Troubles with the Indians at Hillsborough.

Mr. Thos. Calhoun's Diary.—Continued.

Wednesday, 14th August, cloudy and rainy, with wind N. E. and S. W. We saw Indian camps on the other side of the river a little distance above us, and sent our Frenchman over to speak to them, and he told them what we came there for, which they grumbled very much, saying the land belonged to them and we had no right there. They desired us to speak with them, whereupon my brother and myself went over with the Frenchman, and was conducted into one of their houses, where they were all assembled. They told us they understood that we came there to fish, and said that the salmon up there all keep in one place, and if we were to go there with our nets we would catch them all, and they would starve. They told us they continued, this land is ours and we will not let you fish here. My brother then told them that there was more places than one for the fish to stay in, and that there was enough for them and us both, and that they should not be afraid of our nets, for he had a grant from the Governor and Council for a tract of land at this place, which he had now come to see, and catch some fish upon it, and he would be hindered, and told them if they hindered us from fishing he would complain to the Governor. At this they told him they were willing that he should complain, and one of them was willing to go with him to the Governor, and see whose land it was, for he said that the Governor had a grant in writing from the Governor for the land, and he further said if we were to fish we would kill their fish; for we might as well do it as take their fish from them; they were poor and had nothing else to live on; but if we would buy their fish from them, they would bring us that night all they could catch. But we told them we had brought no gold with us to trade for fish, and that we intended to catch what we wanted. When they found we were resolved to catch some, they told us it was a great way up to where the fish were, that it was a bad year for them, and that they had visited their friends from the St. John River, and if their fish was to be taken from them they would do nothing for them to live upon, and said the last time they had seen the Governor, he had asked them why they did not live there and plant on the land he had given them, and he had seemed much displeased with them about it; therefore they had planted corn and several other things, and had arrived to settle there, and was to have a priest among them. My brother told them he thought it very odd that the Governor should give the land to them and him both, but as they resisted on their title to it he would not quarrel with them about it, until he could see the Governor. They also told us that Mr. Winslow and Mr. Huston at Cumberland knew that they had been granted to them, and that Captain McInnes had been up there for the purpose of settling their boundaries. They told us they would be glad if we would come up there and live and keep such things as they would want, and they would trade with us. Finding we could not fish without quarrelling with them, and to spend the time until the tide would turn, we took a walk through some of the bottom to look at the sand and to see if we could not see some water. After travelling some distance from our camp through some beautiful timbered land (Birch, Maple, Elm, etc.), we came to a creek, falling into the river on the south side, near the line of Hillsborough township. Upon following up this creek, we found a great number of wild cherry trees, many of which had been broken by the bears; had it not been for the roots they had made through the grass, it would have been impossible for us to walk at all, for the grass was so long and thick in most places we could not see each other a yard away, and in some places it was so tall that we were obliged to cut it down to reach to the top of it. We travelled up this creek for a mile and a half, it being most of the way such grass intermixed with wild cherry trees, almost all of which showed marks of bears. After going over to the east side of the creek we saw some of the French Peasants' houses. It was informed that a French took a large schooner once into this bay and ran her so far up this creek in the time of spring tides, that she never was got out again. Crossing this creek again at its mouth it was somewhat frightened in being a quicksand bottom, and although it seemed hard under our feet yet I could run a rod through it several feet without seeming (eligible). At high water we left our camp and got down that tide to Mr. Lesdren's. As we were not so far from the channel of the river we touched the bottom several times, where, had we been kept a few minutes, we would have been obliged to have waited for the next tide. August 15th, foggy, and very windy, wind at S. W. A very rough sea, and could not tow Bateau, whereupon my brother, myself and a small boy took into the Bateau, and put the other hands into the canoe, but some of our thole pins broke and we were obliged to repair them, which, together with the violent wind ahead, detained us so long on the way, that the flood tide met us in Petticoat Bay, and the surf running very high we were compelled to put ashore, and draw our Bateau about a mile on the flats, when being stopped in our course by large gales, we put off again, but were two or three times met more, before we reached the Shepody current. August 16th, fair, wind at S. E.; 17th, ditto; 18th, clear and pleasant, wind S. W.; 19th, pleasant and warm, wind N. E. My brother and myself, with Mr. Cummins and others set out for Cumberland; my brother and I went to charter a vessel for Baltimore, and Mr. Cummins one for Philadelphia. To be Continued.

Our Ottawa Letter.

Ottawa, Dec. 8, 1876.

This has been one of the most extraordinary autumns on record in this part of Canada. The weather has been mild and the atmosphere bracing, so much so that the most confirmed grumblers have been heard to say day after day, "this is glorious weather." So little rain has fallen that there are fears of a water famine, and complaints have already been heard of the scarcity of this prime necessity. To-day the Hon. George Brown was to appear in Court and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of Court. The difficulty arose upon the remarks of Justice Wilson in delivering judgment in the case of Hon. John Simpson vs. West Durham News for libel in the matter of the famous "Big Push" letter. The Globe wrote a very bitter article, commenting upon it in terms not very complimentary to Judge Wilson. I have not yet heard the result of the trial. A great movement is on foot among the ice-boatmen to carry the "Dunkin Act" in every municipality in Ontario. This has caused the usual reaction among the politicians, or more properly speaking in refined language the "Licensed Victuallers," who are making as strong a protest against the Act. In one township a petition sixteen feet long was presented by the temperance folks to the Council, praying that the Act might be submitted to the people, while one nearly as long was handed in by the opposite party praying that the question, might not be put to vote. The election in Jacques Cartier, where Mr. Laframme was returned so lately, was one of the most bitter, semi-religious, personal struggles that has been known in the Province of Quebec since the famous Charlevoix contest. Both parties were equally sullied by unlawful jobbery; neither party having much to lose and much to gain. In the case of the present Minister of Inland Revenue was returned by acclamation in 1874, only two weeks ago he was elected by the small majority of 28 votes, notwithstanding he had affixed to his own name that of the late Hon. J. A. R. and being backed by the powerful influence of an ever-unsuspecting Government. The cause is found most probably in the opposition of the clergy, who look with distrust upon anything having the name "Liberal," notwithstanding it may be exactly like the great "Liberal party," more Conservative than a "corrupt old Tory." Another change is quite probable, by which the Government will be relieved from the burden of that most onerous tax, the excise upon spirits, to the Globe, smells to heaven. Whether it is to be the incubus that will infest the Government House at Quebec, or the Custom House, Montreal has not yet transpired, and as Mr. Governor Caron is lying at the point of death, the appointment may not be hurried for a few weeks yet. Our "Economic Government" appears to be afflicted with a kind of growing mania. They have offered $2,500,000 for the purchase of the line of Hillsborough township. This is an example of administrative ability. We may say with the English General that a few more such triumphs will ruin us. The commercial policy of the Government is working exceedingly well. First, the appointment of ship material; "Never mind I assume the whole responsibility of that," says Mr. Smith. I wonder how much Messrs. Burpee, Laird, Coffin and Ross assumed of the burden that must lay so heavy on the Honorable gentleman's shoulders. Then comes the duty on tea, and a host of other burdens, and last but not least comes the trouble about sugar. When these economists of Adam Smiths persuasion insist upon free trade, Redpath & Son refined sugar and sold it at a cost of from 8 to 12 cts. per pound to consumers, but by judicious management of the Tariff, no doubt on commercial principles like the freight tariff of the I. C. R., Redpath & Son were forced to close their refinery, and we have to pay from 12 to 15 cts. per pound for the same quality of sugar. People learn by experience and free traders may learn a lesson in political economy by paying four cents a pound extra for sugar.

A "big push," a hard push and a push altogether, is being made to regain the county of Cardwell, made vacant by the truly lamentable death of one of Canada's brightest geniuses, the Hon. John Hilyard Cameron. The election is next week.

Terrible Details of the Cyclone in Bengal.

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN THOUSAND LIVES LOST.

Further details received regarding the cyclone of the 31st of Oct., prove it to have been one of the most terrible calamities on record. Estimates based on official returns from each police section put the loss of life in the three districts of Backergunge, Noakhly and Chittagong at not less than 215,000. Probably this figure, enormous as it appears, is still short of the truth. Three large islands—Dakhin Shahabazpore, Hattiah, and Sundep, and numerous other smaller islands, were entirely submerged by the storm wave, and also the main land for five or six miles in. These islands are all situated in or near the estuary of the Meghna, a river formed by the confluence of the Ganges and Brahmaputra rivers, the largest being Dakhin Shahabazpore, in extent 800 square miles, having a population of about 240,000. The population of Hattiah and Sundep together was about 100,000. Up to 11 p. m., on the night of the catastrophe there was no sign of danger, but before 12, the storm wave swept over the islands to a depth in places of 20 feet, surpassing the people in their beds. Happily it is the custom in those districts to plant dense groves of trees, chiefly coco-nut and palm, round the houses. The trees afforded shelter to most of the villagers, and almost all of the survivors saved themselves by climbing among their branches. Some of the people took refuge on the roofs of their houses, but the water entering burst of the roofs, and the receding waves carried them out to sea with the people still clinging to them. A few were thus carried from Sundep across the channel, ten miles broad, but the rest majority were never heard of again. Helen, the sister of the corrupt and murder-ous Clytemnestra, when he met his predicted fate. Dr. Schliemann believes that he has not only found these mounds as Pausanias described them, but he has also unearthed in them, to use his own words, "immense archaeological treasures, and numbers of articles of pure gold, sufficient to fill a museum, and the most splendid in the world." All these evidences on the true spirit of an antiquarian, who desires no personal emolument, he turns over to Greece, and as he says, they will become a new incentive to pilgrimages to that land so fruitful in interest to scholars and all who are engaged in the study of the splendor of one of the most marvelous civilizations the earth has ever known. Dr. Schliemann's achievement will make this year memorable.

Greece Three Thousand Years Ago.

During this century, and especially during the last twenty-five years, we have revised our conceptions of the history of the people who, before the days of what has been regarded as authentic secular record, dwelt in the western part of Asia, and gave birth to a material property and perfected language, which long anticipated those of the nations we now know as civilized. The excavation of the Pyramids, at Heliopolis, at Mycenae, and at Cyprus, attest the substantial foundation and even minute accuracy of the stories of Scripture, Homer, and Pausanias, which had gained credence through faith only, or were questioned as fabulous traditions. We find that Sardanapalus did indeed burn, with all his possessions and his luxurious court, in the manner the ancient narrators described; that his city was as pictured in that Babylon was actual in its extent; and that, as at Troy, he was a miser and a miserly, and that he fell as depicted; that Priam and Achilles, Agamemnon and Menelaus, Clytemnestra, Aeneas, and Paris, were real people, and that as Homer describes them and their deaths and misfortunes they really were. The latest of these contributions to this most interesting study of antiquity is that of Dr. Henri Schliemann, the enthusiastic German antiquary, who is now prosecuting, under the patronage of the Prussian Government, important excavations on the site of the ancient city of Mycenae in the Peloponnese of Greece. His discoveries there, are among the most remarkable in the history of the world. On the 28th November last Dr. Schliemann, with "unbounded joy," informed the King of Greece of the labors. He thinks he has discovered the monuments of the Grecian heroes, of whom the traditions preserved by Pausanias make mention, and the palpable evidences sustain the truth of the stories so familiar to school-boys. He has unearthed the tombs of Agamemnon, Cassandra, Euryneon and their companions, who were killed by the hero of the Trojan war; of Clytemnestra, the faithless wife of Agamemnon, and paramour of his cousin, Egisthos. Agamemnon had just returned from his successful siege of Troy, whither he had gone to assist his brother Menelaus in rescuing his abducted wife, Helen, the sister of the corrupt and murder-ous Clytemnestra, when he met his predicted fate. Dr. Schliemann believes that he has not only found these mounds as Pausanias described them, but he has also unearthed in them, to use his own words, "immense archaeological treasures, and numbers of articles of pure gold, sufficient to fill a museum, and the most splendid in the world." All these evidences on the true spirit of an antiquarian, who desires no personal emolument, he turns over to Greece, and as he says, they will become a new incentive to pilgrimages to that land so fruitful in interest to scholars and all who are engaged in the study of the splendor of one of the most marvelous civilizations the earth has ever known. Dr. Schliemann's achievement will make this year memorable.

The Emperor of Russia's Explanations to the British Ambassador.

Further papers relating to the affairs of Turkey have been issued by the Foreign Office. The most important is the following despatch from Lord Augustus Loftus to the Earl of Derby:— My Lord,—I had an audience of the Emperor of Russia (Nov. 2) at Livadia. His Majesty stated that he had that morning received a telegram from Constantinople, announcing the probable acceptance of the armistice, and he read to me another telegram reporting that orders had been already sent by the Porte to their commanders to suspend military operations. The Emperor then, with great calmness and lucidity, entered on a retrospective view of the past negotiations. He stated that he had given proof of his desire for peace, and he had done everything in his power to aid in arriving at a satisfactory solution of the existing complications. He had supported your lordship's previous demand for an armistice of six weeks, which was refused by the Porte, and was followed by a mere suspension of hostilities for ten days, which proved wholly illusory. His Majesty considered that this refusal of the Porte to a collective appeal of Europe was a "blatant" given to the Powers. He had patiently submitted from a wish not to separate from the European concert. He was anxious not to separate from the European concert, but the present state of things was intolerable, and could no longer be allowed to continue, and unless Europe was prepared to act with firmness and energy, he should be obliged to act alone. His Majesty then referred most especially to his relations with England. He said he regretted to see that there still existed in England an "inveterate" suspicion of Russian policy, and a continual fear of Russian aggression on the part of England. He had on several occasions given the most solemn assurances that he desired no conquest; that he aimed at no aggrandisement, and that he had not the smallest wish or intention to be possessed of Constantinople. All that had been said or written about the will of Europe the Great and the aims of Catherine the Second were illusions and phantoms; they never existed in reality, and he considered that the acquisition of Constantinople would be a mistake of honor in the most earnest and solemn manner that he had no intention of acquiring Constantinople, and that if necessity should oblige him to occupy a portion of Bulgaria it would only be provisionally, and until peace and the safety of the Christian population were secured. LIEUT. A. W. VONDER, U. S. A., in excavating some shell mounds at Tampa, Fla., discovered relics which he considers go to prove that the mound builders were addicted to cannibalism. A domestic in New York demanded that she be treated as one of the family, and when she was the head of the family kissed her she sued him for damages. Mrs. STILLANS, the wife of a physician living in Clarinda, Iowa, has fallen heir to a property worth $30,000,000 left by a family in England. CALIFORNIA, which exports annually $25,000,000 in gold and silver, exports $28,000,000 worth of wheat yearly. The precious metal is not its chief staple. TURKEY, with its limited resources, has a crushing debt, which exceeds $1,000,000,000. This indebtedness requires the enormous annual payment of $75,000,000 as interest. ELKS have been known to travel over 200 miles in a day, when properly driven, attached to a sledge. It is lately they were used altogether in Sweden by the engineers. In a pamphlet by Dr. Carter Blais it is stated that the lakes in the northwest of Iceland are surrounded by prismatic-colored mountains of pure sulphur. THERE is a shoot of water near the city of Rome, known as Lake Albano, having a depth of 1,000 feet, and in some parts the bottom has never been reached. THE PUBLIC DEBT of New York is nearly or quite $165,000,000, and this is constantly on the increase. The annual taxes amount to $38,000,000. ASSONIA papers report the running of a dead man by a near-sighted woman driving a blind horse. Has pity in order? NIXON has settled $3,000 a year for her aged parents at Mexico, Szelexon, and bought them a new house. THE STATE of Massachusetts has expended $15,000,000 to bore a hole through the Hoosac Mountain for railroad purposes. WAGNER is not happy. He is out of pocket $15,000 by the Bayreuth windmill of hurricane music. HUNGARY is a nation numbering 15,000,000.

THE CONCERT at the Methodist Church last Saturday evening was a moderate success, although the attendance was slight owing probably to the intense cold prevailing. The Organ solo by Mr. Holbrook and Prof. Sterne were of course the chief features in the evening's entertainment. The Organ under the manipulations of Mr. Holbrook gave evidence of being a powerful and excellent instrument, the sounds being pure and clear; the flute and Clarabella being especially worthy of mention. Mr. Holbrook was not only a successful organ maker, but he understands the art of displaying his work who does. Prof. Sterne played two songs, and an air, and a March and Wedding Bells in his usually artistic style. They were brilliant pieces and were executed with much spirit. His song, "Gute Nacht" was not rendered as well as usual. Miss Pickard and the Church choir gave an anthem, and in closing an excellent manner, Miss Pickard presiding at the Organ.

THE GREAT SHOESHOES LEMERY AND PILLER, the success that these medicines have met with since their introduction to the public some years ago, proves plainly to the most skeptical that they are medicines that perform what they advertise to do. The virtues of these medicines have been well tested, and have withstood their trial in a most satisfactory manner. For disease of the Blood, Liver, Lungs, &c., they are unsurpassed. We have testimonials of miraculous cures of these diseases of many others. If any one is afflicted, let him try a bottle of the Remedy or a box of Pills. No injurious effects will follow their use to the most delicate person, as they are purely vegetable; there being no mineral matter in them. The cure is in a most satisfactory manner. For their use will do daily repay you for your expense and trouble. The medicines are widely known throughout the Dominion and are for sale by the principal medicine dealers. Try them, and be convinced of their value. Excuse our advertisement. One who has tried the Shoshonosa Pills has ever pronounced an unfavorable opinion of them, no family where they have been used will be without them. All information can be had on all particulars regarding the use, and the experience of those who have used them, by sending the Circular from any drugist in the Dominion free. What it Means.

Excelsior—Selected and electrified. A union of the words Electric, to choose, and Electric, containing electricity. The Proprietor of Thomas' Excelsior Electric Oil has the exclusive right to use the word Electric as applied to any and all preparations of medicine, he having coined the word, and having a copyright thereof.

What it is Made of.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Thomas' Excelsior Oil. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power, and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, or any other ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made; one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. It contains no alcohol or other volatile liquids, consequently loses nothing by evaporation. Wherever applied you get the benefit of every drop, whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small quantity of Oil which they may contain.

See testimonials on wrapper around each bottle for other remarkable cures. Persons who have any trouble whatever of the

are particularly requested to read the following and to act upon it—
As a medicament for diseases of the LUNGS and THROAT, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking or for inhaling, it is worth its weight in gold! When inhaled, its agreeable vapor pervades the lungs, increasing respiration, thereby gradually expanding the lungs, conveying its virtues to every diseased part, renewing the powers of life, HEALING Ulcers, and enabling the patient to raise with ease. If your throat or lungs are diseased, you are probably seeking relief from some quarter. If the Electric Oil is as represented, it is the medicine you want. It is not necessary to purchase a large quantity; a 25c. bottle is sufficient for a trial; a single dose has cured hoarseness of several weeks' standing. Full directions with every bottle, for using externally, taking, and for inhaling.
After reading, will you hand or send this circular to any one whom you think may need such a medicine. If through its means they should be induced to try it, they will thank you a thousand times for doing so.

The demand for this celebrated Oil is increasing rapidly, because it does what it advertises to do, consequently advances itself. The sale of a single bottle has been the means of selling many dozen, and its great merit has made it, within the short space of five years, A STANDARD MEDICINE. It is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering, and many dollars of expense. Why not buy it to-day? Druggists and country storekeepers have it.

Horses and Cattle.

There are many persons who have been using for 20 or 30 years what they considered never-failing remedies for Horses and Cattle, who have entirely abandoned their use, and now freely admit that the Excelsior Oil is not only the Cheapest but the Best.

It cures COLIC in 20 minutes; GALLS (and work the horses every day), CONTRACTION or CRACKING of the HOOF, DISTEMPER, SCOURS, SWELLENED CURB CORNS, SCRATCHES. If your COWS have become nearly useless from GARGET or SORE TEATS, this OIL will cure them. If you have a horse or an ox taken suddenly ill, and do not know what the trouble is, give them four table-spoonfuls of the Oil, according to directions, and in 99 cases out of 100 it will cure. Remember this!

NO RISK!

Oil, but being sceptical neglected using it. One night, the pain being very acute, as a last certify ungloriously if you wish."

A. MAYES, Merchant, Warkworth, writes: "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Ec-which annoyed me very much. Mr. Mayes of this place induced me to try "Electric Oil," and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine."

Another writes: "I have been troubled with Asthma for years. Have used half a bottle of "Electric Oil," and the benefit I have received from it is so great that I would not take one hundred dollars for the balance if I could get no more."

C. A. LEVESQUE, Plattsville, says: "I have much pleasure in recommending your "Thomas' Electric Oil," from having used it myself, and having sold it for some time. In my own case I will say for it that it is the best preparation I have ever tried for Rheumatism."

See what the Medical Faculty say: Dr. J. BRADY, Hull, P. Q., says, "I have sold
"Thomas' Electric Oil" for over two years, and I have never sold a medicine which has given more thorough satisfaction. I have used it in my own case, on a broken leg and dislocated ankle, with the best results."

It is composed of SIX OF THE BEST OILS THAT ARE KNOWN.
Is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense. Is sold by one or more dealers in every place where these circulars are found. Price 25 cents. Why not buy it to-day?

NOTICE THIS.—There are several so-called Oils now on sale, the base of most of them being alcohol, which, when applied, is nearly all lost by evaporation; whereas THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL is composed wholly of Oils, five drops covering a surface as large as the hand, making it the cheapest medicine for man or beast ever offered to the public.
