

NO INTENTION TO CLOSE UP THE FAIR; WESTERN BOARD NEVER CONSIDERED IT

Directors Highly Pleased With This Year's Record, and Will Work to Build Up a Greater and Better Exhibition.

Members of Board Give Strong Denial to Stories of Discontinuance.

That the Western Fair directors never for one moment considered closing up the Fair was proven conclusively when the matter was discussed at a meeting of directors at the Western Fair grounds this morning. There was a large representation of the board present, and, instead of feeling discouraged, they were highly enthusiastic over the prospects of the Fair. The Fair will be continued, and will be made greater than ever.

No Intention to Quit.

After much routine business had been transacted, Col. Little brought up the report that appeared in the Free Press regarding the closing of the Fair. He sincerely hoped that no person had received the impression that the board of directors were going to give up the Fair. He had made it his business, since that report was published, to interview the chairmen of every department to see for himself what condition the Fair was in. He found nowhere any talk of doing away with it. Every department was reported in splendid shape, and everybody enthusiastic.

Has Helped the Merchants.

The directors had a two-fold object in view in conducting the exhibition. One was the success of the Fair itself as a Fair. The other was to benefit the merchants of the city. There had been no doubt the directors had been very successful in this last particular. Never had there been such a crowd of visitors as this year, with the possible exception of one year, when there were reduced rates on all lines for five days. Business men report business as being exceptionally good, and there was absolutely no doubt that the Fair had been a decided success from a business man's standpoint.

As for the Fair itself there was nothing for which they might be ashamed. The total receipts for entries had been larger this year than in 1906, the banner year. The exhibition of live stock was a credit to London and to Canada. A visitor from Quebec had expressed himself as being surprised at the quality of the stock shown. There were very few places in the country that could equal it.

The Dog Show Paid.

The poultry show was the best yet held. The entries in this department had increased 20 per cent. Forty feet had been added to the poultry shed, and yet it was not large enough to hold the entries. The agricultural and horticultural halls were better than ever before. The dog show was a splendid success, and although he had opposed it, thinking that it would be a detriment financially, it had proved a great help, over $900 being derived from that source alone. The other buildings were good, better than before.

Too Good an Ad.

"The weather was bad," declared Col. Little, "but it did not discourage me at all. It was not an unkind evil. I am one of the oldest members of the board, and it did not make me feel (Continued on Page Eight.)"

Coal Train Crashes Into Derrick Wreck on the P. M. in South End

Engineer and Fireman Jumped and Avoid Injury—Loss Will Be Considerable.

A smash-up occurred shortly after 8 o'clock this morning on the Pere Marquette, which delayed traffic for a couple of hours. One engine was smashed considerably, and the derrick in operation at the new bridge over the Thames was put out of commission for a few days. No person was hurt.

near the derrick, and that the latter was not getting out of his way fast enough. He put on the brakes, but the rails were slippery, and the heavy coal train skidded. His fear proved to be right, for the coal train smashed into the derrick, and in a moment both were a tangled mass. The smokestack and front part of the engine was smashed badly, and the rear part of the derrick was broken in.

Dog Exhibitor Appeals an Award

The only protest in the dog show was considered by the board of directors, and the ruling of the judge sustained. Mr. H. H. Curtis, of New York, who was handling the Irish setters belonging to Miss E. C. Phillips, of New York, protested against a cup being awarded to the Queen of Kent, owner by Mr. Geo. Bowman, of London. The entry book lists the cup as for the best setter in the show. This would include English, Irish and Gordon setters. The inscription on the cup also states that it was for the best setter in the show. When the English setters were shown, they were judged for this cup, and the prize awarded to Queen of Kent. Mr. Curtis appealed against the ruling of the judges, and it was decided that the donor meant only English setters. However, as it was advertised in the press that Queen of Kent was the best setter in the show, and as such won the cup, Mr. Curtis decided to appeal to the Canadian Kennel Club for its ruling on the matter. Queen of Kent was afterwards beaten by Miss Phillips' dog, Royal Duke, as the best setter in the show. This dog was a Toronto winner, scoring high. He took specials for best setter in the show, and also for the best American-bred setter in the show.

FRIDAY A BIG DAY AT THE FAIR

Splendid weather was the portion of the Western Fair, and a large number of citizens this morning took the opportunity of seeing it. There was quite a crowd of visitors in the city, most of them stopping over from yesterday. There promises to be a large crowd out this afternoon. It will be one of the best yet.

Chinaman Made Bad Jump From Car

The day of the que and Oriental clothes has practically gone as far as local Chinatown is concerned, and John Chinaman is becoming more up-to-date every day. There is one thing, however, in which the sons of the Celestial Empire are deficient, and that is in getting off a street car properly. Last night about 11 o'clock Johnny Wong, who works in a laundry located near Central avenue on Richmond street, was riding north from the heart of the city on a Wellington car. Johnny had some business to transact on Richmond street near Princess avenue and he tried to signal the conductor to let him off at that point, but as the car was well filled and the conductor was busy inside, he failed to make himself understood. On the car were Detective Rider and one of the local policemen. Now both of these gentlemen had learned to jump off cars traveling perhaps 10 miles an hour when they were youngsters. Consequently they both hopped off at Princess avenue with ease, although the car was going along at a "fast trip for the night" gallop. Johnny looked at them enviously, took another peek for the conductor, who was still out of sight, grasped his bundle of shirts tightly and jumped. The next moment he had lit on his right ear, while the bundle of laundry rolled out of sight under the rear of the car. The large number of passengers riding on the rear end of the car gasped in horror as Wong struck the street in the manner mentioned and started to roll toward the wheels of the car, then all gave the unfortunate Chinaman a laugh as he was assisted to his feet by Detective Rider, and made his way in a crestfallen manner to a friendly dark spot, where he presumably made an inventory of his stock in trade, and of the remaining cuticle on his person.

TIED AND LOCKED UP OPERATOR; BOLD BURGLARY AT THAMESVILLE

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Thomas, Sept. 13.—A man giving the name of B. J. Ross, of Woodstock, was arrested here this morning, and is held as a suspect in connection with the robbery of the G. T. R. depot at Thamesville last night. The robbery took place after Operator Jack Miller, formerly a well-known baseball pitcher at St. Thomas and Ingersoll, had been tied up and locked in a box car. The burglar secured $30 in cash, and Miller's revolver.

BISHOP OF LONDON AT TORONTO

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The Bishop of London left Ottawa at 10:45 for Toronto this morning. He received a hearty send-off from a large number of clergy and laymen.

CLEARING AWAY TUNNEL WRECKAGE

Officials Say Damage to M.C.R. Base Is Not More Than $12,000.

Windsor, Sept. 13.—Swarms of laborers are at work today on the ruins of the Michigan Central tunnel shaft on Sandwich street, between here and Sandwich. Splintered posts, earth and debris, the wreckage of the cave-in on Wednesday, are being slowly cleared away.

Early on Thursday morning workmen were sent to the tunnel from shaft No. 2 to try to make an impression on the tons of earth that now close the opening at the other end. The work will go forward as speedily as possible, and every available man will be put on the shifts. Officials last night made light of the catastrophe, and even said it was a good thing. "The timber at the bottom of the shaft are all right," said one. "It will cost us not more than $2,000 to repair the damage done, and the cave-in will not hinder procedure of the work on the tunnel proper. The collapse was very gradual and in this I think the cave-in was a good thing, for it taught us that there is no danger from any slide at the bottom of the shaft. That part held solidly."

"We do not fear any collapse on this side of the river," said one of the men employed at the shaft on the Detroit side. "The only place where there might be danger is near the river, where about 20 feet of earth must be cut through. I presume the Windsor slide was caused by the jar of nearby trains passing near the tunnel."

The shaft on the Detroit side of the river was completed some weeks ago, and the day afterward a bulkhead was sprung, allowing it to fill with water. No effort has been made to empty it, and it will probably remain until the sections of the tunnel tube are connected across the river bed, when the whole will be pumped dry at the same time.

MODEL REGULATION

Circular Received by Schools Inspectors Edwards.

Inspector Edwards is in receipt of the following circular from Dr. Pyne, minister of education, regarding the model schools: Nothing could better illustrate the slipshod methods of the department under the present regime. The circular, which is dated Sept. 9, should have been in the hands of model school teachers weeks ago: "For the present session of the county model school, and not thereafter, county boards may admit pupils who are qualified non-professionally as prescribed in Regulation 53, and who will be 18 years old on or before Aug. 17, 1908."

"Certificates of qualification as public school teachers shall, however, not be issued to such candidates until they are of the legal age; nor shall a county board have authority to admit any other candidate than those qualified as above."

A NEW RECORD

Three-Year-Old Stallion Trotted Mile in 2:09 at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Sept. 13.—At the State Fair here yesterday, Kentucky Todd, owned by J. W. Johnson, of Boston, established a new world's record of 2:09 for three-year-old stallions, and won the feature event of the card, the Western Horseman's stake purse of $1,100, for three-year-old trotters. Kentucky Todd negotiated the mile in 2:09 in the second heat.

No Direct Application to London

Local Manager Beard, of the Bell Telephone Company, stated to The Advertiser today that the report of the royal commission regarding the hours and conditions of the employees of the Toronto exchanges has no direct application to London.

Conditions are so different here and in Toronto that they bear no relation to the other, outside of the fact that in both places there are telephone operators.

In Toronto, Mr. Beard said, the business is very great and the girls are compelled to work at high pressure all the time. In London, such is not the case. Here the girls never work more than seven hours a day, and the majority work shorter hours. There is no dissatisfaction here, management and employees being perfectly satisfied with the conditions.

Report of Telephone Commission of Much Interest to Londoners

Hours of the Toronto Operators and Conditions Under Which They Work.

The report of the royal commission appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate the strike of the Toronto telephone operators, a brief synopsis of which was published in Thursday's Advertiser, is of much interest to Londoners, inasmuch as several young ladies from this city went to Toronto during the strike and have since been employed by the Bell Company there.

The Age Limit.

In dealing with the character of telephone operators the commissioners find that as the operators are usually young girls between 17 and 23 years of age, their systems are peculiarly sensitive to strain and sensitive to injury.

The work under any conditions involves a considerable strain on the nervous system, and sight, hearing and speech are constantly on the alert.

"We believe," is the conclusion, "that where it is a question between the money-making devices of a large corporation and the health of young girls and women, business expediency should be compelled to make way. The evidence given before us, and the facts of experience, as cited, go to prove that this is a matter which cannot, with safety, be intrusted to the parties concerned, but is one which, in the interest of the protection of the health and well-being of persons engaged in this form of industrial pursuit, calls for legislative interference on the part of the state."

Medical Examination.

A medical investigation is recommended in the following words: "Because, perhaps, of the comparatively recent introduction of industrial processes such as that of telephone operating, where the motive power is mechanical and where the whole trend of invention has been of a nature to

Not Impressed With Filtered Water; Londoner's Experience in Wisconsin

Mr. George McCormick Advises Londoners to Stick to Spring Water—Meter System.

Mr. George G. McCormick, president of the McCormick Manufacturing Company, recently returned from a tour of the Wisconsin lake country.

Said Mr. McCormick to The Advertiser yesterday: "I return with a keener appreciation than ever of London's spring water. A friend of mine, Mr. A. C. Hawes, is manager and part owner of the waterworks plant at Appleton, Wis., where filtered lake water is used, because they cannot get anything else. His remark to me was that it was 'a necessary evil.' I found they had filtration plants in most of the places I visited, and used lake water; but all the people who could afford it bought spring water by the gallon for drinking purposes.

"Upon making inquiries, I learned that the main difficulty lay in keeping the filtration plants in good working order. 'Filtered lake water is bad enough,' said Mr. Hawes, 'but filtered river water is worse.' His advice to Londoners was to resort to almost any filtration, at any cost, rather than adopt filtration and take the water from a small river like the Thames."

"I had some opportunity of studying the water system," added Mr. McCormick. "In Appleton they were threatened with a shortage of water, and adopted meters as the best method for saving it off. There was great opposition at first, but now the commissioners cannot furnish meters fast enough to please the consumers. The consumption of water was reduced four-fifths. That sounds like exaggeration, but I got the information from official sources."

The Honest Man and the Conductor

A certain street railway conductor of London is debating the question, "Is honesty the best policy?"

He has good reason to hold the debate.

Yesterday a mild looking gentleman approached him as the car stopped and said:

"You failed to collect my fare. Will you take it out of this quarter?" The conductor put the money in his satchel and handed the stranger 20 cents change.

Then he took another look at the coin.

It was a 20-cent piece.

And he had just rung up a cash fare!

Now he has blood in his eye for "honest" people.

THE WEATHER.

TOMORROW—SHOWERS, MOSTLY FAIR.

FORECASTS. Toronto, Sept. 13-8 a.m. Today—Fresh winds, mostly southeasterly to southwesterly; fine and warm.

Saturday—Some southerly showers or thunderstorms, but mostly fair.

The first column in the above table records the temperatures at 8 o'clock this morning, and the second column records the minimum temperatures during the 24 hours previous.

WEATHER NOTES.

Since yesterday morning a depression has traveled quickly from the Pacific States to the Upper Missouri Valley, while at the same time the western high pressure system has broken up.

Showers have been experienced in many localities from Northern Ontario to the Maritime Provinces. In the Western Provinces the weather has continued unusually cold, with rain in Manitoba, and rain is now falling in many portions of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Calgary recorded 10 degrees of frost during the night.

YESTERDAY'S TEMPERATURES. Minimum and maximum temperatures: London, 56.5-67; Dawson, 48-64; Atlin, 36-64; Vancouver, 40-64; Kamloops, 46-64; Calgary, 30-37; Edmonton, 34-44; Battleford, 36-56; Prince Albert, 36-44; Winnipeg, 38-59; Parry Sound, 50-58; Toronto, 56-60; Montreal, 54-62; Quebec, 58-64; Halifax, 60-72.

THE INFLUX OF ORIENTALS; 900 HINDOOS FOR VANCOUVER

Messages From the Mayor to Sir Wilfrid—Record of Jap Arrivals.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has received a telegram from the mayor of Vancouver stating that the authorities were doing all that they could to preserve the peace, and that several arrests had been made. The feeling in Vancouver was against Asiatics generally and not in particular against Japanese.

The Trade and Commerce Department has received the arrivals of Japanese from Victoria for the month of August. There were 351 males and 39 females, making 390 in all. Of these 261 were first arrivals; 27 second and 202 in transit. Besides these, 206 were in transit to the United States—three to points in Canada, and three to other points in the country.

Nine Hundred Hindoos Arrive.

[Associated Press Dispatch.]

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—The arrival of 900 Hindoos on the steamer Montague has further complicated the situation here. At noon Mayor Bethune dispatched this telegram to Premier Laurier:

"Neither accommodation nor employment for Hindoos arriving today; nor is it possible to house them under sanitary conditions. Shall we house them in drill hall at Government's expense?"

The mayor ordered the opening of a popular subscription list by the citizens to ship the entire 900 Hindoos east by special train, leaving tomorrow morning.

The feeling against the Hindoos is confined to the want of preparation on the part of their countrymen here to provide quarters and employment for them, not 50 being able to speak English, and not averaging $40 of wealth per man. There is no organization behind these men. They came of their own volition, drawn by letters of their prospering friends and relatives here, who are earning a dollar and a half

Engineer Talbot Will Fight Case He and Mr. Roberts State Positions

Lively Legal Row in Sight as Result of Alleged Slander Suit.

The die is cast and the gauntlet flung down by Mr. N. A. Roberts, of the Roberts Engraving Company, in the Roberts vs. County Engineer Talbot, alleged slander case, an outline of which was given in yesterday's Advertiser, has been taken up by Mr. Talbot.

Mr. Roberts has stated that unless Mr. Talbot apologized for certain statements he is alleged to have made, a suit for damages would be entered shortly.

Today Mr. Talbot was located at the Fair grounds, where he had gone to inspect some new concrete mixing machines.

"You can say for me," he said, "that the alleged slander charges are without any foundation whatever; in fact, they are nonsensical."

Cause of the Trouble. Mr. Talbot alleges that Mr. Roberts had been in the habit of accompanying home a relative of Mr. Talbot's wife for about a year.

"I had always been under the impression that he was a single man," said he, "until a short time ago, when I learned that he had a wife and family. One night afterward, when he accompanied the young lady home, I asked him if he was not married. He replied that he was not, whereupon I lost control of myself and gave him a slap in the face, saying at the same time, 'Tell the truth.'"

"Mr. Roberts replied that he had been mistaken, that he was married. 'I then assisted him in a none too gentle manner to remove himself from the premises. Sometime later I met him on a Springbank car, and told him not to forget to inform his wife of the drubbing he had received. I don't know whether he told her of the facts or not, but I do know that he has never shown his face around my door since the night I ejected him."

Mr. Talbot intimated that much which had not as yet been revealed would come out in court if the alleged slander case ever came to trial.

"I will admit," said he, "that I hurt his face and other portions of his person on the night he denied that he was married, and I don't mind saying that under similar conditions I would repeat the dose with interest."

The Other Side.

From the other side of the argument an entirely different story comes forth. "I had known the young lady in question for some time," said Mr. Roberts, "and had occasionally accompanied her home. I did not see any harm in offering my protection to her when she

LOCAL BANKER ADVISED OF WESTERN FROST

Decidedly Cold Weather Will Seriously Affect the Wheat.

Frost is reported in the Northwest and it is said that serious damage has been done the crop, especially in Alberta. Mr. H. Campbell Becher, broker, this morning received a wire from Calgary which reads as follows:

"Calgary—Keen frost in Calgary last night. Only 50 per cent oats and 20 per cent wheat in shock. Thermometer reached 20 degrees below zero. This report contains in brief very serious news, as the crop in the west will be greatly spoiled by the frost. The wheat crop cannot stand the frost."

Tommy Russell at His Old Pranks; Robbed Tent at Local Fair Grounds

Was Promptly Arrested, Tried and Found Guilty This Morning.

The first case of theft at this year's Fair came to light this morning when "Tommy" Russell, an old offender, appeared before Magistrate Love charged with having stolen property to the value of some $30 from Harry Pierson, of Toronto, who conducts a baseball-throwing game at the Fair grounds.

Pierson has a trunk in his stand containing approximately $500 worth of cheap watches, pearl mirrors and other articles which he offers as prizes for the game he is conducting. This morning about 8 o'clock while Pierson was at breakfast, John Smith, who conducts a booth nearby, noticed Russell crawling from beneath the canvas which surrounds the Toronto man's booth.

Suspecting that something was wrong, Smith and another booth-owner seized Russell, who immediately put up a fight for freedom.

Put Up Fight. During the scuffle two pearl boxes and a watch dropped from Russell's coat. Realizing that he had been caught in the act he renewed his efforts to break loose and finally succeeded in doing so after he had severely bitten one of his captors' wrists.

Special Constable Mason was notified of the incident and started a search for the fugitive with the result that Russell was eventually located in the cupboard of a restaurant conducted by a man named Pickle at the Fair grounds.

When arrested Russell tried to bribe the constable to let him go. He pleaded not guilty at the police court and professed his innocence to the very last.

A Real Crook.

"I find you guilty," said the magistrate, "and I warn you that unless you reveal the hiding place of the remainder of the goods you stole, it will be the harder for you. You are remanded a week for sentence."

On Russell's person was found a large bunch of very suspicious-looking keys, including keys to the Dominion postoffice, a C. P. R. switch key, and two keys to boxes in the Peterboro postoffice. Russell said that he had bought the keys from a second-hand dealer in Toronto.

Captain T. J. Murphy prosecuted in the absence of Crown Attorney McKillop.

Samuel Silverstein was taxed $1 and costs for allowing his horses to run at large, and a number of drunks were discharged.

G. T. R. Will Not Handle Acetylene

Grand Trunk officials and employees in London are in receipt of the following circular issued by General Superintendent of Transportation Brownlee, and attested by Third Vice-President Fitzhugh:

"Owing to numerous cases of fire in railroad accidents which have resulted from the carriage of or use of acetylene gas, this company will hereafter decline to haul cars carrying stored acetylene gas, or cars with their own acetylene generating plant charged."

Official cars equipped with acetylene gas for illuminating purposes will not be declined, providing storage tanks are declined, and the generating plants or cartridges emptied when coming on to the line. Failure to observe this rule means instant dismissal.

Another Big Day at Western Fair; Thousands See the Great Exhibition

Excellent Programme Carried Out Before the Stands—Some Meritorious Exhibits.

Although the weather yesterday morning was not at all favorable for the Western Fair, toward the afternoon the sun came out and people, who had been thronging the city streets in thousands all morning flocked to the grounds. By about 3 o'clock in the afternoon the crowd had become immense and was not far behind the usual Thursday afternoon number.

Many visitors from the surrounding country and from neighboring towns and cities came here, and on account of the weather did not go to the Fair Grounds, but spent their visit among friends and relatives in the city, while others took advantage of the reduced rates on the railroads to come to the city and do their purchasing.

Today promises to be a record-breaker for a Friday. All day long crowds have been going to the grounds, and it is believed that when the gate receipts have been counted up the Western Fair Association will have cause to cease worrying about whether the exhibition is to be a financial success or not.

The disagreeable weather has been a boon to the show men and has also driven the people to the grandstands in the evenings, and the stock and horse show buildings have been well patronized and have been crowded ever since the opening of the exhibition.

The dog show has also prospered, notwithstanding the adverse weather conditions.

The grandstand attractions are worthy of mention and the fireworks have been very good.

So far the exhibition has been pulled off without a serious mishap, which, considering the immense crowds of strangers who have been visiting the city and the grounds since the opening day, is remarkable.

The Speed Events.

The speed events proved very interesting, and good time was made considering the very bad conditions of the track. It was improved over Wednesday, but at that was many seconds slow. The free-for-all brought out a quartette of fast horses, such old-timers as Wisdom King, and Darkey being pitted against such fast nags as Lady May and Dumont W.

The race proved a one-horse affair, Lady May being right at home in the bunting and moving away from the finish whenever she pleased. This mare is fast and handy. She has won two races in two days, and showed her superiority in a pronounced manner.

White Minors—A great improvement in this class. They are coming a great deal nearer to type and color. A. C. Moyer, Waterloo, is a heavy winner.

Games—A large class. Some fine Indian Games. The winners were N. T. Young and Robert Nixon, Brick street.

Sumatras—F. Shane, St. Thomas, exhibited some fine specimens.

Hamburgs—R. Oke "cleaned up" on this fine variety.

Polands—A large class and many birds of exceptional merit. This is where W. McNeil shines, all the prizes going to McNeil, London, and C. and J. Bogue, Strathroy. David Bogue, Lambeth, was a heavy winner in a great many varieties.

Houdans—Charlton, of Ilderton, and C. and J. Bogue, Strathroy, were the principal exhibitors.

In Bantams, The Advertiser could not attempt to describe and comment on the birds, as there were so large an exhibit and of such excellent quality that the only way a person could form any idea of the extent of this class would be to visit the show.

Sheep.

The exhibit in this department is almost double that of last year.

The display of the different breeders exhibited great taste. Each variety was shown by large display cards and signs. T. H. Shore, Westminster, and Elgin F. Park, Burgessville, were the principal winners in Cotswolds.

Hastings Bros., Crosshill, have some fine ones, one aged ram weighing over 400 pounds.

Robert McEwen, Byron, makes a grand showing in Southdowns.

Lloyd-Jones Bros., Burford, in Shropshires, won sweepstakes on yearling ewe and second on ram.

Oak Park Farm, Brantford, has a fine exhibit in Shropshires, winning many prizes.

Dorset Sheep—A fine exhibit. F. H. Neil, Lucan, makes a fine exhibit in Lincolns.

POULTRY.

Thursday is generally one of the best days of the Fair for the poultry breeder, as a great many intending purchasers come on that day to pick up some of the most promising birds for the small fairs that follow the Western. And a great many birds change hands.

Some good sales were reported. A. George, London, sold a very fine White Orpington cock to a Guelph firm for a handsome figure. The White Orpington is a new breed, brought to this country by Wm. Cook & Sons, of Orpington, Eng. They also breed the Blacks and Buffs.

Mr. Heard, of London, exhibited two pairs of Whites, winning first on a cockerel and pullet; also second cockerel and second pullet.

In Plymouth Rocks there was a large exhibit.

The White variety was about the best exhibit ever seen at the Western. J. A. Carroll, St. James' Park, won first on a fine shaped bird; splendid in color, and good in leg coloring.

J. W. Nixon came second with another fine bird.

H. Hicks, London, took first with a hen, and W. H. Westbury, second.

J. R. Boyce, London, captured first

on cockerel; a splendid bird, good in color, and of great shape.

Fred Andrews, London, won first on pullet, a prize which was very much coveted by the poultry fraternity.

In Buffs, all the prizes went to G. D. McLean, Ridgeway, and J. R. Boyce, London.

Wyandottes—A very large class, and the hottest kind of competition in all varieties.

The Whites are a large entry, and a great improvement over last year.

J. A. Carroll, St. James' Park, won first place with a very fine hen, beautiful in type and color; also first on pullet.

James Rooke & Son, London, won first on cock bird.

A number of birds, old and young, of splendid shape and color failed to get into the ring.

Golden Wyandottes—A great improvement over former years.

J. H. Saunders, London, won first. Christian Produce Farm, first on hen.

John Macpherson, South London, first on a fine pullet, showing splendid lacing.

Christian Produce Farm, first on cockerel.

Silvers—First cock, A. Flawn, London, second, James Arthur, London.

Hens—First and second, James Arthur.

Buff and Blacks—A small class, but some good birds. In Blacks, C. and J. Bogue, Strathroy, and J. R. Smith, Strathroy, won everything in sight.

Partridge—Some fine ones in this class. First cock and hen were birds of excellent merit, showing great color and penciling. They are the property of L. Sage, London.

John Macpherson, South London, was another heavy winner.

Rhode Island Reds—A great improvement in this class. J. R. Boyce had first cock and hen—two fine ones.

First cockerel went to J. A. Hughes; first pullet to George E. Potter.

Columbian Wyandottes—A new variety, a small exhibit, and far from being up to the mark in penciling.

Loghorns—A large class, and some excellent birds.

White—First cock, hen, cockerel and pullet, J. L. McCormick, Brantford.

Browns—First and second cock, W. A. Gurney, London.

Pullets—First, second and third went to Jacob Streib, West Lorne. Last year Mr. Streib captured the same prizes on pullets.

Irish—Irwin & Yelland, London, first hen, and W. Moore second.

Buff—G. Jeffries, Toronto, captured everything, and A. E. Doan, Watford, cleaned up on Blacks.

T. A. Paulds, London, secured all the firsts on Black Minorcas.

White Minors—A great improvement in this class. They are coming a great deal nearer to type and color. A. C. Moyer, Waterloo, is a heavy winner.

Games—A large class. Some fine Indian Games. The winners were N. T. Young and Robert Nixon, Brick street.

Sumatras—F. Shane, St. Thomas, exhibited some fine specimens.

Hamburgs—R. Oke "cleaned up" on this fine variety.

Polands—A large class and many birds of exceptional merit. This is where W. McNeil shines, all the prizes going to McNeil, London, and C. and J. Bogue, Strathroy. David Bogue, Lambeth, was a heavy winner in a great many varieties.

Houdans—Charlton, of Ilderton, and C. and J. Bogue, Strathroy, were the principal exhibitors.

In Bantams, The Advertiser could not attempt to describe and comment on the birds, as there were so large an exhibit and of such excellent quality that the only way a person could form any idea of the extent of this class would be to visit the show.

Sheep.

The exhibit in this department is almost double that of last year.

The display of the different breeders exhibited great taste. Each variety was shown by large display cards and signs. T. H. Shore, Westminster, and Elgin F. Park, Burgessville, were the principal winners in Cotswolds.

Hastings Bros., Crosshill, have some fine ones, one aged ram weighing over 400 pounds.

Robert McEwen, Byron, makes a grand showing in Southdowns.

Lloyd-Jones Bros., Burford, in Shropshires, won sweepstakes on yearling ewe and second on ram.

Oak Park Farm, Brantford, has a fine exhibit in Shropshires, winning many prizes.

Dorset Sheep—A fine exhibit. F. H. Neil, Lucan, makes a fine exhibit in Lincolns.

POULTRY.

Thursday is generally one of the best days of the Fair for the poultry breeder, as a great many intending purchasers come on that day to pick up some of the most promising birds for the small fairs that follow the Western. And a great many birds change hands.

POULTRY.

Thursday is generally one of the best days of the Fair for the poultry breeder, as a great many intending purchasers come on that day to pick up some of the most promising birds for the small fairs that follow the Western. And a great many birds change hands.

Some good sales were reported. A. George, London, sold a very fine White Orpington cock to a Guelph firm for a handsome figure. The White Orpington is a new breed, brought to this country by Wm. Cook & Sons, of Orpington, Eng. They also breed the Blacks and Buffs.

Mr. Heard, of London, exhibited two pairs of Whites, winning first on a cockerel and pullet; also second cockerel and second pullet.

In Plymouth Rocks there was a large exhibit.

The White variety was about the best exhibit ever seen at the Western. J. A. Carroll, St. James' Park, won first on a fine shaped bird; splendid in color, and good in leg coloring.

J. W. Nixon came second with another fine bird.

H. Hicks, London, took first with a hen, and W. H. Westbury, second.

J. R. Boyce, London, captured first

on cockerel; a splendid bird, good in color, and of great shape.

LONDON, FRIDAY, SEPT. 13, 1907.

MR. BORDEN'S DILEMMA.

The leader of the Federal Opposition addresses a meeting in this city tonight.

The burden of his speech will probably be, as in other places, a plea for clean politics, and for the return of the Conservative party to power as a pledge of purer and better government.

Mr. Borden has impressed the country as a personally honest man, who is disposed, like Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to keep the discussion of public affairs on a high level. He has the instincts of a gentleman, and never descends to scurrility or coarse abuse in his public utterances. He has not impressed the country, or his own party, as a man of heroic mold, or one who has "all the qualities of a successful leader."

Mr. Borden's weakness is responsible for his association with discredited politicians during his present itinerary.
The companionship of such men as Foster, Fowler, and Pope, has probably been thrust upon him. He is not the man the public think he is if he has invited them to join him in a tour in which he is making a specialty of denouncing graft and corruption.
Doubtless, he secretly chafes at their presence on the same platform. To expel such party veterans as Foster and Pope from the party councils is not a pleasant duty for a leader, but it is a duty nevertheless, and in shirking it Mr. Borden is discounting his righteous professions.

If as leader of the Opposition Mr.
Borden has not the courage to discard such a crew, but allows them to appear as his right-hand supporters, he cannot complain if there is a popular presumption that he would not have the resolution to keep the undesirable elements of his party in the background if he became the leader of the Government.

THE HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The physical examination of school children and the adoption of means for keeping them in such health that they may be enabled to fairly avail themselves of the educational advantages offered were among the important questions discussed at the international conference on school hygiene held in London recently. Some of the facts there presented were really startling. For instance, an eminent English physician, Dr. Dukes, gave the results of his physical examination of one thousand boys on their entrance into the famous Rugby school. These youths he described as a special class—strong, healthy, well-fed, and reared mainly in the country; yet he found among them 445 cases of lateral curvature of the spine, 526 cases of knock-knees, and 329 flat feet. These deformities were not congenital, but acquired and preventable, and, as the doctor expressed it, indicative of inferior systems of nurture and education between the ages of, say, five and thirteen years. With such conditions among the most favored class of boys, the disabilities among less fortunate children can be imagined.

Nor is this evidence of neglect of children's well-being confined to England, statistics showing that there are many such minor deformities among applicants for admission to the best secondary schools of the United States.
In New York city, for instance, some 78,401 children were examined in 1906, and it was found that among them were 29,177 cases of enlarged anterior glands, 1,096 cases of cardiac disease, 17,923 of defective vision, 39,597 of neglected teeth, and 18,306 of hypertrophied tonsils. All told, no less than 56,259, or nearly 72 per cent of those examined, were found to be in need of medical treatment. It was further found that in the great majority of cases children who suffered from physical disability were backward in their studies.

There is no reason for supposing that examination of Canadian school children would result in any better showing than that given above. There can be no doubt that what is regarded as stupidity, sullenness, indifference or inattention to study in a child is often the result of physical defects; that what he needs is not punishment, but the attention of a physician. Not infrequently children are allowed to suffer not so much on account of the cost of medical treatment as because of the ignorance of parents.

Some months ago the superintendent of New York schools urged that the eyes of school children be examined, and that glasses be provided, at the public expense, if necessary, for those with defective sight. A writer in the

New York Evening Post remarked at the time:

"It seems folly to supply books to children who cannot read them, or to pace children in classrooms when they cannot see what is written or drawn on the blackboard. If the sight is defective, the child is hopelessly handicapped. The expenditure of a few thousand dollars for glasses would enable thousands of children who are now unable to do their school work to stand on the same level with their fellows."

The suggestion to provide children with glasses at the public expense brought forth strong opposition from those who saw, or fancied they saw,
"Socialism" in the proposal, and nothing has thus far been done in the direction of carrying it out. It is certain, however, that more attention paid everywhere to the physical condition of the children attending schools, much would be done to improve the discipline and increase the efficiency of those institutions of learning, and at the same time to improve the physique of the men and women of the future.

CANADA AND THE ASIATICS.

Dispatches from Ottawa indicate that negotiations with Tokio are proceeding amicably, and that the restriction of Japanese immigration from every quarter will be brought about voluntarily by the Japanese Government.

It may be thought that in subscribing to the Anglo-Japanese treaty Canada has forfeited the right to exclude Japanese subjects, and must depend entirely upon the goodwill of Japan in this matter. This is a mistaken view. In a dispatch to the Ottawa Government in 1898 Mr. Chamberlain called attention to the legislation by which Natal excludes Asiatics, and broadly hinted that it was open to Canada to pursue the same policy.

The colony of Natal without discriminating openly against any nationality imposes an educational test, which has the desired effect of excluding Orientals. Protesting against the anti-Japanese legislation of British Columbia Mr. Chamberlain wrote:

"Her Majesty's Government must regret to find the Government and Legislature of British Columbia adopting a course which is justly regarded as offensive by a friendly power, and they hope that your ministers will be able to arrange for the cancellation of the objectionable provisions and the substitution of a measure, which while it will secure the desired exclusion of undesirable immigrants, will obtain that result by means of some such general test as that already suggested in my dispatch No. 214, of July 20, 1898."

The general test mentioned was that contained in the Natal act. In a later dispatch Mr. Chamberlain again urged the substitution of this test for the anti-Japanese laws passed by the Legislature of British Columbia. Here is a power which Canada holds in reserve, but which need not be exercised if Japan will co-operate in solving the problem as she seems disposed to do.

Imagine Foster, Pope and Fowler as peripatetic peddlers of purity professions!

The Western Fair directors would have appreciated this weather more two days ago.

The cheap labor argument urged in favor of Asiatic immigration is not a valid one. The quality of Canadian citizenship is the main thing.

This is a British country and the Vancouver hoodlums should be taught that all who are under the British flag are under the protection of British laws.

Russian mobs are killing Jews at Lodz; the Moors are warring on foreigners, and Canadians are rioting against the Japanese. Isn't the spirit behind these outbreaks the same in all three cases?

[Chicago Tribune.]
"Yes," said the young father, "we're pretty busy at our house now. We're moving." Where?
"Moving everything out of baby's reach.
He's learning to creep."

AMBIDEXTROUS.

[Yonkers Statesman.]
"Pop!"
"Yes, my son."
"Did you know that Mr. West, of Chicago, is ambidextrous?"
"No, I did not, my boy."
"Well, he is. I was over there to dinner today, and I saw him eating pie. First he used one hand and then the other."

ONE THING LACKING.

[Baltimore American.]
"Mrs. Chatterton is a perfect talking machine."
"As a piece of machinery, though, she lacks one detail."
"What is that?"
"The exhaust."

HER FEAR.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
He held her little hand while
And in her timid eyes he gazed;
His lips curved in a tender smile,
And then he left her there amazed.
She stood alone and watched the boy
Until she saw him disappear.
Then sadly said: "I was so coy,
That he was scared away. I fear."

AN EXPERIMENT WORTH WHILE.

[Buffalo Express.]
King Edward may not be exactly the man one would expect to find taking such a stand—nevertheless, being King Edward!
Fashion is a great power, and the King's act in leaving a hall where indecent songs were being sung was the cue for everybody else who valued public opinion to follow. As a sociological proposition it would be interesting to consider what would be the result if this stand were taken by the men who are leaders of fashion all over the civilized world.

A WELL-POSTED BISHOP.

[Montreal Herald.]
The Bishop of London seems to have preached for half an hour on Canadian history without making any breaks. For a "foreigner" that is a tremendous performance. The very least one can say will do is to start Jacques Cartier up the Saguenay River from his mouth at Montreal.

SPEAKING FOR HIMSELF.

[Hamilton Herald.]
It is all very well for Mr. Borden to say that the Conservative party is in favor of the nationalization of the telegraph and telephone services—but how does he know?

"THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN."

[Punch.]
Recruit (to instructor)—Please, sir, do 's ave to pull much harder at them 'ere five
'undred nor at the two 'undred yards?

THE HEART OF THE LAKES.

[Wilfred Campbell.]
There are crags that loom like specters
Half under the sun and the mist,
There are beaches that gleam and glisten,
There are ears that open to listen,
And lips held up to be kissed.

There are miles and miles of waters
That throbb like a woman's breast,
With a glad, harmonious motion,
Like happiness caught at rest;
As if a heart beat under the sky,
In love with its own glad rest.
Beating and beating for ever
Outward to east and west.

There are forests that kneel for ever Bowed in the dreamiest haze,
That God sends down in summer
To mantle the gold of its days—
Kneeling and leaning for ever
In winding and sinuous bays.

There are birds that like smoke-drift hover
With a strange and bodiless cry,
Into the dream and the distance
The marshes that southward lie,
With their lonely lagoons and rivers,
Far under the reeling sky.

SOAKING THE FAIR.

[Toronto Star.]
So far London's fall fair seems to be chiefly a rainfall affair.

THE CARDINAL'S WIFE.

[Lippincott's.] Cardinal Gibbons, the venerable head of the Catholic Church in America, is one of the most democratic men in the country. He also enjoys a good joke, even when told at his own expense. He once related how a Baltimore newspaper man who may have been more zealous in journalism than learned in religion, called at the Cardinal's house one day to ask his eminence for information concerning some church matter.

"The Cardinal is out of the city," said Father Fletcher, who received the caller.
"Then may I see Mrs. Gibbons?" was the startling request that followed.

FREEDOM AND LOVE.

[Thomas Campbell.]
How delicious is the winning
Of a kiss at love's beginning,
When two mutual hearts are sighing
For the knot there's no untying!

Yet remember, 'midst your wooing,
Love has bliss, but Love has sorrow;
Other smiles may make you fickle,
Tears for other charms may trickie.

Love he comes and Love he tarries,
Just as fate or fancy carries;
Longest stays when sorrow's hidden;
Laughs and flies, when press'd and bidden.

Bind the sea to slumber still,
Bind its odor to the lily,
Bind the aspen never to quiver,
Then bind Love to last for ever.

Love's a fire that needs renewal
Of fresh beauty for its fuel;
Love's wings moult when caged and captured.

Only free, he soars enraptured.
Can you keep the bee from ranging,
Or the ringdove's neck from changing?
Not nor fester Love from dying
In the knot there's no untying.

WOMEN'S LOVE OF UGLY MEN.

[Exchange.]
The illustrious men in history who were distinguished as much for the fascination which they exercised over the fair sex as for their talents and ability, were, as a rule, plain and insignificant in appearance. Julius Caesar was a very ill-favored man, and yet when a mere stripling, before his fame in Rome, girls of his own age sighed for him, and mature women longed for his love. Among the men of later times who were renowned in like manner were Sir Philip Sidney, plain in most to ugliness; Paul Scarron, the comic poet, a cripple; Voltaire, unmistakably ugly, and Rousseau, whose manners were awkward as his face was plain; while John Wilkes, who had the power to subjugate any woman who spoke to him for even five minutes, was admitted by his own showing to be the ugliest man in England in his time.

NOT LACKING.

[Judge.]
"I am sorry, my dear sir, but I neglected to bring my surgical instruments with me."
"That will be all right, doctor. The plumber who has been working in the cellar has left his tools here."

WOMEN AT WORK.

[Detroit Free Press.]
This table shows how women are represented in the different vocations in the United States, or were when the census figures were taken:
Servants and waiters1,155,561
Farm laborers231,459
Dressmakers338,144
Laundresses328,925
Teachers328,206
Farmers307,768
Textile mill hands231,459
Saleswomen142,285
Seamstresses138,724
Nurses108,591
Bookkeepers72,896
Laborers106,916
Typewriters85,058
Milliners82,935
Clerks81,000
Tailors61,571
That includes all the important classifications.
The total indicates that the number of women wage-earners in the United States is over one-fifth the number of male wage-earners.
And almost every one of them who is doing the same kind of work that is done by men must do it for less money.
Whose is the fault? This they are endeavoring to ascertain.

ACTRESS WAS SLASHED

Hit on Head With Broadsword While Rehearsing Play.

New York, Sept. 12.—In the duel scene in the second act of the new play, "The Christian Pilgrim," now rehearsing at the Hudson Theater, Henrietta Crossman, failing to guard herself properly, was struck on the head with a broadsword in the hands of Tyrone Power.

Miss Crossman got a scalp wound,
and the rehearsal was abandoned.
Miss Crossman was able to go unassisted to her home at 362 Riverside Drive. Preparations for the play have been postponed for several days.

Annie Besant Says She Knows Who She Used To Be.

New York, Sept. 12.—"I believe that the soul of Mme. Blavatsky has been transferred to me and that I am to follow in the footsteps which she marked out for me. I am satisfied that I had a former human existence, but I would rather not tell who I was in the past."
In the foregoing words Mrs. Annie Besant, the new leader of the Theosophist Society, expressed herself on her arrival from Europe.

Mrs. Besant is on her way to Chicago to attend a convention of the Theosophist Society, opening there next Sunday. Mrs. Besant said:
"The transmigration of soul to the human body was so marked in my own case that I have every necessary evidence that I was a number of former persons in the past."

FOR PERMANENT PEACE

Republics of Central America Trying to Reach Agreement.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Practical agreement on the main points and general goodwill marked the preliminary meeting today in this city, of the representatives of the five Central American republics to carry out the suggestion of the United States and Mexico for permanent peace. After a session of several hours, the conference adjourned until Monday next.

Those who participated in today's meeting and the respective governments represented by them were:
Senor Calvo, Costa Rica; Senor Corea, Nicaragua; Senor Herrarte, Guatemala; Senor Mejia, Salvador; Dr.
Urgate, Honduras; Assistant Secretary of State Adeo and Senor Godoy, Mexico.
Messrs. Adeo and Godoy addressed the Central American representatives in Spanish. Each spoke of the importance of the meeting and the benefits to be derived from peace.
At the solicitation of the Central American representative, Messrs. Adeo and Godoy remained throughout the session.

None of the parties to the conference would disclose the nature of the questions discussed, pleading that no conclusions had been reached. It was learned, however, that the only point on which any hitch occurred was that relating to the protocol to be signed.
"Everything was exceedingly encouraging," said Mr. Adeo tonight,
"and the utmost good nature pre-valled."

FALL FASHIONS REIGN

WILD BILL WINS THE FIRST

Their weight carried a portion of the fence down with them and for a few minutes it looked as though someone might have been seriously hurt or killed. As it was they all escaped.
It was at this time that Cobb was hurt. The Georgian ran straight at the crowd in trying for the ball and threw himself over the ropes in a desperate effort to get the ball. His hand struck on a broken bottle and there was a sharp thump was painfully cut. The Tigers got busy again in the seventh,
however, and tied the score.

Love fled out, but Crawford walked.
Cobb advanced him with a single to right, and then Rossman drew a pass, filling the bases. Downs struck out. A passed ball sent Sam over the plate with the tying tally and there was a chance to win out. But it was almost too dark even then to locate the ball and Schmidt also struck out.
They went through one more inning, more by good luck than good management. Then play was called.

Today they will again go at it, trying to play that postponed game off. The first game will start at 2 o'clock, with Mullin working against Rhoades. They will try to crowd two games in before 5 o'clock, as the locals have to leave to catch a train to St. Louis. The Saleswomen's Peril

GRAVE DISEASES, DUE TO STANDING

Facts About Miss Merkle's Dangerous Illness and Complete Cure.

Have you ever thought why so many women or girls rather walk an hour than stand still for ten minutes?

It is because most women suffer from some derangement of their delicate organism, the discomfort of which is less trying when they are in motion than when standing.

In some states law compel employers to provide resting places for their female employees.

But no amount of law can regulate the hard tasks of these women. They must get the strength which this work demands or run the risk of serious diseases and the surgeon's knife.

Read about the experience of Miss Margaret Merkle, 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis. —

Dear Mrs. Pinkham —

"Gradual loss of strength, nervousness, bearing down pains and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said I had diseased organs and ulceration, and advised an operation if I wanted to get well. I objected to this and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I soon found that all the good things said about this great medicine were true. The ulceration soon healed, backache, headache and nervousness disappeared, and in a short time I was strong, vigorous and perfectly well. I wish every working girl who suffers would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and strengthens the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the cases of other sick women as with Miss Merkle.

"In any case, there's no reason why she shouldn't come back, now that the other one has disappeared," I said. "How can Leah tell?" Joy exclaimed. "How will she know whether it is for the other one? We're really the same persons outwardly. There's no difference that she could recognize unless she talked to me. That's what has terrified me."

Then for the first time I saw the dilemma. How, indeed, could Leah know? The same woman, the same clothes—but yet, how different! "Have you no sign?" I asked. "Haven't you ever arranged it with Leah so that she can tell?"

"Oh, not for a case like this. It has never been necessary. You see, the change always comes at night, at least always during sleep, so that when I wake up she can tell right off, by asking me what I'll have for breakfast. We've arranged it so that I shall always give a fanciful reply, and let her give an obvious commonplace one. But now, Leah doesn't come in, for she knows, that if I should happen to be the other one, there'll be the same terrible something that happened before—a quarrel or worse."

"Still, there are some apparent differences. You dress differently. It seems to me. You usually wear white. Won't Leah know by her experience of you both?"

"Oh, no; you can't tell. She's so whimsical, sometimes she'll do one thing, and sometimes another, like a child. You can't depend on her. She's tricky, too."

THE NEW KIMONO COAT—6965.

The up-to-date wardrobe is not complete unless it includes a long coat, which may be used for traveling or driving, or for general wear in cool or rainy weather, and the most practical of such coats are those which are semi-fitting and roomy. The kimono coat illustrated, possesses all the essential qualities of a serviceable, comfort-yielding garment, while its graceful shaping is most admirable, being so arranged that the coat fits easily across the bust and shoulders, widening thence to the hem, where it hangs in full, loose folds. The long, sloping shoulder, with the wide sleeve, seemed as a continuation of the shoulder seam and set into the wide armhole without fullness, is a unique and conspicuous feature, this being the "latest cry" in Parisian coat models. As shown, the coat is made of biscuit-colored broadcloth, with applied trimmings of black satin, and is a most appropriate coat for afternoon or evening wear; but it may be developed in homespun, cheviot or tweed for ordinary wear, or in waterproof, silk or lined cravenette if needed for a rain coat. To make the medium size will require 5 1/2 yards of cloth 54 inches wide.

6965—Sizes, 32, 36 and 40 inches. The price of this pattern is 10 cents.

"I could tell, I'm sure—by your eyes. Hers are darker, and the pupils are dilated, aren't they, usually?"

"Yes—but Leah doesn't come near enough for that, don't you see? Oh, she must be in agony, poor girl! But how do I know? She may be dead!"

"You forget that she has written to me since leaving."

"Oh, yes—that is a relief. But I may have hurt her."

"Oh, Joy! Don't say you could have—it was not you, it was Edna."

"Well, how can I tell whether or not I'm responsible?"

"I don't think she would have struck her," I said.

"No? She did once, though. She stabbed Leah with a carving tool on the wrist. It always sickens me to see that scar. Oh, she has a temper! Poor Leah!"

She lay back on the cushions again and closed her eyes. Her hand had relaxed in mine.

I looked at her, so wearied and pale, and said softly:

"You just drop off to sleep for a little while, and I'll think it over."

She nodded her head, and pulled herself up.

"Oh, no!" she exclaimed. "I'm dying for sleep, but don't you see I can't? If I should fall asleep who would it be that would awake? It might be she."

"By Jove!" I cried. "I hadn't thought of that!"

"I've thought of nothing else. That's why I stayed up and kept awake while I am so exhausted. If Leah comes back, she must find me here, and not the other one. I must see her and find out what has happened—we must arrange for everything and decide what plan to adopt to circumvent her. Oh, I must keep awake! Even as she spoke her head dropped again heavily."

"You can't tell, then, when the change is likely to come?"

"Sometimes I have a feeling—a premonition—like that night, don't you remember when I was so blue? I knew that I was going to change. But usually I can't tell. She has come lately about two days in the seven, but irregularly. It's almost always after a deep, heavy sleep. You remember how late she used to lie abed? That's what worries me now. I'm absolutely exhausted, and if I do fall asleep, I'll go down deep. So deep, I'm afraid, that I'll change. Can you think what a horror that is to me? I must stay up till Leah comes. You must promise to keep me awake by every means in your power. But even then what are we going to do? How can we arrange a way for Leah to get along with her?"

"That's where I come into the game," I said. "I think I can solve that problem."

"How did you get on with her?" Joy asked timidly. It was quite as if she were asking about another woman and feared to commit an impertinence.

"Do you like her?" she asked.

"She's not to be compared to you, of course. But there's much that's likable about her, and at least, we get on beautifully. And so we shall, if this time, if she'll only let me stay. That's the difficulty."

"Oh, she'll let you stay, she'll be only too glad. She likes you, Leah says." Her brows drew together, and I wondered how much she knew.

"Well, then, I'll undertake to make her keep Leah."

"Oh, if you can do that—on any terms—we can stand it, both of us. Leah will suffer anything, I'm sure rather than leave me."

"One thing more, then—since I must have all the information if I am to do anything—what does she know?"

"About me? Nothing, I think. At least she has never been told, I mean. We've always kept it from her. She thinks she's the only one."

"I don't see how that can be possible!"

"It does seem strange; but then, you know she's mentally undeveloped. In some ways she's a mere child. And then, too, she has never known any to be any different. Why should she suspect that there is another personality—that she isn't the real Joy Fielding? She's conscious that she loses time, so to speak, and she thinks it is only the fault of her memory."

"I thought it over a while. Then I said: 'She wouldn't say much about it to me, and so I didn't.' Quite get her point of view. It baffles me. She must know that she does things in the lapses, even if she doesn't recall them."

"I don't know that she's even aware of that. She may think that she's unconscious, during these lapses, but it is just likely it is just like dreams. Even if we vaguely remember them, for a moment, we forget them, and they don't seem to have been real—or, perhaps, they're like delirium, or insane intervals, of which she has no memory. Why, a man may even be simply drunk, and not recall what he has done, and that self is, really, a different personality."

"But," I pursued, "do you forget, too?"

"Yes. That is, almost always. At times I have had vague formless memories, as one has of dreams—that's about as much as this second life ever is associated with my normal one—if what I now have is the normal—how do I know even that? But I have known about the duality almost from the first, and of course Leah keeps me informed of everything that happens. You see, sometimes I'm not even aware that there has been a lapse—I don't realize that it isn't just the next day. Leah tells her as little as possible about me. She's easily managed and put off, usually, but somehow of late she seems to have grown stronger. She seems to be developing mentally. It frightens me a little."

"You don't think that anybody has told her, possibly?" I suggested.

"There's nobody to tell her. Of course, Leah never would."

"Uncle Jordan?"

"Oh, he thinks I'm crazy, and he never talks, anyway, I'm sure. He doesn't realize what's happening, for after all, we're not obviously different; she might be taken for me in some queer mood, I mean," she added.

"King?"

"I believe he thinks that I'm possessed of a devil. Which I think I am!" She paused to smile faintly. "Anyway he minds his own business. I have an idea that he has a reason for wanting to keep quiet."

"Or, lastly, then the doctor?" I put it hesitatingly, yet I wanted to know what she would say. Her answer was prompt.

"He wouldn't tell, I'm sure. Why, he wants to cure me. It would spoil all chance of that, I think, if she knew."

I wasn't so sure of the doctor, after what Leah had said to me, but it would do no good now, to mention that. She had trouble enough at present not to worry her with new doubts.

"Then, is it possible that she might have come across some evidence of you, in your writings or something that would arouse her curiosity?"

"Oh, I think she hasn't the least suspicion," I said, it must all seem natural enough for her to lose time—she has always done so. Everything is accounted for to her by the fact that she forgets. Of course, I am careful to hide everything that is strictly my own, anything that is, that she would not understand. Leah keeps all my private letters under lock and key. I'm very careful, for I've been on my guard since it first began."

"How long?" I asked.

"Ever since I was thirteen. That's when she came first."

"It's incredible!" I exclaimed. "Of course, I've heard of such multiple personalities, of the celebrated ones, but they've seemed only like queer, improbable cases out of a book—monstrosities. Or I've regarded them as half-crazed or hysterical or somnambulist. But you, Miss Fielding! You seem so beautifully sane so poised, so completely it's like a fairy tale. Oh, you are the 'White Cat'! You are under a spell!"

"It's only because I'm not a poor girl that I'm not a mere 'case,' I assure you. You don't know what a life I've led, how every physician I've had has wanted to study me, or put me in a sanatorium or a hospital or an asylum, or worse. Yes, if I had the money, I should probably be in a madhouse at this moment. Do you realize how easy it would be for a physician to put me there? From the ordinary point of view, I'm virtually insane part of the time. I have been in great danger, Chester. But, having some money, I have been able to get away from people and seclude myself and retain my freedom—if you call it freedom to be cheated out of part of your natural life! I have had Leah, and she was enough. She understands, she's loyal, and she is, above all, wise and good."

"But the doctor—what about him?"

"Of course I must have a physician at times, and Dr. Copin is a good one, and interested in my case. He has been most kind to me. Of course I am interesting, though, psychologically, and he's probably written a monograph about me for some medical society already. But I have him chiefly for medical troubles, and to keep general run of this thing, enough to advise me."

This was rather different from what Edna had led me to believe, so I said:

"He hasn't attempted to treat you for this psychological dissociation?"

"No. He wanted to. In fact, he's always urging me to allow him to see what he can do, but I won't let him. He wants to hypnotize me—but I don't quite dare—would you?"

"No," I said. "I'd advise you not to. If that's to be done you ought to go to a great specialist."

I thought I had a clue now that would bear following up, but I decided to think it over a while before I spoke of it.

So intently had we talked, that we had scarcely noticed the darkness which had fallen until King's gong aroused us. Joy rose wearily.

"Would you mind lighting the candles?" she said.

She waited till all the scenes were burning and then, as I went to the window, she said:

"No, leave the shades up, please! I want the windows left so that Leah, if she comes, may look in. I feel somehow that she is near here, that she will come this evening, if she dares."

"Why haven't you been out where she could see you then? Have you thought to call her?"

FELL 125 FEET.

Westport, Sept. 11.—John Waffie, aged 25, an employee of the Burgess mica mine, was killed yesterday by falling 125 feet down the shaft. As the bucket in which Waffie was being raised, after completing the day's work, reached the top of the shaft, it struck a projecting beam and turned over, Waffie being unable to cling to it. He was hurled to death. When picked up life was extinct. The body was horribly mangled.

SOMETHING THAT SHOULD BE RUBBED IN.—When your hair is full in the limbs or back, take Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil: pour a little in the hand, and applying it to the surface beneath which the hair lies, rub briskly. If the first application does not afford relief, which is not unusual, the case, keep rubbing. The Oil will gradually penetrate to the affected part and relief will come.

The Iupui dance of the Babaka tribe of the Howa Peninsula is performed by seven girls, who walk up and down gracefully swinging a cord about three feet in length, to which a small netted bag is attached.

BILOUSNESS BURDENS LIFE.—The bilious man is never a companionable man, because he is so morose and gloomy. The complaint is not as dangerous as it is disreputable. Yet no need suffer from it who can cure themselves by taking Dr. J. C. Williams' Pink Pills. By regulating the liver and obviating the effects of bile in the stomach, they restore cheerfulness and vitality.

Sweet potatoes are principally used in the Azores to make alcohol, the yield being 10 to 11 per cent. The present price is about 13 cents (United States currency) per liter (1.05767 quarts).

NEARLY ALL INFANTS are more or less subject to diarrhea and such complaints while feeding, and as this period of their lives is the most critical, mothers should not be without a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Food. It cures the cramps and cholera in a remarkable manner, and is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels.

An Old Notion

still held by some women is that it is impossible to make good pastry from flour made of Manitoba Hard Wheat. Consequently they buy hard wheat flour for bread and soft wheat flour for pastry, and go to a good deal of unnecessary trouble.

Since the appearance of "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR on the market there is no need for any housekeeper to do this, as this brand is made by a process which renders it not only the ideal flour for bread, but which guarantees equally good results for pastry when used "Five Roses" way.

"FIVE ROSES" FLOUR will make lighter and flakier pastry than any ordinary brands on the market, whether made from hard or soft wheat. All we ask is that you give it a fair and unprejudiced trial for pastry on your next Baking Day. The result will, we know, more than satisfy you. Ask your grocer for it.

DOGS TRAINED TO SMUGGLE

Carry Fine Silks and Opium Across the Boundary Line.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 11.—Customs officers have unearthed a most clever method of smuggling opium and silks into this country from across the boundary line. The smugglers, who were headed by Thomas Smith, now in custody, used trained dogs to carry on their business.

The first inkling that dogs were being used to carry contraband goods from Canada was when a policeman on the Bellington station shot a dog which he saw running through thick timber near Blaine, Wash. The dog was loaded with an enormous leather saddle in which were found three pounds of opium and a package of rich silk.

Three days later customs officers trailed three other pack saddle dogs to Smith's shack near Blaine.

USEFUL AT ALL TIMES.—In winter or in summer Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will cope with and overcome any irregularities of the digestive organs which chance of diet, change of residence, or variation of temperature may bring about. They should be always kept in hand, and once their beneficial action becomes known, no one will be without them. There is nothing nauseating in their structure, and the most delicate can use them confidently.

Secrecy in the transmission of telegraph dispatches in China is to be insured in future by a provision for the decapsulation of all offenders revealing the contents of important messages in transit. In the case of ordinary messages the penalty is to be ten years in prison. Five years' imprisonment is provided for persons who know of the revelation of such secrets and neglect to report the matter to the proper authorities.

CHOLERA MORBUS, cramps and kindred complaints annually make their appearance at the same time as the hot weather, green fruit, cucumbers, melons, etc., and many persons are debarrassed from eating these tempting things, but they need not abstain if they have Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Corns and take a few drops in water. It cures the cramps and cholera in a remarkable manner, and is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels.

CZAR AND FAMILY WERE IN PERIL

Report of Accident to Royal Yacht Confirmed—Strict Secrecy Enjoined.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—No official announcement has been made here up to 1:30 o'clock this afternoon regarding the grounding of the Imperial yacht Standart off Herson, near Hang-go, Finland, yesterday afternoon. The news has been withheld from the embassies, but the Associated Press learns that the yacht, on board of which was Emperor Nicholas and Empress Alexandra and their family, produced a depressing effect upon Captain Stagin, the commander of the vessel. The Standart is an iron-hulled vessel, and is in an unfavorable position upon some rocks, which are submerged at high tide, but the yacht was maintained on board and news of the disaster being telegraphed to the naval authorities, a number of warships and a salvage steamer were hurried to Herson.

At 10 o'clock last night, the Imperial party left the Standart and were taken on board the dispatch boat Asia, orders being telegraphed to St. Petersburg to have the Imperial yacht Alexandra sent to Herson, where she is expected in the course of the day.

His majesty was urged to leave the vessel when she struck the rocks, but he refused and waited until the Asia was ready to take him and the Imperial family on board. Though it has been suggested that the accident to the Standart was due to members of her crew, who purposely ran her on the rocks, it is claimed in naval circles here that the disaster was due to the narrowness of the channel.

MOORS ROUTED BY ALLIED FORBES

Attack by the Franco-Spanish Army Well Planned and Completely Successful.

Casablanca, Sept. 11.—The allied Franco-Spanish army has made a sudden and successful move on Taddert, where the Moors were massed in force. The camp of the latter was destroyed by bombardment, and the enemy put to flight, leaving many dead on the field. The French lost one man killed and six men wounded.

The attack was carefully planned, and was based largely on the observations of the Moorish positions made from a military balloon.

The allied army, which was divided into two columns, left the camp at 6 o'clock in the morning, leaving several companies of infantry to defend the base at Casablanca. The first column was composed of four companies of regulars, infantry, several companies of sharpshooters, a battery of artillery and all the cavalry. The second column consisted of six companies of infantry, and a battery of artillery.

The march was skillfully carried out under a fog until half way to Taddert, when the fog lifted and disclosed several large bands of the enemy. The allies then charged at the point of the bayonet, and although the Moors resisted with their old-time courage, they were finally compelled to retreat in the face of a superior force, and both columns of allied troops advanced on Taddert. After the bombardment of that place by the French artillery, as well as by the guns of the French cruiser, Gloire, the allied infantry advanced on the Moors' camp, where the enemy was making a last desperate stand. A short engagement followed and the Moors fled in the wild disorder pursued for several miles by the irregular Algerian cavalry in the French service.

The Moorish camp was destroyed. The exact loss of the Moors is not known, as they carried away many of their dead. The allied army, later returned to Casablanca.

HOW ZAM-BUK SAVED A GIRL'S HAIR

When eczema, ulcers or ringworm break out on the scalp the first thing the doctor orders is to have the hair cut off. Don't do it before trying Zam-Buk, because it can cure these diseases without causing such a sacrifice. Mrs. J. Butler, of 5 Elmwood avenue, Montreal, has proved this. She says: "My eldest daughter, Annie, caught eczema. It broke out on her face and scalp, and the disease was quickly transmitted to Herbert and Edith, and in their cases not only their heads, but their hands and faces were covered with sores and scaly places."

"I tried various blood-purifying remedies in vain and then consulted a doctor. He applied all kinds of lotions but the sores remained the same. He next ordered that the hair be all shaved off from the girl's head in order to get down to the disease on the scalp. They each had nice long hair and I thought it such a pity to cut it all off. I refused. He thereupon withdrew his services altogether."

"After that I bought first one thing and then another, but it was all no good until we got Zam-Buk. That proved equal to the case and in a few weeks it cleared every trace of skin disease from each child. With it in use there was no need to cut off the girls' hair or take any other extreme measure. It just went on and healed the sores in fine shape."

Zam-Buk cures blood poison, cuts, bruises, old wounds, running sores, ulcers, boils, eruptions, scalp sores, eczema, itch, barber's rash, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. Best cure for piles yet known. All drug stores and stores at 50 cents a box, or from the Zam-Buk Company, Toronto.

High-Pressure—What It Means for Fire Protection.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

A great deal of matter has appeared in the local press since the water problem became a topical subject, and it would appear to me from general conversation that very few persons know what the term high-pressure really means.

In order that it may be better understood I beg to submit for your many interested readers and the general public the following: In the past, among fire-fighters, high-pressure with few exceptions has been confined to the steam fire engines of the first-class order. As higher buildings came into existence the demand has increased. A first-class fire engine can be manipulated to generate any desired pressure up to 300 pounds. This is not practical with ordinary waterworks systems of this country for a number of reasons. All experienced firemen know the great value of a high-pressure stream as compared to that from one of low pressure. In the former force and quantity are the two great factors that count at the fire. In effect there is no comparison as between a nozzle-pressure of 200 pounds and that of 40 pounds, so that Londoners really have no conception of the value of high-pressure in a large conflagration.

To produce this high-pressure plan of the Americans millions of dollars, and millions to maintain. And until recently it has been practically confined to the steam fire engine, which means initial cost of engines, houses, horses and men. Each engine means two, three or four horses, their keep, and three men, driver, engineer and stoker. This, where from 20 to 100 engines are necessary, means a large annual expense account.

To overcome this great expense, the so-called high-pressure system or most modern form of fire protection has been introduced. With this new plan the steam fire engine is practically put out of business, and in the near future it will almost entirely supplant the fire steamer system.

To the fire tug-boats, and later the water front modern fire boat, may be attributed the initial idea or suggestion. It was easily demonstrated that, when abundance of water was at hand, these boats (really floating waterworks stations) could without horses, and few men, and without any other parts of the cities, outclass in effective work a great many steam fire engines and at a much less cost.

Then came the idea of iron pipe lines to save hose, running larger openings and longer ranges than was practical from hose lines, to which these fire boats could be rapidly connected. Cleveland, for instance, has recently completed a system of this type, pending the time when they can finance a permanent pumping station. In that city it is stated the total cost, including a perfect system of telephone for a city the size of Cleveland was about $235,000. This for a city the size of Cleveland was not so show that the cost is not out of reach of the smaller city or even the village. The plan under test at Cleveland was a pleasing surprise to a large party of insurance magnates gathered to see it.

The practical results—it is now claimed that the steam fire engines can all be relegated to the outskirts. To Philadelphia belongs the honor of the first complete system of high-pressure. Now several other cities are making installations of a similar class. High-pressure ordinarily cannot be obtained from a gravitating plan, for it means a constant pressure at the hydrant during fire service of from 300 pounds, carrying the maximum number of streams. At Philadelphia, for instance, the maximum number of streams is the maximum load. There is not a steam fire engine in America (Montreal, Canada, has one of the largest) that will maintain a base pressure on one, two and one-half nozzles of 250 pounds. And this class of steam fire engine is sold at 1,000 imperial gallons per minute.

The new method demands mechanically held streams, one fireman doing the work of many with the same fire hose as at present (unless very large nozzles are used). The pumps are an interesting feature: not one or two big pumps, but a series of small ones to meet the demands of the work and lessen the liability to breakdowns, and so on. They are arranged that they can be driven by any kind of power, gas, electricity or water, whichever is most convenient, so that in case of accident to a supply of electric current the same pump or series can be driven by a producer gas plant, etc. The fire underwriters insist on quality of pressure, not quantity. No matter how much water power we have we must have other means in reserve for driving the pumps, because the dam might be lost as was the case here a few years ago.

One hundred pounds is not classed high-pressure. London now cannot show under the most favorable conditions at the market district, eighty pounds and no fire. After the Masonic Temple fire the underwriters' inspector made the then regulation classification test, and the hydrants only maintained sixty-three pounds—five streams of one inch each.

Imagine the same hydrants maintaining 250 pounds on five streams, using 2-inch nozzles on the old temple or any other risk and you will have a fair conception of what high-pressure means in the modern sense. One pound more effective than ten streams from our present system.

In construction the system is such that one pump or the whole series can be instantly set in motion according to the work required, giving a base hydrant-pressure anywhere up to the maximum and keeping it there, provided the supply is at hand.

Thus for commercial work, street watering, etc., 20 or 30 pounds is quite ample. One of the series of pumps may be required especially during winter and wet weather periods, this pump giving constant twenty-four hour service. The rest are idle only when there is a fire.

Direct pressure—Does the London Fire Department require—as during the last five years experience, 120 hours in 12 months the use of the fire pressure? Is it necessary to place this constant load on every house tap in the city? This is a question solved by high-pressure. Greater London is now frequently spoken of. It has really commenced, and its foundations are very broad, but like all other growing places it will grow upward as well. At present we have the upward growth only in a few buildings, the Bank of Toronto and the Darch buildings. Two more are under way, the Smallman and Reid structures; more are bound to follow. 100-pound pressures are useless in high buildings and antiquated in conflagrations.

The fire underwriters' new regulations now require for a city of 50,000 population where storage reservoirs are adopted a capacity of 25,000,000 gallons. Hence it may be noted that it will in a dry period keep both branches of our river busy to supply a natural reservoir to meet these regulations. When we reach 75,000 people they demand 37,500,000 gallons. High-pressure, while it may seldom be run at its full capacity, must have ample supply. And so must any other system in conflagrations, or the inevitable happens as at Baltimore and Toronto. The Thames at or below the forks makes a natural reservoir of all the river waters and practically inexhaustible, hence a pumping station at or near the forks would get all the water, requiring a very short intake. If that water is good enough to fill a ham to drink it surely should do for our fire-fighting, and street watering.

A pumping station at or below the forks would cause no lawsuits for mill rights or privileges, and allow the easy installation of either gas or electric current for power.

For the same reasons if a filtration scheme should be entertained the plant should be at Springbank or below the forks where we could get all the waters of the river, and if at Springbank we there obtain the finest quality of sand and fine gravel in profusion. It will not cost a cent to filter water below the forks than it does on the north branch. If filtration will thoroughly cleanse and purify the water of the branch it surely will do the same with the trunk, where we can have all the water of the whole of the river, and gravitate the filtered supply into the present spring water ponds and thus make our present pumping plant (10,000,000 gallons capacity) do the work. But none of these are high-pressure. Yours truly,

JOHN M. PARSONS.

EMBRO HAPPENINGS

Location for New Railroad Station Chosen—Several Marriages.

Embros, Sept. 12.—On Saturday afternoon a committee of railroad men met our council in the town hall for the purpose of deciding on a location for the station, and arranging other business about our new railroad. The final survey made is the route to be taken. It will cross Commissioner street, near Mr. D. R. Ross' mills, then running along the edge of the pond around to the corner of Argyle and Halliday streets, and from there out through the rear of Mr. A. M. Boosey's property, and crosses the Fourth line (Huron street north), by means of an overhead bridge. Portions of St. Andrew's Park, Argyle and Halliday streets are to be closed, and the station will be to the rear of Mr. Boosey's house. Mr. Morrow, the right-of-way man, is buying the land along the route. He is being assisted by Mr. Columbus Ross. Work is to be commenced as soon as the right-of-way is purchased. The C. P. R. men were Engineer Darling and Mr. Morrow, and the St. Marys and Western Ontario Railway Company representatives were Engineers Macklin and Hyde, and President Chambers, of St. Marys; also, Mr. Carman, C. P. R. agent at St. Marys, and Contractor Webb.

Mr. Wm. Baxter, of Manor, Sask., formerly on the staff of the Traders' Bank, has been renewing acquaintances here.

Mr. Andrew Ross, who died last week, at his home on the Eighth line, had sustained serious injuries a few weeks ago. He was in his 83rd year. His wife predeceased him about four years ago. An only son, Hugh, survives, who lives at home. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon to the Log Church Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Whaley, of Burns' Church, officiating. There was a large attendance.

Mr. George Innes, of Kansas, is the guest of his sisters-in-law, the Misses Matheson.

Robert Grimstead, of Chicago, is visiting at Mr. Alex. Campbell's.

Mr. Wm. McNeill, of Cobalt, is visiting at his parents' home.

Mrs. Robt. Abernethy is visiting at Mr. J. Munro's, Golspie.

The marriage was solemnized at the Presbyterian manse, Kintore, on Tuesday afternoon, of Miss Isabella, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip McDonald, second line, to Mr. John Robert Armstrong, of Kintore. The bride's dress was blue ladies' cloth, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left on the evening train for Toronto and other eastern points, and on their return will reside on the Armstrong homestead near Kintore.

Mrs. Alfred Ensign and infant son, of Callopie, Iowa, are visiting at Mrs. George Gordon's.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Matheson and daughter, Eva, of Woodstock, were recent visitors at Mrs. Wm. Murray's, John street.

Messrs. Edward Regan, of Phoenix, Arizona, and Henry, of Beachville, spent Monday at Mr. John Fairbairn's.

Mrs. James Laird, of Toronto, has been renewing acquaintances here. She has sold her farm to Mr. P. J. Fraser.

The marriage of Mr. Thos. Youngs and Miss Maggie Finnie took place in St. Marys last week.

St. Knox Church, Staveland, Alta., was the scene of a happy event on Monday, Sept. 2, when Mr. James H. Brand was married to Miss Margaret Barley. Mr. Brand is an old Embro boy and a son of our townsmen, Mr. Alex. Brand. His many Embro and Zorra friends unite in wishing him and his bride a happy wedded life.

Mrs. Dr. Craig, of Ann Arbor, Mich., is visiting her aunts, the Misses Matheson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McKinnon and Mrs. Donald M. McKinnon are spending a few days with Toronto friends.

ABOLISH A HOLIDAY

Proposal To Have Labor Day on the First of July.

Gloucester, N. S., Sept. 13.—At the meeting of the National Trades and Labor Congress, President Mee recommended:

That the question of political action be acted upon and finally decided; that the office of the secretary be abolished, and the salary devoted to organization; that we petition to abolish Labor Day and continue Dominion Day, and that it be known as Labor Day; that this Congress again declare in favor of purely Canadian organizations, officers and managed by men and women working in and allowing allegiance to the Canadian Government only; that we declare the action of the self-styled labor leaders in maintaining foreign organizations on British soil unpatriotic and unworthy of the sons of our fair land.

IGNORANCE IS A CURSE.—Know thyself is a good admonition, whether referring to one's physical condition or moral habits. The man who is acquainted with himself will know how to act when any disadvantage in his condition manifests itself. Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil is a cheap and simple remedy for the eradication of pain from the system and for the cure of all bronchial troubles.

INTERMEDIATES AND JUNIORS WILL BE GROUPED TONIGHT

Tonight at 8 o'clock the O. R. F. U. executive committee will meet at the King Edward Hotel in Toronto to draw up the junior and intermediate schedules and discuss the senior situation. Secretary Frank Spry, of the London Rugby Club, yesterday notified Secretary J. B. Hay, of the O. R. F. U., that London would enter both a junior and intermediate team. There will be no local representative at the meeting. It was deemed unnecessary to send a man to Toronto for the reason that the local rugby players are the same as last year, when the London intermediates were paired off with Hamilton and Dundas.

Dutton Trims the Prides of Chatham

Chatham, Sept. 12.—A baseball team from Dutton trailed into town today, and defeated a picked Chatham team by the score of 4 to 3. Dutton made all of its runs in the first inning, when the local pitcher apparently was not warmed up. The game was the best played seen here in many years, and was watched by a crowd of two thousand.

Two New Indians to Meet Longboat at C.A.A.U. Games

Ben Howard and Joshua Nichols Both Entered—Some Great Fields.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—With a total of 156 entries, the C. A. A. U. fall championship games at Varsity Field, Saturday afternoon, should provide as good sport as has been furnished the followers of the run and jump and heavy heave games this summer, and all the contests are in grand shape after a season's hard training and a track that is accurately measured, albeit a trifle slow, the men are likely to make determined assaults upon the records, hoping to leave their names to posterity graven upon C. A. A. U. tablets. Anyhow, there is going to be some grand racing when Ben Howard, of Sunderland, the new Irish Canadian Indian, and Joshua Nichols, the Muncey Indian, who finished second to Dick Grant in the St. Mary's road race, gets on Tommy Longboat's trail, and Percy Sells, Tom Coley, of the Toronto I. C. A. C., Fred Meadows, of the West Ends, and a few more get loping down the line after the gaunt winner of the Boston Marathon, Alfred Shrubbs, who is training Big Chief, is taking no chances. He led him a three-mile dance at Varsity yesterday over a sodden, slow track, in 15:17, and put more hard work under the red man's belt than he has done in years. He will work him a mile today and then let up.

Result of Pigeon Race From London

Toronto, Sept. 13.—It took the first bird released at the London Fair Wednesday 2 hours, 11 minutes and 58 seconds to reach its loft in this city, according to the figures issued by the Dominion Messenger Pigeon Association. The number of pigeons competing was 307, each competitor sending one bird up to a dozen for the race. Cash prizes to the amount of $100 were donated to the successful owners, and a $25 gold medal for the winner was given by the exhibition, also three beautiful diplomas to the first three winning competitors. The prizes were distributed amongst the leading eight winners.

Most of the pigeons were home at about 5 o'clock. The pigeons were liberated at 2:05 in the afternoon, and the race results were as follows:

W. Newton's Gold Medalist.	H. M. E.
Magee Bros. Pete.....	2 11 58
Chas. Newberry's Ding.....	2 31 20

Sherring Vs. Shrubbs Comes Next

Hamilton, Sept. 12.—Within a few weeks the athletic world will witness one of the most interesting foot races of a decade, between two of the great runners the world has ever produced—Alfred Shrubbs and William Sherring. Ever since Shrubbs came to this continent, Sherring has had all kinds of offers to meet him in a matched race, but the hero of the Marathon declined, as he did not wish to break away from the amateur ranks. The C. A. A. U., however, does not seem inclined to give Sherring a card that will permit his starting in some of the shorter distance track events and there is only one thing for him to do—turn professional.

After his return from Athens last year, Sherring announced that he would never race again, but the sight of some of his old friends in the running shoes has made him change his mind, and he has decided to run at least one more race before retiring.

Sherring has been in fair condition all summer, and thinks nothing of taking a ten-mile jog before breakfast. Several times he has been on the Herald course, but few people ever thought that he was running for anything more than exercise. He claims that he could get into first-class condition in very short time, and says that he can run just as fast as he ever could.

"I have seen Shrubbs run," said Sherring this morning, "and I must admit that for speed he has no equal. But I have beaten men who could run faster than I could by using generalship, and I think that I would have a chance with Shrubbs for any distance he likes to name. His record for ten miles is better than mine, but I have covered the distance in better time than he averages, and for that reason I think I would have a chance."

In the Wide World of Horses

[WRITTEN FOR THE ADVERTISER BY J. V. MCAREE, OF TORONTO.]

Some time ago criticism of the Canadian National Exhibition's prize for the best string of horses, all breeds to compete, was made, on the ground that it was impossible for a Clyde or Hackney to be better than a Clydesdale. This was a mistake. It is not impossible. The thing has been done. A string of Hackneys was given first prize and a string of trotters second. The present is an age of wonders, and one of the least of them is that a breeder of Hackneys would compete against the trotters, which will always win such competitions, because they are the better showmen, unless the word is quietly passed round that the prize is to be passed round also, and the breeder to win it in turn.

Better Than Ever.
The consensus of the horse judges at the Fair was to the effect that the display of horses was better than ever before. Mr. J. C. Thompson, noted New York horseman, said that he never saw a finer collection of horses anywhere. He was delighted with them. A fact to be regretted was the absence of western exhibitors. Of course the great distance which they would have to ship their horses, the risks attending several days' confinement in the cars, and the relatively bad condition their horses would be shown in combine to make the entering of valuable western horses almost out of the question. But it might be possible for the exhibition authorities to stand the expense of shipping, and if they would do so, it should be possible to induce some of the big western breeders to let the east have a glimpse of their quality. There is little doubt that in some lines—notably in Clydes, they can hold their own. Truly national in scope the Toronto fair will not be until some such step is taken.

Percheron Society

A recent newspaper paragraph announced the formation of a Canadian Percheron Society. It appears that there are Percherons to the number of between 200 and 300 in Canada, most of them located in the west. The French breed has never taken hold in Ontario, and it is a fortunate thing that this is so. If it had, the skill of our breeders would have been diminished by still another variety, and the average excellence of our stock decreased in proportion. In Scotland they have found that a single breed of horse will offer scope for all their efforts. In Ireland, the hunter became famous because there were none other. In the United States, the thoroughbred sire was developed. The Morgan horse was developed because the best intelligence of several states was concentrated on him. So one might go through the list all to the purpose of proving the supreme value of specialization. It is not that the Percheron is necessarily an inferior draught, but that his growing popularity in Canada is to be deplored, but because he is the last to come. No one but the celebrated "stick stallion salesmen" of the Western and Middle States will argue that the Percheron will eventually oust the Clyde, and the point to be regretted is that in this country, some hundreds of breeders who might be well bred to results will spend time and money on a breed that will never be anything but second best, and a hurt rather than an encouragement to the bigger horse that was here before. If the Frenchman had come first, all that is now said for the Clyde would have been said for the grays and blacks.

General Watts, owner of the 3-year-old trotting colt of the same name, was recently tendered a banquet in Charleston to celebrate the victory of his colt, which is now held as the champion 3-year-old of the year. It is to be hoped that the next banquet of the sort will be held in Galt, Ontario, after the Axworthy colt has been defeated by Kentucky Todd. When the two meet, old horsemen look for a repetition of the duels between Grace Bond and Alta Axworthy three or four years ago. If the Todd horse steps the way he is showing now, there is no reason to fear that the 3-year-old championship will not rest in Canada next winter. So far, Miss Wilkes has not seen one of her horses start this year, and all horsemen trust that Kentucky Todd will be worth waiting for.

Angus Pointer, the Canadian bred pacer that was supposed to be a "bad-been" a couple of years ago, is the pacer star of the year. He has only lost one race this season, and that to Baron Grattan, when he was not quite ready. Nor has he dropped a single heat, a record unapproached by any trotter or pacer of the year. That has raced as often. The son of Star Pointer appears to be able to pace around 2:03 all afternoon. One after one he has met and taken into the lead the stars of the Grand Circuit. In the $5,000 Park Brew stake at Providence, he met and defeated the fastest septette of pacers that ever scored for the world, one of them being Audubon Boy, 1:59 1/2. Bolivar, 2:00%. It is only fair to say that the former broke and did not give his speed. But at that he showed no sign of being the master of the lank Canadian. About the surest bet on the turf at present is Angus Pointer, when he starts, as long as he is in condition.

Johnny Very Fast.

Speaking of the 2:30 trot at Macomb, Ind., a few days ago, the correspondent of the Horse Review says: "It was a gift for Johnny, the bay sired of Geneva, and he will annex every one of the stakes in this circuit for which he starts, for there is nothing entered that can give him a good workout. The owners were ambitious for the little horse at the opening of the season, and when they started him in the M. and M., he went to the half in the first heat a good second to the great Highball in 1:02 3/4. That was sufficient for him and he finished tenth. The owners were wise to the caliber of their horse, and instead of sending him in a hopeless contest, drew him out, and set him to the brush where he is the big duck in the paddock. Johnny is owned in Brantford, and was one of Canada's few fond hopes for Grand Circuit honors this year. But he may be good enough for the big ring next year. In the meantime he is winning more than most of the other trotters that have continued the chase of Highball and Sonoma Girl ever since Detroit.

Another of Canada's hopes was Quintell, owned in Hamilton, and entered down the Grand Circuit. He won a $400 stake in Rockport, O., other day.

MAKES OFFER FOR GANS-NELSON BOUT

Jim May, Reno, Offers Purse of $25,000 for Thanksgiving Day.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 12.—Jim May, of Reno, is after a fight between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson for Thanksgiving Day and yesterday made a proposition to give the fighters a $25,000 purse. Nelson said he would fight, but that it must be on a winner-take-all basis. Gans, however, has a good deal to say about the proposition for a fight in Nevada. Nelson says Ben Selig, but he must grant Gans 80 per cent of the purse, win or lose or a draw.

"We have our own proposition to make," Selig announces. We want to have some of the same conditions which existed at the Goldfield fight. As to weight, it must be 133 pounds, and this fight must be at Goldfield No. 10, and we will give the $30,000 purse and we concede to his demands. We now make the same condition and the weight must be 133 rilside, stripped."

MILLER'S WINNINGS BEAT ALL RECORDS

He Passes One Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollar Mark.

Four hundred and twenty-five thousand and three hundred and twenty-eight dollars and fifty cents. There's a fine bunch of money. It represents the exact purse winnings of Jockey Walter Miller for the short six months of the racing season from March 25 at Benning's up today. This is a record which has never been approached by any jockey in the same period.

Ninety-seven thousand four hundred and twenty-two dollars and fifty cents of this Miller has earned in his handling of one horse—the great Colin, in eight stake events from the National Station down to the Flatbush on Saturday. Sixty-seven thousand seven hundred and fifty-five dollars in victories on Peter Pan has helped swell the total of Miller's winnings. Miller has won big purses on other horses, but no two of them ever approached the earnings of either of the Keene stars.

Banquet for General Watts.

General Watts, owner of the 3-year-old trotting colt of the same name, was recently tendered a banquet in Charleston to celebrate the victory of his colt, which is now held as the champion 3-year-old of the year. It is to be hoped that the next banquet of the sort will be held in Galt, Ontario, after the Axworthy colt has been defeated by Kentucky Todd. When the two meet, old horsemen look for a repetition of the duels between Grace Bond and Alta Axworthy three or four years ago. If the Todd horse steps the way he is showing now, there is no reason to fear that the 3-year-old championship will not rest in Canada next winter. So far, Miss Wilkes has not seen one of her horses start this year, and all horsemen trust that Kentucky Todd will be worth waiting for.

SHOOTERS, BEWARE!

A St. Thomas dispatch says that a meeting was recently held at Port Huron for the purpose of adopting some method of preserving game birds that frequent the vicinity. Visiting sportsmen will be notified that they will be prosecuted if found trespassing on any of the nearby farms, and the trespass law vigorously enforced.

Player Put Out of First Game Cannot Enter the Second

President Ban Johnson, of the American League, has made a new ruling, the existence of which was not revealed until a recent double-header between New York and Boston.

Unglaub was served with a writ of ejectment from the first game by the umpire for kicking in the eighth inning. When he went to take his place for the second game, O'Loughlin would not have it. Then followed a debate.

"I'll protest the game," said McGulre. "Aye, forsooth, protest if thou wilt," was the come-back of Herr O'Loughlin, whose ancestors were in the Crusaders, "but Sieur de Johnson, our honored chieftain, did instruct us that when a man had been put out of the first game of a double-header he should not be allowed to take part in the second. This is the first time since that such a case has come up."

THE TURF.

At Sheepshead Bay—Garrett, 2 to 1; Jim Gaffney, 1 to 5; Chief Hayes, even; Roseben, 2 to 5; Miss Crawford, even; Gold Guest, 4 to 1; Sunglam, 7 to 5; At Montreal—Platoon, 7 to 5; Bricktop, 3 to 5; Adrian, 1 to 2; Carigan, 2 to 1; Bye Bye II, 2 to 5; Tom Shaw, 1 to 2; Tommie, 3 to 5.

WILD BILL WINS THE FIRST GAME IN THE TENTH INNING

Postponed Owing to Darkness—A Tie—Spectator Drops Dead—Ty Cobb Hurt.

Detroit, Sept. 13.—The gloom of evening fell over Bennett Park last night with the Tigers and the Naps still battling for second game of the day. It was the eighth inning with the rivals fighting to break a tie score. As the outfielders were fast being lost from view by darkness, Umpire Hurst called the game. It stopped on the hardest fights ever held on a local ball field.

For ten innings they went at it in the first contest, and the Tigers won out by one tally, 3 to 2. In the ten innings Donovan allowed the Naps but two hits. But these, with a base on balls to help each time, netted two runs. Liebhart was hit hard by the Tigers, but managed to hold the score down. The Naps played was weak in spots, and this did much to kill the chance of the visitors.

Killian went in to pitch the second game, and while tapped rather strongly, was effective in the pinches. He was opposed by Heinle Berger and the Cleveland colt was at his best. He held the locals to three hits. Only the remarkable speed of Ty Cobb in one inning and a little wildness in another prevented him from landing a victory. When play was called in the eighth inning of the second game the field was covered with lights from matches held by the spectators. Thousands of matches were struck by the crowd on the field and in the stands. Even bonfires were started.

Game Marred by Accidents.

The game was marred by many accidents. George Stovall was the first victim. He retired with a badly sprained wrist by a bad throw down by a bunt by Jones. A few minutes later Bill Coughlin had to quit because of a badly bruised finger received while bunting. In the second game Cobb had his thumb cut open on a broken pop bottle.

Aside from this one spectator dropped dead from heart trouble, a bat boy has his face cut by a bad throw down by the practice, and the back field fence fell down owing to the spectators, who persisted in climbing upon it. Fortunately no one was hurt by this. The fence fell so slowly that everybody was able to get from under it.

Close to ten thousand people were on hand to watch the fight, and most of them stuck to the finish.

The first game the Tigers won because of the mighty wing of Bill Donovan, the grand support given him and the lack of discretion shown by the Clevelanders. In the first inning Lajoie and Turner watched Birmingham come all the way to second for an easy fly ball from Crawford. As it was Birney could not reach it, and it went safe, Jones scoring. In the eighth Liebhart ran wild on the bases, and was an easy out.

Davy Jones' ability to get to first base had much to do with the Tigers landing the first fight. In the first round the Tiger left gardener bunted toward third. He batted it easily, but Bradley threw wide of first. Stovall made a hard try for it, but the ball cracked him on the wrist, and put him out of the game. While the ball was shooting on to right field Jones made second. Coughlin was sent to sacrifice, and was caught on the thumb. He also had to quit. Lowe succeeded him at bat. Bobby was tossed out by Liebhart, and Jones trotted to third. Then came the mixup on the Nap team.

Tigers Tie the Score.

Crawford swung hard, but sent a skyscraper back of second. It would have been an easy out for Turner or Lajoie, but Birmingham started in for it. Larry and Terry saw him coming, and let him try. He was about three feet away when the ball struck the ground. Jones scored with ease. This tied the score, as in their half of the inning the Naps had gleamed

No, The Yanks Are Not Lying Down; They Can't

Detroit, Sept. 11.—The News today says: That yearly holler about some ball club quitting in favor of another has started in again this fall.

The wise guys, who see something wrong every time things go other than the way they want them to, now claim that Griff is making it easy for the Athletics to win games, and that the other eastern clubs will do the same so that the championship is all rot, stay in the east. This talk is all rot. There is no more cause for it than the talk of the American League race being fixed. Each team is doing its best to beat its rivals, no matter whether they happen to be Washington or Detroit.

Quite naturally after having been put out of the race by them last year, Griff talked more about beating Detroit this year than about any of the clubs. The rise of the Tigers was so sudden that helping to pull them down the ladder seemed a sweet revenge, but although the Yanks talked more about beating Detroit they were just as anxious to beat the other teams in the league, and will upset somebody before they finish.

Griffith wouldn't dare throw a game if he wanted to and there is no proof that he has any desire to. In the fight now on in New York his prestige as a manager, or what remains of the prestige he once enjoyed, is at stake. He is fighting to stave off Boston from passing him. Jim McGulre was let out by the New York club and took a team lower in the race. He is now

TOMMY MURPHY WINS

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Tommy Murphy had little trouble in defeating "Fighting Dick" Hyland, before the National A. C. here last night. Hyland could do little with the favorite, and it was only in the second round that he showed to any advantage. Except for that round Murphy had the best of it all the way. A number of sporting men came on in a special train from New York, and made Hyland the favorite at 10 to 9. Hyland weighed 132 pounds and Murphy 130 pounds heavier. The fight lasted six rounds and both stayed to the finish.

In the reign of Charles I. the death rate in London was 70 to 1,000, or more than three times what it is now.

THANKSGIVING DAY
MAY BE OCTOBER 31

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Sept. 13.—Thanksgiving Day has not been definitely fixed by the Government. There are not enough of the ministers at present in the city to decide the matter. The date talked of is Oct. 31.

ENGINEER TALBOT

WILL FIGHT CASE

had to go home after dark, and consequently was much surprised when Mr. Talbot approached me in a temper one evening as I sat on his veranda, and asked me whether I was married or not. I realized that my question was in a bad temper, and felt that something was going to happen, no matter which way I replied, so I replied in the negative to protect the girl. Then Mr. Talbot struck me on the nose and, before I had an opportunity of explaining matters he had ejected me from the veranda.

"I have never been near his place since—and I don't think I will either, for a while.

"Some few nights later as I was traveling down to Springbank, I met Mr. Talbot on the same car, and he took occasion to ridicule me and remark that I had seduced five girls during my stay in this city. Mr. Talbot must either apologize publicly or stand a suit for slander."

"Mr. Talbot has allowed his tongue to run away with his good sense. I had a bottle of vinegar in my hand one night, and he told everybody he knew that I was a shameless scoundrel, and that I carried home uncovered bottles of whiskey from Scandrett's. I don't intend to stand for this, though I have kept quiet right along for the girl's sake.

"I would have done by best to thrash him the night he struck me, were it not for the fact that I appreciated the young lady's feelings, and tried to end the deplorable affair, which occurred in her presence, as speedily as possible."

WILL PREACH IN AYLMEY

Bishop Ingram Has a Farmer Brother Near the Town.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, Sept. 13.—Bishop Ingram will preach in Aylmer on Sept. 22. It has just been learned that the distinguished prelate has a brother, who is a farmer near Aylmer, and the little Anglican Church, which only seats a couple of hundred will be honored with a sermon by the Lord Bishop.

REPORT OF PHONE COMMISSION

Intensify the strain by heightening the possible speed at which operations may be carried on, but little attention has thus far been paid to the possible inimical effects upon the constitutions of women engaged in such callings or the possible deleterious effects upon their offspring. The problem from this point of view is medical rather than economic, and a full determination of the effect of this class of employment upon the health of those engaged in it can, therefore, be had only as the result of expert medical investigation.

The investigation should also include the nervous system, and legislation should be passed in accordance with the findings.

Restrictions Should Be Made.

Restrictions should be made as to the period of operating. This should not be more than two hours at a time, or 1½ to 1¾ hours where any considerable amount is to be covered in a day. There should be six working hours, spread over a period of 8 to 8½ hours. Only six days a week should be allowed, and overtime should be absolutely prohibited. Weekly holidays are as necessary for telephone operators as those in any other occupation.

Seventeen years of age is too young to enter this line, and nineteen years should be the limit.

"We would also recommend that before being accepted by the company, operators should be required to pass an examination as to their health, especially as to their nervous system, throat, lungs, sight, hearing and tendency toward tuberculosis."

Other recommendations, as suggested by medical witnesses, also urged: Doing away with far reaching, better lighting of the switchboard, sterilizing the mouthpiece used by operators daily, more comfortable seats, and permission to stand as well as sit; and better ventilation.

If the recommendations are followed the following changes in hours will be made at the Toronto office:

Working hours reduced from seven to six; two hours' work reduced to one and a half, with twenty minutes relief instead of thirty. The intermission would be one and a half or two hours instead of one. There would be no overtime allowed, and only six days a week, instead of seven.

The "Listening Boards" report adds: "In his evidence Mr. Dunstan stated that there was infinitely more privacy in telephoning than there was in telegraphing, as every telegram passed through the hands of two or more people, and that every postal card may be read by a postmaster. Now that the fact that telegrams of information obtained by means of the listener have been admitted, we would recommend that the criminal laws applicable to news improperly obtained or divulged by telegraph operators or officials be amended so as to apply to telephone companies."

WANT CANADIAN WHEAT.

London, Sept. 13.—In view of the rise of bread and the probable reduction of the United States export for years, Colonel Mayhew, head of the firm of Mark, Mayhew & Co., declares it is the utmost folly on the part of the Government not to encourage the development of the Canadian wheat fields by granting a preference on colonial wheat.

CONDENSED LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. R. Polton, of Port Huron, is visiting Mr. R. Griffin at 583 Princess avenue, city.

Mr. George Creelman, principal of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, was a visitor at the fair yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Youngs, of Ypsilanti, Mich., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Button, of 124 Queen's avenue.

—Harvey Dumochelle, Geo. Edwards, Archie Napier and Dan Stewart, of Windsor, took in the Western Fair on Wednesday.

—Miss Pearl Atkinson, of London, has returned home after a two weeks' visit with her cousin, Miss Gertrude Taylor, Brant street, Windsor.

—Mrs. J. E. Norris has gone to London, Brantford, Niagara Falls and other eastern points, accompanied by her niece, Miss Annie Carney, who is returning to St. Thomas to resume her studies at the Alma College.

Went to Winnipeg.
Mr. Joseph Holiday left today for Winnipeg as a delegate to the Canadian Trades Congress, from London Trades and Labor Council. He will be absent two weeks.

The Late Mr. Wilkinson.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Wilkinson, who died at Victoria Hospital of heart trouble, was held from the undertaking parlors of D. A. Stewart, 104 Dundas street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The service was conducted by Rev. Dyson Hague. Interment took place at Woodland Cemetery.

This is a Joke.

The Stratford Herald thus waxes funny: A number of persons attribute the present showery weather and breaking up of the long drought to the opening of the Western Fair, whether that is true or not, the present rainy spell is being decidedly beneficial to the pasture fields and late root crops and apples and plums and fall plowing. Flocks of wild geese passed over here last night, going south. Is this a sign of very cold weather coming?

Mrs. Burns Ill.

Mrs. Tommy Burns, wife of the champion pugilist, while watching the ball game at the Agricultural Park, Chatham, Monday afternoon, was struck on the shoulder by a foul ball. The swiftness of the ball was great, and in striking her, caused her to faint. She recovered in a short time, however, and no serious injury. With the exception of a bad bruise, she was inflicted. Mrs. Burns is now very ill at the Oxford Hotel, in Woodstock, where she went the day after the accident.

Muncey Lad Lost in Detroit.

Calvin Fox, a 10-year-old Indian lad, was picked up on Woodward avenue, near Jefferson, last night and given lodgings at the central station as a waif. The boy told the police that he had just arrived in the city from his former home in Muncey, Canada, and expected to be met by his mother, who has been in Detroit for a short time working at a hotel, but she had failed to appear.

—The last games of the local city league season will take place tomorrow, when the McClarys meet the Stars, and the Rockets and the Perrins meet at 2:30 and 4 p.m., respectively, at Tecumseh Park.

CORNER-STONE WAS LAID AT ST. MARYS

Interesting Ceremony Was Conducted Yesterday by Bishop Williams.

An interesting event took place yesterday afternoon at St. James' Church, St. Marys, Ont., when the cornerstone of the new church hall and Sunday school was laid by His Lordship Bishop Williams, D.D., of London, before a large gathering.

The following took part in the ceremony: The rector, Rev. Rural Dean W. J. Taylor; Revs. Cluff and Deacon, of Stratford; Rev. R. S. W. Howard, M.A., of London; Rev. H. P. Westgate, of Attwood; Rev. N. A. Fitzroy Bourne, of Listowel.

A collection in aid of the building fund was taken during the afternoon amounting to $618.

The following was the inscription on the silver trowel which was used in the ceremony:

"To commemorate the laying of the cornerstone of the St. James Sunday School and Church Hall, by Right Rev. Bishop Williams, D.D., Sept. 11, 1907."

The trowel was presented to the bishop by the rector on behalf of the members of the congregation.

After the service was completed the bishop made a few remarks, paying a very high tribute to the rector on the work which he had accomplished, so ably assisted by his wife. He presented the silver trowel to Mrs. Taylor as a memento.

Owing to the generosity of several members of the congregation, contributing large sums of money, the building will not be long before it is completed. The late M. V. Hutton and his brother Joseph contributed $3,000 toward the fund. Mrs. Runney also interested herself by giving $500.

The cost of the building when completed will probably exceed $7,000, and of this amount more than $5,000 has already been subscribed.

Dolly Dimples.

Manager Bowers wore the smile that would not come off last night, for "Dolly Dimples" packed the Grand again to the doors. It's a laugh from start to finish, and is well worthy of patronage. Its chorus work is splendid and should be heard by all. It will be produced at the Grand tonight for the last time.

Bennett's Vaudeville again played to S. R. O. last night. As usual the splendid bill greatly pleased all. Manager Elms announces a big sale for Saturday matinee and night, so that it behooves all who would see the show to get their tickets at once.

SEAFORTH MAN IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Wife Wants to Get Rid of Him as Speedily as Possible.

Detroit, Sept. 13.—Robert William Scott, of Seaforth, Ont., who kidnapped his baby in Detroit last Monday night and was caught by the police at the ferry dock, is sued for divorce in the circuit court by his wife, Margaret Wilson Scott. The bill of complaint was filed yesterday. She charges non-support and cruelty and mentions the kidnapping episode. Judge Hosmer granted an injunction restraining Scott from molesting his wife or child again.

THIEF WITH AN AUTO

New Method of Holding Up Railroad Office in New Jersey.

New York, Sept. 13.—Frank Keeley, the night ticket agent and telegraph operator at the West Eighth street station of the New Jersey Central Railroad at Bayonne, was sending a message shortly after 3 o'clock in the morning, when a coin sounded on the marble slab at the ticket window. When he had finished sending the message Keeley walked over to the counter. He faced a middle-aged man.

"Let me have a return ticket for Elizabeth in a hurry, please," the man said. When Keeley got the ticket and showed it beneath the brass grating which protects the window he looked into the muzzle of a big revolver.

"Now, sonny, just open that door and be lively and you won't get hurt," said the man behind the counter. Keeley, who was scared, shoved back the latch on the door, and the man walked in and cleaned out the money drawer. He got $34.64.

"Not a word; I'm off," said the thief as he slammed the door. He started off in an automobile, the police think, but no one got trace of him.

A RAILWAY WRECK AVERTED BY DREAM

Ran Slowly at Indicated Point and Avoided Landslide.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 13.—Confidence in a dream probably averted a big wreck on the Northern Central Railroad. Previous to reporting for duty at the roundhouse, Engineer Jas. Burd, who hauls the Buffalo Flyer, leaving Harrisburg at 11:10 p.m., dreamed that his train had run into a landslide at a point between Dauphin and Halifax, 15 miles from here. He told his dream to several roundhouse attendants, but they laughed at him.

Engineer Burd to ease his mind, determined to run slowly after passing Dauphin. So speeding his train up to the limit till Dauphin was passed. Burd slowed up, and it was well he did, for at a point some distance north of Dauphin, identical with the place he had seen in his dream, the engine plowed into a landslide. Going slowly, the engineer was able to bring his train to a stop with little or no damage.

BORDEN AT DUNNVILLE

Renews Denial of the Aylesworth Charges—Graham a Pallbearer.

Dunnville, Sept. 13.—Mr. R. L. Borden got a good reception here last night at the Opera House. David Hastings presided, and the first speech of the evening was made by Haldimand's representative, F. R. Lalor, M.P. Mr. Lalor said Mr. Borden would rank in history with Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir John Thompson.

Mr. Borden said that the Liberal party had attained power under false pretences; that it came into power as a free trade party. It lacked the courage to repeal the national policy, but had maimed and disfigured it. Meanwhile the true national policy had developed with the development of Canada. The Halifax platform sought to lay down a programme which brought the national policy up to date.

Mr. Borden denied that the Halifax platform had been stolen from the Liberal Party, and in referring to Mr. Aylesworth's speech at Dundas, said: "I challenge him to make his charges, to name his informant, to meet me face to face at any time or place that he may select." Mr. Borden followed the lines of his recent speeches, dwelling upon that plank in his platform dealing with free rail road delivery. He also advocated the reorganization of the railway commission.

"ONCE MORE, GOOD-BYE!"

Great Ovation to Gen. Booth on His Leaving for America.

London, Sept. 12.—Men and women wearing uniforms of the Salvation Army filled Euston Railroad Station here this morning, a large party having assembled to bid farewell to Gen. Booth, who left London for Liverpool, where he will embark on the Allan Line steamer Virginian for Quebec, in which city the veteran commander will begin a campaign which is to extend over Canada and the United States.

The "Seventy-Eight Years Young" general, as he describes himself, appeared to be quite as hearty as possible, considering his age. From the railroad car he handed the reporters a message as follows:

"Once more, good-bye, dear old England. I leave your shores on what I believe is the Master's business. As I contemplate the future, I rely more than ever on the old panacea for lessening the ruins, inequalities, and tyrannies of the world—namely, 'The regeneration of the individual by the power of God.'"

Booth presided at a prayer meeting in the waiting-room of the station, which was attended by the prominent officers of the Salvation Army.

Commissioner Nicol, Colonel Lawley, and Brigadier Cox accompanied General Booth.

FINE POULTRY EXHIBIT.

An exhibit in the Poultry Building worthy of special mention is F. A. Faulds' Black Minorcas. On eight entries he won four firsts, and four seconds—everything possible. Among the exhibit was the S. C. cock bird that Mr. Faulds refused $150 for last winter. What makes the win all the more remarkable is that Mr. Faulds was showing at the New York State Fair at Syracuse at the same time. At Syracuse he made practically a clean sweep, winning every first and every second in both rose comb and single comb Black Minorcas, except second on S. C. cock. He also won first on breeding pen of young rose combs.

GALT ELECTRIC COMPANY.

The Galt Electrical Manufacturing Company, Limited, have exhibited their private lighting system in a most magnificent manner at the Western Fair this week. The exhibit consists of one 30-light special electric generator, and one 50-light. These dynamo produce an absolutely steady light when driven by gasoline engine, something considered a very difficult matter. The two dynamo on exhibition were driven by a 3½ and 5 horsepower McKivier automatic gasoline engine, and were also a wonder for simplicity and positive running. The exhibit was certainly a credit to the company.

NO INTENTION TO CLOSE FAIR

like throwing up my hands. It is the best, the only advertisement the city of London receives, and we cannot afford to give it up. There never was any intention of doing so, and there certainly is none now."

Increase in Revenue.

Col. Little went on to show that the revenue from concessions had increased over one-third. Those who had received concessions were well pleased and many were asking for concessions for next year. Better every year, was to be the motto.

Mr. Geo. G. McCormick was willing to go on record that the directors had never discussed such a thing as closing up.

As long as it could be made to pay the expenses of the fair, there was no danger of discontinuing. There was no cause for discouragement.

Col. Gartschore never had any idea that the Fair was going to be done away with. This year had been a particularly good one, as the McClary firm never before had so many visitors and customers. Many go to Toronto to see the Industrial and have a good time, but they come to London to do their business. The only difficulty was the matter of accommodation. The hotel accommodation was very limited and the Western Fair should make some provision for the accommodation of visitors. Many would stay in the city over night if there was any place for them to stay. Sleeping apartments should be provided for visitors. As for the report in the newspaper that the directors were going to close the exhibit, they will see everything from a light trap to a heavy coil and all of that substantial, elegant build which has made the name of John Campbell & Son, of London, Ont., famous throughout the Dominion. A special feature of the exhibit, which is one of the finest ever seen in this city is a close quarter landau, a style of carriage which has recently come into vogue and which is exceedingly elegant and handsome.

A Victoria carriage is also exhibited. This rig is rubber-tired and of most elegant design while the finish is simply superb. Then there are large numbers of traps, Westminsters and boulevard styles. There are Stanhope top buggies, Stanhope bikes, bike wagons with automobile seats and all kinds of buggies.

A splendid line of sleighs and cutters is also exhibited at the Campbell display. It will soon be winter time, and that old cutter is looking quite out of style. Why not call at the Campbell exhibit and choose your cutter for the coming winter?

FINE RECORD WITH CHICKENS.

One of our citizens, Mr. John Macpherson, the well-known barrister, has gone into the chicken business as a hobby, and has been meeting with great success. Although he started only three years ago he carried off many prizes at the various exhibitions. Last fall his Golden-Pencilled Wyandotte was entered at the Guelph Poultry Show, and won several of the best prizes. Notwithstanding the fact that the Wyandotte is one of the most difficult varieties of fowl to breed in good color, Mr. Macpherson has met with great success. This year he is showing several splendid birds at the Western Fair, and has carried off seven prizes out of eight entries in the Wyandotte class alone. Mr. Macpherson has one of the finest poultry runs in the Province, situated near Delaware, at a place called Hipoint, where his runs cover 500 acres.

CLEANS ALL BUT REPUTATION.

Died only see the paste that man in the Main Building at the Western Fair is selling? Why it beats all you ever saw for cleansing dirty hands. "Snap" is what they call it, and the place where it is being exhibited is on the lower floor of the Main Building, about the center of the south side. "Snap" is a paste put up in small boxes, and sold at two boxes for 25 cents. It cleans paint, put, grease, stains, and dirt of all kinds from the hands. It contains nothing injurious to the skin, being composed of pure vegetable oils and ground pumice stone. There is not the slightest particle of caustic soda, soda ash, potash, gasoline, benzene, or any other chemical in this wonderful mixture so that it cannot possibly injure the skin. The only spots that it will not remove are the spots on a person's reputation. Ask your grocer, your druggist, or hardware man for it, and if he does not handle it he will get it for you. Mr. J. H. Howard, the western representative of the "Snap" firm, is in attendance at the exhibit, and gives demonstrations of the powers of "Snap."

HAVRE TO NEW YORK

La Provence Has Broken Another Ocean Steamship Record.

New York, Sept. 13.—The transatlantic steamship record from Havre to New York, which has been held by the French Line steamer La Provence for a year, was broken by the steamer La Provencette, which arrived here. La Provencette completed the run across the long course of 3,140 miles from Havre to today in 6 days 1 hour and 12 minutes. The previous record was 6 days 2 hours and 15 minutes. La Provencette's average speed for the entire run ended today was 22.08 nautical miles per hour.

Provencette's previous best trip was made in 6 days 3 hours, and 24 minutes.

FOR PREFERENCE.

Melbourne, Sept. 13.—Premier Deakin after consulting his colleagues has decided to resist the pressure being put to induce him to abandon British preference. He said he attached the utmost importance thereto as the beginning of great things. He personally advocates the passing of the preference in the house a fortnight hence.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Recher, stockbroker, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington, today:—
New York, Sept. 13.—Continued weakness in Copper and Smelters naturally led to weakness in the rest of the market, but considering the bearish tone prevalent, the railroad list, especially Union Pacific, held very well. London houses were moderate buyers, and reported that sentiment on the London stock exchange was cheerful. As to the Copper situation, there seems to be no change, and consumers are confident that by holding out the market they will be able to buy copper at even less than the present quotations. The weakness of Steel was on rather heavy selling by a house which is supposed to handle orders for J. P. Morgan. It is asserted that the steel business is falling off rapidly, and that at the end of the third quarter of this year it will be found that a marked diminution of volume of orders on hand has taken place as compared with those on hand at the end of the second quarter. It seems to be idle to hope for much of a recovery in prices until Copper shows more resistance than at present. Sales to noon were 412,600 shares.

BOUGHNERQUEBEC BRIDGE DISASTER

Jury Fails To Find Cause, Company Are Exonerated.

Quebec, Sept. 13.—It was 12:40 a.m. when the coroner's jury rendered their verdict, through Mr. Delage, M.P., president, into the loss of life on the Quebec bridge disaster, after 53 minutes' deliberation. The verdict was as follows:

"That the deceased (La France) died from injuries and nervous shock sustained in the collapse of the Quebec bridge. We have been unable to establish the real cause of the collapse, but we think it our duty to declare that according to the proof furnished during the inquest, all necessary precautions were taken for the construction of the bridge without danger."

Quality Store

Quality Ever the Highest Prices Ever the Lowest

This is the motto, which, rigidly lived up to, has produced for you the best grocery store in London. Its growth has been marked by the adoption of every good method, calculated to secure the utmost promptness in delivery of goods. Its ideal has been to enable you to order by phone, with comfort and surety that the goods which you receive will be the very best the market affords, that the prices you pay will be the lowest for which such goods can be purchased, and that the delivery will be the promptest possible. We believe we have more nearly reached that ideal than any other grocery store in London.

LONDON AND DISTRICT

—Provincial Detective Reburn, of Toronto, is in this city.

—Miss Eva Finlayson, of Glencoe, will be the assisting soloist at the Hamilton Road Methodist Church on Sunday.

—Miss Nellie Wilson, of Waterloo street, sailed yesterday for the old country on an extended visit.

—Miss Ethyle Whitehall, of 768 King street, has returned home, having spent a very pleasant visit in Toronto and Hamilton.

—Misses Amy and Ethyl Simmons, of 625 Queen's avenue, have returned after spending a very pleasant visit in Toronto and Hamilton.

The death of Mrs. John Boock, late of this city, occurred at Jarvis on Saturday last, after a short illness. The funeral took place at Simcoe on Tuesday. Her husband and nine sons survive.

—J. E. Hamby, Cedar Springs, took the following prizes on Kent County peaches at the Western Fair: First on yellow rare ripe, Garfield, and Late Crawford; second on 8 varieties, 4 varieties, and Crosby; third in any other yellow.

—Wednesday was Civic Holiday in Port Stanley. All the stores were closed and the village had a deserted appearance; the majority of the inhabitants having gone by the morning train to visit the Western Fair at London.

—The Hamilton Spectator says: A Meeting of the creditors for whose benefit H. A. Soper, James street, assigned to C. S. Scott a few days ago, was held in Mr. Scott's offices yesterday, when John Lennox, of this city, and Mr. Pocock, of London, were appointed inspectors. They directed that Mr. Meredith Named.

Mr. T. G. Meredith, K. C., city solicitor of London, has been appointed to act for the Ontario Government at the supreme court in the appeal of the G. T. R. against the two-cent fare order.

Satisfactory Trial Trip.
The Glasgow office of the Allan Line cables to Toronto and Montreal, and also advises their local agents that the trial trip of the new steamer "Gramplan," on Thursday was very successful. The vessel attained a speed of sixteen knots.

Firemen Give Exhibition.
Visitors in the city who drop into the Central Fire Station on King street, are given three exhibitions daily of how speedily the horses and men can get ready for a fire. The visitors are all loud in their praises of Chief Clark and his men.

The Power Question.
A dispatch from Toronto says: "Hon. Adam Beck and Premier Whitney had a lengthy conference today on the power question. 'Till the contract is signed and we have something definite, there is nothing more to say,' remarked Mr. Beck after the interview. It is understood the matter is progressing satisfactorily."

Peculiar Situation.
Although holding the necessary education department certificate, Mr. A. Stuelwasser, recently engaged to teach German in the Berlin schools, could not speak the language fluently enough to meet the requirements, and the school association will now request the permission of the minister of education to engage a German teacher who does not possess the departmental certificate.

Company Settles.
The Southwestern Traction Company has settled with Mrs. Colley and Miss Sanderson, who took proceedings against the company for damages on account of injuries received by them through a runaway near Union recently. It was claimed that the horses were frightened by the engine which was operating in the vicinity. The company paid Mrs. Colley $200, Miss Sanderson $125, and paid the physician $200.

Police in Hamilton.
Hamilton Spectator: The police commissioners met today at noon to pick a man for the police force, but did not consider any of the three applicants for the position worthy to wear the blue. The objection to all was that they were not "chesty" enough. None of the three measured more than 34 inches around the chest. Chief Smith asked the board to set a chest measurement for his guidance in taking applications to lay before them. He thought no man who measured less than 36 inches across the chest should be considered, and the commissioners concurred in this. Hereafter a man who applies to be a policeman will have to measure at least 36 inches across the chest.

Scalded to Death.
The Gazette, of Earl Grey, Sask., contains the following account of the death of the young son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Minor, of that place, formerly of London, the child being a grandson of Mr. Robert Allen, of 433 William street: A very sad event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Minor, near Earl Grey, on Friday last. Their eldest child got his arm into a kettle of boiling water that was standing on the floor and pulled it over on himself. Dr. Neatby was sent for, and he rendered what aid was in his power. However, the efforts to save the child's life were unavailing, and he died early next morning. Fortunately the little fellow did not appear to suffer much, the hot water probably having killed the sense of feeling, and he passed away as in a sleep. The funeral took place on Sunday at Earl Grey Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Elton conducted the service. The child was two years and three months old—an age when his sad and sudden death will be severely felt by the parents, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

LAKE ERIE IN A FURY

Vessels Wrecked—Steamer Aground—Boats Held Up.

Detroit, Sept. 12.—Two schooners wrecked, two more forced to seek shelter in the nearest port, and north-bound boats from Lake Erie and eastern points held up by terrific wind storms are the results of the first gale of the fall season which descended upon the Great Lakes yesterday. The tornado-like velocity of the wind, coupled with driving sheets of rain, was general throughout the entire lake region, reaching as far north as the Soo and completely covering Lake Erie.

One steamer is aground at Lime Kiln crossing. At Muskegon two other schooners, after weathering the terrific sea kicked up by the gale for two hours, sought shelter in port. On Lake Erie the storm raged in all its fury and several boats are yet to be heard from. Whether there were any fatalities is yet known, but vessel owners with boats en route between here and eastern ports are much worried as a result of the storm.

The coming of "Kerry Gow" to the Grand tomorrow, matinee and evening, recalls the palmy days of Joseph Murphy, some 30 years ago, when this famous actor played the part of Dan O'Hara for over six months at the old Park Theater on Broadway near Twenty-third street, New York. The theater-going public of those days hailed the shoeing of a race horse on the dramatic stage as the acme of spectacular realism, and the blacksmith scene was the talk of New York for many years following.

The lasting qualities of "Kerry Gow," which has been produced continuously for over 31 years, are remarkable, and are due almost solely to the broad human interest which pervades the story. The feature of the new presentation of "Kerry Gow" is above all the contract of Bernard Daly with the production. Daly is looked upon in the theatrical circles as distinctly a "find."
