London, Ont., 1897. After giving the subject of life insurance some study, I took a $2,000 polfcy with the Ontario Mutual in 1889. Since that time, after having had experience with other companies also, I increased my policies to $5,000. Last year, I surrendered a policy with another company, and reinsured with the Ontario Mutual for $2,000 more, making $7,000 in all that I now have with this company. I have found the management of the Ontario as obliging, and as easy to obtain reasonable concessions from when needed, as is a merchant who desires to hold one's patronage; and some other companies with whom I have had dealings have been notably the reverse. I take every opportunity to recommend the Ontario to my friends, feeling sure that they will be pleased, both with the treatment they receive, and the results which will accrue to their policies. Yours truly,

C. E. German, Esq.:

Dear Sir,-I have much pleasure in expressing my high opinion of the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company. My first policy was issued in 1877; since then my insurances have been increased with the Ontario, until I now carry $19,000 on my own life, and $5,000 on the life of my son. I now have two paid-up policies, one of which will mature in February next. Each sucseeding year increases my satisfaction n being insured with the company. My ten, Mr. Isaac E. Bowman died at last policy of $5,000 was taken a couple of months ago. My policies with the Ontario have so far, in my opinion, given me better results than similar policies which I carry with other companies. There is no company which I company has sustained in the can more heartily recommend than the Ontario Mutual Life. Yours truly.

The Cabinet Change.

The latest news which The Advertiser has from the Dominion capital is that Sir Oliver Mowat, the coming Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, is finishing the business of his department, and that he anticipates leaving for Toronto about the middle of November, when Hon. David Mills, the new Min-Ister of Justice, will enter on the duties of the office.

The 50th anniversary of the Normal School at Toronto will be celebrated on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. Among of the American republic. others who will participate will be Hon. George W. Ross and Rev. Dr. Dewart. The last named was one of the first graduates.

Britain and the Dingley Bill-Canada's Opportunity.

Very many of the towns and cities of the United States are supported by try in raising produce which finds purchasers in Great Britain.

To dispassionate outsiders it does seem shortsighted policy and not a very grateful recognition of the benefits thus conferred on the people of the neighboring republic, that they should acclaim the Dingley Bill and tailing profitable trade without at the same time hurting itself. They will divert their purchasing powers to Canbuy to advantage as well as to sell.

It may happen, too, that the derease in British trade with the United States will be less marked in the future than in the months which have elapsed since the final passing of the Dingley bill. We all know that in order to avoid the increased taxes imposed by that measure, the United States merchants for months before the passage of the law were engaged In rushing in enormous supplies of British goods. Farmers and Free Corn.

The Hamilton Spectator professes to believe that with corn on the free list for feeding purposes the Canadian farmer will proceed to feed his hogs exclusively on a corn diet, in order that he may produce a quality of pork that will bring him a price much under that received for pigs fed on a mixed diet of peas, oats, grass, etc. | Company, 13 Astor Place, New York.) Recital at the Southern Congregational Church - A Good Programme -A Beautiful Instrument.

A most successful organ recital and concert was held in the Southern Congregational Church last evening, the edifice being well filled, and a fine literary and musical programme, by some of the best local talent, being given. The recital was given to celebrate the opening of their fine new Scribner organ, which was presided over by Mr. J. W. Fetherston. The beautiful tones of the new instrument were brought out to advantage by the skillful touch of this musician, who received much praise for the excellence of his work. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Claris, presided, and introduced the following fine programme: Organ selection, overture, "Tameredi" (Rossini), Mr. Fetherston; solo, Mrs. James; solo, Miss Templeton; organ selection, "Marche Trium-phael" (Schubert), Mr. Fetherston; solo, Mr. Stockwell; organ recital, "Andante" (Haydn), Mr. Fetherston; recitation, Miss Lethbridge; solo, Matthews; organ selection, "Allegro (Guilmant), Mr. Fetherston; solo, Mrs. James: solo, Miss Fowler: recitation. Of the Scribner pipe organ, which was opened on this occasion, too much in praise cannot be said. The rich and soft pipe decorations are in excelient taste, and in harmony with the interior of the church. Words of admiration greeted the ear on every side as the audience assembled. Few, however, were prepared for the surprise in store, when the organist took his seat before the keyboard. The musical effect was grand. Such a variety of beautiful pure tone has probably never been heard, except in very large pipe organs, while its volume was astonishing. Where it all comes from is the mystery. The varied programme of song and recital showed the marvelous adaptation of the organ to all classes of music. The support to the oloist, and the sympathetic blending with the voice were very marked. The orchestral effects as broughtout in "Andante" (Haydn) would have delighted the master composer himself. In the execution of the most rapid passages the repetition was perfect. The organ if a credit alike to the church and the
