OUTDOES FALLS AND STRATHROY ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR PREMIER

Essexes and Kents Give Him a Magnificent Reception.

MANY EXCURSIONS CARRY THOUSANDS

While Hundreds on Platforms of Stations Cheer Him as Train Goes by---The Speeches.

[By Our Own Man.]

Tilbury, Sept. 21. — Remarkable as were the demonstrations in Niagara Falls and Strathroy, from the standpoint of attendance and enthusiasm, the reception tendered Sir Wilfrid Laurier today surpassed them. It may be that the best wine has been kept to the last, but the fact is indisputable that the tour of Canada's greatest premier through Ontario is indeed a triumphal one.

Such enthusiasm as was manifested here today has perhaps never been equalled in this Province. The people simply shouted themselves hoarse, as the great Canadian made his appearance, and not until his train had departed did the crowd cease cheering.

Ovation Was Great One.

Visitors who had seen the Quebec demonstrations were simply amazed, and were very frank in admitting that the ovation tendered Sir Wilfrid exceeded anything in his own Province.

here was greater than any yet seen.

Tilbury is indeed a strategic point. Easy access from five ridings—West Elgin, East and West Kent, and East and West Essex—was available. In addition, it was the centre of the most cosmopolitan population in Ontario in a rural constituency. The townships of Tilbury contain a large number of French-Canadians, while a large French-Canadian population is to be found in the vicinity of Puce, Windsor, Amherstburg, Belle River and other points. There is also a considerable German population in these ridings. Chatham's colored population was also represented by a very large delegation.

An Immense Gathering.

The gathering was immense from the standpoint of numbers. Excursions were run on the M. C. R. from St. Thomas, Windsor, and from Leamington, carrying approximately 2,000 people. On the C. P. R. there were also excursions, increasing the number of visitors by perhaps a thousand more.

The crowd, while not so large in point of numbers as that of Niagara Falls, was considerably larger than that of Strathroy. The town of Tilbury never had such a crowd in its history, and all classes of citizens united to make the place look its prettiest for the occasion.

A word might be said of the decorations. They were indeed the most elaborate of any town yet visited, and were distinctly a credit to the public spirit of the citizens. Much favorable comment was made on the decorations.

Sir Wilfrid and his party left shortly after 7 a.m. on the M. C. R. for St. Thomas, and thence to Tilbury. All along the line of railway, at every station, no matter how small, there were many admirers, waiting, if by chance they might see him.

Crowds at Stations.

At Dutton and West Lorne there were good crowds, perhaps over 200 people. At Rodney there were over 500 people, and at Ridgetown and other places there were many waiting for him. He greeted them as he passed, and created great enthusiasm.

Vive Laurier!

On reaching Tilbury, an immense throng was on hand. The preponderance in numbers was with his compatriots, the French-Canadians. Cries of "Vive Laurier!" were heard on all sides, and the cheering continued for many minutes.

An address of welcome was presented, to which Sir Wilfrid replied briefly. He also said a few words in French to his compatriots.

After the reception was over Sir Wilfrid, accompanied by Dr. Sharp and other leading citizens of Tilbury, went for a walk about the town, returning shortly before noon.

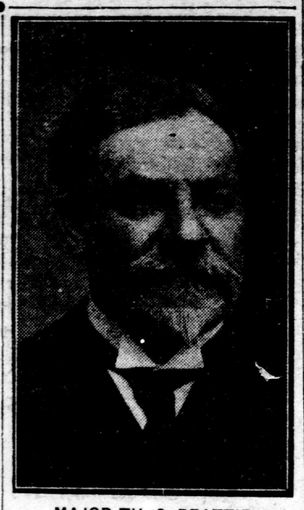

The Procession.

The procession was formed shortly after 1 o'clock, after the excursion trains had all arrived.

It was headed by the Twenty-first Fusiliers Band from Windsor. Col. Martin, of Chatham, was marshal, and handled the procession admirably.

After the band came hundreds of young men on horseback, and then followed Sir Wilfrid in a carriage, with Dr. Sharp, Mr. R. F. Sutherland,

MAJOR THOS. BEATTIE,
Again selected as the Conservative Standard Bearer in London.

MANY PREACHERS IN BAD WRECK

Missouri Pacific Passenger and Freight Crash Together With Disastrous Results.

Weeping Water, Neb., Sept. 22. — In a head-on collision last night in the yards at this place, between a Missouri Pacific passenger train and a freight, 38 passengers and 3 trainmen were injured. The engineer of the passenger train rounding a hill was unable to check his train before the crash came.

Of the 49 passengers few escaped injury of some kind, but only a few were severely hurt.

Many of the passengers were Methodist preachers on the way to Lincoln from the Nebraska Methodist Episcopal Conference, which concluded its work yesterday at Auburn.

DOWIE'S FATHER DEAD.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 22.—John Murray Dowie, aged 83 years, father of John Alexander Dowie, the founder of Zion City, and who was repudiated by his son, died today at the home of his son's widow, Mrs. Jane Dowie, on White Lake, Muskegon County. He went to live with Mrs. Dowie when his son denied him, and had been in declining health since.

Fire Chief Was Not Appointed Mayor Stevely Held Up Movement

Was Ready to Rule That Matter Would Not Be Dealt With Till the Committee Reports.

The appointment of Assistant Chief Aitkens as chief of the fire department was not railroaded through the council last night, as it was the intention to do.

His friends had all their wires laid, and were going to put it through regardless of the opinions of others.

Mayor Stevely got word of the proposition, and telling Ald. Stewart, the chief supporter of the move, that it would not go through, as it was illegal, a lively tilt took place between his worship and the alderman.

In order to make the appointment a two-thirds vote of the council was needed to rescind the motion, leaving the matter in the hands of No. 2 committee.

Ald Stewart at first figured out that he had a number of supporters to assist in the scheme, but two-thirds is quite a number, and later he felt that it would not be safe to take a chance.

Ald. Beattie's position was not known, and he could not be persuaded to give his hand away.

Two Aldermen Oppose.

"I did not know my position was so strong," said Mayor Stevely, in discussing the matter. "I ruled that the matter could not be dealt with by the council until a report had been made by No. 3 committee. That report was not made. In addition, I looked up the by-law and find that it states that the appointment of chief shall be made by the council on recommendation of No. 3 committee. There were two reasons why the appointment could not be made. I am not particularly anxious about any particular appointee, but the appointment has to be made in regular fashion."

Ald. Stewart is still working industriously for the appointment of Mr. Aitkens, although there are many objections being made to that gentleman.

It is also rumored that Assistant Chief Aitkens has the nomination of the Conservative Club for the position, and is making the best use of that. However, there are several Liberal aldermen supporting him for the position, and working with energy to make his appointment safe.

An effort will be made to put it through at the next council meeting.

Niagara Power Appeal Again in Court Objections Being Argued in Toronto

Appeal Taken From the Judgment of Mr. Justice Anglin.

Today's Globe says: An appeal is to be argued this morning before Chief Justice Meredith, from the judgment of the Master in Chambers, given last Wednesday, in which he refused to strike out certain paragraphs from the statement of claim in the suit entitled Smith vs. City of London, wherein the plaintiff seeks to have the contract between the City of London and the hydro-electric power commission set aside as not valid and binding. The motion was to strike out certain paragraphs as embarrassing, but the master said that the statement of claim was long, but not on that account necessarily objectionable, and he said that pleadings were not to be reformed in Chambers unless when hopelessly bad, and perhaps not always even then. He did not see that the statement of claim was open to attack, nor how the validity of the bylaw was attacked, when the statement in paragraph 11 itself set out the fact of its validation. These were statements in conformity with the rules of some of the material facts on which the plaintiff would rely, and on proof of which he hoped to succeed. The Master also said that the commission being not a party was no objection, as no relief was asked against that body.

The Objections.

The paragraphs in question allege that certain representations were made before the council of London by the chairman of the hydro-electric commission, and these acting under his authority, which induced the signing of the contract, which were untrue in substance and in fact, and were misleading, and that the resolution of the council, authorizing the signing of the contract would not have been passed had it not been for such representations. It is stated that the members of the council were led to believe that in signing the contract they did not involve the corporation of London in greater expenditure for electric horsepower than the sum of $23.50 per h.-p. per annum. And it is alleged that the signing of the contract was a fraud on the ratepayers, in that the council, assisted by the commission, obtained the consent of the ratepayers to a bylaw, but after obtaining such consent the commission refused to submit a contract in compliance therewith, and so induced the council to authorize the signing of a contract involving a different and greater liability.

A HIGH HONOR FOR GEO. T. BELL

Made President of the General Association of Passenger Agents.

Toronto, Sept. 22.—George T. Bell, general passenger agent of the Grand Trunk, is the first Canadian railroader to become president of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, which is holding its annual convention in this city. The association is 56 years old, and covers the whole of North America and Mexico. Four hundred delegates are here, a special of thirteen Pullmans coming in this morning from Chicago with the last contingent from the west. The convention was opened with an official reception by Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways and canals, Acting Premier Foy and Mayor Oliver. The delegates were given the freedom of the city and Province, and told they could do what they liked.

BIG PREPARATIONS AT CLINTON FOR VISIT OF THE PREMIER

Town Being Beautifully Decorated in Honor of Sir Wilfrid's Visit Wednesday—Many Excursions Will Be Run to Scene and Great Gathering Is Expected.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Clinton, Sept. 22. — Elaborate preparations are being made here to welcome Sir Wilfrid Laurier tomorrow. The town is being decorated, all classes of citizens uniting to make the town look at its very best. Visitors from a considerable distance are already flocking into the city, and from present indications the largest crowd in the history of Clinton will be present to welcome Canada's greatest son.

The Hurons will be well represented Excursions will be run from Goderich, Kincardine and other places to Clinton, and immense throngs are expected.

Sir Wilfrid will arrive before noon and will be welcomed by the mayor and council. A drive about the town will occupy the morning, and in the afternoon the demonstration will be held.

All the prominent Liberals in this section will be present and will speak.

Hon. George P. Graham will accompany the Premier and will deliver an address.

Yard Engine Struck Grocery Wagon Boy Driver Jumped, Saved Himself

Peculiar Accident at the Adelaide Street Crossing of Grand Trunk.

A somewhat serious accident occurred at Adelaide street crossing of the Grand Trunk near Horton street at 11:30 this morning, when a yard engine backed into a wagon belonging to Mr. G. B. Drake, a grocer, corner of Rectory street and the Hamilton road, smashing it to kindling and throwing the horse to the ground.

Joe Easton, the driver, was proceeding south on Adelaide street and was stopped by the shunting engine along with two other wagons which preceded him.

According to his story the brakeman motioned them to cross.

The first two wagons got over safely but when he was on the track the engine backed up, the coupling pin catching in his wheel.

The engine did not stop, but kept pushing the wagon on until it was smashed to kindling.

The boy jumped and was uninjured, but the horse was thrown and dragged several feet.

It is understood that Mr. Drake will enter an action against the Grand Trunk for damages.

Mr. Gray's Backdown Causes Comment Didn't Even Make a Fight This Time

Story That Mr. T. G. Meredith, K. C., Was Approached by Mr. Borden.

The complete backdown of Mr. William Gray at the Conservative convention last night, was the topic of considerable discussion on the street this morning, and a great deal of comment was made on it.

It developed that Mr. Gray had a large number of friends among the workers of the Conservative party, but these workers were not delegates, and as a result he had absolutely no chance for the convention.

He was diplomatic enough to withdraw, not making the same sort of play that he did at the Beck convention.

Apropos to Major Beattie's candidature an interesting story has come to light. It is no secret that the Conservative party has been trying for some years to induce Mr. T. G. Meredith, K. C., to enter politics.

An effort was made this time also, and Mr. Meredith was approached.

In addition Mr. Borden was asked to lend a hand and promised Mr. Meredith a place in the cabinet should he himself ever be elected.

Mr. Meredith, it is known, looked the situation over, but could not see that his chances of a portfolio were very bright at this juncture, and politely but firmly refused to stand.

Then Major Beattie was again allowed to lead the Conservatives.

Dust in London Is Smothering No Water to Sprinkle the Streets

People Beseeching City Engineer to Do Something, But He Is Powerless.

Dust, dust, dust!

The city is in the worst condition from dust that it has been for years.

With the exception of a few streets down town, there is a coating of dust varying from four inches to a foot in depth.

There is absolutely no water for the streets, and this morning there were calls almost without number for City Engineer Graydon to do something to relieve the dust.

Storekeepers are most interested in the situation, as it is almost impossible for them to keep their store doors open, as their goods will be ruined.

Wellington street, Hamilton road, Rectory street, every street in the city that is not paved or macadamized is in awful condition, and causing great inconvenience.

As a matter of fact London streets make the Sahara desert look like a clover meadow in June time.

It's bad.

In the Country, Also.

"Dust in the country? Well, I should say so! I have never seen it so bad and I have been driving a stage now for—well, for longer than I care to say."

The above statement was made today by a well known stage driver, who added that the dust in many places was all of a foot deep.

In many places the stage wagon wheels have cut clean through the roadbed, and struck sand bottom, and unless rain comes shortly and lays the dust the roads will be in a deplorable condition.

The stage drivers report that the dusty condition of the roads interferes with their business in every way, and especially in reference to passenger traffic, people preferring to wait until the traveling can be done more comfortably before venturing to come to the city.

Eighty-nine in the Shade Today Warm and Dry and Very Dusty

Wouldn't a Shower Look Well Just Now to a Thirsty Land?

Today is one of the warmest of the season, and the temperature is unusually high. At half-past two this afternoon the mercury had passed the 89 mark. The lowest temperature today was 54 degrees. Yesterday the highest registered was 86.5 and the lowest 53. These high temperatures are considered most unusual at this time of the year, and on all sides the hope is expressed that rain will soon come. Not for a great many years has such a dry spell been experienced, and the drought is beginning to be felt. Farmers are unable to go ahead with their usual fall work, especially plowing, which is greatly retarded owing to the dryness of the ground. Pasturing is also interfered with, in many localities the grass being burned brown and so covered with dust that it cannot be eaten. On the country roads the dust lies inches thick and a shower would be most welcome.

CHOLERA AT BERLIN?

Berlin, Sept. 22.—Four cholera suspects, two of them Russians recently arrived from Russia, were taken to the Virchow Hospital this afternoon.

A conference of the representatives of the departments of health of the interior, army and marine was held in Berlin today, to consider the cholera situation. Every preparation is being made to deal with the epidemic should it make its appearance here.

PROMINENT CANADIANS IN CITY SIR WILFRID AND MR. BORDEN

Party Leaders Meet Prominent Men of London and Some of the District---The Premier Will Spend Night in City and Leaves for Clinton Tomorrow

London is honored today in having as its guest the Premier of the Dominion, Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the Opposition, Mr. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick, Premier Roblin, of Manitoba, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial secretary for Ontario, and other leading politicians.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived in the city last evening from Tilbury and remained with friends all day.

He took a drive about the city this morning, and also attended to much work with his private secretary.

This afternoon he met a number of leading Liberals, with whom he discussed the situation in Western Ontario.

He will spend the evening resting.

Mr. Borden Arrives.

Mr. Borden and party arrived at one o'clock from the east on the C. P. R. He was met at the station by Hon. Adam Beck, Major Beattie, Mr. A. T. McMahen, Mr. J. C. Judd, and other leading Conservatives.

Mr. Borden is stopping at the Tecumseh House while in London.

He appears to be in good health, although he is doing considerable travelling, and was warmly greeted by his admirers.

A conference was also held between Mr. Borden and his lieutenants and the political situation talked over.

The triumphal tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier through this section of the country is proving a source of worry and the Conservative leader is anxious about the fate of the Kents, where he confidently expected to have two supporters, and where probably he will not get one.

BIG WHOLESALE IS COMING WILL LOCATE IN LONDON

Gordon McKay & Co., of Toronto, Have Had Representatives in This City Looking for Premises Suitable for a Wholesale---One of the Largest Firms in Canada.

It is likely that within a few weeks London will have another fine wholesale drygoods firm added to those already in the city.

Representatives of the firm of Gordon McKay & Co., of Toronto, one of the largest wholesale houses in the Dominion, have been in the city for several days trying to find a store or building suitable for a warehouse.

The firm of Gordon McKay & Co. are one of the oldest and best known in Canada, and their increasing trade with this portion of Ontario has caused them to consider the location of a branch in London.

Several firms on Clarence street have been approached with a view of securing their premises, and the representatives, it is understood, have returned to Toronto to report to the heads of the firm.

The move of the Toronto firm is viewed with considerable interest by wholesale firms in this city.

Major Beattie Secures Nomination Conservative Candidate in London

Mr. William Gray Is Once Again Compelled to "Await His Turn."

Major Beattie, M. P., was last night chosen the Conservative candidate for the House of Commons in a convention held at the Princess Rink. The candidacy was secured without a struggle, everything apparently being cut and dried before the convention was called to order.

Mr. Wm. Gray, who was expected to seek the honor, contented himself with making his customary speech regarding what he had done for the Conservative Club of London, and saying that he was only one of the boys, was a young man, and could afford to give way to Major Beattie, who "wanted the job."

In all there were twelve nominations as follows:

Messrs. Wm. Gray, E. T. Essery, K. C.; Thos. Beattie, M. P., T. G. Meredith, K. C.; John D. Wilson, M. D.; Adam McMahen, Fred. J. Darch, P. H. Bartlett, J. C. Judd, K. C.; Hon. Adam Beck and Henry Macklin.

All of the speakers urged unanimity in the selection of a candidate, and but one speaker, Mr. E. T. Essery, came out openly for Major Beattie.

Good Word for the Major.

"We have a good man in office," he said. "Are we going to swap horses in midstream?"

The Hon. Adam Beck spoke at length, and after eulogizing the Whitney Government, urged that all jealousy be dropped in the selection of a candidate for the coming election.

Mr. Beck characterized the Hon. C. S. Hyman as a man whose money was his lord, and a man who knew everything there was to know about conducting a hard political campaign.

Ex-Mayor Judd stated that if there was any jealousy among the candidates, and he was not certain that there was, it should be set aside. The speaker referred to the spoils system work he had done as "just retribution" upon those who had not done their duty towards the electors. "I never aspired to become a member of Parliament," continued the speaker, "but if I accepted the nomination tonight and was made candidate, I feel certain that I would be elected. I will do all in my power to secure the election of the fortunate candidate."

The Major Speaks.

Major Beattie severely criticised the Government's methods in Parliament, and eulogized the Conservative members of the House. The major did not mention personal differences.

Mr. P. H. Bartlett and the other speakers dwelt on the necessity of standing together in the coming election, and said that it was an unwritten law of the Conservative party that personal differences must be put aside.

Dr. John D. Wilson said that the Conservative party wanted for a candidate someone above a mere politician.

"The day of the grafter is done," said he. "Let us select a man we can follow conscientiously."

All the nominees save Major Beattie having withdrawn, the nomination was tendered him unanimously.

Hon. Mr. Fisher at Aylmer on 29th

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Aylmer, Sept. 22. — Hon. Sydney Fisher will speak here on Tuesday evening, Sept. 29. The gathering promises to be a very large one, and many from different sections of the riding will be present.

Mr. W. W. Rutherford, the Liberal candidate, is making good progress in his canvass, and is meeting with great encouragement.

C. P. R. Special Officers Dissatisfied

The C. P. R. is having troubles of its own these days, between striking machinists and dissatisfied special officers.

According to the statement of one of the officers the C. P. R. agreed to pay the special officers $3 per day, or night, as the case might be, for their services in guarding the strike-breakers while the latter were at work.

A few days ago the pay car came along, and the special officers were surprised to learn that they had been rated at $2 a day instead of $3.

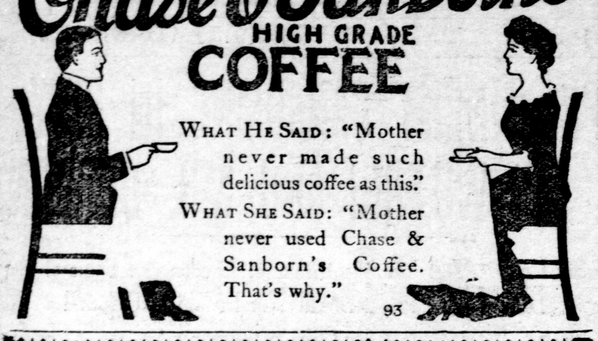

One or two of the officers, it is said, accepted the reduction, but the others held out for $3. It is understood that the difference in wages was the result of a misunderstanding between the officials who hired the special officers and the railroad, and that an agreement will be reached shortly.

The local special officers have been on duty for forty-five days now.

SHOT BY PLAYMATE.

Middleport, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Roy Phillo, 18 years of age, was shot through the heart and instantly killed with a revolver in the hands of Emmett Hickey, a 12-year-old boy. The boys were playing with the revolver.

STRATHROY FAIR OPENED EXHIBITION CREDITABLE ONE

Displays in the Crystal Palace and Other Buildings Are Very Fine---Officers Are Enthusiastic and Look for a Large Attendance.

The annual fair at Strathroy opened today with a large crowd and possibly the best exhibits in its history.

The grounds and buildings are in first-class shape and everything is moving along splendidly.

The judges began work on the exhibits yesterday and their work will be completed by this evening.

Crystal Palace.

The Crystal Palace presents a very fine appearance, many new and outside exhibits being shown.

The display of art and fancy work in the galleries is beautiful, and would make a creditable showing for many of the larger exhibitions. Oil, water color and crayon work are much in evidence, beside a quantity of excellent needle work.

The Agricultural Hall is also well filled, although the directors report that the quantity of exhibits is not so great as last year. The quality of the products is far superior, however.

Many bags of the finest specimens of grain are being shown.

Apples, fruit and vegetables are liberally displayed.

The poultry building is well stocked with beautiful birds.

Great credit is due the committees in charge of the different exhibits, and to the executive.

The Officers.

The officers of the Strathroy Agricultural Association, under whose auspices the fair is being held are:

Honorary Officers — President—Mayor James W. Cameron; vice-president—L. H. Dampier, manager Bank of Commerce; directors—Fred. P. Hughes, manager Traders' Bank; J. McPherson, Esq., Coldstream; James Healy, Esq., Strathroy; Thos. Luscombe, Esq., Strathroy.

Officers — President — James M. Henderson, Adelaide; first vice-president—Wm. F. Toohill, Napier; second vice-president — Jas. Ferguson, Strathroy; secretary-treasurer—David Evans, Strathroy.

The Programme.

A big programme of sports and speed events have been arranged for this afternoon with a splendid band concert and moving picture show this evening. Two purses of $150 each will be put up this afternoon and the same tomorrow afternoon. A one-mile relay race is scheduled, four men to enter with each team. The race is open to the County of Middlesex with the exception of this city. The prizes will be—1, $30; 2, $20; 3, $10; 4, $5.

Crowds are arriving in the town on every train and the exhibition promises to be the best in the history of the society.

Four Hundred Cotton Mills Are Idle

Manchester, Eng., Sept. 21.—More than 400 cotton mills in Lancashire are idle today as a result of the dispute over wages between the operatives and employers. This means that 4,000,000 spindles are wholly or partially stopped, that more than $250,000,000 of capital is not bringing in any return, and that 140,000 operatives are without work, and losing something over $700,000 in wages a week.

In view of the present glutted condition of the market it is not believed that this cessation of work will entail heavy damages to the employers.

It is not felt that the strike will last long, for the cardroom workers are expected to take a second ballot and agree to the five per cent reduction in wages, which already has been accepted by the spinners.

So far the idle operatives have been perfectly orderly.

Many Fall Before Cholera Spectre

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—The cholera continues to increase rapidly day by day in St. Petersburg. The efforts of the authorities here in stopping the sale of liquor between Saturday and Monday and the other preventative measures taken have had little effect in checking the spread of the epidemic.

Between noon Sunday and noon today the municipal hospitals reported the entrance of 380 cases and 155 deaths, and the addition of the statistics from the military and suburban hospitals for the same period will swell this total to formidable proportions. There are 34 cases of policemen alone in the Seminoffsky military hospitals.

Dispatches received here from three provinces report 488 new cases and 201 deaths in 24 hours, Rostov-on-the-Don furnishing 182 cases and 80 deaths.

SAILS IN THE AIR FOR OVER HOUR

A Remarkable Record Made by Wilbur Wright With His Aeroplane.

Le Mans, Sept. 21.—In the presence of the officials of the Aero Club, of Sarthe, a large number of French and foreign officers and aeroplane experts and a wildly cheering crowd, numbering 10,000, Wilbur Wright, the American aeroplanist, the afternoon captured the world's record from his brother, Orville Wright, with a marvelously impressive flight of one hour and 31 minutes and some odd seconds, covering in that time an actual distance of 98 kilometres, or nearly 61 miles.

Today's trial was for the Michelin cup for the greatest distance covered by an aeroplane in 1908, and the Aero Club prize of $1,000 for the longest flight over an enclosed ground. Wright made three false starts, owing to the oblique direction of the breeze and trouble experienced with the cradle. Finally at 5:15, with a four-mile an hour breeze, the aviator got away nicely, sailing majestically up the field amid thundering cheers. After rounding the upper turn Wright swept back to where the thousands were gathered and began describing ellipses. Wright at first manifested extraordinary prudence, flying so low that he seemed almost to skim the earth, but finally rose to greater heights.

CANADIAN TEACHERS' TRIP

British Teaching Association Give Many Invitations to Visitors.

London, Sept. 21.—Canadian teachers arriving in London are promptly made honorary members of the London Teachers' Association, and given all the privileges of membership. Many teachers' associations are specially inviting them to their gatherings, and already addresses at local teachers' meetings are being announced.

BARNS BURNED IN SOUTHWOLD

Those of Hugh Fulton on West River Road Go Up in Smoke.

Middlemarch, Sept. 21. — The fine barns of High Fulton, on the west river road, Southwold, together with the season's crops, were totally destroyed by fire at one o'clock this morning. How the fire started is a mystery, but when discovered was beyond control, and the fine buildings, which included two recently constructed bank barns and a couple of smaller structures, were reduced to ashes.

Mr. Fulton's loss will not fall short of $3,000. The property was insured in the Southwold Mutual but despite this his loss will be a very severe one.

At the time of the fire Mr. Fulton was away in London.

MR. MONTEITH RETURNING

Minister of Agriculture Will Be Back Early in October.

Toronto, Sept. 21.—Hon. Nelson Monteith sails from England on the Victorian on Sept. 25 for home.

The Minister of Agriculture will then have spent over a month in the old land in connection with the opening of an Ontario office in London, and other new schemes for colonization and immigration.

After he gets back he will likely be able to announce his future plans. The latest story is that he is not to take charge of the London office, but is to get a seat and remain in the cabinet.

$12 New York and Return.

From Suspension Bridge, via Lehigh Valley R. R., Sept. 24 and 25. Particulars 54 King street east, Toronto. 64k

Of More Than Usual Importance

Tomorrow, Wednesday, and Following Days

Fall Millinery Reception

This being our first OPENING under the high ceilings and white walls of our new building, we have prepared for the greatest Millinery event in our history. With greater floor space, more light and larger staff, we can handle greater crowds with more comfort than was possible in the old building.

Millinery Richmond St. Wing Second Floor

Come and see our displays of fall fashion throughout the store. Reception days are days for seeing, and displays will be made everywhere in all departments throughout the store.

Smallman & Ingram millinery is the vogue in this city, because every Hat is a truly artistic creation. With a large staff of designers, each Hat is created in its entirety, and is not one of numerous duplicates.

Two Passenger Elevators To All The Floors

SHAPES ARE VARIED, mostly large block shapes, but the mushroom shape seems to have the preference, and fashion says made of satin, velvet and faille silk. If anything, shapes are larger this season than last, yet you don't have to wear these if you prefer the smaller, for the pretty little turbans and pretty drooping shapes are noticeable everywhere.

WHILE MOST EVERY SHADE is used, the colors most in evidence are the new browns, tans, gobelin, peacock and navy blues, greens, taupe and amethyst. The most pleasing feature this season is the great variety of colors used and no great run on any one shade in particular, which, no matter how pretty or popular, is always overdone before the season is half over.

OURS you will notice is a display of artistic and individual styles.

WINGS, FEATHERS and FLOWERS form the greater part of the trimmings, and it's easy to see how very distinctive a plume, a fancy feather or a spray of autumn tinted foliage would render those large shapes. Their smartness is apparent at a glance.

See Mantle and Fur Display Third Floor

The Black Note In Millinery

Not mourning hats. Many not in mourning prefer an all-black hat. With the correct touch of style, it is more effective than color for crowning certain dresses.

In this our fall exhibit of all that is newest and best in Autumn Millinery at moderate price, are striking black models; large, small and medium; in felt, silk, velvet and satin.

See Window Displays Richmond and Dundas Sts.

SEE THEM AND ALL OTHER NEW THINGS IN THE DISPLAY—MILLINERY PARLOR, SECOND FLOOR—TAKE ELEVATOR.

"SOME IN VELVET GOWNS"

Excella Stripe Velvet Suitings, $1.00 Yard

Don't miss seeing these. They have just arrived, and are on display in dress goods section, Richmond street wing, main floor. It is the self-colored shadow stripes, in rich shades of velvet, and you cannot imagine the gorgeous effects produced. There are only two suit lengths of a color, and some are already cut. Light and mid-navy, mid and dark brown, wine, taupe, myrtle and purple; 22½ inches wide; at, per yard $1.00

J. Somerville is permitted to retire; to be provisional lieutenant (supernumerary), Sergt. Wesley Francis Gordon Short.

Nineteenth Mounted Rifles — To be provisional lieutenant, Wilfrid Laurier Roblin, gentleman, to complete establishment.

UNION OF JOCKEY CLUBS

Quebec and Ontario May Unite to Control Canadian Turf Matters.

Toronto, Sept. 21. — A meeting of the presidents of the jockey clubs racing in Ontario and Quebec was held today in the directors' room at Woodbine Park. Mr. Seagram, president of the Ontario Jockey Club, was in the chair. There were also present: Judge Monck, vice-president of the Hamilton Jockey Club, in the absence of Senator Gibson; George M. Hendrie, president Windsor Jockey Club; Sir Montague Allan, president of the Montreal Jockey Club, and J. H. Madigan, president Niagara Racing Association. The meeting was devoted to the discussion of matters for the welfare of the Canadian turf. From this meeting will develop the Canadian Racing Association, which body will doubtless assume control of the turf in the Dominion. The gentlemen present were entirely of one accord as to the many benefits which would result from such a union. Many details were practically agreed upon, and the actual work of organization will be completed at a meeting to be held in the latter part of October, subsequent to the close of the racing season.

CHURCH CELEBRATION

St. John's, at Sandwich, Has Its 100th Anniversary.

Sandwich, Ont., Sept. 21.—In connection with its harvest home festival yesterday St. John's Anglican Church celebrated the 100th anniversary of the erection of the first church.

When the British evacuated Detroit and the northwest in 1796 several families loyal to the British crown moved from Detroit to the south side of the Detroit River, settling on the front between what is now Walkerville and a point a few miles below here. These familes organized a parish, of which one of their number, Richard Pollard, who had been ordained a deacon by Right Rev. Dr. Mountain, of Quebec, was planed in charge.

In 1807 the parish erected the first church building west of the Mohawk Valley. The building was destroyed by the American army in the Gen. Harrison invasion of 1813. A new church was put up in 1815, which was pulled down in 1872 to make way for the present building.

C. P. R. TO BUY ROAD

Chicago, Sept. 21.—A special dispatch to the Inter-Ocean from Minneapolis says that the Chicago Great Western Railroad Company, together with all of its terminal facilities, rolling stock and motive power, and equipment, will soon become the sole property of and a subsidiary line to the vast system of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, seems to be a certainty, according to unofficial information from headquarters of the Great Western in St. Paul.

Montreal, Sept. 21. — Sir Thomas Shaughnessy shown the Chicago and Great Western dispatch, said: "I haven't heard anything about it."

RUN DOWN BY TRAIN.

Toronto, Sept. 21. — An unknown man was run over and killed by a G. T. R. train near Maple this afternoon. The body, which was brought to the city and is now in the morgue, is that of a man of 60, poorly dressed, and evidently a tramp. He paid no attention to the warning whistle of the engine, and was struck and run over before the train could be stopped.

FOLLOWED HER MOTHER'S EXAMPLE.

AND KEPT DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY IN THE HOUSE.

Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Tessier, Sask., tells of her experience in the following words: "I wish to tell you of the good I have found in DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. Last summer my little girl, aged two years, was taken ill with Summer Complaint, and as my mother always kept DR. FOWLER'S in the house, when I was a child, I seemed to follow her example, as I always have it also. I at once gave it to my baby as directed and she was at once relieved, and after a couple of doses were taken was completely cured."

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY imparts a healthy tone to all mucous surfaces, corrects and heals all forms of canker and counteracts all tendency to pain and inflammation, while it gives tone to the debilitated system when weakened by exhaustive discharges and fluxes of whatever nature, thus making it the best and safest remedy for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Pain in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all Summer Complaints.

HASKELL BRANDS HEARST FALSE

Oklahoman Offers to Withdraw If Editor Can Prove Charges.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The following letter was given out tonight by Gov. Haskell, of Oklahoma:

"William R. Hearst:

"Sir—You are stating in speech and press in substance, that in 1899, when Attorney-General Frank S. Monnett, of Ohio, had several cases pending in the supreme court of that state against the Standard Oil Company, that I sought to influence him to dismiss those suits. I have said and now repeat that your statement is absolutely false, and that I never had any relations of any kind or character with the Standard Oil Company.

"Our conflicting statements prove nothing. You, as a newspaperman, may and should desire a reputation for truthfulness, I, as a public official, demand that those who accuse me stand forth and make their proof. You know that a suit against you for civil damage, or a criminal prosecution for libel means long delay, and affords your character of journalism a chance to cover your expenses before being called upon to settle. I do not want your money; I simply desire to expose you to the public as a false accuser who has distorted public records and manufactured statements for base political purposes.

Court's Investigation.

"For the purpose of settling forever this infamous slander which you are circulating in your newspapers and on the stump, I now propose that a committee of five or any three of them, composed of the editors of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, the Chicago Journal, the New York World, the Indianapolis News and the St. Louis Republican, be selected to hear you and me under oath, and all other evidence they may desire, as to the truth of falsity of your charge at the earliest possible moment, and render their decision to the public in writing.

"Should this committee find your charge sustained, I shall withdraw from all connection with the present Presidential campaign.

"Should the verdict be against you, as I know it will be, there need be no other penalty than the public contempt due every assassin of character.

C. N. HASKELL."

BORDEN AT PEMBROKE

Addresses a Large Gathering Along the Usual Lines.

Pembroke, Sept. 21.—Opposition Leader Borden addressed a large gathering here today, inaugurating his Ontario campaign. He was given a good hearing, and presented with addressed from local Conservative bodies. His speech was the usual wholesale condemnation of the Government, charging extravagance and graft.

TYPHOID IN MONTREAL

Fifty Cases Have Been Reported In the Last Week.

Montreal, Sept. 22.—It is announced by the health authorities that typhoid fever is epidemic in Montreal. Fifty cases have been reported last week, and the average number of cases is five per week. The cases are spread all over the city, and every ward is represented. The health authorities are as yet unable to give a reason for this outbreak.

The Oireachtas, or great festival, held annually at Dublin, is the climax of a system of minor local festivals held throughout the year all over the country. Partly social and partly educational, they serve the double purpose of keeping alive the spirit of the league and of resurrecting the gay and festive social life once so characteristic of the Irish people, but which had begun to languish for lack of stimulus.

MR. ROBLIN SHOULD EXPLAIN.

One of the satellites revolving around Mr. Borden in his political travels is Premier Roblin, of Manitoba. It is said that Mr. Roblin wants to break into the larger federal sphere, and is trying to qualify for a seat in the Borden cabinet of the distant future. To-night in this city Mr. Borden, Mr. Roblin and one or more of their party will doubtless talk scandal and accuse the Laurier Government of squandering the public domain, especially in the west, to the profit of party favorites, grafters and hangers-on. Being a western man this part of the programme may fall to Mr. Roblin. It would be well for this gentleman to present some valid defence of his own land policy before hurling trumped-up accusations at the federal administration.

In 1899 the Province of Manitoba came into possession of 542,560 acres of carefully selected, high-class farm lands, taken in settlement of a debt. The Greenway Government announced that it would sell these lands to settlers only at moderate prices, and it disposed of 7,000 acres in this way. The Roblin Government reversed this policy and sold the land in large tracts to speculators at an average price of $3.68 per acre. In the year 1903 alone 140,000 acres were disposed of in blocks ranging from 1,280 acres to 40,000 acres. Purchasers were obliged by the Dominion Land Titles office to make a declaration of the amount paid for the land and a sworn estimate of its value. Here are nine sample parcels:

1. Two sections bought by Brandon speculators, price paid, $3,816; sworn value, $8,262.

2. One section bought by Brandon speculator, price paid, $1,908; sworn value, $4,134.

3. Two sections bought by Winnipeg speculator, price paid, $5,120; sworn value, $12,800.

4. Two sections bought by Winnipeg speculator, price paid, $5,120; sworn value, $12,800.

5. Two and one-half sections bought by Winnipeg speculator, price paid, $4,824; sworn value, $16,000.

6. One section bought by American speculator, price paid, $2,560; sworn value, $8,600.

7. Two and one-quarter sections bought by Winnipeg speculator, price paid, $3,107; sworn value, $8,810.

8. One section bought by Winnipeg speculator, price paid, $2,568; sworn value, $6,000.

9. Seven and one-quarter sections bought by Winnipeg speculator, price paid, $14,982; sworn value, $50,000.

Practically all the land has been sold upon similar terms at a loss of over $3,000,000 to the people of Manitoba. The Government made a present of this sum to speculators. Only a few weeks ago a Portage La Prairie syndicate, of which a Conservative member of the Legislature, Mr. Armstrong, is a director, obtained from the Roblin Government, by secret negotiation, an option upon 80,386 acres of land at a little over $3 an acre. The syndicate has capitalized itself at $1,000,000 and is offering these lands on the British market. It boasts in its prospectus that similar lands in Manitoba are selling at from $15 to $25 per acre.

The Laurier Government has not alienated to syndicates or speculators a single acre of arable land, excepting the block of 250,000 acres sold to the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company—land which a railway company, headed by E. B. Osler, M. P., refused to accept as a gift, because of its arid character. The land for the settler has been the policy of the Laurier Government. Only a month ago 30,000,000 acres were thrown open upon these conditions.

Doesn't it require considerable assurance on the part of Mr. Roblin to attack the Laurier Government's management of the public domain when he has pursued a course in reckless disregard of the public interests? And how can Mr. Borden conscientiously assail the Federal Government when he goes through the country arm in arm with such a maladministrator?

THE BRITISH PARTY.

The Conservatives when in power were loud in their protestations of devotion to the British Empire, and tried to fasten the stigma of disloyalty on their opponents, but the Liberals, by their acts, have done more in the past dozen years to strengthen the bond between the mother country and the Dominion, and to develop trade, than the Conservatives accomplished in all their long years of office.

During the ten years, 1887-1896, Canada's total trade (imports and exports) with Great Britain increased but $10,201,096. One of the first acts of the Liberals on entering office was to revise the tariff, giving a preference to British goods over and above those from all other countries of 12½ per cent. In 1898 this preference was increased to 25 per cent, and later on to 33 1-3 per cent. The result was an enormous increase in our trade with the mother country. In the ten years ended with 1906 our imports and exports from and to Britain increased from $99,513,758, to $202,276,486, or a growth of over $10,000,000 a year as compared with $1,000,000 a year in the previous decade.

Under the Conservatives imports had steadily declined until they dropped $11,916,845 in ten years, and amounted to but $29,401,188 in 1897. Under the preferential tariff they rose by leaps and bounds, until in 1906 they totalled $69,183,915, an increase of $39,782,727, or considerably over 100 per cent.

So, too, with the exports. Under the Conservatives there had been growth, it is true, but it was far from satisfactory. In 1887 the exports totalled $44,571,312; in 1896 they amounted to $66,689,253—an increase in the ten years of $22,117,941, or an average of about $2,225,000 a year. Under the Laurier Government the exports rose from $66,689,253 in 1896, to $133,092,571 in 1906—an increase of $66,403,318 in ten years, or an average of over $6,500,000 a year.

In addition to developing trade with the motherland the preference has been the means of effecting a very material reduction in the taxation of the people of Canada, who now pay one-third less in duties on imports from Britain than under the general tariff, which itself is lower than the National Policy rates.

Of much importance also is the prominence and favor which the preference has given Canada in Great Britain. More than anything else it drew upon the Dominion the eyes of the British people. It was the starting point of that interest in Canada which has turned the tide of British emigration toward these shores.

There has been on proposal to offer the Liberal nomination to Rev. D. C. Hossack or any non-resident of the city. There is no excuse for printing such a story.

BORDEN AND COMPANY.

A question which must occur to many of the rank and file of the Conservative party is, Why has not Mr. Borden taken with him, on his stumping tour, some of his lieutenants in the House of Commons, instead of the much-heralded provincial premiers?

Surely some recognition is due from the leader to Messrs. Foster, Haggart, Ames, Bennett, Lefurgy, Fowler, Cockshutt and Bergeron for the part they have taken in the slander campaign. These are the men who have taught Mr. Borden what he knows of the art of misrepresentation and transformed him from the gentlemanly parliamentarian he once appeared to be, into a politician who hesitates at nothing which he imagines might assist him to power.

Why is it that Mr. Borden is thus keeping aloof from these who doubtless consider their services entitle them to seats of the mighty if their leader ever has them at his disposal? Has he discovered that they are so low in the public estimation that he would be is danger of sinking to the same level if he openly appeared in their company? If so, his change of heart comes too late. Had he months ago repudiated the unsavory member for North Toronto, or even attempted to hold in check the slanderers who have foremost places in the Opposition ranks, he would have been stronger in the country than he is today. Instead, he abetted them in their scandalous course in the House of Commons, though taking care not to show his hand openly, and he stands responsible for their misconduct, and for the widespread impression that at this juncture a Conservative ministry would mean the ascendency of the worst element of that party.

The automoblilist who churns up the dust of the city streets these days puts his own pleasure above the comfort of his fellow-citizens.

CONDITIONS IN IRELAND.

Ireland's population continues to decrease, the net falling off last year being 14,674. The natural increase—i. e., the excess of births over deaths—was 24,408, but against this must be placed the loss by emigration, amounting to 39,082, which exceeds the number of emigrants enumerated in 1906 by 3,738, and the average for the ten years, 1897-1907, by 1,701. The population at the middle of last year is estimated by the registrar-general at 4,377,064. The mortality from tuberculosis continues on the increase.

The highest death rate among the provinces is that of Leinster, namely, 19.4 per 1,000 of the population, followed in the order named by Ulster, 18.7; Munster, 15.5, and Connaught, 13.5.

Of the 39,082 emigrants (natives of Ireland), who left the parts of Ireland during the year, 21,124 were males and 17,958 females. Of the whole number 5,711 were natives of the Province of Leinster, 11,283 of Munster, 14,513 of Ulster and 7,570 of Connaught. Of the total emigrants 9.15 per cent were under 15 years of age, 83.9 per cent between 15 and 35, and 6.6 per cent 35 or upwards.

During the year 22,509 marriages were registered, 15,571 of which were between Roman Catholics, while 3,668 were celebrated according to the rites and ceremonies of the Church of Ireland, 2,347 in Presbyterian meeting houses, 479 in "registered buildings" belonging to various religious denominations, 422 by civil contract in registrars' offices, 77 according to the usages of the Society of Friends, and 15 according to the Jewish rites. The Roman Catholic marriage rate is 4.79 per 1,000 of the Roman Catholic population, and the other marriages represent a rate of 6:15 per 1,000 of all persons other than Roman Catholics in the population. The marriages of bachelors with spinsters formed 89.3 per cent of the total; those of widowers and spinsters were 6.8 per cent, of bachelors and widows, 2:4 per cent, and of widowers and widows 1.6 per cent of the total marriages. Thus of the men married 8.4 per cent were widowers, and 4 per cent of the women were widows, while in eleven instances in every 100 marriages one or both the contracting parties had been in the married state before.

The marriage registers and certificates furnished a crude test of the progress of elementary education, the percentage of contracting persons in 1907 who can write their names showing a considerable improvement when compared with corresponding results in the first of the preceding ten years. Last year 92 per cent of the bridegrooms and 94 per cent of the brides wrote their names, and only the small remainder signed by marks. In 1897 the percentage of bridegrooms who signed their names was 84.8, and of brides 86.7. In 1864, when the general registration of marriages in Ireland was established, only 61 in every 100 men and 50 in every 100 women married wrote ther names.

Prices of such commodities as bread and oatmeal showed a slight advance over 1906, while potatoes ranged from 4s to 4s 6d per hundredweight in 1907, as compared with 2s 10d to 3s 3d in 1906, and beef rose from 50s 6d and 55s in 1906 to 52s and 56s 6d per hundredweight in 1907.

There was a slight decrease in Saturday workhouse inmates in Ireland in 1907, the total being 253 below the average for 1906, while the average number of persons receiving outdoor relief was 485 less than in the preceding year.

FARMING IN JAPAN.

[Kobe Chronicle]

The lot of a farmer in Japan does not seem particularly enviable in the eyes of a foreigner; but by the Japanese themselves it is generally spoken of as being in some respects more advantageous than that of most other classes. The farmer is more independent, though often his self-satisfaction is due much more to his ignorance of better conditions than to really worthy motives. His life, with all its drawbacks, is healthier than those of sedentary workers; and, as a class, agriculturists are the longest lived.

"BANZAI!"

[Philadelphia Record.]

"Banzai" is the one Japanese word that most of us know. According to a contributor to Notes and Queries it is only about fifteen or sixteen years old. Its birthplace was the Imperial University of Tokio. It was invented by Dr. Shigeno, one of the highest authorities on Japanese literature, in response to a request for an equivalent to the English "Hurrah." As a brief way of expressing congratulation "Banzai" has travelled all over the world.

"Thank you," replied the general manager.

"Am I to understand, then," the young man asked, "that you accede to my demand?"

"No. I thanked you because you had relieved me of an unpleasant duty. I always hate to discharge a man who will be unable to hold a job anywhere else."

A JOKE ON GERMANY.

[New York Post.]

If Mr. Henry Chamberlain, Lieut. R. N. (Retired list), is a veracious man, a novel and exciting diversion may now be indulged in by any summer tourist with a smattering of German, as he wanders through the Kaiser's realm. In the London Times of recent date this British naval officer narrates an experience of his own beside which the achievements of that world-famed and doughty "Hauptmann von Koepenick" lose all their glit. Wandering across the battlefield of Worth in the conventional garb of a London vacationist, Mr. Chamberlain chanced upon a dozen soldiers. "In vile German" he told them that he was an Anglo-Saxon and a naval officer, whereupon, at the last word, all the men sat up, buttoned their tunics, and buckled on their swords or bayonets. "Are you going to Niederbronn?" asked the Englishman; and to their "Ja" some evil genius prompted him to reply, "So am I. You are my regiment, I am your colonel!"

"Up they sprang to their feet," adds Lieut. Chamberlain, "fell in two deep, and kept quite silent, as if on parade. "Right turn!"—and off we marched; I carrying my umbrella as if it were a sword. Breasting a grassy slope we marched up to the top at a swinging pace, still observing perfect silence, and in step. By this time we were nearing Nierderbronn, and passed a man and his wife who evidently were much astonished to see a disciplined body of men marching in strict military fashion, under the command of a foreigner armed with an umbrella—not even a silk one! A disconcerting thought arose, "What will happen if we chance across a German officer—and how, in my broken German, can I ever hope to explain?" I said to the men, "I must go to my hotel, which is over there"—and bade them good-bye. These docile and amiable Saxons, with one accord, taking time by the leading file, saluted, and I, having returned their salute, got out of sight as rapidly as possible. On peeping round the corner of a house, there was my late "regiment" still marching with the regularity of clockwork."

Nature a Very Skilful Physician

PUTS UP HER MEDICINES IN MOST TEMPTING FORM.

Have you ever tasted anything more delicious than the fresh, ripe, luscious fruits? These are Nature's medicines.

A regular diet without fruit is positively dangerous, for the system soon gets clogged with waste matter and the blood poisoned. Fruit Juices stir up Bowels, Kidneys and Skin, making them work vigorously to throw off the dead tissue and indigestible food which, if retained, soon poison the blood and cause Indigestion, Headaches, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and a host of other distressing troubles.

But there is a quicker way to stimulate the organs to do their work properly. Take one or to "Fruit-a-tives" tablets every night, besides eating some fresh fruit every day. "Fruit-a-tives" combine the medicinal properties — many times intensified — of oranges, apples, prunes and figs, with the best tonics and internal disinfectants added.

Their action on Bowels, Liver, Kidneys and Skin is as natural as Nature's own, but quicker and more effective. Sold by all dealers—25c for trial box—50c for regular size—six boxes for $2 50. Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

THE SCOTCHMAN SCORED.

[Tit-Bits.]

On board one of the Scottish steamers which have been built with exceedingly light draught to get over the frequent shallows of one of the rivers in Scotland, a Yankee tourist remarked to the captain, a shrewd old Scotsman:

"I guess, skipper, that you think nothing of steaming across a meadow when there has been a heavy fall of dew."

"That's so," replied the captain; "though occasionally we hae tae send a man ahead wi' a watering can."

"Why, Mrs. White," began the summer visitor newly returned to Saymouth, "how those maples of yours have grown since last year! It's perfectly amazing!"

"Oh, I do' know's it's anything to wonder at," said Mrs. White, easily. "They ain't got anything else to do."

HE HAD TO.

[London Opinion.]

The garden of the new house of the Rev. Mr. Brown backed against the play-yard of an orphan asylum. Eight-year-old Johnny Brown was allowed to scale the fence and play with the orphans. Presently Mrs. Brown noticed that her apply supply was dropping low. She asked Master Johnny if he were not eating a good many apples for a small boy.

"Yes, mother," he replied, "I got to."

"Oh, indeed!" queried Mrs. Brown, "Are you quite sure?"

"Oh, yes, mother; they're needed. I just got to eat all I can stuff down."

"But why, my dear?"

"Because," said Johnny, earnestly, "the orphans need the cores."

The four sisters Amita form the feature of a very fine bill being presented at Bennett's this week. Of all the good things which have been at Bennett's this year, Manager Driscoll can rely upon it that the finest is the act of the Amita young ladies. They are decidedly French, with a coquettish prettiness which wins favor the moment they appear. They are vocalists and instrumentalists, and it is to their credit that they can give what is really a classic act, and at the same time interest the house from pit to dome. One of the young ladies possesses a marvellous voice, finely cultivated and endowed by nature with a range seldom attained. She sings what is claimed to be the highest note ever attempted. Her voice is one of strange purity and sweetness, and the flutelike tones of last night won for her encore after encore.

The chorus work of the young ladies is superb, the quartette filling the house with the most perfect melody. There is a strong strain of comedy in one of the girls—she of the marvelous voice—and though the song she sang with her sisters was in French, her petite roguishness took the house by storm, and again she was compelled to bow her thanks. This act is distinctly high-class, and it should be a superb attraction for the house. The more than fair-sized audience last night waxed enthusiastic over it, and applauded it to the echo.

Another very beautiful act is that of George P. Watson and Florence Little, entitled, "Matrimonial Bargain." It is a vocal comedietta, and is a very beautiful little sketch. Both sing well, and in addition look well—in fact, Miss Little is one of the handsomest women who ever graced the stage at Bennett's.

William Cahill, the man from Ireland, tells some funny stories and sings some songs very well. He made a hit last night.

Carletta, the human dragon, does some extraordinary contortionist work, and has a magnificently staged act.

Martinez & Martinez, the Spanish serenaders, play mandolins, etc., in an artistic manner, and made themselves very strong with the audience last night.

The Britons, a colored team, well-known in London, again established their reputation as the best colored team that ever danced in this city. They received a tremendous amount of applause and deserved it all.

The Bennettograph is very good this week, too. All who delight in good clean amusement should not fail to visit Bennett's this week.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer."

Now and then the theatre-goer finds a play that he would rather see again than an entirely new one. Such plays are not written very often, but once in a great while they make their appearance and live on for many years. "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the great rural drama success, which is numbered as a most decided hit, when seen here before, is a play that one has a taste for seeing again, and it will return to the Grand tomorrow night.

A novel plan is being experimented with in Australia with a view to ridding it of the rabbit plague. A newspaper is placed at the mouth of the burrow and the hole is then stopped with earth. The rabbits are said to be so frightened by the rustling of the paper that they will not approach the spot again, preferring to die in the burrow.

CHAPMAN'S

SEA MONSTERS OF THE SAGUENAY

Nimblest Salmon Falls an Easy Prey to Schools of Porpoises.

Quebec, Sept. 21.—Saugenay River tourists seldom fail to observe off the mouth of the river—white and glistening—the broad, bright backs of big schools of porpoises. Frequenters of the various salmon rivers flowing into the Lower St. Lawrence and the gulf are familiar with the same sight.

At almost any time when the fish are running into the rivers from the sea, the white backs of innumerable porpoises may be seen off the estuary patiently fishing in the deeper water of the entrance. Sluggish as they may seem in their methods, the nimblest salmon that comes their way will fall a victim to their inexorable jaws. As for the young samlets, stealing from their nursery to the unknown sea, on their first voyage, it is impossible to estimate the hordes of them that furnish food for the porpoises.

A pest in all waters inhabited by choice food fishes and having an average market value of only about $30, no system has so far been invented to capture porpoises in sufficient numbers to make the attempt remunerative.

The search for a suitable food supply is probably not the only reason why they leave the sea for a good part of the wear. By entering the St. Lawrence they are free for a time from hereditary foes. This means much, for great as the porpoise is in bulk and in powers of mastication, it is unfurnished by nature with the means of withstanding attack or of inflicting retaliative injury upon an antagonist of any standing in the mammalian kingdom. Escape, and that in the quickest way possible, is its only thought when threatened by danger.

In the soft tides of the St. Lawrence the fiercer cetacean is for some reason, if not unknown, at least only a visitor at rare intervals. Even the almost ubiquitous shark is an absentee or but poorly represented by his scavenging relative, the dogfish. In a realm so peaceful and fruitful the porpoises forget their terrors, and in the confidence begotten by numbers will hunt their prey to the very shore. In the shallow waters where the settlers have set nets to entrap the herring these freebooters will devour the schools of meshed fish and then in mere wanton attack rend the nets.

But whether gorging or gambolling these white scourges are rarely off guard. Their sense of hearing is remarkably acute. When, as is not infrequent, the waters are whitened by vast numbers of these invaders, and the air is loud with the noise of their splashings and unmusical gruntings, at a faint sound in the distance their tumbling forms become rigid in an instant as they listen in eager attention. Then as the sound becomes more distinct they are away precipitately in undignified haste.

Their fiercest assailant is the black fish of the gulf, sometimes known as the black dolphin, the black porpoise or the gladiator. These dark skinned warriors are inferior to the porpoise in size, being generally under ten feet in length. They are compact, muscular, swift in action, and born fighters.

As they rise to breathe you see only the deep lustrous black of their back and loins, but a near view will disclose, like the sheathing of a yacht, a breastplate as of burnished copper The eyes of the white mammal are small and overhung; those of their black foe are large, and, accentuated by a circle almost phosphorescent, have an appearance both startling and baneful.

They rarely ascend the St. Lawrence west of Point des Montes in large numbers, though a scouting party may occasionally be seen, and when they do arrive in force it is as a rule in a heavy easterly blow. They are easily known by the abnormal height of their dorsal fin, visible when the black warrior rises to breathe before a nearer approach reveals the polished, sinuous black. Mark well those high, thin-edged fins, for they are even as Toledo blades, ground for battle, to do duty at once as lance or sabre! These sable swordsmen are the terror of the porpoises.

A duel to the death between single representatives of these mammalian tribes is not an unusual occurrence. It is invariably marked by great fury. The drama of an attack in battalion upon a host of enemies is one rarely witnessed, and once seen never to be forgotten. Such a scene was recently described to the writer by the captain of one of the river steamers running to the Labrador coast.

The captain declares that precautions are generally taken by the attacking party so to round up the foe as to be able to attack them in a location favorable for their methods, such, for instance, as certain partly closed in bays. Into such places the porpoises are steadily forced until in shallow waters and a confined area they are brought to bay, with a dark line of black fish in the offing still pressing steadily on in serried ranks.

As at a given signal or word of command the charge is made at last, swift and compact, and into the writhing bodies of their victims those terrible fins are plunged until the waters are red to the very shore. For two long hours such a combat, witnessed by the captain above referred to, continued to rage.

So many peanuts are eaten in the United States that the native supply is not sufficient for the demand and about $3,000 worth of the African nuts were imported from Marseilles in 1906 and over $73,000 worth in 1907. The west coast of Africa produces quantities of peanuts.

The Wings of the Morning

BY LOUIS TRACY.

He paused, with a base eye to effect. Not a man moved a muscle.

"All right," he cried. "I will make no more false starts. Mrs. Costobell begged her husband's forgiveness for her treatment of him, and confessed that she and Lord Ventnor planned the affair for which Anstruther was tried by court martial. It must have been a beastly business, for Costobell was sweating with rage, though his words were icy enough. And you ought to have seen Ventnor's face when he heard of the depositions, sworn to and signed by Mrs. Costobell and by several Chinese servants whom he bribed to give false evidence. He promised to marry Mrs. Costobell if her husband died, or, in any event ,to bring about a divorce when the Hong Kong affair had blown over. Then she learnt that he was after Miss Iris ,and there is no doubt her fury helped on the fever. Costobell said that, for his wife's sake, he would have kept the wretched thing secret, but he was compelled to clear Anstruther's name, especially as he came across the other old Johnnie—"

"Pompey, you are incoherent with excitement. Who is 'the other old Johnnie'?" asked the first luff severely.

"Didn't I tell you? Why, Anstruther's uncle, of course, a heavy old swell with just a touch of Yorkshire in his tongue. I gathered that he disinherited his nephew when the news of the court martial reached him. Then he relented, and cabled to him. Getting no news, he came east to look for him. He met Costobell the day after the lady died, and the two swore—the stout uncle can swear a treat—anyhow, they vowed to be revenged on Ventnor, and to clear Anstruther's character, living or dead. Poor old chap! He cried like a baby when he asked the youngster to forgive him. It was quite touching. I can tell you —"

Playdon affected to search for his pocket hankerchief.

"Do tell us, or it will be worse for you," cried his mentor.

"Give me time, air, a drink! What you fellows want is a phonograph Let me see. Well, Costobell shook Ventnor off at last, with the final observation that Anstruther's court martial has been quashed. The next batch of general orders will reinstate him in the regiment, and it rests with him to decide whether or not a criminal warrant shall be issued against his lordship for conspiracy. Do you fellows know what conspir—?"

"You cuckoo! What did Miss Deane do?"

"Clung to Anstruther like a weeping angel, and kissed everybody all round when Ventnor got away. Well —hands off. I mean her father, Anstruther and the stout uncle. Unfortunately I was not on in that scene. But, for some reason, they all nearly wrung my arm off, and the men were so excited that they gave the party a rousing cheer as their rickshaws went off in a bunch. Will no Christian gentleman get me a drink?"

The next commotion arose in the hotel when Sir Arthur Deane seized the first opportunity to explain the predicament in which his company was placed, and the blow which Lord Ventnor yet had it in his power to deal.

Mr. William Anstruther was an interested auditor. Robert would have spoken, but his uncle restrained him.

"Leave this to me, lad," he exclaimed. "When I was coming here in the Sirdar there was a lot of talk about Sir Arthur's scheme, and there should not be much difficulty in raising all the brass required, if half what I heard be true. Sit you down, Sir Arthur, and tell us all about it."

The shipowner required no second bidding. With the skill for which he was noted, he described his operations in detail, telling how every farthing of the first instalments of the two great loans was paid up, how the earnings of his fleet would quickly overtake the deficit in capital value caused by the loss of the three ships, and how, in six months' time, the leading financial houses of London, Paris and Berlin would be offering him more money than he would need.

To a shrewd man of business the project could not fail to commend itself, and the Yorkshire squire, though a trifle obstinate in temper, was singularly clear-headed in other respects. He brought his great fist down on the table with a whack.

"Send a cable to your company, Sir Arthur," he cried "and tell them that your prospective son-in-law will provide the ten thousand pounds you require. I will see that his draft is honored. You can add, if you like, that another ten will be ready if wanted when this lot is spent. I did my lad one de—er—deuced bad turn in my life. This time, I think, I am doing him a good one."

"You are, indeed," said Iris' father enthusiastically. "The unallotted capital he is taking up will be worth four times its face value in two years."

"All the more reason to make his holding twenty instead of ten," roared the Yorkshireman. "But look here. You talk about dropping proceedings against that precious earl whom I saw today. Why not tell him not to try any funny tricks until Robert's money is safely lodged to your account? We have him in our power. Dash it all, let us use him a bit."

Even Iris laughed at this naive suggestion. It was delightful to think that their arch enemy was actually helping the baronet's affairs at that very moment, and would continue to do so until he was flung aside as being of no further value. Although Ventnor himself had carefully avoided any formal commitment, the cablegrams awaiting the shipowner at Singapore showed that confidence had already been restored by the uncontradicted use of his lordship's name.

Robert at last obtained a hearing.

"You two are quietly assuming the attitude of the financial magnates of this gathering," he said. "I must admit that you have managed things very well between you, and I do not propose for one moment to interfere with your arrangements. Nevertheless, Iris and I are really the chief moneyed persons present. You spoke of financial houses in England and on the continent backing up your loans six months hence, Sir Arthur. You need not go to them. We will be your bankers."

The baronet laughed with a wholehearted gaiety that revealed whence Iris got some part, at least, of her bright disposition.

"Will you sell your island, Robert?" he cried. "I am afraid that not even Iris could wheedle anyone into buying it."

"But father, dear," interrupted the girl earnestly, "what Robert says is true. We have a gold mine there. It is worth so much that you will hardly believe it until there can no longer be any doubt in your mind. I suppose that is why Robert asked me not to mention his discovery to your earlier."

"No, Iris, that was not the reason," said her lover, and the older men felt that more than idle fancy inspired the astounding intelligence that they had just heard. "Your love was more to me than all the gold in the world. I had won you. I meant to keep you but I refused to buy you."

He turned to her father. His pent-up emotion mastered him, and he spoke as one who could no longer restrain his feelings.

"I have had no chance to thank you for the words you uttered at the moment we quitted the ship. Yet I will treasure them while life lasts. You gave Iris to me when I was poor, disgraced, an outcast from my family and my profession. And I know why you did this thing. It was because you valued her happiness more than riches or reputation. I am sorry now I did not explain matters earlier. It would have saved you much needless suffering. But the sorrow had sped like an evil dream, and you will perhaps not regret it, for your action today binds me to you with hoops of steel. And you, too, uncle. You traveled thousands of miles to help and comfort me in my anguish. Were I as bad as I was painted, your kind old heart still pitied me; you were prepared to pluck me from the depths of despair and degradation. Why should I hate Lord Ventnor? What man could have served me as he did? He has given me Iris. He gained for me at her father's hands a concession such as mortal has seldom wrested from black-browed fate. He brought my uncle to my side in the hour of my adversity. Hate him! I would have his statue carved in marble, and set on high to tell all who passed how good may spring out of evil—how God's wisdom can manifest itself by putting even the creeping and crawlings things of the earth to some useful purpose."

REOPENED THE COMBINE CASE

Then Adjourned It for a Month—the Grocers Appeared in Court Yesterday.

Toronto, Sept. 21.—After numerous attempted trials, extending over a period of two years, the hearing of the Hamilton grocers' combine trial began today at the city hall before Chief Justice Falconbridge without a jury, in a special sitting of the Criminal Assizes.

The case for the crown is being handled by G. Tate Blackstock, K. C., assisted by S. F. Washington, K. C., of Hamilton. For the defendants E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., is handling the case, assisted oy Eric Armour and E. H. Ambrose, of Hamilton.

What the Charge Is.

The indictment reads that Henry C. Beckett, George E. Bristol, John I. Davidson, T. B. Escott, W. G. Craig, J. F. Eby, T. Kinnear, the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, during the years 1898-1905 at the city of Hamilton.....and elsewhere.....did combine and agree with the Canada Sugar Refining Company, Arcadia Sugar Refining Company, and about one hundred wholesale grocers in Canada to limit the facilities in producing, manufacturing, and dealing in sugar, tobacco, starch, canned goods, salt, cereals, and other articles, to restrain and injure trade, to unreasonably enhance the price of these goods, to lessen competition, and in a word to form what is commonly known as a "combine."

The first witness called was Mr. Stanley Cook, secretary of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Association.

"You have been secretary how long?" began Mr. Washington.

"Since 1900."

"You know the gentlemen charged in the indictment?"

"Yes."

"They are members of the Wholesale Grocers' Guild?"

"Yes."

"Who composed the Guild?"

"Nearly all the wholesale grocers from one end of the county to the other."

Provincial Guilds.

"Are there Provincial Guilds?"

"Each Province has a guild of its own, and in each Province there are sub-divisions."

"Do you know anything about the formation of price committees?"

"Very little."

Mr. Washington then read the duties of the secretary and the constitution of the association, whose laws were operative since January, 1903.

This was followed by the reading of a resolution passed in 1903 at a meeting of the guild, in which it was stated that by reason of the number of grocers outside the guild it would be advisable for those within not to sell to the outsiders.

"Rebates," read Mr. Washington, "shall be payable to those within the guild only on condition that their purchases are limited to members of the guild."

A similar agreement was read by Mr. Washington and objected to by Mr. Johnston on the grounds that it was never signed. Mr. Blackstock contended that the mere framing of an agreement even if it were never signed, was sufficient to show a conspiracy to combine. The evidence was admitted subject to the objection.

"Were any circulars sent out by you?"

"Yes."

"And replies received?"

"Some. I don't remember how many."

The Canned Goods Prices.

Mr. Washington next took up the canned goods section of the guild, and read a paragraph stipulating that rebates will be paid only to such members as observe the agreed-upon price list.

The same was shown to exist with reference to sugar and tobacco.

"Was Mr. Goldstein, of the Independent Tobacco Companies, or the Empire Tobacco Company, associated with you?"

"No."

A letter was read, which stated that a very satisfactory arrangement had been made with firms in Ontario and Quebec regarding the sale of sugar and starch. It was complained that some of the members were not living up to their agreements, and the action of the Ontario Sugar Refining Company selling in Quebec at an open price was noted. The Ontario Company was seen about the matter, but failed to fall in line. The result was that a resolution was passed stipulating that if any sugar firm wished to lower or raise the price of its output, before doing so the executive of the guild should be consulted.

A neatly-bound volume, containing all that had been read, was put in as Exhibit No. 1. Mr. Washington then took up a similar volume dealing with the Ontario Wholesale Guild, and it was put in as Exhibit No. 2.

Stand Together.

"If the members of the guild stand together," read the lawyer, "trade will be benefitted. It is necessary that all agreements entered into be adhered to."

"The agreement with the Canadian Canners Company is one that should commend itself to every member of the guild."

"If there is a well-founded reason for suspecting that a firm is not living up to its agreement, the firm in question, and its salesmen, if necessary, shall make a sworn statement in the matter, all proceedings to be strictly confidential."—Resolution passed at the 1905 annual meeting of the Ontario Guild.

PEACE AND PROGRESS

How Good Sense and a Conciliatory Spirit Worked For a Port's Good.

[Quebec Chronicle.]

Some three months ago a deputation of 'longshoremen from St. John, N. B., went up to Montreal to attempt to come to an amicable understanding with the authorities of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Line with respect to the rates and other little matters of dispute between the two parties. The attempt was so far unsuccessful that the parties separated without coming to an agreement, but the spirit of moderation and fair play manifested during the discussion afforded grounds for the belief that further negotiations might be attended with more auspicious results, and recently Captain Walsh, representing the Canadian Pacific steamships, and Mr. William I. Gear, representing the Robert Reford Company, Limited, went down to St. John to have a further talk with the 'longshoremen. The issue justified the hope that had been entertained; the 'longshoremen, after hearing all the arguments and explanations of the other side, voluntarily undertook to accept a rate of 30 cents per hour for both day and night work, and a contract covering a period of five years was drown up to that effect.

We congratulate the companies, the 'longshoremen and the public of St. John generally on the happy termination of annually recurring disputes, and the inauguration of a period of peace which cannot fail to contribute to the increased prosperity of all; and nothing would give us greater pleasure than to find that this example of moderation and friendly feeling given by the men of St. John had its due weight here, and led to an agreement on similar lines being adopted in this port; that is to say that an amicable agreement was arrived at here also. Nothing, as the citizens of Quebec have only too good reason to know, is so diastrous to the interests of a port, and all connected with it, as the perpetually recurring difference between employers and employed, and the condition of instability and uncertainty to which they give rise. This cripples the energies of the shipping companies, and debars them from undertaking progressive improvements which they would otherwie be only too glad for their own sakes to enter on; apart from the loss of earnings during the actual strike, it inflicts inconvenience and pecuniary loss on the 'longshoremen themselve, whose credit with the retail traders is impaired by the uncertainty in the amount and tenure of their earning; and it curtails the business of the retail, and, through them, of the wholesale houses. As in every other walk in life, a condition of uncertainty and instability has consequences that are as far-reaching as they are injurious.

But now, thanks to the conciliatory spirit of the C. P. R. and the intelligence and moderation of the 'longshoremen, the port of St. John is about to enter on a period of five years' peace and stability which cannot fail to give it a strong impetus on the road to progress and prosperity. Too great credit can scarcely be given to the negotiators on both sides which have brought about this happy result, nor too warm congratulations to the port which will profit by it. It would be well for the Dominion if a similar state of things existed in all her seaports; well for Quebec if the example is taken to heart and imitated.

The output of sugar from Java in 1907 was 1,144,000 tons.

A GOOD NERVE TONIC.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvelous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength for it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price, 50c per box or 6 boxes for $2.50, at druggists or N. C. Polson & Company, Kingston, Ont.

IN A BREATH THERE'S REST

BREATHE HYOMEI AND BE CURED OF CATARRH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA.

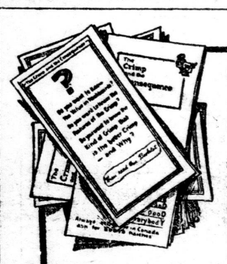

Nature has a remedy for catarrh, epidemic colds and bronchitis that is far better than dosing the stomach with medicine and drugs.

It is the healing oils and balsams of Hyomei which medicate the air you breathe, reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and restoring health to the mucous membrane.

Hyomei acts like a curative internal air bath, and has the same healing and antiseptic effect as the air where the pine and eucalyptic forests give off their fragrant and healing balsams.

Breathe healing Hyomei and see how quickly you will get relief from catarrh and head colds. If it does not help you there will not be a penny's expense, as W. T. Strong agrees to refund the money. The complete Hyomei outfit costs only $1.

UDOES FALLS, STRATHROY

te speaker in the House of Commons, A. B. McCoig, ex-M. P. P., the iberal candidate for West Kent; A. . Clarke, M. P., East Essex; S. A. ordon, M. P., East Kent, and other rominent Liberals. Next came the ent Mills Band from Chatham, the ilbury town band, and the Kingslle band, together with large deletions from those places.

The speaking was done in Bornais' rove, a very pretty spot west of the own. The crowd in a moment was heering and shouting. The cry, "Vive aurier," from the French-Canadians ound an echo in the cry, "Long Live aurier," of the English-speaking rong. It was many minutes before r Wilfrid could take his seat, and hen he had done so the cheering roke out afresh.

As the day was intensely hot. Sir ilfrid cut his speech very short. He poke 25 minutes in English, and then poke for 15 minutes in French.

On the platform with him were A. . McCoig, the Liberal candidate for est Kent; D. A. Gordon, ex-M. P., ast Kent; R. F. Sutherland, ex-M. . North Essex; A. H. Clarke, ex-M. ., South Essex; R. L. Gosnell, Blenim; Fred. Stone, Chatham; J. A. remblay, Tilbury; Father St. Cyr, toney Point; Rev. Dr. Fothergill, ilbury; Rev. Wm. Nichols, Tilbury; rch. McNee, Windsor, and many thers.

Mr. J. A. Auld.

Mr. J. A. Auld, ex-M. P. P. of ssex, presided. He was delighted to elcome Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Tilury, and assured him of the loyal upport and confidence of the conguous ridings. The people were not resent out of idle curiosity, but to how respect to and hear the man ho had made Canada great. He reerred to the conditions prevailing rior to 1896, and contrasted these onditions with the marked prospery which prevailed at the present me and since 1896. To prove that e pointed to the banners about the ark: "Essex and Kent tobacco growrs received—1896, $5,000; in 1906, 600,000." "Essex and Kent, the pork counties—Canada's export of bacon nd hams—1896, $3,000,000; 1906, $15,- 00,000." Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his overnment deserved the credit for hese conditions. He referred to the osmopolitan population of the surounding counties, and declared that he French and English and other aces were at peace one with the ther, contented and happy.

"I am proud of this demonstration," aid Mr. Auld. "It is greater than ther Niagara Falls or Strathroy, and will mean that in the next Parliaent there will be four Liberal memers from the counties of Kent and ssex." Cheers.

Mr. A. B. McCoig, ex-M. P. P., and iberal candidate for West Kent, was ntroduced as the "Archie III." of West ent, his predecessors in the succeson being Hon. Archie McKellar and enator Archie Campbell. Mr. McCoig as given a magnificent reception. hat he is extremely popular and alost certain of winning the riding was hown by the heartiness of his welome. He considered it one of the roudest moments in his life to appear ith the great Liberal leader on this ccasion. He was indeed happy to see o many of the electors of the West iding of Kent represented, and was onfident of the fact that on election ay he would be returned winner.

A. H. Clark, M. P.

A. H. Clark, M. P., South Essex, was lso pleased with the demonstration, as presaged victory on election day.

"There are no Conservatives in Tilury today," said Mr. Clark. "They ave joined with the Liberals in makng it the greatest demonstration Tilury has ever known."

The speaker referred to the great rowth of trade during the past twelve ears, and dealt especially with the og industry. Some criticism had been ffered against Hon. Sidney Fisher beause of his hog inspection bill, but it as now proven beyond doubt that it as a good thing for the hog raisers. he best evidence of that was the plendid growth of that trade.

Mr. D. A. Gordon, ex-M. P. East ent, followed. He dealt briefly with he increase of trade in Canada, and ave Sir Wilfrid Laurier the credit or wisely administering the affairs of he country with the result that trade as flowing to the Dominion in unrecedented quantities. Of course he country was spending more, but t was producing much more. The ailway facilities had been bettered, he waterways were improved, and all ogether the country was in an infinitely better position to produce wealth han ever before in its history.

Ex-Speaker Sutherland.

Mr. R. F. Sutherland, late speaker n the House of Commons, was given hearty welcome. The large crowd had come with two purposes, he said, o welcome the great Liberal leader and assure him of their continued support, and also to have his assistance in making Essex and Kent solid for the Government. He was confident that four members would be returned to represent these ridings.

Speaking of the general policy of he Government, Mr. Sutherland pointed out that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had kept his promises made when he accepted office. The fertile lands of the west were being taken up. The mines of the country were being developed. The forests were being disposed of, and the proceeds returned to the people. The population had been greatly increased and was steadily increasing. He spoke of the unification of the races through the efforts of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and characterized it as the greatest triumph of an eventful and successful career.

The only issue that could be brought against the Government was the scandal cry. In this the Conservatives would fail utterly. The Hodgins charges were looked upon as a great boon for the party, but when Sir Wilfrid Laurier ordered them investigated, it was shown beyond doubt that they were based on mere gossip, and Major Hodgins was compelled to say that there was nothing in them at all. The same was true of the Ross rifle charges. A British expert had just given testimony, after a thorough test, that the Ross rifle was the best in the world. He predicted a sweeping victory for Sir Wilfrid in October next.

The Premier.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was next to speak. For several minutes he had to bow to the cheers of his friends, who would not let him proceed. He was deeply affected by the warmth of the greeting.

Addresses of welcome were read by Dr. Sharp on behalf of the united Liberal Associations of Essex and Kent, by Reeve Tisdale on behalf of the Tilbury Township council, and by Miss Grace Corbett, daughter of Mr. Peter Corbett, of Puce, on behalf of the farmers' daughters of both ridings. He was presented with immense bouquets by three pretty little girls, whom he gallantly kissed.

"I have no doubt that if you follow the daily press—and you all do that, you have read what a bad man I am. You have an example of my badness now. (Laughter.) I generally draw the line at fourteen years of age, but the land is so fertile here that young girls of fourteen look like seventeen." (Laughter.)

"We have now commenced our campaign, which will be concluded on Oct. 26. I first began at Sorel in my own native Province of Quebec. I then thought it impossible that such a demonstration could take place in a purely rural district. When I came to Niagara Falls I found Sorel outshone, and I wrote to a friend in Sorel that his town would have to take a back seat to Niagara Falls. Two days ago at Strathroy, I attended a demonstration which for solidarity and enthusiasm was most remarkable. I had to write to a friend in Niagara Falls to tell him that Niagara Falls would have to take a back seat to Strathroy. And now I am in Tilbury, and this is the greatest demonstration of the series, and I will have to write Mr. Calvert tonight and tell him that even Strathroy will have to yield the palm to Tilbury."

"In Quebec, my own native Province, the demonstration touched my heart. When I came into another Province not of my own kith and kin, and am welcomed in so hearty a manner as I have been since coming into Ontario, I am deeply touched, more so than I can express."

"It has been the aim of my life, the one thing for which I have lived, to unite the races which God has placed in my hands into one united people, living in peace and contentment. You have an example of that here in your own section. Here the different races live in peace and harmony, and no differences keep men apart. It is to that purpose, I say, that I have worked during the past twenty years, and I see the best evidences of the work we have done among you here.

"I have been in Essex and Kent before. I have been in other portions of the ridings, but never came to this town. I have been impressed by its resources, its fertility, its beauty, and I am not surprised that it is called the garden of Canada. We acknowledge Ontario to be the banner province of Confederation, but it is hard to say which is the garden of Canada. At Niagara Falls I was told I was in the garden of Canada. At Strathroy I was told I was in the garden of Canada. Once, while in Muskoka, which is not noted for its agriculture, one man pointed to a farm on the top of a high hill, and said that it was the garden of Canada. (Cheers.) However, you have a beautiful country, and I am pleased to be with you today."

Lauds Mr. Sutherland.

Sir Wilfrid paid a tribute to the worth of Mr. R. F. Sutherland, the late speaker in the House of Commons, a man who had filled the position for four years with distinction and credit. It was thought that Mr. Sutherland, with but four years' experience in the House, would not be strong enough to do justice to the position, but on the completion of his term, both sides of the House had to acknowledge that he had done his duty well and nobly.

"After 34 years' experience in the House, I must say that no speaker has done more honor to the position than Mr. Sutherland," declared Sir Wilfrid amid cheers.

Mr. A. H. Clarke was another man of whom they should be proud. He had been chosen to the position of chairman of the public accounts committee, and had won the approval of both parties, which clearly proved that he was not an ordinary man.

Mr. Gordon was one of Canada's captains of industry, a man who deserved great credit for his enterprise and energy, a worthy representative and a splendid citizen. He was confident that he would be returned as member at the coming elections.

"In Mr. McCoig you have an excellent member," said Sir Wilfrid. "Perhaps I am anticipating, but I am certain that after such a welcome as he has received, he will be your member after Oct 26.'

"As I said before we are again in the throes of a general election. There is no issue in this election as in other years. On those occasions we were called upon to affirm great principles. We are not in such a struggle as was waged by Lafontaine and Baldwin for the rights of the people. We are not now engaged as George Brown was in a struggle for representation by population. There are now no such great issues, and I think the Government should receive credit for such a condition."

The Sole Issue.

"The only issue that the Conservatives can bring against us is that of scandal. We have heard that before. Whenever the Conservatives are in close quarters they always raise the cry of purity. They are always preaching purity, but in their actions they do not bear out their preaching. They follow out their old programme of scandal. They laud the dead in order to better slander the living. They now praise Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, and lament that the Liberal party has no such great and good man to lead them. What was the treatment they accorded Mr. Mackenzie, when he was Premier, as I am today? Did they not vilify him? Did they not speak of the steel rail scandal and the Heebing Hotel scandal? Did they not accuse him of doing the same things they accuse us of doing? They attempt to vilify us today as they vilified him. It will not do. The people will not listen to that cry any longer.

"Now what is there in the scandal cry. . Mr. Sutherland dealt with two of them, the Hodgins scandal and the Ross rifle scandal. He showed you that there was nothing at all in these charges. As for the Ross rifle scandal, it was proved out of the mouth of one of the Conservative members, Col. Sam Hughes, that the arm was a good one. We have now the opinion of the British expert that it is the best rifle of that nature in the world. And we are vilified because we desire to have a rifle that is made in Canada.

"When I am dead and gone, and can no longer harm anybody, the Laurier Government will be held up by the Conservatives as a model of the Canadian people."

Sir Wilfrid dealt with the scandal charges that had been made against the Conservative Governments, the Pacific scandal, the McGreevy scandal, the Lake St. John scandal, and many others. No such charges had ever been made against the present Government. There had beel irregularities in one of the departments, but that had been remedied by investigation, and the officials, Tory officials, wno had done wrong, were dismissed.

"We have reformed the civil service," continued Sir Wilfrid.

"It was thought, and rightly so, that the civil service was in a bad way, owing to the fact that the appointments were political and not according to merit. We have changed that, and now make merit and ability the first requisites for Government service. I see that Mr. Borden claims that we have stolen this plank from his policy. This question has been in the air for twenty years. It was always part of the Liberal policy. If it was taken from Mr. Borden, he must have taken it from the Liberal party.

"He is going about the country flanked by the premiers of the provinces. If he hopes for victory from that, he has not enough yet.

"If he is so favorable to civil service reform, why does he not make a convert of Mr. Hanna and Sir James Whitney. If he does that, and they do away with the scandalous dismissals that have disgraced the Ontario Government, he will have done well, and shown himself a true believer in civil service reform. But until he does that I will doubt his sincerity."

Hon. George P. Graham.

Hon. George P. Graham followed, and for an hour discussed the transportation problems of the country. He also dealt with the Saskatchewan land deal, and effectively proved that there was not a foundation upon which the charge could rest. He paid a glowing tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and predicted his return to power on Oct. 26th.

Sir Wilfrid then addressed the French-Canadians in their own language. He was most enthusiastically received on beginning his speech, and was constantly interrupted by cheers.

In opening his speech, he declared that while he admired the Anglo-Saxon language and people, the French language and people were dearest to his heart. He referred to his record in the Government, and asked that if it had met with their approval, he would be accorded their support. Sir Wilfrid spoke of the honor and responsibility attached to the position as premier, and declared it indirectly to be a tribute to the French race in Canada. His efforts at the unification of the races of the Dominion were touched on and he declared that if he had done anything that would bring the races into closer relationships his life had not been in vain.

The meeting broke up with cheers for Sir Wilfrid, the candidate, and the King.

Demonstration at St. Thomas.

A remarkable demonstration took place at the depot in St. Thomas. Almost a thousand people, who had heard that Sir Wilfrid would be passing through the city, had gathered. When he saw the crowd the Premier agreed to speak to them for a few minutes.

He was glad that there were still that many Grits in St. Thomas, he said, and hoped that they would show their loyalty to him, by working industriously for the election of the Liberal candidate in Elgin. He spoke of the many evidences of respect and admiration he had received in Ontario, and hoped that they would continue. The crowd cheered him until his car moved out.

The party was in charge of District Passenger Agent S. H. Palmer, Roadmaster T. H. Hickey and Travelling Engineer McAndrews, of the Michigan Central. They did all in their power to make the journey a pleasant one, and succeeded admirably.

BELL HARDY'S MOVE

Striving to Enlist Merchants to Aid Against the C. P. R.

Toronto, Sept. 21. — Bell Hardy, chairman of the eastern division of the C. P. R. Machinists' Union, is in the city, having come from Montreal in connection with the strike situation here. Mr. Hardy has already seen a number of influential business men in the city, with the probable object of bringing pressure to bear upon the C. P. R. looking to a settlement.

Members of the Car Workers' Union, who went out with the machinists, are expressing strong dissatisfaction at their treatment as regards strike pay, some of them claiming to have received none as yet.

CENTRE OF STAGE HELD BY KAISER

German Ruler Has High Hand in European Politics.

HIS PEACE TALK IS DOUBTED

Situation in Morocco and Turkey Causes Constant Shifting of Balance of Power.

London, Sept. 20.—These are interesting days in the great game of European politics. Important moves are being made week by week, and while they occasion little excitement, that mysterious thing known as the balance of power is being constantly shifted.

Several incidents this week point to changes in the general situation of unusual significance. First, there is King Edward's remarkable message to Abdul Hamid, sultan of Turkey. Its terms are almost insulting to that muzzled and almost dethroned monarch. It recognizes the grand vizier as the real ruler of Turkey, and the message is scarcely a disguised welcome to the new reform government. This is the sense in which it has been received by the Turkish people to whom it really is addressed, and has already accomplished its object. It has been greeted with enthusiasm and it is apparent the British influence in the Ottoman empire has been restored to the paramount position it occupied before it was destroyed by Gladstone.

Germany's favored position in the near east has entirely disappeared. Great Britain today is able to abandon utterly her growing suspicion of the last few years that Germany is secretly endeavoring to stir up the Moslem world against her.

Effect of Turkish Revolution.

This is the first and one of the most important effects upon international affairs of that wonderful revolution in Turkey of July 24.

The second incident is the reception by the powers of the Franco-Spanish note as to the recognition of Mulai Hafid, the usurping sultan of Morocco. Its acceptance by all powers save Germany is a foregone conclusion. It is difficult to see what grounds the Kaiser can find for criticism, and it is scarcely believed he will attempt to pick flaws in it. His presumptuous and premature interference in the Morocco situation was so coldly received everywhere, the impression is gaining ground that he will abandon his recalcitrant attitude. He has not openly intimated that he regards the Algerciras agreement abrogated by the fall of Abd-el-Aziz, and unless he does so the official relations of Europe with the new sultan may easily be adjusted.

Finally, there has been this week a perfect deluge of peace talk from Germany. The diplomatic world frankly is nonplussed by this. They are at a loss whether to accept it at face value or whether to look for some deep purpose underlying it. One is almost driven to the conclusion that the Kaiser, finding the moment unpropitious for any attempt to break King Edward's league of peace in Europe, has wisely determined to try instead to put himself at the head of it.

Kaiser Has a Chance.

Emperor Wilhelm certainly has it in his power to propose articles of international agreement which will command worldwide support, and which would go far towards guaranteeing peace for a long time to come. He could win great eclat as the chief champion of peace, and he by no means is averse to receiving the plaudits of christendom. It is too early, however, to attempt to interpret his attitude, and some erratic move on his part this week may dissipate the rosy optimism which is beginning to be felt in some quarters.

English papers are paying a vast amount of attention to Germany's finances, with efforts to prove that the German empire is likely to rebel against the great burden of fresh taxation which the Reichstag must levy a few weeks hence to carry out the big naval programme. It is true the national debt has increased during the last twenty-one years of profound peace from $400,000,000 to $1,060,000,- 000, and the interest now costs $40,- 000,000, but the weight of taxation compares favorably with Britain. Two years ago the German army and navy cost $4 25 a head of population, and the British cost $7 50.

English Pay Highest Taxes.

The total revenue from taxation cost the Germans $8 25 each per year. and the Englishmen paid $16 25. The German pay 36 cents annually on tobacco tax and Englishmen $1 75. The German beer tax is 25 cents, the British $1 62. The German spirit tax is 62 cents and the British $2 87.

It will be seen, therefore, that Germany possesses large resources in fresh taxation if the people submit to them, whereas Britain practically has reached the limit unless it resorts to tariff. From all the foregoing it will be seen the German holds the centre of the stage in the great drama of European politics and upon her the eyes of the world will be fixed during the important developments which the next few months will witness.

Amidst the practically universal commercial depression it is surprising to find Spain the only country in Europe whose trade increased in the first half of 1908. The British board of trade report of foreign trade for the semester ending June 30, shows the exports and imports of every other country declined in that period, while Spain went ahead. Agricultural machinery, steam engines, mineral and manures were the most conspicuous among the increased imports, the main improvement of imports being due to increased sales of cheap wines and sherry. Spain's exports to Britain have grown notably since Alfonso's matrimonial alliance. The King has worked hard for sherry, say the agents, and has succeeded considerably. America also is taking a larger quantity.

In the 21st verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra can be found every letter of the English alphabet. It runs thus: "And I, even I, Artaxerxes the King, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra, the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily."

At Bellevue Hospital, New York, a newly-born child lived 40 hours without a brain. Scorching chauffeurs meet their fate somewhat less promptly.

There's Danger There!

The old adage "A stitch in time saves nine" applies to the human system. Nature gives her timely warning, and if heeded much suffering may be prevented, but if neglected she demands a very heavy penalty.

STOP THAT BACKACHE!

It means more than weariness. It indicates that the kidneys are being attacked, and as a very large percentage of our ills and sufferings have their origin in the kidney and liver, a course of Dr. Roots Kidney and Liver Pills should be taken. They will stop the trouble at once. Once these organs get deranged or out of order, every part of the human system becomes disorganized, often terminating in a long and tedious illness which often proves fatal.

What a "Pandora" Hot-Water Attachment Means to Me

"BELOW—You see how I just turn on the tap and instantly get hot water for my dishes, washing, scrubbing, preserving, etc.

"ABOVE—you see how the pipes are connected to the bath and basin—no waiting for a bath—no carrying hot water upstairs."

"Pandora" Ranges can be supplied with a hot-water attachment if you haven't already got one, and the attachment does not either take extra fuel or interfere with baking.

The Eel, Driven by McEwen, Defeats Speedy Minor Heir

Winner Quoted at 2 to 1—Eel Makes Fastest Mile Paced on Grand Circuit This Year—First Mile in 2:02 1-4 —Judex Also Wins.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 21. — Minor Heir's defeat in the Hotel Hartman pacing stake, worth $5,000, was the noteworthy and rather unexpected main event of the opening this afternoon of the Columbus Grand Circuit races that will continue for two weeks.

The Eel, Tavistock, Ont., won the event in straight heats, while George Gano slipped by the tiring Minor Heir into second position.

Minor Heir was a two to one favorite originally over the entire field, but after the first heat The Eel was the choice at the same odds. Minor Heir got away in the first head a couple of lengths behind the bunch and was forced to go a long mile. The Eel was in front all the way and won comfortably by two lengths from George Gano in 2:02¼, a new record for the winner and the best mile paced this year on the Grand Circuit.

Genuine Struggle.

In the second heat came the genuine struggle between the two crack pacers. They scored away with a mighty rush and on even terms. Hanging right together, they paced the first quarter in 30 seconds flat and reached the half in 59. It took a minute and a half for them to get to the three-quarters and the turn for home. This terrific pace told on both, but most on Minor Heir. He dropped back and The Eel staggered home in 2:02½. Going away in the third and final heat the pace was slower, the first half being done in 1:03. Dean called on Minor Heir coming down the stretch and The Eel was given a great pursuit but he won by a good neck. This final quarter was paced in 30½ seconds.

Judex Wins.

Judex, an outsider in the betting, won the Board of Trade pacing stake by making a rush in the final eighth of the third heat. Copa De Ora, the pronounced favorite, won the second heat in the best time of the stake's history and led nearly all the way in the deciding mile. When Judex set sail the California gelding fell back. Major Mallow took a new mark when he won the first heat.

Uhlan was the choice in the 2:10 trot and landed his race in straight heats, getting a new record of 2:07¼. Teasel was always a contender and the speed shown by the veteran Country Jay in the first heat was another feature.

Neither division of the 2:11 pace could be finished. Gov. Searles was the public choice for the first division and easily won the opening heat. He broke on the stretch in the second mile and Milton S, Jun, beat out Tax Title. Shamrock, favorite in the second division, was third to Patalma, an Iowa horse, in the only heat raced.

The $10,000 Hoster-Columbus Stake for trotters will be decided Tuesday.

Make Rules for the World's Series

Cincinnati, Sept. 21.—To facilitate arrangements for the world's championship series of baseball games, the National baseball commission today announced an additional detailed rule to govern the contests, as follows:

Rule 18—The National commission will furnishing the contesting clubs all of the general admission tickets, consisting of two sets each game, one set to be at the rate of $1 admission and the other at the rate of $1 50 admission. All of said tickets to have rain checks attached for all games played, and the following regulations with regard to the sale of tickets and the settlement therefor shall govern:

A—No tickets, excepting reserved seat coupons, shall be sold before the gates are opened, and all tickets other than reserved seat tickets shall be sold only at the ball park ticket offices.

B—To furnish an accurate check on turnstiles the home club, before each game, shall furnish the business representatives of the commission with a list of the tickets given to each seller. The count of the number of the tickets shall be taken each day and compared with the turnstile registers, the larger amount to be taken as the official count.

C—The contesting clubs, on the day prior to the first game in the respective cities, shall furnish to the representatives of the commission, a diagram or list of all reserved seats, settlement to be made by the difference between the reserved seats not sold and the number listed.

D—Each club shall set aside two reserved seats for each eligible player of the visiting club, same to be delivered to the secretary of the visiting club and to be paid for by that club.

CLEVELAND BUYS DENNY SULLIVAN

Boston, Sept. 21.—Denny Sullivan, the crack outfielder of the Boston Americans, has been sold to the Cleveland team. Announcement of the sale was made tonight, but no details of the price were given. It is understood, however, that no money passed hands.

Sullivan came to Boston at the opening of the season last year from Minneapolis. He has made a record as one of the best outfielders ever on the Boston team and is one of the best in the league. His only trouble is at batting. He has been hitting under 2.50 and with the wealth of outfielders President Taylor has on hand, most of whom can hit, he didn't need Sullivan.

Sullivan ought to be a great acquisition for Cleveland in her fight for the pennant. He gives them a left-handed hitter, and he will greatly strengthen the outfield. The sale takes place immediately.

McGRAW SATISFIED

Says the Giants Have Won by Gameness.

New York, Sept. 22.—"I am not claiming any championship until the Giants have the pennant cinched. I am of the opinion, however, that we will win, and win, too, with comparative ease—easier, in fact, than the race now shows," says John McGraw. "I have the gamest team ever put on the field, and they are going to pull out ahead by just that quality in their make-up.

"I would like to see the Detroits win the American League pennant, on account of my old friend Hughey Jennings. I want to have it out with him and his Tigers for the world's championship, but whichever club wins the American League flag, I will say that the Giants are not afraid of the very best that league can produce. I know what the Giants can do, and they are game."

WANT LARNED TO GO

American Tennis Champion May Play for Davis Cup.

New York, Sept. 21.—A determined effort will be made to have Wm. A. Larned, the American lawn tennis singles champion, consent to make the trip to Australia with the two other players who are certain to go after the Davis trophy. It has been intimated that Larned was wavering in his decision about the trip. Earlier in the year it was announced positively that he would not go. But the outcome of the preliminary matches at Longwood last week is regarded as having put an entirely different face on the matter. Larned having won his two matches with Richie, the Englishman, in such fast and accurate style.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

BY SOUTHPAW

NOTHING IS MORE UNCERTAIN in this world than horse racing. The Eel is known all over the continent as a sensational performer, but that no one thought he could take the measure of Minor Heir was evinced yesterday when the bookies laid 2 to 1 that the Eel couldn't win.

* * *

A LOCAL HORSEMAN is sponsor for the statement that The Eel recently worked out a mile in 1:59 on the Columbus track, and when the time made in yesterday's race is considered this statement doesn't seem so rash as it may at first appear. The Eel is a wonder, and fooled even such a veteran campaigner as Josh Billings, the bookmaker.

* * *

McEWEN ALSO PILOTED another winner in Judex, the eastern gelding, who stepped the second mile of the $3,000 board of trade stakes race in 2:03. Canadian horses are showing up the Yanks in great style.

* * *

IF PRESENT PLANS carry through London will be represented by two hockey teams this winter. The St. John's A. C. is contemplating entering a junior team, if arrangements can be made for ice. Just whether two teams would pay or not cannot be said, but past experiences have proved that they would not. One or the other is bound to get the bulk of the patronage, and with Stratford to contend against a junior team would have hard hoeing.

* * *

THE LONDONS indulged in a good practice yesterday, and although some of the half backs were conspicuous by their absence there were about twenty candidates out.

The Western University junior team and six trots, ranging from a 2:09 pace

BIG SAM CRAWFORD, the hard-hitting Detroit outfielder, is a barber by trade. He hails from way out in Nebraska, and cherishes the memory of once having lathered and shaved William Jennings Bryan. But before Sam went into the barber business he worked in a glue factory. Such is baseball.

LOCAL FOLLOWERS of Rugby will be sorry to learn that Chaucer Elliott, the grand old man of Rugby, has suffered a broken leg. Chaucer was injured recently while coaching the Montreal juniors.

* * *

THE STRONG DUNDAS intermediates this season will be minus one of its standbys, namely, Nelson. Nelson has decided to retire from the game, and "Mouse" Clark and Moss are the new candidates for his place.

AMBITIOUS RUGBY teams with players under nineteen should address Mel Brock, London Y. M. C. A., for games. Mel has a team which he thinks can wipe the sod with anything in their class and years for combat.

$5,200 IN PURSES is the bait offered by the promoters of the big coming Port Huron race meeting, and there seems to be no doubt but that the events will be well filled. The meet opens on the 29th and continues until the second of October.

THE EVENTS include seven paces was also numbered among the missing, to a 2:30 and free-for-all trot. There is also a free-for-all pace. All purses are $400.

Entries should be addressed to H. C. Knill, Port Huron, Mich.

* * *

AMONG THE LONDONERS who will take in the Port Huron races is Dr. F. L. Wood, whose entries did so well during Fair week.

* * *

THERE WILL BE a competition from now till October 21 at the Ideal Bowling and Billiard Parlors, 195 King street. No entry fee is charged and every bowler has an equal chance. Messrs. Graham and Martell are offering a gold watch to the person with high total for four consecutive games.

Mathewson a Wonder

Interest in baseball is at fever heat in London, and the local fans may be interested in the following facts:

Mathewson has performed some rare stunts in the pitching line this season, and has fairly won the distinction of leading the major leagues in all departments of the game. In winning his 32 games he has struck out 207 batsmen, and holds the season's record for strike-outs. He has shown remarkable steadiness, his bases on balls and hit batsmen totalling only 41, about one to a game. He is charged with only three wild pitches.

The leading twirlers in both leagues are as follows:

American — Waddell, St. Louis, 181; Walsh, Chicago, 179; Dygert, Philadelphia, 156; Hughes, Washington, 147; Vickers, Philadelphia, 143; Young, Boston, 141.

National — Mathewson, New York, 207; Ruckers, Brooklyn, 175; Overall, Chicago, 129; Reulbach, Chicago, 107; Pfeister, Chicago, 104; Camnitz, Pittsburg, 102.

SAM LANGFORD LOOKS LIKE DANGEROUS MAN

Sam Langford of Boston is generally conceded to be the most dangerous opponent Tommy Burns will have to face, provided the white champion does not retire from the ring before the dark-skinned boxer gets to him. Burns announced when the Australian match with Jack Johnson was arranged that it would be his last fight. There is no question if Johnson beats the stubby little Canadian that it will be Burns' last battle, for there would not be much in a former champion meeting second-raters. But, if Tommy wins that battle, then he will fight some more. There is small doubt, after the usual backing and filling on the part of Burns, that he would take on Langford. If the bout ever materializes the spectators will see one of the greatest encounters ever staged, for Langford, in addition to being a terrific hitter with either hand, is a good boxer and as cool as an icicle.

There are seven women physicians in New Orleans, and all of them are struggling to be admitted to membership in the Orleans Parish Medical Society.

Members of the National Woman's Suffrage Association are displeased because the "antis" are circulating the report that woman suffrage tends to increase insanity.

Cuban women took part in the political campaign for the first time during the late election.

BATTLING NELSON WRITING A BOOK

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—Champion Bat Nelson is writing a book which will give a record of his life, mainly since he has been in the limelight of the prize ring.

The book will be full of straight facts only, according to Nelson, and its most interesting feature to sporting men will be the figures that the Dane gives in regard to his profits from professional pugilism. He has figured it all out carefully and declares that in five years he has made $125,000 from his various fights and the bets he has made on himself.

In addition he has netted $50,000 from theatrical ventures. He is now the greatest drawing card among pugilists and commands $1,250 a week besides a percentage of profits.

BLAMES SALVATION ARMY

Union Leader Says It Flooded Country With Labor Not Wanted.

Halifax, Sept. 21—The report of Mr. W. R. Trott, Canadian representative of the Trades and Labor Congress, who has spent some time travelling in England for the purpose of collecting data on the emigration to Canada problem, was read at the congress of the Trades and Labor Councils of Canada today. Mr. Trott accuses the British Charitable Organization, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Salvation Army of being responsible for the terrible privations, destitution and suffering in the various industrial centres by flooding the country with labor for which there was no demand. He says in part:

"With the exception of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association no society meddling with emigration has earned for itself such universal condemnation as has the Salvation Army. This busy-body has entered into the emigration business as a commercial speculation. Existing as it does solely on the unquestioning benevolence of an indulgent public, who have been grossly misled as to the nature and extent of their so-called 'social work,' the Army is enabled to advertise and 'boost' its own schemes upon the money thus subscribed, with the result that today it ranks as the most widely known combination of emigration touts in the British Isles."

The report closes with a collection of statistics, showing the decrease in emigration to Canada this year, as compared with last, as the result of Government restrictions.

Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson has been commissioned by the International Woman's Christian Temperance Union to make a tour through China, Japan and Hawaii.

RUGBY NOTES

London never had a better show of beating the much respected Hamilton Cubs than it will have Oct. 3. Minus Harrison the Cubs aren't the greatest aggregation of pigskin chasers in these parts, and it wouldn't be a bit surprising to see Dundas also take a fall out of Hamilton.

* * *

As for the Argos, well, they'll have to perk up some over last year's form if they expect to be in the running, for even London, weak as it was, broke even with them on games, and the locals will be much faster this season than last.

* * *

But every local player must make it a point not to miss practices. The junior team also must turn out if it expects to get into proper trim for a gruelling season. There is any amount of hard work connected with rugby, and some few bumps, but then if the game is to be played let the players go into it in the proper spirit.

* * *

In his haste to get back to the farm "Nibs" Harrison forgot to take his rugby shoes with him. By applying in person Harrison can have the shoes.

* * *

London seems to be weak on halfbacks, but then this may be because those who can play that position only practice semi-occasionally. London must have a good team to get financial support, and it behooves all hands to get busy.

* * *

Much credit is due the officials of the team for the good work they have already accomplished in getting together a team. Nothing is more discouraging than attempting to get together a real rugby team. Hats off to Messrs. Hueston, Bice, McMahen and Sage.

TIGERS DROP DOWN A NOTCH

Champions Play Fast, Clean Game, But Cannot Solve Burchell.

Detroit, Sept. 22.—After leading the league since July 15, the Tigers dropped to second place yesterday. In a well-fought, well-played game they lost to the second bunch of youngsters they have had to contend against from the east. It was Boston this time and the Red Sox played the same style of ball they learned under Jim McGuire. Burchell, the left-hander, had the champions at his mercy.

A Wild Heave.

Only a wild throw by Lord that sent the ball into the bleachers prevented him from shutting them out without a run until the ninth inning, when they made one of their typical stands. They should have won by this, but it so happened that Wagner, in the Boston half of the same round, smashed out one of his home runs again, and as there were two on when he hit the ball, three runs scored, giving the easterners a leeway of one run to win by. The final score stood 4 to 3.

No Regrets.

There are no regrets to offer over the defeat. Beaten, the local men played better ball than they did Sunday, and far better ball than they have played since their troubles began. Burchell was pitching the finest of ball and they were unable to hit him.

The game marked the return of Ed Killian to the Tiger pitching staff after a long rest. Eddie worked well and would have won if it had not been for Wagner's mighty smash. While he seemed to tire toward the close, he kept the hits scattered and was backed up by the greatest support.

Tibetan traders brought to Calcutta in March a large quantity of musk, which is held in high esteem by the high caste Indians. The little deer from which the musk is obtained ranges in the Himalayas and Tibetan mountains 9,000 feet above sea level. The male deer yields the finest and greatest quantity of musk. The deer are shy and alert and difficult of capture.

CLEVELAND GETS TO FIRST PLACE

Naps Open Series by Beating Highlanders With 5 to 3 Score.

Cleveland, Sept. 21.—Cleveland opened the New York series today with a 5 to 3 victory, going into first place. Both teams played ragged ball, New York making 5 errors and Cleveland 3. Berger did not pitch as good as usual, being hit safely in every inning but one. Outside of the fifth he was steady in pinches and New York had 11 men left on bases.

Lake started out well for New York, but Cleveland bunched four hits and a sacrifice with Ball's error in the fourth and scored four runs. Warhop finished the game and blanked the locals. Birmingham, who batted in the winning run, starred in the field.

After the game the immense crowd swarmed on the diamond and impatiently awaited the chalking up of the Detroit-Boston score. When the figures went up showing Boston had defeated Detroit there was a great outburst of cheering and general high jinks. The score:

LITERARY NOTES

Among the many good things in the October St. Nicholas is a sympathetic appreciation of "Lewis Carroll: The Friend of Children," by Helen Marshall Pratt, a pleasant companion piece to her narrative in the September St. Nicholas of "How 'Alice in Wonderland' Came To Be Written," The short stories are numerous and good.

The Broadway Magazine for October appears under the name of "Hampton's Broadway Magazine," the addition of the personal name being that of Benj. B. Hampton, the editor and publisher.

This number contains the first instalment of "Admiral Evans' Own Story of the American Navy," The admiral has been spending the summer at Lake Mohonk, New York. There he devoted several hours a day to writing this series of magazine articles. Besides Eugene P. Lyle's article, "The Supreme Court," there are four others of much interest, one by Lindsay Denison on newspapers, press agents, tainted news, and made-to-order trouble; one by James H. Collins on "The Business Woman"; a humorous one by Porter Emerson Browne on "Tin Pan Alley," where all the popular songs are "manufactured," and one on the dancing craze, illustrated by very beautiful photographs of the leading dancers. The fiction is also good.

The thousands of readers of Dr. Stall's former book, "Five Minute Object Sermons," will enthusiastically welcome this, the second series to children. This volume of short religious talks for the little folks, and for those who desire to speak to them helpfully and suggestively is plain, well-illustrated, fascinating and practical. These talks on the common objects of life, are bright and crisp, models of point and brevity. The truths presented are after the manner of parables — presenting important truths of the gospel to the comprehension of even the smallest child. Parents and teachers will welcome this volume as a help in the religious training of the children; ministers and Sunday school superintendents will find it invaluable, and boys and girls will read it with absorbing interest for themselves. It is an ideal volume for use in the home, and will lighten the labors of many a mother, teacher or nurse, who is at a loss as to how to interest a child in a profitable manner, as it has in its teachings that grit and substance which go into the making of a sturdy moral manhood and womanhood. This new edition in its handsome form should be found on the reading table in every Christian home. Published by Wm. Briggs, Richmond street, Toronto.

Scribner's Magazine for October contains a number of articles of life and adventure in the open air appropriate to the hunting and camping season. Henry Van Dyke has a most charming description of outdoor travel by caravan in the Holy Land, entitled "A Journey to Jerash."

William T. Hornaday, the naturalist, tells of a recent journey in "The Wildest Corner of Mexico." Paul Wilstach has a second article about the noted actor, Richard Mansfield, besides which there are a number of short stories, and the usual budget of entertaining and instructive reading matter that can always be found in Scribner's.

A rootless cactus is to be found in the deserts of California. It is a round, compact growth, rolls about the level floor of the desert home for some eight or nine months of the year, tossed hither and thither by the winds which blow with fierceness over all of California's sand beds during those months. When the rains of spring start in, the plant begins business wherever it happens to be located, and begins to put out all around it small shoots, which in turn become cacti, exactly like the parent plant. These young growths increase in size rapidly, sucking the moisture both from the parent plant and from the surrounding earth. The roots do not penetrate the soil deeply, but spread often over a circle whose radius is not less than ten feet. These roots, too, are small, but practically innumerable, and they get every bit of moisture and plant food to be had in the territory they cover.

READ WHAT HE OWES TO Zam-Buk

Mr. R. C. Blurton, a prominent Salvation Army worker, who occupies the proud position of Deputy Band Master at the Temple, Toronto, bears testimony to the the great healing power of Zam-Buk balm. He says:—

"Pimples and sores broke out all over my face and neck and notwithstanding all I did to try and cure them they spread. In places the skin was inflamed over big patches and caused me great pain and inconvenience. I was advised to try Zam-Buk and for several days I applied it to the sores anointing it often with the healing balm. It soon began to sooth the pain, and in a short time the sores ceased to be so angry and painful! With perseverance Zam-Buk healed the sores completely and made my skin as smooth and clear as possible. I strongly recommend Zam-Buk to all who suffer from unsightly skin troubles, sores, ulcers, etc. It is a wonderful healer!"

Zam-Buk cures eczema, itch, blood poison, festering, chronic and suppurating sores, burns, cuts, barber's rash, fistula and all skin injuries and diseases. It is also a specific for piles. All druggists and stores 50c. a box or 3 for $1.25. Send 1c. stamp to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto for sample box.

HAPPENINGS OF A DAY IN BUSY EAST LONDON

HOCKEY LEAGUE MEETING. WAS POORLY ATTENDED

Nothing Was Done In Regard to Proposed Organization.

A meeting for the organization of an East End Hockey League was called for last evening to be held in the East End Rink, but owing to the small number of delegates present nothing was done. Owing to the excessive heat it has been found very difficult to draw the fans to the meetings, but another attempt will be made on Friday evening when the league will be organized.

Two teams, the St. Marys and the Rectorys have already been registered, but it is expected that three more will apply on Friday. Mr. J. F. Hutton has been appointed secretary and the remainder of the officers will be elected at a meeting to be called for Monday evening.

The boys are bent on making the league go if possible, and it is thought that the patronage would be large if good games were played.

WILL TAKE TWO WEEKS TO CLEAR GROUNDS

Fair Exhibits Are Lingering In the East End.

Men are still busy at the fair grounds removing the exhibits and Superintendent Brown, who is in charge, is of the opinion that it will take two weeks to remove the heavier material, such as the machinery and stoves.

The gangs were kept busy until midnight Saturday, and the work is being rushed through in order that the buildings and grounds may be straightened up.

Applications were made at the offices by many of the exhibitors for similar positions next year, as all were pleased with the big fair. The attendance was record-breaking. The only time that it was nearly equaled was when the rate war was on between the railroads and it was possible to buy return trips from Toronto and Detroit for $1 and from Chicago for $2.

Preparations will be rushed through for a big exhibition again next year, as this season's record is bringing in many applications for spaces.

ANNUAL FIRE BRIGADE CONTESTS ARE ORDERED

Grand Trunk Men Are Now Getting Ready for the Events.

The order has arrived at the offices of the Grand Trunk roundhouse and carshops for the annual fire brigade contest of the entire system, the officials having decided on London for the event.

There are at present two companies in the Grand Trunk roundhouse, and the same in the carshops, each department having a hose reel to be drawn by a number of men.

The contest is to be held at the fair grounds on Saturday, Sept. 26, the judges and timekeepers to be appointed from those on the grounds. Mr. J. B. Blackburn, of Montreal, will be one of the judges, and the fire chief of the city in which the competition is held, is usually asked to officiate. The same hose reel will be used, if possible, by the contesting companies, six lengths of 50 feet each to be laid, connected, disconnected and reeled again by each company. Timekeeprs will keep tab on the contestants. A large number of companies are expected to be on hand.

CHAS. SAGER, SEN., DEAD.

Father of a Well Known East London Man.

Mr. Charles Sager, of 728 York street, received a telegram yesterday afternoon announcing that his father, Mr. Charles Sager, of Preston, had died very suddenly yesterday morning. The late Mr. Sager was 84 years of age, and some time ago suffered from a paralytic stroke. Mr. Sager left this morning for Preston, where he will attend the funeral.

River Lower Now Than for 46 Years

The River Thames is extremely low, especially the north branch of the river.

Some of the mills on the north branch are running only part time, owing to the scarcity of water.

"I have been here for 46 years, and the river is as low as I have ever known it in that time," said Mr. Saunby. "There is very little water there. Of course we have had a very dry time, and as a result water is very scarce."

Practically all the river men tell the same story. All declare they have never seen so little water in the north branch as at the present time.

Burglars Stole the Office Typewriter

The office of the Canadian Oil Company on Adelaide street was broken into some time during the night by thieves who, after thoroughly ransacking the desks, decamped with a new Underwood typewriter. Entrance was evidently obtained through a window that had been left unlatched, and when the manager came down this morning he found that papers had been strewn all about the floor. The matter has been reported to the police who are working on the case.

No Accomodation for Normal Students

There are 217 students at the London Normal School, an exceptionally large number.

The difficulty will be in providing school accommodation for the embryo teachers.

"We have not been informed of the difficulty as yet," said Chairman Graham, of the puolic school board. "We can give more accommodation to the Normal if the Government will pay for it."

There are also 25 more students at the Collegiate this week than last.

"There are now 850 on the roll," said Chairman Graham. "If they keep coming we will have to hang them on the trees."

Fined for Peddling in Prohibited Area

George Demor, an Italian fruit merchant, was fined $1 and costs by Magistrate Love this morning for selling fruit on the streets, not allowed by the bylaw.

Demor, who has a store in the north end, protested strongly that he was delivering fruit which had been ordered from his store.

P. C. McNulty in the box stated that Demor was on Wellington street below the tracks when he first noticed him. He had called him and told him he was selling inside the limits allowed.

Demor refused to go away, saying he could not read, and he had also sold fruit afterwards to passers by.

Magistrate Love lectured Demor severely for his conduct.

James Watson, an Indian lister, for being drunk was fined $10 and $2 costs. Not having the money he will spend 21 days with Governor Carter.

Delbert Botterill, a young man who has been appearing rather frequently of late, was fined $10 and costs for being drunk. He had no money and will also sojourn for 21 days at the jail.

John Jones, a colored man, who says he comes from Sherbrooke, Quebec, was fined $5 for being drunk and fighting. He, too, was unable to pay and was sent down for 10 days.

John R. Trenholme, a young man, 20 years old, paid $5 for being drunk.

Several first-timers were allowed to go.

One wheelman, who rode on the sidewalk, paid $1.

Perennial Visitor Is Back Again

Governor Carter was visited at the county jail yesterday by an old acquaintance—in fact, a former guest. The visitor's name doesn't matter so much, but it might be mentioned that he was known as "Ginty" while sojourning at Castle Carter in days gone by.

"Ginty" is one of the characters of the court house, and up until last winter he had not missed spending the cold months there for years.

"Ginty" explained to Governor Carter that he had spent last winter up in Cobalt, and notwithstanding that Monday was as hot as the average summer day or hotter, he sported three overcoats and an undercoat.

When "Ginty" left the jail he promised Governor Carter a gold ring and when asked about it yesterday, replied with a broad grin that he hadn't "struck bed rock yet."

"I'll be back to see you when snow flies, governor," was Ginty's parting salute as he left for parts unknown with his bundle of worldly goods tied up in a red bandanna, hung on a stick, over his shoulder.

PARIS PROSTRATED

Telephone Fire Has Completely Crippled Business of Capital.

Paris, Sept. 21.—Paris is practically prostrated commercially today as a result of the fire that last night destroyed the central telephone building. The postoffice building was not destroyed as was at one time reported. It was saved only by the untiring efforts of the firemen.

In addition to the total interruption of the telephonic service between Paris and the provinces, Paris and foreign points, the department of posts announced this afternoon that the flames had destroyed also a large number of the long distance telegraph wires which were strung under the telephone headquarters. Consquently, the telegraph service to England, Belgium, Austria, the northern part of France, and the suburbs of Paris is seriously affected, and it is impossible to handle the business offered.

MARROQUIN DEAD.

Bogota, Columbia, Sept. 22.—Dr. J. M. Maroquin, ex-president of Colombia, died here on Saturday.

The total seating capacity of the theatres and music halls of London is 327,000.

It has been estimated that a London fog weighs 3,000,000,000 tons.

Ticket Men.

Early this morning a special went through on the Grand Trunk bearing several hundred Canadian and American passenger agents and ticket agents. The party were in charge of Mr. J. S. Bell, of the Grand Trunk, and were bound for Toronto, where they are holding a big convention.

BBrennan—Dennis.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Christ Church this afternoon, when Miss Mary Jane Brennan, of this city, was married to Mr. Clarence L Dennis, a well-known young railwayman, from St Thomas The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. S. W. Howard. Mr. and Mrs. Denis will reside in St. Thomas.

The Late Mrs. Keirstead.

The death occurred in this city yesterday of Mrs. Elizabeth Keirstead, relict of the late William Keirstead. Mrs. Keirstead was 68 years old, and had lived in London for many years. The funeral, which will be private, will be held from D. A. Stewart's undertaking parlors on Wednesday to the M. C. R. station, interment being made at Ridgetown.

An Interesting Suit.

A very interesting appeal was recently decided in the divisional court of the high court of justice, Toronto. Last April Messrs. Stevens and Douglass, piano dealers, of Chatham, sued Dr. J. W. Russell, a prominent citizen of Highgate, for some $400, alleged to be due on a piano sold and delivered. The defendant held that the piano was merely delivered on trial. The case was tried before Judge Bell at Chatham and a verdict given the plaintiffs. McKillop & Murphy, the local legal firm, acting for the defendant, took an appeal, which was granted with costs, and the case dismissed with costs. Lewis & Richards, Chatham, acted for the plaintiffs.

Personal Mention

CYCLONES IN THE WEST

Hailstorms and Cloudbursts in Various Parts of Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Sept. 21.—Terrific storms have occurred in various parts of the Province during the last twenty-four hours, and in some localities perfect cyclones are reported. At Glensmith there was a cloudburst in which six inches of rain fell in a few minutes. Numerous buildings and threshing outfits were damaged. At Selkirk several buildings were moved from their foundations. At Rainy River hailstones measuring 24 cubic inches were picked up.

A BLACK HAND REVENGE

Set a Tenement Building Afire and Imperil Lives of Hundreds.

New York, Sept. 22.—One man was seriously hurt, a dozen or more were rescued from almost certain death by policemen and firemen, and the lives of a hundred more were imperilled, when members of a Black Hand band today sought to avenge two of their fellows who are now serving terms in prison. The two men were convicted recently of attempting to blackmail tenants in the big apartment house at 333 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street. Almost immediately after they had been sentenced other persons living in the house received letters bearing the Black Hand signature, and warning them that the house would be destroyed. Early today a passing policeman saw smoke pouring from the street door, and opened it, to find the hall a mass of flames. Nicola Devilo became panic-stricken when he heard the flames roaring up through the walls, and sprang through a third story window to the street. He was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. Policemen and firemen had a busy time helping the frightened tenants down from fire escapes, and high windows, and carrying them from the burning building. The property loss is small.

MAY SUCCEED MR. KING.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—Mr. F. A. Ackland, secretary of the Labor Department, is named in most circles as the future deputy minister of labor, if Mr. W. L. M. King wins in Waterloo, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns to power.

HERRET MAY RUN.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 22. — Hector Herret, private secretary to the postmaster-general, is said to be likely to be Liberal candidate in a Quebec county riding.

ROBBERS AT DRUMBO.

Drumbo, Ont., Sept. 22.—The village postoffice was entered last night and about $2 in silver taken. Coppers and stamps were avoided. Entrance was gained by a rear door. No clue as to who did it.

GAELIC REVIVAL ROUSES IRELAND

Work of League to Preserve Use of Language Results in National Awakening.

Dublin, Sept. 21.—The Oireachtas, or national Gaelic festival, given here recently, is the chief annual event of the Gaelic movement which at present is stimulating all Ireland, and reaching out its influence to every land wherein the exiled Gael has made his home or abiding place.

Founded by seven men in 1892, the Gaelic league set itself to carry out a task which to many seemed hopeless, "the preservation of Irish as the national language of Ireland, and the extension of its use as a spoken tongue; also the preservation of existing Irish literature and the production of a modern literature in Irish." A second clause declares it to be non-political and non-sectarian.

All Parties Obliterated.

This latter fact is of extreme significance in a country where for generations the people have been divided into distinct groups of politics or creed without common ground for meeting or communication. In the Gaelic league all party has been swept aside, and for the first time in many centuries the sons and daughters of Erin have found themselves united by a common bond of brotherhood.

In the Gaelic league all Ireland is appealed to, and every type of citizen has rallied to the support of the national language, the restitution of native culture. Even the barriers of sex have been demolished, for men and women alike vote at councils, debate in its parliament and hold office under its constitution.

Industries Awakened.

In the work of propaganda the league points with pride to the achievements of such women as Miss Agnes O'Farrelly, M. A., head of the Gaelic Industrial School at Clochaneely, and of the Misses Gleeson and Yeats, whose industrial guilds at Dundrum have given a new impetus to the higher forms of craftsmanship and who are employing dozens of girls to whom they have taught rug and tapestry weaving, printing, embroidery and so forth.

It is this industrial phase of the league's work that is of especial interest and import to the outside world. It matters little to people of America whether the Donegal farmers and the Dublin shopkeepers salute each other in Gaelic or in English; it matters much that in the family of nations one more land is awakening to a sense of national self-consciousness and is reaching out toward the things which make for national, and as a direct outcome, international prosperity.

Irish Products Exploited.

A true Gaelic leaguer not only speaks Irish, but thinks Irish, feels Irish, exploits all that is Irish. Every member of the Gaelic league is pledged to give preference to Irish manufactures so far as is reasonably possible, and this action has materially assisted and may even be said to have largely contributed to the great industrial revival that is at present going on in Ireland.

The cry everywhere is "Irish manufactures for the Irish consumer," and it is due to the efforts of the league that there has recently come into being an Irish trademark which bears the Gaelic legend, "Deanta in Eirinn" (made in Ireland). This increased demand for Irish products bids fair to realize the dream of the instigators, that a flourishing commerce may soon be reared in Ireland; while already existing plants are finding themselves taxed to their utmost to fill the orders which come pouring in and new industries are springing up everywhere.

Emigration Lessens.

In America the results are likewise apparent, for the tide of emigration, which has been annually sending 40,000 exiles from Erin to this country, is being stayed. No longer do the tenants of small farms, too small to support an extensive family, and the underfed population of Dublin or Belfast look to America as their only home. Work is everywhere about them, whether at tweed, linen or carpet loom, at press, desk or counter, or in fields rendered doubly arable by a newly-awakened intelligence.

BACK TO BELLEVILLE.

Belleville, Sept. 22.—Chief Newman, of this city, went to Hamilton yesterday and brought back two boys, Herbert and Ernest Foulkes. Herbert, the older, is charged with stealing $35 in this city, and with his brother running away from home. The case will be up in the children's court tomorrow.

UNITED IRISH LEAGUE.

Boston, Sept. 22.—The convention of the United Irish League was opened in Faneuil Hall today, with prominent Irish-Americans present from all parts of the country as delegates representing the various branches of the order in the United States. A distinguished trio of men who have made themselves notable by their work in behalf of the Irish cause in the British Parliament and elsewhere in Great Britain, John E. Redmond, M. P., Joseph Devlin, M. P., and John Fitzgibbon, were present as representatives of the Irish branch of the league. The convention will last through the next two days.

Strong's Selected Spices

The spices in your canning and pickling recipes are there for a definite purpose; they are intended to blend and produce a delicate, appetizing flavor. But they don't always do it. Why? Because they are not pure. The spices we sell are guaranteed absolutely pure.

LATEST STOCK MARKET REORTS

[Special from Harris, Winthrop & Co., to H. C. Becher.]

New York, Sept.22.—Nono.—Observers on the floor say there is no question that selling during the forenoon was to a large extent long stock, and that there was a lot of short selling as well. The up-town trading element, which could see no top to the market, with U. P. and St. Paul selling fifteen points higher, is now plunging on the short side. Very good buying of steel on break by houses which do a good deal of manipulating. Sales to noon 752,000.

TODAY'S MARKET A BRISK ONE

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Tuesday, Sept. 22.

Today's market, though not a large one, was brisk in every line, and prices were steady to firmer.

Grain—Oats were firmer, at $1 20 to $1 24 per cwt, the highest price being paid for the first few loads offered.

No wheat or barley on sale.

Hay and Straw—Twenty-five loads of hay were offered; the demand was fair and prices ranged from $10 to $11 50 per ton; most of the loads sold at $11 per ton. Straw sold at $6 50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Butter was in good demand, and 22c to 23c was paid for the choice crocks and 23c to 24c for rolls. Eggs sold quickly at 21c to 22c for crate and basket lots, while 25c was paid for a single dozen.

Fruit—Apples were higher in price—at least the best kinds were; prices ranged from 40c to 50c per bu for ordinary, while some extra choice brought 80c per bu; pears scarce and higher, at 50c to 90c per bu; peaches in good demand, at 60c per 11-quart basket for small, and 90c to $1 for larger fruit; grapes sold at 20c to 25c per basket; muskmelons, 40c to $1 50 per dozen; citrons, 10c each; plums, 50c per basket.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes scarce, at 85c to 90c per bag; turnips, 30c per bu; carrots, 25c per bu; cabbages, 40c per dozen; celery sold quickly at 35c to 40c per dozen; tomatoes slow, at 6 baskets for $1; onions sold at 75c to 80c per bu; small pickling onions sold at 8c per quart; cauliflowers could be had at 90c to $1 50 per dozen.

Poultry—The supply was light, but there was no change in prices; old fowl sold at 7c per lb alive and 8c dressed; chickens scarce, at 8c to 9c per lb alive and 10c to 11c dressed; turkeys, 11c per lb alive and 12½c to 13c dressed.

Dressed Hogs—The demand was excellent, and prices firm at $9 25 per ton.

Butchers' Meats—Beef sold well today; the supply was small and prices steady, at $5 50 to $7 per cwt; veal scarce and firm, at $9 to $10 per cwt; lamb sold at 10c to 11c per lb by the carcase.

DAIRY MARKETS.

ENDING SEPT. 11.

[Hodgson Bros.' Letter.]

Cheese—There has been a little more enquiry for all grades, and the firmer tone indicated in our last report has further materializ d, and values must be quoted a shade higher. Canadian quotations are very irregular, and this causes some apprehension and uneasiness as to the future o fthe market. English cheese is in plentiful supply, at about unchanged values. We quote today: Finest States and Canadians, white and colored, 60s 6d to 61s 6d per cwt; do, flats and Cheddars, white and colored, 56s ot 59s; English cheese, according to quality, 52s to 70s per 120 lbs.

Butter—The market is steadier, and occasionally on strictly fancy quality a slight advance is obtainable, secondary and lower grade butters being a slow sale at unhanged values. Cables from Copenhagen report the market there firmer, and the quotation is advance 1 kroner for nex week. We report values today as under: Choicest Canadian creamery, in 56-lb boxes, 114s to 116s per cwt; choicest Finnish, Danish and Swedish, in Kiel casks, 114s to 119s; choicest Russian and Siberian, do, 104s to 109s; secondary grades, do, 100s to 103s; choicest Australian and New Zealand, nominally 116s to 117s; choicest Irish craemery, 114s to 117s; choicest States creamery, a very slow sale, 100 to 103s; States ladies, imitations and process, nominally 90s to 100s.

Peas—No. 2, 88c to 90c outside.

Bran—Scarce and quiet; quoted at $21 per ton in bags, outside.

Shorts—Strong but quiet, at $24 per ton in bags, outside.

Flour—Manitoba first patents, $6; seconds, $5 40; strong bakers, $5 30; Ontario winter wheat patents, $3 45 to $3 50.

HAY MARKET.

TORONTO.

Toronto, Sept. 21.—Baled Hay—Timothy is quoted at $11 to $11 50 in car lots on track here, with No. 2 at $7.

Straw—Primes range from $6 50 to $7 per ton in car lots here.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

OLD COUNTRY PRICES.

Liverpool, Sept. 21.—John Rogers & Co. quote: United States steers, 11c to 12c; Canadians, 10c to 11c; ranchers, 9c to 10c; cows nad heifers, 9c to 10c; bulls, 8½c to 9½c. Weather is bad; trade slow.

Glasgow, Sept. 21.—Edward Watson & Ritchie report that offered trade is very slow and prices for all classes much lower, and bulls unsealable; top quality, 12c; ranchers, 10c to 10⅛c; bulls, 9c to 9⅛c per lb.

London, Sept. 21.—American cattle, 6½d; Canadians, 5½d.

Liverpool, Sept. 21.—Canadian cattle, 5½d; ranchers, 5d.

CHICAGO.

LAMBTON ELECTORS TO HAVE A TREAT

Hon. W. S. Fielding to Speak in Sarnia Sept. 28—Pretty Wedding.

Sarnia, Sept. 21.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, finance minister for the Dominion, is announced to address a public meeting in Sarnia on Monday, the 28th inst. It is hardly necessary to say that a treat is in store for the electors of this riding. The Victoria Opera House has been secured for the occasion, the gallery being reserved for ladies and their escorts. Besides Hon. Mr. Fielding, Mr. F. F. Pardee, M. P. for West Lambton, will also give an address.

There was a pretty wedding at the home of Rev. George W. and Mrs. Henderson, in Peterboro, Ont., on the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 16, when their only daughter, Miss Maude Evangel, was united in marriage to Mr. William Ralph Lawrence, of Sarnia, Ont. The father of the bride and Rev. Mr. Carroll, of Bowmanville, uncle of the groom, were the officiating clergymen, and Miss Louise M. Dickson, of Port Hope, and Mr. C. Douglas Henderson, B. A., of Toronto, supported the bride and the groom, respectively. The guests included relatives and friends from Sarnia, Windsor, London, Dresden, Toronto and other points. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, on their return from a wedding tour, will reside in Sarnia.

Word has been received here from Rockford, Mich., of the death of Mr. A. C. Hyde, father of Mrs. Neil McMillan, of this town. Mr. Hyde had been ill for some time past with heart trouble and passed peacefully away Sunday night. Interment Wednesday at Rockford.

The funeral of the late Dr. J. J. Clement took place on Sunday from the family residence, north Christina street, to Lakeview Cemetery. Service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Oliver, of the Central Methodist Church, and Rev. Canon Davis, of St. George's. The pallbearers were Col. Ellis, Chas. Mackenzie, Albert J. Johnston, Robt. Paul, John B. Watson, John Newton, Peter Clark and Robert Mackenzie.

The Twenty-Seventh Regiment band, headed the cortege, and a large number of citizens attended the funeral. The chief mourners were: Edward Clement, E. P. Clement, K. C., Berlin; H. Harkness, Detroit, and Andrew Johnston.

BACK TO THE WHITE HOUSE

Roosevelt Ends a Long and Strenuous Vacation.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt's final summer vacation during his present term of office as President of the United States, came to an end this morning, when, with his family and members of the executive staff of the White House, he departed amid a storm of cheers from the residents for the White House. At the same time Oyster Bay ceased to be the summer capital of the United States, a title it proudly held for seven years.

In several respects this has been an exceptional vacation for the President. He has entertained at Sagamore Hill more visitors than before, and at the same time has done much more work than on previous vacations The political situation, both national and state, have made a tremendous amount of work for him, and kept the staff of the executive office busy day and night.

But with all his duties of state and political work, the President has managed to find considerable time for recreation, and Mr. Roosevelt returns to Washington in splendid health and much benefitted by his vacation.

He has spent much time in reading and has informed himself from books regarding that part of Africa he is to visit on his hunting trip next year He has "read up" on the habits of the animals there, and has been perfecting his plans, selecting parts of his outfits, and getting as nearly ready as possible for his big hunt.

SMART CHINESE GAME UNEARTHED

Many Hundreds Smuggled Into Canada by the Way of Mexico.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 21. — A big Chinese smuggling game has been given its quietus. The last trick was played in Montreal on Saturday, when ten Chinese were taken off the Elder-Dempster steamer Bornu, three off a train from New York, and two from the Virginian, and put through a special examination by Controller of Chinese Immigration F. C. T. O'Hara. The syndicate who are interested in the importation of Chinese into Canada without the payment of the $500 entrance tax succeeded in opening a door via Mexico, through which over a hundred thousand dollars' worth of Chinese are estimated to have entered Canada.

How It Worked.

For some time Halifax and Montreal have been reporting the arrival of from fifteen to twenty Chinese a month from Mexico, bearing certificates from the Chinese minister to Mexico, or from one of the governors of a Mexican province, stating that they were merchants. Under the Canadian law Chinese merchants are entitled to free admission to this country. This movement began in the autumn of 1907, and it was not long before Halifax reported suspicions as to these Chinese merchants from Mexico. When navigation opened in the St. Lawrence last spring Collector White, of Montreal, expressed his doubts as to the merchants. The matter was taken up by Mr. F. C. T. O'Hara, when he became Chinese commissioner on the 1st of September. He went to the Pacific coast and in looking into Chinese matters there found that while there were many arrivals, there were few of the merchant class. When he returned he arranged for the chief interpreter of the department, Mong Kow, to come from Vancouver and meet the next Elder-Dempster boat from Mexico. The Bornu came in Sept. 17, with ten Chinese on board. Precautions were taken that they should have no communication with the shore, and as soon as the boat was docked they were taken under guard to the custom house, where they were put through an examination by Mr. O'Hara and Collector White, with Lee Mong Kow doing the interpreting. They were examined separately and passed on so that they could not go back and tell their story to the unexamined lot

Had Been Coached.

There was a great similarity between their stories, which indicated coaching, but which did not stand cross-examination. They declared that they had been in Mexico for six or seven months, that times were dull, and they had now decided to look over Canada for trading opportunities. They had only from $1 to $20 each, but produced yellow bits of paper purporting to be drafts of bills of exchange from the Way Fung Company of Mexico on the Chew Kar Company of New York. The drafts were for amounts ranging from $480 to $1,500 each, and the bearers declared that a Montreal house, the name of which they gave, would honor them. Mr. O'Hara knows Spanish, and it was to be presumed that Chinese who had been in business in Mexico for a half-year would have a few words of that language. However, none of them knew a word, nor could they state the value of Mexican coins which were shown to them. They were put back on the steamer and will have to be returned to Mexico by the Elder-Dempster Company, which is not held to be a party in any way to the fraud, as the merchants' certificates appeared to be regular.

Many Have Entered.

It is estimated that two hundred Chinese have entered Canada by the Mexican route since the movement began, and that means the country has been defrauded of a hundred thousand dollars in head tax.

The three Chinese from New York also had Mexican certificates that they were merchants, and the same sort of bills of exchange, which the Montreal house repudiated, as they did when shown the first lot. The three were from Yucatan. They stated that they had tickets only to Montreal and intended to stay there, but when they were told that they would have to go back each produced a ticket to Hong Kong and said that they would go on in bond. They were allowed to go west.

The two Chinese who came on the Virginian had letters from the British colonial office, stating that they were British subjects. That does not exempt them from the payment of the $500 tax. They stated that they were merchants and were going to Japan to buy silks. They had only $30 between them, but said that they would be supplied with more by a Montreal firm. That firm when seen denied all knowledge of them. They are going back and the Chinese door to Canada via Mexico is closed.

Regret at Death of the Archbishop

Anglican clergymen in this city have heard with general regret of the death of Bishop Carmichael which occurred in Montreal recently. Bishop Carmichael was one of the most prominent figures at the Pan Anglican Congress and Lambeth conference, and the fact that he had only returned a few days and was apparently in the best of health when stricken, adds to the sadness of his death.

Bishop Carmichael was one of the most intimate friends of the late Bishop Baldwin and was held in the highest esteem by him. When Bishop Baldwin died in November, 1904, Bishop Carmichael preached at the funeral services, and his remarks were a most eloquent tribute to the memory of his friend.

Early in 1905 he preached at the consecration of Bishop Williams.

Bishop Carmichael had on many other occasions preached in this city and made a most notable address in St. Paul's Cathedral on the occasion of the special jubilee services held in St. Paul's Cathedral in 1887.

Fair Will Show Increased Profits

Notwithstanding that the finance committee of the Western Fair board worked all last evening straightening out accounts and arranging the payrolls, no definite statement as to the finances could today be given out beyond the fact that there will be a substantial increase in profits over last year.

The booths and privileges have not yet been gone into, but will likely be disposed of today.

Secretary Hunt stated that he could not say when a statement could be made public, as there were many matters to be attended to yet.

Mr. George McCormick occupied the chair at the meeting, which was attended by Mr. W. J. Reid, Col. Gartshore, Col. Little and Secretary Hunt.

Water Is Still Low in the Reservoir

The water pressure today is about normal, 50 pounds, and there are 10 feet 9 inches of water in the reservoir.

The lowest that the reservoir has reached this year has been 8 feet, so that the conditions today are not the worst possible.

But the regular depth of water is 13 to 14 feet, so that it is evident that there is a serious shortage of water.

The end of the dry spell is not in sight.

Many Londoners Will Go to Clinton

It is quite probable that a large number of Londoners will take in the meeting to be held in Clinton tomorrow.

The train will leave at 8:30 a.m., arriving in Clinton at 10:50 a.m. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party will take this train, the Premier travellling in his private car.

Arrangements have been completed by the demonstration committee at Clinton with the Grand Trunk for a special return train leaving Clinton at 8 p.m., coming through to London for the accommodation of those who go to hear the Premier

Reports from Clinton say that the reception to the Premier will be the best he has as yet experienced

Pte. Moir's Trial May Be Postponed

A rumor is rapidly gaining ground in courthouse circles to the effect that the trial of Pte. W. A. Moir may not come up at the assizes, providing the counsel for the defense can secure an adjourment.

Mr. E. Meredith is out of town today and none of the other members of the firm of Meredith, Judd & Meredith could be located.

It is not known what the grounds for asking for a postponement are, if any.

Orders Re Derail Cannot Be Found

As a vindication of the course of the aldermen regarding the 25-foot derail on Ottaway avenue, it is only necessary to refer to the accident of Saturday evening last, which might have resulted very seriously.

Ald. Booth had read the account in The Advertiser and brought the attention of the council to the matter.

At the time the order was given by the railway commission it was pointed out that the 25-foot derail was to be allowed only when the cars were running one way, but just the moment the cars ran both ways the regular order of the commission that 75-foot derails should prevail must be obeyed.

So far the London street railway has refused to install the 75-foot derail on the west side, although it is a direct violation of the standing order of the railway commission.

The council decided to call the attention of the commission to this fact.

So far as can be learned there will be no expense in connection with this, as the mere fact of the violation of the law need only be brought to the attention of the commission to be rectified.

There is no copy of the order of the railway commission re the derail at the city hall. City Solicitor Meredith has not a copy of it, and Mayor Stevely has not a copy of it. Ald. Booth regards this as somewhat peculiar.

Why this state of affairs should exist is not known. It is understood, however, that a copy of the order will be obtained shortly and the exact status of the matter will be learned.

MONTREAL FOGBOUND

Citizens Unable to See Across the Street in the Early Morning.

Montreal, Que, Sept 22 — This city was fogbound this morning A dense pall of fog and smoke, which hung over the city, impeded traffic to a great extent and made all kinds of travel dangerous. At an early hour pebople going to work were unable to see across the street, and the electric lines were somewhat held up, as cars were unable to make thir regular time. All the sailings of the different navigation companies were cancelled, as were also the steamship sailings. Conditions are somewhat better now and the fog is gradually lifting.

FISHERIES CONGRESS

Delegates From Many Countries Gathered in Convention at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Many foreign countries, and practically every state and territory in the union are represented by delegates in attendance upon the fourth international fisheries congress which met here today. Its sessions will continue for five days. More than 500 delegates representing foreign Governments, societies and organizations and American states and territories, societies and organizations and others were present.

As a prelude to the opening of the congress, the foreign delegates assembled in the diplomatic room of the state department and were received by Secretary of State Root in the diplomatic reception hall. Later at the hall of the National Geographical Society, the congress was formally opened. The meeting was presided over by George M. Bowers, United States commissioner of fisheries. Secretary Straus, of the department of commerce and labor, delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the United States Government.

A FATAL ENCOUNTER.

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 22.—As the result of injuries received in an encounter in the real estate office of Loomis Bros., yesterday, Roxie Loomis, a prominent real estate dealer of this city, died last night. His brother, C. M. Loomis, sustained serious injuries. The police arrested C. M. Barber, south-western agent of an automobile company, who is said to have attacked both brothers and to have inflicted the fatal injuries with his fists.

OUT FOR WATERLOO

W. L. M. King Accepts the Nomination of Liberals.

Waterloo, Sept. 21. — William Lyon Mackenzie King, deputy minister of labor and grandson of the famous rebel of 1837, was unanimously selected as the Liberal candidate in North Waterloo this afternoon, and he accepted the nomination. There was a large and representative convention, the second of its kind in two weeks. Though ample opportunity was provided for other candidates to be brought forward no other name but that of Mr. King was mentioned. Just as soon as the telegram arrived notifying those present of his acceptance there was such a scene of party enthusiasm, as has been seldom witnessed in this county.

CHARGED WITH HOMICIDE

But Meantime the Accused Was Released on Bail.

New York, Sept. 22.—Following the death in a Brooklyn hospital of Mrs. Francis R. McCabe, 20 years old, wife of a manufacturer of building material, a charge of homicide was lodged against Samuel Manus, 26 years old, who is alleged to have shot her. When the police notified Raymond street jail, where Manns had been confined, of this fact, they were met by the unexpected news that Manns had been released on bail of $500, a magistrate having accepted bail when told the man was held only on a charge of attempted suicide.

The charge of felonious assault had been dismissed, the magistrate said he was informed. A general alarm was then sent out for Manns, but no trace of him has yet been found.

Mrs. McCabe was shot in her father's home on Aug. 29 last. She was married and the police charge that Manns, during her husband's absence annoyed her with his attentions, and finally shot her when she refused to elope with him For a time it was thought the woman would recover.

The release of Manns on bail has caused something of a commotion in Brooklyn official circles, and it is said that a thorough investigation of all the circumstances would be made.

ENGINE EXPLODED.

New York, Sept. 22.—Through the explosion of her gasoline engine, the sloop Robert Palmer, belonging to Captain Marcus Griffing, of Shelter Island, was set on fire and destroyed at Fisher's Island at the easterly end of Long Island Sound last night. Several of the passengers were burned by the escaping gases, but will recover.

A Warm Contest for Secretaryship Of No 2 Committee of the Council

City Clerk Baker Was Appointed Last Night—Matter of Salary Was Not Decided.

Quite a number of citizens gathered at the city hall last night under the impression that the appointment of a fire chief would take place. All were disappointed, as the appointment was not mentioned, and after a very brief session the council meeting broke up.

Ald. Ferguson was absent, and Ald. Stevenson was late in arriving.

What promised to be a lively row developed over the appointment of City Clerk Baker to be secretary of No. 2 committee in place of Assistant City Engineer Kirkpatrick.

In bringing in his report, Ald. Gerry, chairman of No. 2 committee, recommended that a bylaw be introduced to appoint Assistant City Engineer Kirkpatrick secretary of No. 2 committee in place of the assistant city treasurer.

Ald. Beattie moved in amendment that City Clerk Baker be appointed to do the work. The motion was supported by Ald. Armstrong.

Ald. Saunders took strong exception and said that with all due respect to Ald. Armstrong he was sorry that in his old age he had not awakened to the fact before that the city clerk could do the work.

The amendment was put and a tie vote resulted.

Mayor Stevely broke the tie by voting in favor of the amendment.

The vote was as follows:

For City Clerk Baker—Aldermen Parsons, Booth, Beattie, Greenlees and Armstrong.

For Assistant Engineer Kirkpatrick—Aldermen Rose, Gerry, Stewart, Sunders and Moorhead.

Ald. Saunders moved that the reading of the bylaw to confirm the motion be laid over for two weeks, as the matter as to whether the clerk should or should not receive any extra salary for doing the work had not been settled. This motion carried.

Street Car Steps.

No. 1 committee, in their report, referred to the council for action the communication of the Ontario railway and municipal board re the date of hearing application to fix the height of street car steps.

The question will come up before the board in Toronto on Sept. 24, and it was unanimously agreed that the city should be represented at the meeting. Several of the aldermen stated that many complaints were being made locally regarding the height of the steps on the street cars.

Ottaway Avenue Derail.

Ald. Booth moved, seconded by Ald. Rose, that whereas the board of railway commissioners of Canada in 1904 ordered the London Street Railway to place their derails at the London and Port Stanley Railway track, and whereas on certain representations of the London Street Railway in 1907 the said board of railway commissioners granted consent to the placing of said derails 25 feet instead of 75 feet from the intersections, as ordered in 1904, and whereas the London and Port Stanley Railway board in 1907, by resolution, opposed the granting of the petition of the London Street Railway and notified the said board of railway commissioners of their opposition, and whereas the street cars are now operated both ways on the Ottaway avenue belt; be it resolved that the board of railway commissioners of Canada be petitioned to rescind order of 1907 permitting the placing of the said derails 25 feet from the intersection. Carried.

Mayor Stevely suggested that a committee from the council meet the street railway company and go into the matter. Ald. Booth strongly disapproved, saying it was a matter to be dealt with by the railway and the railway commission.

Tuberculosis Case.

Canon Dyson Hague wrote re James Smith, that Mrs. McKnight, with whom he has been boarding, has been put to considerable expense and trouble in caring for him, and Canon Hague asked that the city council remunerate her. No. 1.

The report of the Fire Underwriters' Association re high pressure schemes for London was referred to No. 3 committee.

In the matter of granting $5,000 for five years to the Western University, Ald. Armstrong's motion, that No. 1 committee confer with board of governors and arrange the matter, carried.

Opening Up a Street.

City Clerk Baker wrote stating that on Friday last Messrs. Logan and Smith, ratepayers on Dufferin avenue, between English and Ontario streets, had interviewed him re the payment of $700 voted by the council to the residents of Dufferin avenue for opening that portion of the street. Messrs. Logan and Smith interviewed No. 2 committee, and on their promise to refund the sum of $700 paid the sum to certain parties for land. The titles and deeds of the land along the street are now in Mr. Meredith's possession and the committee desire that instructions be given to the treasurer to pay $700. Referred to No. 2.

The residents of Southgate and Windsor avenues petitioned for an electric light at that corner. No. 3.

A petition from the residents on the north side of Grand avenue, east of Carfrae street, for a cement sidewalk, was referred to No. 2 committee.

Mr. J. F. Faulds wrote that John Crockett had instructed him to demand $40 from the city for work done on Oxford street bridge. No. 2.

Mr. T. F. Kingsmill wrote asking that he be exempted from taxes on the Albert street sewer as he is at present using a sewer on Ridout street, on which he pays taxes. No. 2.

Professor of Classics for the Western

Dr. K. P. R. Neville, associate professor of classics in the State University of Illinois, has been selected to fill the vacant chair of classics in Western University.

Dr. Neville is a Canadian, a graduate of Queen's University, who took his post-graduate work in Harvard and Cornell Universities, receiving the degree of M. A. at Harvard and the Ph.D. at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. He comes to London with the highest recommendations, as at the latter institution he has taught for five years and has been recently promoted there to the rank of associate professor.

Professor Bennett, the well-known head of the Latin department in Cornell, says of him: "His examination for the Ph.D. degree of Cornell was one of the best we have ever had." "His teaching at Illinois has been well done and in recent years has become increasingly effective. He is undoubtedly a growing man, one destined to do very valuable work," says one of the authorities of the University of Illinois.

VETERANS ASK FOR CHANGES

In Regard to the Land Grants Made Them for Service.

A meeting of the South African veterans of this city, held for organization purposes, took place in the Armories last night, and it was decided to have representation in Winnipeg on Oct. 12, at a meeting which will be held there to organize a Dominion South African Veterans' Association.

It is unlikely that any local delegate will be sent to Winnipeg as arrangements can be made by which London will be represented without the veterans going to the expense of sending a member.

The meeting last night was called in response to a circular that has been sent out from Ottawa asking all veterans to take steps to indorse the action of the Ottawa association in asking the Government for a number of reforms in regard to the land acts by which the veterans hold the grants given them by the Government.

At present the veterans are compelled by law to live a certain length of time on the lands. Many of them find it very difficult to do this and they want the act rearranged so that they can appoint a substitute to hol dthe land for them.

In addition they want protection from land speculators who have in the last year or two been making every effort to buy the veterans' land at prices very much below what it is really worth.

Last night's meeting was well attended and besides the local veterans, several from surrounding towns were present.

A meeting to further organize the local veterans will be held in the Armories on Monday evening.

ASKS BIG ALIMONY

Howard Gould's Wife Demands $120,000 Per Year.

New York, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould, who is suing Howard Gould for divorce, today applied through counsel to Justice Giegerich, for an order compelling Mr. Gould to pay her $120,000 a year alimony, and $15,000 for her counsel fees. After a hearing the justice adjourned the argument until Oct. 1, at the request of Cornelius Sullivan, counsel for Mr. Gould. Mr. Sullivan said he must have more time to examine the papers in the case. Immediately following the temporary disposition of this action, the case of Helen Kelly Gould against Frank J. Gould for absolute divorce was called before Justice Giegerich in the same court room. The proceedings in this case were brief, the court merely fixing Oct. 2 as the date for a hearing on the motion.

WAINWRIGHT'S PROGRESS

Only a Few Weeks Old, But Is An Important Centre.

Wainwright, Alta., Sept. 21.—Situated in one of the most fertile farming districts of Western Canada, in what is known as the famous Battle River Valley, just a short distance east of the Battle River, and upon the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, is the town of Wainwright. This town is the first divisional point east of Edmonton, and although only a few weeks old, bids fair to be one of the best towns in the west. It has already five general stores, two hardware stores, three lumber yards, all of which are of undoubted standing, and several other business houses of merit to a town of many thousand people. The townsite has been carefully selected and is beautifully situated. The surrounding country is well settled with settlers, chiefly Canadian and American. Both the Dominion Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific have lent their efforts toward building up the town, the former by establishing what will in a very short time be Canada's greatest national park, just to the southwest of the town. It will be known throughout the world as Canada's great buffalo reserve. The Grand Trunk Pacific has commissioned the erection of a 12-stall roundhouse and has a large force of men already at work grading for yards and grading Main street. A choice of site has also been reserved in the best part of the town and close to the depot for the erection of a Grand Trunk Pacific hotel, which will be a credit to the railway. Building operations are very active, there being several good buildings in course of erection and others projected.—Free Press, Manitoba, September 2, 1908.

EVELYN IS BACK FROM SIMPLE LIFE

Says She Intends to Travel Abroad and Is Done With the Stage.

New York, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw nas returned to New York from a three weeks' vacation in the country.

During her absence it was published:

First—That she is to sail for Europe on Sept. 26 for a two years' automobile trip through England and the continent.

Second—That the chauffeur who drove her daily between her hotel and the Tombs during the long confinement of her husband, Harry K. Thaw, had resigned his position with an automobile company and would accompany her as her driver.

Third—That she had placed herself under competent instructors, and expected to return to the stage once her present matrimonial relations are at an end.

Fourth—That she was writing a book that would bare her life, and tell more in detail of the troubles that led up to Harry Thaw's murder of Stanford White.

Was "Seen" in Many Places.

Also Mrs. Thaw was reported as having been seen in Cincinnati, Detroit, Saginaw, Mich., Boston, Mass., Baltimore, Atlantic City and Montreal.

But here is her own story of her own vacation and plans:

"Being greatly upset by the many false stories appearing about me from time to time I decided that I was entitled to quietude. Thus it was I packed my grip and stole quietly away. All the time I was within a few miles of New York, and, as I was not recognized, I was spared many annoyances. That my vacation did me good you can see by the flush on my cheeks, and horrid freckles on my nose. What is more, by the simple life I gained ten pounds and never felt better in my life.

"When my troubles are over I hope to go abroad for a couple of years. Egypt is the country I most wish to visit. Two years there would prove both pleasurable and profitable to my health.

Never the Stage Again.

"As for the stage, should I live to be one thousand years old, I would never think of returning to it. One brief experience was enough. If I did return what could I do? Nothing. I might be a drawing-card at first, but people would come to see me only through curiosity, not to enjoy or praise any artistic talent I might possess."

Again, there is no need why I should appear before the footlights. My income for all future time is assured. I do not need the money.

"Of any difference with my relations I will not speak. They are sacred to me and to them. Suffice it to say I shall never, no, never, marry again.

"In future I hope that I may be left alone, so the world will some day realize I am not as black in either mind or action as I have been painted."

VIOLATED AGREEMENT

Lackawanna Says That Its Reason for Discharging Union Leaders.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21. — A special dispatch to the Public Ledger from Scranton, Pa., says that Robert W. Flynn, of Scranton, and J. J. Cannon, of Buffalo, the former chairman and the latter a member of the grievance commitee of the Switchmen's Union, have been dismissed by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway Company. These men, it is said, were particularly active in the recent unsuccessful efforts to have several men discharged on the Morris and Essex division reinstated.

Serious violation of the switchmen's agreement with the company is alleged in the discharge of Flynn and Cannon. They have called Grand Master Hawley to Scranton to take up the matter, and forecast trouble if it is not adjusted.

The deposit of kerosene shale, about 120 miles west of Sydney, is said to be the largest in the world. There is a stream called the Wolgan River, in the valley of which and adjoining which most of these deposits are found. They are estimated to cover 41 square miles, depth of seam from a few inches to six feet.
