EAST LONDON

EAST LONDONERS WANT MORE FIRE PROTECTION

The Mains Are Said To Be Big Enough and an Engine Is Required.

Mr. Thomas Shaw and the committee of East London businessmen who are asking the city council to provide a fire engine for No. 2 hall, have secured a big batch of information which they will present at the meeting of No. committee this evening, when the matter will be again taken up. East Enders say that information obtained from a "reliable source" proves that the mains are sufficient to supply water enough for a couple of fire engines, but that even if larger mains were laid, the pressure would not be increased to any appreciable

Buy Automobile. "Let the city purchase an automobile fire engine for the Central station. if it can be proven that the machine will do the work in heavy snow, and send the engine now in use out here," said Mr. Shaw today. "It would certainly be a great saving to put on auto into commission, as three horses would be required, and the fodder for these alone would run into a large sum." The capabilities of a fire engine have been questioned by the council, and for that reason the recommendation of Fire Chief Aitken was deal with rather nastily recently Some Information.

A letter from Mr. Shaw says: To the Editor of The Advertiser: Will you kindly allow space in your paper for the following letter and memoranda giving information with reference to fire protection in the East

This memoranda we have secured from a reliable source. We want to call the attention of those interested to the following statements regarding the amount of water that can be delivered through the different sized pipes, and while a pressure of 80 pounds had been allowed at the hydrant from the waterworks, that is static pressure, and no allowance has been made for water used en route, this would reduce the pressure somewhat, say, to 65 pounds or less, and would have corresponding effect on the pressure at the nozzle, which would reduce the force of the stream and the amount of water delivered per minute. We also desire to show to the citizens the benefit to be derived from the use of a fire engine for fire purposes, where it will put 60 per cent more water from the same nozzle, with a penetrating force that will reach any building at any point accessible to a stream of water. This is why we want a fire engine in the East End. We are not satisfied to wait longer under the present conditions. We realize our condition from past experience, and will use every effort to induce our representatives at the council board to carry out our wishes. We are glad to note that last year's council left a nice

Values Such as These Are Obtained Only by Importing in Large Quantities Direct From the Manufacturers

During the next few days in our show windows (Dundas and Richmond streets) and Hosiery Department (section five) our spring importations will be displayed, representing values such as have never before been equalled by us, and which have only been obtained through placing large contracts with the manufacturers. The great increase in sales in our Hosiery Department enables us to buy in such quantities that we are in a position to go direct to the makers in foreign markets and buy at prices that make great savings for our customers. See our window displays, examine the goods at counter and get in touch with our values whether or not you want to purchase.

THE LORDS VETO

Premier Asquith Presents His For Women Resolutions to the Commons.

CONSTITUTION

Balfour Calls the Plan a Mad One and Promises a Fight to a Finish.

London, March 29.-Premier Asquith oday presented his House of Lords veto resolution, and the first day's debate proved conclusively that the Lords will not yield their privileges without a great struggle. A. J. Balfour, the Opposition leader in the Commons, declared plainly that it was the intention of his party to take the first opportunity to repeal any measure restricting the House of Lords' power of veto. On the other hand, Mr. Asquith's speech seems to have put fresh heart into his conglomerate party, and the speeches of John E. Redmond, for the Irish party, and George Nicoll Barnes for the Laborites, as well as those of the representatives of the Welsh constituencies, all breathed defiance to the Lords. The only dissatisfaction expressed was that the Premier's proposals were not drastic enough, but they promised full support to the resolutions, nevertheless. The debate will be continued hroughout the week and division wil be taken Monday. Mr. Redmond has summoned a meeting of his party for omorrow for further consideration of he situation.

to the lot of his Tudor ancestors. The absolute veto of the Lords, the prime minister declared, must follow the veto of the crown before the road could be cleared for the advent of full grown, unfettered democracy. Prime Minister Asquith, in the course of his speech, made it plain that the resolutions were of necessity and devliered. Our prices are very lowest that we can do first-class work he said, the basis on which a bill others may be cheaper, but you do would be built up. Balfour Criticizes. The Right Honorable Arthur Bals four, the former premier, who returned from the south of France, where he has been recuperating from a heavy old, for the purpose of leading the Opposition in the debate, replied to the premier. Mr. Balfour declared that the Government's proposal neither ended nor mended the Lords. The premier had talked, said Mr. Balfour, as though an aggressive hereditary chamber had made it impossible to carry on the country's constitution. Coming down to an analysis of Government's three resolutions, Mr. $1 25 Balfour said, in regard to the first, that no authority had ever suggested that the Lords had no power to reject a money bill. They had the right, he insisted, and ought to keep it. The proposal that the speaker should decide whether or not, a bill was a money bill, said Mr. Balfour, made the Speaker not merely the guardian of the rights of the House of Commons, but in a certain sense the author of It was madness. their constitution. contended Mr. Balfour, for the Government to make a change in the constitution. The whole plan was wholly grotesque. It was impossible that a scheme so absurd as this parti-colored constitution could really survive. The Government, said Mr. Balfour, was going to initiate a period of constitutional controversy, which he beieved would be utterly inconsistent with the genuine pursuit of social reform. The Government, he believed, had been ill-advised in the course they were taking from every point of view, and he should offer at every, stage of these resolutions the strongest opposition that it was in his power > to give. Redmond Congratulates. John Redmond, the leader of the Nationalists, congratulated the prime minister upon the substance of the support. He was glad that all reference to reform had been dropped in the resolutions, for the last thing he wished for was the strengthening of the other House. Mr. Redmond would not, however, bind himself to say that no amendment could be made. He made it clear that the subsequent support of the Irish would depend upon pressing the veto question without interposing the budget. He said that if the House of Lords rejects the veto measure the premier should appeal to the throne, and if the throne's prerogative is refused he must not delay, but appeal to the country without interposing other measures. He could be assured of Irish support on these conditions.

Plan Simultaneous Strike.

When it does come a great miners' strike will be inaugurated. The socialists have decided to exploit the strike as a huge demonstration against the Government for withholding manhood suffrage for the Prussian Diet elections.

The simultaneous strike of all coal workers will paralyze the industrial life of the country. Factories will cease to work, the great cities will be plunged into darkness, railway traffic will be suspended. A terrible blow will be struck at German prosperity. This, at any rate, is the so cialists' intention.

They are making elaborate plans to render the great strike successful. Temperance Work.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I never was more surprised than I was in seeing in your paper a discourse or lecture, delivered by Rev. Father Tobin, assistant rector of St. Mary's Church East London, on Sunday evening, March 21, giving reasons why the Catholic Church cannot and will not join hands with other temperance bodies in London in the effort to suppress the liquor traffic. Will anyone tell me how a minister is going to suppress the liquor traffic by telling them that liquor is good? The Rev. Father Tobin says that away back in the past there were people who claimed that the use of liquor was sinful, but the church combatted this view, and showed that it was only the abuse of liquor that was to be condemned Now, if the reverend minister had tried to impress on his hearers, and speak of the abuse of the God-sent food that is taken to make the worthless stuff! Look at the high price of pork, to say nothing about the lean horses; but worse than that, hungry children and barefooted wives. You cannot take God by one hand unless you take your brother by the Union is strength. If I see my neighbor's house on fire, I do not inquire what denomination of Christians he belongs to. I joined a temperance society 70 years ago, when I was 23 years of age. I have been working in the business ever since. I am not a minister, only a Deacon, but I have done something in the business. Satan is here yet, but we hope London folks will make him take a back seat yet.

FIVE MUST LEAVE THE PIRATE FOLD

New Law Enacted by the National League Compels Team to Cut Down to 25.

THE PITCHERS WILL GO

And Infielders May Be Weeded Out-Clarke May Direct Men From Bench.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Hot Springs, Ark., March 29.—As time passes, the thought begins to present itself to the Pirates that within a short time at least five of their number will have been turned adrift—traded, sold, farmed or released outright. Under the new rule recently enacted by the National League, no club can carry more than 25 men between May 1 and August 25; and as there are now about 30 men under contract with the champlons, it follows have to be let out.
Who Goes? pions, it follows that some of them will

To date, however, there is no means of ascertaining who the five will be.

It may be that the pitching department alone will suffer; and again it is possible that the infield and outfield will be called upon to contribute its pro rata share of sacrifices. Manager Clarke and President Dreyfuss, of course, will say nothing in this connection. They are both closely scrutinizing the work of the new men, and when the time comes for disposing of the surplus material, it is certain both will agree as to who are to be well to again look over the present material, and to hazard a guess as to the probable fate of the men now under contract. Say we take every man and make a guess? This is my idea of what Pitchers.

To be retained: Adams. Camnitz. Leever. Phillippe, Maddox. Leifield. Powell. Frock. Brandom. Webb, and either Harry Camnitz or Moore.

In doubt: Humphries. Cutting and either Harry Camnitz or Moore.

Webb seams to have made the team already, while Harry Camnitz, Cutting and Moore haven't shown up quite so brilliantly. All of these boys are good pitchers, but no club, not even the Pirrates, can afford to carry fourteen pitchers, and some of them will have to go elsewhere for a spell.

Tough?

chers, and some of them will have to go elsewhere for a speil.

Catchers.

Here is a difficult problem, indeed. With four high-class men in hand, it is hard to determine who should stay and who should go. Gibson of course, is a fixture—there never was any doubt in his case; and it may be that Manager Clarke will decide on retaining the other three. O'Connor and Simon are old-timers with the club, but Bridges has shown that he will be kept. So, if there Outfielders. There' will be no change in the outer gardens. Clarke, Leach and Wilson will stay, unless it turns out that Captain Fred Clarke decides on relegating himself to the bench, there to direct operations. In this case, Hyatt will probably be played regularly, with Vin Campbell as subed regularly, with Vin Campbell as substitute. Campbell is a good man, and I feel certain he will be held on to.

George Gibson is hitting the ball hard this trip. His batting in Thursday's game was terrific. Once when Leifield tried to pass him, Hack reached into the air and poled the ball out for three bags.
His next hit was a clean homer, but be-

GOTHAM FIGHT FANS CAN MULLIN EXHIBITS HAVE PERSONAL AGENT

Raffles Are Being Held and One Man of Every 300 Will Have All Expenses Paid.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

New York, March 29.—Books were opened today in half a dozen hotels here, by which "one sport in every 300" will be sent to California to represent the Broadway contingent at the Jeffries-Johnson battle on July 4.

Interest in the big mill has become so intense that all the ingenuity of the intense that all the ingenuity of the sporting public is being turned to the invention of means of accomplishing the transcontinental trip.

The new plan is along the line of the old-time rafile. There are tickets numbered from 1 to 300, to be sold at from 1 cent to $3. Personally Represented.

The ambitious fight fan draws a num per and pays the amount recorded on it After all the tickets are sold, then the lucky number will be drawn, and 299 will have to be satisfied with the knowledge that they are "at least personally represented at the ringside." Hundreds of fight followers already have sent their "hundred bucks" apiece to Tex Rickard and Jack Gleason to insure good seats close to the ringside.

No fight in many years has aroused anything like the amount of interest being displayed here.

"Opinions" Are Scarce. Old fighters and so-called fight experts, who have been out of the public view for many years, have suddenly reappeared. and the younger generation listens eagerly to all they have to say. But the fan looking for a straight tip may go up and down the line all day and all night without obtaining the slightest statisfaction. Both fighters have their admirers, but the so-caded authorities are extremely wary. The men who have "reputations as prophets at stake" are as silent as ciams.

In the absence of "expert information" there is practically no betting at this early stage.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY

Demonstrations Given To Teach the Farmers How To Look After Their Orchards—A Very Practical Meeting.

[By Our Own Man.]

Lambeth, March 29.-Notwithstanding that farmers all through the district are extremely busy with their seeding and other spring work, there was a fair-sized attendance at the Middlesex Fruit Institute held yesterday afternoon and evening in the town hall here.

The meeting was of the greatest practical value, and those who heard Rural Regiments Find It Imposthe addresses and saw the demonstrations of how to spray and prune trees, and mix all kinds of spraying materials, were more than pleased and mense possibilities this county offers for practical fruit raising. There is no question that fruit raising will receive a great impetus and the wish was generally expressed that more meetings of a similar nature might be held. The Demonstrations.

The demonstrations given on Mr. William Poole's farm by Mr. Johnston, of Forest, were most interesting and instructive. Mr. Johnston was assisted by Mr. Albright, of the Farmers' Advocate, and showed those present sprayed a number of trees to show how under canvas nere in June. the spraying is done to the best ad- It is stated in many quarters that the town hall Dr. Robinson, of the et regulations remain in effect. Decision of National Commission Given Out Today Orders the Catcher to Pay $700 Fine and Murphy $20%

[Associated Press.]

Cincinnati, March 30. — John J. Kling, the premier catcher of the Chicago National team, will be installed in organized baseball upon his payment of a fine of $700, according to the decision of the National commission, made public today.

The decision was signed by Chairman August Herrmann and Thomas J. Lynch, president of the National League. B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, did not sign. The commission will require Chas. W. Murphy, president of the Chicago

Nationals, to show cause why a club to submit a new contract to an ineligible player. Furthermore, the Chicago Nationals will not be allowed to trade, sell or release Kling for one season, nor will it be permitted to pay Kling's fine, directly or indirectly, under a "severe"

Why He Was Fined.

Kling was not fined for his failure to report to the Chicago club, nor for the violation of his contract, but solely for his connection with the Missouri Athletic Club's semi-professional team of Kansas City, and his playing with and against ineligible players during the time he was with that club.

Kling was fined $200 for "his action with reference to his connection with the Missouri Athletic Club, and particularly in permitting an ineligible player (Fraser) to participate in games with that club."

Homes of Concrete. Then followed a paper by Mr. Milton Dana Morrill, of Washington, on "Inexpensive Homes of Concrete," Owing to the absence of Mr. Morrill, Mr. Hagarty, the secretary, read the paper. It was illustrated by scores of views, and all proved most interesting. Houses of four and five rooms could be built of concrete at a cost of from $200 to $300 a room. The paper evoked much interest.

FAT FOLKS FAVOR

Home Mixture That Takes Off the Fat Rapidly-Causes No Wrinkles-No Stomach Ills and Requires Neither Dieting Nor Exercise.

Wilby, of Detroit, read by the secretary, R. E. W. Hagarty, on "The Use of Concrete in the Dwelling-House"; by R. A. Plumb, Detroit, on "Water-proofing of Concrete," and by Gustav Kahn, on "The Commercial Aspect of Reinforced Concrete in Canada." All papers were clever in their line, and were listened to with much attention.

Evening Session.

The self-sacrifice of comfort and health to over-abundant fat is entirely unnecessary, however. As Mrs. Luella Bigger tells us, there is a home recipe that is far superior in every way to anything money will buy for reducing superfluous flesh. It is said this simple mixture will take the fat off man or woman at the rate of at least a couple of pounds a week, without even causing wrinkles. Moreover, it does not disturb the stomach, but is a good thing for the system, clearing away pimples, and, best of all. famous beauty expert and whatever she recommends is sure to be found eminently
