruled that these terms were unparliamentary when applied by one member to another, and Mr. Pugsley then said that he did not apply them to the Minister of Labor, but to the language which he had used.

The chairman, glad to close the scene in any way, accepted this as sufficient, but many of the Conservative members strongly objected, especially Mr. Boyce and Mr. Meighen.

Finance Minister White, however, got a hearing and stated to his personal knowledge that his colleague, the Minister of Labor, was strictly sober at the time of the "Slippery Bill" incident.

At the conclusion of the scene the floor was taken by Judge McKenzie (N. Cape Breton and Victoria), who spoke at considerable length both before and after the recess for dinner.

It was significant and appropriate that "Honorable Bob" Rogers, the "hero" of the Macdonald bye-election and other strong-arm contributions to statecraft, should have been the first Canadian Minister of the Crown, to threaten Canada's Parliament with "gag rule." Mr. Rogers made the Government announcement at 11.30 o'clock.

And if the present rules are not sufficient to make progress it will be the duty of the Government to bring in amendments to enable progress to be made. Representing as we do the majority of the people, we intend to pass this bill, believing it to be in the best interests of Canada and the Empire."

The debate was continued yesterday morning by Mr. Carroll (Lib., Cape Breton), who demanded that the Government should at once dissolve Parliament and submit its naval policy to the fate of a general election.

Mr. Knowles (Moose Jaw), who followed Mr. Carroll, said that although he did not criticize Mr. Churchill personally, he dissented from the statements contained in the First Lord of the Admiralty's letters and memoranda.

Sam Clarke, Liberal for Northumberland, it was, who made an order for a return of the expenditures of the Hydro-Electric Commission. Sir James Whitney said that it was an improper one. All the books of the commission were open for examination at the offices, and if any member wanted a detailed account of expenditures he could move to that effect in the Public Accounts Committee. He believed, however, that the return could not be made within a year, owing to the great work involved. work involved.

Mr. Clarke complained that no details of expenditures were eyer brought down, despite the fact that the Government had over $4,000,000 invested in the public ownership scheme. It was a "blank delivery," and the Hydro Commission, in his opinion, should be called upon to show how the money had been expended, as well as any department in the Government. He showed that a similar request had been made by the Government, then in Opposition, in 1894, when the Ross administration was asked to show the detailed receipts and expenditures of the T. & N. The organist started playing, trying to drown the uproar, but without success. After a fierce engagement, which lasted ten minutes, the stewards dragged or carried not less than 50 students into the streets. Those that were left behind, finding themselves outnumbered, did not renew the fighting, but were discreetly well-behaved.

One student, whose head was severely cut, received surgical attention, while many other bore traces of the fray in the shape of black eyes, bruised faces and torn clothing.

The promoters of the meeting anticipated hostility and invoked the aid of the stalwart dockers to reinforce the regular male attendants.

Pastor Russell In a College City Advocates Bible as Text Book-Value o Learning-Its Cost-Various Kinds of Knowledge-The Most Important One-The Best Teacher-The Most Successful Pupils-Graduation Day.

might have served for a text.

Once the colleges represented, not merely secular education, but the religious sentiment of their founders, usually religious men. To-day, however, colleges are ashamed to acknowledge any religious affiliations; and although they represent high moral principles, nevertheless, they are hotbeds of infidelity — disbelief in the Bible as the Divinely-inspired Revelation. This condition is deplorable.

Bible as the Divinely-inspired Reve-lation. This condition is deplorable. In the Pastor's opinion the great institutions of learning, so well equip-ped for the inculcation of faith in God, are doing more to overthrow faith than are all other influences combined. The increase of knowl-edge he believed to be accountable for the increase of vice. He explained that the undermining of faith in the Bible as the Word of God and the inculcation of the Evolution theory Bible as the Word of God and the inculcation of the Evolution theory tend to destroy all faith in a personal God and in rewards and punishments from Him. One of the most peculiar things was that very wealthy men have richly endowed leading colleges, thereby destroying faith and unintentionally leading mankind to social revolution and to the precipice of anarchy. anarchy.

Sympathy For Higher Critics.

Sympathy For Higher Critics.

Nothing in the Pastor's words indicated condemnation; on the contrary, he manifested a deep sympathy for those entangled in the snares of Occultism and Evolution. He had been entangled once himself, he said, but had gotten free. Had he gone so far as to doubt the existence of God, he believed that he would have been as lost in Evolution as are many of the lost in Evolution as are many of the lost in Evolution as are many of the noble men occupying college chairs.

The Pastor believes the difficulty is that many cannot accept the Bible as the inspired Record. So also he had once rejected it; for he had thought it to be in harmony with the absurd creeds of the Dark Ages. Now he is a most firm believer in the inspiration of the Bible. One of the surprising things his Bible study has reveided is that the Bible supports nore of the that the Bible study has revealed is that the Bible supports none of the creeds; and that none of the creeds or sects use all of the Bible. Each sect has selected doctrines from the Word of God, and uses these in its own defence. But each finds there teachings which do not fit in with its creed.

Evidently none of the sects manufactured the Bible. Had the Calvinists done so, they would have omitted texts teaching Free Grace. Armenians would have omitted Election. Catholics would have added something to teach the immaculate conception, indulgences, high and low mass, holy water, holy candles, apostolic succession, etc. All would have put in texts telling about the Trinity.

water, holy candles, apostolic succession, etc. All would have put in texts telling about the Trinity.

All would have omitted text teaching that the dead are asleep, to awaken in the resurrection morning. Indeed, it is most difficult for them to explain how there can be a resurrection, if those who seem to die are really more alive than ever. Evidently the Bible was not made by man.

My prayer and effort is that thinking Christians may see that this wonderful Book, while out of harmony with the creeds, is fully in harmony with ful Book, while out of harmony with the creeds, is fully in harmony with itself. The great Plan of salvation which the Bible sets forth towers far above all the efforts of puny men, re-presented in the creeds of Christen-dom. The glorious fulness of the Bible Message could not have come from elsewhere than Above.

Learning's True Value and Cost.

Learning along all lines of present day instruction is surely valuable. The applied sciences are doing much for the world. But while very important and helpful to human progress, these alone are not sufficient. The appeting its future destiny and the object of its present existence. The searched for knowledge along these lines is usually referred to Plato and Socrates. None seem to think of progress in mental philosophy beyond these giants of the past. Yet, if the Evolution theory be true, these men were much nearer the monkey state than we are to-day.

The Pastor sought to impress the propriety of beginning Bible study afresh, ignoring the creeds of the Dark Ages, and permitting the old Book to explain itself. He pointed out, however, that the Bible specifically declares that without the Holy Spirit to cannot be fully and clearly understood. Those who consecrate their lives to God and thus enter the School of Christ will be taught of Him.

He believes that unless the highest organs of the human brain—those appertaining to religion and morality—be cultivated, the student is poorly prepared to withstand the storms of life. Learning's True Value and Cost.

OTTAWA March 17 -The most spectacular and significant scene in the history of the Canadian Parliament occurred Saturday night as the cumination of a desperate attempt on the part of the Government, started by Hon. Robert Rogers and his henchmen twenty hours previously, to inmen twenty hours previously, to institute Manitoba methods and gagrule in order to force through the naval bill. Dr. Clark, the British-born member for Red Deer, and one of the fairest and most gentlemanly debaters in the House, was "named" by the Speaker for insisting upon the constitutional rights of every member of Parliament, and his arrest on motion of Premier Borden was actually constitutional rights of the property of t of Premier Borden was actually con-templated; Mr. Verville, representa-tive of Labor, and member for a con-stituency comprising more electors than all the Cabinet Ministers from Quebec represent, was similarly threatened, and as resolutely stood to his guns; William Martin of Regina, the young westerner, representing 30,000 electors, was also reported to the Speaker for refusing to obey the Chair and withdraw his statement that closure had actually been put in force. moment.

The cheering Liberals were left in possession of the field. The right of free speech for the time at least was preserved to the Parliament of Canada, and what is probably the last final effort of the Government to force through the naval bill practically by brute strength was frustrated. The dissolution of the Parliament and an appeal to the country are now in sight.

The situation, as it now stands, is technically this: Clause two of the Naval Bill, which has been under discussion since II p.m. Monday, March 4, is still undisposed of. So also is the Guthrie amendment stipulating that the $35,000,000 shall be spent in Canada. Last Friday night, upon the motion of Mr. Borden, the Laurier amendment and the McKenzie sub-amendment to clause two, which had been debated for nearly a fortnight, were declared out of order. been debated for nearly a fortnight, were declared out of order. The Guthrie amendment was interposed about Friday midnight, but was supplemented by Dr. Pugsley's motion that the "chairman do now leave the chair." Upon this motion of Dr. Pugsley's the debate raged all through Friday night and Saturday, until it was withdrawn in order to permit Mr. Borden to move that the committee rise and report progress. All day Saturday the Liberals, led by Hon. Mr. Pugsley, kept the debate going, and every point of order raised by the Government's supporters led in the end to rullings by the chairman, appeals to the House and divisions.

At five o'clock Saturday afternoon Mr. Verville (Maisonneuve) rose to address the House, and Mr. Blain, the Conservative member for Peel, who was presiding, called to the chair Mr. Robidoux (Kent, N.B.). He did this because Mr. Verville was speaking in French and he considered it proper that a member understanding the French language should preside. Scarcely had Mr. Robidoux taken his right to act, and the debate arising thereon continued until terminsted by the scene, during which Dr. Clark of Red Deer was named by Mr. Speaker Sproule.

Mr. Robidoux rose to rule on Dr. Pugaley's point and Dr. Neely (Lib., Humboldt) was also on his feet to speak. Dr. Pugsley called the chairman's attention to the fact that Dr. Neely claimed recognition. All three were speaking at once, and an uproar followed.

Mr. Speaker Sproule, who a few moments before had entered the chamber in his robes of office, ascended the dais, and commanded order. His voice for the time was lost in the whirlwind, however, calling loudly upon the members to take their seats and directing the chairman of the committee to rule at once upon the question of order. In time nearly all the members returned their seats, but the volume of noise but slightly abated.

Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer arose in the hubbub and claimed a hearing. "Order, order, order, order!" urged the Speaker.

Dr. Clark arose and stated that he had merely endeavored to ask by what rule or authority the Speaker had taken possession of the House, and that he had intended no disrespect to his honor or to the House. Upon this Mr. Borden asked the Speaker to withdraw his censure, which was done withdraw his censure, which was done

When the House got back into committee, however, Mr. Blain resumed the chair and speeches were delivered by Mr. Verville and Hon. Dr. Beland.

Mr. Martin (Regina) followed. "In the corridors of the House," he said, "I have heard threats that the Government would introduce closure. I ernment would introduce closure. At once he declared it to be the duty of Mr. Martin to obey the ruling of the chairman. Mr. Martin thereupon asked the Speaker to point out under what rule the word closure is made unparliamentary. Again the Prime Minister intervened, and after statements by Mr. Graham and Mr. Martin, it was agreed that the use of the term "closure" was not unparliamentary unless used offensively. Mr. Martin at once protested that he did not use it in an offensive sense, and this closed the incident.

tested that he did not use it in an offensive sense, and this closed the incident.

Almost immediately afterwards the Prime Minister moved that the committee rise and report progress. In doing so he said that while the minority had rights, the majority must rule. "I want to inform hon. gentleman," he said, "that we propose to carry out that policy for which we have the mandate of the people."

Mr. Graham, replying for the Opposition, submitted that the Government had acted tyrannically in insisting that clause two must be passed before an adjournment would be granted. "We are human beings on this side of the House, accustomed to eat and sleep. The ultimatum of the Government would have been resented by any assembly of white men in the British Empire."

Wm. Davis, aged 65, a member of Smith township council, hanged him-self in his barn.

Mr. Borden Essays To Defend Church ill's Action In Sending Memoranda -Dr. Pugsley Analyzes the Celebrated Document and Points to Nonsense Contained In it-Closure Proceedings In Sight.

OTTAWA, March 13.-Canadian autonomy, Canadian self-reliance, Canadian aspirations to full and free partnership in Empire as an ally, not as a vassal - the antithesis of the ultra jingo Little Canadianism-were again jingo Little Canadianism—were again voiced by Liberalism in Canada's Parliament yesterday. The Borden-Churchill letters have increased the earnest determination of Liberalism to win the present struggle. The moral of this first fruit of reversion to rule by Downing street was emphasized again and again, and brought out in increasing measure the fundamental principles underlying the whole vital issue. "We are prepared," said Mr. B. B. Law of Yarmouth, making his initial contribution to the debate, "to stay here night and day all summer

B. Law of farmouth, making his initial contribution to the debate, "to stay here night and day all summer before we will allow this iniquitous bill to go through. It sacrifices the honor of our Dominion and the good pame of the people of Canada."

The tenth day of the deadlock finds no change in the Liberal position. On the Government side there is a growing sentiment that the only way to save the situation from a party standpoint is to drop the bill entirely.

There are renewed rumors of an early attempt to force through closure by some arbitrary tour de force. For this the Liberals are prepared, and are confident that it cannot succeed. Closure by brute force, on an issue upon which the opponents of the bill actually represent a majority of the electors according to the official figures of the last election, must bring a sudden and daymatic and to this Parlia.

der to prevent the iniquitous bill from becoming law.

Hon. Charles Murphy declared that the Government should either submit the question to the people or bring down redistribution and appeal to the country. If they did not accept either of these alternatives or withdraw the bill the Opposition would obstruct the passage of the measure indefinitely.

E. M. Macdonald (Pictou) followed, and after him Hon. G. P. Graham. The latter declared that Canada was entirely able to manage her own affairs, and would bitterly resent the unwarranted interference of the First Lord of the Admiralty. Analyzing the Churchill memoranda, Mr. Graham declared that it related entirely to dreadnoughts, and presented no argument against Canada building all other vessels needed for the two fleet units.

"I don't care how much money you raise, but I do care how you raise it; I don't care how much money you spend, but I do care how you spend it," said Allan Studholme, beginning his address. He quite realized why the labor men got nothing from the Government. The farmers were getting a great portion of the revenue. Scientific agriculturalists, attend to the sickness of his live stock, but when the Opposition leader asks for something for the workingman's child, the Government says, "nay, nay."

The Labor member referred to what the Government did for education to show that the child of the workingman attending school up to the age of 12 to 14 years, was not treated so liberally as the child of the wealthy.

Mr. Studholme then took a whack at the Government's immigration notics. "There must be a better immigration notics."

Reeve Fleet looked upon the situation as more of a case of being sinned against than sinning. He emphasized the great temptaton that those who are addicted to the drink habit have to fight with every day. He asked the council to be lenient. "I will defy." continued Mr. Fleet, "the public to bring any one instance in his long tenure, of office where the clerk has been negligent in any transaction. I don't know that I will support the resolution. My impulses are to help the man, rather than send him out where the temptations will be greater before he is re-established in office."

Ald. Henderson May very sorry that the incident had occurred. He had known the clerk for many years and highly respected him. He was inclined to take a lenient view and would give him another chance.

BY-LAW PASSED

Joseph Gibson, Past Grand Master Workman, of the A.O.U.W. at the meeting of Grand Lodge, in Toronto, this week was elected an member of the same and also a member of the committee and also a member of the committee on laws. S. A. Gibson was elected a member of the executive committee, and District Decrease.

At a special session of the County The Oil of Power.—It is not claimed council held on Monday a by-law for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil that it was passed in connection with the will cure every ill, but its uses are so was passed in connection with the continuation of the good roads system.

This new by-law was given its final ed that greatness for itself and all atreading and passed in committee of tempts to surpass it have failed. Its the whole Monday, and it only requires the endorsation of the government before being finally passed.

The by-law designated the roads which are to be constructed and main.

ment before being finally passed.

The by-law designated the roads which are to be constructed and maintained as county roads under the new system. The total mileage is 224% miles, of which 103% have been completed, so that there still remains 121 miles to be completed.

When the reading of the by-law was proceeded with, Clerk Birtch named the total sum required as $320,000, being made up of $220,000 for the townships and $39,500 for the villages and towns.

At this point Engineer Ure's report on the roads still to be built, with the estimated cost of the work, was read.

Engineer Ure strongly recommended a mechanical hauling outfit instead of horses being used, as an economical measure; he considered that a saving to the county of at least $650,00 per annum would thus be effected.

In East Oxford there are 13.80 miles to be completed at an estimated cost the future. Officers we the Church Elected.

Geo. Naylor, the People's Warden gave a statement of the finances up to date, but as the church year does not end until March 31st, it was impossible to give a complete statement. CHAPTER XXVIII.

ODD PROCEEDINGS OF THE VERY MANAGING DIRECTOR.

Town was full enough as April advanced and the season fairly set in and as usual everybody was asking everybody the stock questions. Had they seen So-and-So's picture on stile overybody the stock questions. Had they seen So-and-So's picture on the private view? Of course, must be at the Academy on opening day. Who is to be the beauty this season? Then the Derby questions, and so on to the end of the repertoire; while equally, of course, gossip and on dits about everything and everybody flew about loth on tongue and paper. Among them it goes without saying that "the beautiful diva cf an elite semi-Bohemia," as one of the "societies" had distinguished Mrs. Deleware, came in for full attention, now that two seasons and the third commencing, had made her a familiar figure, known by sight and tame much beyond the actual set of society of which she was one, her mere beauty made that inevitable. In these days everybody knows who's who, or they think they do, pleases them quite as well.

"I hear," ran a par, in a leading "slater"—"that a very eminent paint."

"A certain gallant colonel, heir-pre-sumptive to a title, was in attendance on the Row the other day, and I thought the diva, who, en passant rides to perfection, locked more beau-tiful than ever; but still I think I would rather be the dark cavalier who has come on the scene this season 'af-ter long years' away somewhere. He is the honored escort, two to one against all other admirers, Vive l'absence!"

all other admirers. Vive l'absence!"

So went the world's wheel round sending sparks and mud flying about indiscriminatingly, but even the "slaters" did not know everything, nor see everything; they could not see into the hidden interior of human hearts nor through brick wall and blinded curtained windows It they could for just one half-hour at midnight have looked within the library of Holly. Bush Lodge, they would have seen a rather odd proceeding if they had watched closely.

At both of these the M.D. looked constantly as he slowly and carefully wwrote on the blue paper, first on one side, then something on the back of it.

"Rather," said he, at last, "I know a made payable at Mr. Beresford's office. H'm! Wonder why not at his banker's, Martingale's — my bank, too, by the way! A big sum— tive thousand pounds. Who is Mrs. Deleware?"

The clerk laughed slightly.

"My dear sir—ahem!—a very your wiful woman, and Mr. Eventual bankers to ky know my hand with the same wiful woman, and Mr. Eventual bankers." At the big secretary table sat the them, put the private "club memorandums" into an envelope, closed it wrote "Memos, G.F." on it and gathering up all the dangerous scribbled over papers—all, he thought — put them on the hearth, lighted them, and watched them burn to black ashes, then, with a breath of relief, he took up the sealed envelope and carried it to a handsome cabinet—a queer, old fashioned article, full of drawers, tiny doors, and secret receptacles, into one of which he consigned it.

"Ha! ha!" he chuckled. "Blessed be the fellow who contrived that tiny, really secret place. I defy any detective born to find it out, or the memos in it—or any man alive, by Jove! I might mark that secret drawer so hidden away, 'Not Known."

How little he dreamed that his own hand had just hidden away there, not known to himself, or mortal being now, a silent but unerring witness to his deed.

The next day he told Mrs. Deleware that he had to go down to York on business for a few days, and should atart by an evening train.

"Yery well," she said, quietly.

Similar short absences were not so unusual, and she asked him no incor unusual, and she asked him no inconvenient questions, for her experience of life had been bitter and dark, and she naturally put a ready and not unjustly cynical construction to these occasional "business" absences.

So, about dusk, valise in hand, Mr. Gus, the Genial, stepped into a hansom, said "King's Cross" — Lenore heard that—and kissing his hand there, went off.

"That will do now; I flatter myself," he muttered, with a smile, and pushed the two letters amongst the several other papers, many of which looked—well, as if for some occult reason the same names were signed to those two letters were written all over them, over and over again.

Close to these had been lying some half sheets of paper somewhat similar in size, but marked "memo," and written over in Gus's own bold hand His hasty push sent the whole lot up into one mixed pile.

Then he got up, passed his hand kerchief over his brow, on which the moisture had gathered, as he placed that blue paper in his pocketbook, and lighting a cigar, walked to and fro for a few minutes.

"Bah! how foolish I am!" he muttered. "It's all right. I must have the money for afew weeks to save all—I shall take it up long before—When but I'll burn those papers and lock up my memos of my club idea again till I need them."

"Well, sir, but such safe paper, and it's as likely as not to be taken up before the three months; indeed, I was to mention that if you would keep it on your hands for a few weeks it would much oblige all parties."

Mr. Borden is now nibbling at the Canadian navy idea. He has taken Canadian navy idea. He has taken a long step backward towards the safe ground he held in 1909. Instead of saying, as he did in December last, that a Canadian navy was impracticable and would take fifty or seventy-five years to build up, he now discreetly holds out the suggestion that the three Dreadnoughts to be immediately contributed to the Javarial ately contributed to the Imperial navy may, if the people of Canada so desire, become later a part of the Canadian naval force. HALIFAX, March 24-Brilliant military uniforms mingled with the more sombre tints of civilian attire at the ship's side Saturday night at 8.39 o'clock, when the royal train of the C.P.R. pulled into the terminal pier with the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia aboard. The building was gay with bunting and a carpeted gangway led from the train to the saloon deck of the steamer. The grade of this was made as easy as possible so as not to tax the strength of the duchess, who had stood the journey well, but had nevertheless a slightly wearied look. On entering her stateroom the duchess found a handsome basket of flowers sent by the wives of members of the Borden Cabinet at Ottawa.

As luck would have it, he had a soft landing in the water and on the spongy bottom of the river. Had he struck the railway ties the consequences would have been different.

Acting Detective Elliott, after looking at the pocket testament the torn cover of which clearly showed the owner's identity to have been recently removed, remarked that this fact alone gave ground for suspicion that somebody intended to conceal their identity.

A BOY WONDER

Norbert Weiner, to whom at eighteen, Harvard has given the degree of Ph. D., is for the time being receiving much attention. He is a "boy wonder." At eighteen months he knew the alphabet, and at three he could read and write; at eighteen could read and write; at eighteen could read and write; at eighteen could read books in Latin, German, French and Russian; at nime he was solving problems in trigono metry and calculus; at twelve he was an expert in chemistry; at four teen, he was graduated from Tuit's college, and since then he has specialized in philosophy and mathematics at Cornell.

These are the details of a career which justify the characterization of him as a "boy wonder." But what is the outcome of it all? Is he burning himself out with his rapid advance? Or is the speed that he has shown in learning an indication of the tremendous achievements that will be possible when he is thirty-five? Having absorbed all his learning what is he going to do with it? Or will he be able to do anything with it? If he cannot use it of what account is it? "Bey Wonders" have never yet moved the world or any considerable part of it. They have hitherto been abnormal creatures who were able to establish mo workable relationship between themselves and the world, They have shone like a recket and gone out like a stick. We may all hope better things for Dr. Weiner, aged eighteen, but there will be skepticism in those.

A DOLLAR CAMPAIGN FUND (Toronto Star)

If every elector in Canada would contribute one dollar to the campaign fund of his party, a mighty blow would be struck at corruption and for independence of the money power in politics.

At the last Dominion election each party polled more than 600,000 votes. The dollar contribution plan making an ample allowance for those who could not or would not contribute, would raise a campaign fund of half a million dollars, which would go a long way toward legitimate expenses And why should not a man who Coun. Stauffer saw the force of this, but could not see how Ingersoll could get out of paying her share for three years any way. He gave Ingersoll credit for her industries, which needed good roads, sought that on this account the short contribute to the upkeep of the good roads.

Coun. Appel admired the debating qualities of Couns. Walley and Fleet, but could not see why Ingersoll, only, should be let out of paying. If any place should get off scot-free it was Tavistock. There was not a county road within four miles of that village, if Ingersoll were let out what chance would there be to get anything from Woodstock.

Coun. Stauffer did not think any town or village should be free of contact tribution to the repair account, but he did think they should all particity the henefits of the fund.

Councillor Stauffer now wanted a working by-law for the good roads introduced.

Coun. Fleet's motion was lost by a vote of 17 to 2.

The Clerk, reading the act, showed that it was necessary that the townships to be assessed for good roads should send in a request that they be charged with a certain amount for the building of good roads. This is the building of good roads. This is the building of good roads. This is the days Several manacipalities had not sent in this requist.

Coun. Boles thought this was narrow. If any one should be excused payment, the other towns and villages should participate.

Coun. Oliver thought this was a good opportunity to again express his objection to any system of county roads. He thought Ingersoll should be put on the same basis as Woodstock and pay nothing.

Coun. Walley only asked for a square deal for Ingersoll. He believed every member was ready to give this, and if Ingersoll were not treated fairly he was sure it would be because the Council did not view it in the right light. Ingersoll had paid her share for the purchase of machinery and for its upkeep and Woodstock was paying nothing. This was not fair and should be rectified. SYLVIA IS RELEASED Son of Ceylon Village Man Further Incriminates Him.

Miss Pankhurst Secures Liberty OWEN SOUND, March 20.—Examining his witnesses with extreme minuteness, Crown Counsel H. D. During the day only five witnesses took the stand. Her release was granted on the ground that to further detain her would enover the father's excessive use of to-bacco and his mismanagement of business. During these quarrels he always left the room at once, because subsequent to a "spat" Love had once thrashed him. He did not remember of any particular occasion when the trouble had been extended by his father's actions. When he started for bed on the night of Dec. 9, said Arnel, his parents were sitting in the kitch-en. Mrs. Love was knitting and he deduced that they were not on good danger her life.

Miss Pankhurst, who is the daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the militants, was sentenced Feb. 18 to two months' imprisonment for engaging in a window-smashing campaign on the east end of London. At the same time Miss Zelie Emer-son, of Jackson, Mich. received a like

From the evidence adduced yesterday it was shown that the crown was endeavoring to prove that Love could not see the blood on the woman by standing on the steps as he said he did.

She said that twice daily five or six wardresses and two doctors pried open her mouth with a steel gag and pressed a tube into her stomach.

"I resist all the time," the letter continued. "My gums are always bleeding. I am afraid they may be saying we do not resist, yet my shoulders are bruised by the struggling while they hold the tube in my throat. I used to feel I should go mad at first and be pretty near it, as I think they feared, but I have got over that, and my digestion is the thing most likely to suffer now."

Twice in the month of February, prior to the commitment from which she was released yesterday, Miss Pankhurst was in the toils of the law. The latest outrage of the suffragettes is to burn down the House of Eghat, 20 miles from London, belonging to Lady White, widow of Sir Geo. White, the heroic defender of Ladysmith. The damage amounts to $20.000. Nothing remained unburned except some outer walls. It has been unoccupied for a long time, as Lady White now occupies an apartment specially placed at her disposal by King George in Hampton Court Palas he said he did.

During the whole session Love evinced no surprise whatever at any of the statements made by witnesses. In the same stolid manner that he has conducted himself since the murder the prisoner listened to the proceed-ings. Upon entering the detention box Love placed a hand on either side of the railing. # THE VERY FIRST RESURRECTION Distinction Between Jesus' Resurrection and All Others.

Pastor Russell Shows Scripturally the Difference Between Awakening the Dead and Resurrecting the Dead-Several Were Awakened Before Jesus, But He Was the First Resurrected-The Church's Resurrection.

St. Louis Mo. March 23.—Pastor Russell spoke twice here to-day. We report his address on the Resurrecion from the text. "He should be the first that should rise from the dead." (Acts 26: With startling

With startling clearness the speaker pointed out that Jesus' resurrection was the very first, as the text declared. "Not Possible to Be Holden."

"Not Possible to Be Holden."

St. Peter declares that it was not possible for death to hold Jesus. (Acts 2:24.) He was perfect. It was the Father's will that Jesus should demonstrate His obedience even unto death. Hence it was not possible for Jesus to remain under the power of death, and God raised Him on the third day.

Jesus was perfect on the spirit plane, before He exchanged the spirit nature for the human, to become man's Redeemer. He never forfeited His right to life. He merely laid it down in proof of His loyalty to the Father's will. Hence His resurrection meant His resuscitation in perfection. But it was not God's will that He should return to perfection of human nature; for He had used that nature for the purpose intended. He was raised from the power of death to the very highest plane of spirit being: namely, the Divine nature.

The Pastor asked his audience to contrast Jesus' resurrection with the awakening of Jairus' daughter; the widow of Nain's son: Lazarus, the

It would have meant their restoration to the full image and likeness of God, lost in Eden. by Scott Tragedy.

The tragedy of Capt. Scott and his brave companions in the Antarctic reminds a recent writer that one Arctic expedition may almost be said to have started from Toronto. This was that made by Sir John Franklin to the Arctic shores of this continent in 1825.

Arctic shores of this continent in 1825.

Starting out from England Franklin and his party arrived at New York and come on from that place by stage and boat up the Hudson river. In due time the explorer arrived at Toronto, which was then York. Franklin had his boats put upon carts there at the bay and taken thence by ox teams up Yonge street.

When the Franklin party reached Newmarket they stayed over as the guests of Hon. Peter Robinson, a not ed resident and a relative of Sir John Beverly Robinson, Bart, Chief Justice of Upper Canada, who lived in York. From Newmarket it was but a short distance to where the Arctic voyagers really commence their long journey into the frozen wastes of the north. The boats were taken on to Holland Landing then the jumping off place for the north, and launched in the marshy little-stream which enthusiasts have long been trying to convert into a canal at great public expense. Here the boats commenced their journey. Lake Simcoe was passed, the Severn River navigated and thence by way of the shores of Lake Huron the party reached Lake Superior. Skirting its rugged north shore, Fort William was passed and Winniege—Fort Garry—eventually reached by the old Hudson Bay Co.'s route. Thence the travelers went north through the interminable stretches of lakes and rivers that gridiron the vast northwest.

There are several Arctic travelers in Toronto, among them R. F. Stupart, of the Meteorological Office. Mr. Stupart went up in charge of the party of 1884. The ship, which sailed from Halifax, touched at Baffin's Land and thence went through the icebergs to the bay, where the party wintered at Cape Prince of Wales, the extremity of Ungava Bay.

When the time came for the collection, no body took it up, and that very necessary part of the service had to be dropped.

The congregation never knew whether the story came to the ears of Earl Grey and caused him to reprimand the members of his household, but there was a sequel. A few weeks later the same situation occurred, and when the retor finished the offertory sentences, there came an awkward pause. Then suddenly out of the Vice-Regal pew walked Lady Evelyn Grey. Fire broke out in the debris of many wrecked buildings in Nebraska's metropolis, and these were menaces for some time, as the fire companies were hindered by fallen walls and blockaded streets. A heavy rain followed the wind, however, and drenched the hundreds of homeless persons, but also put out the flames.

Of the 202 known dead within the area covered by the storm, 152 were residents of Omaha. The remaining dead are scattered over a considerable range of territory.

Perhaps 1,500 persons are homeless.
Aside from this, 3,000 buildings were damaged, many of these being churches and school buildings.

ing wreckage were known, even within this city itself. The pathway of the storm, from five to seven blocks in width, cut a swath 24 blocks long.

The total number of deaths in this part of the city reached almost 50. Within the space of this storm centre, which, if made rectangular, would cover a quarter section of land, 1,200 houses were wrecked, 100 bodies have been recovered, and search of the ruins is being made for others. Several are known to be still in the ruins at the end of the storm's path.

To-day five public schools were out of business in Omaha. Seven churches are partly or wholly wrecked. One private school for girls is a total wreck, although the students escaped. The rest of the loss is to homes. The destruction began with the millionaire homes in the exclusive section of West Farman and Bemis Park, but farther northwest the buildings collapsed more easily, and large numbers of deaths resulted.

Rescue work started as soon as the people were able to hurry to the stricken district, but the night's work was by the light of lanterns, and little work was accomplished. The storm took down all the wires in its path, and the electric power was shut

"I crossed through the storm zone," he said, "and saw bodies being carried out of the ruins. Frame houses were wrecked and porches of stone and brick dwellings were torn away. "The worst thing about it all, except for the dead, was the helplessness of the sufferers. There was no way to get quick assistance. Hospital and ambulance service was far below the requirements, and doctors had more than they could do.

"The motorcar companies carried dozens of injured to doctors' homes and to hospitals. No one could hire a motorcar unless it were wanted for someone that was injured. Many private motorcars helped in the work."

Whitney Bar Policy.

"Abolition of the Bar" Motion Is Defeated by a Straight Majority and Anti-Treating Legislation Is Still In the Future-Mr. Rowell Says the Dealers Have Changed the Premier's Mind In Interval.

TORONTO, March 20.-By a vote of 75 to 17 the Whitney Government yesterday defeated Mr. Rowell's motion for the abolition of the bar, and passed Hon. W. J. Hanna's amendment affirming the belief that local option and anti-treating legislation are the best steps for the cure of the liquor evil at the present time. A similar vote was registered on T. H. Lennox's amendment deprecating Mr. Rowell's action in bringing the liquor issue into the realm of party politics. Allan Studholme (Labor) voted with the Opposition.

E. A. Peck (W. Peterboro) in resuming the debate on the abolition amendments raised the question of the total abolition of all bars without the abolition of the shops. "What is going to happen if we do away with the bars and leave the shops?" he asked. "We would like to have heard the evidence of the police magistrates and crown attorneys of the different cities on the question of the enforcement of prohibition, but there was nothing of that in the remarks of the honorable member for North Oxford."

William Proudfoot (Centre Huron), who followed, declared that many members of the Government were in favor of the abolition of the bar, but favor of the abolition of the bar, but were afraid to come out and say it, preferring to shield themselves behind the anti-treating system. "Does anyone here contend that it would not be a good thing to wipe out 1,471 bars., for the simple reason that there would be 218 shop licenses left?" he asked. In concluding the speaker referred to the amendment to the amendment, moved by T. Herbert Lennox, K.C. In his opinion the member for North York had not even read the amend-

"Just wait, and you'll see what this Government will do with respect to eliminating the treating habit," he said. "Any legislation that will be enacted you may be sure will come from his side of the House.

"Mr. Speaker, the attempt that has been made to join the Grit party with the Dominion Alliance, and manacle and hobble the good temperance people of the Alliance to Grit official-dom will fail," he went on.

FISH IS AGAIN DISCUSSED

J. G. Anderson and T. Marshall Intro duce Measures In Legislature Which Would Compel Politicians to Publish Amounts and Source of Campaign Contributions - To Prevent Aid From Corporations committee on Hon. Dr. Reaume's bill respecting game and fisheries.

TORONTO, March 26.-When the Legislature resumed yesterday after the Easter recess the subject of fish was resumed. The House went into committee on Hon. Dr. Reaume's bill respecting game and fisheries.

A lengthy discussion arose over the habits and character of the fish crane called variously the "hell diver," "coween" and "mud head." The act provides that it be protected but Mr. Studholme urged that since it was a menace to the fish supply it should be legal prey for the hunter as soon as the ducks went south. In spite of the learned ornithological discussion the bird's life is to be protected. N. W. Rowell shortly afterwards stated that since the question of the fisheries was discussed in the House he had been informed that the fish caught in Ontario were going to the United States.

Hon. Dr. Reaume: "If my honorable friend's informant will inform us it will be attended to."

C. N. Anderson of South Essex said that in the year 1912 the Lake Erie Fishing Co. had sold 129,000 pounds of fish and only 20,000 pounds of it were sold outside of Canada.

Samuel Clarke (Lib., W. Northumberland) thought it was a wise provision, as it would allow of a man going upon land which had been cleared for him by one who was more accustomed to the rough work.

Mr. Hearst said that he hoped that the change in the law would greatly facilitate the opening up of the Northland. A man, he said, could buy 160 acres and have it cleared in this way—but only 160.

Just after the House opened Sir James Whitney gave notice that he intended to introduce a bill to provide that after next Wednesday Government business should take precedence over all other business. Mr. Rowell asked what business the Government had the state of the Rowell asked what business the Government had, and Sir James replied that he expected that the Workmen's Compensation Act would be ready, "Then there will be the estimates, and "Good Heavens!" exclaimed Arline aghast; "left you like that—a mere child! Then he did not go alone, of course, the dastard?"

"I don't know anything more than that I was deserted," said Lenore, lifting herself, "That is the herror, the misery of my position, Arline. I know nothing more of him from that day to this—he may be dead, he may be alive."

"You would never go back to him?"
"I would kill him first!" said Lenore, fiercely, and Arline shuddered.

"I always felt sure," she said, pre-sently, "that you had had deep trouble it had crossed me that possibly you were not a widow, but I scarcely ever thought of such cruel wrongs as there must be here!"

"Ay, Arline, far more than I tell you, or may ever perhaps be able to tell you. But, for pity's sake, don't think me weak and wicked because I cannot quite part from—from Errol! cannot quite part from—from Errol!
There are reasons why it is impossible—more, why he must overtly assume to me position of a half-admitted love. I don't want you to think I am blind to danger—to temptation in the future." she added, hurriedly, "but only that, come what may I cannot help it now—that things must be as they are!"

"My dear girl, I am your friend and his-for your sake," said Arline, earnestly-not your judge or his. But is it quite impossible to trace out any clew to your husband?"

Lenore shook her head sadly.

"Five years is such a lapse of time. Errol has placed it in the hands of a skilled private detective, but in truth there is no data to start from-except a description and the date he left me. He has gone to Paris, but we have no hope at all—nor has the man him-self."

"It is so hard for you both-oh, so cruelly hard!" said Arline.

That evening, on the way to the Comedy, Lenore told her lover what had passed between herself and Arline Wyndham; and he, in return told her of his interview with Featherstone.

"He makes," was his comment, "the usual mistake of men so utterly black as he is—he believes that, like himself, every man and woman has but the one law of expediency, and honor a thing not known—a myth, a mere word on the lips; he reckons without hig host, and therefore in all his schemes and calculations there is always a little flaw somewhere, which in the end will, by the mere laws of chance, occur once too often."

"I'll not bear this game much longer," muttered Montague, as he at last not before the afternoon, made his way to the diva to take leave.

"Going?" she said, yielding him her hand for a moment. "Shall we see you on Thursday at our 'evening'?"

Featherstone gave such a start, and his florid cheek turned livid; but even then he almost instantly recovered himself—partially, at any rate.

In-the Mackenzie delta, where some decades ago there were over 2,000 Eskimos, there are now only 40. Measles and teberculosis are the two chief factors in this process of extirpation. Measles is a comparatively new disease among the Eskimos, and they have not developed the practical immunity from fatality through it which generations of the civilized world have developed. It works like the black plague among them. Explorer Victor Stefansson wants the Government to take steps towards combatting the spread of the disease by isolating patients. Special medical officers should be sent up, or else the Mounted Police should be asked to effect a sanitary patrol.

Sir Edmund Osler is exerting his influence with the Government on Mr. Stefansson's behalf, and it is probable that Governmental assistance will be given the next expedition, especially in view of the fact that he is a Canadian and the exploration work will be north of the present known confines of Canada. Mr. Stefansson is a native of Manitoba.

I have advised several women who suffered as I did to try your remedies. You may publish this if you wish."—Mrs. DAVID R. MORRIS, South Wellington, Vancouver Island, B. C.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unquali-fied endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegeta-ble Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and we believe it is unequalled for women during the period of change of life.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

the without scruple, if Lenore we were good! Meanwhile for time—time three was no saying what lucky chance might happen, what escape might turn up, for there is very much of the Micawber in all men of Feather stone's stamp with the extra screed varfare with society, playing pitch and tooss with Fortune, and taking from one hand to play with the other so that the least slip in the passing is peril of general crash.

Thus the failure of one nefarious dealing had driven the schemer to that bill business of necessity, to bolsten up his position of chedit on which hung all his law and profits. A man of straw in reality—a mere adventure—he had no solid resources to fall back upon now; he had so much to meet and keep going to keep up credit that he had alragidy strained beyond their tether (as that bill showed) his means of raising money, and if he could not get hold of five thousand pounds, clear, by the time he had named to bley, he had nothing for it, but to betray Lenore into his hands, and put off or deceive Castelnau as best he could.

"Onfound him?" he thought; "if only he had started the club, than money would soon have been won."

Still he knew, with a sinister triumph, that his shot against Montage had told, and waited with some confidence the result of his mental revolving the question of peace or war. "Well," he said, at last, "I don't mind if I give that time—say, six or seven weeks, no more—and mennshile she must be more even in he favors."

"Till do my best," said Featherstone in the same determined, dogged way; "but I will not be held responsible to miss the more even in he favors."

It only roused the more into definite form his passionate determination to take her and his child away in some way—not the vague "before long," but before many weeks.

"I don't trust either of them, my darling," he said one morning, "and I do not mean this state of things to last beyond the break-up of the season. I will not leave you both under Featherstone's roof."

She knew what that masterful will was, and that this time any pleading would be useless—he would not yield; and had he not the right to remove his child, ay, and herself, too, if he deemed safety involved? She had nothing to say, only clung to him and laid her weary face on his breast.

So the days and weeks went by in the usual round, and the beautiful Mrs. Deleware was more than ever-courted by the world in which she moved, and admired far beyond its widespread circles.

"I can't see what you foolish men admire so desperately in her," said Olivia, in angry jealousy, to Montague one hot June night, after a ball at Lady Medora Thursby's, where, of course, Mrs. Deleware and Errol and the Wyndhams had all been present "Everybody raves about her grace and beauty, forsooth; and Ramory makes sit to him; and you are more at that Lodge than at home, and—"
"My dear, how you do run on—" began Dudley.
"Oh, don't 'dear' me! Much you care, except when you want a check!" cried the rich stock exchange wife bursting into violent tears. "And it's handsome Castelnau she likes, and not you!" "I can't see what you foolish me

"I'll stop his being liked—by Jove! at once!" said Dudley, savagely, "I'll tell Gus to-morrow, he must manage the job, or I'll know the meaning of his visit to Grieron's."

So Gus Featherstone had a very unwelcome visitor next day at the Cannon street offices,

Two days after the Sant' Anna Gold Mine had again paid a dividend of twenty per cent. Fred Wyndham and Errol Castelnau dropped in at the Lodge to take leave for three or four days, as, at the former's wish, they were going boating up the river, starting from Henley early on Sunday morning, and returning there on Wednesday afternoon.

Here at once was Featherstone's op-

Not one; he only felt fear that some contretemps might occur to spoil the plot, and a dread—true moral coward—of the moment when Lenere must discover how basely and completely she was betrayed!

There was every precedent to justify the belief that this news would not cause any serious trouble. With the single exception of the death of R. Oswald P. Flower in 1899, the passing away of prominent financiers has never caused any serious disturbance in the market's equilibrium.

George F. Baker, who at the age of 72 becomes the actual head of the "money trust" by the death of Mr. Morgan, believes that the concentration of wealth in a few hands has gone far enough. He said so in his testimony before the Pujo Committee when, in answer to a question by Samuel Untermyer on this subject, he replied: "I think it has gone far enough. Macon, Ga., March 30 .- In a gam of ball that would do credit to two eams in mid-season the Boston Braves of the National League beat Toronto by 3 to 2 here to-day. Maxwell, Rudolph and Herbert did the twirling, while Graham and Trout divided the catching honors. Stallings sent two left-handed twirlers against Kelley's array of left-handed hitters. Big Otto Hess opened for the Braves and was succeeded by Paul Strand, the schoolboy south-paw bought by Boston from Spokane. Strand, who was the only twirler to put much effort into his pitching, showed a corking curve ball. He struck out Herbert, Shaw, and O'Hara in the eighth inning.

And the next evening James followed up with a swallow-tail and an expansive shirtfront. He was not quite as chirpy on this occasion as on the previous evenings, and at the close of the evening he called me aside and said, 'For God's sake, Joe, don't say anything about this, for if you do, to-morrow night there is nothing for me to do but to either borrow Col. Twenty-one men from as many towns in the pro-vince, where the former bank did business and where a total of 5,400 people lost their life savings, or con-siderable money, met in the Walker House yesterday as representatives of all the depositors. They believed that it was the duty of the Government to make restitution to the amount of make restitution to the amount of about $1,250,000, which the depositors lost through the collapse of the banking house, and for which as yet a return of not one cent had been made. A resolution was drawn up to the effect that a deputation visit Ottawa within two weeks' time and urge the claims of the depositors on the Government, basing them on the fact that the report of the commissioner, Sin William Meredith, was largely in fav or of the depositors and bore out that there was an error in judgment com-mitted on the part of the ex-Minister of Finance in granting a charter the bank.

The letter relates that Jones and three others participated in the robbery of the express car of Denver & Rio Grande train in 1908, between Denver and Littleton; that they divided about $50,000 loot, and buried part of it.

Mr. Lemieux Demands Probe Into Mail Lock Scandal.

PELLETIER REPLIES

Postmaster-General's Politica Friends Received Large Share of Graft, Declares Hon. Mr. Lemieux-Worst Case Ever Before Canadian Parliament Is the Way Disclosure Is Described

OTTAWA, April 2.-"I warn you that this is the worst boodling case that has ever been before this Parliament. When I am through with a plain statement of the facts of this natter, I intend to ask the Prime Minister to appoint a committee to make a searching investigation into the whole circumstances.'

This was part of the reply made by Hon. Mr. Lemieux when he rose in Parliament last night, after Hon. Mr Pelletier had made his statement in connection with the mail bag lock dis closures. Government members vigorously applauded Mr. Pelletier's de claration that the press had maligned

Hon. Mr. Pelletier, Postmaster-Gen eral, opened the discussion by re questing the privilege of repudiating statements which appeared in Liberal papers concerning the purchase of mail-bag locks. These statements, he said, were "unfair and inaccurate, and put the case in a most false posi

He had brought with him the contract for the 350,000 mail bag locks, and desired to put the case fair-ly before the House. The newspaper articles had alleged that the Post-office Department had favored friends unduly, and entered into the contract when the Government came

Mr. Pelletier said that all the locks ow in use would have to be replaced by new ones, and that the great ex-pansion of postal business during the next four years would necessitate the purchase of at least 120,000 locks. Officials of his Department, he said, have placed the number at 350,000, taking into account the extra de-mands for new mailbags and new locks which would follow upon the taking

The contract showed plainly that take one lock if it did not meet with approval, and the contracting firm was to deliver them as the Department required them.

Hon. Mr. Pelletier said he did not cnow any member of the company-beyond having met the manager twice while negotiations were on.

He then read letters from the Deputy Postmaster-General, R. M. Coulter, and Mr. Sydney Smith, Comptroller of Postal Stores, to the effect that one dollar per lock was a fair price.

mat one dollar per lock was a fair price.

"With an increase of $2,000,000 in the sale of stamps during the past year. I think we can afford to get new locks to insure the safety of mails," declared the Minister.

"The former lock was a rotten look, in so far as providing for the safety of mails is concerned," he declared.

Business Section Destroyed With a Loss of Over $35,000.

RIDGEWAY, April 2.—Fire of unknown origin almost completely wiped out the business section of this town Monday night, and several buildings were saved by a bucket block, owned by H. H. Hibbard, and occupied by J. L. Brodie, druggist, the Bell Telephone building, the jewelry store of H. House & Co., J. N. Swartz's drug store and the fine residence of W. H. Gollard, manager of the Imperial Bank, here. The grocery store of A. T. Falton was damaged.

The fire is supposed to have started in the telephone building, and J. W. Bowden and family, who lived there, bad a narrow search.

Grenner had invented a lock. This invention had been taken over by Dr. Forget, Amio Dion and M. Baillargeon, a nephew of Hon. Mr. Pelletier. Then through the Ontario Equipment Co., also composed of political friends, the contract had been entertriends, the contract had been entered into with the Postmaster-General without tender. Aithough the price was the same as paid for the old locks, it was to be noted that only small orders were given, on the recommendation of Mr. Sydney Smith, Comptroller of the Department. For a large order like 350,000 locks surely tenders should have been invited and the price made lower.

Mr. Pelletier had charged that the ex-Postmaster-General had bought

Mr. Pelletier had charged that the ex-Postmaster-General had bought 100,000 rural mail delivery boxes and that these were now stored all over the country. Mr. Lemieux pointed out that the contract had been entered into on the condition that these boxes should be manufactured in Canada, and paid for only as needed by the Department. As soon as Mr. Pelletier took office he had paid the whole $150,000 for these boxes at once, despite the conditions of the the whole $150,000 for these boxes at once, despite the conditions of the contract. Mr. Lemieux concluded with a request to Premier Borden for an investigation.

"If anything intelligible can be offered for an investigation, I will grant the committee. The contract made by Mr. Pelletier did not commit the Government to any expenditure. There had been insimuations based upon a letter from a man, whose name was unknown, which was not of it.

Jones says that if the United States will extradite him he will disclose the place where the treasure is buried.

SCOUTS THIRD

SPLENDID PROGRAM WAS PRE-

After weeks of careful preparation INCREASED GRAIN CROP, ONEthe Boy Scouts last night presented their program in connection with their third annual display and concert, the attendance being fully as large as on black Fertilizer. This I know because the Boy Scouts last night presented attendance being fully as large as on the two previous occasions when similar events have been held, and interest was as keen as ever. The accommodation of the hall was taxed. The plan was sold out comparatively early and so eager were many to gain admission that they willingly purchased standing room.

The enthusiastic reception accorded the Scouts was a striking tribute to that organization. The Scout movement was received in Ingersoll with a great deal of enthusiasm, but it is gratifying to note that there has been nothing of the skyrocket about the interest that has been manifested. The Boy Scouts and scouting are to-day receiving even greater attention than at the time of the inception of the organization and there seems to be a common desire on the part of officers and citizens alike to make the local battalion one of the best in the Dominion.

The Boy Scouts and scouting are to-day receiving even greater attention than at the time of the inception of the organization and there seems to be a common desire on the part of officers and citizens alike to make the local battalion one of the best in the Dominion.

"Be Prepared," the Scouts' motto, with which every home in which there is a Scout, is familiar, was exemplified to the entire satisfaction of all who attended last night's concert. It is only once a year that the Scouts have an epportunity of showing what they are doing along all lines of Scout teachings and that they were "prepared" last night was very apparent.

teachings and that they were "preparded" last night was very apparent.

New Features.

Heretofore the Scouts have not gone afield for features, but have adhered almost entirely to the work taken up daily by the crganization. To relieve monotony and prevent over-lapping new features were introduced last night and readily won the endorsation of the audience. Amongst these were "athletic exhibitions," according to the pregram, and which were very scientific boxing bouts, in which the contestants not only displayed considerable eleverness, but a friendly spirit that must be of benefit to boys in "curbing their temper" as Provincial Commissioner Hammend put it in speaking on the matter. There were also many other features, some very unique, all well presented and of intense interest.

It must have been apparent to those in the hall that Commissioner Gibson, his competent officers and the Scouts themselves have had plenty to worry with during the time that the program was being prepared. However, it will be to the delight of these arnest workers to know that for the third consecutive time the people of Ingersoll placed the stamp of hearty approval on their efforts.

The Noxon Pipe Band, who have always lent valuable assistance to the Scout movement, was an important factor in the success achieved last night. The band furnished several selections and were so enthusiastically applauded that encores were absolute.

SUFFERED from Kidney Trouble for five long years. I also had Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles—could not sleep at night—and sometimes could hardly walk. I was treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over fifteen pounds, was very weak, and friends, who had not seen me for some time, were astonished. One day, I met one of our leading hotel keepers, who had been cured by Gin Pills, and he advised me to try them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

Before I had used one box, I felt a big change for the better, and before the second box was gone, I was completely cured.

I assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had known what I know now about Gin Pills, I would not have spent over one hundred dollars for nothing, when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me.

Anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, should never be without Gin Pills.

Marriage Act Is to Be Revised Says Hon. Mr. Hanna.

KILLS GODFREY MEASURE

Provincial Secretary Surprises Legislature After Debate on Private Bill Is Well Under Way by Declaring That a Government Act With Same Purpose Is Under Way -Hydro Accounts Probe.

TORONTO, March 28.-The Ontario Government is about to introduce a new marriage act containing many radical reforms in respect to the granting of licenses to the unfit. This announcement was made by Hon. Hanna yesterday when Dr. Forbes Godfrey's measure came up for discussion and the Minister asked the doctor to withdraw his bill. This was

Dr. Godfrey's bill was very advanced in its nature. It first provided that a minister who knowingly married two persons one or both of whom ere idiots or under the influence, should be liable to a fine of $500 and imprisonment for twelve months. The second clause referring to the issuing of marriage licenses stipulated that in questionable cases, a medical certificate showing mental normality should be required. In case this was neglected, the issuer of the license was made liable to a fine of $500. In addition to these two clauses, was another declaring that before a license could be issued, notice showing the names of the applicants for the license should be posted up in all public names of the applicants for the license should be posted up in all public places in the municipality three weeks before the granting of the license. Dr. Godfrey, while speaking in support of his bill, referred to the marriage law of Italy, which required three weeks' notice. The fact that Italy was almost free from divorces, he argued was proof of the wisdom of the clause. Mr. Hanna's remarks during the discussion gave a rough idea of what the Government bill will be. The provisions as far as can be determined are as follows: (1) The prohibition of the custom at present prevailing in Niagara Falls, Windsor, Detroit and other places on the border whereby

Niagara Falls, Windsor, Detroit and other places on the border whereby eloping couples and people of unsound mind from the United States become united, thus overcoming the preventative legislation in the different states. (2) A clause prohibiting a minister from marrying people who are under the influence of liquor or who are of unsound mind. (3) A clause making the clerk of the municipality the sole issuer of marriage licenses. (4) A clause providing for notice of 30 the sole issuer of marriage licenses.

(4) A clause providing for notice of 30 days or three weeks when the applicant for the license-has not been a resident of the municipality for a

Dr. Godfrey's bill was supported by Dr. James McQueen (North Wentworth), and Allan Studholme, both of whom spoke in appreciation of the bill. Mr. Hanna took particular obtains to the clause requiring notice of the clause requiring notice of three weeks to be given before the issuance of the license and declared that the only persons competent to grant licenses were the clerks of the Godfrey was in the limelight The country was in the limelight earlier in the day, when he moved for the second reading of his bill to prevent the employment of white girls by Orientals in Ontario. The doctor stated that in some cases these girls employed by Orientals did not receive a living wage and drifted into a life of shame.

Dr. McQueen and Allan Studholme poke in endorsation of the bill.

Hon. W. J. Hanna pointed out that the present time a test case was at the present time a test case was in progress between the Province of British Columbia and the Dominion. He did not think Ontario should do anything before this case was settled. For this reason he asked Dr. Godfrey to withdraw his bill and the latter did

The new Factory Act, introduced by Hon. J. S. Duff, was under fire at the might sitting.

Dr. J. McQueen moved an amendment to the act, making it unlawfut to employ children in basements under the surface of the ground and pointed out that the air in such places was detrimental to the health of the growing child. Samugl Clarke and N. W. Rowell, who followed, pointed out that both the bad air and the strong electric light were bad for the health of the children. Hon. J. S. Duff replied by quoting from the reports of factory inspectors, to show that the was little child labor in Ontario. This anturally roused Allan Studholme, who replied that everyone knew that children were being employed.

The amendment was voted down and Mr. Rowell the moved an amendment providing that when children were employed in basements the time should be limited to eight hours a day. This amendment was also voted down.

A debate involving the Speaker, the Premier, the Opposition leader and Mr. W. E. N. Sinclair arose on Mr. Rowell's motion that his bill to amend the act providing for the expenditure of the $5,000,009 for New Ontario, transferring the power from the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to the Legislative Assembly, be restored to the order paper. Sir James Whitney introduced an amendment that the House approve of the well-known rule that no proposal to appropriate public money could be presented to the Crown. Mr. W. E. N. Sinclair as mendment was been ruled off the order paper.

Mr. Sinclair's amendment was defeated and that of the Premier passed by a vote of 67 to 17, and the bill cast quality of the provincial inspector to the coffers of the police court here well-known rule that no proposal to appropriate public money could be presented to the House and provincial inspector to was not in contravention of the rules of the House and should not have been ruled off the order paper.

Last Year's Figures Broke All Records Says Report.

Says Report.

OTTAWA, March 29.—That the high cost of living was higher last year than at any time during the last generation is the statement made in the annual report of the Labor Department regarding wholesale prices which was tabled in the House of Commons by Hon. T. W. Crothers yesterday afternoon.

"High as was the general level," the report opens, "reached in 1911 by wholesale prices in Canada, the highest probably with the present decade, a still further and pronounced advance took place during 1912. Taking the 287 representative articles included in the record of the Department of Labor the rise in 1912 over 1911 amounted to 6.5 per cent.

"The rise in the cost of living," the report remarks, "has struck at the standard of comfort, often with serious results to many whose incomes have not similarly advanced, while business in many instances, notwithstanding widespread prosperity, has been unsettled, if not embarrassed, by the unstable condition of values."

Owing to the network of wires in St. James street and Notre Dame street the firemen had hard work in fighting the blaze. It took the firemen fully two hours to get the blaze under control. The estimated losses are: Semi-Ready

St. Paul's Experiences Duplicate the Master's.

Jesus' Footstep Foilowers Wounded In the House of Their Friends-The Philosophy of the Matter-How to Receive fluch Experiences Why They Are Permitted-The Re-

March 30.—Pastor Russell, who since his last visit has many friends here, arrived again Paul's words:
"Perils among false brethren." (2 Corinthians 11:26.) He

St. Paul was fully devoted to the Master and His cause. His faithfulmaster and His cause. His faithful-ness brought many trying experiences. He served Christ to such an extent that many counted him a fool. Those who opposed his teachings often raised a tumult and blamed him for it, in order to bring him into disre-pute, hinder his service and forward their own interests. This at times brought him to prison, and once to

Nevertheless, he rejoiced in all such

The question arises, "Were these sufferings deserved?" Surely not!
St. Paul was a noble character and bore the Message of God's grace in Christ. Then comes the question, "If the character of the Message of God's grace in the Christ. Then comes the question, "If the character of H. W. Nevinson, an article of the character of H. W. Nevinson, an article of the character of H. W. Nevinson, an article of the character of H. W. Nevinson, an article of the character of H. W. Nevinson, an article of the character of H. W. Nevinson, an article of the character of H. W. Nevinson, an article of the character of the charac bore the Message of God's grace in Christ. Then comes the question, "If his sufferings were not punishments, what were they?" We reply that, like the Master's, they were evidences of loyalty to God and of the darkness of the world, which led men to per-secute him.

Darkness Hates the Light.

The Master declared that He stood for the principles of light, righteousness, truth; while Satan stands for darkness, blindness, superstition. All children of the light must be uncontributed.

darkness, blindness, superstition. All children of the light must be uncompromising in attitude toward wrong. Therefore the world hates them and says all manner of evil against them falsely. Yea, men will feel that they serve God when they slay the righteous, whether literally, as with Jeaus and St. Paul, or by "shooting out arrows, even bitter words," the more popular present day method.

But some will say, "Times have changed! To-day our ministers are reverenced. No one thinks of persecuting them. All men speak well of them. Those not spoken well of them. Those not spoken well of to-day must in some way be unworthy."

How strange that we should forget! In Jesus' day did any traduce the chief priests and Pharisees? Were they not spoken of highly and reverenced? But the Master and His disciples were not popular. According to their own record they were styled "the filt and offscouring of the earth." The Master said that whoever persecuted them would feel that he did God service. As Jesus told some in His day, "Ye garnish the sepulchres of those whom your fathers slew, yet ye do their works." So to-day many extol the Lord and the Apostles and denounce their persecutors, while similarly they persecute. their persecutors, while similar they persecute.

The Master was a Jew. The Jewswere His brethren according to the flesh. Yet they hated Him without a cause, persecuted Him and finally crucified Him. But St. Paul lived after Pentecost, and had Christian brethren, begotten of the Body of Christ, fellow-members of the Body of Christ. Jesus had none such. "Of the people there were none with Him." The gearst approximation was ludes.

there were none with Him." The aearest approximation was Judas. St. Paul knew the bitterness of persecution from false brethren—the climax of all his perils. We may be sure that such experiences were most difficult to bear; for they came from brethren of the closest possible relationship—fellow-meml as of the Body of Christ.

The Godly Suffer Persecution.

All faithful followers of Jesus have All faithful followers of Jesus have persecutions. These come from every quarter; but none are more cruel than those from Christian brethren. Disputes between Christians have been very bitter. History demonstrates this fact. Heretic became the most obnoxious word in the dictionary. Nothing was too bad to do against a heretic. The persecuting brethren were sometimes one denomination, sometimes another.

Thank God for the Advancement made in Christian sympathy! No longer can civilized people take pleasure in tortures, burnings, etc. The general sentiment no longer appreciates or tolerates physical torture. But who can dispute that mental torture is equally severe? In our day there are more refined ways of persecuting, torturing, etc., open to false brethren.

gees, It Is Feared, Has Been Burn-With All Its Occupants-City Is Under Martial Law and Heroic Rescuers Are Doing Everything to Aid the Refugees.

DAYTON, March 27.—Flames that destroyed eight buildings in Dayton's submerged business section yesterday cast a red weird glow over the floodcast a red weird glow over the flood-stricken city that added to the fears of thousands of refugees and marooned persons and led to apprehension that there may have been many of the water's prisoners in the burned build-water's prisoners in the burned build-ings.

Building Which Contained 200 Refus British Naval Lord Declares That the Dr. McQueen's Demand For an In-Empire Is Riding Safely Ahead of the Other Powers In Naval Matters-Dominions Free To Choose Their Own Methods of Extending Aid to the Empire.

> LONDON, March 27 .- Rt. Hon. Win ston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, introduced in the Commons last evening the estimates for the international objects. There is happily a way open, and which will remain open, whereby the peoples of the world could obtain almost instantaneous mitigation of the happy of the Dayton disaster—the number of dead. Late last night the arrival of motor boats gave hope that by to-night the northern section of the city, now cut off by the Big Maimi's impassable barrier, may be penetrated, and then may be learned the fate of hundreds imprisoned by the torrent that poured down from the broken reservoir.

The list of dead was added to yesterday afternoon by the death of a refugee. It was reported late last night that a number of dead had been found in houses at Fifth and Eagle streets, but when rescuers worked their way into the partially submerged buildings they found a number of the flood's prisoners who were weak from fright and hunger.

Already over-burdened victims of the flood's prisoners who were weak from fright and hunger.

Already over-burdened victims of the water's wrath were compelled to suffer again yesterday in a cold. Brite that appeared to threaten the Jusiness section last night was confined to the block bounded by Second and Third streets and Jefferson and St. Clair streets. In the block ganization or naval increase. It imposes no check upon the development of true naval efficiency. The finances of every country would obtain relief; no navy would sustain the slightest injury.

"This is no appeal of weakness panting behind which we make, but of strength striding on in front. It is an appeal which we address to all nations."

Mr. Churchill then turned to British construction. He was glad to say that nothing had happened during the year to alter the numerical programs ganization or naval increase. It im appeared to have about burned itself out, and it was not believed it would spread to other blocks.

It was impossible to ascertain, even approximately, the number of persons who might have been marooned in this section, and who died after being trapped by flood and fire. Nevertheless rescue work went steadily on, and about 3,000 persons were housed in places of refuge last night, the majority of them in buildings of the National Cash Register Co. At least $65,000 persons are imprisoned in their homes and in business buildings. It is feared their two-days' confinement, have caused tremendous sufferings. The flood came with such suddenness that food supplies in homes were whisked away by the torrent that reached to second floors in almost the flash of an eye. Skiffs skirted the edge of the flooded district, attempting to take food to those whom it was impossible to carry off, but the fierce current discouragingly retarded this work.

A report that the dam above Dayton threatened to break added to the city's terror last night. If the dam breaks it will pour in a flood that will hold up rescue work for days.

Messages from the flood's prisoners in the business section said children were crying for milk while their elders suffered from thirst that grew hourly. Volunteers were called for to-day in an attempt to get food to the suffering.

Which they are to be given and accepted.

"I will now examine three subsidiary objections which may, with some show of plausibility, be urged from different parts of the House," continued Mr. Churchill. "First, there is the obvious dilemma about colonial ships. 'Either,' it is said, 'our standard of sixty per cent. is sufficient for the time being, or it is not. If it is not, give us your proof, and if we are convinced we will increase it. If it is sufficient, then colonial ships are redundant, and from that very fact is, in my opinion, a false dilemma. The people of these islands cannot-be expected to go on indefinitely bearing the Government whips time to get the whole burden of Imperial naval defence. We are confronted with great precequence of which we are making naval preparations hitherto unequals of the making the formation of the suffering.

preoccupation in European waters, in consequence of which we are making naval preparations hitherto unequalled in peace time. The maintenance of the strongest navy at the decisive theatre is itself the main safeguard for the peace and security of the whole British Empire.

"We have also now and in the immediate future the power, by making special arrangements, to send powerful squadrons to any part of the Empire which may be locally threatened. It is evident, however, that were the pressure indecisive, and the theatre to grow continually, our power to detach local reinforcements would gradually be diminished. It behooves the overseas dominions to make exertion for their own and the common security, whether by the provision of local navices or by what is more effectual, making additions to the Imperial navy, which will preserve, restore or increase the world-wide mobility of its squadrons.

"It could not be supposed however.

squadrons.
"It could not be supposed, however, that the naval development of the dominions could be restricted on ac dominions could be restricted on account of any European standard. They, too, like us, must be absolutely free. It is for them to choose the method of their naval development. It is also for them to choose whether their naval forces shall be additional to the British standard or whether they shall be a contribution to aid the heavy burdens of the British taxpayer."

"There is, I fear, no prospect of avoiding large and continuing increases in the naval estimates of future years," said the First Lord, "unless the period of acute rivalries, of rapid scientific expansion through which we are passing, comes to an end. ## ADRIANOPLE TAKEN.

Shukri Pasha Fires the City Then Delivers Up His Sword.

LONDON, March 27.—Adrianople has fallen, after one of the most stubborn defences in the history of warfare, and Tchatalja, according to a telegram received by the Bulgarian legation at London last night, has suffered a like fate.

The information regarding Tchatalian may of course refer to the town.

The information regarding Tchatalia may, of course, refer to the town of that name, and not to the line of fortifications, but, as the allies have made just as determined an attack on Tchatalja as they did on Adrianople, it is quite possible that they carried all before them.

Shukri Pasha, the defender of Adrianople, who held the town for 153 days against great odds, which included, besides the investing armies, disease and famine, handed his sword yesterday afternoon to Gen. Savoff, the Toronto champions won by 12 to 5. To-morrow and two succeeds against the Leafs tackle the Boston Nationals, who have been in the south of almost a month.

THE MARKETS

LIVERPOOL, April 1.—The steady American cables yesterday and the expected decrease in the visible supply here caused some support at the opening, and values were ½d higher. Following the opening, shorts covered, and values were further advanced, with the undertone firm. The continued demand from the continent, firmer Plate offers and disappointing stocks, together with confirmed reports of light Russian port stocks, was the incentive for good support.

Corn opened unchanged and continued dull and neglected during the trading.

The Chicago Board of Trade was closed yesterday, primary election day.

The following amounts had been taken out of the revenue and charged to current revenue: Rail renewals, $100,000; fire renewals, $60,000; equipment, $300,000. Mr. Carvell also favored a change in the law.

"Once you lay down the law that divorce is right for any cause, then it should be placed within the reach of the poor man and the poor woman just as much as the rich," said Mr. Carvell. He was, however, strongly in favor of curtailing divorces as far as possible.

Government Cannot Raise Sayings Interest, Says Lougheed.

SENATOR POWER'S MOTION

Sen. Dandurand, In Reply to Liberal's Demand For a Higher Rate on Postal Deposits, Declares That Banks Should Not Be Pressed To Increase Interest-Why Not Pay Figure Given to Foreigners?

OTTAWA, April 2.—The Senate resterday discussed banking. Some days ago Sen. Power put on the order paper a declaration that he would "call attention to the illiberal way in which depositors in Canadian banks are dealt with, and will ask whether it is the intention of the Government to increase the rate of interest on deposits in the postoffice and other Government savings banks?"

banks?"
Yesterday Sen. Dandurand said there would be far-reaching consequences if Sen. Power's suggestion was carried out and depositors in Government savings banks paid four per cent. Instead of three per cent. The banks, too, would be compelled to raise their rates. The result would be that the cost of money would have to be raised to the public.

An increase of one per cent. in the rate paid savings depositors would

An increase of one per cent. in that rate paid savings depositors would practically wipe out the profits now being earned by the banks.

Sen. Dandurand said that it was not true that the banks got their saving deposits for three per cent. In addition to the interest paid depositors the bank had to charge itself with at least one and a half per cent. for expenses and cash reserve.

Sen. Power, he declared, was not accurately informed when he said the curately informed when he said the banks got seven per cent for their money. The fact was that the banks of Canada did not receive more than an average of six per cent. on com-mercial advances and not more than mercial advances and not more than an average of five per cent. on money loaned on call. The profit, therefore, was only one and a half per cent.

Sen. Cloran said that Sen. Dandurand had spoken as a shareholder. Rich men of the country had no more money in savings deposits, for they were astute enough to emplay it more profitably elsewhere. The savings deposits were made up of the small amounts deposited by workingmen and women. Sen. Power's proposal was that the Government should no longer place itself on the same level longer place itself on the same level as the usurer, and that seemed to be an eminently proper proposal. Sen. Domville said that in view of the fact that the Government was paying foreigners four and a half per cent., they should be able to pay Canadians four per cent. Sen. Power followed. The Govern-ment, he said, paid 334 per cent. for ment, he said, paid 33-4 per cent. for money it obtained outside, of Canada and only three per cent. for money it obtained from Canadians. If the Government would fix no rate in Canada, but would pay what it had to pay elsewhere, the law of supply and demand would operate to increase the rate to depositors.

Hon. Mr. Lougheed said that this was a somewhat difficult question for the Government to discuss. There was a somewhat diment question for the Government to discuss. There were many people who would say that it would not be wise for the Government to induce people to tie up their money in postal savings branches, where it could not be circulated for the benefit of trade and commerce. Many held that at the present stage of Canada's development the Government should not rely on domestic money, but should import foreign money in the form of loans until the country had passed its present stage of development. He did not think that Sen. Power had any reason to expect that the Government should change the rates paid savings depositors. the Government to discuss

Then he loosed her, and said, speaking quick and very low:

"There is no time to lose, dear one; go get your hat at once. I have pick locks here in my pocket, and I mean to pick that lock and take you out by the front door. I have been watching in the grounds for a long time every one has retired since half past ten (I watched the lights put out), except Montague and Keller, who are safe in a room round the west side, smoking, and drinking wine and playing cards. If either dares to cross my track to-night, let him look to it, touching his breast with a fierce flash in his eyes, "for he'll get cold lead to end his dastard life."

She said not a word, but turned to obey him; and then, coming back, steod watching him while he knelt down and picked the lock of her prison as deftly as if he had been a house-breaker all his life.

Then he softly opened the door and listened.

"The corridor, stairs, and hall are still lighted," he said, taking her hand. "Come; you fear nothing now, my darning?"

"With you, Errol, no."
Only the fear that those two men should meet—her lover, and the man whose base life,—if he were Gerald—stood between them; only the fear of her own wild temptation not to stay that bloodshed even if she could.

Silent and swift those two descended the hall below, and Lenore almost held her breath as Castelnau softly drew back the great bolt of the hall door, turned the big key, and opened the door to the free air of heaven.

Oh! the passionate love of freedom that is the instinct alike of man and beast, of all that has life and breath!

For a moment, half giddy, the girl locked both hands on her protector's strong arm.

"My precious one!" he said, with all that caressing tenderness of the strong to the weaker, of the protector to the protected.

"Dear Errol, forgive me. I can go on now, I am strong again. Only put

"It will clang and be heard. darling, and for your sake I care." He drew the door to, "My reckoning with those villains shall come later, when you are safe with the child again."

And he hurried her away toward the postern in the garden wall by which he had entered.

"Il leave them that rope as a present," he said, grimly, as they passed out on to the wide heath.

"Come, Montague," said Dr. Keller, rising at length from the card table.

CURE IS GUARANTEED.

You cannot fail to be cured by Caarrhozone, because it reaches and destroys the cause of the disease. You simply inhale the antiseptic vapor. It instantly spreads to every part of the breathing organs. The micro-organsims infecting the diseased tissues of your nose, throat, and lungs die instantly. There is nothing left to cause inflammation. Any spots that are raw and sore are quicly healed by Catarrhozone, and you soon are completely cured.

IT RELIEVES INSTANTLY! It simpossible to breathe through a Catarrhozone inhaler without at once feeling better. Your head is cured of mucous discharge, your nostrils are cleansed of all putrid matter, the phlegm is removed from your throat. Every trace of catarrh is scarched out of the system by Catarrhozone, which thoroughly disinfects and purifies every organ of the body.

Catarrhozone is the only natural remedy for catarrh. It cures by cleansing and purifying all diseased tissues, not by deadening the stomach with drugs.

At S—, which, being a junction, was in charge of a night staff, it was, of course, a mere matter of paying to get the first through train stopped by signal to take them up.

From S—, too, Castelnau telegraphed a line to poor Alison:

"Madam safe with me at Mrs. B.'s. Call there at twelve."

It was nearly four c'clock in the morning when the travelers reached Mrs. Briarly's house, and Errol's latch key admitted them noiselessly. No need to rouse the good woman, for they wanted nothing save rest after the terribly strain of the last day and long night.

But her bedroom was the back par-lor, and she had only lain down in her dressing-gown, and, as she said. "had slept with one ear open," so that as Errol closed the front door she hur-ried on:

ried out.

"My poor dear! thank Heaven, you are here safe!" she cried, in a joyful whisper, and fairly taking Lenore inknew Mr. Errol would get you back

I knew Mr. Errol would get you back, if he died for it!"
Then she wanted to get them some breakfast, but Castelnan stopped her. If she would take Mrs. Deleware up to her room, to rest for a few hours with Angelique and Pearl, it was all that was wanted now, and he would go to his own room.

The three went upstairs, Errol turning aside on the landing. But pausing at his door, as the other two reached the room above, he heard the French girl's little cry of joy and his child's excited, "It is her! Mother—mother!"

"She shall be thy mother—thy fath-

"She shall be thy mother—thy father's wife—yet, my little one!" the man said, desperately, as he shut the doer and flung himself on the couch. "It cannot live without thee, my love—my one love!"

Ah! if he could have forseen into the future of only a few days hence, as in a glass, darkly, which would he have seen triumphant—man's passion, or the divine power of self-sacrifice—the grandest, rarest of Heaven's witnesses on earth?

The irioting in Hyde Park, which has become a regular Sunday afternoon diversion, was repeated food and resisted all efforts to feed her.

The irioting in Hyde Park, which has become a regular Sunday afternoon diversion, was repeated the rioters from handling the women roughly.

Two suffragettes talked for half an hour, but were unable to make temps leves heard above the uproar of horns and hooting. Missiles of various kinds were thrown, and Miss Brackenbury was struck in the face. Mounted police finally escorted the suffragettes from the park while police on foot kept the crowd from following. A similar disturbance occurred at Wimbledon Common, where Miss Annie Kenny attempted to speak but was howled down.

The campaign of revenge for the long sentence imposed upon Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, which the suffragettes threatened, is proceeding actively and seems likely to spread. Many outrages have been committed during the past twenty-four hours. These included the complete destruction of the grand stand of the Ary race course in Scotland, where the principal Scotlish meetings are held, the damage being estimated at $15,000, and an attempt to burn the new grandstand of the Kelso race curse, also in Scotland. Two women were grandstand of the Kelso race curse, also in Scotland. Two women were grandstand of the Kelso race curse, also in Scotland. Two women were grandstand of the Kelso stand.

the British Home Secretary, Reginald McKenna, in taking ten days off the prison sentence of her daughter, Miss Zelie Emerson, has greatly displeased some of the militant suffragettes.

An order was expected on Saturday removing Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst from Holloway jail to Aylesbury prison, forty miles from London. The suffragette pickets, who in relays have walked around the jail night and day since their leader was imprisoned, were chagrined at the prospective transfer of Mrs. Pankhurst, because Aylesbury, is a lonely place where Aylesbury is a lonely place where any demonstration the women might make would lose much of its effec-tiveness.

That the defiant militant leader will not serve three years in prison, or even an appreciable fraction of that time, is almost assured. Her stay that time, is almost assured. Her stay in jail will be measured by her physical endurance. If Mrs. Pankhurst has the will power to starve herself into a condition of such weakness that death would follow, she will be released on Home Secretary McKenna's "ticket of leave" plan whenever the prison doctors report that further confinement would be fatal.

St. John's Hall now boasts of a Debating Society, which holds monthly debates, a Literary and Dramatic Society which has presented a number of plays with considerable merit; a St. Cecilia Circle with a class of thirty members, for the cultivation of the voice, which meets twice weekly for practice, and St. John's Club, under whose direction social and literary entertainments are held. With the elocution class added to these thoroughly organized branches, it is safe to say that there are few places that hold out better opportunities for higher education than St. John's Hall.

It is to the credit of Ingersoll curlers that what they undertake, whether it be a game locally, or with neighboring opponents, they usually do things well, and had the beauty of the decorations escaped one's eye last night, the supper would certainly have called forth words of appreciation. In the course of his address Mr, W. J. Elliott, in proposing the toast "Our Club," traced the history of curling in Ingersoll, mentioning that he had obtained considerable information from that veteran curler, Dr. Walker. He mentioned that the Ingersoll curling club was first organized in 1864 and, that with the exception of two or three years the same had been kent. and, that with the exception of two or three years the game had been kept alive ever since. His remarks were listened to with much interest. Other curlers who spoke had fitting references to the game and their remarks indicated a desire to make next season the best the Club has ever experienced.

The Finance Minister said the Opposition should avoid opposing so violently the expenditure of money in England. British money to the extent of $2.500,000,000 had been invested in this country. WASHINGTON, April 9.—President Woodrow Wilson yesterday bridged the gap that for over a century has separated the pilots of public business, the executive and legislative branches of the Government of the United States.

Not a cog in a machine, not as an impersonal political entity nor as a mere department of government, but as the human President, he went to Congress to speak about the tariff.

President Wilson left the capitol greatly relieved to think that, after all, his precedent-smashing had not been such a cataclysmic thing as some older heads had predicted.

Government Approves Mr Elliott's Amendments To Game Act In Favor of Fox Industry — Marriage Act Changes Are Aimed at Runaway Weddings-Children Protected by Hanna's New Legislation.

TORONTO, April 4.—The Ontario Government has introduced its proposals toward the revision and improvement of the Provincial Marriage Act, and, as expected, several of the clauses are of a drastic and farreaching nature. The bill was laid upon the table yesterday afternoon by Hon. W. J. Hanna.

Foremost in importance is the clause which ordains that for three successive weeks immediately preced-

Hon. W. J. Hanna.

The particular features of the bill marking improvements on the old act include, a provision enabling the court to compel a father who is financially able, to pay the expense of maintaining his children, and the placing of this responsibility on careless and heartless parents who have endeavored in the past to avoid it.

Not only will little girls on the street be protected, but the practice of young boys peddling pencils and selling papers at late hours will be discontinued as provocative of truancy and misconduct.

Another section advocates steps on the part of municipalities to institute a system like that of the old curfew law by which all children must be in homes or under parental control by nine p.m. This was one of the ideas especially urged by the National Council of Women and the W.C.T.U.

An important stipulation is that dealing with the disposal of children who have been placed in orphanages. On occasion these have been deserted by their parents and remained without legal guardianship. Henceforth, they should be allowed to catch the animals at any time in the year when they proved that they were to be used for breeding purposes.

Hon. Dr. Reaume said the bill was good one, but that it would have to be modified before it could be passed. As it stood, he claimed, other furbearing animals could be captured at any time of the year, and this would sweep away all the protection the Government had been giving to the beaver and other animals.

Mr. Elliott's bill was given its second reading and referred to the game and fish committee.

Three other bills introduced by Mr. Elliott were approved. One was to and nsh committee.

Three other bills introduced by Mr. Elliott were approved. One was to amend the arbitartion act, a second to facilitate the searching of titles, and a third to regulate the size and construction of culverts. They were all advanced a stage.

Measures to place restraining influences on the directors of companies with large share holdings were proposed in a bill of J. I. Hartt of Simcoe. In view of so many suffering from failing concerns, he intended that the directors should be held liable for and damages through a contract, sale or purchase which was shown to be prejudicial to the interests of the shareholders.

Hon. Mr. Hanna stated that the present act went practically as far as the contract.

Hon. Mr. Hanna stated that the present act went practically as far as the one proposed. The difficulty was to prove to the satisfaction of the court that the chief director had made objections, and that the transaction was in the nature of ordinary business and not prejudicial to the shareholders. He urged that the bill be withdrawn.

The incident has caused tremendous excitement, notwithstanding the fact that the German officers aboard the airship explained that they had been lost in the clouds and did not know they had crossed the French frontier. The inhabitants of the eastern frontier regions of France have been much agitated the last few weeks over reports that German dirigibles had been observed or heard nightly hovering over the forts. But the stories, like those of the phantom airship of England, never were properly substantiand, never were properly substanti-

The people of Luneville were therefore considerably startled shortly before noon yesterday, when a brownish yellow airship appeared at a great height in the clouds coming from the direction of Nancy. The airship was lost to view, but reappeared an hour later. It was apparent that the pilot was having a battle with the wind, and that he was making an effort to reach the earth. Finally a safe landing was made in the parade-grounds, where two squadrons of cavalry were dirilling. The cavalrymen rode up and formed a cordon. They caught

The local authorities and Brigadier-General Antide Leon Lescot were immediately summoned, and were closely followed by a huge crowd of excited people. It required the efforts of two companies of infantry to keep the indignant populace at a distance.

The captain explained to Gen. Lescot, through an interpreter, that the Zeppelin was undergoing a test prior to being taken over by the War Department. He and the other officers had been assigned to that task. They left Friedrichshafen early in the morning bound for the Grand Duchy of Baden.

OTTAWA, April 4.—The naval debate will not be resumed until Monday. The House spent all of yesterday in committee upon the bill, bringing into effect the Japanese treaty, and the same will be given third reading to-day. Hon. Frank Oliver to-day will seek to amend the Japanese treaty bill by a clause making the ratification of the treaty subject to the immigration laws now in force, and to all amendments thereto which may be made Yesterday's order paper contained several questions regarding the contract for mail-bag locks recently awarded to an Ottawa firm. Hon. Mr. awarded to an Ottawa firm. Hon. Mr. Pelleter answered one of them to the effect that the new lock ordered was patented by L. E. Grenier (a Quebec mail conductor), Aime Dion and P. V. Foucher. These three patentees assigned the patent right to the Ontario Equipment Co. of Ottawa, which in turn secured the contract last October from the Postmaster-General. The name of M. Baillargeron, a nephew of the Hon. L. P. Pelletier, does not officially appear in the transphew of the Hon. L. P. Pelletter, does not officially appear in the trans-action, as charge by Mr. Lemieux. In reply, Speaker Landry said that there had been no correspondence between himself and the Prime Minister in 1912 relative to public works in Quebec. The correspondence consisted simply of copies of communications between himself and the Postmaster-General, which the Postmaster-General had marked "private." In view of this Speaker Landry said he could not make them public.

The matter was finally dropped.

Hamilton Man Found Guilty of Murdering Wife.

dering Wife.

HAMILTON, April 4.—Thomas Piley, who has been under arrest on the charge of murdering his wife in the Durfey home on Bay street north a couple of months ago, was tried yesterday, and the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter. Mr. Justice Middleton said he considered the verdict to be just and righteous, and sentenced the prisoner to seven years in the penitentiary. He stated that this might be considered a light sentence for taking life, but taking all the circumstances into consideration he considered it sufficient, and trusted that the prisoner would think over his grave act and its consequences. The crown had no difficulty in proving that Riley fired a shot at his wife, and that he apparently did it deliberately. The defence was that Riley was insane. The point was given to the jury to decide early in the evening, and it found that he was sane and responsible for his actions. The case was then given into its hands, and it returned with its verdict of manslaughter about 10 clock.

LEVIS, April 4.—Owing to the obnormal rise of the Chaudiere River, caused by sudden thaws and heavy rains, great damage is feared. LONDON, April 4.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the militant suffragettes, was yesterday found guilty and sentenced to three years' penal servitude at the Old Bailey sessions, on the charge of inciting persessions, on the charge of inciting persons to commit damage in respect to the bomb explosion at Lloyd-George's country house at Walton Heath.

The trial had lasted two days and when the judge, Sir Charles Montague Lush, pronounced sentence his speech was received with loud cries of "shame" from the militant suffragettes, who crowded the court.

The jury added a strong recommendation for mercy, and when the judge pronounced sentence the women rose in angry protest.

OTTAWA, April 5.—The House adjourned last night after passing the bill to bring into effect the treaty with Japan. Only a few members were present, and ho effort was made to go on with the reading of the bill respecting reciprocal trade with the British West Indies. The West Indian bill may have the right of way on Monday, thus postponing for another day or two the naval debate, atthough Mr. Borden was not prepared to make a definite statement upon the adjournment of the House.

In reply to Hon. Mr. Oliver, he said he would communicate the Government's plans to the leader of the Opposition to-day.

Upon the third reading of the Leave ernment's plans to the leader of the Opposition to-day.

Upon the third reading of the Japan treaty bill there were several amendments voted down, and the bill passed without division.

Mr. Pugsley offered an amendment, making the treaty subject not only to the Immigration Act but also to regulations by order-in-council.

Mr. Oliver moved an amendment to the effect that the treaty shall not affect either the Immigration Act (as provided in the bill) or any amendment thereto which may henceforth be enacted or any provincial legislation now or hereafter enacted.

In support of his proposals, the tion now or hereafter enacted.

In support of his proposals, the ex-Minister of the Interior declared that Canada should be mistress in her own house, and should have the right to restrict immigration in the interests of the people of this country. That principle, he argued, was departed from in the bill, and the departure might form a precedent for fature departures that would have serious consequences.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie would have the clause which provided that the treaty shall not affect Canadian immigration laws cut out altogether. He regarded it as a gold brick for the people of British Columbia.

After some further discussion a vote was taken and the Oliver amendment was defeated by 76 to 36.

Most of the evidence had to be given through Interpreter Yarosh, and Michael Bablak said both the prisoner and the murdered man were drunk at eight o'clock the night the crime was committed. Several boarders at the Boyko home gave similar testimony.

The prisoner went on the stand and admitted killing Lienkiewitz. He said he killed Lienkiewitz on account in the went to the kitchen about midnight, when he came back found his wife. Liberal Leader Urges the Need For an Investigation Into Problems Affecting Workmen and Moves For the Appointment of a Commission -Sir James Whitney Moves Hoist of Studholme Bill.

TORONTO, April 5.-Allan Studolme's eight-hour day bill, which has been a perennial feature of the legislative session, acquired a new phase yesterday when Opposition Leader Rowell moved in amendment

Leader Rowell moved in amendment to it that a commission be appointed to report at the next session on the whole subject. Sir James Whitney moved a six months' hoist, but at six o'clock Mr. Studholme moved the adjournment of the debate.

The bill combines with the regulation of the working day at eight hours a stipulation of a minimum wage of 20 cents per hour.

Sir James Whitney gave his reasons for opposing the bill.

"No workman shall be permitted to work more than eight hours a day," he read; "and this a British country, with free mistitution, and a Christian country. In the face of all this is a proposition like that."

Sir James objected strenuously.

"That does not help the matter any," he said. "It does not negative the bill and is entirely out of order. What is the use of this burlesque?"

The Premier then rose to move in still further amendment "that this bill be not now read a second time, but that it be read six months hence."

The Speaker then threw out the amendment on the Premier's grounds, and Mr. Rowell prepared to discuss the question.

and Mr. Rowell prepared to discuss the question.

The position taken by the Liberal leader was that the results of industry were not fairly distributed between employer and employe at the present time. The situation was not that Ontario was better off than other countries; rather that it was possible to bring about a great improvement in the conditions of the working people that would enable a man to obtain ple that would enable a man to obtain a living wage and maintain a home for himself and family. The urban population was rapidly increasing and the housing problem was becoming one of great importance. He would not attempt to say what was a living wage nor what the hours of labor should be. He thought in respect of the former proposal that Ontario could at last follow the British practice of establishing trade boards, but that the question of fixing hours would have to be dealt with by direct legislation.

W. K. McNaught (N. Toronto) said the provision would mean practically that manufacturers in Ontario would have to pay ten hours wages for eight hours' work. If the law passed many manufacturers would have to close down.

When the two headings on the other side of the mountain were gradually coming together the gangs, though both were eager to have the honor of breaking through and making the connection, had to proceed very carefully on account of the use of dynamite, and the work had to slow down to some extent. Grand River Floods.

BRANTFORD, April 7.—That the Ontario Government will make a grant of $10,000 to conduct a thorough investigation into the causes of the Grand river floods, with a view to their abatement, was the announcement made here on Saturday. The preliminary report of the Government engineer, H. G. Acres, as a result of a survey made last year, recommends storage dams between Paris and Glenmorris, and at Blair and Elora, also on the Onastoga, Speed and Nethrivers and White Man's Creek. It is estimated that five billion cubic feet rivers and White Man's Creek. It is estimated that five billion cubic feet of water would be looked after by dams as outlined and flood control to a beneficial degree would be effected. The engineer strongly recommends a more complete investigation to secure definite data as to the channel alope of the river and the provisions to be made to take care of the backwater from the dams. The investigation, he states, would be of great value in preventing floods along the Thames, Sydenham and other rivers in the province.

"The main provision," he said, "is that we are going to take care of our own ocean mail service with the Mother Country without the need of going outside." Canada had been paying to the United States $185,000 a year. Under the new arrangement, instead of four ships in the service, it there will be twelve, and instead of a weekly service there will be a tri-weekly service in summer and bitweekly in winter.

The million dollar subsidy will include the transportation of mails from the England to Canada and vice versa. The mails in summer will be landed at Quebec, and in winter at Halifax.

The summer sailings will be on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, instead of exclusively at the week-end.

All mails to and from Canada will be handled by this arrangement. In short the idea is an all-Canadian ser-vice.

"If we undertake to take part in the foreign policy of the Empire and to decide questions of peace and war, then we must contribute as much to the common fund as Great Britain, which would mean, at the present time, a naval budget of 25 millions for Canada," he said.

In conclusion Sir Wilfrid said that the debate so far had been of a high order, and it certainly should not be curtailed in view of the great issues at stake. He submitted that the request of the Prime Minister was premature.

As to Sir Wilfrid's view that Canada As to Sir Wilfrid's view that Canada would in some way be compromised by having a voice in Imperial questions of peace or war, this meant, said Mr. Borden, "if it had any meaning, that the Opposition desired Canada to remain neutral when Britain was at war. This had been their position when in power in 1910.

"Why don't I try it," Mr. Rogers said in reply to Opposition questions.
"It is because the business men of this country demand that this Government put through this Parliament the business of the country, including this bill and we are going to do it."

E. M. McDonald, the Liberal member for Pictou, followed.

"The Prime Minister," he said, "has abandoned the idea that these ships are to be given to Britain. He says to-day that if the Grits carry the next election we can bring them back and utilize them as a part of the Canadian navy. Let me thank him for nothing: We already know what we will do, but what we want to know is, what will the right hon, gentleman (Mr. Borden) do if he is returned to power? What are his politics? WASHINGTON, D.C., April 8.—The new Democratic tariff bill was introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative O. W. Underwood immediately after that branch of Congress convened at noon yesterday. It will be popularly designated as the Underwood bill, taking the name of the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in accordance with custom and tradition. But it will also be styled the "Administration" with custom and tradition. But it will also be styled the "Administration bill," because it has the stamp of approval of President Wilson. Having the solid endorsation of the Ways and Means Committee Democrats, their party leaders in the House, and the approval of the President, the bill carries with it greater prestige and has more party momentum than any tariff measure that has been introduced in many years.

The sponsors of the measure contend that it will lower the cost of living to the average consumer and fulfill the pledges of the Baltimore platform. There are liberal cuts in most

Mrs. Pankhurst is Starying — No Feeding Says Heme Office.

LONDON, April 8—That Mrs. Pankhurst is in a critical condition is inferred from the significant fact that Home Secretary McKenna sent a noted specialist to Holloway Jail yesterday to consult with the regular prison physician regarding her case.

But the report that she has been fed by force is officially denied from the Home Office.

Under the new law she can be released on license when exhausted from lack of food and re-arrested when she recovers from the effects of her self-punishment.

It is said that Mrs. Pankhurst has been unable to resist drinking water, but refuses to touch any solid food. Her followers still expect that she will be present at their big meeting in Albert Hall next Friday.

Mrs. Pankhurst's organization, the Women's Social and Political Union, issued a statement yesterday afternoon declaring that its policy has not changed as a result of Mrs. Pankhurst's imprisonment; that attacks will still be upon property alone; that the members will continue to respect human life, but their warfare on property will be intensified in consequence of the Government's measure of coercion.

press car on the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, between Denver and Littleton, and has written Governor Ammons of Colorado asking that he be extradited. He says the gang divided $50,000 and buried a larger sum, and he knows the hiding place of the money. He believes he might be able to have his term shortened, if he could secure the money, but the prison authorities say that the Canadian Government is not likely to act in the matter.

Jones is now serving a term of 36 years. He was sent down from Stoney Mountain Penitentiary a year ago, having been given 15 years, for attempted murder in Winnipez. He and his pals, Harry Kelly, George Brown, Arthur Bonnar and a Woodstock youth named McNeil, made a sensational escape from the pen a year ago when they overpowered one of the guards, but were recaptured. For this Jones and his companions had 19 years added to their term.

GALT, April 3.—The Dominion Natural Gas Co. has had numerous protests against the service given during the past few years, but not till the present time has any physical violence been resorted to by a disgruntled customer. Yesterday the police magistrate heard a charge of assault preferred by the company's manager against a well-known citizen who emphasized his objection to a gas bill by ejecting an official from the premises and slapping his face. The company decided to take away the irate customer's meter, and the case was adjourned, after a conviction for common assault had been entered.

On moving the second reading of the bill to circumvent "hunger strikes" by militant suffragettes condemned to prison, Reginald McKenna, the British Home Secretary, yesterday urged the House of Commons to give him the powers necessary to deal with the new set of circumstances brought about by the suffragettes.

Mr. McKenna said the terms of the bill, which provides for the temporary conditional discharge of prisoners whose detention is undesirable on account of their condition of health, would give him a power which would make him very reluctant to resort to forcible feeding.

The Home Secretary explained that under the existing law only three courses were open to those responsible for doing everything in their power to keep the prisoners alive. If prisoners went on a hunger strike they could either be released, forcibly fed or food could be placed in their cells and the prisoners allowed to die if they did not take it.

OTTAWA, April 3.—At the meeting of the banking and commerce committee yesterday morning H. C. Mr. McLeod said in part: "The Bank Act, 1913, is a marked improvement over its predecessors. Some desirable features have been introduced. "Like its predecessors, the act has few provisions for the protection of depositors, of whom the majority are savings depositors. In some countries savings depositors are the special wards of legislators.

"Among the provisions that should be introduced for the protection of depositors there ought to be included a most rigid and thorough external inspection of the general management of each bank. The system proposed in the Bank Act is an acknowledgment that external inspection is necessary, but only by the utmost activity of the Department of Finance can this plan be made effective.

"No stipulation is made as to the proper qualification required of the auditors, and it is open to any bank to have its balance sheets duly signed.

The Pastor claimed that the repul-iveness of the creeds hinders people rom looking for the truth which they contain. This is well, he said. Why hould we search for Truth in variou should we search for Truth in various creeds when we have the Bible? He urged Christians to abandon the creeds and unite as Bible students, intent on knowing the testimony of God's Word and of obtaining the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the understanding of it.
