THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN FIRE INSURANCE POLICIES.

That fine old Company, The Acadia Fire Insurance Company of Halifax, N. S., who have been represented in New Brunswick for the past five or six years by Wm. Thomson & Co., as General Agents, at St. John, N. B., are about severing their connection with the above firm, and are establishing direct through out the Province of New Brunswick, on the non-Tariff basis, and not being connected with the Board of Underwriters, are prepared to accept business throughout the Province at non-tariff rates.

This strong, independent company has been in operation for over 43 years, having been established in the year 1862, and bears the highest reputation through out the whole of Canada for prompt and honorable dealing to all its claimants, and during its entire history has never been contested or disputed on honest claim. That the business of this Company has been very profitable is evidenced by its exceptional low loss and general expense ratio throughout its entire career, which all stands for the permanency and stability of the Company. That the "Acadia" is today in the front rank, and one of the strongest of Canadian fire companies, is shown by their annual statement for the year ending 1909, which shows that the assets of this sound Company exceeds three-quarters of a million dollars, and after making full provision for all liabilities, including the reserve for unearned premiums of $100,567.53 they have a reserve account of $214,963.85, which is equal to over 71 per cent their capital paid-up of $300,000 and their surplus to policy-holders is $614,863.85, it will thus be seen that the property owners who avail themselves of the "Acadia's" policies secure the highest grade of protection at the lowest possible cost.

Mr. Edwin K. McKay, Inspector of "The Acadia's" Fire has been in town the past few days, and has appointed Mr. E. J. O'Neill representative of the said Company for the Town of St. George and who is now in a position to issue policies on desirable risks at a minimum cost commensurate with absolute security.

The position of a representative of a strong and reliable fire insurance Company in his community is unique, inasmuch as he has large amounts on call immediately available, in the event of a conflagration, as was evidenced by the recent Campbellton conflagration when something like $2,500.00 in round figures was paid by the insurance Companies to the property owners of that town. His duty is not simply to canvas a risk, in fact his duty or obligation only commences when he issues a policy as he is obliged to guard the assured and as well to guard the Company's interests by issuing policies only to reliable parties. Mr. O'Neill we have no doubt will fill the position with credit to all concerned.

A Money-Back Hair Grower and Dandruff Cure.

Read what Mrs. H. Lawrence, 158 W. 12th Street, Holland, Mich., writes about the marvelous results obtained from the use of Parisian Sage, the delightful hair tonic, which is now on sale all over Canada.

"For several months my hair had been falling out, and dandruff also appeared. I used some so-called hair tonics and renewers, but never received any relief from the scalp disease until I procured Parisian Sage, and used it for about two weeks. Parisian Sage made the hair stop falling out, and caused it to grow in quite heavily, stopped the dandruff and made the scalp cool, clean and comfortable. It also leaves the hair silky, and does not make it stiff or sticky. I endorse the use of Parisian Sage. It is all right."—October 30, 1908.

J. Sutton Clark is the agent for Parisian Sage at St. George and he thinks so well of it that he guarantees it to cure dandruff, stop falling or splitting or falling hair or itching of scalp, in two weeks, or money back. It will make any woman's hair soft and lustrous in a few days. Price 50 cents a large bottle at J. Sutton Clark's or direct, all charges prepaid, from the Canadian makers, the Groux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

"The Little Man" With the Whiskers.

My mistress stood looking at him for a moment without speaking, but the expression of her face would have told any one but that horrid little man with the whiskers that he had hurt her very much. At least she gave a funny little cry, and then began talking to herself under her breath.

"What shall I do! What shall I do!" I heard her say.

The little man with the whiskers came up close to her, but she was so unhappy that she did not notice him.

"Alice!" he said, "listen to me. You are wasting your life on a man who is unworthy of you, who loves you no longer, and who is deserting you. You are not wanted here, your life will only be one long misery if you persist in staying and sacrificing yourself. Why let a foolish sense of duty blind you to your best interests; you have but to breathe one word to secure your own future peace and happiness, and bring bliss into the life of another."

My mistress drew away from him, and standing at her fullest height looked down on him.

"How dare you!" she said.

"I would dare any thing for you, Alice. I love you with my heart. You are too fine a woman to waste yourself on a creature like that husband of yours. He does not love you—I do. Leave him and come to me!"

"Go!" said my mistress, simply.

Then a terrible thing happened. He didn't seem to see it but I did. Tears came into my mistress's eyes and fell on her cheeks; then she gave a sort of sob. She was crying.

My blood began to boil. I was beside myself with fury. This nasty little man with the whiskers had made her

HOW HE RAN WHEN HE SAW ME AFTER HIM.

Now I know why I had hated him. He was He-A-Critter—and knowing that he could not make her cry after tomorrow he had come just once more to enjoy her distress. My master was in town, and I on the wrong side of the brookkit was shameful, horrible. I pulled and tugged at my whiskers, and even bit at my rope, but it would not yield.

As I watched him such an evil look came into his face. I believe he meant to kill her, for he seized her tightly in his arms, and called out:

"Go? Never without you!"

I was so frightened that he would take her away where my master could never find her again that I pulled frantically at the rope.

My mistress was evidently afraid, too. She gave a great cry, freed herself, and started to run in the garden. He saw she was afraid of him, and like the coward he was, began to run after her. This was more than I could stand. I was so afraid of his hurting her that I gave a tremendous bound, and to my joy the rope broke and I was free.

In a second I was over the brook and chasing him. How he ran when he saw me after him! but I ran faster than he, and in a few moments I had caught him.

I was too angry to wait to try my new horns on him. I just jumped on his shoulders, threw him down, and rolled over and over down the bank into the brook with him. When I'd got him there I lathered my new horns, and I horned him and I jumped upon him until I had satisfied myself. Or, then standing over him I looked round for my dear mistress.

She was at the garden gate, clasped in my master's arms.

Seeing her so safe I felt that I could commence again on A Critter. In the moment I paused he had time to crawl out from between my feet. Then there was a great shouting. My master and Patrick and some men ran at me with sticks, and began beating me just for doing my duty. I was really angry at their foolishness, so I knocked Patrick down, kicked the strange men, and ran as hard as I could to my mistress, and putting my nose in her hand, asked her if I had not done well.

She understood me, for she smothered a laugh in my neck, petted me and when the men wanted to drag me away took me inside the garden, put me in to my stall with her own hands and gave me a great feed.

As we turned away I heard my master say to A Critter:

"You're too wet to kick, my little cur; pick yourself up and be off, and if ever I find you round my premises again I'll set the dogs on you."

My master soon joined us in the barn, and there standing beside me in my stall he told my mistress what a silly fellow he had been and asked her forgiveness, and then they kissed each other and said a lot of sweet things to each other, at which James snorted and I got angry and told him to hold his tongue, and my mistress forgot that she had fed me and gave me a lot more roots, and James got some too, and then they kissed each other again and we were all so happy, only when my mistress told my master all about the little man with the whiskers she cried, and I could not understand why she should do so after I had rid her of A Critter. May be she was crying because that foolish Patrick had interfered too soon between us.

I think that I did a very good day's work when I punished A Critter, for we have all been happier since. We meet under the willows just as we used to, and what with the extra food I get, and the extra petting, my horns are growing at such a rate that should the little man with the whiskers ever disturb us again I'll be able to settle the whole business before Patrick will have time to interfere.

A Tree Cut Down by Rifle Bullets

In the sanguinary annals of the American war there was no more sanguinary episode than the fight in 1864 of "the Bloody Angle at Spottsylvania." "Every bush and every sapling that constituted the thicket there," says Mr. G. C. Eckleston in his "History of the Confederate War," "was cut away by a stream of bullets as grass is before a mower's scythe. Even an oak tree near its base was cut thick with two near its base by the continual and incessant stroke of leaden balls until it fell, crushing some of the Confederates who were fighting beneath its branches."

Nature Tells You.

As many St. George Reader know, Too Well. When the kidneys are sick, Nature tells you all about it. The urine is nature's calendar. Infrequent or too frequent action. Any urinary troubles tells of kidney ills. Booth's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Wm. Austin Fairbaird, Canadian Northern Railroad, Sudbury, Ont., says:

For 17 years I was troubled with my kidneys and bladder being out of order. I had to make water two or three times every hour which caused fearful scolding. I thought nothing would cure me. I tried several things in England and in Canada, then gave it up for a bad job. Last April I was in Perry Sound working in the car department of the C. N. O. R. R. and saw Booth's Kidney Pills advertised in a leading paper left in one of the coaches. I tried them and the very first box I took lessened the pain in my back and I continued their use with great results. The second box took all the pains away and I was able to sleep well at night. Still the urine was troubling me with scalding. I could tell the Pills were doing me good and I kept on with the third, fourth and fifth boxes which brought a complete and marvellous cure. and I am now in better health than I have been for the last twenty-six years. "The movement against high protection is not a flash in the pan," says the Toronto Globe. "It will go on until a moderate revenue tariff replaces that now in force, thus taking the tariff out of politics in the only way in which that can be done to the satisfaction of the great mass of the people. All this has its lesson for us in Canada. The extreme protectionists—the men who three years ago would have increased materially the duties on woolen fabrics—are really more dangerous to protection as a working principle than the advocates of a revenue tariff. If the manufacturers of the Dominion wish for tariff stability they must be content with duties so moderate as not to stir up the resentment of the people who pay them. Many of the consumers have no protection at all on their surplus, whether it be wheat or dairy products, or cattle, or fish, or ores, or lumber, in the open markets of the world. The most constant and persistent enemy of tariff increases in Canada should be the Manufacturers' Association."

Census of Manufactures

On first of June next year a census will be taken of the manufactures of Canada. It will ascertain the capital employed in works in 1910, together with the value of land, buildings and plant, the kind or class of products of the works by quantity or number of finished articles and their value in the year. These statistics will relate generally to factories employing five hands or more during the year, but in such industries as flour and grist mills, brick works, saw and shingle mills, electric light and power plants, and a few others where the value of products is large in proportion to the number of persons employed returns will be required without regard to the number of employees. The employees of work will include managers, superintendents, etc., on salaries; officers, clerks, etc., on salaries; operatives or workers classed as over and under 16 years on wages; and piece-workers employed outside of the works. Salaries, wages and payments to all officers and employees will be entered on the schedule for the census year of sex, and will include the aggregate weeks employed in the year, average hours of working time per week, and aggregate wages paid to them in the year. The aggregate weeks of time and the aggregate wages paid will refer to the whole body of employees for the year, while the average hours of working time will refer to an average computed for all employees in the year for one week only. For piece-workers outside of the works the statistics are required to show by sex the aggregate payments made on this class in the year, and also the aggregate value of their products. The power employed in the works will show the number and horse power of steam, gas and gas-line engines, water wheels and electric motors, as well as the power sold to or bought from other public or private companies. The fuel used at the works will show the quantity of coal, wood or other fuel and its value laid down at the works, including transportation and duties. The coal will be classified by measures to show whether it is foreign or Canadian. Custom work and raw materials will be reported by kind or class, and entries will be made to show amounts received in the year for custom work and raw materials used at the works. The kind or class of products of the works in 1910 will be entered by separate name if more than one is made, the quantity or number of each finished article and the value of separate products in the year. The aim of this record is to show the extent and variety of manufactures in each province and district; but it will be understood that the statistics compiled and published will give away no records of individual business. Totals will be published only where three or more industries of a class or kind are reported. All information here referred to will be collected by enumerators on schedule No. 9.

The census of the daily industry, relating to the production of butter, cheese and condensed milk, will be taken

Two New Steamer Lines For St. John

(Special to the St. J. Telegraph.) Montreal, Nov. 22.—Definite arrangements are being made by the Canadian Pacific railway for increasing their foreign connections by two new lines of boats.

The plans include an ocean service to South American ports, and a freight and passenger service to the West Indies, with weekly sailings in the latter case, and monthly or South American ports.

While the plans are not as yet under way, it has been decided that these services shall be put on, and it is expected that the South American line will be established next spring. Owing to the peculiar conditions of the trade, the line to the West Indies cannot be put on until the necessary boats are built.

It is stated that in all probability the new lines will not be C. P. R. pure and simple, although the company will be much interested in them, financially and otherwise, but the service will be conducted by a separate company, which will operate in close sympathy with the Canadian Pacific, both for passenger and freight business. It is expected that both lines will open up a large and profitable trade for Canada, the Northern products of the Dominion making a splendid set-off to the tropical export of the West Indies and the South American ports.

In both cases St. John will be used as the winter port, and Montreal in summer.

These are the days of big enterprizes, both in the east and the west, calling for the large expenditure of public money. One of the latest to be pushed to the front is a scheme to provide a practicable waterway from Edmonton to Winnipeg, Edmonton is the capital of Alberta, and is on the Saskatchewan river, about twelve hundred miles from Winnipeg. Steamers would pass down the river, 20 through Lake Winnipeg, and thence reach Winnipeg by the Red River. An enormous sum of money would be required for this work, but, of course, it is pointed out, the results would far more than compensate the country for the outlay. Already some preliminary survey work has been done. At the present session of parliament the Minister of Public Works will ask for an appropriation in order to complete the survey of the river during next summer. Should the engineers' report be as satisfactory as is expected work might be commenced in 1912.—St. J. Globe.

The divorce business before the Senate of Canada steadily increases. There are probably two causes for this. One is the increase of population in the provinces which have no divorce courts of their own. The other is the increase of wealth which makes more easy than in the past the procuring of divorces, that is to say more easy to secure the funds to pay the expense of a parliamentary divorce suit. There are—or there were up to the day of opening Parliament—twenty seven applications for divorce. Last year the total number of applications was twenty-five. Between the year 1867—the first of Confederation—and 1909, the divorces averaged about four a year. In the last ten years the average was ten a year.—St. J. Globe.

London as it was

Lud, who surrounded the town with walls and named it Caer-Lud, or Lud's Town. This latter is probably the correct version of the story, if for no other reason because it is an easy matter to detect a similarity between the expression Lud's Town and London. It is claimed by some writers that there was a city on the same spot 1,107 years B. C., and it is known that the Romans founded a Troy or Troynovant until the time of Chest Inflammation Suffered From a Heavy Cold, Pleuritic Pains in Side--Constant Coughing.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of R. P. Van Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh, hacking cough and severe pains darted through my sides and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Nerviline at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleuritic pains. It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain, these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lamboago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest, insist on Nerviline only. Sold everywhere, or The Catarthone Co., Kingston, Ont., in two sizes 50c. and 25c.

The Succession of the English Throne in Rhyme.

The Romans in England long did sway,
 The Saxons next then led the way,
 But they and the Danes had an overthrow,
 Which both of them got from the Norman foe.

William the Conqueror long did reign,
 William his son by an arrow was slain,
 Henry the first was a scholar bright,
 Though Stephen was forced for his crown to fight.

Second Henry, Plantagenet same did bear,
 Richard the first was his son and heir,
 Mauna Clerks was a goodly foun,
 Which Henry the third put his seal upon.

Edward the first was a warrior bold,
 Edward the second was bought and sold,
 Edward the third in France gained fame,
 While Richard the third was lately slain.

Henry the fourth was a warlike knight,
 Henry the fifth like a cock would fight,
 Henry the sixth as a chick did beat,
 So Edward his cousin kicked him out.

Edward the fifth, he died in the tower,
 Thus Crooked-back Dick, he gained the power,
 Henry the seventh in fame grew big,
 And Henry the eighth grew as fat as a pig.

With Edward the sixth we had tranquil days,
 Mary made fire and fogot blaze,
 Good Queen Bess was a glorious dame,
 Bonnie King James from Scotland came.

Charles the first was a martyr made,
 Charles his son was a conical blade,
 But James the second, when hotless spurred,
 Ran away, don't you see, from William the third.

Queen Anne was victorious by land and sea,
 George, he ruled with a glorious sway,
 But as soon as the second George was dead,
 Good George the third reigned in his stead.

Next George the fourth who spent much gold,
 William the fourth was a sailor bold,
 Then Victoria the Beloved ascended the throne,
 And reigned sixty years when God called her home.

Edward the seventh but seven years he reigned,
 The title of "Peacemaker" rightly he gained,
 Last on the scroll stands George's good name,
 Our noble true King, Long may he thus reign.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they can reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; five eyes out of ten are cured by Catarth, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarth cure. Send for circulars free.

Find Oasis Amid Wilds of Ala-ka

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 6--Like an oasis in the desert, is a fertile spot discovered in the wilderness of the Koyuk River, Norton Sound, Northern Alaska, by a party of athletes, including C. J. McIntyre, basket ball player of national fame; Robert Brown long distance runner and winner of Nome Dog Races; Otto Steiner, football player, and Roy Stump, Mr. McIntyre, who arrived here yesterday, says the tract will make the fort unes of himself and associates.

A dozen or more hot springs spout constantly, the ground is never covered with snow, berries and wild fruit grow in profusion and the rivers teem with fish. There is an abundance of caribou and grizzly bear, ducks, snipe and pheasant. Wild geese are plentiful during the summer, being replaced in winter by swarms of ptarmigan.

Mr. McIntyre planted vegetables last spring and obtained a crop to last his comrades through the coming winter. Near by were creeks from which the party made a good clean up of gold with meagre facilities.

For a Still Greater Ship

It is stated in Dublin, says the standard of Empire shipping circles, that the Cunard Steamship Company has definitely approved of the plans of a new steamship of enormous dimensions. She is to be one thousand feet long, 40,000 horse power, and steam about 25 knots. She is to represent all that science is capable of in ship construction and comfort, and embrace every invention that modern civilization can suggest.
