

CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER

SACKVILLE, N. B., OCT. 25, 1894

THE USE OF PARTY.

It must be very gratifying to Messrs Stockton and Alward to receive a very pressing invitation from the St. John Globe to return again to the Liberal fold. They left on account of "Unrestricted Reciprocity," but the party having now changed its principles, taken down this sign, and gone over to Messrs. Stockton and Alward a way of thinking, there is no longer any occasion (the Globe argues) for their remaining out any longer. The Globe apparently not understanding that these gentlemen might in the future act on a sense of public duty alone insinuates a more sordid indecent. "Their Tory connection is little use to them. If the Globe's argument means anything, it is this: the gentlemen joined the Tory party as a matter of principle; they had better leave it, because the Tory party is no use to them. The inference is the gilt party would be of benefit to them. This has the effect of hoodwinking. It is not enough for a man to act on principle with a party; he must use it; if he cannot get his quid pro quo from it, he is justified in deserting it. In commending the Globe's confession that Messrs Stockton and Alward were right, the country was right in declaring against that fatuous and insane doctrine, "Unrestricted Reciprocity," we cannot justify the Globe's system of political morals. It is wrong to inculcate the doctrine that active politicians can affiliate where they please, and do as they please to find a party they can use. A newspaper ought to inculcate higher and better standards of duty. A public place is a public trust, which the holder discharges for the public benefit and not for his own use.

The Tory party is one of splendid achievements—the union and consolidation of the Province—the construction of the C. P. R., the National Policy, were not the creatures of narrow or sordid men bent on making use of the party or the country. If that party does in the future come to grief, it will be, because the leaders will have abandoned the principles and lessons taught by its founders and will have listened to the voice of camp followers who have stayed in after the party came into power, of the carpet baggers and bootlickers who cling to the outskirts of every victorious party, seeking to use it for their own purposes. The purity and dignity of public life is upheld by politicians placing principles and public duty above party claims, and party above self.

"Then none was for a party: Then the great man helped the poor, And the poor man loved the great; Then lands were fairly sold; Then spoils were fairly sold; Then the little men were in the hands of the great."

When one sees a public man shuffling clear of political obligations as so much rubbish that stands in the way of self-seeking designs, one sees the baser and more degrading element of politics on the surface. Happily for them and for their public record for all time, Messrs. Stockton and Alward joined a party for which they had no use simply on the score of public duty.

CANADIAN STATESMANSHIP.

At the unveiling of the monument to Sir John Macdonald at Toronto the other day in the presence of an immense gathering, estimated at over 25,000 people, Sir John Thompson said:

"We have unveiled to day a statue which is to mark for future years a great passage in the history of our country, as well as to stand in remembrance of a great man. The man was one of us all. Those among whom his daily life was passed in recent years—friend and foe—each with his own judgment—of the chief events of his career and his principal personal characteristics. For his enemies I do not presume to speak—for his friends I cannot say half enough. (Hear, hear.) We remember his great agency in public affairs—the great patriot who seemed to be the constant motive power of his public life—his bright humor and his unfeigned amiability and patience. We recall the fact that in the long past career, which commenced just fifty years ago, everything that has been accomplished for Canada—almost every measure that is worthy of mention—every step in the wonderful progress of British North America during half a century has the names of his name, or the names of the men who worked with him, and shared his policy from time to time."

When it is borne in mind that Sir John Macdonald himself moulded the final legislation that led to the English bondholders investing in 1859 in the Chignecto Ship Railway, in the commercial character of which he came a firm and ardent believer, it would be an additional monument to Canada's greatest statesman, if his successors in office would practically pay that deference to his memory and the "great sagacity in public affairs"—the great patriotism, which seemed to be the constant motive power of his life, by not giving a shameful and discreditable ending to a work in which he was so much interested, and to which he pledged the country. In this respect the St. John Gazette asks:

"What is going to be done with the Chignecto ship railway is now one of the leading questions of the day. Will the government refuse to extend the time limit and allow the works to go to decay—the great docks to fill up with sand, the massive walls of masonry to stand unused, the huge rails and heavy lifts to be sold as old iron?—If so, the ruined works will stand and be pointed at for all time as a monument either of the government's folly or faithlessness. Which will it be?"

It is a Tory government that legislated year after year to get English capital invested, and now that it is invested, will a Tory government assume the responsibility of making it a total loss to the investors? If they do, their opponents will not be slow to take advantage of the Tory party and killed inside of the Tory party.

If the party leaders do not regard their own policy now the credit of the party, nor the good name of the country, they ought to pay some respect to the English investors who have planted three and a half millions in the work in good faith on the strength of the inducements held out by the government legislation. True there has been an extension of time, but the delay has not cost the country anything and the government is not there in a position honestly to take advantage of it to the ruin of the enterprise.

Industrial and Commercial.

The lobster business in many parts of New Brunswick has been poor so far this season.

—Surely the millennium of the literary man is at hand. One of the Canadian shops is selling five quires of ruled note paper for five cents.

The shipment of Australian cattle to the London market, about which so much has been heard, does not appear to be a paying business. It is stated that the total cost of landing each beast (exclusive of insurance) amounted to £16, and the price realized about £16 14s.

—Last year Norway and Sweden sold in Great Britain 173,938 tons of wood pulp, the value of which was over $4,000,000. Canada shipped 7,870 tons to Great Britain last year.

—Cotton goods are at a low basis of values in comparison with the prices of previous years. The crop of the United States this year is estimated at 10,000,000 bales, while the average for ten years is about 7,000,000 bales.

The growth of the imports of Egyptian cotton to this country is one of the most remarkable of the incidents connected with our textile industry. The business began so recently in 1884, so that it has attained its present considerable proportions within a period of ten years. In 1889 the imports of the staple to the United States amounted to a little less than 3,000,000 pounds. In 1893 they had reached the quantity of 28,000,000 pounds. The Egyptian staple is valued because its unusual length permits it to be spun into strong yarns. For that purpose it is mixed with domestic cotton and the yarns are used for hosiery and other knit fabrics.

Personal and Political.

—A. W. Y. DeBriay, of Petit Rocher, Gloucester Co., died Sunday evening after a short illness aged fifty-nine. He carried on a large fish business and was one of Gloucester's prominent politicians.

—A cablegram has been received of the death of Charles Gurney (Old Probe), M. A., F. R. S. C., F. R. A. S., late fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, director of the Magnetic Observatory at Toronto and director of the Meteorological Service of Canada. Deceased left for the South of France early in the year in the hope of benefiting his health. He was eighty-eight years of age. Dr. Dawson is mentioned as his successor.

—On the 13th inst. there passed away at Bear River the spirit of its oldest resident. Mrs. Nathan Beeler had seen one hundred and five years—years of toil and rest, of lights and shadows. But the light came at last. Mrs. Beeler was wonderfully active for one so aged. During the summer she carded, spun and sold ten pounds of wool. Her residence has been with her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Berry. Bear River will miss the deceased and miss her greatly.—Digby Courier.

—Speaking of the late Rev. D. C. Lawson, a Dorchester correspondent writes: "On his mother's side, Mr. Lawson could have traced his descent from the celebrated Marshall Saxe, Catherine of Saxe, who was one of those great daughters, Catherine Loftus, is now lady in waiting to our sovereign lady the Queen. The father is Major Thomas Dawson, who entered the army as second lieutenant, and was in every battle, with the exception of the taking of Louisbourg, during the old French war, and after his discharge received his commission as Major in the militia of N. S. In his youthful days Mr. Lawson, though one of the most peaceable boys, was a perfect athlete. He measured four feet, six inches round the chest, and turned the scales at two hundred pounds. I feel confident that his mental infirmity came from physical debility."

Upper Dorchester.

—The farmers have gathered in their harvest and the hum of the threshing machine is heard throughout the village. Mr. George Tingley, one of our most industrious and prosperous farmers, son of T. A. Tingley Esq. has built a large barn this summer.

The Musical and Literary Society held their 10th anniversary last Friday evening at Mr. James Anderson's.

—A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Widow Scurr Dorchester last Wednesday evening. Her daughter E. Cassie was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Anderson of Sackville. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. D. Dawson. He was assisted by Mr. George Tingley, half dozen silver spoons and dozen napkins by Miss Daisy Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Black silver butter knife and pickle fork. Mr. and Mrs. Dotenel bed spread Mr. and Mrs. Yates $2 Miss Gussie Black silver solid and pepper gold bracelets by the groom. Beside these there are other quite as valuable of mention but space forbids it. Lunch was served at 9.30 o'clock and during the evening the newly wedded pair were serenaded in the old fashioned way. The happy couple left for their new home Thursday. They will reside in Sackville on Bridge street. They bear with them the best wishes for future happiness of many friends.

Port Elgin.

—A representative meeting of the congregations of Shemogue, Port Elgin &c, took place on the 16th inst. in the Presbyterian church at Port Elgin. The congregation was unusually large from Presbytery to moderate in a call, unanimously elected Rev. Mr. Herdman, who had last spring been appointed as an ordained ministry for one year. It was determined to proceed immediately with the matter, and place the call, duly signed, in Mr. Herdman's hands, asking him to accept the call. Much harmony was shown at the meeting; every hand being raised in support of resolutions.

—Robert Ellis, while helping repair the railroad bridge at Tatamagouche, Saturday morning was caught under a 2,200 pound hammer and horribly crushed. He died three hours later at the hospital.

Cape Tormentine.

—The weather continues remarkably fine.

—Farmers are all astir preparing for winter.

—The health of the people is, generally speaking, good.

—Those parties to whom reference has often been made as being severely afflicted are all improved in health.

—The Baptist churches are, since the departure of their late Pastor Rev. Mr. Vincent, without any regular supply. Rev. Mr. Hardy occupied the pulpits on the 7th and 14th inst. There is yet no public notice of any further supplies.

—Alfred Warworth Esq. of Upper Cape is kept quite busy in filling orders for supplies for the provision departments of the Mount Allison institutions. The order from the Westmorland section of Westmorland must give best satisfaction both as to quality and cost.

—A beautiful mass of polished red granite set on a base of gray stone has recently been erected by Bill C. Warworth Esq., in the Methodist cemetery to a number of the departed members of his family.

—All the members of the family of Jacob S. Allen Esq. at the Upper Cape were together at the "old home" on Sunday 14th. All being good health and spirits and in possession of every needed earthly blessing, it is needless to say that the occasion was greatly enjoyed.

—We were shown on Monday some of the vegetables which took prizes at the recent fair at Port Elgin, grown on the farm of Mr. W. C. Trenholm at Upper Cape. Among these may be mentioned a dozen mangels weighing 117 lbs.—the largest of the dozen tipping the scales at 17 lbs.; and a dozen turnips weighing 106 lbs.—the largest weighing 18 lbs. They were of stupendous size—said to be certain persons from a distance who visited the fair, to be unexcused in the Province.

—The Methodists are busy at the erection of a church at Cape Spear. The building is located on the north side of the road on the east corner of lands recently sold by W. C. Trenholm to his brother William. It is in size 34 by 26 feet, with 12 ft. posts and 21 ft. rafters. It is to be in most of its features modelled after the church recently dedicated at Cadman's Corner. It is expected to be ready for occupancy in the early part of next autumn.

Dorchester.

—At the fancy sale and tea-meeting on Wednesday last the people of Trinity Church cleared $115.

—Rev. J. Roy Campbell has been taking a short vacation in Yarmouth N. S. Last Sunday his pulpit was unoccupied.

—Willow Farm, the homestead of the Gilberts, has been sold to Warden Foster, of the Dorchester penitentiary. The house on Willow Farm is one of the oldest in the province, having been erected about 1783, and the farm was a part of the original Crown grant to one of the old families, whose members have since passed beyond. The last of the old family to live and die there were Miss Ann Gilbert and S. Gay Gilbert, P. Squire Gay, as he was called. Both died in 1889 and the property passed to the heirs of the late W. J. Gilbert, J. C. Mrs. W. J. Gilbert, W. J. Gilbert, Jr. and Mrs. W. J. Skinner (who was Miss Audie Gilbert) have since died. The property passed into the hands of Mr. Skinner, who sold it to Mr. Foster. The price was $5,000. Mr. Foster has had the farm under cultivation for three years and had already made considerable improvement on it.

Bishop Medley Memorial.

(The Western Times, Exeter, Eng., Oct. 11.)

A special service was held at St. Thomas' church last evening, when the Bishop Medley memorial window and tablet were unveiled. The Vicar (the Rev. M. Swaby) conducted the service. The Vicar read four short prayers, and Psalms 15 and 145 were chanted. The lesson, which was taken from Ephesians iv, was followed by the singing of the hymn, "Brief life is here our portion."

The Archbishop of Ontario, the Most Rev. J. Travers Lewis, LL.D., then gave an address. His Grace said that he deemed it a great privilege to take part in that ceremonial. They were glad to perpetuate the memory of one of the greatest modern bishops. Bishop Medley was one of the most lovable of men. He served God and the Church in Canada with all his heart and soul for a great number of years. The Cathedral that he built would always be a lasting memorial to him. He had immense difficulties to contend with, but his perseverance together with his charity and far-sightedness, accomplished a great deal. Might he hold up Bishop Medley as a sample of a man full of the Holy Ghost and of faith, who did his work in a genuine, straightforward, honest way, who never gave needless offence, but still persevered in trying to impress upon others the churchmanship that was his guide through life. Mr. T. F. Snow unveiled the tablet and window and uttered an eulogium of the late Metropolitan, stating that from the moment when Mr. Medley accepted the living of St. Thomas a new era dawned in the parish.

The tablet is in the north aisle, the window being near the front. The tablet is of gray dove marble, boldly moulded and polished. Upon it is an ornamental "brass" of latten, upon which, in legible characters, is the following: "To the memory of the Most Rev. John Medley, D.D., first Bishop of Fredericton, 1845-1892. Metropolitan of Canada, 1879-1892. Born 1806. Died at Fredericton, New Brunswick, Sept. 1892, in the 86th year of his age, and his 48th of his Episcopate. He was Vicar of St. Thomas, with Exwick, and incumbent of the parish of St. John's, Fredericton, 1838-1845. Prebendary of Exeter Cathedral 1845-5. An unfailing friend of the poor. To him Exwick owed the erection of its free and open Church, the establishment of the restoration of its Chapel, and the Church many of its fairest adornments. Erected by parishioners and friends October, 1894." The last of the Victorian sailing fleet arrived yesterday, and 532 sailors are now in port for the winter. The total catch for the season is put down at 87,672 skins; 54,430 were taken of the Japanese coast, the balance in Behring Sea.

—Woodstock jail was set on fire Saturday morning by two prisoners, just sentenced. Considerable damage was done before the fire was extinguished.

Rolland & Co., wholesale furniture dealers.

The Montreal office assigned. The liabilities are about $100,000. The principal creditors are in England and Germany.

—A report from Victoria B. C. dated 21 says: "The last of the Victorian sailing fleet arrived yesterday, and 532 sailors are now in port for the winter. The total catch for the season is put down at 87,672 skins; 54,430 were taken of the Japanese coast, the balance in Behring Sea."

Our Municipality—Its Management and Mismanagement of our County Finances.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST.—

Sir,—As I have already shown, this signing warrants in blank by the warden takes in some cases from the Council the control of the finances of the county, placing them in the disposal of a few persons, who when they please, and as often as they please can use the County funds for any purpose they please. That your readers may understand the $305 job, I will place it fairly before them. The gaoler's account for $305 was passed and ordered to be paid by the Council in January last, and the warrant for that amount was issued by the Secretary payable in the usual way to the order of the gaoler. A judgment creditor of the gaoler obtained an attaching order against him which would have stayed the issuing of the warrant. The order of the gaoler was not obeyed (the proper person to serve it on) in time until the legality of the attaching order had been determined. The Council in June was determined, and is now before the Supreme Court, and in addition an action is pending against the County by the present holder of the warrant. The Council in June placed the blank warrants in the hands of the gaoler, and the latter without waiting for the money to be paid, issued a warrant for the sum of $305 in favour of the judgment creditor, signed it and handed it to the Secretary who passed it to the judgment creditor. The Council in June placed the blank warrants in the hands of the gaoler, and the latter without waiting for the money to be paid, issued a warrant for the sum of $305 in favour of the judgment creditor, signed it and handed it to the Secretary who passed it to the judgment creditor. The Council in June placed the blank warrants in the hands of the gaoler, and the latter without waiting for the money to be paid, issued a warrant for the sum of $305 in favour of the judgment creditor, signed it and handed it to the Secretary who passed it to the judgment creditor.

I will here pause to say that no blame can be attached to the action of the Council in June. They were misled by the Secretary to collect for their client an amount he claimed was due him, and it was their duty to procure for him the demand as presented to the Council. The Secretary and Treasurer offered the warrant in payment of the judgment creditor's demand and his attorneys would have been released in the hands of the Secretary and Treasurer. They were misled by the Secretary to collect for their client an amount he claimed was due him, and it was their duty to procure for him the demand as presented to the Council. The Secretary and Treasurer offered the warrant in payment of the judgment creditor's demand and his attorneys would have been released in the hands of the Secretary and Treasurer.

We have some very handsome Fur Shoulder Capes the newest cut. Next week we will have in the balance of our stock of Fur Capes, Cloaks, Fur Trimmed Jackets &c.

J. L. BLACK.

Sackville Sept. 20th, 1894.

Notice.

The undersigned will sell the rebuilding of bridges at Cockville according to plans and specifications to be seen on day of sale Nov. 2nd at one o'clock p.m. Also the repairs on the bridge at Pointing Ditch Canal near the late Reuben Thompson's. Plans and specifications will be shown at day of sale, Nov. 2nd at three o'clock p.m.

R. H. OGDEN.

By Road Commissioner.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Crimes and Casualties.

—Persons unknown stole from St. Alban's Church, Port Lawrence, on a recent Sunday the organist's robe, surplice and manock, some beautiful work being stolen.

House to Let.

The new house now occupied by Dr. Bowser, Sackville, opposite the new utility building, is for sale by auction, fence, tank and well. Good barn in connection.

For particulars apply to S. W. HUNTON, 21.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Crimes and Casualties.

—Persons unknown stole from St. Alban's Church, Port Lawrence, on a recent Sunday the organist's robe, surplice and manock, some beautiful work being stolen.

House to Let.

The new house now occupied by Dr. Bowser, Sackville, opposite the new utility building, is for sale by auction, fence, tank and well. Good barn in connection.

For particulars apply to S. W. HUNTON, 21.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Crimes and Casualties.

—Persons unknown stole from St. Alban's Church, Port Lawrence, on a recent Sunday the organist's robe, surplice and manock, some beautiful work being stolen.

House to Let.

The new house now occupied by Dr. Bowser, Sackville, opposite the new utility building, is for sale by auction, fence, tank and well. Good barn in connection.

For particulars apply to S. W. HUNTON, 21.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Ready Made CLOTHING

The newest and latest Goods ever shown in this line

Mens' overcoats, price $4.50 up, handsome Ulsters, Neat and comfortable Reefers and Vests, Suits in newest styles, Double and single breast Sacks and skirt coats, large assortment in great variety

A full line

Waterproof Coats

REMEMBER

That Our

TAILORING DEPARTMENT

is ready for Fall trade with all the newest goods and patterns, prices. Quality and fit cannot be surpassed.

MEN'S UNDERWEAR.

The largest and best assortment in this line we have ever shown. Prices on all wool under suits and top shirts are surprisingly low. You should see them.

We have some very handsome

Fur Shoulder Capes

the newest cut. Next week we will have in the balance of our stock of Fur Capes, Cloaks, Fur Trimmed Jackets &c.

If you need anything in this line wait for them.

J. L. BLACK.

Flours, Sugars, Teas, Tobacco, Molasses.

Oils and General Groceries always on hand, wholesale or retail.

J. L. BLACK.

Sackville Sept. 20th, 1894.

Notice.

The undersigned will sell the rebuilding of bridges at Cockville according to plans and specifications to be seen on day of sale Nov. 2nd at one o'clock p.m. Also the repairs on the bridge at Pointing Ditch Canal near the late Reuben Thompson's. Plans and specifications will be shown at day of sale, Nov. 2nd at three o'clock p.m.

R. H. OGDEN.

By Road Commissioner.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Crimes and Casualties.

—Persons unknown stole from St. Alban's Church, Port Lawrence, on a recent Sunday the organist's robe, surplice and manock, some beautiful work being stolen.

House to Let.

The new house now occupied by Dr. Bowser, Sackville, opposite the new utility building, is for sale by auction, fence, tank and well. Good barn in connection.

For particulars apply to S. W. HUNTON, 21.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Crimes and Casualties.

—Persons unknown stole from St. Alban's Church, Port Lawrence, on a recent Sunday the organist's robe, surplice and manock, some beautiful work being stolen.

House to Let.

The new house now occupied by Dr. Bowser, Sackville, opposite the new utility building, is for sale by auction, fence, tank and well. Good barn in connection.

For particulars apply to S. W. HUNTON, 21.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Crimes and Casualties.

—Persons unknown stole from St. Alban's Church, Port Lawrence, on a recent Sunday the organist's robe, surplice and manock, some beautiful work being stolen.

House to Let.

The new house now occupied by Dr. Bowser, Sackville, opposite the new utility building, is for sale by auction, fence, tank and well. Good barn in connection.

For particulars apply to S. W. HUNTON, 21.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

General Agent of the Mutual Life, Ins. Co. of N. Y., for Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Halifax N. S. Oct 8 1894.

Crimes and Casualties.

—Persons unknown stole from St. Alban's Church, Port Lawrence, on a recent Sunday the organist's robe, surplice and manock, some beautiful work being stolen.

House to Let.

The new house now occupied by Dr. Bowser, Sackville, opposite the new utility building, is for sale by auction, fence, tank and well. Good barn in connection.

For particulars apply to S. W. HUNTON, 21.

Notice.

Mr. F. J. Johnson, who worked for me as a soliciting agent recently, is no longer authorized to represent the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in any capacity.

J. A. JOHNSON.

