It Works From Both Ends

A local merchant upon whom we called recently gave us a first class talk upon "buying at home." We certainly agreed with him in all he said, and more too. The Graphic has always preached this doctrine, and lived up to it.

But what of our local merchants? A genial solicitor for wrapping paper, paper bags, etc., had induced him to order his counter check books from him, "just to make up a good sized freight shipment."

Our local merchant clean forgot that our local printers could supply these counter check books at the same price. He sent out of town for them.

But its a poor rule that won't work both ways.

HON CHARLES MARCIL MAKES ELOQUENT PLEA FOR SERVICE

Asks Government to Take Over Gaspe Coast Railways or to Operate Them for Benefit of Whole Country.

In an address delivered in the House of Commons on March 4th, Hon. Chas. Marcil again brought the matter of the taking over of the Quebec-Ontario and Atlantic, Quebec & Western railways by the C.N.R. We clip the following extracts from Hanzard.

We have heard a great deal from the West. Other members will speak for their sections of the country. It is my right and duty, Mr. Speaker, to refer more particularly to my own constituency. In so doing I am sorry that I must bring up an issue which I have discussed many times in the House. In the Gaspe Peninsula transportation is the great question, as it is in western Canada, and it is no doubt in other parts of the Dominion. Lately a Roman Catholic bishop has been appointed to the See of Gaspe, which has one of the finest seaports in North America. I am referring to Monsignor Ross, whose grandfather was a Scotchman, but who met the fate that all Scotchmen meet when they marry French Canadian women. He gave up the Gaelic language and started to speak French. He is a young but distinguished man and has undertaken to give the Gaspe peninsula some of the many things which it is lacking. One of these is education, another is the development of that part of the province of Quebec. He is carrying on in his efforts very heartily by the government of the province insofar as their jurisdiction extends to the improvements he has in view. He is building a seminary there, he is building schools, and at the present time he is negotiating with the Trappist Fathers at Okla to establish an industrial school so as to extend to the Gaspe people the benefits of agricultural instruction. He is carrying on a campaign of colonization of the land. He has told me, and he has told the people publicly, and he has told Sir Henry Thornton at a meeting to which I shall refer in a moment, that all this work will be in vain if the railway situation in that country is not brought to a solution. I know the attitude taken by the present government, and the railways are out of their control, having been handed over to the management of Sir Henry Thornton and a board of directors. I with the majority in this House, voted for the placing of the National Railways in the hands of a commission having at its head a distinguished man and Canadian to-day are willing enough with Sir Henry Thornton to know that he is a distinguished man in every respect, and that we have been very fortunate in securing his services.

When the question of bringing about a change in the railway situation in our district became acute, I suggested to Monsignor Ross that the best thing would be to bring Sir Henry Thornton into the business, in order that he might become familiar with the people and the natural resources and he came on your invitation, Mr. Speaker.

Our progressive friends in the West ask for $28,000,000 for the building of branch lines but we cannot get from them the service that the people should have. Sir Henry Thornton, with his staff, came down to Bonaventure on his return from the opening of the drydock at Courtenay bay, and he was amazed at what he saw. He and all his staff were very much interested in the Gaspe peninsula, finding it to be one of the most attractive parts of the province of Quebec. There was no hall large enough to accommodate all the people who had been invited by his lordship Bishop Ross of the diocese of Gaspe to attend a meeting in connection with the improvement of the railway service. His lordship, therefore, arranged to have the meeting held in the largest church in the parish of Bonaventure, holding two thousand people, and there were gathered together English speaking and French speaking people, Protestants and Catholics, clergymen, farmers, and members of all classes of the community. We saw the unusual spectacle, in the sanctuary of a Roman Catholic church, of a meeting presided over by the bishop of the diocese, at his right the Speaker of the House of Commons and at his left Sir Henry Thornton, and other representatives of the constituency, the purpose being to discuss what, after all, was to these people a question of life and death. Sir Henry Thornton listened very patiently and very good naturedly to what was said, and afterwards unhappily stated that in his opinion the people of the Gaspe peninsula were not getting the service that they were entitled to get, and that it was in the interest of the public welfare that the government of Canada should see to it that these services were improved.

If this road cannot be acquired at the present time, let it be operated by the Canadian National. All the people want is the service. Let the service be what it should be. Let the trains be decent trains, and I am informed by Sir Henry Thornton himself and by his officials that they have at the present time rolling stock and material on the Intercolonial railway, which will not bring about the expenditure of one dollar, and which will be quite sufficient to provide this branch railway with all the equipment it requires. We had some time ago an inspection of that district by a man whose word ought to carry some weight in this House, by the Hon. Mr. Carvell, Chairman of the Railway Commission, and here is the concluding paragraph of a letter that he addressed to Dr. Reid, who was then Minister of Railways, and which is interesting as far as it goes:

"It is therefore quite evident that this road is in very much the same position as the branch lines in New Brunswick, excepting that, in my opinion, it goes through a better country as a rule than the New Brunswick roads. There are more people to patronize it, more business to be done, the roadbed is in better condition, and it offers a better guarantee of business than any of the other branch lines with which we have been dealing during the past three years; but the men who have invested their money must realize they have made a mistake financially as the prospects of paying dividends are very, very remote."

I believe the Canadian National should take over these two roads and incorporate them in the government system, paying to the owners whatever in their judgment would be a reasonable amount for their equity—probably on a somewhat higher basis than that paid or offered to the owners of the New Brunswick branch lines.

I realize in making this report that it is not part of my official duties as Chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, but, having given the matter a good deal of personal consideration, I feel I am not overstepping the bounds of propriety in giving you my personal views on such an important subject.

I will leave the matter there, Mr. Speaker. It is close to six o'clock and I do not want to impose upon the House the necessity of listening to a minute description of all the resources we have in that peninsula ten thousand square miles of what is practically "terra incognita," merely the shore line inhabited, but inhabited by seventy thousand rugged people, the descendants of the pioneer settlers of that part of the country, many from Great Britain, others from France, and others from other parts of the provinces of Quebec. We ask for these people fair treatment. We ask that they be given an opportunity to eke out a living in that part of Canada to which they have stuck so long and so faithfully. Nothing is more painful to you, Mr. Speaker and to myself, than to see these people emigrating to the American cities or to other parts of Canada—find they live in one of the most fertile parts of the province of Quebec, blessed with a double crop, the crop of the sea and the crop of the land, with lumber and minerals galore. We have discovered recently in the township of Lemieux, in the county of Gaspe, four square miles of lead and zinc which are declared by the experts of the Mines department to be superior to the famous Joplin deposits in the state of Missouri. We have fisheries which are second to none; our Gaspe salmon is the finest fish in the world; we have the finest population. All we ask is a chance for these people to stay at home, and if this present government can stop the exodus from the Gaspe peninsula it will secure in those constituencies the unwavering loyalty of these peaceful, law-abiding and industrious people.

Tanlac Saved Life Says Ottawa Lady

From Complication of Troubles-Goes Tanlac Full Credit

"That I am alive and in good health today I can attribute to nothing but Tanlac," is the remarkable statement recently made by Mrs. Eva Varalo, 283 Cumberland St., Ottawa, Ontario, Canada.

"For two long years I suffered terribly from indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, almost continuous sick headaches and shortness of breath, until life seemed a burden to me and I had given up hope of ever regaining my health."

SATISFACTION

A seemingly low price for an article is always attractive, but unfortunately frequently misleading. How often is heard the remark—"I would rather have paid a little more and got the quality I wanted."

As a matter of fact that "little more" was necessary to obtain the better quality. Good goods require a higher price to be good.

There are cheaper teas than "KING COLE"—but would you be satisfied with their quality?

BICE A LONG TIME

Mrs. Gadoury finds great relief in Dreoce and Recommends it.

Dreoce has added to its fame as a reliable corrective for digestive disorders, by bringing marked relief to Mrs. Gadoury, of 418 Champlain St., Montreal.

"I was sick for a long time," says this lady, "being particularly troubled by my stomach and with constipation. To-day, due to Dreoce, I am much better and can eat almost anything and digest it properly. I have always had a good appetite since starting with Dreoce and my bowels are regular every day. It is a pleasure to recommend Dreoce."

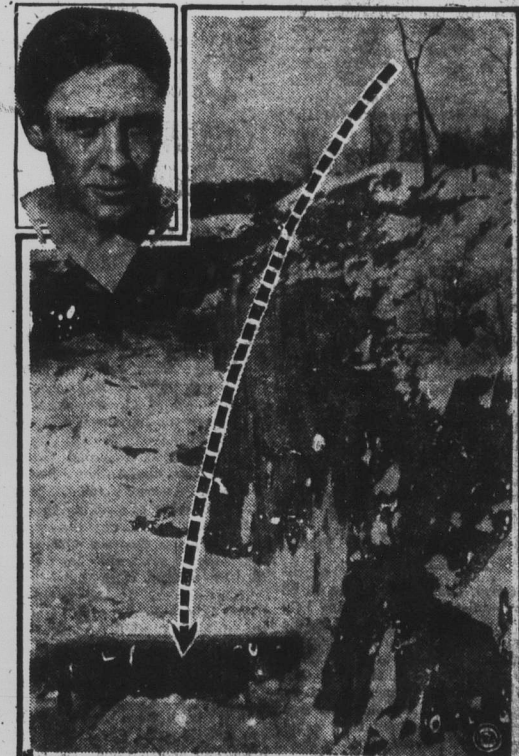

The ability of your digestive system to measure the degree of health and physical comfort we enjoy. Let the stomach get out of hand, the liver sluggish, the kidneys weak and the bowels inactive and disaster follows. Dyspepsia, gastritis, nausea, biliousness, countless other symptoms make life a misery and we gradually decrease in strength and vitality through-undernourishment. Dreoce corrects all this by toning and regulating each of the vital organs of digestion till each one performs its functions exactly as Nature intended. Let it help you as it has helped so many or habit forming drugs. It is Nature's own tonic and corrective prepared solely from herbs, roots, bark and leaves of known medicinal value. Dreoce is being specially introduced in Campbellton by Wren's Drug store and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

MEETING HELD AT NEWCASTLE

Presbytery of Miramichi Met in St. James Hall on Tuesday Day of Last Week.

The quarterly meeting of the Presbytery of Miramichi was held in St. James Hall, Newcastle on Tuesday, March 12. The members in attendance were: Rev. H. H. Macdonald, Moderator; W. McRae, Matthew, Clerk; J. H. MacLean, P. B. Thompson, W. G. Macdonald, J. H. A. Anderson, J. C. Morrison, T. Harrison, Geo. Gough, Mackay, Al. O'Neil, E. V. Forbes, W. G. Macdonald, J. H. Macdonald, J. W. McNeil, J. D. Archibald, B. J. Shaw, P. Yates, R. Davidson and W. A. Macdonald, ministers; and Messrs. J. T. Fairs, P. A. Forsyth, J. H. Henderson, John Hicks, R. P. C. Hall, R. Baldwin, Chas. Campbell, Isaac Dunn and W. J. Carruthers, elders.

CALL TO REV. MR. MATTHEWS

After devotional service and the constitution of the court, by the moderator, the first order of business taken up was the call from First Church, West St. John to Rev. W. Matthews, Minister of Millerton. The call was read with full and hearty approval and bearing the approval of the Presbytery of St. John. By request, Rev. J. H. A. Anderson spoke on behalf of St. John Presbytery in presenting the call and Mr. J. T. Fairs, P. A. Forsyth, J. H. Henderson, John Hicks, R. P. C. Hall, R. Baldwin, Chas. Campbell, Isaac Dunn and W. J. Carruthers, elders, testified to the loyalty and attachment of the people of all sections of the presbytery to their minister, their hearty desire that he should remain with them and their unwillingness to place any obstacle in the way of his acceptance of the call. On the call being placed in Mr. Matthews' hands for his decision, he spoke of the ties which bound him to this presbytery and his present congregation and of the steadily maturing decision at which he arrived to accept the call to St. John. Presbytery expressed in his decision expressed sympathy with the congregation of St. John in the loss of their minister, granted translation after the fourth Sunday of March, and appointed Rev. W. G. Macdonald, Minister of Millerton, to act as interim moderator of session, with authority to moderate in a call when the congregation is prepared.

Church Union

The clerk read a statement issued by Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, Moderator of Assembly's Committee on Church Union within the bounds of which had been taken since last Assembly to secure a harmonious understanding of differences of opinion with the majority. On motion the communication was received and filed. It was then moved to appoint a special committee to foster Church Union within the bounds of the Presbytery as occasion may require and Rev. W. W. McNeil, L. H. MacLean, and P. W. Thompson were named as this committee.

Assembly Session

Rev. J. H. A. Anderson, reporting for the committee on matters submitted by the Assembly for consideration by the Presbytery, recommended that in the status of the Deseret church the present status be maintained, that a list of the Deseret church with their addresses be published annually in the Assembly's Report, and that they be welcomed by the Session and Congregation; they are to be welcomed and recognized as a permanent part of the Church's support in the maintenance of the proposal for the ordination of women to the ministry of the Gospel, it was recommended that inasmuch as there is at present no financial demand for such a step, no action be taken. The report was received and adopted.

Statistics

Rev. W. McRae, Moderator, gave a most comprehensive and detailed report on statistics from congregations. His report showed 80 congregations within the bounds of the Presbytery, 107 elders, 2978 families, and 230 single persons not connected with families, 412 baptisms, 481 Sunday School teachers and officers. In matters of finance, the report showed receipts for a day, an average of $101,729 an increase of $10,000 over the previous year, $17,100 was raised for the Church Building fund, "over the top" of the all other funds. An interesting discussion followed and a vote of thanks was rendered the clerk for his carefully prepared report.

Miss Foley, daughter of the late Mr. Anthony Foley, formerly merchant of Fox River, spent a few days here recently in the house of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Foley and other relatives.

Messrs. Raymond McDonald, Gordon Rooney, Michael Kennedy and Frederick Rony Sr., have returned to Sandy Beach to resume their former work with the Howard Smith Lumber Co.

CANADA DRINKS LESS SPIRIT

Less Liquor Available Than in 1923—Few Convictions Now

The total amounts of alcoholic beverages passing through customs and excise in Canada, for Consumption in the country, have decreased very noticeably in the years 1913-23, spirits to the tune of 66 per cent, and beer to a lesser percentage, according to an analysis of federal statistics made by Rev. Ernest Thomas, D. D., of the Methodist Board of Evangelism and Social Service.

"I find also, from totalling convictions for drunkenness in every judicial district of the Dominion, that the number has fallen from 75.2 for every ten thousand persons in 1913 to 27.7 in the latest year, 1922," writes Dr. Thomas in an article for the Social Service Council of Canada.

Observing that the period of decline in facilities for drinking is the same period as that of decline in drunkenness, Dr. Thomas says that the statistics are from the official records of the federal departments of government at Ottawa, and adds:

"So far as national totals are concerned, moonshine whiskey is a negligible factor. The hospitals would soon tell the story if there were any such general consumption of moonshine whiskey as to affect these conclusions. The less liquor legally available, the less liquor is consumed; the less consumed, the less drunkenness."

"Instead of our people drinking nine pints of spirits per head per annum, as in 1913, we Canadians are now consuming only three pints for every man, woman and child," he concludes.

MARTIME HOCKEY PLAYERS IN BOSTON

The following clipping is taken from a recent Boston paper. "The Fisher it will be remembered played a few years ago with Mr. Allison, Mosher and Morrison both are also Nova Scotia boys:

The plucky Maple A. A. hockey sextette defeated the B. A. A. champions 3 to 2, in one of the biggest upsets of the season at the Arena last night.

Ed. Morrison whipped home the winning tally in the 10 minute overtime period.

The Unicorn had a two point lead on their league rivals before the face off on the third period.

Ike Fisher and Mosher kicked in with tallies. These tied the count and the conflict went into overtime. Jerry Geran and Harrington made several brilliant attempts to clinch the contest without result.

Leland Harrington scored in the second stanza, while Geran poked in R. A. A.'s initial tally in the opening period.

STRANGE FEATURE OF A GAME CASE

A Head With Antlers 'Planted' After Accused Claimed He Shot a Male

Fredericton, March 10—Chief Game Warden L. A. Gagnon, of the Department of Lands and Mines, has been advised of a conviction which has been secured at Quentin against Philip Robidoux, a lumber jobber, who has been fined $160 and costs for killing a cow moose during the open season of last fall.

The information for this prosecution, instituted by the department, was laid some time ago but it was not until the latter part of last week that the case was proceeded with.

The defendant entered a plea of guilty when the case was finally proceeded with although having strenuously denied his guilt up until that time. During the process of bringing the case to trial the accused was asked to produce the head of the animal which he had killed, and which he claimed to have antlers. He told the officials that the head was located at the point where the animal has been killed but that it was then buried beneath the snow.

In attempting to check up the statement officials proceeded to the point named and there commenced excavations but could find no trace of the head. A further investigation at the same spot a week later produced the head of a recently killed moose complete with antlers. The head had apparently been planted during the meantime, according to the officials.

NO MORE CASES LIKELY

According to Mr. A. McG. McDonald, Secretary of the Restigouche Sub-District of the Board of Health, no more cases of small-pox are likely in this part of the north shore. Mr. McDonald is keeping in close touch with the Sanitary Inspectors in the L. N. B. District and every effort is being made to trace the recent outbreak of the disease to the actual source so that all danger of an epidemic may be removed. The health authorities here will also seek the co-operation of the authorities in Matapedia where it is believed the trouble originated.

WEDDINGS

WILBUR-MANN

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Mann Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock when their eldest daughter, Bertha Dora, was united in marriage to Mr. Ovid Perry Wilbur of Sussex. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. W. McNeil, M. A. The bride who entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lehar's wedding march, played by Miss Fred Campbell, looked charming in a suit of dark gray broadcloth, hat of cream shot tulle, veil and carried a bouquet of roses and maidens' hair fern. After the ceremony a delectable breakfast was served and the happy couple left on the Green Island for a honeymoon trip through the Maritime Provinces. On their return they will reside in Sussex. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly gifts testifying to the high esteem in which this couple is held. The groom is well known of snow fall, the commercial world of the Maritime Provinces, being a representative of the McPherson Shoe Co.

McGARVEY-HILL

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, when the Rev. W. W. McNeil, assisted by the Rev. F. M. Milligan of Halifax, united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Agnes Hannah Hill to Mr. Stanley John McGarvey of this town. They were attended by Miss Margaret Hill and Mr. Andrew Hill.

Watch out for "Red Lights"

A LITTLE COLDER

While the southern part of the province was in the grip of a heavy northerly storm on Wednesday it was fine here. The wind changed to the west during last night and about two inches of snow fell, with the temperature slightly colder.

SPLENDID LINE-UP!

Three great pictures are booked for showing next week at the Opera House and it would be hard to say which is the most outstanding. They are "Shadows", for Monday and Tuesday; "The Virginian", for Wednesday and Thursday; "Westbound Limited", for Friday and Saturday. These pictures have been great drawing cards wherever shown. Presented consecutively like this they make a weekly program of garden-variety strength, and we are informed by the Opera House Management that this is only a beginning in a program of features, which, starting with "Red Lights" this Friday and Saturday inaugurates a spring policy wherein only proven successes, the best the picture market affords, will be shown on the local screen.

IN MEMORIAM

George Montgomery
In loving remembrance of George Montgomery of New Bedford, Cape Cod, who departed this life March 12th, 1923 in his 80th year, deeply lamented by his wife and family and a large circle of relatives and friends.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea saith the spirit that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them" (Rev. 14: 13).
Inserted by his wife and family.

IN MEMORIAM

Harvey—In and but loving memory of a dear husband and father, Joseph Harvey who passed away into eternal rest and happiness March 16th, 1921. This day brings back the memories.
Of a loved one called to rest.
And those who think of him today
Are those who loved him best.
Inserted by mother and daughters, Mary and Violet.

Miss Marie Relyea (above) of Pensacola, Fla., was chosen as queen of the "Bachelor Ball," an annual event in the Florida metropolis.

To be stranded in a strange city with no worldly assets but a suit of dress clothes and yet to come out of the ordeal with a reputation for having achieved something. Joe and Bill arrived in Montreal a few nights ago and were faced with a considerable problem. They had no money, no means of obtaining an adequate quantity of the necessities of life, and no way of making a connection to see life with a capital T. When they awoke on the morning after their arrival, they found that they had relieved them of everything they had had with them. They had no money, they had slept in, and in which they had worn out the previous night's affair.

In this predicament they appealed to the authorities at the Canadian Consulate in Windsor, Ontario, where, unbeknownst to them, they had been sent out of the way by the sympathetic but somewhat overbearing and snow-shovelling gang. And here these two poor fellows, in their predicament, were left to fend for themselves in seeking to keep them warm, labored heartily for four days, earning a few dollars, and then they were in the little old home town. So once more fiction and the movie are

"Price Class"

The mysterious stranger in the motor industry

Does a difference in price indicate a difference in quality? Why is one car priced 25% to 50% higher than another of the same quality? The 4 questions that a buyer should ask when considering any car

HERE are facts based on world's engineering authority. If you have any intention of buying an automobile, you are urged to read them.

No "Price Class"

There are only two kinds of automobiles today. Inexpensively produced cars which give you more for your money. And cars which are not and give you less.

Hence two cars may have a price difference of $400 to $1,200 and more, and be of the same quality.

Where the difference comes in

Studebaker, producing 100,000 cars yearly, has reduced engineering cost to $2.33 per car.

Other mass producers have been forced to follow Studebaker's lead.

A set of body dies costs $100,000. It will produce many thousands of sets of body stampings, each one as perfect as though there were only a dozen made.

By building 50,000 bodies from a single set of dies, Studebaker reduces the die cost per body to only $2.00.

The average small manufacturer has to charge each body $20 for die cost. The difference of $18 is in the price but not in the body.

This a car priced at $1,700 to $1,950 can be sold at low as $1,450 when produced economically in quantity. Such a car is the Studebaker Light.

Why Studebaker excels the world in body building

For 12 years Studebaker has been a builder of quality vehicles.

In the modern $10,000,000 Studebaker body plants, there are some 500 fathers and grandfathers working side by side. Their religion is the coach building. And this is reflected in their work.

As fine body builders, Studebaker stands supreme.

1—What sort of bearings? Studebaker's are Timken-equipped. Everlasting smoothness and quiet performance result.

2—How many cars a year does this maker produce? Small productions mean either a higher price or cheaper car.

3—What sort of upholstery? Studebaker closed models are done in Chase Mohair, the finest material for this purpose known. Open models are upholstered in genuine leather.

Six Touring Car, priced at $1,455. A clear difference of between $225 to $485.

Equalled only by costlier foreign and American makes.

Every Studebaker car is Timken-equipped. The Light Six more than any competitive car within $1,500 of its price.

We subject Studebaker cars to 50,000 inspections. That requires 1,200 men.

No finer car can be built than the Studebaker of today.

Set a Studebaker—then decide. Buy no car until you've seen a Studebaker. Go over it point for point. And you will own a Studebaker.

Get an answer to these 4 questions before buying any car.

1—Is this an assembled car? Or "partly" assembled. Insist on this answer. Assembled cars pay a profit from 75 to 100 per cent makers alone.

2—What sort of bearings? Studebaker's are Timken-equipped. Everlasting smoothness and quiet performance result.

3—How many cars a year does this maker produce? Small productions mean either a higher price or cheaper car.

4—What sort of upholstery? Studebaker closed models are done in Chase Mohair, the finest material for this purpose known. Open models are upholstered in genuine leather.

OBITUARY

Shigawake, Que.

Colin William Kerr
(A Veteran of the Great War)
The many relatives and friends of Mr. John Kerr and family of New Richmond, Quebec, heard recently with sorrow that death had again called a loved one.

A few months ago they had laid to rest the remains of the beloved wife and mother, and now the son and brother, Colin William Kerr has been called away. He was born July 14th 1891, attended the New Richmond school, and in January 1907 went to Ontario Business College. He went west with the harvesters' excursion, but returned the same fall, going west the following summer.

In June 1915, he came from the Peace River District to Edmonton, Alta., and enlisted in the 63rd batt; went overseas in April 1916. In response to a request for volunteers to replace the missing numbers in the 10th batt, he promptly responded and went to the trenches in June and took part in the Battle of the Somme. In December, during a retreat, he was buried by a shell explosion, only one hand being visible, but a brave comrade Steven Dumas of New Richmond, P. Q., rescued him at the risk of his own life, and he was carried to a base hospital in France, where for four days he continued in a state of unconsciousness. A serious illness followed, and although there was very little hope of recovery he was removed to England, where notwithstanding his condition he finally was pronounced well and returned to Canada in September, 1917.

During his stay in England he was entertained at Windsor Castle, being waited upon by Princess Mary. He had only a brief visit of two weeks to his home in New Richmond, and his health being far from satisfactory he went to the Military Hospital in Edmonton, where he remained till the fall of 1918, when he went to Victoria, B. C., for the winter. Returning in the spring he was employed by the government at his former work of bridge building.

Death came very suddenly in Edmonton, on Feb. 8th 1924. He was found dead in bed from heart failure.

The remains were brought home and buried on Sunday, February 17th, the service being held in St. Andrews Presbyterian Church which was filled with a large number of people who had gathered to show their affection and sympathy with the sorrowing friends.

Rev. Alex MacKay preached most impressively from the text Samuel XXV and first verse "And Samuel died and all the Israelites were gathered together and lamented him."

Reference was first made to the place Samuel filled in the life of the Israelites, people. When he laid down his armor the people were gathered together and lamented him. They missed him because of the place he was filling and the service he was rendering.

That may bring home to us this question: When our life's warfare is over shall we be missed, missed not only in the home but in the community? Is the place we are filling, the service we are rendering in the home, in the church, in the community, in the state, such that we shall be missed?

Surely this is the true life for every one of us. Surely it is God's plan concerning us that we should live and work and pray and give and serve, so recognize our place—the world, so consecrate our gifts to the service of man and the glory of God that we shall be missed when we are called from this sphere. The importance of the life of service, of helpfulness, of usefulness was next dwelt upon.

In conclusion touching reference was made to the service rendered to God and humanity by the deceased who responded to the call of country and of God, and who heroically played his part on the fields of Flanders and whose death in young, vigorous manhood was due no doubt to the sufferings he endured and the sacrifices he made in the Great War.

"To you from falling hands we throw the torch."

Do yours to hold it high."

A large wreath of poppies from the G. W. V. A., and many others from friends in Edmonton showed the esteem in which the returned soldier had been held in his adopted western home.

He is survived by his father, two sisters, Misses Ada and Hazel Kerr, and three brothers, Archie, Robert and Russell.

Every Bad Leg

needs Zam-Buk, whether it result from an old sore or injury, or, as is more often the case, through old-standing varicose weakness. How that powerful herbal Zam-Buk builds up the weakened tissues and sets things right, is told by Mr. R. S. Reynolds, of Leesburg, Fla., U.S.A.

"As the result of inflammation set up by a horse kick," he writes, "terrible sores appeared all over the lower part of my leg. It was a year before the limb took a real turn for the better."

Needs

"I started out to try Zam-Buk, quite prepared to persist with the balm if it showed the least sign of doing good. Zam-Buk's first effect was to remove from the sores all their angry inflamed appearance. New skin and tissue formed as I persevered with Zam-Buk, and every sore was gradually but surely healed."

Zam-Buk

Zam-Buk, the favorite home skin-remedy, is made from pure and costly medicinal herbs. Its soothing, healing and salubrious virtues are never found in ordinary ointments. Zam-Buk is the best. Zam-Buk Medical Soap, too, the only

PREHISTORIC TRAITS

MAN STILL HAS

Man to-day still possesses evidence of the traits of his prehistoric ancestors of millions of years ago. For example, man of a far-distant past boasted of three eyes, evolutionists claimed. They say that millions of years ago nature gave mankind a third eye. It was not a success, as she gradually discarded it. Its stunted remains are to be found in the half-finished eye which exists in every one's brain just back of the depression below the upper part of the middle of the forehead. This hollow was once an eye-socket.

Another peculiar thing about eyes, according to the same theory, is that man once had a transparent third eyelid much as birds and reptiles possess. It could be lowered as a protector when our ancestors were passing through dense undergrowth. The remains of this extra eyelid can still be seen at the corner of the eye if you raise the top lid.

When you are at the mirror look at your ears. Just over the entrance to each is a little pointed flap which can be made to close the ear if pressed back with the finger. This, it is claimed, was once an ear-shield which protected our ancestors in water and on land. A few persons can still move their ears. In most of us, however, the muscles whose duty it was to turn them in the direction of sounds have fallen into disuse.

Just where the lower jaw meets the neck are two deep grooves. They mark the place where man once had gills—like a fish. Our pointed teeth are the remains of great tearing teeth or tusks. Animals molt in Spring and Autumn. Many people lose some hair at the same time. When a dog or cat meets an enemy its hair or fur stands up. Though really frightened it wants to look fierce. In the same way a sudden start will make us feel that our hair is standing on end.

The catlike at the base of our nails is a reminder that our nails were once sheathed when not in use. Man is the only animal that has been able to develop the fifth finger (thumb). The pads at the base of the palm are those upon which we walked when we went on all fours. Even to this day man has a little hooked bone at the end of his spine. This is all that remains of his prehistoric tail. The muscles with which he used to wag it are still there, though shrunk to tiny remnants through long neglect.

SALMON
The English are recalling the days when the Thames used to be a salmon river. Among all Celtic peoples the salmon was a principal food supply, and in the seventh century food rents in Wales were sometimes paid in salmon. Monasteries were generally built within easy reach of salmon rivers, and it is said that most of the original English cathedral cities were similarly placed. At one time, indeed, England and Scotland exported salmon just as Canada exports it now, though historians are sceptical about the story that there used to be a clause in the indentures of the Scottish apprentices that he should not be bound to eat salmon more than a certain number of days in the week.
