BIG FOUR MEETING TO WIND UP PACT AND LEAGUE PLAN

Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Wilson and Orlando Confer Today in Final Council Over Peace Treaty and League of Nations.

Paris, March 18.—An important conference with Premiers Lloyd George, Orlando and Clemenceau will be held at President Wilson's residence today. The gathering of premiers, representing the supreme directing force of the peace conference, takes the place of a session of the supreme council, which has been postponed until today to permit of the meeting. The question to be discussed is the large one of securing accord between the great powers on all phases of the peace treaty and its early presentation to the Germans. It is expected an agreement will be reached as to the inclusion of the league of nations as an integral part of the peace treaty, in accordance with the resolution which has already been adopted by the peace conference.

To Wind Up Peace.

Special interest attaches to today's conference in view of recent reports of differences between the powers as to the inclusion of the league plan in the treaty. The meeting is looked upon as an earnest, decisive effort to reconcile all views into a common understanding for an early conclusion of peace in a comprehensive form, including military, naval, economic and financial terms, as well as the league of nations.

The general situation as to the peace treaty has been greatly clarified during the past twenty-four hours by discussions between the heads of various delegations, and American commissioners take the view that the attitudes of the British, French and American Governments would be brought into entire accord. The conferences which have been held by Lord Robert Cecil of Great Britain, Leon Bourgeois of France, and Col. E. M. House of the United States have reached a tentative accord, and there is reason to believe that today's meeting will approve the action thus taken.

SWISS SEND DELEGATION.

Berne, March 17.—The Swiss delegation to attend the neutral conference in Paris on the league of nations left here tonight. The members are Felix Calonder, former president and a member of the federal council; Alfred Frey, a member of the National Council; Prof. E. Huber of Berne University, and Prof. William Rappard of the University of Geneva.

IRISH RADICALS TO ADOPT WAYS OF SUFFRAGETTE

Sinn Feiners Thus Hope To Focus Attention On Demands.

GOVT. READY TO ACT

Consideration of Home Rule Measure Will Be Taken Up Soon.

London, March 18.—The more aggressive section of the Sinn Fein party in Ireland contemplates a campaign similar to that adopted by the militant suffragettes. At this moment there is a prospect of the peace conference intervening in behalf of Ireland. This will be for the purpose of focusing public attention on the demands of the party, according to dispatches received by the Press Association. The authorities, however, are prepared to afford protection to life and property and the belief is expressed that, with tact and discrimination, it will be able to tide over the threatened trouble. It is understood the Government does not intend to further postpone consideration of the home rule bill, which was suspended by an act which automatically expires 12 months after the treaty of peace is ratified.

GERMANY SENDS GOLD TO BANK OF BRUSSELS

Brussels, March 18.—In accordance with an agreement which has been reached, the German Government has contracted to deposit 450,000,000 francs gold in the Brussels National Bank.

It is mentioned in the foreign assembly to be made in connection with the agreement recently signed at the allied conference with Germans at Brussels for the protection of Germans at Brussels in connection with the shipping arrangements. Earlier dispatches had reported that Germany had agreed to make large gold deposits at Brussels as part of the financing of food shipments to her.

Engineers From London District Sail By Olympic

London, March 18.—Three hundred returning Engineers for London district sailed this morning on the Olympic from Southampton.

ANOTHER DUNDAS ST. PROPERTY PURCHASED

David Rosenblum Buys Premises Occupied by Metropolitan Suit Co.

Another downtown real estate deal was completed this morning, when David Rosenblum of the Metropolitan Suit Company bought the premises that he at present occupies at 232 Dundas street from J. K. and J. F. Spry. The price was not made public.

The property which has a frontage of 20 feet 9 inches and a depth of 198 feet, was valued at $350 a foot in 1916, and was assessed at $34,000.

FAST TIME WAS MADE ROUTING TROOP TRAINS WITH CARMANIA'S MEN

Halifax, N. S., March 18.—Eight special trains were routed out of Halifax for points west and south, with soldiers returning by the Carmania by 6.45 o'clock last night, the last boat special leaving the terminals bearing a trainload of civilian passengers destined for New York. The Carmania docked at 9:30 a.m. and at seven minutes after 12 o'clock noon the first trainload of troops pulled away from the pier.

MORE CANADIANS ARE DECORATED FOR VALOR

London, March 18.—At an investiture yesterday, King George presented the following medals to Canadians:

Victoria Cross to Lieut. Graham Lyall.

Distinguished Service Order to Majors Horace Barber, James Basova, Cecil Ewart, Harold Savage, Lieut. Frederick Taylor.

Military Cross and Bar to Capts. Gerald Latimer and Benjamin Skinner.

Red Cross, first class, to Matron Inga Johnson and Sister Helen Shearer.

WINNIPEG CATHEDRAL IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Winnipeg, Man., March 18.—Fire destroyed the vestry and sanctuary of St. Mary's Cathedral early this morning, and before it was got under control at 2:30 a.m. had demolished the whole of the north end of the edifice. The amount of damage could not possibly be estimated, nor could Mgr. Blair, vicar-general, supply any details of the insurance covering the building. The fire was at first detected in the vestry at midnight.

ALBERTA CASH BALANCE OVER MILLION DOLLARS

Edmonton, Alta., March 18.—Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, delivered his budget speech in the legislature yesterday afternoon. Mr. Mitchell said the past year had been a good one financially, despite the war and poor crops throughout the West. He quoted figures to show the agricultural, mining and manufacturing products amounted to $321,704,180, an increase of more than $7,000,000 over the previous year.

The total capital revenue for the year, made up principally of loans, was $3,368,128, and the capital expenditure $2,372,835. The publicdebt at the close of 1918 was $30,746,14. The province finished the year wit a cash balance of $1,117,191. The tial assets of the province were fixed a $136,810,688.

VAST FOOD STORES READY FOR HUNS

Paris, March 18.—The British Government has indicated that immediately upon the transfer of German merchant shipping to the Allies it will be able to deliver the following quantities of foodstuffs to Germany, the figures being in tons:

Bacon, 30,000; condensed milk, 10,000; vegetable oils, 20,000; margarine, 2,000; drippings, 2,000; rice, 35,000; rangoon beans, 50,000; oatmeal, 15,000, and barley or rye flour 10,000. This makes a total of 174,000 tons. The French Government is ready to furnish raw materials which will produce 15,000 tons of palm oil, and the United States can deliver from stocks in Europe 40,000 tons of cereals and flour.

ONTARIO GOVT. TOO SLOW IN GIVING WORK

Army of Unemployed Will Demand Public Buildings Labor.

AND DAY OF SIX HOURS

Fifteen Thousand Workers Gather at Queen's Park Today.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 18.—It is expected that about fifteen to twenty thousand men out of employment will assemble in Queen's Park this afternoon at 2:30. There will be no parade as was formerly given out. Platforms have been erected in front of the Parliament Buildings, and the meeting will be addressed by prominent men in the labor world.

The workers are dissatisfied with the slowness of the Government in regard to the inauguration of public works, claiming that public buildings should be gone ahead with before public roads.

It may also be suggested that a six-hour day be inaugurated throughout the province, as this would give many more men employment. About 15 per cent of the unemployed belong to organized labor.

The leaders will have a conference with Premier Hearst at 3:30.

BIG BRITISH LINER HEADED FOR CANADA WITH 5,000 TROOPS

Olympic, Greatest Transport, Sails From Southampton.

London, March 18.—The White Star liner Olympic resumed work as a Canadian transport today when she left Southampton carrying five thousand soldiers belonging to the 3rd Canadian Division.

The troop trains came at half-hour intervals from Bramshott to Southampton throughout the day. The men were naturally in the highest spirits. The citizens of Southampton have again evinced the friendliest interest in the embarkation.

The composition of the contingent on the transport follows: Twenty-three officers, 616 other ranks of the 52nd Battalion and some small details for Port Arthur; 89 officers, 2,060 other of the 116th Battalion, the 3rd Machine Gun, Engineers and Details, for Toronto.

MAJOR-GEN. MAURICE ARRIVES IN CANADA ON A LECTURE TOUR

Halifax, N. S., March 17.—Major-Gen. Sir Frederick B. Maurice was a passenger on the Carmania arriving here today. He has come out for the purpose of delivering a series of lectures, at the invitation of a number of friends in New York. Gen. Maurice stated he was glad of the opportunity of coming out with the Canadians, and especially with the Princess Patricias, which happened to be the first Canadian battalion with which he had anything to do. He saw them first at Winchester and admired them greatly. They had impressed him as being an exceptionally fine body of men and appearances were not deceptive.

Discussing Col. Peck's statement in the Commons last week, Gen. Maurice said that he personally knew of no unit in the British army which had revolted during the period of the war. He thought the body of men Col. Peck had reference to were a collection of drafts stationed at Etaples in the autumn of 1917, and that no complete unit was involved. At any event, the trouble was very short-lived.

EDMONTON LABOR REFUSES TO SECEDE FROM INTERNATIONAL

Edmonton, March 18.—The Edmonton Trades and Labor Council last night, after a stormy meeting, voted by a large majority, to repudiate the action of the recent Calgary convention in seceding from the international union.

FIERCE BATTLE IN STREETS OF LAWRENCE, MASS.

Mobs War On Police Who Try To Break Up Parade.

Lawrence, Mass., March 17.—While police were trying to break up a parade of textile workers today, shots were fired from tenement houses, officers were stoned and persons in the crowd clubbed. Many arrests were made. It was the most violent disturbance that has occurred since the strike began six weeks ago.

The strikers had picketed the mills during the opening hours. After they left the mill district when the gates were closed, they gathered and formed a column for a parade.

At the head of the line, according to City Marshal O'Brien, who observed the preparations through a heavy fog, were red flags. He summoned reserves from police headquarters and then read the riot act to the crowd. Called upon to disperse, the gathering held its ground, and from the outskirts stones and bottles were thrown.

Shots were fired from a house, but no one was hit. Officers forced their way through the crowd and arrested all occupants of the building. Meantime other policemen and strike sympathizers mixed in a melee, in which many were injured. Officers' clubs struck down several in the crowd, and two officers were hit by stones or bottles. Twenty-two arrests were made, nearly all on charges of inciting to riot.

OTTAWA WOULD TAKE OVER STREET RAILWAY

Council Votes To Ask Legislature for Authority.

Ottawa, March 18.—The Ottawa city council last night voted for making application to the Ontario Legislature for authority to take over the street railway system after a vote of the ratepayers. Council also agreed to vest the management in the Ottawa Hydro-Electric Commission, which now manages the civic electric plant, should the street railway be taken over.

KOREAN INDEPENDENCE MOVEMENT SPREADING

Tokio, March 17.—Korean demonstrations continued Saturday and Sunday, according to dispatches printed in newspapers here, and it is indicated the national independence movement is remarkably extensive and well organized in some of the strongest provinces of that country. Reports state that the railway station at Pingyang has been stoned by a mob of 10,000 persons, the Korean national flag being commonly displayed. There is some uneasiness at Seoul, but the situation there is said to be under control.

SIX MONTHS IN JAIL FOR SOLDIER-RIOTER

Halifax, N. S., March 18.—Arnold, a soldier, but who was never overseas, was found guilty in the county court of taking part in the riot in which several business establishments were damaged. He was sentenced to six months in jail. Arnold's counsel asked for leniency, but Judge Wallace stated that in his opinion the fact did not warrant leniency.

The prisoner was not suffering from shock, as were many men who had been through the struggle at the front. Had the contrary been the case, he would have been disposed to be lenient, but Arnold had never been at the front. He had never, as a matter of fact, been overseas.

Grand Valley to Demand Carrying Out of Promise

Effort Will Be Made To Have Pt. Dover Harbor Improved as Promised.

Brantford, March 18.—This city will take the initiative in endeavoring to unite all municipalities in the Grand River Valley and along the line of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway, in an effort to have an application placed in the estimates for the improvement of Port Dover harbor, which work was recommended by Hon. F. B. Carvell, but stricken out by the cabinet. A mass meeting of municipal and business representatives will be held here, the call being sent out today to all municipalities between Port Dover and Kitchener. Official promise was given last year that the work would be proceeded with, and this district will demand the implementing of the promise.

CRETIC WITH TROOPS FROM KINMEL CAMP MAY DOCK TONIGHT

Prominent Govt. Officials Will Welcome Returning Men.

Halifax, N. S., March 18.—Disembarkation officials here are preparing for the docking of the Celtic with Canadian troops from Rhyl Camp at 6 o'clock this evening.

Sir Edward Kemp, overseas minister of militia, and other prominent men, are here to welcome the troops arriving here.

CANADIAN EXPRESSMEN RECEIVE WAGE BOOST BY ARBITRATION AWARD

Ottawa, March 17.—The board of conciliation and investigation to inquire into the dispute between the Canadian Express Company and its employees, messengers, helpers, drivers, clerks, porters and other depot employees, filed its report with the minister of labor today. There are about 1,300 employees involved and all the points on the system between Halifax and Prince Rupert are included in the award.

By the award the employees obtain an eight-hour day. The great majority are now working a ten-hour day. Time and a half is to be paid for overtime, overtime including legal holidays. Increases in wages are granted as follows: Employees receiving between $50 and $70 per month, to receive 15 per cent increase; between $70 and $100, 12 per cent increase; over $100, 10 per cent. Female employees are included in the schedule on the basis as male employees.

BREAKFAST FOOD ORDER HAS BEEN RESCINDED

Ottawa, March 18.—Licenses for the sale of breakfast foods in packages of less than 20 pounds are no longer necessary. The order-in-council of October, 1917, making such licenses compulsory, has been rescinded.

SINN FEINER DEFEATED IN NORTH LONDONDERRY

London, March 17.—In the North Londonderry by-election, the result is as follows:

H. T. Barrie (Unionist), 9,933; P. McGilligan (Sinn Feiner), 4,333. No change.

GERMANY'S GREATEST FORTRESS WILL BE DESTROYED RULES ALLIES; KIEL CANAL FOR ALL

Fortifications On Helgoland To Be Removed—Neutrals Want Larger Share in Versailles Meeting—Britain Gets Potash From Foe.

Paris, March 18.—The fortifications on the Island of Helgoland, Germany's formidable base in the North Sea, must be dismantled. This decision was reached today by the supreme Allied war council.

It was decided also that the Kiel Canal should be internationalized, and may be available to the ships of all nations on even terms. Tolls will be collected to pay for the maintenance of the canal. Germany probably will retain sovereignty of the waterway.

The council has under consideration the question of maintaining Helgoland as a port of refuge for peaceful craft.

REQUESTS FROM NEUTRALS.

Paris, March 18.—A plea that neutral countries should have a larger share in the organization and decision of the league of nations than is now proposed was made to a sub-committee of the peace conference commission on the league of nations today by envoys of Holland, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Otherwise, the representative said, they are generally satisfied with the plan.

BRITAIN GETS POTASH.

Copenhagen, March 18.—Under the agreement reached at Rotterdam, a dispatch from Berlin says, Great Britain will receive thirty thousand tons of potash from Germany. Negotiations with other Entente countries were not completed. The proceeds of the sale of the potash will be credited to Germany in payment for food supplies.

THE CABLES QUESTION.

Paris, March 18.—The British delegation to the peace conference, it was announced today, has consented to refer to the supreme council the question of the future ownership of the German cables to America. All parties interested in the question are preparing briefs.

ROYAL LETTER FOR EACH CANADIAN

London, March 18.—A Dominion correspondent writes to the Morning Post in reference to a previous article in that paper which claims that soldiers of New Zealand, Canada and South Africa are going home with scarcely a farewell greeting from the people of Great Britain and none from the Government. While, he says, that may be true, every overseas soldier from every one of the dominions on going aboard a ship to sail for home receives a personally autographed letter from the King conveying a message of farewell greetings, thanks and good wishes.

SWEDES INSIST UPON FULL SAY IN LEAGUE PLAN

Demand Participation in All Deliberations On World Problem.

SPEAKS FOR NEUTRALS

Expects That Conference Will Make Some Important Concessions.

Stockholm, March 18.—In announcing Sweden's acceptance of the invitation extended to her and other neutral nations to attend a conference in Paris on the subject of the league of nations, Premier Eden said today that the Government had confined Swedish representation to a committee which had been long studying the question, which would act in conjunction with the Swedish members in Paris and London.

"Naturally," the premier said, "this procedure in itself cannot satisfy the neutral powers. We maintain unconditionally the demand to be permitted to take part in the actual, full, official deliberations on this world problem before we shall find ourselves able to decide upon our own attitude.

"Obviously, the league will not become a real league, able to perform its tremendously difficult task, unless it is made unfversal and is built on the principles of full justice for all its members. We can only present certain important views at the present stage of the proceedings, and have not neglected the opportunity to do so, and this initial courtesy from the peace conference to the neutrals, favoring the unconditional rights of neutrals, seems to me to be prophetic of new and more decisive concessions, which finally will place this difficult problem on the only correct foundation—all free nations uniting for right and peace."

BURRELL THREATENS TO CLOSE DOWN THE GOVT. PRINTING PRESS

That's Alternative to Accepting Increase Offered.

Ottawa, March 18.—After going into consideration of the Government printing bureau as represented by the report of the experts committee, Hon. Mr. Burrell told the striking pressmen's committee that he was prepared to pay the pressmen the $26 per week which they are asking, but only dating from April 1 next. He intimated that unless this offer were accepted by the men, they could take it for granted that the bureau would have to be closed down completely "very shortly" and the work given out to contract.

PRINCE ALBERT CITY BONDHOLDERS PRESS FOR LOAN INTERESTS

Regina, March 18.—The opening session of the conference between the representatives of the city of Prince Albert and the committee representing the holders of city bonds was held yesterday. The city of Prince Albert owes about $2,000,000, and is unable to meet the interest on this loan. The bondholders have been pressing for settlement.

FIVE BRITISH GUNBOATS HAVE REACHED COLOGNE

Coblenz, March 18.—Lieut. W. Laidlaw, commander of five British gunboats, on their way to Cologne, called upon Gen. Dickman here today. The squadron came across France by way of the Seine and Marne rivers, and a series of canals, to the Rhine, and is on its way down the river to the base of the British army of occupation.

OPERATION FOR THE ACE OF ACES

COL. BISHOP, famous Canadian Airman, suddenly stricken in American city.

COLONEL BISHOP STRICKEN WITH APPENDICITIS

The Noted Canadian Airman Undergoes Operation at Roanoke, W. Va.

Roanoke, Va., March 18.—Col. Wm. A. Bishop, famous Canadian aviator, was operated on for appendicitis here last night. He was stricken as he was preparing to deliver an address. Early today his condition was reported to be satisfactory.

HOFFMANN IS ELECTED PREMIER OF BAVARIA

Basle, March 18.—Herr Hoffman, Socialist minister of worship in the Eisner Government, has been elected premier of Bavaria by the Diet, according to a Munich dispatch to the Frankfort Gazette. After the election, the Diet adjourned to give the new premier time to form a cabinet.

At the beginning of the sitting party leaders declared adhesion to the state legislation which was framed by the late premier and agreed unanimously on the first and second readings of the document, it is reported.

ANOTHER SINN FEINER ESCAPES FROM PRISON

Dublin, March 18.—Another Sinn Fein member of the House of Commons, Mr. Barton, representing Wicklow, has escaped from the Mountjoy Prison in Dublin. The wardens found a dummy in his bed and the window bar sawed through. Mr. Barton is a large landowner. He formerly was an officer in the Dublin Fusiliers, but quit the army and joined the Sinn Feiners.

ROASTED TO DEATH.

Moncton, N. B., March 18.—In the Intercolonial Railroad new shops here at 10 o'clock this morning David Robichaud, aged 22, was burned to death under terrible circumstances. He was engaged in working on the inside of an oil tank which was being repaired. He left the tank and borrowed a match from another employee working outside and then re-entered the tank. Instantly an explosion was heard and he was seen crawling out of the manhole in a mass of flames. He was roasted to death before the flames could be smothered.

TAX RATE OF 35 MILLS EXPECTED FOR THIS YEAR

Heavy Slashing Needed To Bring It Any Lower, Is Belief.

Basing the rate on the estimates already passed and those which are under consideration, the rate this year will be nearly thirty-five mills. There is likely to be some paring, but this is the rate that seems likely unless there is a deal of cutting.

The estimates presented and passed by No. 2 committee are more than $86,000 this year as compared with $48,106 last year. This increase takes up nearly one mill of the taxes.

As far as No. 1 is concerned, the general estimates so far considered are about equal to those of last year, but the fire hall estimates are $26,000 in advance of last year, not taking into consideration the two platoon system, which will add another $19,000 to the estimates.

In any event, the city mathematicians will need to sharpen their pencils to a fine point if the rate is to be held down within speaking distance of that of last year, according to opinions expressed in city hall circles.

W. E. KEMP DEAD

Brother of Sir Edward Kemp Dies in Florida.

Toronto, March 18.—Word was received here today that W. E. Kemp, manager of the Sheet Metal Products Company, and brother of the Hon. Sir Edward Kemp, overseas minister of militia, died in Florida this morning.

NOTED ACTRESS DEAD

Famed for Her Portia and Other Shakespearean Parts.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 18.—Constance Crawley, actress, died here last night, following a short illness.

Born 39 years ago, near London, she played with Sir Henry Irving and Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree before coming to America a few years ago. Mrs. Crawley was best known for her portrayal of Portia and other characters in Shakespearean plays.

QUEBEC HOUSE PROROGUED.

Quebec, March 18.—Sir Chas. Fitzpatrick, lieutenant-governor of the province of Quebec, last evening prorogued the third session of the fourteenth parliament. While the session had not been replete with stirring incidents, there was much work done, and a large number of bills were passed and sanctioned by the lieutenant-governor.

CHEERS FOR THE "PATS."

Moncton, N. B., March 18.—The train carrying the Princess Pats to Ottawa passed through here last night. At all the stations where the train has stopped crowds have given a hearty welcome to the returning regiment.

REV. J. N. NORTON IS HEAD OF LONDON S. S. ASSOCIATION

Was Elected President at Meeting in St. James' Church.

URGES MISSION WORK

Rev. Byron Snell Gives Advice on How to Evangelize the World.

The eighth annual convention of the London Sunday School Association was held on Monday in New St. James' Presbyterian Church. Rev. T. A. Halpenny, general superintendent of the Ontario Sunday School Association, spoke on the importance of the organization of the Sunday school, on the importance of trained teachers, uniform grade lessons, and teaching the child to read its Bible at home. Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, general superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school board outlined the Sunday school objective and gave suggestions to the teachers, which they could try out individually.

Start Early.

In the absence of Rev. Frank Langford, secretary of the Methodist Sunday school department, Rev. Byron Snell gave an interesting talk, likening the religious problem of today to that in the days of Nehemiah. "If you want to evangelize the world, start right now to ingrain the missionary idea into the children of today and it will be possible to evangelize the world in one generation. More time, money and effort should be devoted to religious education," said Mr. Snell. He said that one person out of every thousand was converted after they reached the age of 30, and youth is the time to instil the word and knowledge of the Almighty. "These are big days, and big things can be done. I am glad to be living in the present age, it affords so many opportunities for the wide spreading of the gospel," said Mr. Snell.

Group Meetings.

Excellent reports were read by the various officers and superintendents.

Denominational group meetings were held in the evening, when new ideas in the Sunday school work were exchanged. Rev. C. A. Myers spoke briefly to the teachers on "Training for Leadership." The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Mr. James Gray; president, Rev. J. N. Norton; 1st vice-president, Mr. J. K. H. Pope; 2nd vice-president, Mr. O. W. Hofferd; secretary, Mr. J. S. Lovell.

Superintendents of Departments.

Elementary Division—Miss Ethel B. Howie, Miss Annie Grant, Mr. L. Wm. Flowers.

Junior Department, Secondary Division, Girls' Work—Miss Bessie McCanus, Miss Helen McCallum.

Boys' Work—W. D. Beamer, Israel Taylor.

Adult Division, Teachers Training, Missionary—Rev. W. J. Knox, Miss Lucy McMechan.

Temperance—Miss Doris Liddicoatt, R. H. Sanders, Peter Glen.

Equipment Superintendents—R. I. Watson, Reuben Mills.

Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer—Ed. E. Reid.

Rev. Canon W. Craig and Rev. James MacKay conducted the devotional exercises. A supper was served at 6 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid of New St. James' Church, and vocal solos were rendered by Fred Ball. The convention closed on Monday night, and was pronounced by those interested as having been one of the largest attended and most successful of the annual conventions yet held.

RECRUITING BRISKER

Recruiting was brisker at the local recruiting station today. G. Goble of Stratford, who was formerly with the Canadian Railway Battalion overseas, re-enlisted again in the mobile company. Hill Wilfrid Leon, London, also re-enlisted again. He served a year and eleven months with the 18th Battalion in France, but was not wounded. Other recruits obtained for service in the mobile company are Edward Augustus Mann, G. C. Loveday and Melville Onn, all residing in London. Fred Simmons and L. Elliott, both came from Wingham, and were sent to Wolseley Barracks for medical examination.

Sergt.-Major J. Rawling will explain everything regarding the duties and pay of the mobile company to any young man who is 19 years of age or over.

IN BLOOD DISEASES

Like Scrofula, Eczema, and Many Skin Troubles.

As well as a general spring medicine for catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, Hood's Sarsaparilla is of great value to men, women, children.

It does its thorough work in these well-defined diseases by cleansing the blood, on the pure, healthy condition of which depend the vigor and tone of the whole system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is equally successful in the treatment of troubles that are not so well defined—cases of a low or rundown condition or general debility, loss of appetite and that tired feeling, or cases in which we see now very plainly after-effects of the worry and anxiety caused by the world war and the debility following the grip, influenza and fevers. In all such ailments it has accomplished a wonderful amount of good.

Hood's Pills help as a stomach-toning, digestive cathartic.

LECTURER DECLARES MOUNTAIN CLIMBING IS KING OF SPORTS

Kind of Combat With Difficulties Which Builds Character.

A lecture on Switzerland and mountain climbing there, illustrated by fine slides, was a treat afforded the members of the Woman Teachers' Guild on Monday afternoon in the Normal School, by Professor Brown of the Western University faculty, the Normal students being present.

Terming mountain climbing "the king of sports," Professor Brown dwelt upon the value of sport for the sake of sport. Mountain climbing presents a difficult task, a combat with nature. The climber attaining the peak which he has set as his objective knows the joy of triumph over obstacles. From the heights he looks into the depths and obtains a view of the world beneath him and a relative appreciation of objects otherwise impossible. To the victor comes the thrill of triumph, the feeling of exaltation which the Hindu mystic ascends the mountain to experience. Mountain climbing, according to the lecturer, affords the "hard and pleasant task" important in developing character.

Corrupting Tendency.

The tendency of civilization, especially before the war, to consider first safety and ease as opposed to the sturdy ideal, "nothing venture, nothing gain," was designated as "corrupting."

"Man needs combat," said the speaker, "combat that should not find expression in war, but in overcoming and triumphing over the forces of nature. The pugnacious instinct in humanity must have a healthy, legitimate outlet if it is to become an asset in the building of character."

The rope which is used to tether parties together for safety in mountain climbing, was termed a symbol of the modern conception in civilization of mutual aid, of social rule as distinguished from individualistic, the willingness of one member of a group to stand or fall with the others, to pool his interests with the interests of others and be helped himself through helping others.

Vigilance Price of Safety.

By far the greater number of accidents occur on the smaller peaks, in the less difficult climbs on which people go without guides, underestimating and minimizing the danger. The various lesson, according to Professor Brown, is that eternal vigilance is the price of safety and success.

The slides which followed revealed in a striking manner difficulties met by Professor Brown and a number of fellow students in climbing some of the high peaks in Switzerland, difficulties of climbing of walls of rocks and ice, of scaling "towers" of rock, traversing snow fields, skirting crevasses, balancing on ridges with precipices dropping sheer for thousands of feet on either side, perils increased by avalanches, then finally the joy of standing on top of the universe with an ocean below, "solidified in the midst of raging tempest." Back among the meadows of Alpine flowers there was a rest after strain, and the luxury of healthful fatigue. The hard and pleasant task had been accomplished, the hard and pleasant task of mountain climbing, type of the task which human beings require for the building up of strong character.

Dr. John Dearness, principal of the Normal School, manipulated the lantern. At the conclusion of the lecture, a most appreciative vote of thanks was extended to Professor Brown.

EAST END WORKERS DECIDE ON UNION; ORGANIZE IN APRIL

Employees of Large Plants To Band Together.

One of the most successful labor meetings ever held in the city of London was held in the Orange Hall on Egerton street last night, when over one hundred industrial workers of the east end banded themselves together for their own betterment. A committee consisting of S. Stundon, Arthur Clark, W. Young, A. Friezley, Robert Campbell, E. Jolliffe and M. Shun were appointed to go into the matter of organizing. A further meeting will be held the first Monday in April, at which organization plans will be completed.

Fred Young, first vice-president of the Musicians' Union, occupied the chair, and called on the men to organize for their own benefit.

John Kennedy of Toronto, organizer for the sheet metal workers, gave a stirring address to the men who were mostly from the large foundries of the east end of the city. He declared that unless the workers of any trade were organized they got very little in a monetary way for their labor. Mr. Kennedy paid a tribute to the trade unions of the old land, and stated that they were far advanced in the way of organizing.

"Trade unions know no creed or color. The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man: that is their motto," said the speaker. The day when an employee had to go to the boss hat in hand to ask for an increase was past and gone forever. He hoped the men would organize. They would never regret it.

Another speaker declared that the firemen, policemen and other employees of the city had greatly benefited by joining the union, and it had put extra money into their pockets.

George Terry and R. Hessell were among the speakers who pointed out to the men the benefits to be secured from organizing. Apparently the men felt the same way about it, for there was a rush to sign names to the list of workers started by Frank Burt of the molders.

A REPLY TO BISHOP FALLON'S SERMON.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I notice through press reports that Bishop Fallon, not content with answering Canon Tucker, goes distinctly out of his way in his first Lenten sermon on "The Holy Catholic Church and the Bible," to rap Martin Luther and other stalwarts of the Reformation in the sixteenth century, speaking disparagingly of the former as an "apostate priest," and the Reformation activities of the latter as "a diabolically-evolved scene, which proved only too successful in the breaking of the bond of Christian unity." Why, sir, it is only a few weeks since Bishop Fallon complained bitterly about Canon Tucker and others breaking in upon the oriental somnolence of Catholic Church life by their criticisms, instead of minding their own business, and threatened Canon Tucker with the full weight of his mailed ecclesiastical fist should he so trespass again. And yet here we have the bishop in a Lenten sermon, of all occasions, alternately sounding the praises of the Roman Catholic Church, system, Bible versions and everything else he could think of, and swinging the ecclesiastical whip vigorously around the memories and work of the saints and martyrs of the Reformation! Well, with all his assumed learning and smug satisfaction as an overlord of the great Roman Catholic Church, he will be replied to shortly. He has distinctively and even offensively thrown down the gauntlet to Protestantism, forgetting, perhaps, that his own church has a number of grinning skeletons that may have to be dragged out in the controversy. He evidently had not the courage, or the manliness, as the case may be, to tell his flock, and, incidentally, your many thousands of readers, just how the Christian Church, even in apostolic times, was divided into sects through the exercise of the rights of private judgment and private interpretation of the inspired records, rights indorsed even by the Master himself, nor did he tell his hearers or your readers about the overbearing tyranny of Roman Catholic councils that consolidated the church and saved its apparent unity at the cost of maintaining the ecclesiastical fiction of papal infallibility for all time.

Perhaps one will better start right in this letter by referring to some New Testament incidents and teachings that Bishop Fallon conveniently overlooked in his interoduction, having in view, of course, his affected expose of Protestant dissension.

In the first place, in the Apocalypse, John makes definite and detailed reference to "the seven churches in Asia," and their several characteristics, showing that the Christian Church was thus early divided. Paul, too, complained of the disunity of the church in his day, and not with entire consistency, as I see it—private opinion, you see, again—as he compares in simile the church with Christ as its head to the physical body with its members, all different and with different functions, and yet no schism in the body. Is there not essential unity in the same way in apparent Christian diversity, each sect or denomination functioning in its way in a community. Why, anyway, should we wish one great single church to dominate the world, like a huge octopus on an island, reaching out its thousand tentacles and drawing everything to its devouring maw? We see in the New Testament, struggle to establish the freedom of individual opinion illustrated and enforced, and the prototype of the domineering insolence and exclusiveness of the Catholic hierarchy of today. On one occasion two of the disciples came to Jesus with the startling question: "Master, we saw one casting out demons in thy name, and we forbade him, because he followeth not us." In other words, the representatives of the infant Christian Church were ready to issue a bull against this rival champion of individual opinion, and they only waited the authority of the Master. "Forbid him not," Jesus said, "for he that is not against us is on our part." On another occasion, the evangelist records that the disciples actually strove among themselves with true Catholic ambition as to who should be the greatest in the kingdom, which, in their heated imagination, Jesus was about to set up. Yes, and it was Philip, was it not, whom the church council of that day, with all gravity, set apart with others, as deacons, merely—yet he takes to preaching, and was he disciplined or excommunicated? No, the church actually gloried in the success of his self-chosen ministry. And to jog the bishop's memory further, after Judas ended his career, the church, imbued with the idea that the circle of the apostolic twelve must remain unbroken, met in solemn conclave to appoint a successor—not a pope this time—and cast lots as to who should take the place of Judas. The lot fell upon Matthias, we read, "and he was numbered with the apostles"—and for ever after drops from public view as one showing no special activity in the church—not very flattering as an early illustration of the Catholic method of settling everything by the authority of church councils. Perhaps more anon.

BILLY SUNDAY IN THE SOUTH.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I noticed in your editorial note a few days ago the question, "Where is Billy Sunday?" As I have heard considerable about him lately, I thought I would drop a line, as it looks as though his whereabouts were unknown here.

Some friends in Richmond, Virginia told me in a letter that he had been seven weeks there, commencing the latter part of January, preaching every day but Mondays, twice on week-days and four and five times on Sundays. The auditorium, they said, seats five thousand and always it has been full and always many are turned away, often hundreds and sometimes thousands.

To get in one must always go two hours ahead of time for the service, and people who never enter a church will stand in the crowd rain or shine for hours to get a seat to hear "Billy," and come away ready to work for him.

One man there said: "I may not agree with Mr. Sunday, but he is too great a man for me to criticize. The strange thing to me is that the highest of our people socially are wild about him and cannot honor him too much. The most prominent of our bankers, judges and businessmen count it an honor and privilege to act as ushers at his meetings, and the great factories and shops will stop work and listen if Billy will come to them and be delighted to do it. He surely is a wonder."

They also said on his first Sunday there were 500 conversions. I am yours truly,

M. WADE.

SERMONS IN STONES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Any stranger coming to London cannot but be impressed with the number and beauty of its schools. Personally, I particularly admire the old Simcoe Street School, the Lord Roberts and the Alexandra. There are, of course, a few, like Talbot Street School, which hardly come up to this standard, and there is one situated almost next door to the asylum for the insane, which is still uglier. I suppose that the trustees must have asked one of the inmates of that institution to design it. When first catching sight of it one would never dream it was a school, one would think it must be an abattoir or something like that. It stands right next to the C. P. R. tracks.

The beautiful new hydro building is one of which any city might be proud, the ancient Greeks would not have been ashamed of it. Some of the factories, stores and wholesale houses have made a brave, and more or less successful attempt to combine beauty with utility; as, for instance, McMahen, Granger & Co., McCormick's, Gray's, Mitchell's, the Bank of Toronto Building, the Gibbon Block, and The Advertiser Printing and Litho Building, also The Advertiser offices. And why not build well? It costs no more, or very little more; and anyway a beautiful building is the best, most permanent and cheapest advertisement.

If a skillful architect had been employed, that hideous block known as the Tecumseh might have been a thing of beauty and a joy forever at no extra expense. All that is required is a little taste and ingenuity, a knowledge that there is such a thing as proportion in windows, doors, cats, elephants, and human beings or anything else. Poor traveler to London!! He has hardly recovered from the shock of the Grand Trunk depot than his senses are again assaulted by the Tecumseh.

I am sorry to say that the church architecture of this and North American cities is far behind that of the schools and some of the commercial buildings. Dundas Centre, First Methodist, and First Presbyterian are horrible conglomerations, anomalous anachronisms; and there is an Anglican church down past St. Joseph's Hospital, near the end of the car tracks, which, I believe, to be the most hideous, with its sawed-off windows and squat tower, in the whole North American continent. Of course, there may be worse, but I cannot imagine them. St. Andrew's however, especially its spire, is of quite a high standard of excellence. It says, as plain as can be, to anyone viewing the city from afar, whatever else you may find in this city, there are yet people who believe truly in God, in the perfectibility of the race and in a Divine ideal. The Catholic Cathedral also is a fine building, although it would have been ten times finer if it had been an exact reproduction of some European cathedral, of which it is a poor imitation. For Gothic architecture is today dead, extinct; simply because the spirit of mediaeval religion which alone created the Gothic conceptions, is dead also. There is little in common between the Methodist or Anglican or modern Roman Catholic conceptions of life or religion and those of the Middle Ages. Similarly we cannot build beautiful Egyptian or Indian temples, simply because the Egyptian and Brahmin religion is dead also.

Ruskin made a great effort to restore the Gothic to favor, but in vain. If he had clearly recognized the fact that the spirit must exist before the form is possible, he would not have made the mistake he did.

No new style of architecture is possible today because the Greeks, Romans, Egyptians and Indians have utilized every possible geometrical form of expression, but the true spirit of modern architecture exists in a rebirth of the Greek or Roman style, which is impossible without a rebirth of the Greek and Roman ideals. This spirit of modern architecture lives in many of our schools and commercial buildings, and is chiefly an adaptation of the Greek style.

I was conversing some time ago with a celebrated Canadian art critic and philosopher, and the question arose: "Why do we not find the same excellence in modern church architecture, as we find in commercial and secular buildings?" I readily corroborated my conclusions on the subject. The answer is obvious: the real spirit of the times, its highest development, its holiest, purest impulses are to be found, not in the churches, but in the Christlike idea of modern democratic education, and the Christlike idea of commercial, civil and political liberty, which is reflected in many public buildings, stores, private dwellings and even factories. Read the excellent commercial tenets of the Rotarians and you will understand why some commercial buildings are graceful if simple, and why some in this city are a disgrace to civilization.

There are sermons in stones, there are sermons in buildings, preached a thousand times a day; let us see that they are good sermons, not symbols of the social degradation, religious hypocrisy, or false piety of man.

DISABILITY PENSION LEAST IMPORTANT OF SOLDIER POLICY

Lieut.-Col. Biggar Speaks to Local Doctors.

A rather new light on the subject of disability pensions for soldiers was thrown by Lieut.-Col. J. L. Biggar, M. D., of the board of pension commissioners, Ottawa, in the course of a lecture which he delivered at the Institute of Public Health yesterday to a gathering of medical students, military and civil doctors and members of the local pension department.

Col. Biggar commenced his lecture by making the statement that disability pensions were not only the least part of the Government's general policy of activities relative to the civil re-establishment of soldiers, but they were in fact often actually antagonistic to the other movements, which Col. Biggar classified under two groups, the professional group and the re-educational group.

The former, he said, had three objectives. The first was to reduce to the irreducible minimum the degree of a soldier's disability; the second, was to teach injured parts of the body to function as nearly as possible in a normal manner, and the third, was to provide artificial substitutes for lost parts of the body. The other group, also, had three objectives, first, to teach the disabled man a trade or profession; second, to follow up this work by obtaining employment for the re-educated man along the line for which he he been re-educated, and third, and least important of all, to provide pensions where these were necessary.

Some Abuses.

Col. Biggar said disability pension laws lent themselves readily to abuse, as was evidenced by the fact that in the United States at least three people were still drawing pensions as dependents of war veterans who fought more than a hundred years ago, and that the United States was paying three hundred million dollars yearly in pensions in connection with the civil war and other wars. The fact that Canada's pension scheme was the most simple, the most comprehensive and the one providing a larger pension scale out of the public treasury than any other country in the world should entitle it to protection form such abuses.

The natural reaction of a medical man who was called on to examine an applicant for pension was to be sympathetic and to say: "I must do the best for this poor fellow and get him as much money as I can." That was the natural thing for any humanitarian man to think and say. "All wrong, unscientific," declared Col. Biggar, who went on to say that the best possible thing for the disabled soldier, for the country at large, and for everyone, was to teach him to become, as far as possible, an independent member of society. For that reason unnecessarily large pensions, or pensions in cases where they were not actually needed to counterbalance a real disability were bad in every way.

Not Charity.

Pensions were not bonuses, gifts or charity. They were given to citizens injured in service in the war to make up for the loss or lessening of one or more normal abilities. The normal abilities included the ability to see, to smell, to hear, to walk, to have the full use of all four limbs and to move normally. The hope of the board of pensions commissioners was to have an educated body of medical men, capable of determining dispassionately the extent of disability suffered by an applicant for pension, and as he had already tried to show, doctors were not acting for the best when they allowed sentiment to overrule judgment.

In addition to a number of medical students of the Western University, almost all the officers of the C. A. M. C. stationed in London and most of the local officials of the board of pensions commissioners were present to hear Col. Biggar's lecture, and showed the livest possible interest in what he said.

ASTRONOMY REALLY FASCINATING STUDY

Helps To Better Understanding of Creator.

MR. WILLGOOSE LECTURES

Likens Study of Stars to Music as Broadening to the Mind.

F. L. Willgoose of the London Conservatory of Music delivered an instructive and eloquent talk on "Astronomy" at Cronyn Memorial Church last evening, leaving with his hearers a deeper appreciation of the apparently fathomless mysteries of the solar system.

"The study of astronomy does for the mind one of the grandest things possible, in that it helps it to a better knowledge of the Creator through his works," declared the speaker. "We study astronomy also for this reason: that the innate curiosity of man compels him to investigate. Some types of mind, known as scientific, cannot help studying astronomy any more than they can help eating, while with others it is the wonderful beauty of the stars which attracts, and still others the possibility that perhaps we are in some way linked up with them, that perhaps some day we may find a home in one of those brilliant orbs.

"Both astronomy and music although so far apart, have the same effect on the mind. They widen out conceptions and increase the scope of the imagination. Music especially does this, and parents are beginning to insist that it should be upon the curriculum for every child.

Beginning of Astronomy.

"The first idea of astronomy was evolved from the mind of simple folk living away back at the dawn of history. They looked about them and saw the earth as one vast plain, with the sun passing around it. Hence they concluded that the earth floats in nothing."

From this small beginning, Mr. Willgoose briefly sketched the history of astronomical progress through the years of Ptolemy, Copernicus, Gallileo, Newton and Herschel, keeping as the main subject of his address the solar system, referring more particularly to those planets other than the earth.

The marvel land of earth's satellite, the moon, with its enormous craters, caused by the literal blowing to pieces of that body, was first introduced.

The Cold Moon.

"It is most unfortunate that the moon is entirely cold and dead," said the speaker, "because it is so close to us that it may be brought by a telescope within forty miles of the earth, so that any building as large as St. Peter's in Rome could be seen, as well as the trail of smoke from a ship passing over the lunar seas. It would afford us a wonderful opportunity for the study of life on another body, did that life exist, and there might be a possibility that we could communicate with beings there by wireless or some such system yet undiscovered. But the fact remains that the moon is cold, lifeless and wrinkled with age, possibly shooting out meteorites at the mother earth from time to time. Theory is that these meteorites have on orbit of their own about the sun, and when the earth comes in contact with that orbit, about November, there are great numbers of shooting stars observed in the sky."

Canals of Mars.

Mercury with its intense heat, and therefore uninhabitable as far as man is able to think of life, was touched upon, as was the fascinating planet Venus, similar in its conditions to the earth, so that it is easy to suppose human beings may live there in a state perhaps away ahead of man, or behind him in evolution. Mars with its curious canals, so straight and uniform that it seems they must be the work of intelligent beings, was also introduced.

"Of course, no telescope is powerful enough to actually see these gigantic canals," declared Mr. Willgoose: "but the quantities of luxuriant vegetable growth along their banks can be detected. The theory is that the planet Mars is in a more advanced condition than the earth, and the Martians are also of a higher order of intelligence than man. The atmosphere there is much rarer than about the earth, and it has been necessary for the Martians to construct gigantic canals, capturing the water as the snow melts from the poles in the summer time, and thus utilizing it for irrigation purposes. The construction of such canals could only be the outcome of marvelous engineering skill on the part of the inhabitants of Mars."

Fascinating Saturn.

Jupiter, the great gaseous planet of the cloud belts, was passed over for the more interesting and fascinating body known as Saturn, with its rings. "These rings or belts about Saturn are supposed to be masses of small satellites, which revolve about Saturn and give the effect of rings," said the speaker. "So close are these masses of satellites to Saturn that we might imagine beings of the very high order of intelligence, equipped with wings, able to fly from Saturn to her satellites."

Mr. Willgoose may continue his lecture at some future time, dealing with the stellar system. At last night's meeting Miss Newbury favored those present with a reading entitled "The Frenchman's Dilemma."

VOTES FOR TENDER WHILE INTIMATING IT MAY BE ILLEGAL

Ald. Wilson Gives Warning on Lumber Buying.

Alderman W. A. Wilson at the meeting of the council last night, when the recommendation of No. 2 committee that the tender of the London Lumber Company be accepted for lumber for bridge flooring, stated that while he would support the recommendation he feared that Alderman F. E. Harley would be running into trouble if the tender were accepted. He said that when an alderman is unseated (and he intimated that he had been told that some action would be taken), the cost of a new election would be charged to the unseated alderman.

Alderman L. S. Holmes queried why the council should be the only civic body that is hampered in this way. Other city bodies make contracts with the members, he stated.

Alderman O. I. Cunningham said that City Engineer H. A. Brazier at the committee meeting had made clear the fact that with Alderman Harley he had taken up the question when the tender was submitted, and he had decided that everything was all right. He would award the tender as recommended.

On a vote being taken, the nine aldermen in the council chamber voted in favor of it: Aldermen J. Colbert, E. R. Seabrook, W. A. Wilson, G. B. Drake, C. G. Moorhead, O. G. Keene, L. S. Holmes, O. I. Cunningham and S. R. Manness.

The tender of the London Lumber Company was the only one submitted for lumber. Alderman F. E. Harley is the manager of the company.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain —How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases, and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid, and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take, and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

DENTAL DEPARTMENT NEEDED AT VICTORIA

Trustee G. C. Gunn Will Move Its Establishment.

TO REARRANGE STAFF

He Suggests This in Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Section.

At the monthly meeting of the hospital trust, held yesterday afternoon, Trustee George C. Gunn gave notice of motion that at the next meeting he would bring up the question of the establishment of a dental department at Victoria Hospital. It was felt that there was a crying need for some sort of dental service at the institution, and it is more than likely that such a service will be inaugurated.

Mr. Gunn also moved for a rearrangement of the staff in the eye, ear, nose and throat department.

There was the usual passing of accounts and the estimates for the year were approved of. This means that the city council will be asked for $95,500 for the upkeep of the institution for the year.

The monthly report submitted by Supt. T. R. Heard showed that during the month of February 268 patients were admitted to Victoria Hospital and 269 discharged. In the free dispensary 439 patients were treated. There were 12 deaths and 20 births during the month. The cash receipts were $6,259.95.

The board decided to advertise for tenders for coal. The house committee will receive these tenders and award the contract by April 1.

TAXI DRIVER FINED FOR OVERCHARGING

Robert Nuttal Denied Knowledge of Rates.

Robert Nuttal, a taxi driver, was fined $3 and costs in police court today for charging David Rankin and two friends double rates. Mr. Rankin, in the witness box, stated that he and his friends hired Nuttal to drive them from the Grigg House to the residence of Samuel Munro, 58 Ridout street, a week ago. The taxi driver charged them $1.50, and this they considered exorbitant and later found out it should have been 75 cents. They made no bargain with Nuttal for a return trip.

Nuttal explained in the witness box that the $1.50 included a return trip, which the men stated would be at an early hour in the morning.

The Story.

"I always collect for a return trip beforehand, because if you don't you'll get beaten out of your money," stated the accused. Jared Vining, counsel for Nuttal, asked that he be acquitted, as he was willing to recognize the 75 cents.

"Your client's story is utterly ridiculous," stated the magistrate to Mr. Vining. "It is an extremely improbable thing that Nuttal would bargain for a return trip early in the morning at regular rates, when he is entitled to charge double, and imagine three people traveling at 3 a.m. for 75 cents. I have had some experience with taxis and I know that it is ridiculous."

The Retort Courteous.

"Of course I haven't had your experiences traveling 'round at that hour," stated Mr. Vining in reply, "so of course, I am not qualified to speak."

Nuttal declared that he didn't know that there were any special taxi rates in force in London. Chief Williams told him there were, and presented him with a nice little booklet with all the charges specified. Nuttal stowed it away in his pocket, and paid his fine to Police Court Clerk Moule.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

DEATH OF LITTLE GIRL.

Hilda Margutt Coulter, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Coulter, 65 Maitland street, died on Sunday after a few days' illness. The funeral was held on Monday from the residence of her parents to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

DIED IN MONTANA.

William Alexander McInnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murdock McInnes, died at Helena, Montana, on March 14. The body will be brought to this city for interment.

DEATH OF CHARLES HARDY.

Charles Hardy of lot 1, concession 13, London Township, died at his home on Monday, in his 58th year. He is survived by his wife, Catherine Hardy. The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the family residence at 11 o'clock, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

LOCAL NEWS

WAS PTE. LOUIS WALKER.—In a story which appeared in Saturday's paper regarding the death of Pte. Leslie Walker at No. 50 Casualty Clearing Station, England, there were errors. The victim of influenza was Pte. Louis Walker, and he died in France, not in England.

RECREATION HALL OPENED.—The new beautifully-decorated recreation room and lunch-room for the employees of Smallman & Ingram, Limited, on the fifth floor of that firm's store, was officially opened Monday night. The occasion was marked by a concert, card party and dance which proved most enjoyable.

TALK ON "PERENNIALS."—Miss M. E. Blacklock of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto, is to give a lecture on "Perennials" at the Normal School tonight under the auspices of the London Horticultural Society, when a number of slides, including illustrations of peonies, London's civic flower, will also be shown.

BUILDING TO START SOON.—Papers signed Saturday evening mean that Loew's Theatre will have as a Dundas street entrance, the store now occupied by J. Barnard. There will also be an entrance on Queen's avenue, the theatrical people having acquired 110 feet frontage on that block, from 187 Queen's avenue to 195. It is expected that building operations will start by May 1.

CONCERT TONIGHT.—Dundas Centre choir (50 voices), with prominent visiting soloists, will give its annual concert this evening. The choir has been doing special rehearsing for several months, and has prepared a good program of part songs and glees, in which singing it excels. The special work will be Elgar's "For the Fallen" and the "Songs of the Fleet," poems by Kipling, music by Elgar, as sung by Frank Oldfield.

JUDGING AT ILDERTON.—Twenty-five boys and as many men took part in the judging of horses which was conducted under the supervision of R. A. Finn, Middlesex representative of the Ontario department of agriculture, at Ilderton on Saturday. The boys were between the ages of 12 and 18 years, and were those who intend to enter the judging competition at the Ilderton Fall Fair. Clydesdale and Percheron horses and Shorthorn cattle were judged. On March 29 other classes of heavy horses and beef cattle will be judged.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Many Entertainments Held in the City.

Notwithstanding the dismal weather, St. Patrick's Day was made an occasion of merry-making by hundreds of people, old and young and "medium," in the city. Hostesses seized upon the possibilities for obtaining artistic effects offered by the St. Patrick's Day decorations and souvenirs, and bade their friends to luncheons, dinners, teas and other entertainments.

Numbers of organizations, church, charitable and patriotic, held entertainments, one of the most popular forms being the St. Patrick's tea, which proved a strong drawing card for womankind.

Several chapters of the I. O. D. E. gave Shamrock teas, for which a small fee was charged, in order to raise money for their various patriotic activities.

Girls' Interesting Event.

One of the pleasing events was a St. Patrick's tea, over which the Outlook (girls') Mission Band of St. Andrew's Church entertained the King's Own (boys') Club. Mrs. W. E. Kelly is in charge of the band and superintended arrangements. An interesting program feature was the story of a Chinese family told by Mrs. Gemmill.

In the evening, the young people of St. Mary's (Catholic) Church celebrated by an enjoyable social held in the parish hall.

Three or four hundred people sat down at 6:30 o'clock to a tempting St. Patrick's banquet, cooked, laid and served by the Men's Brotherhood of Ridout Street Methodist Church, of which W. R. Ramer is the president.

Real Surprise.

Much was the surprise of the guests over the effects achieved in decoration, the skill of the masculine cooks, and the military precision with which all the plans were carried out. Following the supper, there was a program of music and recitations, which added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

Several of the young people's societies at their regular Monday evening meetings considered the subject of "St. Patrick." For the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church, a paper was prepared by Rev. N. D. Drew on "The Soul of St. Patrick."

Among the frolics of the evening participated in by a large number was a Shamrock dance at the Palace Dancing Academy.

$200 FINE REDUCED TO $20; WHO SHALL BE GIVEN BALANCE?

Suggestion Is That It Go To Salvation Army.

W. W. Shaver, assistant inspector of Soldiers' Aid Commission branches for this district, has been advised that the fine of $200 inflicted upon the returned soldier, whose case aroused so much interest here recently, and whose fine was paid by public subscription, has been reduced to $20. As the larger amount has been paid, this means that there should be a refund of $180 by the local police court.

What should be done with this money when received? It has been suggested that the amount be turned over to the Salvation Army, if the donors of amounts do not object. It will be some days before the $180 will be on hand, and if there are any subscribers who object to the disposal of the money, they should notify The Advertiser that they want the sums they gave refunded to them. If no objections are received, the money will be turned over to the Salvation Army.

LADIES OF EXETER HELPING G. W. V. A.

Branch Opened, Largely Due to Their Efforts.

The forming of a new branch of the Great War Veterans' Association at Exeter Monday night, started off with everything well organized. A group of young ladies, who have been doing excellent work during the war and are still continuing it for returned soldiers, started the ball rolling by donating suitable clubrooms for the association. The ladies are also going to donate a billiard table for the clubrooms. Secretary J. W. Cunliffe of the local branch and H. W. Ashley went to Exeter to assist in the opening.

Mr. Cunliffe stated to The Advertiser upon his return that he would not mind assisting in the forming of a branch every day if they received the same reception as they received at Exeter. All the citizens seem to be at the back of the association, and are willing to help it in any of its objectives. The following are the officers who will attend to the work of the association: President, Major W. J. Heaman; first vice-president, L. Reeves; secretary and treasurer, W. J. Russell.

The executive committee is composed of the following comrades: Harness, Parsons, Vining, Scott, Sparrow, Trebis, Hazelton, Taylor and Thompson.

In all twenty members were enrolled and each one promised to bring another new member. The official opening of the clubrooms will take place on Wednesday night.

PLENTY OF RUMORS, SAYS PRES. CURRIE

Has Nothing To Say of Street Railway Matters.

Charles Currie of Akron, president of the London Street Railway Company, is in the city for a few days. He was renewing acquaintances at the city hall this morning. There is nothing new in the street railway situation in this city, he says.

Questioned as to whether the rumor which is being circulated to the effect that the company is placing several more cars on its lines on April 1, Mr. Currie replied with a smile "there are other rumors also."

City Clerk S. Baker had not sent out the notice which he was instructed by the council to send, forbidding a breach of the bylaw respecting speed and service, and Mr. Currie had nothing to say on this question.

Apparently both sides are waiting for the next move of the other fellow. Mayor C. R. Somerville, with whom was left the appointment of an expert auditor to examine the books of the company, has not done anything yet. He says that this question was referred to No. 1 committee again, but according to the minutes it was left with him.

Mr. Currie will be in the city for a few days, he says. A special meeting of No. 1 committee is being called for Wednesday evening, but so far there is nothing relating to the street railway up for consideration then. The meeting has been called for discussing estimates.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS NEW COMMERCIAL SCHOOL BUILDING; ESTIMATED COST OF $60,000

No Opposition Expected From City Council To Debenture Issue of This Amount—Present Accommodation Is Overcrowded.

At a meeting of the commercial advisory committee of the board of education this morning, it was decided to recommend the erection of a new commercial building at an estimated cost of $60,000. The plans have not yet been finally approved, but the building will have eight class rooms. Everything will be planned according to the latest and best as regards commercial school equipment. A. A. Langford, chairman of the committee, is confident that the building will be commenced as soon as it is possible to make final arrangements. The question will be considered by the board at its next meeting.

No Opportunity.

Ald. L. S. Holmes, acting chairman of No. 1 committee of the city council, stated this morning that if the board of education asks a debenture issue of $60,000 for the erection of the school there will be no opposition on the part of the council. In fact, in certain city hall circles the opinion is expressed that the board of education can have anything it desires this year as far as the council is concerned.

While the building may cost $60,000, it is pointed out that it would not add more than $4,000 annually to the taxes, according to City Treasurer James S. Bell.

School Crowded.

There are no doubts in the minds of any of the members of the board of education that the commercial school is crowded beyond its capacity, but the opinion has been expressed that the Technical and Art School will relieve these conditions next year. Others say that the Technical School will not make any appreciable difference in the number of pupils taking a secondary education in the opinion of these.

Short Family Gathers to Honor Father Who Is Hale, Hearty and Eighty-Five Years Young Today

Reuben E. Short Has Read The Advertiser Since Its Beginning and Does So Without Glasses—A Lover of Flowers and of Pigeons.

Reuben Edward Short, hale, hearty, eighty-five years young, is the proudest man in London today, surrounded by eleven sons and daughters, a small army of grandchildren and no less than three sturdy great-grandchildren, not to mention two grandsons who are with the A. M. C. He is celebrating his eighty-fifth birthday today, and the home in which he has lived at 673 York street for sixty years gone by is ablaze with tulips, hyacinths, smilax and pink satin ribbons and old-fashioned striped candy walking sticks, which are to be the favors at the big birthday dinner tonight.

From half a dozen different points, the Short family has assembled to do honor to the great occasion, the sons and daughters including Reuben Jun., London; Mrs. John Cleminson, Toronto; Henry Short, Redding, Penn.; Charlie Short, Detroit; James Short, Peru, Indiana; William Short, Toronto; John E. Short, St. Louis; Mrs. Oscar Evans, Toronto; Mrs. Arnold Baker, Detroit; Mrs. Fred Terry, Highland Park, Detroit, and Miss Lizzie, at home.

Since First Issue.

Mr. Short has been a subscriber to The Advertiser ever since it became a paper, and to quote his own words, it "makes him mad as a wet hen" when the wrong paper is left on his doorstep. He reads it, too, without his glasses. What does a man 85 years young want with disfiguring spectacles?

Politics? Not hard to guess that. "Grit to the bone, and ready to go out election campaigning any day yet." All of which goes to prove that Mr. Short is still very much in his prime, enjoying the best of health, young as he ever was with the exception of a slight deafness in one ear.

He can walk for miles without tiring and can do a day's work in the garden with any one. Probably no one in the city has a finer display of gladioli in the right season. Each year he plants with his own hands from 800 to 1,000 bulbs, and it is a garden gay with luxuriant bloom which he delights to show to his friends. All comers are welcome to him, but best of all he loves the gladioli, in the culture of which he has made an outstanding success.

Fond of Pigeons.

Probably there hasn't been a pigeon-fancying boy in the city for the last sixty years who hasn't "traded" in pigeons with Mr. Short. Latterly, he has also gone in for chicken-raising and enjoys working among them, even as among his pigeons and flowers.

"Living is a great thing," is his philosophy of life. Of course, he thinks a great deal of the good old days. People had a great deal of happiness then, and it didn't take nearly as many things to amuse them and make them happy. Still, he takes an immense amount of satisfaction out of the things the present offers. There is the victrola for example, and Harry Lauder can't be beaten when it comes to entertainment. Picture shows occasionally are amusing and entertaining, and as for the modern dance music, it can't be too lively or too "jazzy." Mr. Short hasn't by any means forgotten how to dance with the young people and quite enjoys it sometimes in his own home. His own family says he gets younger and broader in his views and sympathies every year, and they all think there is no one in the world just like him.

His "I Remembers."

He has a store of "I remember" stories to make the eyes of young people pop with wonder. He remembers when the bears used to walk right down Dundas street and there wasn't a tree chopped east of Wellington street.

That was when he was a small boy, just arrived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben C. Short. He doesn't remember England, where he was born eighty-five years ago today, close by St. Paul's Cathedral. He was just a year old when he was brought by his father and mother to this country. They settled in Toronto for four years, coming on to London and taking up their residence on Queen's avenue, opposite the little English Church.

"Was that the Cronyn Memorial?" was asked of Mr. Short today. He laughed a hearty infectious laugh. "No," he said, "the little English Church was St. Paul's Cathedral."

Shortly after, his father bought property on Dundas street, west of the Advertiser office, which is still the possession of the son who is 85 years old today.

Reuben E. Short got the first schooling at a little log school on Dundas street, opposite the present site of Smallman & Ingram's. After that, he went to school at the corner of Ridout and King street, then to the old union school where Nicholas Wilson was one of his masters.

Was in Shoe Business.

After completing his education, he went into the shoe business with his father on Dundas street. Forty or fifty years ago, a row of stores was built on the property and since shortly after the death of his father, forty years ago, Mr. Short has been retired from business.

He married Maria Hardy of this city, who died twenty-eight years ago. One of the stories which Mr. Short tells with much zest is about the days of the old volunteer fire company, of which he was a member for ten years.

The happiness which Mr. Short gets out of life and his ability to adapt himself to changing times and get the best out of all experiences is a reason given by his family for his continued vigor and robust health. He thinks that the fact he is a non-smoker has something to do with it. "I smoked from the time I was 12 until 60, and I haven't touched tobacco since," he says.

"Are you better for it?"

"Much, very much," he replies.

He Never Thought of That

Tragic Story of Trapped Cat, Broken Umbrella and Smashed Window Pane.

There's a man in this town who is wondering whether he should bring action against the city for damages or sue the Humane Society for injury to property. The story is one about two men, a cat and an umbrella, with a third man doing a walking part.

The walking part man was coming across the market on Monday afternoon when he heard a pitiful wailing, "like the cries of a lost soul," he says. Naturally, he investigated, and he found a poor, forlorn, bedraggled cat caught between a cellar window and the iron grating.

"The poor cat," he says, "had been there a week. In any case, it was yelling something terrible."

Enter Second Man.

Just as man number one was wondering what could be done about it, man number two happened along. Man number two is the one who feels he should be after doing some collecting for damages which befell on St. Patrick's Day in the afternoon. The sympathies of man number two, like the sympathies of man number one, were aroused for the cat. Man number two is a man of action and decision. How should the cat be released? Simplest thing in the world—pry open the window and let it into the cellar of the building. He immediately began to pry with his brand new spring umbrella. But the more he poked and pried, the more that tenacious window stuck, while the frightened cat backed into a corner, humped its spine, bushed its tail and pitifully "miaowed." And finally, the end of the handsome umbrella snapped off, bang went the toc' against the window, and crash went the pane. Zip went the cat headlong through the opening of its prison house, straight into the cellar.

Who Will Pay.

The good Samaritan and the walking part man stood silent in astonishment for a moment at the rapid progress of events, then the Samaritan remarked ruefullly: "Who is going to pay for my umbrella?"

"I told him I guessed it was up to the cat or the Humane Society," chuckled the walking part man, as he told the story to the reporter, adding: "Say, wasn't it a shame? That poor cat was in there a whole week."

"How do you know?"

"Well," he admitted, "I don't know anything but what the janitor told me, and he said he had been trying to get it out for a whole week and couldn't."

"Why, didn't he open the window?"

The walking part man looked as if he were seeing a great light.

"Why, I never thought of that," he said, "and I guess the janitor didn't, either."

The janitor is the third man in this little "drammer" of real life, in which the "main squeeze" was a poor, forlorn grey cat, squeezed between a window and a window grating.

PHILIP GIBBS COMING TO LECTURE ON MONDAY

President George M. Reid of the London Chamber of Commerce has arrived home today after a business trip to New York, one item of which was "landing" Philip Gibbs, the war correspondent, to lecture under the auspices of the chamber of commerce next Monday night.

"We've got to get the advertising going right away," says Mr. Reid, "and give the people a chance to know about it. I had to sit away up in the balcony the night I heard him in New York, because I couldn't get any other seats. I could hear every word and his lecture was clear, concise and most attractive. We are going to get a big treat."

DEATH OF MISS SANDERS.

Miss Fannie Sanders, an old resident of London, died at her home, 655 Richmond street, at an early hour this morning. She had been in failing health for some time. Miss Sanders is survived by her sister, Miss Gertrude, and her brother, Frederick Sanders, Mrs. J. S. Niven, of Colborne street, is a niece and Judge Talbot Macbeth is a nephew. The funeral will be held on Thursday from her residence to Tyrconnel, where interment will be made.

MILITARY HOSPITAL, OTTAWAY AVENUE, IS UNDER QUARANTINE

One Case of Smallpox Is Discovered.

The Military Convalescent Hospital, Ottaway avenue, was placed under quarantine yesterday afternoon following the discovery of a case of smallpox. The patient, a recently-returned man, who was in the hospital for treatment, developed symptoms which the attending physician thought were suspiciously like smallpox, and later the disease was diagnosed beyond doubt.

The man was at once isolated and every precaution taken to prevent the infection spreading among the other patients. Major W. B. McDermid, the o. c. the Military Hospital, was notified and at once proceeded from Wolseley Barracks to the Ottaway avenue institution, where, after consultation with the doctors, he placed the hospital under indefinite quarantine.

Up to the present, no further cases of the disease have developed, and it is believed that precautionary measures were adopted sufficiently early to prevent it from spreading.

NEW CITY HALL IS UNLIKELY THIS YEAR

Some Aldermen View Federal Square More Favorably.

In all probability there will be no new city hall commenced this year. The latest developments indicate that the council will dispose of the Federal Square proposition in some way this year and prepare a plan for a new hall which will be submitted to the electors at the next municipal election.

Views Changing.

Some of the members of the council are more disposed to consider placing the hall on the Federal Square than they were some weeks ago. City Building Inspector A. M. Piper has plans prepared of a four and a five story building on the Spencer site and also one of a three-story building on the Federal Square corner.

Cost Half Million.

It is estimated that a suitable building permitting a good appearance could be erected on the square for $500,000, while the estimated cost of the four and five-story buildings on the Spencer site is $200,000 and $225,000 respectively.

Mayor C. R. Somerville stated that there will be nothing done until the city of London bill is passed upon by the Legislature and the Federal Square question will also have to be settled before any definite action is taken by the council. He would favor letting the electors decide the question of where the hall should be built. As a special election would cost $1,500, it is thought that the better plan would be to submit some plan at the next municipal elections.

COUNCIL APPROVES OF IMPROVEMENTS

Will Construct Pavements and Curbs and Gutters.

The following pavements and curbs and gutters have been approved as local improvements by the council on the recommendation of City Engineer H. A. Brazier.

William street, a sheet asphalt pavement, between Queen's and Dufferin avenues, at a total cost of $4,620, of which the adjacent property owners will pay $3,071.60, the remainder being paid by the city. Probably no one in the city has a finer display of gladioli in the right season. Each year he plants with his own hands from 800 to 1,000 bulbs, and it is a garden gay with luxuriant bloom which he delights to show to his friends. All comers are welcome to him, but best of all he loves the gladioli, in the culture of which he has made an outstanding success.

GETS BENEFIT OF DOUBT

Only One Man Accused of Drunkenness on St. Patrick's Day.

There was but one St. Patrick's Day drunk to appear before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon this morning, and he was allowed to go, the magistrate, apparently, being in a tender and lenient mood. Constable George Tomlin stated that his friend the Irishman was taking up most of the sidewalk at Dundas and Lyle streets last evening at 6:30 o'clock.

"I saw him earlier in the afternoon, and he was sober then, but, of course, a lot can take place in an hour or two," said Mr. Graydon.

"I've been up here before, your honor, and I've always pleaded guilty when I have been drunk, but I swear I wasn't drunk last night," stated the accused.

"I guess he wasn't very drunk," opined the court, "and I'm going to give you the benefit of the doubt and discharge you this morning."

"If your honor will only give me one chance," said the prisoner, who apparently didn't realize that the court had just given him his freedom.

"If you say much more, I'll probably convict you," declared the police magistrate, doing his best to scare up a frown. Mr. Prisoner said never another word. He just reached for his hat, and made his way through the courtroom to the fresh air without as hurriedly as possible.

J. E. Smaliman paid $3 for driving a motor car past a street car on the wrong side.

WRIT ISSUED.—Brickenden & McCrimmon, of this city, on behalf of themselves and other creditors of the defendant, A. M. Fine, have issued a writ through their solicitors, Gibbons, Harper & Gibbons, against A. M. Fine of Amherstburg and a co-defendant, Sarah Janowsky, to set aside an alleged sale of goods.

JURY CONSIDERING FIRST ASSIZES CASE

No Judgment Yet On Suit Against Street Railway.

Late this afternoon the jury at the spring assizes at the courthouse was still out in the case of Jarvis vs. the London Street Railway. At 2:20 o'clock when the court opened after an adjournment for dinner, the jury had been out for over an hour. Fred B. Jarvis, who is a local teamster, is suing the company for $2,000 for injuries received through the alleged negligence of the defendants. He claims that he was going eastward on Dundas street on a "pay-as-you-enter" car and that the conductor let him off before the car stopped, with the result that he was violently thrown to the pavement, suffering injuries to the left shoulder and neck. He claims that he may be permanently injured.

Any negligence on the part of the defendants is denied by them, they declaring that if there was any negligence, it was on the part of the plaintiff. They also claim that his claim is too remote. W. G. R. Bartram for the plaintiff; Ivey & Ivey for the defendants.

R. G. Fisher argued for the plaintiff's solicitor and John M. McEvoy argued for the defendant's solicitors.

Same Old Complaint.

After inspecting the hospitals, the jail, court house and asylum, the grand jurors presented their report to Hon. Mr. Justice Rose. Almost every building had a clean sheet. At the jail, however, the jurymen declared that there was an insane person who ought to be in the asylum. The jail physician, it was stated, would have him removed to the asylum.

In the case of Percy Johnson, a returned man with a chronic inflammation of the knee who was sentenced to jail for two years after being convicted of stealing some small change from a fellow-inmate at the Military Hospital, the jurors recommended that he be sent to the hospital and that he be given a new trial and that more leniency be shown him.

Cases Postponed.

Although the court was opened yesterday afternoon and lasted for two hours, no cases were tried.

Overy vs. Barnes, Summers and the city of London, and Collins vs. Barnes, Summers and the city of London, the first two cases on the jury list, were postponed until the next assize court because of the short notice given the plaintiff's solicitor to prepare a new line of argument to the new line of defense which the defendants' solicitors declared that they intended to pursue. None of the other cases were sufficiently prepared to proceed, and so the court adjourned until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

No Criminal Case.

"You are fortunate that there are no criminal matters," declared the judge in addressing the grand jury yesterday afternoon. "Your duties, therefore, will be confined to inspecting the jail, the courthouse and such institutions."

He declared that the grand jurors could inspect or not inspect public buildings, just as they saw fit. They were to draw their own conclusions from the inspection made and were to look to the general well-being of the inmates in the various institutions. Among the buildings that might be inspected were St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria Hospital and the House of Refuge. To this last-named institution, which is situated at Strathroy, no railway fare was provided, so that if the jurors wished to go there they would have to do so at their own expense.

Grand jurors, he said, had frequently called attention to the inadequate provision made for insane persons. Some present methods of caring for them were unscientific. Some insane persons were put in the jails with criminals. It was inevitable that some of them should be put in for a short term, but at the first opportunity they should be promptly removed to a place where proper care could be taken of them. If any indication of mismanagement was found in any of the public buildings and it should be reported, it would be brought to the attention of the proper authorities.

MORE TUBERCULOSIS IS NOW BEING REPORTED

Tuberculosis, with twelve newly reported cases, heads the list on last week's communicable disease report issued by the M. O. H. Three chickenpox, 1 diphtheria, 1 diphtheria suspect, 1 scarlet fever, 1 German measles, and 7 cases of venereal disease, total the number of newly-reported cases to 75. There are still 17 cases of scarlet fever in the city, however, the total number of all communicable diseases under isolation being 26, with 14 of these in the hospital.

"MR. LOGAN, U. S. A." WITH TOM MIX, IS AT THE PATRICIA TODAY

Secret Service Film Is Being Shown for Last Time—Extremely Good Comedy a Feature.

"Mr. Logan, U. S. A." will be shown for the last time at the Patricia Theatre today.

Jimmie Logan as portrayed by Tom Mix gives the reason why Uncle Sam has kept many of his brave boys over here to cope with the enemy within his gates.

It vividly shows the activities of German agents who attempt to paralyze the industrial work of the nation by sowing the seeds of discontent in the minds of the workers and their eventual downfall at the hands of the hero.

Compelled to conceal his identity as a secret service man, the hero is branded as a slacker by the girl he loves. Unable to justify himself in her eyes he pursues his duty until the plot of the enemies of his country is frustrated and the plotters are in custody. How he finally sets himself right before the girl is developed in a highly novel manner that is full of surprises.

The Dixi Three.

The vaudeville act, at the Patricia, "The Dixi Three," is one of the best offerings Manager Stewart has had at the Patricia in some time.

The Sunshine comedy, "Son of a Hun," is one big scream from start to finish and completes an exceptionally fine bill.

No Judgment Yet On Suit Against Street Railway.

Late this afternoon the jury at the spring assizes at the courthouse was still out in the case of Jarvis vs. the London Street Railway. At 2:20 o'clock when the court opened after an adjournment for dinner, the jury had been out for over an hour. Fred B. Jarvis, who is a local teamster, is suing the company for $2,000 for injuries received through the alleged negligence of the defendants. He claims that he was going eastward on Dundas street on a "pay-as-you-enter" car and that the conductor let him off before the car stopped, with the result that he was violently thrown to the pavement, suffering injuries to the left shoulder and neck. He claims that he may be permanently injured.

Any negligence on the part of the defendants is denied by them, they declaring that if there was any negligence, it was on the part of the plaintiff. They also claim that his claim is too remote. W. G. R. Bartram for the plaintiff; Ivey & Ivey for the defendants.

R. G. Fisher argued for the plaintiff's solicitor and John M. McEvoy argued for the defendant's solicitors.

Same Old Complaint.

After inspecting the hospitals, the jail, court house and asylum, the grand jurors presented their report to Hon. Mr. Justice Rose. Almost every building had a clean sheet. At the jail, however, the jurymen declared that there was an insane person who ought to be in the asylum. The jail physician, it was stated, would have him removed to the asylum.

In the case of Percy Johnson, a returned man with a chronic inflammation of the knee who was sentenced to jail for two years after being convicted of stealing some small change from a fellow-inmate at the Military Hospital, the jurors recommended that he be sent to the hospital and that he be given a new trial and that more leniency be shown him.

Cases Postponed.

Although the court was opened yesterday afternoon and lasted for two hours, no cases were tried.

Overy vs. Barnes, Summers and the city of London, and Collins vs. Barnes, Summers and the city of London, the first two cases on the jury list, were postponed until the next assize court because of the short notice given the plaintiff's solicitor to prepare a new line of argument to the new line of defense which the defendants' solicitors declared that they intended to pursue. None of the other cases were sufficiently prepared to proceed, and so the court adjourned until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

No Criminal Case.

"You are fortunate that there are no criminal matters," declared the judge in addressing the grand jury yesterday afternoon. "Your duties, therefore, will be confined to inspecting the jail, the courthouse and such institutions."

He declared that the grand jurors could inspect or not inspect public buildings, just as they saw fit. They were to draw their own conclusions from the inspection made and were to look to the general well-being of the inmates in the various institutions. Among the buildings that might be inspected were St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria Hospital and the House of Refuge. To this last-named institution, which is situated at Strathroy, no railway fare was provided, so that if the jurors wished to go there they would have to do so at their own expense.

Grand jurors, he said, had frequently called attention to the inadequate provision made for insane persons. Some present methods of caring for them were unscientific. Some insane persons were put in the jails with criminals. It was inevitable that some of them should be put in for a short term, but at the first opportunity they should be promptly removed to a place where proper care could be taken of them. If any indication of mismanagement was found in any of the public buildings and it should be reported, it would be brought to the attention of the proper authorities.

GIRLS! MOISTEN A CLOTH AND DRAW IT THROUGH HAIR

It becomes beautifully soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! All dandruff goes and hair stops coming out.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will spend a few cents for a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Save your hair! Keep it looking charming and beautiful. You will say this was the best money you ever spent.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles, if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measures. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which, if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins, which are then absorbed into the blood, causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood, and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply cannot get feeling right, are urged to obtain a quarter-pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

COUNCIL GOING AFTER STREET RAILWAY AGAIN

Old Order Respecting Service and Speed Has Been Passed Again.

WILL WELCOME UNITS

Committee Appointed to Arrange Reception to Soldiers.

What the council did!

Instructed City Clerk S. Baker to serve notice on the London Street Railway Company, forbidding a breach of the bylaw respecting service and speed.

Adopted a petition asking the passage of an act in the Legislature providing for the payment of automobile licenses to the municipalities, and one providing that all fines from the police court be paid to the municipality, excepting where prosecution is instituted by an officer of the Dominion or Provincial Government.

Decided to ask Major Hume Cronyn, M.P., to support the union of municipalities in asking that no legislation be passed which does not adequately protect the municipalities in the free and full use of their public highways.

Authorized the issued of $18,000 worth of ten-year debentures to pay the premiums on the soldiers' insurance.

Passed bylaws for a sidewalk on Oxford street north, from Elliott street to within 131 feet west of Linwood avenue, and for the construction of a sheet asphalt pavement on William street from Queen's to Dufferin avenue.

Authorized the revision of a map of the city at a cost not exceeding $800.

Approved the placing of $1,034.35 in the estimates, this being the balance of the cost of the Beatty footbridge.

Appointed Mayor C. R. Somerville, Aldermen F. E. Harley, L. S. Holmes and G. B. Drake a committee with power, to look into the question of a reception to returning units from overseas.

Instructed the clerk to write the C. P. R. in connection with an overhead bridge at the Quebec street crossing

Action Wanted Quick.

Speaking to the recommendation of the special committee that the clerk be instructed to write the street railway company in reference to service and speed, Ald. O. I. Cunningham stated that what the city wanted was a service as good if not better than was formerly given. "We want it quick," said he. "This is the same old game of laying things over. It is action we want. This council should instruct the special committee to impress upon the city solicitor the fact that speedy action is necessary. If there is any obstruction to a settlement let us know and get over it at once. I appreciate the fact that there may be some things which the committee cannot make public. We have the word of the company that no better service will be given until some relief in the way of increased fares is forthcoming."

He thought that a yearly agreement could be made between the city and the company, and if necessary increased fares could be given. If the city solicitor would get busy the question could be taken before the Legislature this session.

Did Not Delay.

Ald. L. S. Holmes, chairman of the special committee, intimated that, inasmuch as a meeting had been held with the city solicitor within 24 hours after the appointing of the committee and another one is now arranged, no grass had been allowed to grow under the feet of the members. That there was nothing held back, was another statement of Ald. Holmes. He took exception to the implication of lack of action.

Ald. Cunningham explained that he had in no way referred to the committee, but rather to the city solicitor. He had personal knowledge that the solicitor was stalling the question.

Ald. Moorhead thought that the committee was doing everything possible.

Ald. W. A. Wilson "liked the style of Ald. Cunningham" for his plain speaking. Ald. Wilson had been told that the council had been bought "body, soul and boots" by the street railway company, but his informant had promptly placed one step higher than the historical Ananias by the alderman. He advocated that something be done to secure service.

Yearly Agreement.

Ald. John Colbert wanted to know if the council could not draw up a yearly agreement with the company, in order to secure the service which the citizens are demanding and for which they are willing to pay.

The question was finally left, on the understanding that the clerk should demand service on behalf of the city.

Ald. Harley, in reference to the proposed reception to returned soldiers in units, suggested that all members of units who have previously been returned should be invited to attend the reception when the unit to which they belonged returns. He thought that the committee and the military authorities should work together on the question.

Ald. O. G. Keene, in reference to the purchase of vehicle tags, objected to the alleged laxity of the collection of the tax on automobiles last year. "Even some of the policemen did not pay their licenses," he said. He would refuse to pay his this year and make a test case of it.

Ald. Wilson objected to the payment of this tax unless the money was used for the upkeep of the streets. A motion of his to the effect that this disposition be made of the taxes was referred to No. 2 committee.

Streets Are Bad.

On motion of Ald. Moorhead the "disgraceful" condition of Adelaide street, north of Pall Mall street, was called to the attention of No. 2 committee.

On a two-thirds vote of the council it was decided to construct a storm sewer on Front street.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. Lawrason, Beatty, Gunn and Wilcox, representing four manufacturers on Adelaide street south of Hamilton road, asked that a pavement be laid on Adelaide street between Hamilton road and Layard street, this being the only section of the street which is not paved.

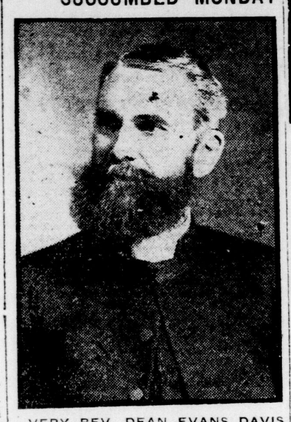

This was referred to No. 2 committee.

LONDON FIRM BUYS EXPENSIVE PIECE OF WINDSOR PROPERTY

VETERAN PREACHER SUCCUMBED MONDAY

VERY REV. DEAN EVANS DAVIS of this city, who died as a result of a stroke Monday afternoon.

AFTER LONG SERVICE DEAN EVANS DAVIS DIES FROM STROKE

Distinguished Figure in the Diocese of Huron Passes.

NATIVE OF IRELAND

But Received Education at School and College in This City.

The passing shortly before 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon, March 17th, of Very Rev. Dean Evans Davis, at his home, 127 Wortley road, has brought sorrow to scores of homes in the city and Diocese of Huron, in which he was known and loved. His death has removed one of the most prominent figures in ecclesiastical circles in Western Ontario for half a century, and one of London's leading citizens for 45 or 46 years.

Dean Davis had been confined to his home more or less since Christmas time, owing to heart trouble, and late on Saturday evening suffered a severe stroke, remaining unconscious until the end. No hope for his recovery was held out from the first, though it was thought he might linger for several days. His two sons who are in Canada, Rev. Llewellyn Davis of Brockville, and Col. Evans Davis of Ottawa, were immediately summoned by wire, the former arriving home on Sunday morning and the latter in the evening.

Survivied By Widow.

Dean Davis is survived by his widow, formerly Louisa Greenwood of St. Catherines; three sons and one daughter, Rev. Llewellyn Davis of Brockville, Ontario; Col. Evans Davis, C. M. G., Ottawa; Gwendolyn at home, and Lieut. Llanarth Davis, who is still on overseas service in England; and three brothers, W. R. Davis of Mitchell, Henry in Wingham and Rev. Canon T. R. Davis of Sarnia.

The funeral service will be conducted at eleven o'clock on Thursday morning, in St. James' Church by the Bishop of Huron; interment to take place at Woodland Cemetery.

The history of St. James' Church, South London, until a little over a year ago was inseparable from the life and career of Dean Davis, the first rector appointed shortly after the parish was formed, and its shepherd for 44 years. When he resigned in the summer of 1917, retiring from active service in the church, owing to ill-health, no other clergymen in the diocese held such a long record for continuous service in one charge. It is doubtful if another man in the church in Canada had held a rectorate for 44 years, seeing his church grow from a small mission to one of the leading parishes in the diocese, and missions established under its wing becoming also independent and influential churches.

Distinguished Figure.

For years he was one of the most distinguished figures in the Synod of the Diocese of Huron, his good judgment and exceptional business ability proving of inestimable value in the administration of its temporal affairs in more recent years. His loyalty and zeal for the welfare of the church were a source of strength to succeeding bishops under whom he served. His broad-mindedness, willingness to cooperate and spirit of Christian brotherliness made his relationships with the clergy of other churches at all times harmonious and happy.

Born in Kilkenny County, Ireland, the son of Rev. William and Mary Ann Davis, he came with his parents to Canada when a small boy, receiving his education here in the old grammar school and in Huron College. His first parish was that of Bayfield, and on March 23rd, 1874, he was appointed rector of St. James, a little square-fronted building, 24 feet by 42 feet.

The establishment of St. George's Church, West London was due largely to his efforts, and four years ago, Manor Park Mission was the realization of his desires for that section of the city. He was created a canon in 1888, an archdeacon in 1894 and dean of the diocese in 1902.

He found time for active work in connection with the Western Ontario branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, of which he was at one time president, and a member of the board until the last. He held the long service medal as chaplain of the 7th Regiment and was at one time prominent in Masonic circles.

FUNERAL OF DEAN DAVIS WILL BE HELD THURSDAY

The funeral of Rev. Dean Evans Davis will be held from his residence, 127 Wortley road on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock to St. James' Anglican Church, South London, where services will be conducted by Bishop David Williams, assisted by the rector, Rev. Leslie Armitage, and Rev. Archdeacon J. B. Richardson. All the Anglican clergy of the diocese will attend the funeral in a body.

Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery. The bishop will conduct the service at the grave.

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Address Your Problems to the Military Editor of The Advertiser and They Will Be Answered From Official Information.

B. R. S., Tecumseh, Q.—1. Is a soldier serving in the Canadian army from May, 1918, until January, 1919, entitled to a Class C War Service Badge?
2. If so, to whom should he apply for same?

A.—1. Yes.

2. To the D. A. A. and Q. M. G., Military District No. 1, Wolseley Barracks, London, Ont. In forwarding application for same, the discharge certificate of soldier should be included, and it will later be returned with the war service badge.

READER. Q.—I served in the Canadian Expeditionary Force from June 10, 1915, until February 4, 1917. I was almost a year in England, but did not proceed to France. I understand that they are paying the same to those who have served in England as those in France. How much war service gratuity am I entitled to receive under the new scale?

A.—You are not entitled to any war service gratuity at all under the new scale, as you did not serve in an "actual theatre of the war," and you were not in the service on November 11, 1918. However, you are entitled to three months' post discharge pay under the old scale. For soldiers serving in England only there is gratuity payable under the new scale, provided that they were in the service on November 11, 1918, but as you were discharged previous to this date, regulations state that you will receive no war service gratuity.

P. L. O. Q.—1. My son was drafted last summer and proceeded overseas in July. He was in England when the armistice was signed, but a week later went to France, and is now in Belgium in the 47th Canadian Battalion. This unit is in the 4th Canadian Division. Will he come from France when the 4th Division comes?
2. When will he be coming, as he is a farmer and is needed at home for spring work?

A.—1. Yes. The 4th Division will proceed to England as a division for return to Canada in the near future, and your son being on the strength of this organization will accompany it to England.

2. The military authorities here have no information as to when the 4th Canadian Division will proceed to England and Canada. However, it will be in the near future, and your son will return with his division.

BUDD, 53795. Q.—1. I understand that there was an order-in-council passed recently that all men who were in France up to December 31, 1915, were entitled to receive the "Star of Mons" decoration. I was in France at that time. Must I fill out a form before receiving this star?
2. If so, to whom should I write for this form?
3. If not when will it be sent to me?

A.—1. According to information received at military headquarters here, the "Star of Mons" is issued only to British soldiers who saw service at the front up to November 22, 1914. To obtain this star, applicants should write to the A. A. G., Military District No. 1, Wolseley Barracks, London, Ont., giving full name, regimental number and particulars of service, and when verified application will be forwarded to the war office, London, England, as this decoration is issued by the imperial authorities. However, for those Canadians who served at the front prior to December 31, 1915, there is the 1914-15 medal, which will be issued in the near future, when the director of records have completed a list of those entitled to same. In the meantime those Canadian soldiers eligible to receive this medal may wear the ribbon for same, provided that they carry upon their person proof that they saw service in France during 1914 or 1915.

2. For the "Star of Mons," if entitled to same, application should be made to the A. A. G., Military District No. 1, Wolseley Barracks, London, Ont.

3. See answer to your first query.

ANXIOUS WIFE. Q.—1. My husband proceeded overseas in October, 1916, and has served 25 months in France with the 14th Battalion. He returned to England on January 20, 1919. Will he be sent back with the 3rd Canadian Division or wait until his battalion returns?
2. Will he be discharged as soon as he arrives in Canada?

A.—1. He will not return with the 3rd Division, as he is a soldier of the 1st Canadian Division. He will not likely wait for his division, but will be returned in the near future with miscellaneous Canadian details who are being sent to Canada continually at the present time.

2. He can obtain his discharge immediately upon return to his military district should he wish same, provided that he is not a hospital case requiring further medical treatment. On the other hand should he so desire he can remain in the service, the matter being optional with him.

A. B. C. D. Q.—1. Where are the men of the 4th Canadian Division?
2. Will they have to remain where they are if in Germany until permanent peace is signed?
3. Are they allowed to write if with the army of occupation?
4. When are they expected home?
5. Do the soldiers who are getting land out west have to go there before coming to Canada for discharge?
6. If a soldier was in the army for three years and was engaged in carpenter work when the armistice was signed, will he have to stay long in France before returning home?

A.—1. Latest information from overseas received at this office is to the effect that this division is in Belgium awaiting orders to proceed to England for demobilization and return to Canada.

2. No. It is announced by the military authorities overseas that this and other Canadian divisions will proceed to England in the near future, when arrangements for transportation, etc., are completed.

3. Yes. Several letters from Canadian soldiers on duty in Germany have been published in The London Advertiser recently, and there were no restrictions placed upon Canadian soldiers' mail while acting as an army of occupation.

4. There is no official information available at military headquarters here as to when this division is to be returned to Canada.

5. It would be necessary for them to come to Canada at least before going West to take up land. However, they are discharged in their respective military districts first, and then arrangements are made for them to take farms under the soldier settlement act.

6. He will accompany his division to England when that unit leaves France, irrespective of his duties when the armistice was signed.

READER. Q.—1. I was a British naval reservist at the outbreak of the war, and was summoned to report to the naval authorities in England on August 22, 1914. I served in the British navy from that date until July 1, 1918, when I was transferred to the Canadian navy serving with it until December 14, 1918. How much war service gratuity am I entitled to receive?
2. Am I entitled to the Canadian or imperial allowance and when will I receive same?

A.—1. Canadian war service gratuity regulations state that "No officer or man of the naval or land forces entitled to receive any gratuity in the nature of post discharge pay from the imperial authorities or his dependents shall receive the gratuity herein provided for unless the gratuity allowed under these regulations exceeds the amount of the gratuity granted by the Imperial Government, in which case the difference will be paid." Under the Canadian scale you being on the strength of the Canadian naval forces on November 11, 1918, would be entitled to receive 183 days' pay at a minimum rate of $100 per month for married men, or minimum rate of $70 per month for a single man. However, since you are entitled to an allowance from the imperial authorities you will receive it first, after which the difference (if any) between it and the Canadian rate will be made up by the Canadian authorities.

2. The imperial allowance will be sent to you in the near future by your former paymaster, upon receipt of which you must apply for Canadian War Service Gratuity, receiving an amount equal to the amount exceeded by the Canadian gratuity according to period of your service.

JEWISH RELIEF FUND CAMPAIGN OPENS HERE IN BEGINNING OF APRIL

While the campaign to raise funds for the relief of destitute Jews in Palestine is taking place all over Canada and the United States this week, it was decided some time ago, owing to the many other events on the tapis, to postpone the local campaign until April 1 and 2. Great interest has already been awakened in the campaign here, owing to the fact that numbers of prominent citizens have been watching with much interest the progress of the movement for the return of the Jews to Palestine.

Decision will be made in regard to the chairmanship of the campaign tomorrow. In the meantime, several teams have volunteered their services. The campaign is being conducted all over the United States and Canada by the "Hadassah," the women's branch of the Zionist movement, which was organized seven years ago at the time of the celebration of the Feast of Purim, which celebrates the deliverance of the Jews from the Persians through the intercession of Esther.

ESCAPED AVIATOR GETS PACKED HOUSES

Judging by the interest awakened in the announcement that Lieut. Beverley Robinson, R. A. F., will lecture on Thursday evening in Wesley Hall on his experiences of two and a half years as a prisoner of war in nine German camps, he will be greeted by a packed house. This will not be a new experience for "the only Canadian-born officer who succeeded in escaping from a German prison camp during the war."

Reports state that he has been listened to by packed houses in Toronto, Montreal, Chicago, Detroit, in every large city in which he has spoken, and that in every case hundreds have been turned away. Press notices state that his story, so vividly told, held an audience which packed Massey Hall, enthralled for two and a half hours recently.

Prof. Stephen Leacock of McGill, "the" Stephen Leacock, writes: "Everyone who heard him (Flight Lieut. Beverley Robinson), in Montreal, is highly enthusiastic. His lecture will do great good at the present time, as he draws attention to the vital factors that must be considered in making peace with the Germans."

The Associated Kin, C. E. F., has secured Lieut. Robinson for London.

DARTING, PIERCING SCIATIC PAINS

Give way before the penetrating effects of Sloan's Liniment

So do those rheumatic twinges and the loin-aches of lumbago, the nerve-inflammation of neuritis, the wry neck, the joint wrench, the ligament sprain, the muscle strain, and the throbbing bruise.

The ease of applying, the quickness of relief, the positive results, the cleanliness, and the economy of Sloan's Liniment make it universally preferred. Made in Canada.

Sloan's Liniment Kills Pain

SUFFERED TWO YEARS WITH PIMPLES

Child Could Not Sleep Till Cuticura Healed.

"My little brother suffered for about two years from tiny red pimples. They appeared constantly on his body but he had the greatest trouble under his ears. The skin was red and very sore and at the least touch he would give a howl of pain. After a few seconds he would have to scratch, and he was not able to sleep.

LONDON AIRMAN IS PNEUMONIA VICTIM AT SHORNCLIFFE CAMP

Particularly sad is the death at Shorncliffe Camp, England, of Flight-Lieutenant Ernest Percival, R. A. F., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Percival, 532 Highbury avenue, who was expected to arrive home at Easter. Pneumonia was the cause of his demise.

Another son, Pte. Wesley Percival, died in the hospital here last November from Spanish influenza, after having been home from overseas for a few weeks. He was a 33rd Battalion soldier.

Mrs. J. E. Dobie, 38 Gerrard street, is a cousin.

GAME OXFORD LAD WITH STRAY BULLET IN LEG CARRIES ON

Elliott Huntley Shot, But Walks Home—Putnam Man Dies.

INGERSOLL, March 17.—Struck by a stray bullet while on his way to attend the school at Centreville, Elliott Huntley, 13-year-old son of A. Huntley, a West Oxford farmer, was seriously wounded in the left leg this morning.

The shooting occurred about 8:30, while the lad was passing through a small swamp not far from the school, and comparatively close to his own home. At first the boy was unable to account for his injured leg, but he pluckily proceeded to his home and a short time later was brought to Ingersoll.

An examination by a local physician resulted in the finding of the bullet, which was fired from a 22-calibre rifle, and it was successfully removed. During the day the fact was established that a small boy of the district had been in the swamp with a rifle, but he knew nothing of the accident until some time after it occurred.

DIES AT PUTNAM.

An extended illness terminated in the death at Putnam of Frank Connor, for many years a resident of this town. He passed away at the home of his son-in-law, Arthur George, with whom he had been staying recently. Deceased was born at Banner. For twenty-three years he was employed by the Grand Trunk Railway as a section foreman, and only last summer was forced through ill health to give up his duties. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Busby, Paris; Mrs. Arthur George, Putnam, and three sons, Charles of Hamilton, Harry of Ingersoll, and Edward of Putnam.

A Smooth, Hairless Skin for Every Woman

(The Modern Beauty.)

With the aid of a plain delatone paste it is an easy matter to rid the skin of unsightly hairy growths. The paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs not wanted, and after 2 or 3 minutes rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. When you go to your druggist for delatone, be sure you get the genuine article.—Advt.

Combing Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advt.

FRENCH AND BRITISH FORCES ARE PUSHED BEYOND BRIDGEHEADS

German Populace Protesting To Weimar Government.

BERLIN, March 17.—British and French forces, according to reports received here, have advanced their outposts from the limits of their present bridgeheads at Cologne and Mainz respectively. The French are reported to have penetrated into the corporate limits of Frankfort.

One report says that the authorities of Remscheid, northeast of Cologne, and Kronenburg, northwest of Remscheid, have forwarded a protest to the German Government at Weimar, and also to the German armistice commission, against the occupancy of the towns by British forces.

The Daily Mail of London on Saturday printed a dispatch from its correspondent with the British army, to the effect that acute unrest prevailed in the whole Westphalian industrial region. The correspondent said that it probably would be necessary to enlarge the British bridgehead in that direction.

Bergland, Ont., March 17—(Special).—"I am glad to have an opportunity to give fair credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills, for the good they did me, and also my family," says Mrs. John S. Larson, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place. "We have been using them as a family remedy for sore back.

"At the time I ordered Dodd's Kidney Pills I did it more for a fancy than from any belief in their curing value.

"But I was all in from an aching back. I caught a bad cold and that settled on my kidneys so bad that I could not sleep, and I could not work.

"When I stooped forward my back was so sore that I had to brace up my body by putting my elbows on my knees and I could hardly rise up again.

"After taking two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills the pain decreased some and my back is fairly good unless I overwork.

"Also one of my young sons had diseased kidneys, so that he had to get up every half hour during the night. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him, and now he can sleep all night.

"I am very grateful to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been curing kidney ills for over twenty-five years. Ask your neighbors about them.

TORONTO-LONDON HYDRO RADIAL GETS THE GO-BY

First To Be Voted On, But Will Be Last To Be Built.

PREFERENCE TO FRONTIER

Commission After Right-of-Way to Niagara — May Start Work in Fall.

TORONTO, March 17.—As a result of the favorable vote on hydro radials, the provincial commission will proceed at once with the first section of the $30,000,000 scheme which has been mapped out. This will be the section from Toronto to Niagara Falls via Hamilton, of which the cost will be approximately $20,000,000. The survey work will be rushed to completion, and while the preliminary work of acquiring right-of-way will require some time, it is quite possible that actual construction will be commenced by next September.

It is pointed out that if it comes to a question of furnishing work for skilled labor, contracts for cars and steel and other supplies can be let quite soon. Hamilton, it is said, will be in a very favorable condition to secure some of these contracts as it has several industries which will be natural competitors for the work.

London Line Side-Tracked.

Toronto, in 1918, gave a favorable vote upon a bylaw providing for a hydro radial from Yonge street in Toronto to London, Ont. It so happens that this line will not be the first built, but as far west as Port Credit the line is the same as that to Niagara Falls, so that Toronto's section goes on no matter what happens; and Toronto's share of the cost will be the same as that in the Toronto-London project, namely $4,240,196 with a margin of 10 per cent for possible higher expenses.

The project voted on in 1916, provided for a line from London to Toronto, 140 miles long and costing $13,734,155, of which Toronto would pay nearly one-third. The Toronto-Niagara line will be more costly, but the city's share will not be increased. When the whole system is complete, there will be a complete $30,000,000 system from Whitby, Port Perry and Uxbridge on the east, to Niagara Falls and Welland in the Niagara Peninsula and to London in Western Ontario, whence a hydro line already runs south to Port Stanley.

"Ready," Says Gaby.

"We are ready to go ahead so far as the machinery for the commencement of the work is concerned," said Hydro Engineer F. A. Gaby today. "We shall employ a lot of men, a very large number of skilled men, as well as a lot of unskilled. As to how soon we shall commence, that, of course, is a matter of policy and rests with Sir Adam Beck."

Mr. Gaby explained that the line will run from the exhibition grounds station to Oakville for the first section. After Oakville the line may run over the Burlington Railway of Hamilton if any sort of decent agreement can be made with that company. "If not, the only resource will be parallel the company's line, but if they show any willingness to meet us at all that will not be necessary."

From Hamilton on to Niagara an entirely new line will be necessary.

Mr. Gaby said that the very quickest construction of the new line from Toronto to Niagara Falls means two years' work.

"Misrepresented," Hanna Declares.

"We have been so misrepresented all round that I must decline to comment on the situation at all," replied President D. B. Hanna of the Canadian National Railways, to an invitation to give his views in regard to the decision of the people of Hamilton to back the hydro radials of the province.

"Will you still go ahead with the construction of the C. N. R. line to Niagara?"

"I have nothing to say at all. We have been misrepresented almost libelously misrepresented, and I will not be interviewed on anything connected with the matter," was his reply.

COMMONS MAY SEE LIVELIEST WEEK SO FAR THIS SESSION

Government Cannot Keep on Drifting Forever.

COUNTRY IN A FERMENT

Another Caucus, Booked For Thursday, May Bring Show-Down on Tariff.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, March 17.—This week promises to be the most momentous of the session so far. In the hope of staving off consideration of the most controversial issues of the day till Borden comes back, the Government has been stalling along on the debate on the address, which is now nearly a month old, and is still putting up man for man with the Opposition.

In the meantime from various parts of the Dominion comes news of serious labor trouble, of dissatisfaction in connection with soldiers' civil re-establishment and of incompetency in overseas administration. Labor has no representation in the Commons, the head of the department being a senator.

The same is true with the department of civil re-establishment and postoffice.

Kemp in Disfavor.

Sir Edward Kemp is overseas, and apparently has not been keeping the department, which is the responsible body, acquainted with affairs. Sir Edward himself is being mercilessly attacked in London dispatches.

All together while the premier and his three colleagues are overseas chasing shadows, things are being allowed to drift in Canada. Unionists are being kept together by promises. There are hints at increased sessional indemnity, at the restoration of the patronage system, at the introduction of a franchise bill which will insure the re-election of everybody, whether the Government keeps its pledges or not.

Shining Up to Westerners.

Scarcely a night passes without a dinner of some kind. Western members are being feted and fed, and kept sweet and agreeable that they may arrive at a frame of mind which would make the demands of their constituents appear unreasonable.

But the thing can't last. On Thursday caucus will thresh out the tariff question, and there is bound to be a show-down sooner or later. Labor troubles cannot much longer be disregarded. Military controversies cannot much longer be shelved. Issues of all kinds must sooner or later be faced. And it will then be seen whether there are elements of permanency from the standpoint of principle in the Union Government.

WORKERS DROPPED GLASS.

KEMP REPORTS TO SIR THOMAS WHITE ON KINMEL RIOTS

Says Delays and Monotony Wore Men's Nerves.

SHIPS NOT FORTHCOMING

Clogging of Flow Has Even Affected Troops in Belgium.

OTTAWA, March 17.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Sir Thomas White read a cablegram from Sir Edward Kemp in regard to the riots at Kinmel Camp. In part it reads as follows:

"Answering your inquiry further information Kinmel Park disturbance, my cable March 7 should be read in conjunction with this, covers the ground pending thorough inquiry which is being carried on. Difficulties have been encountered, but discipline amongst Canadians has been considered at least equal to that of best imperial troops. Unrest in Canadian camps is accounted for by fact that the men have been away from their homes in Canada for periods ranging up to four years, or more, have suffered great privations, and are thoroughly homesick, a fact which is fully appreciated. It will be easily understood that men who have endured such hardships and monotony would, when they reached Kinmel Park, the last stage in England before embarkation, if held owing to shipping difficulties, become impatient. Everything possible is done to interest the soldiers while they are waiting to be repatriated. Information on this point will follow.

A Severe Winter.

"Armistice came at beginning of one of the most severe winters England has experienced. Weather has been continually cold and wet, with absolute lack of sunshine. Had we been fortunate enough to have been able to proceed with demobilization under more favorable weather conditions, there would have been less cause for complaints.

"There has been general shortage of fuel, which has added discomfort. Men have lived in camps for most part in huts, which is only accommodation. Labor troubles and general unrest in British Isles and on continent have had some effect on men.

"In my cable to you February 25, I pointed out that we were short 9,000 in our shipment of troops to Canada for first fifteen days of February. This was caused by ministry shipping board not being able to deliver ships, which had been specifically promised for certain dates. In some cases ships were offered which were, on examination, refused by us because they were not suitable for carrying troops. In other cases, sailings of ships have been postponed four, five and six times, and such postponements or cancellations of sailings causing vast amount of extra work in re-forming of sailing parties and reopening of documents and correction of nominal rolls, etc.

Backed Up in Belgium.

"Delays and cancellations also lead to rearrangement of flow of troops as far back as Belgium. Difficulties arose in connection with maintaining permanent cadres owing to specially trained or technical personnel desiring to be returned to Canada in their order of priority and their replacement by efficient personnel causes great difficulty. Too much cannot be said on behalf of men engaged in this work as well as staffs in general, including clerks of all descriptions, who, though anxious to get home, and in many cases as much entitled as any one to return, are loyally and patriotically supporting me in endeavor to get troops back.

"Notwithstanding all difficulties with which we are faced, we will have succeeded by the end of this month in moving from France to England 85,000 soldiers and from England to Canada not less than 100,000, which is considered here at any rate a remarkable achievement considering all circumstances."

Sir Thomas White read a further cable from Sir Edward Kemp stating that not the slightest attempt was made in the riots to raid the girls' quarters at Kinmel Camp, and that the girls were treated with the utmost chivalry.

IF STRENGTH DECLINES AS AGE ADVANCES, FOLLOW THIS SUGGESTION

So many women grow old before their time, perhaps your wife or sister. A little while ago, buoyant, full of vigor and activity—she enjoyed life and imparted pleasure to the whole family; but now in a few short years she has faded and lost color and strength. She is just ready to develop some disease that will further weaken and debilitate. You remember how it began, failure of appetite, tired in the morning, found housework burdensome, always nervous and a little irritable. It's a shame to let her go down hill further when you can build her up so quickly with Ferrozone. The change this nourishing tonic makes in a weak woman is surprising. It gives great zest for food, increases appetite and digestion enormously. The blood gets richer and stronger and adds new life to every organ in the body. A rebuilding process works through the entire system. The first week will show an improvement, and a month or two will fatten up the thinnest, most run-down woman you can think of. Take Ferrozone for lost color, for nervousness, for weakness—use it when run-down and feeling poorly—it will do you more lasting good, keep you in better health, than anything else. Just as good for men and children, too, because Ferrozone is harmless and safe, 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

M'GARRY GETS HOT WHEN A GRANT FOR HEROES IS MOOTED

Little Tiff in Legislature When Housing Bill Is Reintroduced.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, March 17.—Before the housing bill was finally given its third reading in the Legislature today a short but sharp fight occurred between the Government and the Opposition. After the debate on the measure last week the bill stood for third reading, but today the prime minister moved that it be considered in committee again to permit of several unimportant verbal amendments being made. The changes were agreed to without opposition. The Liberals, however, availed themselves of the opportunity of the bill being sent back to the committee to propose that some special provision be made for returned soldiers.

Tolmie Springs Amendment.

The Opposition leader, Wm. Proudfoot, first urged the matter, and the proposal was placed in concrete form by Major J. C. Tolmie of Windsor, who introduced an amendment to provide for the payment of a grant of $200 to "a returned soldier or the father or mother of a returned soldier." The amendment was discussed for a few moments, and then ruled out by Chairman A. E. Donovan of Brockville, who declared that an amendment affecting the revenue of the province could not be introduced by a private member.

The Government contended that the proposal of Major Tolmie was impracticable. Hon. T. W. McGarry depreciated the suggestion in view of statements of Opposition speakers last week that there was really a deficit of a million and a half in the budget.

Would Break Treasury.

"There were 200,000 soldiers sent overseas from Ontario," he said, "and if 150,000 of them desired bonuses and they were each given a grant of $200, it would necessitate an outlay of $30,000,000; even if only 25,000 soldiers built houses, the grants would total $5,000,000.

"I take no back place to any man regarding the returned soldier," declared Mr. McGarry, "but this is not the time and the place when we have a housing bill before us to consider what money grant we shall give to the soldier. If honorable gentlemen opposite will stop injuring the fair name of the province the finances of Ontario may at some future time be in a position to permit a reasonable grant to the returned soldier."

His Honor Lieut.-Governor Sir John Hendrie will assent to the bill tomorrow. The municipalities will then be able to go ahead and operate under the provisions of the act.

Ellis Gets Both Jobs.

Mr. Proudfoot moved a six months' hoist to the third reading of the bill amending the bureau of municipal affairs act, when the measure came before the House. He declared himself in opposition to the appointment of J. A. Ellis of the Ontario Railway Board, on the ground that it was undesirable for a man to hold such dual offices and receive dual salaries.

Hon. I. B. Lucas, in reply, stated that it was extremely desirable to coordinate the work of the municipal bureau with that of the railway board, and that by the appointment of Mr. Ellis the Government was effecting an economy by avoiding the need of another high-salaried official. Mr. Ellis receives $4,000 per annum as a member of the railway board, and would be paid $2,000 additional for his duties on the bureau.

Mr. Proudfoot's amendment was defeated, and the bill received its third reading.

JOHN SEATH DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS

TORONTO, March 17.—John Seath, superintendent of education for Ontario, died tonight, after a long illness.

Dr. Seath took a serious turn ten days ago.

Dr. Seath had been well-known as an educationist since he came to Canada in 1861 with honorary degrees from Glasgow University and Queen's College, Belfast. He was head master of Brampton, Oshawa, Dundas and St. Catharines high schools. In 1884 he became inspector of high schools and collegiate institutes, a position which he held until he became superintendent of education. He was made a member of the Ontario education advisory council in 1906, and was sent abroad to Germany, France and other countries in 1909 as a member of the commission which reported upon technical education. He was in his 76th year.

BRANDS STATEMENTS OF GENERAL SMART AS UNDEPENDABLE

OTTAWA, March 17.—Hon. Charles Murphy inquired in the Commons as to whether the charges regarding Canadian medical services made by Brig.-Gen. Smart in the Quebec Legislature had been brought to the attention of the Government, and when an announcement might be expected in connection with the Government's action.

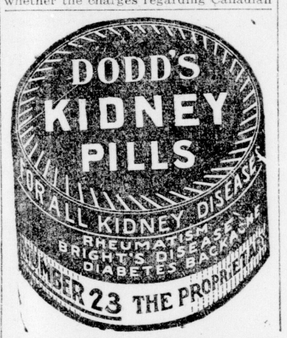

Sir Thomas White said he had seen the report. Gen. Smart's charges referred to conditions in England in 1916, when Col. Bruce was there, and when a commission of inquiry had been appointed by Sir George Perley. The matter had been discussed on many occasions, and from time to time statements had been made by the Smart in the Quebec Legislature had been brought to the attention of the Government, and when an announcement might be expected in connection with the Government's action.

Are You a Bolshevik?

Bolshevism is based upon violence, relies upon force, is deaf to right or reason.

To force the bowels to move by taking castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., is to outrage Nature and "bolshevik" the body. Because drugs act by producing irritation.

Castor oil, for instance, is so obnoxious that the bowels make frantic effort to get rid of it. Other medicines, from senna to salts, provoke action by causing the bowels to try desperately to expel them first.

With such remedies therefore the removal of bowel waste is secondary and wholly incidental. Hence, the result is not to cure constipation, but on the contrary, to make it worse, more obstinate, harder to overcome.

On the other hand, Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug, acts mechanically, not medicinally; persuades Nature instead of forcing her.

Nujol supplies necessary moisture to soften intestinal contents and facilitate easy, thorough evacuation at regular intervals. Nujol makes easier and more effective the action of intestinal muscles. Nujol absorbs poisonous material.

Nujol is free from any deleterious after effects, forms no bad habits, can be used at any age, under any conditions, and overcomes constipation because it works hand in hand with Nature—with her laws, not against them.

Self-poisoning due to constipation causes over 90% of human illness. Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today, and send coupon for free booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger."

plying to Uncle Samuel, Who Likes Us Very Much

What is this marvellous Canada, our next door ighbor and good friend, that it can come into our rkets, war times or peace times, and buy from as no other nation, population unit for population it, begins to do? Where is there another to be zed by us as we should prize this staunch ally, ulent customer and near kin?—From the New rk Sun.

Thank you, Mr. Toastmaster, those are kind s, glowing words, and they are the words one should use with all good customers and friends. We thank you for them. They us feel big, and, thank you once more, we be glad to smoke your banquet cigars and your grape juice. We are glad that we are d customer, and when you come over into our try you will find that our hotel registers bear names of many of your emissaries of trade. only do we go into your markets and buy, ou send men over to sell us many articles. are good traders, and good spenders.

But, sir, we wish we could say that on the registers of the United States appeared the s of our business men who went into your try to sell as well as to buy. We are not , but neither was Switzerland when it con- d the watch-making of the world. There ome things we have (if you have not already hold of them) which we could develop and ourselves. We hope to invent some things lves and to show the same aggressive spirit tting after your business as you have shown tting after ours. This is not a threat, but a ise, for we believe if we showed the enter- in your country that you show in ntry you would run up quite a of goods with us. Some of these we hope to see some of our drummers pack- their grips and selling you a few things with Maple Leaf on them. We know your fine dship is worth cultivating, that you want to from us, as well as sell to us. You have ened us to our buying power and we hope to ur selling power coupled up before long.

op, Look and Listen Before Selling Your Bonds

st of the Victory Bonds being sold at the time are from the smaller holders. Mil- dollars' worth have changed hands in a day, and a good many "human interest" must lie behind the movement. In the first igh prices do not make these bonds less ve to the man of wealth. Every hundred- ond he secures is so much taken from his income. In the case of a man with an of $100,000, who would pay the Govern- 25,000 if he held only cash or taxable re- another kind, one can estimate how premium may be paid on Victory Bonds rge investor before he is losing money. with an income of $100,000 annually has actually of more than 30 per cent. for if ot invest in Victory Bonds he will be the extent of 25 per cent of his income, dition, each Victory Bond pays at least ent. Victory Bonds, therefore, become a ranging alongside C. P. R. for making y, on the theory that a dollar saved is a r earned.

nd to follow the results farther, each Vic- Bond that leaves the hands of a small holder be taken as representing so much taxation the Government. If one thousand persons, making a small salary, sold a $100 Victory the total would not represent much in the f taxes lost to the country because the 00 in the hands of the small holders does present a yearly income being protected in me degree against taxation as the large in- but when it is collected it does represent a rotection to the large income.

m of large means are buying, and will con- o buy, Victory Bonds in large amounts. ices will continue to advance, and sooner the bulk of small holdings will pass into of the wealthy.

is one way the country is going to rough the non-taxable feature of the Vic- ns. Higher values will not affect the f the small holder to an appreciable de- ut there is another feature of the trade ory Bonds which will require careful ing.

Despite "blue sky" legislation, and every aution known to governments, the country be flooded with "get rich quick" schemes so as there is a Victory Bond left in the country. lists of Victory Bond holders constitute the ker lists" of many gentlemen of the ilk of Wallingford. The United States is pestered these robbers, and millions upon millions of rty Bonds have been taken from the hands he American people and turned over to the mers with their soft, syrupy arguments for per cent profit.

The Advertiser for some time has been print- the current prices for Victory Bonds. Before time this newspaper heard of a number of where bonds were sold $7 or $8 below their to unscrupulous purchasers. It will be good ss for holders of bonds to watch these at regular intervals, and to realize that securities, backed by the resources of the re about the safest and most profitable nts to be secured.

in any event, when a buyer wants your r when a promoter has an alluring go to some of the many financial con- cerns in the city, which may be trusted to advise you as to the proffered investments. The last thing a bank manager wants to see fostered is the wildcat scheme which drains a community of its hard-earned money. It is not always "easy come, easy go." Most of the lost money has been sweated for. The banker at least will see that you get the best price for your bond.

It may be noted by the way that Toronto is the most ardent purchaser of Victory Bonds. There's a reason.

Will Toronto Wipe Stain From Sporting Scutcheon?

The high standards of Canadian athletics have been referred to before this in these columns as having had a bearing on the showing made by Canada in the great war. Canada played the war game as it plays its national games, not too gently, with every fair advantage used, with no apologies asked or given for hard knocks and broken heads, yet with a sporting code that stands for fairness to an opponent and an absence of treacherous practice.

Nevertheless it is known that on occasions trickery and worse have been resorted to by the sneaking element that follows in the train of every decent sport. Teams have been doped, players have been spirited away and deadly attacks have been made to injure star performers. The occasions have been so rare, or at least discovery has been so infrequent, that most of our amateur players have been regarded as having been defeated or placed at the top because of merit and skill.

The exposure made by the Toronto Mail and Empire's sporting editor of a dastardly effort to defeat the Woodstock hockey team in its game with the university team Saturday reveals one of the most foul chapters in the history of the O. H. A. It is charged and supported with evidence that not only were the skates of the visiting team tampered with in their Toronto dressingroom, but that their uniforms were smeared with "cow itch," a chemical substance that causes a most painful irritation of the skin, and is certain to make it impossible for a team to carry on in a game. Luckily, the crooks who perpetrated the outrages did not succeed in carrying out the "cow itch" part of their plot, but in the course of the game the skates of one or more Woodstock players gave way, and to some extent the team must have been dis-spirited by the effort. It was a hunnish peace of work.

Toronto won the game, and no doubt some cheap gamblers were jubilant over the sinister business. But outside opinion will regard it as a poor kind of victory, even though the Toronto players knew nothing of the matter. The game should be played again and on neutral ice, with guards maintained on doors so that players may be sure that they are not again subject to attack. Or failing that, when they visit Toronto again, they should carry gas masks, machine guns, and a large supply of acids or poisons most approved by the "sports" who sought the downfall of the visitors. They should have their equipment tested by summoning some notable like "Tommy" Church to wear each sweater, bandage and "shorts" before it is donned by a player. And a good blacksmith with a forge, and most advisedly a sledge hammer, should be on hand to mend skates and to perform other useful services.

Seriously, it is to be hoped that the Toronto team will show the right kind of sportsmanship, and if it is not possible to replay the game on neutral ice, lend its aid in ferreting out the guilty parties. It should not be difficult, for dressing-rooms are not visited or broken into without some responsible official having suspicion of the guilty parties.

This will be necessary from the Toronto standpoint. It will be regrettable if references are made to "typical Hogtown sports" because of a failure to make every possible effort to find the culprits. Certainly one does not care to believe that anyone officially connected with the victory would have guilty knowledge of the matter and remain silent.

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A RECLUSE AND QUEER.
By S. B. HACKLEY.

"How would it do to invite Nathe Craft over to see Miss Alberta, Mamie?" Jim Leverance, in the saddle, looked inquiringly at his wife, who had just left her newly arrived guest.

"Mercy, Jim! Bert would marry him right out of hand! Dora's entertaining her at 12 o'clock lunch tomorrow, and she doesn't want him to drop in and meet Bert and the other girls she's invited. Can't you get him off to town tomorrow afternoon on some pretext?"

"I guess I can get him to drive in and get that piece of freight we ordered together; but, say Mamie, don't you think you girls are exceeding your rights?"

"Oh, hush, Jimmy boy!" Mamie cried lightly. "We are safeguarding little Nathe's interests!"

Jim's snort was not complimentary to their sense of justice. They, his wife and all his wife's people—since Dora, the youngest Hunter girl, had married Burrell Craft, the younger of the two bachelor brothers, who, together, owned a thousand acres of the richest land in the Blue Grass, and raised blooded horses and cattle for the market—seemed obsessed with the fear of Nathan's marrying.

When the Hunters, newcomers, discovered the two bashful bachelors, pretty Dora had annexed Burrell skillfully. There had been no other daughter for Nathan, and after the advent of Dora's little boy, the family, seeing a possibility of the child's being some time heir to his uncle's share of the farm, had determined nobody else's daughter should "capture" Nathan.

When Burrell married, Nathan very sensibly took his cases of insects and moved into a big comfortable log house on the back of the farm, and gave the big red brick home up to his new sister-in-law—a most pleasing arrangement to the Hunter family. Nathan, living alone in his own house, a bit isolated, could be kept from meeting their unmarried women guests.

"Mamie's a dear, and Dora's good to Burrell," Leverance mused as he rode off.

"I call it rotten they don't want to see old Nathe, the most affectionate fellow in the world, happy with a woman, too! They have even filled Burr's head with the advisability of keeping Nathe single. That—that's getting within a man's rights! Well, I've promised to send him off ten miles tomorrow, but darn it, I feel mean!"

The next day, Nathan Craft, at the station, stepped into the danger zone. Jim wished him to enter. An erect elderly lady with very white hair and very black eyes spoke to him. Did he know of a small cottage in the country and somewhat isolated from the road she could rent until September? Her daughter, Miss Hagar McNaught, a teacher, had been ill, and was ordered to the country.

When she introduced the daughter, a graceful girl with particularly beautiful black eyes, Nathan felt that fate could hold nothing better in store for him than to allow him to take this winsome creature in his arms and carry her through life.

Yes, he knew of such a place, a small stone cottage on the river cliff. Nobody was living in it, but it was in good repair. This house (which fact he did not mention) was on the five miles distant cliff on which he spent every Sunday afternoon in summer, with his butterfly net. A man had committed suicide there some years before, but Nathan withheld this fact also. If they knew nothing of the unhappy story the cliff would be an ideal resting place.

Three days after, on Sunday afternoon, Nathan took his butterfly net and set out for Read's cliff. Under the seat of his runabout he slipped, while Shadrach, his negro cook, was not looking, a peck basket of yellow-meated, pink-cheeked peaches. At the foot of the cliff Nathan secured his horse, and with a strangely beating heart, climbed the rugged path.

Back of the cluster of cedars that stood between the path and the cottage he paused uncertainly. Then he heard voices.

"O mother, isn't it beautiful here. That nice man that sent us here—don't you love him, mother dear?"

This came clear through the cedars. Nathan's foot struck a stone noisily. He could only go on.

"Good afternoon!" he stammered. "I was passing by and I remembered there was no fruit here—I have brought you a few peaches!"

And the cliff was covered with ripening blackberries!

They greeted him with gentle friendliness and after a while walked with him down the river path where the butterflies hung over the fire pinks.

With his hobby before him Nathan forgot his shyness. His clear, brown eyes grew brilliant in his enthusiastic explanations, and Hagar—Hagar wondered if the supper they had prepared was good enough to ask him to sit down to. She wanted him to stay.

It was not until sunset that he took reluctant leave.

"Once in a while," he prevaricated, "I get over here in the middle of the week, as well as of Sunday, with my butterfly nets, and I'd be glad to bring you pears, apples, etc., any time I happen to come."

Miss Gardiner stayed a month with Mamie Leverance, but not once did she see Nathan Craft, whom, whenever mentioned, Mamie contrived to speak of as a "recluse, and too queer to talk about, Bert!"

After Roberta, who was of the "marrying sort," left Mamie breathed freely again until Jim's cousins, Mina Pleen and Harriet Cable, came for another month. Politeness required that they be entertained at Dora Craft's at dinners and tennis parties, and when a function was on, Burrell (somewhat protestingly) took the baby over to see Nathan at his cottage (a visitation that Nathan loved), thus forestalling any possible disastrous meetings of husband seekers.

But despite Burrell's aid both Dora and Mamie trembled until the girls left, lest they should "discover" the "recluse." When Burrell's auto took his visitors to the train the sisters openly rejoiced.

"No more girl visitors for me before next summer." This from Mamie.

"Keeping them off Nathe's trail is enough to give anyone a brain storm!" declared Dora. "I told them everything under the sun, both truth and fiction, I all but told them he was odd to insanity, but you never can trust women to believe you on that subject."

"But I must say, Dora," her sister interposed, "Nathe has kept himself in the background more beautifully than I ever knew him. He rode by our house occasionally, but he never so much as looked toward the girls. And I never saw him look so well as he does this summer—he's gotten positively good looking, Dora," she ended regretfully.

"He gets crazily happy every summer over his insects, the boob!" Dora laughed. "Shadrach says he goes off identical. The needs of both should be considered in relation to the welfare of the nation as a whole, and instead of fighting each other the manufacturers' association and the grain growers' organizations should seek to arrive at a basis for a working agreement to live and let live.

WHAT REALLY MATTERED.

[Montreal Journal of Commerce.]

He was a very small boy. Paddy was his dog, and Paddy was nearer to his heart than anything on earth. When Paddy met swift and hideous death on the turnpike road, the boy's mother trembled to break the news. But it had to be, and when he came home from school she told him simply: "Paddy has been run over and killed."

He took it very quietly. All day it was the same. But five minutes after he had gone to bed there echoed through the house a shrill and sudden lamentation. His mother rushed upstairs with solicitude and pity.

"Nurse says," he sobbed, "that Paddy has been run over and killed."

"But, dear, I told you that at dinner, and you didn't seem to be troubled at all."

"No; but—but I didn't know you said Paddy. I—I thought you said Daddy!"

A DIVORCE COURT.

[Brandon Sun.]

Those who oppose divorce courts argue against the lowering of the gates to cheaper and easier marital dissolution, on the ground that if divorce were handed over to the courts a vast crop of frivolous and collusive suits would spring up.

There is a good deal of misrepresentation going on over this matter. It is not with a view to making divorce easier that the advocates of a change propose to take divorce procedure away from parliament and put it in the law courts. It is because divorce is not properly a matter for legislators and politicians, but for trained jurists to deal with.

There is no general desire to make divorce easier by adding to the grounds for divorce in Canada. The present statutory reason is to remain as at present. What is demanded, however, is that divorce is not to be a privilege alone for the rich, but should be the right of the poor as well, so that the husband or wife whose domestic happiness has been wrecked by conjugal unfaithfulness shall not be barred from securing the dissolution of an unfortunate marriage because of the prohibitive price of securing a bill of divorce from the Canadian Senate.

HER SCORNING.

Ah me, the thought of her is sweet,
Full tender sweet the thought of her—
But only glances idly given
Are all that I have got from her!

And, faith, the scorn of her is fine,
So queenly is the scorn of her—
I needs must love the while my heart
With bitterness is torn for her!

And so I keep the thought of her,
Despite the open scorn of her—
And fill my empty life with all
The wondrous beauty born of her!

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHES

Every muscle in the body needs a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does. The muscles of the back are under a heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and rebel. The result is a sensation of pain in these muscles.

Many people are frightened into believing that backaches are due to kidney trouble, but the best medical authorities agree that backache is very seldom due to kidney trouble. In fact, not more than one backache in a hundred has anything to do with the kidneys. The whole trouble is due to thin or impure blood, and those who are troubled with pains in the back or loins, either frequent or occasional should look to the condition of the blood. It will be found in most cases that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood and feeding the starved nerves and muscles will banish the pains and make you feel better in every other way. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for your blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you really suspect your kidneys any doctor can make tests in ten minutes, that will set your fears at rest, or tell you the worst.

All dealers in medicine sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Nuxated Iron Helps to Spread Health and Strength to 3,000,000 People Annually—Get Your Share!

When you think of the successful men and women you know—people who are doing things worth while—you will find that they possess force, vim and energy—the kind that simply brim over when the blood is filled with iron.

Iron is red blood food—it helps put strength and energy into the veins of men and roses into the cheeks of women.

A prominent New York Surgeon and former Adjunct Professor of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, Dr. Kenneth K. MacAlpine, says: "If people would only realize that iron is just as indispensable to the blood as is the air to the lungs and be just as particular about keeping up a sufficient supply at all times there would, in my opinion, be far less disease resulting from anaemic, weakened conditions. In my opinion, Nuxated Iron is the most valuable tonic, strength and blood builder any physician can prescribe.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which has been prescribed and recommended by physicians and which is used by over three million people annually is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser, or they will refund your money. Sold in this city by Cairncross & Lawrence, Taylor Drug Company, Standard Drug Company, Limited.

Mothers!

An Appeal For Your Children

Look back at your childhood days.
Remember the physic that mother insisted on—castor oil, salts or cathartics.
How you hated them. How you fought them. How you dreaded their after-effects.
That was all wrong, but then nobody knew better.

With our children it's different.
The day of harsh physics is over.
We don't force the bowels now; we coax them.
We have no dreaded after-effects.
And the dose is a candy tablet.

Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't know what they do.
The children's revolt is well-founded.
Their tender bowels are harmed by them.
The modern way is to give a gentle laxative more frequently. To keep the bowels always active.
The best method is Cascarets.

Cascarets are candy tablets.
Children love their pleasant taste.
They cost only 10 cents a box, with full directions for children's dosage at all ages. Babies too!
Give Cascarets, then don't worry—they never disappoint.

HEN TO PLANT GARDEN

Canada Food Board Gives Information For the Various Months of Year.

March

Plan the garden campaign!
Purchase the seeds.

March, April.

If you have one, prepare the hotbed or cold frame for use. Fresh stable manure will be necessary for the hotbed. It should be turned several times before it is put into the hotbed.

Force rhubarb and raise early lettuce and radish.

By the middle of April the soil will be ready to work.

Rake over the garden and sow the hardier vegetable seeds, such as carrots, beets, peas, parsnips, radish, onions, white turnips, spinach and Swiss chard.

April, May.

The regular work of cultivating the garden will commence this month. It should be kept neat and free from weeds.

Plant potatoes and sow the remainder of the vegetable seeds, including string beans and sweet corn.

Sow flower seeds early in May.

June.

Continue to keep the garden well cultivated and free from weeds. Watch out for insects and spray the potatoes as soon as they are a few inches above the ground.

Set out the tomato, pepper and egg plants about the first week of June, and sow seed of all the tender vegetables, such as citron, cucumber, pumpkin, melon, etc.

June, July.

Make second sowings, for succession crops, of such vegetables as beets, peas, radish and corn.

Set out plants of late cabbage.

Sow turnip seed.

July, August.

The canning season commences in July.

Young beets and carrots may be canned with success and are of a better flavor than the fully matured roots.

Can the extra sweet corn.

September, October.

Many of the vegetables will have to be stored during these two months. The garden also may be manured as soon as the crops are harvested, and plowed for the following spring.

What Seeds to Sow and How.

Beans—Sow the seed two inches deep in rows 18 inches apart. Varieties recommended: Stringless Green Pod, Early Red Valentine, Round Pod Kidney Wax, Wardwell's Kidney Wax.

Beets—Sow seed about one inch deep in rows fifteen inches apart. Varieties recommended: Detroit Dark Red, Early Model and Crosby Egyptian.

Cabbage—Set plants eighteen inches apart in the row, with rows two feet apart. Varieties recommended: Early Jersey Wakefield and Copenhagen Market (early), Succession ((medium), Danish Ballhead and Drumhead Savoy (late), and Red Dutch (red).

Cauliflower—Set plants eighteen inches apart in the row, with rows two feet apart. Varieties recommended: Early Snowball and Early Dwarf Erfurt.

Carrots—Sow seed about half inch deep in rows about fifteen inches apart. Varieties recommended: Chantenay, Danvers Half Long and Early Scarlet Horn.

Celery—The seed should be sown early in the house and the plants pricked out in late May at about five inches apart, with the rows two feet apart. Varieties recommended: Golden Self Blanching (Paris Golden Yellow) early; Winter Queen, Evans Triumph and Perfection Heartwell, late.

Corn—Sow seed about two inches deep in hills two feet apart, with rows three feet apart. Varieties recommended: Early Malcolm, Golden Bantam and Country Gentleman.

Cucumber—Sow seed about two inches deep in hills eighteen inches apart, with rows four feet apart. Varieties recommended: White Spine and Chicago Pickling.

Lettuce—Sow seed about quarter inch deep in rows fifteen inches apart. Varieties recommended: Grand Rapids, Black-seeded Simpson, Crisp as Ice.

Melons—Sow seed about two inches deep in hills twelve inches apart, with rows six feet apart. Varieties recommended: Long Island Beauty, Hackensack, Montreal Market and Emerald Gem.

Onion—Sow seed about half inch deep in rows about fifteen inches apart. Varieties recommended: Yellow Globe Danvers, Early Red Wethersfield, Prize Taker.

Parsnip—Sow seed about one inch deep in rows eighteen inches apart. Varieties recommended: Hollow Crown and Intermediate.

Peas—Sow seed about two inches deep in rows eighteen inches apart. Varieties recommended: Gradus, American Wonder, Gregory Surprise, McLean Advancer and many others.

Potatoes—Plant sets three inches deep, about twelve inches apart in the row, with two and half feet between the rows. Varieties recommended: Irish Cobbler (early) and Green Mountain (late).

Radish—Sow seed about half inch deep in rows twelve inches apart. Varieties recommended: Scarlet White Tipped Turnip and White Icicle.

Spinach—Sow seed about half inch deep in rows fifteen inches apart. Varieties recommended: Victoria, Thick-leaved.

Western Ontario Women's Activities

BOTANY'S WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Cameron, with a good attendance. A report of the convention held in Toronto on February 4, 5, and 6, was read by Miss Ethel Atkinson. The commissioners for the Victory Loan campaign, Glen Mowbray and Daniel Winter, donated a check of $99 to be used for Red Cross purposes.

McGILLIVRAY SOLDIERS' COMFORT SOCIETY.

The final packing of field comforts by the McGillivray Soldiers' Comforts Society was held at the home of the secretary, concession 7, McGillivray, when 110 pairs socks and 5 flannel shirts were consigned to the Red Cross Rooms, London, Ont. The meeting was in the form of a social afternoon, and a dainty lunch was served by the president, Miss Mary Prest.

ADELAIDE FORMS U. F. W. O. CLUB

A very successful meeting was held at the home of Harold Currie, Adelaide, when Mr. Currie very ably addressed the ladies on the work of the U. F. W. O., after which a club was organized, and the election of officers took place as follows: Mrs. I. Downer, president; Mrs. A. E. Campbell, vice-president, and Mrs. B. Jones, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Hall on Thursday, March 20, at 2:30.

PARDOVILLE PATRIOTIC LEAGUE.

The Pardoville Patriotic League sent to the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium a box of soldiers' comforts, consisting of 22 shirts, 29 pairs of stockings, and some magazines. The league has about $100 on hand at the present time to spend for patriotic purposes.

EMBRO.

The women's missionary tea, which was held in the basement of the Congregational Church was well attended. Tea was served from several small tables, prettily decorated with flowers. A musical program was rendered, including vocal numbers by Misses Minnie and Ada Vanmatter, and Victrola selections. The proceeds, amounting to $23.60, will be used in aid of missions.

THE BEAUTY OF TREES

Down every stretch of street one looks, in London, there are trees. It has been beautifully named, because of this wealth of possession—the Forest City. Even now, the grey network of twigs, intricate and lovely, are restful to look upon, and it is when shorn of their leaves that the true characters of the different trees are learned. Those lovely lines of Whittler's come to mind, when one looks thoughtfully, wistfully, where trees interlace against the sky.

"Drop they still dews of quietness
Till all our strivings cease
Take from our souls the strain and stress
And let our ordered lives confess
The beauty of thy peace."

That's what trees love, isn't it, the beauty of peace born of patient, ordered lives? It is that about them that rests us so. Tired, discouraged, our outlook on life all gloom, tempted, sad, lonely, happy, optimistic or joyous, the ministry of the trees is the gospel of helpfulness, that meets all and varied needs as a healing to the nations.

Sometime at sunset, look down west on Dundas. Then again look up Wellington from Dundas toward the park, walk along Ridout toward Blackfriars Bridge and look across the river or along the breakwater and study the loveliness of the willows on the flats along the opposite bank. Over in South London stroll down to the Cove or along Ridout street to the city. And down Queen's avenue look far away through the reach of trees. And beside all these is the loveliness of Victoria Park, which has been likened to the public gardens of Amsterdam, Holland.

Soon there will the spring time awakening and "The old-time wonder how God does it all" in our souls. Then, of all times it is worth while making it a beautiful habit, to study the loveliness, the restfulness and inspiration of trees.

"The little birds sang east
And the little birds sang west.
And we smile to think God's greatness
Flows around our incompleteness
Round our restlessness, His rest."

—AMY CAMPBELL.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Readers Are Invited To Phone All News of This Kind to the Society Editor, Phone 3670.

A number of friends surprised Miss Burns at the home of her niece, Mrs. O'Meara, 377 Wellington street, with a beautiful shower of roses on the occasion of her birthday, Monday evening, March 17.

Miss Marion Hart, 367 King street, entertained about thirty of her little friends at a dance and supper party on Monday in honor of St. Patrick. St. Patrick decorations were carried out in shamrocks and spring flowers. A very merry time was spent by the young people, all voting Miss Hart a charming hostess.

The "At Home" of the employees of Smallman & Ingram, Limited, held at the store on Monday evening, proved a delightful and successful social affair. All the decorations were carried out in green, with palms and flowers artistically arranged. Prior to the dance a banquet was held, the directors and employees spending a very sociable time together. Many smart frocks were seen, though the affair was informal.

The Senator Coffey Chapter, I. O. D. E., entertained at euchre and a dance in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Monday evening, celebrating St. Patricia's day. The hall was brilliant with little green lights and shamrocks, palms and flowers. A delightful supper was served by the ladies of the chapter, and an enjoyable evening spent by over a hundred people. The proceeds will be devoted entirely to the work of the chapter.

The I. O. D. E. rooms in the Royal Bank building were resplendent with palms, shamrocks and flowers in profusion yesterday afternoon when the 7th Regiment Chapter entertained at a Shamrock Tea.

From a table covered with a clunny lace cloth and centred with a handsome silver basket of green-tinted carnations and soft green shade silver candlesticks, Mrs. A. A. Campbell, Mrs. W. G. Coles and Mrs. Thomas Coffey poured tea. A pleasant social hour was spent chatting over the teacups, the funds in the treasury mounting up thereby.

Mrs. A. E. Jerdon, who has made her home in London for the past thirteen or fourteen years, is returning to live in England, leaving here on Wednesday for St. John, N. B., where she will sail on the SS. Minnedosa on Saturday.

Yesterday afternoon a number of friends had the opportunity of bidding her good-bye and bon voyage, when her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. C. Waller, entertained at the tea hour in her honor. Members of the Women's Christian Association, of which Mrs. Jerdon has been treasurer for the past ten years, took advantage of the opportunity afforded to make the presentation of a beautiful wrist watch as a token of appreciation from the association. A talented musician, Mrs. Jerdon until a few years ago took a prominent part in musical activities here, and was for some years president of the Woman's Music Club.

Six Suitors on Way to Holland Hope to Marry One of Three ### Losers Will Act as Best Men at Triple Wedding.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Three sisters in Holland will have a serious question to decide, or rather six serious questions, in a couple of weeks, when six wealthy young Dutch planters from Java who arrived here on the Siberia Maru reach the Netherlands.

Each one of the six expects to marry one of the three, and each one is certain that one of his rivals will be nothing better than best man.

Five years ago the six planters laid siege to the hearts of the three Misses Van Fesnigen. Unable to choose, the three girls finally told their suitors to go back to Batavia and make their fortunes. The men were told that the first three to accumulate riches would be the winners.

Now it seems that all six of them have been successful in the pursuit of wealth, so much so, according to Frusee C. N. Lindvigsen, of the Siberia Maru, that the poorest of them has something more than $1,000,000. Through it all the three sets of rivals have remained good friends. They are going back as a party to pop the question again before the Dutch maidens. Each is sure that he will win. Nevertheless, they have entered into a compact that each of the three losers will act as best man for his winning rival.

The six planters who have made their money in rubber and tobacco, are L. A. den Bergen, C. S. N. Van Gennep, J. Horsting and H. J. Peppinga.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.
By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Israel Warned Against Compromise. Joshua 23:1—24:28. (May be used with temperance applications.)

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

4. Verses 4-8. To what extent is the prosperity of a man, or a nation, due to keeping God's laws, and to undefeatable courage?

5. Verses 9-13. Why is it that a clean, right-living nation, is more than a match for an unrighteous nation, and in the long run, bound to conquer?

6. What progress had Israel made up to this time in its conquest of the promised land?

Golden Text—Evil companionships corrupt good morals.—I. Cor. xv., 33.

A CHRISTIAN SHOULD NOT MARRY AN UNBELIEVER.

I have known Christian young women to marry men who were not Christians in the hope that after they were married they could influence them to turn from their sinful ways and to become godly men. This, as a rule, is a vain expectation, for if a young woman cannot influence her affianced before marriage, to quit all bad habits and to become a true Christian, it is very improbable that she will be able to do so after marriage. Alas! the rule is to the contrary that the unchristian husband drags down to his level his Christian wife. The rule also works the other way for it is equally unwise for a Christian man to marry an unbelieving woman. Such homes established upon divided foundations, generally means a collapse in the future.

Course in Mental Hygiene Will Begin Shortly at Toronto

Of Special Interest to London District, With Its Mental Hospital for Soldiers.

The fact that a course in mental hygiene for those who wish to help in the care of returned soldiers, is soon to begin at the University of Toronto, should interest young women of this district, as the Westminster Hospital, under construction at Lambeth, will be devoted to mental cases. This course, which will no doubt make a bigger appeal to nurses, is open to others as well. Already students from Eastern and Western Canada are making preparations to be in Toronto at the end of April when the course commences. The University of Toronto is the only university on the continent, outside of "Smith," near Boston, that has established such a course.

It is expected that mental cases will be followed up in their homes after they have been dismissed from the army or hospital, and this alone will necessitate a number of trained women to visit these homes and guide the life of the patients so that they may remain well. The subjects of the lectures include psychiatry, social and economic problems, psychology, mental testing, occupational therapy, child welfare, home economics, recreation and others. The course which was instituted at the instigation of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, will be an extension course in connection with the social service department.

Rosie's Useful Dog.

My Dear Miss Grey,—I am just getting over the flu and missed some fine skating through it, which was such a disappointment. I hope we will get some more snow, because I have a big yellow Scotch collie dog named Tippy. I hitch him up in the little sleigh and say "Sic um!" and away I go. It helps me busy hanging on. In the summer I hitch him in the little wagon and go to the village store for groceries. It is pretty rough riding in the little wagon as it has no springs. I like the sleigh better.

I read in the Mail-Box a few weeks ago that Canadian Lassie wished to correspond with me. I have already written for her; it's with Miss C. Also a lettter for Bluebell, which Miss Grey will please forward. I tried Bluebell's cake recipe; it is very good. Would someone please give me a nice recipe for Rochester jelly cake? Your little friend, ROSIE GOLDEN.

Ans.—The letter for Canadian Lassie has been mailed. Will Bluebell please send her address? I chanced to find the cake recipe in a cook book, so I send it, Rosie:

Rochester Jelly Cake.—Light part: One-half cup butter, two cups white sugar, six whites of eggs, one cup sweet milk, three cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon extract; bake in three layers; dark part: One-half cup butter, one cup brown sugar, one-half cup molasses, two cups flour, one-half teaspoon soda dissolved in one-half cup coffee, two cups seeded raisins, one-half cup citron, chopped fine, one teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg; bake in two layers; put light and dark parts alternately, spreading jelly between the layers; frost the top

WOODSTOCK FANS WILL NOT FORGET RAW DEAL HANDED OUT AT TORONTO

and White Players Lay Many Complaints—Hockey Club Is Looking to O.H.A. to Investigate Matter.

ODSTOCK, March 17.—It will be a day before the hockey fans of ity forget the treatment handed the local hockey team at Toron- Saturday night. They look on it thing less than criminal, and are in their protest to the O. H. A. ive to get busy. It is felt here there undoubtedly was a deep plot event the Woodstocks winning, the use of the red pepper and ampering with the skates was only of the plot is the general belief, the feeling is strong against the A. for the way in which the whole was allowed to be put over. That A., who had complete control the game, should allow a junior from an outside town to receive eatment meted out is beyond be- It surely would never get by in other place other than Toronto. e are many wild stories in the ut most of them are hard to That the wretched and weird le put on by Woodstock in the enty minutes, when they forgot hockey they ever knew, was ult of tampering, is the out and lief of the fans. Who was re- ble, and to what extent is not known at present, the local executive have nothing to say. They expect the O. H. A. to deal sharply with the matter.

Much surprise was expressed when the Woodstock Juniors failed to come out on the ice for the usual warming up practice before the game, something desirable on strange ice, particularly so when it is artificial, and when they did not appear until called out for the start of the game, which was then delayed, it was learned that the delay had been occasioned by the necessity of having to secure new undergarments to replace those of each player which had been saturated with cayenne pepper at some time between the red and whites' practice on Friday and their dressing for the game on Saturday. Their dressing-room had been entered, and not alone were the protectors of the hose saturated with pepper, but the skates tampered with. Bill Carson's skate had apparently been filed, and as it happened broke in the first period, necessitated his wearing strange skates for two periods.

It seems incredible that the followers of a Toronto hockey team should defame the name of good sportsmanship, and resort to such damnable practices against a team because they come from a centre outside the mecca of "amateur" hockey organizations. The tremendous handicap for a junior hockey team, accustomed only to uncertain conditions of natural ice, of having to play on the largest Ontario sheet of ice, and it artificial, in the tense strain of a championship match, before 6,000 spectators, render it necessary for any hockey team of unseasoned players from outside towns to be 30 per cent better than a Toronto team of finalist class. Then why the need of disgraceful and criminal methods to attempt to hold all championships, if possible, in Toronto, and discourage the junior series throughout the rest of Ontario? Some day the western and eastern portions of this province will take matters in their own hands and have their championships played on more equal terms, by excluding the artificial centres.

NORTHERN LEAGUE AGAIN FINISHES WITH A BIG ROW

Final Game Will Not Be Played Tonight.

Palmerston, March 17.—Dr. H. B. Coleman, of the Northern Hockey League, stated today that the Niagara Falls senior team refused to play their scheduled return game with the Listowel-Palmerston team here tomorrow night. It seems that the Falls club officials are under the impression that the first game, which was played in Hamilton and which ended 12 to 6 in favor of Niagara Falls, was a "sudden death" affair for the championship. At least that is the impression which they are trying to convey to the N. H. L. executive committee.

As a result of the Niagara Falls club's contention, the N. H. L. executive was called together here to take up the matter. The final series was arranged, ordering the two teams to play in Hamilton, as there was no ice available in Niagara Falls, with the return game in Palmerston on Tuesday, March 18. Since the Niagara Falls team absolutely refuses to play according to the league's decision, they have defaulted the round to Listowel-Palmerstonites.

There was a delay of over an hour before Friday's game was played in Hamilton, and at one stage of the argument it looked as though the game would be called off entirely, Niagara Falls refusing to consider playing the return game. Many hockey fans for miles round here have been eagerly waiting for the final game, and to be deprived of the opportunity to see the battle now comes as a keen disappointment. Financially both teams are at a loss in this venture, as the game in Hamilton attracted a small crowd.

JACK DEMPSEY TELLS HOW HE WILL FIGHT WILLARD

Heavyweight Challenger in Condition and Expects To Be Champion After July 4—Young Boxer Tells Why He Expects to Come Out on Top.

BY JACK DEMPSEY.
Heavyweight Challenger.

I expect to stop Jess Willard inside of ten rounds and take the world's championship July 4. Here are my reasons:

I have been steadily training for many months and am on edge now. Physically I am in the best of condition. I expect to weigh slightly over 200 pounds when I step into the ring. I am going to rely on my punching ability. I expect to fight Willard at close quarters, using half-arm jolts, uppercuts and short hooks. Infighting is my strong point, and I will take advantage of it.

I have trained myself to deliver a knockout blow that travels but a few inches.

Lost in Close Work.

Willard is lost when it comes to close work. He showed this conclusively in his affair with Carl Morris, when the latter opened himself repeatedly to attack with short jolts, but Willard was utterly unable to take advantage of the fact.

I expect to keep Willard very busy from the moment I get into the ring, working both hands and using short, snappy hooks and uppercuts. I have expected to get in close, stay there and do all the fighting that is to be done. All that Willard has is a long left. Fighting close in, he is helpless.

Jess Really Too Big?

I know Willard is a big fellow, but he is really too big. He has little else than his bulk, but, as the saying goes, "the bigger they are, the harder they fall."

Willard is a strictly defensive fighter. His only object in every fight he has fought, except his championship contest, has been to let the bout go to the limit and play safe. He let Moran (a second-rater—stay the limit in his ten-round fight in 1916. In his contests with Morris, McCarty and others the bout always went the limit to a no-decision contest.

Size Means Nothing.

I am quite confident that I can take Willard's measure. His size means nothing. Fulton is a big man, too, but I beat him. If I could knock over Fulton I can knock over Willard.

There never was a man as big as either Willard or Fulton who is not a weakling.

I believe that aggression and fast action will win me the championship. I have demonstrated in every fight I have ever fought that if I could put my man to sleep I could it, and quickly. In my fights with Fred Fulton, Carl Morris, Porky Flynn and the rest of them it took me only one, two or three rounds to rock them to sleep.

Willard Plays Safe.

Willard is not aggressive; he is slow and deliberate, and always fights on the safe side. It is true that I have not seen him fight, but I have seen him box, and I know what he can do. Without boasting, I will say that no man can go into the ring with me and stall. I always get right into the fighting from the tap of the bell and try to drop my man at the first opportunity. That is why I have always had difficulty in getting sparring partners, because the better they are the more likely I am to put them down and out.

Two Months Enough.

I expect to take no more than two months' hard training to get ready for the big bout. That is really more than I need in any case. My theatrical contract with Barney Gerard requires me to box and do considerable exercise on the stage. As I am in first-class physical shape now, I will start again training for the battle around May 1.

It has been said that I am not a clever boxer, but you don't see any marks on me. I haven't had even a nose-bleed or a black eye in my last six fights; there are no tin ears on my head, and I haven't a scar. Which is one way of saying I don't get hit much.

When the fight ends July 4 I expect to be the heavyweight champion of the world.

HAMILTON TIGERS TO MEET SELKIRKS AT TORONTO TONIGHT

Two Teams Will Battle for the Allan Cup.

Toronto, March 18.—The first game for the Allan Cup, emblematic of the world's amateur hockey championship, will be played tonight at the arena between the Tigers of Hamilton, O. H. A. champions and cup-holders, and the Selkirks of Regina, western challengers. R. Hewitson and Jerry Laflamme, both of Toronto, will handle the game, "Billy" Keane of Winnipeg, the western official, is snowbound and Laflamme was agreed upon in his place.

The Tigers are strong favorites here. They are a much heavier and a more experienced team than the challengers.

The first game in the junior finals between the Patricias of Regina and University Schools, O. H. A. champions and winners over Montreal, will be played tomorrow night. The second game in the Allan Cup series is scheduled for Thursday night.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Hockey Association will be held tomorrow afternoon here. Representatives from all the affiliated leagues are expected to be in attendance.

FRANK SHAUGHNESSY IN HAMILTON TODAY

Hamilton, March 17.—Frank Shaughnessy, baseball manager and football coach, will be in Hamilton on Tuesday or Wednesday of this week to look over the local situation. Officials of the Hamilton Club received this information by wire today.

There is no doubt about "Shag's" coming as leader of the Hams. His proposal to the International League that Montreal and Ottawa be included in the Fultz League has fallen through.

"I like Hamilton, and I believe it a great ball town," is what he told the Hamilton Club emissary last week. "And," he added, "I would like nothing better than to manage the club there."

LONDON IN RACE FOR O. B. A. CHAMPIONSHIP

Toronto, March 18.—All the Ontario Basketball Association districts are now finished and the surviving teams are down to the semi-finals and finals.

In the juvenile section the games will be: Toronto Playgrounds with Kingston, and Woodstock with Stratford. Hamilton has the bye and will meet the winner of Woodstock vs. Stratford game.

In the junior section London and Sarnia are playing off in the west, Toronto Central "Y" and Kingston in the east, and St. Catharines and Hamilton.

In the intermediate section Brantford and Galt have a difference to settle, the winner to meet Hamilton "Y." London has the bye in the west. Toronto Broadviews meet Belleville.

GROVER ALEXANDER IS ON HIS WAY HOME

Chicago, March 18.—A cablegram signed by Gen. Pershing, commander of the American army, gave first definite assurance today that Grover Cleveland Alexander, premier pitcher of the National League, was on his way home to join the Chicago Nationals.

Alexander has been in Germany with the army of occupation.

BABE RUTH HOLDS OUT FOR HIGHER SALARY

The Pas, Man., March 18.—Seven dog teams got away at 9:45 o'clock last night for the Hudson Bay dog purse. The sky was overcast and a strong wind was driving the light snow into drifts.

The start was made on the Saskatchewan River, each team having a snowshoe track to start from. Bishop Charlebois officially opened the race in the presence of 2,000 people.

The last seen here of the racers as they disappeared in the darkness showed Stoddard's team leading.

SEVEN TEAMS STARTED IN HUDSON BAY RACE

Boston, March 18.—Babe Ruth, the star pitcher, was not a member of the delegation of baseball players who left here last night with Secretary L. A. Graver of the Boston Americans on their way to the Red Sox spring training camp at Tampa, Fla.

Ruth, who was in Boston last night, insisted he would not knock any home runs for the champions this season unless his salary demands were met.

SHEVLIN DEFEATED.

London, March 18.—Eddie Shevlin of Boston, welterweight champion of the United States navy, was defeated on points by Johnny Basham, the English welterweight champion, in a boxing bout at the National Sporting Club last night. Both boys showed splendid form, and Shevlin, although beaten, proved himself a marvellously strong opponent.

U.T.S. SEXTET TAKES O.H.A. MEMORIAL CUP, DEFEATING MELVILLE

Montreal Team Outplayed at Toronto Arena.

TORONTO, March 17.—University Schools of Toronto are now junior champions of Eastern Canada. The local O. H. A. junior team had no trouble in downing Melvilles, the Quebec champions, in a sudden-death game tonight to see who would meet the Patricias of Regina, Western Canada champions, in the final here on Wednesday and Saturday nights. University Schools were always best in the game tonight, and defeated the Montreal team, 8 to 2.

Individually, the Montreal team were good. They rushed well, showed close checking in spots, but were very poor shots, and had no system on the attack. Hardie was the pick of the squad. He was a strong puck-carrier and good in shoot from far out, and then race in after the rebound. It was a poor system against the University defence.

TWO PLAYERS SIGNED FOR LONDON TEAM

Outfielder and First Baseman Secured by Keenan.

F. Henri of Buffalo is the second player to be signed up by Manager Joe W. Keenan of the London baseball club. Henri is a former International League pitcher, but owing to his arm giving out, he has given up the box, and will take a place in the outfield.

Bob Donnelly of Bronx, New York, who got a tryout with the Washington Americans last season, was the first player to put his signature to a London contract. He is but a lad, and is expected to make a good showing on first sack with the Forest City baseball nine.

SAGINAW BASEBALL CLUB IS ORGANIZED

SAGINAW, Mich., March 17.—A Saginaw baseball club incorporated was formed in this city Saturday afternoon to hold the local franchise in the Michigan-Ontario League.

Judge Arthur Clements was named president; Frank C. Sommers, first vice-president; Dr. W. R. Purmort, second vice-president; Mayor-elect B. N. Mercer, treasurer, and W. F. Jahnke secretary. The officers, with Gordon L. Grant and Chester M. Howell, constitute the board of directors.

The application of "Buzz" Westall of Columbus, O., was favorably considered for manager, and President Clements wired him to come to Saginaw at once to meet the directors.

RIOT ACT OF WEST IS READ BEFORE UNION GOVERNMENT BY MEMBER FOR MOOSE JAW

J. A. Maharg Declares If Views of West Are Not Met There Will Be Resignations and By-Elections Ere Next Session.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, March 17.—Having placed on Hansard the formidable program of the Canadian council of agriculture, J. A. Maharg, M. P. for Moose Jaw, and president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, served notice on the Government and declared that if something substantial were not done this session in connection with the tariff, there would be a number of by-elections before the House met again.

He further intimated that the price of wheat must be fixed, or something done to stabilize the wheat-growing industry, and he issued the threat that if the tariff were not reduced then the Westerners would all boycott the Canadian manufacturers, and purchase their materials in such a way that the revenue would actually go into the treasury.

End of Union Government.

The speech illustrates the contradiction which exists in Union Government, and which, it would appear, will render its perpetuation an impossibility.

Tomorrow that contradiction will be further illustrated when Col. John Currie, high protectionist, gets through his speech on the fiscal problem.

In the course of the afternoon Hon. Arthur Meighen labored heavily in an endeavor to answer the speech of Hon. W. S. Fielding. It was probably the weakest speech ever delivered by the minister of the interior, and when he had got through all he had succeeded in doing was in reading Mr. Fielding completely out of Union. Mr. Meighen recalled nervously the lower tariff resolution which he had moved in connection with agricultural implements, when he was in the Opposition in 1911, declared that it had been misunderstood, and that he still stood by what he moved on that occasion. There were members in the House, however, who also recalled that Mr. Meighen had on frequent occasions since his party came to power voted against a resolution which had the same design as his own.

West Watching Closely.

"Western Canada is watching this Government very closely," said Mr. Maharg. "It is watching this House very closely. It is watching individual members very closely. Unless something is done to at least attempt to do something to relieve the situation, then you will have a number of by-elections for this House before it meets in another sessions. If the situation arises again that arose before, neither I nor any other leader, nor all of them put together, could stem that feeling again. If this Government maintains the same policy of raising revenue as they have in the past, by indirect taxation, or by means of a tariff, then as patriotic citizens there is only one thing for us to do—to shape our policy so that the revenue will go in the treasury, and not in the pockets of individuals."

Government Sits Mute.

No part of Mr. Maharg's speech got much applause from the Government side. Western Unionists had not the heart to applaud, because they have little hope that the demands of Mr. Maharg will be met even in a slight degree. Other Unionists did not applaud, because they did not agree with the demands. And there you are.

A further instance of the contradiction which exists in the ranks of it was to be found in the fact that Hon. Arthur Meighen spent considerable time in defending the war-times election act, which he proudly claimed as his own, while Mr. Maharg read from the Canadian council of agriculture's platform a plank, which stands for its repeal.

ONLY ABOUT THIRTY OF "PATS" ORIGINALS BACK ON CARMANIA

Three of the First Officers Are All That Survive.

MANY ARE DECORATED

Londoner One Who Went Through Every Engagement Without Wound.

Halifax, March 17.—The records of the Princess Pats Regiment, which arrived here today aboard the Carmania, showed that approximately 8,000 men passed through the battalion during its period of active service.

The decorations won by the officers are as follows: D. S. O. and bar, 2; D. S. O., 8; M. C. and bar, 5; M. C., 40; M. V. O., 1; mentioned in dispatches, 31; French Croix de Guerre, 3; Order of St. Ann, Cross of St. George, 2; Other ranks: V. C., 2; D. C. M., 34; M. C., 1; M. M., 136; M. S. M., 9; mentioned in dispatches, 15; French Croix de Guerre, 5; Belgian Croix de Guerre, 2; Cross of St. George, 2.

Sergt. F. J. Simpson of Edmonton, besides being a member of the original battalion, claims to be the first Canadian combatant to land in France. This was on December 21, 1914. He enlisted on August 6, 1914; left Edmonton on the 12th, and has not been back since. He was wounded three times, but took part in most of the major engagements. Sergt. Simpson was a member of the guard of honor supplied by the regiment at Princess Patricia's wedding.

Londoner One of "Originals."

Other members of the original battalion seen by the Canadian Press were Sergt. J. Saunders, London, Ont., who went through every engagement in which the regiment participated, and was never wounded, and Sergt. S. Rose of Montreal, who has a similar record.

Those of 5th C. M. R.

Lieut. C. S. Rutherford, V.C., M.C., M.M., of the 5th C. M. R., comes from Colborne, Ont. He went over as a private in the 83rd (Toronto) Battalion and while in England was transferred to the 5th C. M. R. He won his commission on the field, his M. M. at Passchendaele, his M.C. before Amiens on August 9, and his V. C. at Monchy when, to use his own words, he "rooted out a number of German pill boxes and captured 35 or 40 Huns."

The 49th Battalion was in charge of Col. R. H. Palmer, who is known to the Nova Scotia soldiers as "Old Hopper." Col. Palmer spoke in glowing terms of the treatment accorded the officers and men on the voyage over, and stated that the food and accommodation was splendid.

The 49th Battalion.

The 49th is an Edmonton Battalion, and boasts of two V. C. men, Ptes. Kerr and Kingress, both belonging to the city of Edmonton. Kerr won the V. C. for capturing 66 Huns in a raid. Kingress received his cross for capturing a machine gun and killing the crew. The 49th Battalion included 460 men of all ranks and 26 officers. Among those on board was Lieut.-Col. Perkes, V.C., D.S,O., and Croix de Guerre, who was formerly a member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. Col. Perkes won his V. C. at Passchendaele in 1917 and was formerly commander of the 116th Battalion. He belongs to the northwest.

Arrivals For District No. 1.

The following officers, nursing sisters and other ranks for District No. 1 arrived at Halifax on R. M. S. Carmania:

London—A. V. Rimbault, 617 Richmond street; Lieut. L. C. Tobias, 831 Colborne street; Sergt. G. A. Richardson, London Junction; Pte. A. C. Blair, 467 Primerose street; Pte. # THREE MORE SHIPS BEARING SOLDIERS, WIVES AND KIDDIES

1,533 Troops From Kinmel on Royal George.

LONDON, March 17.—(Canadian Associated Press).—The steamer Royal George sailed for Halifax on Saturday with 57 officers and 43 cadets from Seaforth, and 1,533 other ranks from Kinmel Camp.

The Metagama also sailed on Saturday with 35 officers and 320 men, all with their wives and families. The Metagama will dock at St. John.

Brigs. C. L. Harvey and C. H. MacLaren are on the Metagama, and the troops are bound for every Canadian dispersal area.

TUNISIAN BRINGS CIVILIANS.

OTTAWA, March 17.—The steamer Tunisian, which left Liverpool on March 12, will probably reach St. John about the 22nd, and has on board 280 munition workers and 235 women and children who are dependents of these men. They are traveling third class. The vessel carries also 30 native officers, who are probably returning to China, Japan or India. The total number of passengers on board, according to militia department advice, is 852.

MISS MARION GRANT ELECTED MAYORESS

High School Girls' Club Holds Election.

ALL BYLAWS CARRIED

Interesting Meeting at Which Mayor Somerville Delivers an Address.

A most interesting meeting of the High School Girls' Club was held yesterday at the Y. W. C. A. residence on King street, with Mayor C. R. Somerville and Principal Mooney of the collegiate as guests of honor. The meeting was in the hands of the civic investigation discussion group and for several days previous to the meeting the girls were busy soliciting votes for a mock election which was held yesterday, the result being as follows: Mayoress, Miss Marion Grant; alderwomen, ward 1, Miss M. Guest, Miss B. Fetterly; ward 2, Miss G. Godwin, Miss R. Davis; ward 3, Miss K. White, Miss E. Foster; board of education, Miss W. Darch, Miss M. Pack, Miss H. Babb and Miss H. Darcy; hospital trust, Miss A. Nugent, Miss H. Smallman; utilities commission, Miss G. Heard, Miss M. Sullivan.

All Bylaws Pass.

The news that the three bylaws, regarding the exclusion of homework from the high school, the introduction of first aid and home nursing into the school curriculum, and a $50,000 grant for indoor swimming schools, had passed with large majorities, was received with a great deal of enthusiasm and amusement. All sat down to supper at 5:30.

When Mayor Somerville was called upon to speak he humorously remarked that he hoped the bylaws had carried by a two-thirds majority, else they would not be lawful and would probably cause a great deal of trouble. He also warned the girl who had been elected mayoress not to feel that she was the "whole show," or she would get called down by the council, for he had found that the mayor's was the lowest office in the council.

Their Responsibility.

"Now is the best time for you girls to profit by your experiences in school and club life and prepare yourselves for the work that will be thrust upon you in later life," he continued in a more serious strain. Referring to the soldiers who were returning from overseas, where their work had been an expression of what was already within them, he pointed out, in like manner, women had shown their true character by the manner in which they faced the problems of wartime, and how the paying of the great war debt of Canada would partly devolve upon them either as workers or as life-partners of the men of the future.

The mayor declared that this debt could only be paid through production and the co-operation of labor and capital.

"It is a glorious thing to live in these days," he said. "We have the opportunity of living in the time of greatest heroism that the world has ever known. The valor of the Pass of Thermopylae, Waterloo and the charge of the Light Brigade will be overshadowed when the true glory of the dead of the recent war shall come to light."

Explains Duties.

After paying a tribute to the beauty of London and its educational system, the mayor briefly explained the duties of the city officials, and the meaning of the budget, assessment system and system of taxation.

At the close of his address, a vote of thanks was tendered him, moved by Miss Marion Grant, the newly-elected mayoress.

Principal Mooney of the collegiate also spoke briefly to the girls, expressing his appreciation of the work which was being done by the club. Reports from the other discussion groups were read and announcement made that $60 had been collected for the French orphan, whom the club is supporting. Miss Balfour favored with two interesting violin selections and several of the club songs were rendered by the girls. Miss Beatrice Reid, president, was in the chair.

OBTAINED SUIT AND OVERCOAT ON CHECK THAT IS REFUSED

Stranger Victimizes Local Clothing Store.

One of the smoothest check artists that has visited London in a long time swooped down on a local retail clothing establishment at 20 minutes to six last evening and talked his way into a nice blue suit and an overcoat valued in all at $78. He paid for the articles with a check on the Imperial Bank and signed his name as James Hunter.

The man, who was between 35 and 40 years of age, weighed in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, and was about six feet tall. He was clean shaven, had a high forehead and stated that he was employed by the International Harvester Company here. He was accompanied by a tall woman, with reddish brown curly hair. Hunter told the proprietor that he had just received word that he must attend a funeral in Toronto, and had to get a new suit and overcoat. His story was smooth as glass, and he showed an identification card from a government aeroplane factory with his name and picture attached. This was enough for the clothing man, and he took the check in payment.

The International Harvester Company has no man by the name of Hunter in its employ, and the man in question has no funds in the Imperial Bank. The police are working on the case at the present time.

At police headquarters, the statement was made that there is hardly a week goes by but some merchant is "stung" by a check expert. It is said that local merchants are not careful enough in transacting business of that kind with strangers.

DROP IN FREIGHT, BUT NONE IN PRICE

Local sugar brokers state that a reduction ing the equalized freiht rates of sugar of 12 cents per hundredweight has been made. This, they say, will have no effect on the price of the sugar, as the decrease is only a fraction of a cent per pound.

BOATS ARE ON WAY.—The returned soldiers' information bureau at the armories has been advised that the following boats are about to dock carrying troops for this district: The Metagama, due at St. John, N. B., March 24, with 22 other ranks for this district, and the Royal George, due to arrive at Halifax on March 23, with 2 officers and 56 other ranks on board for this district.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

There was only a small attendance at the local market today. It is owing to the bad condition of the roads after three days' rain.

Hay is scarce. There was none brought in yesterday or today. The price quoted for hay is $18 to $20 per ton.

Oats are quoted at $1.90 to $1.93 per cwt. Through the scarcity, it is expected that they will command a much higher figure than quoted.

Straw is slow, the price remaining the same.

One farmer on today's market sold a dressed hogs for $25 a cwt. Among local men it is expected that $18.50 per cwt. will be paid for live hogs on tomorrow's shipment. This price is uncertain, as on the Toronto market a drop of 50c to 75c per cwt. is expected, and if this occurs it will make a change in the price that will be paid for tomorrow's shipment.

Potatoes seem to have a slight upward tendency in price.

Butter is firm. It is not expected that any great change will occur in either the price or the quantity of butter till later in the spring. There is no other change in prices reported, but the price of all products seems to have an upward tendency.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

[Reported by Thomson & McKinnon.]
Chicago, March 18.

| Corn— | Open. | High. | Low. | Close. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| March ... | $1 54⅝ | $1 57⅝ | $1 54⅝ | $1 56 |

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, March 18.—Oats opened ½c to ⅜c higher for May, at 72⅜c.

Flax opened 1c up for May, at $3 49.

Inspections on Monday totaled 224 cars for all grains. The contract grades of wheat were 68 cars.

Chicago, March 18.—Opening: Corn—May, $1 43; July, $1 35¾.

Oats—May, 64⅛c; July, 63⅛c.

Chicago, March 18.—With the visible supply of corn one of the smallest on record, and with greatly increased European demand in prospect for foodstuffs, the corn market today showed decided fresh strength. New high price levels for the season were quickly attained. On the bulge, however, profit-taking sales led to something of a reaction. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1¾c higher, with May at $1 42@1 44, and July at $1 35½@1 36¼, were followed by a moderate sag, but then by a general advance higher than before.

Oats sympathized with the upturn in corn. After opening ⅛c to ⅝c up, the market continued to ascend.

LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, March 18.—Moderate activity in cattle trade was displayed at the Union stockyards this morning, and prices ruled steady. Choice stocks were in demand, but none were offered. Choice calves were lower in price, sheep and lambs firm, and hogs weaker in tendency. Receipts, 607 cattle, 52 calves, 55 hogs and 111 sheep. Quotations:

Cattle—Exporters, choice, per cwt, $15@16 50; do, medium, $13@14 25; do, bulls, $10 50@11 25; butchers, choice, $10 50@12 75; do, medium, $9 50@10 50; do, common, $8@9; do, cows, choice, $10 75@12; do, medium, $9@10 75; do, canners, $5@6; do, bulls, $9@10 50; stockers, choice, $8@9; do, light, $7 50@8; milkers, choice, each, $90@135; springers, choice, each, $95@150; calves, $15@17.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 18—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Conditions which characterized yesterday's dealings in the stock market were again in evidence at the opening of today's session. Gains of 1 to 3 points in such specialties as Industrial Alcohol, California Packing, United Cigars, Harvester and Atlantic-Gulf, were balanced by recessions of similar extent in several of the leading industrials. United States Steel moved within restricted limits, and rails registered only nominal changes.

"Dick" Simcoe Dies Suddenly; Served With Gen. Custer

Was Well-Known Motorman on Street Railway.

One of the few survivors of Custer's last fight, Richard Simcoe, a motorman employed by the street railway company, died at his home, 103 Colborne street, Monday morning after a short illness. Previous to his being hired by the street railway, he was employed as an engineer on the Grand Trunk railroad, being one of the best-known and most popular men on the road. He had been in good health on Saturday, having carried out his daily duties as motorman.

He was a transport driver connected with Gen. Custer's ill-fated expedition against the Sioux Indians in 1876, almost following into the trap into which Gen. Custer's division, which was to have been supported by two other divisions, went to its doom. Of the 204 men in this division, almost all were massacred.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY.

The funeral of Richard Simcoe, who died at his home, 103 Calborne street, on Monday, will be held from his residence on Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

REVOLUTION WILL COME OF LABOR UNREST

Trades Congress Head Warns Canada of Situation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, March 17.—"I tell you if you are content to wait until revolution has taken place, you will have the upheaval in Canada as well as they had it in Russia and everywhere else," declared President Tom Moore of the Trades and Labor Congress to the Canadian Club today. "Industrial unrest of the present day," was his subject. Declaring that he knew the temper of labor, Mr. Moore said, "I know that it is one that insists that it shall reap a fuller reward for its share in industry.

"I am not afraid of unrest. I rather welcome unrest, but we must construct unrest in such a way that it will bring the greatest amount of happiness. But unfortunately today not all unrest is being diverted into channels of construction."

Would Be Calmity.

"It would be a calamity," he continued, "if that spirit of co-operation which existed on the battlefields and in the workshops of the Allies, were allowed to lie buried with those who fell in the fields of Flanders. However, I am optimistic about the situation and believe that a better civilization is in prospect, but before this can be arrived at the minds of many of our citizens must be changed and the old antagonisms destroyed. Meetings and discussions can do much to break down class distrust and foster a spirit of co-operation. The wealthy man today is the man who has brought the most happiness into the most lives. Happiness shall be the measure of efficiency for the future.

"What steps can be taken to this end?" he asked. "The first need," he declared, "is to relieve the worker of some of his toil. It is the worker who should profit by the improvements of machinery and modern industry."

Would Bring Happiness.

Mr. Moore declared that he believed, and so do the labor forces of Great Britain, the United States and France, that not only will shorter working hours bring greater happiness to the individual, but great prosperity to the nation.

He proceeded to cite the case of miners who work long days in the bowels of the earth. He said their hours should be shortened so that they may realize what living really is. This is the first step that should be taken to remove unrest.

"Some employers ask how shall they spend their surplus time? I would say that the worker would view that as a chance for a better education. Every worker today needs a technical and general education."

No Say in Past.

"In the past the workers have lived in different worlds. They have been told that the factory belongs to the employer, that when they go home their interest and responsibility ends. It was not their place to know where the goods were sold; or if there were a profit or not; but they were told only when there was a loss, and therefore, a reduction of wages. Secondly, shorter hours, would also help to improve their home conditions. Every man ought to be given his place on the land—a home with a garden around. This would be more than anything to allay discontent and destroy degeneracy. Hence the importance of the housing problem."

Work on Decrease.

A feature of the unemployment problem, Mr. Moore declared, was the decrease in the number of employers throughout the country. The small dealers, he observed, were being quickly superseded by trusts, corporations and private capitalists. These, he asserted, were growing increasingly powerful in controlling employment. Hence, when a man was left without employment he had less chance of finding new employment.

"In the four years of the war," went on the speaker, "the Government went the length of making it a crime for anyone to be idle. They told all men that if they were found unemployed they were liable to arrest. If it is necessary that every man should be employed for the purpose of war, how much more necessary that he should be employed for the purpose of peace?" he asked, amid applause.

Consider It a Crime.

"Can you wonder that workmen consider it a crime today that conditions exist under which they can be unemployed?" he asked. "Can you wonder that the men want the factories taken over? I am not of the opinion that the time is ripe for that, but the brains of the workmen should be used as well as those of the employers to settle questions of employment and unemployment. Let the workman be in a position to say to the managers, 'If you do not get orders because you want too much profit, it is an injustice to me.' There should be an opportunity for the workers to co-operate with their employers.

Mr. Moore declared it was the duty of the Government to set the example for all employers in placing its own contracts. The Government, he said, should base its contracts on the best conditions of wages and employment that exists in the country, and not according to the local conditions which were often unfavorable.

No Need of Tariff.

Speaking on the tariff, he said: "Any industry which needs a protective tariff should be prepared to place its books under Government inspection and the inspection of its workmen and should show why it needs the tariff," he declared. "If you leave it to one side I'm afraid you will have a hard time convincing the workers that a tariff is necessary."

Mr. Moore concluded with a plea for better working conditions for women and children, and equality of pay for equality of production. He urged raising the school age to afford employment for adult labor to the fullest extent.

Voice of Humality.

"The unrest of today is the voice of humanity raised against the change of industry. Industry should be the servant and not the tyrant of the masses. We want to see greater opportunity for women and children. Greater freedom for the workman himself, and security against unemployment; we want to see the day of joint co-operation in which the profits of invention and improvement which the workers can devise, shall be reaped by the workers themselves; we want to raise the country up and make it rich, that every immigrant will say "It is my ambition to go to Canada and become a Canadian.""

ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Why Lillian's Emotion Almost Frightened Madge.

As I alighted from the train at the Long Island station the economical habit of the last year tugged at me for an instant, made me figure out the nearest subway or street car route to Lillian's home. Since Dicky went away I have ridden in few taxicabs, indeed, even trips to the city have been only the most necessary ones. I have found it necessary to count the pennies in a way that reminds me of my old school teaching days.

But, contrary to the usual order of things, my first thought was the sober one, my second, one of impulse. Neither economy nor any other commendable virtue should stay my rush to Lillian, who, I knew, must be anxiously awaiting my coming if she had received my father's telephone message. So I rushed up the steps of the station, hailed a taxi, and was whirled away to Lillian's house.

Her door and that of the taxi opened simultaneously, and she was down the entrance step of the old-fashioned house before I had finished paying the man.

"Dear child!" she said, rushing me up the steps after she had warmly kissed me. "This is mighty good of you to come to me. You haven't had any dinner, either. I know because your father told me. It's on the table. Come into my room and take off your wraps."

"No dinner for me until you've read Dicky's letter," I said firmly, for I knew she was perfectly capable of putting aside her desire to receive the news I had brought until she had attended to all my creature comforts. "I've worsted my mother-in-law and beaten the record on train and taxi schedules to get this to you, and that's the first order of the day."

For Marion's Sake.

I spoke far more lightly than I felt. Lillian's drawn, pallid face, the strained expression in her eyes, made me feel far more like tears than badinage. She put her hands on my shoulders, turned me toward her—we had reached her rose-tinted bedroom—and spoke with infinite sadness, a sadness in which there was something I could not understand.

"Dear," she said quietly, "your father told me over the telephone the things I most—needed to know"—I had the impression that she had substituted the word "needed" for "wished"—"I would rather wait for the actual reading until after awhile, when there is no chance of our being disturbed.

"Come on now. Marion is wild to see you. She, of course, is to go to bed directly after dinner, but you know there will be no chance to talk while she is on deck."

Marion's wildly enthusiastic self flying toward me pointed her mother's words. From that moment until her mother and I fondly tucked her into bed and kissed her good-night there was no reference to anything more serious than the child's plans and flights of fancy.

"Now!" Lillian said, when we were at last alone in her library, after she had given orders to Betty that she was not at home to anything save the most urgent message. She held out her hand for the letter, and I noticed that despite the iron control she was putting upon herself the long, slender fingers were trembling perceptibly.

What Madge Said.

I handed Dicky's letter to her and waited while she read it, did not venture to speak until many minutes after she had finished, dropped it in her lap and sat listless, inert, looking into space.

"Lillian," I ventured timidly at last, for the expression on her face frightened me.

"Yes! What?—" she started abruptly, then smiled at me, the saddest travesty I had ever seen upon Lillian's lips.

"Don't be frightened, dear," she said. "I'm just looking into the gates of my own particular little Gehenna, and the prospect isn't especially pleasing."

I did not answer her, for I wasn't sure just what she meant. Her quixotic championship of Harry Underwood had made me woned sometimes whether she had not mistaken the real nature of her feeling for him and for Robert Savarin. After all, she had been Harry Underwood's wife for years Was the marriage tie inexorably yoking her in suffering with the wounded man in the faroff German prison?

Her first words seemed to confirm my guess.

"A woman can never get away from the tie of marriage," she said, and there was not only suffering but bitterness in her voice. "That is, if she possesses any decent human instincts," she amended.

She fell silent again, and I waited, looking at her with loving sympathy, yet not daring to answer her, for fear I should unwittingly say the wrong thing.

"Oh, Madge!" she exclaimed, throwing her arms up above her head with a despairing gesture. "I wish I were a good woman or a devil. The good woman would have clung to Harry, somehow, kept him from the hell he has made for himself, the devil would be praying her especial fiends that he would never live to come out of the prison. While I—

"If Harry lives and wants me I must go back to him—and—beside that —death would be merciful."

BOBBY, SQUEEDEE AND DADDY WOODCHUCK.

One day in the early spring as Dicky wandered through the woods he spied a queer little hole under a pile of brush.

"Wonder who lives down there?" he mused. "I wish—"

But he got no farther, for the very object of his wish stood smiling before him.

"Why, don't you know who lives there?" asked Squeedee. "Mr. Woodchuck," and he rapped loudly on the ground near the doorway. "Are you awake, Mr. Woodchuck?"

"I certainly am!" cried a cheerful voice, and Mr. Woodchuck came tumbling out to welcome his guests.

They ran down a hallway into the ground about four feet, turned into a horizontal hallway, then into a double tunnel. After making nearly a half-circle, which led slightly upward, they entered a small, round chamber. Here on a soft bed of dry leaves and grass sat Mamma Woodchuck and her four little babies. They all had their heads between their front paws, rolled into fluffy round bundles which Dicky thought looked like four big fur muffs.

"That's the way woodchucks sleep," whispered Squeedee. "It keeps them warm."

"By the way, how's the weather outside?" asked Daddy Woodchuck. "I haven't been out since the second February."

"Why, that's the time Mr. Groundh[og] comes out to see whether he can see [his] shadow or not," laughed Dicky.

"Mr. Groundhog? That's me," squeaked Daddy Woodchuck. "We're really groundhogs, but we have such a habit of making the dirt fly when we're building our burrows that folks beg[an] to call us woodchucks, and the name [is] better known than that of groundhog.

"But don't let anyone fool you in believing our shadow has anything [to] do with our coming back into our ho[le] again, for it hasn't. We go out to t[est] the weather. If it's nice and warm [out] we stay. But if it's icy cold, ba[ck] to bed we go. You'll never find a woo[d]chuck running from his shadow."

"Well, it's lovely and nice out today," replied Dicky. "And the buds on t[he] trees are beginning to look real green."

"Then out we go," laughed Dad[dy] Woodchuck. "But first, mamma, le[t's] have some dinner."

Mamma Woodchuck brushed out h[er] little greyish-brown dress and so[on] gathered a lovely feast of juicy herb[s,] grasses and clover which every one [en]joyed immensely.

Daddy and Mamma Woodchuck a[nd] their four little ones led Dicky a[nd] Squeedee out of their burrow into t[he] bright sunshine. The little ones fr[o]licked over the ground while Daddy a[nd] Mamma Woodchuck took Dicky as far [as] his gate, where they sat up on th[eir] haunches and waved until he disa[p]peared into his house.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19.

According to the stellar testimon[y] this day will probably bring forth radical change, involving perhaps a [re]moval or journey. With matters ke[pt] well in hand, and these changes essay[ed] with some degree of conservatism, t[he] results should prove satisfactory, w[ith] the proviso, however, that the new ve[n]tures do not relate to social, domes[tic] or affectional interests—all of which a[re] under the bane of a distinctly inimi[cal] Venus, which is opposed by the Mo[on.] It is a favorable time for research [or] experiment with all the finer forces [of] nature, for original investigation a[nd] for occult or metaphysical studies.

Those whose birthday it is should ke[ep] their business well in hand and sa[fe]guard their social, domestic and affe[c]tional interests. They are likely to ma[ke] important and advantageous changes [or] to travel. ### BENNY MINK GETS A HOT RECEPTION.

Finally Benny Mink reached the hole, and began to climb into the front door, and he was soon out of sight and hearing. Then Dick Otter and Sammy Muskrat couldn't hold in any longer, and they both yelled and hooted with delight, and rolled and kicked in the grass, for they knew what was going to happen to Benny Mink.

Benny was now creeping softly through the long tunnel in the bank which led to the nest. He could smell the meat of the little Kingfishers, and he could hear their voices, and he smacked his lips, and his mouth watered at the delicious meal which was near him.

But all of a sudden Dick Otter and Sammy Muskrat heard a terrible rumble and clatter in that bank! And then they saw Benny Mink shooting out of that hole, like a brown streak of fur, while a streak of red blood showed on his little face. And Mrs. Kingfisher was helping Benny Mink get out of that house as lively as possible. She was scolding the little fellow at the top of her voice, and jabbing him every second with her sharp bill. She had torn his new fur coat in several places, and the seat of his new pantaloons was in rags.

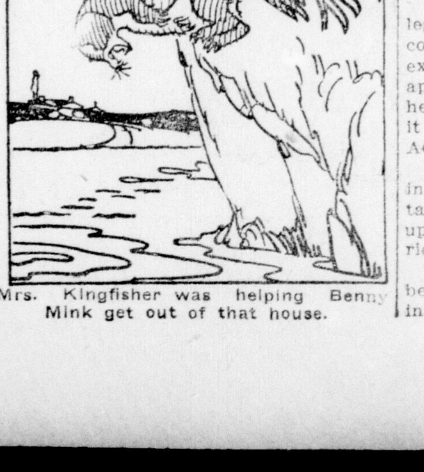

And the furious Mother gave Benny an awful push into the deep pool, as she screamed in fury, "You miserable little rascal, I'll dig your eyes out of your furry little pate, if I e[ver] see you again darkening my door!"

And poor Benny Mink, sore a[nd] wounded, and almost scared to dea[th,] struck the water with so much for[ce] that he sank out of sight. He beg[an] to swim under water with all [his] might. Father Kingfisher had hea[rd] the racket, and he now joined his ma[te.] Their eyes were so bright, that th[ey] could see Benny Mink swimming und[er] water, and every time he came to t[he] surface to breathe, both Mr. and M[rs.] Kingfisher swooped down upon hi[m,] biting and clawing him, until Ben[ny] Mink had to dive under water aga[in.] And Mr. and Mrs. Kingfisher nev[er] left him until he was far down Mu[r]muring Brook.

Benny Mink was a sorry sight wh[en] he crawled out on the bank to re[st.] Dick Otter and Sammy Muskrat tri[ed] to comfort him, but Benny Mink w[as] mad clean through, and he called th[em] many bad names. I'm sorry to sa[y,] and yelled out: "You two knew th[at] Mother Kingfisher was inside her ne[st,] and you knew that I would get an a[w]ful licking, but you two scamps w[ill] never get me to rob a Kingfishe[r's] nest again! I didn't know that Mother Kingfisher was so brave a[nd] strong. I thought I could fight h[er] with one hand."

But by and by Dick and Sammy pe[r]suaded Benny to forgive them for pla[y]ing such a joke on him. And Ben[ny] agreed that perhaps he had been pre[t]ty cross with them and perhaps he d[id] deserve Mrs. Kingfisher's punishme[nt.]

Tomorrow—Sammy Muskrat Is Selfish.

Mrs. Kingfisher was helping Benny Mink get out of that house.

CONCRETE FREIGHT CARS.

Chicago, March 18.—The first reinforced concrete freight car ever built was delivered yesterday to the Illinois Central Railroad for operation in its coal service. The car was designed when car demands made steel for commercial uses almost unobtainable. The car is light, its walls being 1½ inches thick, and the floor 2½ inches thick. It has been tested for a capacity of 100,000 pounds.

THEDFORD FARMS SELLING.

THEDFORD, March 17. — George Smith has sold his 100-acre farm on the second concession, Bosanquet, to Frank Wight for $7,500. Wm. Hilburn has also sold his 100-acre farm on the fourth concession to George Smith for $9,300. Andy Ross has bought John Paisley's 40-acre farm on the 6th concession for $3,200, and Mr. Paisley has bought the late Joseph Lacey's farm of 100 acres on the sixth concession for $6,200.

Dan Dailey of the twelfth concession, Bosanquet, has leased his farm to John Burdick for a term of five years, the rental to be $300 a year.

Gladys Brockwell in Sensational Drama at the Star.

Teuton royalty, stripped of its pomp and circumstance and shown in its sordid intrigues, court scandals and disreputable private life, is strikingly exposed in the absorbing William Fox drama, "Kultur," in which Gladys Brockwell appears at the Star Theatre for the last time today.

"Kultur" is the romance of the beautiful mistress of the late Emperor Franz Josef—the woman who, in the play, prevailed upon the young Serbian, Danilo, to assassinate the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, Austrian heir apparent.

Miss Brockwell, as the brilliant favorite of the aged monarch, later as the lover of a young French secret service man, and finally as a martyr to the cause of democracy, scored a genuine triumph in her highly emotional and difficult role.

Moving through the sinister "inside" events which led to the great conflict, the star gives her audience not only a vivid portrayal of a fascinating romance, but initiated them into many of the doings of kings and princes when the world is not looking.

Ethel Clayton in "Maggie Pepper" and "Kiddies in the Ruins" Draw Big Houses.

Crowded houses testified to the wisdom of the management of the Majestic Theatre in bringing to this city the all-British film, "Kiddies in the Ruins." The film is a splendid successor to "The Better 'Ole," and the cast selected by the company for this picture, both "kiddies" and "grownups" is made up of screen artists who at all times were surrounded by the pathos and atmosphere of the ruins of pastoral France. The keynote and plot of the picture was voiced by "Alf" of the "Better 'Ole," when he answers: "What is the blinking war about? Why this war is to save his kiddies, my kiddies —our kiddies."

The settings in the ruins and cellars where the children huddled from the Hun bombs and hid from the cruel Bosche during the wild weeks in the valley of the Somme are realistic and filled with throbs of human interest. The courage and daring of the children is inspiring and the bright sayings, interspersed when all about was gloom, thrilled the audience.

The conditions under which the women and children lived during the reign of the Hun in Northern France are portrayed with a wealth of detail which will make the picture a living one in the memory of London playgoers. The coming of the Allies to the ruined village and the singing of the Marseillaise by the youngsters and the old people brought forth great applause.

ETHEL CLAYTON.

Ethel Clayton in "Maggie Pepper" makes a powerful appeal to her photoplay audience in this her latest picture success, shown in conjunction with the "Kiddies in the Ruins" at the Majestic today for the last time.

There has probably been no play of recent years in which the element of heart interest has been so compelling as in this romance of a department store employee, for Maggie Pepper, head of the silk department, for fifteen years has had nothing but the commonplaces of business in her thoughts until suddenly she becomes obsessed with the desire to enter society. This she does with complete success and wins the admiration of a man who turns out to be the head of the firm, recently returned from a long sojourn in Europe. He makes Maggie manager of the business, but the scandal spectre stalks about and to save the situation she resigns. Through many trying situations Maggie's love remains steadfast and ultimately triumphs.

The part of Maggie Pepper offers an ideal character for Miss Clayton, who is given a supporting cast of unusual excellence.

Harold Lloyd, in "Under Fire," a British News film and travelogue, plus an excellent vaudeville act, make up a bill at the Majestic well worth seeing.

EXCELLENT VAUDEVILLE.

Cook and Oatman put on one of the best vaudeville acts that Manager T. W. Logan has secured in some time. They are extremely fine singers and carry their own special scenery.

JULIA ARTHUR HERE IN PERSON AT THE MAJESTIC WEEK FROM WEDNESDAY NEXT

Famous Canadian Actress Who Depicts Edith Cavell in "The Cavell Case" To Be Present at the Popular Playhouse.

Julia Arthur, one of the foremost actresses on the American stage today, and a native-born Canadian, will be seen at the Majestic Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in "The Cavell Case." Miss Arthur, who takes the part of Edith Cavell the brave and heroic English nurse who was cruelly and foully murdered by the Germans, will appear in person at the Majestic Theatre on Wednesday.

It is a picture that every Canadian should see, in order that the atrocities committed by the terrible Hun in devastated Belgium can be realized. The Cavell case is being taken up at the present time by the Allies, and an endeavor is being made to punish those responsible for one of the greatest outrages of the war.

BALANCED AND YET VARIED BILL GREETS AUDIENCE AT GRAND

Vaudeville Turns All of Exceptional Value.

DANCING REAL ARTISTRY

Other Acts Equally Good, With Picture of Human Interest.

Headline honors at the Grand for the first half of this week's Small-Pantages bill are shared by Albertina Rasch and ballet and Hope Vernon, a songstress with a violin, while the other acts all range high in merit for the type of variety they represent, Madame Marion & Co., in a protean feature; the Melvilles, in a created and colorful posing act, and Hugh McCormack and Grace Wallace in a clever series of ventriloquial eccentricities.

The appeal of Albertina Rasch and her company of girlish dancers, is to the optical sense, and it registers grace and beauty. Eight well selected numbers, ranging from the Undu to the Russian movement, are done with a fine appreciation of the fact that first of all the audience wishes skill, even before pretty pictures. Apart from all the prettiness, and the act has a bountiful measure of it, there is mastery of the art. Miss Rasch excels by no mere spectacular effects. Her dancing is dancing in its essence, and one feels that her training has inspired the "chorus" to a point where all seem solo dancers. Miss Rasch lets each member feature herself to a certain degree, at least there is none of the repression found in the ordinary number with a principal always centre stage. And the whole effect is that of mechanical effects removed and grace given full play. It is schooled grace, however, showing its very schooling in the lack of awkwardness. Agnes Ray, Viola Dignan, Emily Culver and Helen Mastellini, are all featured in striking numbers, and in the features, Miss Rasch is superb. To lovers of classic dancing this act will prove to be one of the most appealing of the season, no matter what the future may bring M. A. Salvati, directs it, musically, with skill and resource.

Hope Vernon—she would play an ingenue part to perfection—has a distinctive charm of stage personality, and a voice with some kind of rippling bell note. She has more than just the ordinary ballad singer's appeal with sentiment songs. Her numbers are delicately chosen and given sympathetic interpretation. And it's more than an odd trick of the vocal cords that makes her "violin" numbers so true. It is a remarkable gift she has, and no doubt acquired by a course of synchronizing tones and half tones to the instrument itself. Something soulful and winning about her brief and delightful occupancy of a leading place in the bill. Hope has the way with her, and something more to do than just to sing or to look pretty.

Madame Marion, with her company, offers a rare combination of character acting of a high order and quick changing ability. The story in her act gives each situation she presents while impersonating eight different women, dramatic thrills beyond the ordinary. She is ably supported by Hal Forrest.

Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace, ventriloquial artists, provide most of the merriment of the evening in "Back at the Seaside." It is a peculiar kind of humor a good ventriloquist can extract from a dummy that suggests the extreme of boyish "looniness." Miss Wallace does her songs in fetching style. It is a number with something of original merit.

The Melvilles in "Visions of Arty" offer a posing number that reveals reproductions of famous painting in which Alice Melville, a beautiful, shapely girl, is the central figure. It is one of the most appealing acts of its kind presented, and 24 pictures, with costuming done in electrical colors, make a lasting impression.

Bert Lytell appears in the half week's picture feature, a strong and "home-loving" story called "Faith." It is a drama of life—the story of a man who loses ambition and the power for achievement through lack of faith and love. To use his own words, George Farrely, played by Bert Lytell, has become a thing with "the soul of a typewriter and the heart of an adding machine"—in other words, he is satisfied with the grinding existence of a drudge and lacks the faith in himself to rise to higher things.

There are two women in his life, however, who know his capabilities, and determine that through their faith in him he shall be brought back to know ambition and strive for success. The play shows the powerful manner in which he is tempted, his gradual reclamation and then his renewed ambition and abounding enthusiasm.

Mr. Lytell plays with a genuineness and whole-hearted abandon that makes the character and life depicted realistic and convincing—carrying to the heart of his audience the full significance of his regeneration.

It is a play deep with romance and power, and the Metro star is ably supported by such sterling players as Rosemary Theby, Edythe Chapman, Edwin Stevens and Nancy Chase. The play was adapted from the story of the same name, written by Richard Washburn Child, and was directed by Charles Swickard under the supervision of George D. Baker.

HIGH PRICES AT HYDE PARK.

HYDE PARK, March 17.—A successful sale of farm stock and implements was conducted by Thomas Clark, auctioneer, of London, for Arthur Routledge Friday. A large crowd was present. Bidding was brisk and prices were high. Two yearling heifers brought $64 each, while cows brought from $100 to $139. Other stock went equally as high in proportion.

Real estate is still moving briskly in this village. On Friday a purchaser from Springfield bought Mr. Roberts' house and eight acres, formerly owned by Donald MacMillan, now of London. Jack Armstrong bought Earle Guest's house and lot.
