

CITY WANTS TO KNOW PRICE ELECTRIC CO. WILL SELL FOR BEFORE MAKING ANY MOVE

Special Committee of the Council and the Board of Water Commissioners Held Important Conference at Noon Today.

ALD. RICHTER SAYS PURCHASE IS MATTER FOR COMMISSIONERS

City Council Should Know From That Body Just What Buying of Existing Private Plant Would Mean to the Corporation Now That Niagara Power Plant Has Been Built

"The London Electric Company are the sellers. Let them furnish us with the price they want for their plant. When that is received we can put our engineers and experts at work, and they will tell us what the plant is worth to us. I do not see what we can do until we get that information."

The above statement was made by Mr. Philip Pocock, chairman of the water commissioners, at a conference between the special committee named to consider the purchase of the company's plant, and the commissioners, held at noon today in Mayor Beattie's office.

In the absence of Ald. Saunders, Ald. Richter was chairman.

"The meeting is called to consult with the water commissioners on this matter," said Ald. Richter. "It is their duty to look after this end of the business, and we, as a council, have no right to put any impediment in their way as to the cost or sale of the power. Consequently we have called them to meet with us, to obtain their co-operation and their advice. The statement has been made that the company has not been given an opportunity of disposing of their plant, but my own impression is that they were given a chance, but the price asked was so outrageously high that the council would not consider it."

MR. POCKOCK'S POSITION.

"As for the water commissioners, we have not met nor discussed the question," said Chairman Pocock. "This is purely a business proposition, and must be looked upon in that light. If you want our opinion, you should send to us a number of questions in writing, and we would consult with our engineers, and obtain information on the subject. I cannot go into values, but our engineers can. Our own plant is nearing completion. All the material needed has been ordered, and the most of it has been delivered. The company are the sellers—the city are the purchasers. It is the duty of the former to submit a price to us. Then we can consider it, going into all the matters in connection with it. We could get our engineers to submit to us a report as to what the plant is worth to us, and what benefit we would receive by taking it over. My own idea is that the company should make a price so attractive that the citizens will purchase, or else the negotiations are under taking will be a loss of time. When our figures are submitted, they will represent what the real value of the plant is to us."

ABOUT A MONOPOLY.

"There has been an argument advanced that I take exception to, and that is that the city, if it buys the plant, will be creating a monopoly for itself in the distribution of power. It is hinted that on that account the price of power would soar. That is the reverse. The intention is to furnish power as near cost as is consistent with good business. If a private corporation had the monopoly, they would charge to the last cent all that they possibly could. A monopoly for the city plant would not mean exorbitant rates, but power and light at cost price."

Ald. Richter asked the chairman when the figures would be submitted, and Mr. Pocock declared that they would be ready at the earliest possible moment.

AS TO THE PRICE.

"We want the water commissioners to meet with us when the matter is taken up with the company on Nov. 1," said Ald. Richter. "Some of the head officials of the company from Toronto will be present, and they will submit their offer. I doubt that they will give us their price before the meeting. If they did we could obtain much information, regarding that feature that would be of value when we meet. We do not want the discussion all one-sided."

"We will be present," said Chairman Pocock.

"We should consult with the commission," Mayor Beattie remarked.

"Their advice should be given full weight, but we do not want to shirk our duty in the matter."

"Of course not," answered Ald. Richter. "My own impression is that we should not submit any offer to the people that we did not agree with. I think that if we asked the people to vote on any proposition we should see that it was such that we could support it. There would be no use sending it to the people to be killed off."

UP TO THE PEOPLE.

"I do not agree with you," said Mayor Beattie. "Let them vote on it. We need not support it. Let it go without our indorsement." "That would kill it," said Ald. Pocock.

"Of course," answered his worship. "Still, it would allow the citizens to express their opinion on the question."

Nothing further was done, the meeting arriving at no conclusion, save that the commissioners would meet with the committee of the council on Nov. 1, and will prepare information as soon as they could.

Those present were Ald. Richter (chairman), Ald. Eckert, Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Pocock, Mayor Beattie, Commissioners Philip Pocock, William Wyatt, John H. Chapman and Secretary Miss Nora Toll.

BOARD OF TRADE TO BANQUET CITY'S BIGGEST MANUFACTURER

A complimentary banquet will be tendered Mr. John McClary by the board of trade and prominent citizens in the near future.

For some time this question has been mooted, and already plans are under way to insure its success. His long years of business activity has built up the largest business of its kind in the British Empire, and the board of trade are of the opinion that some recognition should be given his work by Londoners.

"We have been considering this matter for some time," said Dr. Harry T. Reason, president of the board. "Mr. McClary has done great things for London, and we are proud of him. We want to show him that we appreciate his services, and I think that in this way we can do something towards it. We will make the arrangements as soon as we have this Ottawa matter disposed of."

"I think the idea a proper one," said Mayor Beattie, M. P., who brought the matter up at a banquet on Saturday night. "A man who has done so much for the city of London deserves some recognition, and I am heartily in accord with it. Let us get together and do what we can to show our appreciation of his long services."

SOCIAL EVENING ON RICHMOND ST.

Ben Blackstock Undertook to Entertain On a Large Scale.

INVITED THE POLICE

Result Was That Everybody Present Landed in the Court—A Long Society List.

The well-known face of Benjamin Blackstock, ex-dog-catcher of the city of London, appeared once more this morning in the old Carling street. Ben only came to London on a short visit, but tarried to pass the afternoon with Mrs. Blackstock in anticipation of the approach of winter, and so the virtuous erstwhile city official was unavoidably at home when Estlin Snyder, in answer to a telephone call, happened along to interrupt a rather boisterous gathering at Ben's hospitable home.

Blackstock says that he himself sent in the telephone call, but however that may be, Ben formed one of the party of six who enjoyed the ride in the patrol down Richmond street to the Carling street clubhouse.

A Happy Party.

This happened Saturday evening, and a happy party all appeared in police court, this morning. Among them were Mrs. Mary Burton, Mrs. Eliza Drumm, Mrs. Ida Blackstock, Mrs. Katherine Turton, the well-known Mr. Blackstock, and the dejected-looking spouse of one of the ladies who, while not originally a member of the party, had come along just as his wife was Continued on Page Nine.

BISHOP FALLON'S TORONTO SERMON

The R. C. Church Never Allows Students to Tear Pages Out of Bible.

BILINGUALISM ESCHEWED

His Lordship Did Not Refer to the Recent Hanna-Reame Controversy—Over French Schools.

In the presence of a gathering well representative of the Roman Catholic clergy and laity of the Archdiocese of Toronto, the elaborate ceremonial of laying the corner stone of St. Augustine's Seminary, Scarborough Heights, was carried out by his Grace Archbishop McEvay yesterday afternoon. The sermon was one of double thankfulness, in that it marked the founding of an institution which will undoubtedly be potent in augmenting the ranks of the priesthood, but it signified the return of the archbishop to official activity after a long illness, which has caused no slight anxiety.

There were two outstanding figures at the ceremonies in addition to his grace, Bishop Fallon, of London, was there, a stately and impressive personage in his robes, but easy of poise and of genial aspect with all. It was he who preached the dedicatory sermon, but he made no reference to bilingual schools. Then there was the venerable O'Connell, private chamberlain to his Holiness Pope Plus X. It was his magnificent liberality which made possible the purchase of the $300,000 seminary. The circumstance to which Archbishop McEvay, in his official message, read by Rev. Father Kidd, chancellor of the Archdiocese of Toronto, and Bishop Fallon made grateful reference.

Controversial Ground. Bishop Fallon, as before said, did not allude to a matter of recent contention, but, in the course of a vigorous assertion of the right of the church to bilingual education.

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION OF THE SACRED HEART

Organization Effected at Meeting of Former Pupils of the Academy.

An event of considerable importance, especially to the former pupils of the Sacred Heart Academy of this city, took place at that institution last week, when a meeting was held to form an alumnae. All were received in the most kindly manner by reverend mother and the other members of the community.

The work of forming an alumnae was entered into with utmost enthusiasm, each one entertaining a strong desire to keep in close touch with her alma mater. They feel that the beneficial influence forming part of their lives which they imbibed during their school days in the Sacred Heart Convent prompts them to return by affectionate regard for its welfare and for the extension of its noble work in the education of young ladies.

When the meeting opened, the reverend mother addressed those present in warmest words of greeting, explaining the object of forming the association, and her remarks served to re-awaken those feelings which made their younger days so joyous and full of the highest ideals. The ladies present, about one hundred in number, then voted for their officers. The result of which was as follows:

Honorary President—Reverend Mother.

President—Mrs. R. M. Burns.

Vice-President—Miss J. Wright.

Secretary—Miss Dromole.

Sub-Secretary—Miss A. Forristal.

Treasurer—Mrs. M. F. McDonagh.

Directors—Mrs. Thos. Coffey, Mrs. T. J. Murphy, Mrs. Kent Campbell, Mrs. Thos. Wright, Mrs. Chas. Nixon, Mrs. (Dr.) Mogan, Miss Manley.

Following this, Rev. Father Aylward gave benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, and immediately after the happy gathering were served afternoon tea by the young ladies at the present time pupils in the convent.

It was with great reluctance that all were forced to say au revoir, but each looked forward to the next meeting with pleasant anticipation, which will be held one year hence.

"LEPROUS SORE UPON OUR SOCIAL SYSTEM"

Rev. J. V. Smith, D. D., Preached Strong Sermons at the First Methodist Church.

"The unconcern of many of the rich, no less than the wretched condition of the poor, is a leprous sore upon our social system."

So declared Rev. J. V. Smith, D. D., of Hamilton, in his morning sermon in the First Methodist Church yesterday.

"We grow good by doing good, but the terrible hell of retribution follows close upon the transgressor. Faith and love are kept alive by activity. The way to the higher life is through sympathy with fallen and ignorant life. Only when we lose our life in service and self-sacrifice do we really find our life. The modern church aims at having eloquent preachers, fine choirs, and expensive edifices, but fails to practice the devotion and self-sacrifice in assisting the poor and unfortunate, which Christ taught and practiced himself."

"Shall the church be wrapped in an everlasting lullaby," the speaker asked, "while the blood and anguish of the wounded cry aloud from the battlefield of life? The world does not rest. The Christ-love is the one indispensable. The path of love is marked by the footprints of the world's Redeemer. Will you feed the starving, instruct the ignorant, and save the lost?"

"Ultimately humanity will live under the law of love. Love will break the last bonds of tyranny, and make all men brothers. Vice and sin will disappear before the light of love. To find this light of love is the end of all Christian teaching."

Referring to talent and opportunity, Rev. Dr. Smith declared that every man can be his own sexton. When we bury or neglect our talents, we bury our own selves. "Use or lose" was the keynote of his address.

Rev. Richard Whiting, B. A., occupied Dr. Smith's pulpit in Hamilton, referring to the holding of anniversary services in their respective parishes.

EVANGELIST ABERBERLY ON THE MANLY MAN

Splendid Address Delivered in the Auditorium Sunday Afternoon.

Evangelist R. W. Aberberly, formerly of Liverpool, England, who is conducting evangelistic services in the Dundas Street Christian Church, spoke to a crowded audience of men in the Auditorium Sunday afternoon. His subject was "The Ideal Man," and whom, he declared, to be in the perfect sense, the Christ-man.

"We are what our ideals make us," said Rev. Mr. Aberberly. "No man can be great without a great ideal."

"Humility and service were taught by Christ, and the manly man, is the man who is willing to be humble, and to help others. No more splendid example of self-sacrifice and self-denial can be given than that of Christ. The life of Jesus of Nazareth was a life of splendid service."

"The man who is ready to sacrifice his own desires in order to bear his share of the world's burdens is the ideal man. The spirit which is willing, and ready to help others is the spirit of real genuine, high-toned manhood," declared the speaker. "History has no better example of moral courage to offer us, than that of Christ. Jesus was beyond doubt the manliest man that ever lived. Never was there a greater exhibition of real moral heroism than that of Jesus before Pilate in the Jewish Sanhedrin."

"The ideal man bears up under the hardest tests that may come to him. It is not always the fellow who sings the most vociferously, or makes the longest prayer, who manifests his courage and character when the real test comes."

"The ideal man is not afraid of honest toil."

Here the speaker dwelt on the nobility of labor. The loafer and the idler are not leading an honorable life. There should be "no loaf for the loafer."

Refrain From Vices.

"The man who refrains from vices and bad habits is also manifesting the truest manhood. The man who keeps from swearing, from drinking, from gambling, and impurity; the man, in short, who controls his own spirit, is greater than he who takes a city. It is men like Gladstone who make a nation great and lay the foundations of life and society on a safe and sound basis."

Evangelist Aberberly said in closing that "the greatest plea we can make before God is the plea of our own need."

BIG HAUL.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Three hundred thousand dollars in counterfeit Nicaraguan 5-pesos notes ($2 each American money), freshly printed, were seized, and the printer who made them, the engraver who made the plates, and the man charged with securing their manufacture, were arrested Saturday by Captain Porter, of the United States secret service, and his operatives.

GAS, INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA AND ALL MISERY FROM AN UPSET STOMACH GOES

Indigestion and all other Stomach distress goes after taking a little Diapiesin.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach, if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good; and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Biliousness, Heartburn, Water Brash, Pain in the stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

ALL ARE RECOVERING

Victims of Recent Accidents Are Doing Well in the Hospital.

The victims of the accident at Perrin's over two weeks ago are rapidly recovering and will soon be out of the hospital.

Alexander Russell has made the best progress, and he will be taken to his home this week. His broken leg is all that keeps him in the hospital, and it is healing rapidly.

Samuel Govier and John R. Welles, who suffered from serious fractures of the skull, are now on a good way to recovery, and it is thought they will soon be about. They are both very weak yet, but are getting better.

Patrick Hyland, who was struck by a street car, is also doing well, and will be around in a short time.

"The Midnight Sons."

So large is the scenic and mechanical equipment of "The Midnight Sons" that it is necessary to transport the paraphernalia by special train. "The Midnight Sons," which will be seen at the Grand next Friday, Oct. 28, ran for 36 weeks at the Broadway Theatre, New York. When it was first produced there Lew Fields and the Shuberts had no idea of sending the mammoth production on tour.

The piece is described as a "Musical moving picture in eight films," their being eight scenes and two acts. Apart from the largeness of the production, one of the most striking features of the play is the tremendous "theatre scene," which shows the inside of a real opera house with an audience of 500 people. Another shows a Pullman train in motion, with a bridal party of a dozen men and women in the roof of the train. Seats, Tuesday, Oct. 25.

Holiday Attraction.

"The Arcadians," which is ending a two years' run at the New York Theatre, is said to be the most talked of musical comedy play since the "Merry Widow." This musical comedy appears at the Grand Thanksgiving Day Oct. 31, matinee and evening.

"The Arcadians" is in a setting of three elaborate scenes, the grassy glen of Arcady, a hillside at Ascot track and Smith's restaurant in London. The piece is notable for many numbers of lovely music, sung by a large company, beautifully costumed and highly trained, and by the same strong cast which appeared at the New York Theatre. Seats, Oct. 27, Guaranteed attraction. Mail orders accepted now when accompanied by marked check or money order.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten Is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs Must Have Help.

Food taken into the stomach which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement, and it is a great many dyspeptics go on this far with their reasoning. They think their stomachs do the work for them; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man to say that he will do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity, as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak, acid, overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach, and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do. Stuart's Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten, and carry out Nature's plans for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need, and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new-fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year-old baby. A strong man doing strong work must be properly fed, and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bone of a broken limb, which is, of course, not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of that "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within reach of everyone.

PETER GENDRON DEAD

Canadian Inventor Passes in Toledo After Long Illness.

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Peter Gendron, the noted inventor, died Sunday afternoon at his home in this city. He suffered with tuberculosis of the throat and a complication of troubles of long standing.

Mr. Gendron was the inventor and patentee of the iron wheel, having obtained 72 patents on the same. At first he manufactured the iron wheel in the attic of his home. Later, he moved into a basement on Summit street, where the necessity of such an invention was recognized by George Fisher, a wealthy merchant, who, together with Mr. Gendron established and built the present plant of the Gendron Wheel Company. From time to time larger additions have been made to the original building, until today it is one of the largest manufacturing plants in the city. A branch house is also located at Montreal, Canada. The wheel was first used on baby carriages and go-carts.

Mr. Gendron was born in Coaticook, Province of Quebec, Canada, 66 years ago. He leaves a widow and one son, Adolph, and one grandchild, Leon Gendron.

Mr. Gendron was vice-president of numerous banks in this city, and trustee of the Toledo Yacht Club.

CANADA'S RECORD TRADE YEAR.

The fiscal year 1910, which ended on March 31st last, was a record one in Canada's foreign trade. This is the cheering story told by the report just issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce. The total export and import figures for 1910 are $693,211,221, an increase of $122,000,000 over the fiscal year 1909.

The export of home produce in 1910 amounted to $279,947,551, classified as follows:

The mine	$40,957,017
The fisheries	1,663,182
The forest	41,511,933
Animals and their products	53,296,515
Agricultural products	39,435,747
Manufactures	31,483,918
Miscellaneous	123,161
Total	$279,947,551

The United Kingdom still leads as a purchaser of Canadian goods, the exports to Great Britain for 1910 totalling $149,634,109, a record figure. Exports of home products to the United States, the next greatest buyer for 1910, amounted to $104,199,675, an increase of nineteen millions over the figures for 1909.

The figures of the exports by countries taking considerable quantities of goods in 1909-10 are as follows:

Great Britain	$149,634,107
United States	113,150,778
West Indies	5,948,245
South America	4,744,524
Newfoundland	3,970,952
Australia	3,583,447
Belgium	2,300,092
France	2,640,648
Germany	2,501,191
Holland	1,957,552
China and Japan	1,910,724
Italy	829,508

Imports from the United States increased from $182,609,988 to $235,071,155 in the year, but of this sum over one hundred millions came in under the free list, being mainly raw materials and articles not produced in this country. Imports from Great Britain totalled $95,666,004 in 1910, an increase of fifteen millions over the figures for 1909.

Since the preferential tariff went into force in 1897 imports from the United Kingdom have grown to $29,328,576. By countries the imports for 1910 were:

United States	$235,071,155
Great Britain	95,666,004
France	10,109,544
Germany	7,935,230
West Indies	7,336,056

Merchandise imported from other countries approximated nineteen millions in value.

DEVELOPMENT OF FOOTBALL.

October is the great football month in Canada. Englishmen play the game all winter long, but with us the season is short and sweet. We hear of a London club winning a victory already at home. London has not had a senior "team" for years, and the juniors deserve encouragement for keeping up the interest in this ancient pastime.

If age counts for as much as beauty, the game of football ought to be held in great respect. But this G. O. G., like the G. O. M., in his day, comes in for much malediction. Some folk-lore, however, tell us that the game arose out of old sacrificial ceremonies in Visigothic times. In the spring and fall an ox or horse was slain, and its parts contended for by the people, who calculated their degree of good luck for the next half-year by the pieces each could secure and hide in stable or field. For the head, a coveted prize, the greatest scuffle took place, often two districts or clans contending against each other in this more important matter. In Rome a horse was sacrificed to Mars on Oct. 15, and two leading wards struggled en masse for the head, which the winners nailed up for the year in their chief public edifice. It must then have been a battered-looking head, a mere bone and a hank of hair. One game a year sufficed the players, and as for the ball, it never came back, a new one being provided next October. Such a contest was not a bad spectacle, in its way, to the gladiator-loving people of the other wards, though punting and passing and signal plays could hardly have been among the fine features, and only the gods refereed the game. It was a religious and proportionately serious encounter, the "sacrifice" not ending, from our viewpoint, with the death of the horse.

In time the primitive scuffle became somewhat regulated. Boundary lines were marked out for the contending sides, who each were to carry the head into their own territory, and so win possession of it. Shrove Tuesday, a Christian festival, was the great field day in ancient England, and even still an old-fashioned football melee is held at one or two places on that date, much the sort of game which "Mr. Dooley" has described as the football of his youth in the Irish village.

As generations passed by, there arose by degrees the modern game, with its inflated ball, its referee and its strict rules.

There was always opposition to this strenuous pastime. Royal proclamations of 1314 and 1349 forbade it. Henry IV. had time between suppressions of rebels and Lollards to punish football players. It is quite a surprise to find a heavyweight athlete like Henry VIII. repressing the game. Imprisonment was the risk run by players under Elizabeth: no wonder the sport was popular. Officials of the early Stuart rather encouraged or enforced the old games, and then, of course, football suffered its one short period of depression, only to regain its popularity in the reaction after the Puritan regime. "Rugby" is the form which it assumed at the famous school, and "Soccer," the latest variant, and widest departure from the ancient religious free-for-all, is now over 50 years old.

AN EXTREME CLAIM.

Mr. Omer Heroux, associate editor of Le Devoir, writes in that journal:

"The Bishop of London is the guardian of the faith and the morals in his diocese. In this domain, and in all that pertains to it, his authority is supreme. But as soon as he concerns himself with the simple and prosaic, he has only the authority—considerable, we admit—which may be conferred upon him by his experience and his talent."

It is to the fathers of families that primarily belongs the right to decide in which language their children will be instructed, what proportion of English and of French, of geography or of history, they will learn.

That clerical authority should be restricted to matters of faith and morals is a proposition that will not be combated by the majority of people in this Province. It is surprising to find it enunciated by Le Devoir, as Mr. Bourassa has been an exponent of ultramontane views. No one alleges, however, that the Bishop of London has tried to enforce his views by spiritual penalties.

The second proposition will not find such general assent. The majority in Ontario would not concede that citizens of German or Italian extraction had any right to demand the teaching of those languages in the schools. Of course, French is in a privileged position, as compared with other non-English languages; it has a constitutional status which no good Canadian should seek to infringe. But Le Devoir goes too far in contending that French-Canadian parents have a right in an English-speaking province to determine the extent to which the English tongue shall be taught in state schools. The parents' rights are subject to the greater right of the state to insist that instruction in English shall be adequate. Le Devoir's argument, pushed to its logical conclusion, would give the fathers of French-Canadian children the power to expel English or to have it taught in such a manner as to be useless. The French-Canadians of Essex, to do them justice, have no such desire, and probably few of them would make such an extreme claim as Le Devoir. They may well pray to be delivered from the hands of their Nationalist friends in Quebec, who are putting them in a false light.

TAY PAY'S GHOST.

(London Daily News.)

Birthday congratulations—all the more heartily because of the issue a few days ago of the first number of his excellent new magazine—fall tomorrow to "Tay Pay" O'Connor. This versatile Irishman, who is now 82 years of age, has spent two-thirds of his life in England, sits for an English constituency with a Scotch name and Irish electors, and has a great fondness for America, where he happens to be at present. He started the Star, then set the Sun in the firmament of Fleet Street, and has since added M. A. P. and T. P.'s Weekly to his creations.

Not content with prodigies of work on earth, he is said, by Mr. Swift MacNeill, to be the creator of a parliamentary ghost, who has been delivered from the dead, and is now in the House, where he happens to be at present. He started the Star, then set the Sun in the firmament of Fleet Street, and has since added M. A. P. and T. P.'s Weekly to his creations.

Curried Veal.—Cut three pounds of lean veal into dice an inch square. Fry a sliced onion in two tablespoons of butter until it begins to color. Strain out the onion, heat the butter to hissing, put in the meat cubes and shake over the coals until heated through and slightly browned. Turn the contents of the pan with a cup of boiling water. Sprinkle over all three tablespoons of finely minced salt pork and a small chop of parsley, cover and stew gently for two hours or until veal is tender. Drain the meat free from gravy, and keep hot over boiling water. Return the gravy to the fire, add salt if necessary. Have ready in a cup a large spoonful of browned flour, wet to a paste with cold water. When smooth add a teaspoon of curry, and stir in well before adding both to the meat. As it begins to boil add the meat, cook for ten minutes and serve. Arrange on platter surrounding the meat with boiled rice.

MARY'S COOK BOOK

Green Tomato Mince-meat.
Chop fine one peck of green tomatoes. Drain and scald twice by covering with boiling water, and allowing it to get cold. Put it in your preserving kettle with five pounds of white sugar, two tablespoons of salt, two pounds of seeded raisins, and one cup of suet. (Most prefer omitting the suet, and adding a little butter as the pies are made). Cook all together slowly until tender. Let cool and add a cupful of cider vinegar, the juice of one or two lemons, and two teaspoonfuls of cloves, cinnamon and allspice, and one grated nutmeg. Make the same as mince pies. This mixture will keep a long time (in a cool place) if prepared according to directions. It cannot be distinguished from the genuine article.

ALL AROUND THE HOME

When making horseradish sauce put the horseradish, after it has been washed and peeled, through the mincing machine. The effect will be just as good as when scraped by hand, and eyes will not suffer.

To clean white plumes immerse in gasoline until thoroughly wet; then shake out and roll up and over in flour. After the flour bath use corn starch and your plumes will come out perfectly white and clean.

To keep oil from dripping on the sewing after oiling the machine, fasten a bit of absorbent cotton to the needle bar just above the needle. Many a nice dress has been spoiled by oil dripping on it, and this is a sure preventive.

CHILDREN'S RIGHTS.

[By M. E. G.]
This is a plea for rights—no, not women's rights, but those of children. "But," someone says, "children have too many privileges already nowadays." True, but the generation is turning out a set of badly-spoiled youngsters. True, enough, doubtless, but still there is one thing we owe the child—his birthright. It is to be natural, and not somebody else whom the parents may fancy.

Today, while walking along a quiet street, I noticed a stately woman and her little boy. The latter was full of spirits, and presently sighting an iron fence ahead, hastened on and had two or three glorious underneaths somersaults around the railing before his dignified parent reached him. He hurriedly placed him upon his feet and administered (as my big brother would say) a sound warning, asking him if "he would never learn to be a little gentleman like Charlie Brown?" I passed on, feeling sorry for the bright little lad and indignant with the mother. Not alone for curbing a natural, harmless impulse on the boy's part, but for sowing the seeds of artificiality within him. Dear knowers, we become hemmed around with convention soon enough, without having to start when we are five-year-olds.

By all means, then, encourage the children to be natural. Guidance in the right direction is, of course, necessary, but as far as possible let the individuality of each child develop. For much restraint and continuous promptings tend to make children self-conscious and embarrassed in company, and thereby hurt the charm and winsomeness of these little men and women is lost.

YOUR SUN AND MY SUN

An East Indian Story For Children
BY SUI SIN FAR.

The sun moved hither and thither in the clear pool. Vally, leaning over, watched delightedly its tremulous motion.

"Oh," cried she to Benji, lying in the long grass under a spreading tree, "the sun is dancing so merrily."

Benji lifted his head and gazed up at the sky.

"'Tis not dancing, 'tis standing still," said he.

Vally glanced upwards, then down again into the pool.

"There are two suns," she said.

"Your sun and my sun!" he said.

"Your sun and my sun!" echoed a water ox near by.

"Your sun and my sun!" mocked the green pigeons in the bamboo.

"That is so," said Benji, coming over to her side and leaning upon her shoulder to look into the water. "Your sun dances, and mine stands still."

"Your sun and my sun," repeated Vally.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: Please tell me how to conduct a silver wedding reception for my parents. What part do they take in entertaining the guests? How long before the reception should the invitations be sent? What can I serve for refreshments?

GREEN COUNTRY GIRL.
A.—The invitations should be written on plain white paper in silver ink, headed by the dates of the marriage and this anniversary, and sent two weeks in advance. For the decorations use flowers in season and silver paper wherever possible. The bride and her daughters and granddaughters are dressed in white. The bride and the bridesmaids stand at the door to greet the guests as they arrive, and mingle with them informally after all have arrived. While refreshments are being served the wedding march is played. The table is decorated with white candles in silver candlesticks, white roses and satin ribbons, edged with silver paper. Serve (if refreshments are to be light) salad, waters and tiny cake and coffee.

Dear Miss Grey: I am troubled with bad breath, possibly from catarrh. Please tell me something to help. I am twenty, and have not yet had a beau. Do you think there is still hope? I have a scar on my head that shows. What will take out the redness?

BLUE EYES.
A.—1. Spray the throat and nose with two or three times a day. Just before going into company wash the nose and gargle the throat with a weak solution of peppermint. Keep the bowels open, keep the ankles, arms and chest warm, and don't wear too tight collars. 2. Plenty of time. 3. Try massage and alternate hot and cold applications.

Dear Miss Grey: I have a message to tell you. I wish to lengthen them, but have no more silk. How can I do it?

ANXIOUS.
A.—Rip the sleeves and carefully press out the wrinkles. If this does not lengthen them the desired amount I can just above the wrist hem wide elumy insertion dyed to match the silk. Use a band of the same lace in the collar.

Dear Miss Grey: I would like to start a courtship with some nice fellow, but never meet anyone. I am called a pretty girl, but somehow I do not take. Could you tell me how to act so I could make an impression on someone? I am a stranger here, and so lonesome.

ANXIOUS.
A.—You're a common yearning. There is no easy way to attract notice and liking. Develop your mind by good reading, hold yourself to cheerfulness and hopefulness, dress as tastefully as possible, and mix with the best people you can. Persist thoroughly and patiently in this course, and you may become popular and in position to choose among many worthy bachelors. This is your only open road to really happy conditions.

BY LOUIS TRACY.
Author of "The Storyway," "The Message," "The Way of the Morning," etc.

"Imbecile!" hissed the prince, his red face blanching, as once before when a man spoke of the perils that hedged a throne in the Balkans. "This is Vienna. I shall be recognized!"

Felix snapped his fingers. "They don't care then, or you, Monsieur, never did. You could have come and gone as years. If you were any time during these thirty years, you would be recognized. Is it or is it not?"

"No—that is, I did not recollect. Your name is hidden."

"Ah, you had something better to look at. Well, who goes to Delgratz? Get the absurd all!"

During this brief but illuminating conversation the Princess and Joan could do nothing but gaze from one man to the other in mute surprise, and the latter, gripped by measure that Felix spoke of, felt his father with such scant courtesy, the steps of the sleeping-cars, she mansest to whisper tremulously to the Princess:

"Please don't be angry with Monsieur Poluski. His brusque manner often gets him into trouble. Forgive me for saying it, but your son knows him well, and it would do anything that lay in his power to help to help King Alexis III."

"Poluski? Do you also know him?"

"Yes."

"Have you met him in Paris?"

"Yes."

"But I have never seen you at the Rue Boissiere."

"No. We met at Rudin's, and sometimes in the Louvre."

"And does he know that you are coming to Delgratz?"

"No, I assure you."

The Princess hesitated. It was not in her kind heart to think evil of this singular frank-looking and attractive girl, but she had a feeling that she had been carried away by her maid and attendant saw her again that evening. She felt bruised and buffeted as though she had been carried among rocks by some irresistible current. Even her mind regretted the impulse that had led her to take this journey. Felix, as friend and artistic tutor, was invaluable; but in the guise of mentor for a young woman world, and nothing more to depend on than her artistic faculties, and a small income from a trust fund, and a small tinct failure. What would Alec think of all? And what would Alec's mother say when her son told her that Joan Vernon was the woman he meant to marry?

Two Minute Talks About PANDORA RANGE

for Coal or Wood

HAVE you seen the Perfect Spring Door on the warming closet? It is the newest Pandora feature.

The ordinary door, when opened, is inside the warming closet and takes up valuable space.

But the Perfect Spring Door, when opened, is entirely outside of the warming closet. By being outside it adds two inches to the height of the space inside the closet. That extra space provides room for fourteen more dinner or dessert plates. The door cannot drop down and smash the dishes because the spring holds the door up out of the way until you desire to close it.

The Perfect Spring Door is a convenience worth having. There are more than a score of other conveniences on the Pandora. Our Pandora booklet tells about them. Send for a copy.

In the name of Providence, what is going on?" demanded Monseigneur of the driver.

"It is the King's order, your Highness," said the man, glancing at the sharp muzzle was off—by request. "The castle is to be demolished and a new National Assembly built on the site."

"No," said Monseigneur. "Those Paris rags, pandor to republicanism. Every word, every act, of an impetuous youngster like Alec is twisted into an argument against the older monarchism. Give an eye to the mean-looking building on the right. That is the Chamber of Deputies. Alec made the speech there that won him a throne. Who would have believed it? Just a few words, and he became King!"

Something in Prince Michael's tone caused his wife to look at him sharply. "You are not growing envious, Michael?" she asked.

"No," said Monseigneur. "I am not. Because I shall keep you to our compact," she said, with a firmness of manner that surprised the pompous little man by her side. He had been answered in that way so seldom during their married life that the novelty was displeasing.

"What, then, are you saying?" he cried. He stifled the next words on his lips; for the horse passed under an arch, and not even the studied repose of a princely boulevardier could conceal his new amazement.

An industrial army was busy in and around the famous residence of the Kings

USE ENGLISH LANGUAGE
FOR OPERATIC PURPOSES

Arthur Lawrason, a Former Londoner, Tells Why He Believes in This.

In a recent issue of Musical America appears an interesting interview with Mr. Arthur Lawrason, a former Londoner, who is now considered one of the few really great vocal teachers in America. He is an advocate of the English language for concert and operatic purposes, and gives good reasons for his opinions. Musical America says:

It is the fashion among many music teachers today to impress upon all with whom they come into contact the high hopes which they entertain of the future of the English language in song and opera. And then, when pupils come to them in the seclusion of their studios, they teach them to sing in every tongue except the one they have so highly advocated. A notable exception to these is Arthur Lawrason, the vocal instructor of New York, from whose studio have come artists of such repute as Lina Abarbanell, Louise Gunning and Sallie Fisher, of comic opera fame, and Regina Vicario, the young soprano, formerly of the Manhattan Opera Company, and whose achievements have recently aroused musical San Francisco.

Some years ago Mr. Lawrason visited his friend, Edouard de Reszke, at the latter's home in Paris. Mr. Lawrason could speak no French at the time and was advised by the great baritone to learn the language, in order to be able to teach such French students as might visit his studio in America. De Reszke was somewhat startled when the young instructor announced that he declined to learn French with that end in view, and declared that the foreigners, on the contrary, would have to learn English before studying with him.

"From that purpose I have never departed," declared Mr. Lawrason, a few days ago. "I am an advocate of the use of the English language on the operatic and the concert stage, and I teach no other. Foreigners have made us learn their languages in order to study with their teachers, so I don't see why in the world we should not begin to make them do the same. What I have come to work with is Edouard de Reszke was rather amazed when he heard my ideas on the matter, but experience seems to be showing me pretty clearly that I am right."

"In teaching my pupils proper diction, I make them go over every single syllable until they have it absolutely to my satisfaction. That is what I did with Lina Abarbanell, just before she appeared in the 'Merry Widow.' It is an absurd idea to think that slovenly enunciation makes for purity of tone production. The fact is, it does precisely the opposite."

"I cannot agree with the opinion recently expressed by the Northerners that different languages require different placements of the voice. My experience has proved the contrary, and the pupils whom I have instructed in tone production and English diction have been able to sing with equal facility and clearness of enunciation in French, Italian, German, or anything else. There is the case of Miss Vicario, who is a New Yorker by birth. So fluently does she enunciate the Italian language that I have heard native Italians at the opera who were ignorant of her American origin speak of her as their countrywoman. And I remember that on one occasion she attended a banquet in Newark at which she was introduced to a certain newspaperman who declared that he had always thought she was French or Italian, and had therefore never undertaken to seek an introduction before, since he was not conversant with either of these languages."

Mr. Lawrason does not concern himself with interpretation, repertoire, and the like. But whoever has gone from his studio has gone away with the ability to produce tone and words in a manner calculated to satisfy the most captious critic. It may interest many to know that Emma Trentini, who is to be the star of the Manhattan Opera House comic opera, and who at present has barely a speaking acquaintance with the English language, has undertaken to prepare herself for her work under Mr. Lawrason's guidance.

GEBHARDT GUILTY OF KILLING ANNA LUTHER

He Shot Her Because He Wanted to Return to His First Wife.

Riverhead, L. I., Oct. 21.—Frederick Gebhardt, accused of the murder of Anna Luther, was found guilty today by a jury in the supreme court here. The jury was out about fifty minutes, and when the jurors returned to the court room, Gebhardt showed signs of nervousness. It was exactly 12:35 when the case was given to the jury. After announcing their decision, Justice Asmus said:

"Gentlemen, I want to thank you. The verdict is a proper one. There never was a clearer case of murder in the first degree ever presented to a jury in the State of New York than this one, and any other verdict would be the grossest miscarriage of justice and a lasting disgrace on this county."

Gebhardt is 39 years old, and was born in Germany. He is convicted of shooting to death the Luther girl because he wanted to return to his first wife. He once served twelve years in jail for grand larceny and perjury.

BARGE BURNS.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]

Chatham, Oct. 22.—Torn loose from her moorings by the current, the barge Lycoming, of Towanda, owned by J. C. O'Connor, which put into Ronny harbor yesterday afternoon during a storm, became wedged between piers last night, and accidentally caught fire. When the current turned the barge was run aground in the harbor, where she was burned to the water's edge.

AGAIN POSTPONED.

New York, Oct. 22.—Because of the rain which started to fall during the morning, the automobile match race between Barney Oldfield, the noted driver, and Jack Johnson, the negro champion heavyweight fighter, which was to have been run at Sheepshead Bay this afternoon, was postponed. The new date for the race has not yet been decided upon.

CUBAN LEADERS IN BITTER FIST FIGHT

General Andrade and Colonel
Aguirre Clash Over Police
Order—Duel Will Result.

Havana, Oct. 22.—Gen. Freire Andrade, who, with a group of his party, went to meet Gen. Menocal at the wharf on the latter's arrival from the United States, had a violent altercation with the captain of the port, Col. Aguirre, who had refused to obey orders given to the police intended to prevent a tumult.

In the heat of the argument Col. Aguirre slapped Gen. Andrade's face whereupon the blow was returned and both were badly bruised in the ensuing clash.

Gen. Andrade being a Conservative leader, and Col. Aguirre a prominent Liberal, the trouble is expected to produce an undesirable effect at this critical electoral period.

Rural Guards commanded by Lieut. Miranda, had an engagement with Solis and his band at Santo Tomas farm, in Ciego de Avila, Camaguey. Lieut. Miranda and a soldier were seriously wounded.

Lieut. Miranda killed his guide, Cervantes, on the spot, after he became aware of the latter's understanding with the bandits.

NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS
A GREAT ORATOR

Noted Speaker to Lecture in St. Andrew's Hall on Tuesday, 25th.

A critic of Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, the noted preacher and lecturer, speaks as follows of his style on the platform:

Mr. Hillis' manner on the platform is quiet and undemonstrative. He never moves to one side of his desk. He makes few gestures. He talks with clear-cut enunciation to his audience. There is no churning of the waters of oratorical excitement. A cued animation alone reveals any fresh accession of feeling. Before him lie only a few notes or catch words, to which he seldom refers. The discourse flows out free, easy, uniform and full fed. A constant listener to Rev. Dr. Hillis for the last six months, the writer cannot recollect an instance where the preacher hesitated for a word or substituted one for another; neither a phrase nor a sentence which, when uttered, seemed susceptible of improvement.

A TRIBUTE TO
MR. JOHN DEARNESS

Stratford Beacon Says He Is an Excellent Example of His Own Theories.

The Stratford Beacon says:

Before the technical education commission of London, Vice-Principal John Dearness, of the London Normal School, strongly criticised the rural schools of Ontario, according to press reports, declaring that not teaching boys from 14 to 18 to be able to work did not turn out the proper quality of men. Vice-Principal Dearness is himself an excellent example of what teaching boys to work does. He was brought up on a farm, and not only had to help on it mornings and evenings and holidays, but at times when help on the farm was urgently required, to say at home and assist when school was open. His education as far as schools are concerned was completed at the Toronto Normal School, but by private study during the years spent as public school teacher, inspector of schools for East Middlesex, and vice-principal of the London Normal School, he has acquired more than one university degree. It may incidentally be noted that his public school education was obtained in the old log schoolhouse at S. S. No. 6, Blanshard (Fish Creek), and in another log schoolhouse in S. S. No. 7, Bidulph, then known as the Jernyn Linn school. Its successor of brick, being now known as the Grant school. Work, physical work, is indeed good for a boy between 14 and 18, whether on the farm or in the city or town. It puts stamina into him.

SAW BABY KILLED

Mother Was Looking Through Window at the Time.

Toronto, Oct. 22.—Mrs. John Spence looked from the front window of her home at 753 Manning avenue yesterday and saw her 4-year-old son killed by a truck belonging to the Dr. Henry T. Machell, of 95 Bellevue avenue.

Last night Coroner Clarke opened an inquest at the morgue, and after the jurors had viewed the body, an adjournment was made until Wednesday evening for the trial of the chauffeur in charge of the automobile, was arrested by Detective Alex. Murray on a charge of criminal negligence, and afterwards admitted to bail in two sureties of $1,000 each, furnished by two relatives.

CANADIAN CHEESE

Trade With England Falling Off, Owing to Increased Home Consumption.

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Mr. E. D. Arnaud, trade commissioner at Bristol, reports as follows:

"There is very little demand this season for fodder-made cheese, and likely to be less in future seasons, owing to the increased popularity of the New Zealand article. Nor is the quality so good as last year, the best description of Canadian cheese being loose in make and the shrinkage on fresh landed parcels abnormal. Allowances by Canadian factorymen do not compare favorably with allowances by New Zealand factories."

Less colored cheese is coming to this port every season. Not so much complaint is heard about color flying in stored lots. A noticeable feature is the growing popularity of New Zealand cheese, the instances by the absorption of some 6,000 tons over the previous season, without any marked fall in prices.

There is only a normal consumptive demand for Canadian cheese this season, in spite of the high prices ruling in other departments of the trade.

Canadian butter has ceased to be a factor in the market, and is not inquired for by the retail trade, probably owing to the small quantity available from Canada, and the increasing supplies from Ireland, Denmark and Siberia during the summer, and Australia and New Zealand during the autumn and winter. The Canadian butter trade is now considered by this port—once the largest importer—as a thing of the past.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nerve. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS,

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

MARK TWAIN'S LIBRARY WILL BE DISPERSED

Humorist's Collection of Books and Manuscripts To Be Sold at Daughter's Order.

New York, Oct. 24.—Literary treasures of the late Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) are to be sold at auction in this city, and among them will be many manuscripts and documents the contents of which have never been published. His house, Stormfield, near Redding, Conn., is to be sold, and his daughter, Mrs. Ossip Gabrilowitch, has decided to sell the bulk of the library, retaining only such books as have intimate family associations and signed volumes from living authors which were presented to her father.

The collection, which will be dispersed by the Anderson Auction Company, consists of three parts. In the first division are library books, many of which have the autograph of the distinguished American humorist; presentation copies from other authors, and annotated copies, for Mr. Clemens had a delightful way of inscribing quaint conceits and opinions on the margins of the volumes which he read in his leisure hours.

The second and third divisions of the collection consist almost exclusively of the original manuscripts of many of his books, with their interlinations and corrections, and many unpublished manuscripts. They are observations which the writer made for his own use. Sometimes he started to write a story and it came out a philosophical dissertation and was put away in some pigeon-hole and forgotten. Among the things which will be included in the catalogue are scraps of paper, old envelopes and the like on which Mr. Clemens wrote fugitive observations on various subjects.

There are also reams of correspondence, some of it to imaginary persons, for at times the author felt the inclination to relieve his mind on various subjects on which he thought deeply. There are also note books in which are set forth ideas, sketches, outlines, which form a fascinating miscellany and give the reader a glimpse into the workings of a resourceful mind. Many of the comments upon current events made in this confidential manner, it is said, are as interesting as some of his best work which has appeared in print. The preparation of any of this material which may be published has been entrusted to Mr. Albert Bigelow Paine, Mr. Clemens' literary executor.

Every examiner hereafter will keep for his own use a complete file of all extended borrowers in his district from which lists will be sent to the treasury department for summarizing.

CRISIS IN JAPAN

Count Komura May Be Forced to Resign.

Pekin, Oct. 22.—Japanese advices indicate that a cabinet crisis exists. In all probability Count Komura will be forced to resign the foreign portfolio. The opposition to Count Komura is due to the alarm over the change in British sentiment growing out of the Russo-Japanese convention, the annexation of Korea, and especially the anti-British features of Japan's new tariff.

The violence of British criticism has aroused fear in the highest quarters and the conviction is strong that Count Komura will be sacrificed. Baron Kato, ambassador in London, probably will be his successor.

PHILADELPHIA AMERICANS WIN BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP FLAG BY TAKING SUNDAY'S CONTEST

Big Pennant Taken by the Athletics by Sizzling Work in the Eighth Round in Which Five Runs Are Scored and the Entire Team Faces Brown—Old Master From the Mines Shows Splendid Control for Seven Rounds But Could Not Go the Limit—Cubs Won on Saturday.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—"The Athletics and the American League."

That is the toast of millions of fans throughout America, for today Connie Mack's great ball team overwhelmed and slew Frank Chance's National League champions in the fifth and deciding game for the baseball championship of the world. The score was 7 to 2.

Coombs.

COOMBS' WORK MARVELLOUS.

How could any manager turn a deaf ear to such a request? The trainer of the White Elephants consented, of course.

And Coombs dwarfed all his previous efforts by literally pitching the Chance machine off its feet.

He stood out there for nine furious rounds with that great throng of humanity letting loose throat-bursting yells at him every time he wound up to pitch the ball. He smiled back at them and answered their taunts by striking out top-notch hitters when runs threatened. He was unconquerable, and when the last Cub was out in the ninth, a little detail attended to by that prince of shortstops, Jack Barry, the small coterie of fans from Philadelphia gathered around the Athletics' bench and nearly congratulated the good right arm of Coombs. He had won three out of four games needed to give Philadelphia the only world's championship it ever had, so why shouldn't he be in line for some hearty slaps on the back?

The game was far better than the score would indicate. Until the eighth round the teams were running along neck and neck, with Coombs leading his worthy foe, Mordecai Brown, by only one run. It was 2 to 1, and nobody dared say whose game it was at that stage, though Coombs looked well able to hold his slight margin. But in the eighth the Athletics rallied for their running rampant. They fell on Chance's best pitcher and left him a bleeding wreck. It was a crusher. Cub fans—and they were game—saw the worst slaughter of a really great pitcher they had beheld since 1906, when the White Sox beat him for the big flag.

SCORE FIVE IN THE EIGHTH.

The whole Philadelphia team came to bat in that slashing, sizzling session, and the five runs were counted on hits by Coombs—it was fitting that the pitcher should lead the attack, with Lord, Collins and Murphy. Brown had pitched himself out by the strenuousness of his work to hold his own in the early rounds. His reserve strength wasn't there when the Athletics rallied for their undoing by handing out two bases on balls during the melee and one heart-breaking wild pitch which let Dan Murphy home with the fifth and last run of that inning.

JACK MCCALL INJURED

Suffers Pott's Fracture—Second Defeat
of University Men in Two Weeks.

The London Rugby team defeated the Western Meds, in Tecumseh Park on Saturday, to the merry tune of 15 to 0.

Notwithstanding the incessant rain a fairly fast game was played, although the Meds. were up against it from the early part of the contest.

In a practice shortly before the game was called, one of the London players, John D. McCall, now of Parkhill, but formerly of this city, had his leg broken with a Pott's fracture. Dr. C. S. Moore was called to attend him, and he was hurried to Victoria Hospital, where his injury was dressed. Even with this loss one of the best players, the London team were still able to roll up a heavy score in their favor.

The teams lined up in order:

The Teams.

Meds Started Well.
The Meds. started off strong, Overholt returning the ball with great force in several hard pinches, and Doupe's fancy tackling and Riley's fast runs promised something for the black and purple. However, Gilles, on a kick from Morrison, made one point behind the dead line, and a few minutes later McQueen effected a touchdown after a hard 25-yard run through a scattered field. It was converted by H. Wright, making a total of 7 points for the London Juniors.

The Meds' kick-off was nearly caught by McKnight, who made 20 yards in return. McAlley bucked just before half time.

Collins Injured.
In the first half Collins, a Western player, had his eye badly cut, but was able to continue playing.

The second half opened strong, with some nice plays on both sides, but although the Meds. worked hard they were out-classed again by the Juniors.

Chatto suddenly effected a nice touchdown, which Wright again converted. McKnight next made a sensational 20-yard dash on a run over the top of the goal, which Overholt was unable to run out, another point was gained for London.

Fortune then gave a faint promise of favor towards the Meds. On a forward from Lackey the half-backs gained a penalty kick, and Chatto, being off-side, London lost an additional 10 yards. Another daring 25-yard dash was pulled off by Riley, and then Wilson made a clever buck. Doupe and Strickland made several more nice tackles, but notwithstanding this, Morrison pulled off a 20-yard run, which brought the ball dangerously close to the Meds' goal. Sage made one more point over the dead line just before time was called, making the score for the second half 8 to 0.

Archie McMahon referred to everybody's satisfaction.

ARGOS TAKE CLOSE ONE FROM MONTREAL 16-15

Binkley Scores Ten of Winners' Points
—Great Game at Rosedale.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]
Toronto, Oct. 22.—Rosedale field today was the scene of one of the most stubbornly-contested games seen in a long time.

Montreal looked all the way a winner in the early part of the game, but Argos improved as they went along, and won 16 to 15.

Binkley took advantage of the wind and kicked to good advantage. He scored 10 of the 16 points for his team, and showed excellent judgment at all times. Argos' wings had no trouble holding Montreal, and if it had not been for the sensational work of Savage and Cameron, wings for Montreal, the oarsmen would have had no trouble in pulling out an easy win. Murphy was the star runner on Argonaut back division.

Argos—Full-back, Disette; halves, Levack, Binkley, Murphy; quarter, Newport; scrimmage, H. Brown; Russell, W. Brown, wings, Sinclair, Grant, Bancroft, Meeghan, Murray, Moore.

Montreal—Full-back, Stinson; halves, Craig, Williams, Hastings; quarter, H. Baillie; scrimmage, Kalls, McAllen, Ryan, wings, Egan, Kelly, J. Baillie, McMurty, Cameron, Savage. Referee, H. Hayes; umpire, F. Robins.

PARKDALE BEATEN

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Dundas, Oct. 22.—Dundas defeated Parkdale in a senior O. R. F. U. match this afternoon, the score being 19 to 7. The teams lined up as follows:

Dundas (19)—Full-back, Martin; halves, Suter, Mallett, Newton; quarter, Laid, scrimmage, Smith, Fleming, Norton; wings, Martin, Rycroft, Wells, Mason, Craig, Graham.

Parkdale (7)—Full-back, Adams; halves, Hunter, Cummings, Henderson, Russell, Woods, Skuce; wings, Doane, Pell, Crawford, G. Adams, McDonald, Brown.

Referee, Brady; of Dundas; umpire, R. W. Parker, of Toronto.

Blue Unable to Score by Rushing or Any Other Way.

Captain Fred Dyer tried four goals from drop-kicks, not one of which came near the mark. Three times the Yale team was held for downs inside the ten-yard line, and once two yards from the goal in the third period a Vanderbilt player wrenched the ball away from Philbin.

IS LOST BALLOON IN NORTH ONTARIO?

Party Arrived to Make Thorough Search For America II.

THE CREW ALL MISSING

Considerable Anxiety Is Felt Over the Non-Appearance of Big Balloon, as the Others Have All Turned Up.

New York, Oct. 23.—Edmund M. Stratton, of New York, representing the Aero Club of America, will arrive in Ottawa, Ont., today, to take active charge of the work of searching for the missing balloon America II, and its occupants, Ala R. Hawley and Augustus Post.

Mr. Stratton is accompanied by William Hawley, brother of the missing balloonist. They have credentials to the Governor-General of Canada, and a letter from Cortland T. Field, Bishop of the Aero Club of America, requesting that every possible assistance be rendered them in their work.

Systematic Search. They will organize a central bureau in Ottawa, and will immediately engage the services of two civil engineers, to plan relief expeditions. All the other information thus far gathered will be collected together with the Canadian Government's weather report in an effort to place as nearly as possible the course which the balloon probably took.

They will confer in Canada with Lewis Spindler, who has been sent to Toronto by the St. Louis Aero Club. The Aero Club officials will be in charge of the New York end of the search. They are still hopeful that some message may be received from the aeronauts within the next 24 hours, telling of a safe landing in the northern wilds.

The course of the America II, as mapped out by the Aero Club officials, and the aeronauts were in the possession, seems to lie through the country beyond the Georgian Bay. This is the wildest kind of a wilderness, and the aeronauts were completely alone to drop there they may be a long time getting back to civilization.

May Break Records. To officers of the Aero Club here, it seems very probable that Messrs. Stratton and Post have surpassed all the other records made, and that they will eventually be located several hundred miles further from the starting point than anticipated.

Both are experienced balloonists, and men of iron constitutions, easily able to withstand the hardships of a prolonged flight; both expressed a determination to keep in the air as long as their balloon could gain distance; both believed that the longest records heretofore made could be far surpassed. They have both exercised good judgment in conserving their gas and ballast, keeping their position, and landing carefully.

BISHOP FALLON'S SERMON

Roman Catholic Church to be considered the only church which had maintained the Christian faith in all ages, and which, by its moral teaching, had saved the world from the ravages of other religions. Bishop Fallon, in his sermon, declared that the Roman Catholic Church was the only church which had maintained the Christian faith in all ages, and which, by its moral teaching, had saved the world from the ravages of other religions.

SIR GEORGE W. ROSS IS GREAT ORATOR

Principal Hutton Compares His Speeches With Roosevelt's.

Toronto, Oct. 22.—"No greater orator ever ruled Ontario's Parliament than Sir George W. Ross," said Principal Hutton, of University College, and a sectionman, in his address to the Scientific Society in Convocation Hall last night. This reference to the ex-premier of Ontario occurred while the speaker was insisting on the advice given in the ex-premier's speeches to the Literary Society to avoid the pitfall of the American orator—the slang of the street. From this he turned to ex-President Roosevelt's speeches on his triumphal entry into New York, and his triumphal entry into Europe, and noted one constantly recurring train: "Well, boys, this is bully."

He was found lying beside the fence, the entire charge having entered his breast just below the armpit. Her father, in the meantime, was hunting for the girl, and Bratton, who had lived on the proceeds of her immoral life, was arrested through the immigration office.

Isaiah, xlv, 6: "And we all do fade as a leaf," furnished the text for Rev. H. B. Christie's evening sermon in the Methodist Church last Sunday. The lesson of the falling leaves was very logically and impressively presented, the dominant thought being that human beings are destined to serve a useful purpose during their lifetime, and that the inevitable fate of fading leaves is a very helpful talk on Work and Worry. He deplored the modern tendency to a too strenuous life of worry and anxiety, exhausting the vital energies, robbing so many people of the joy of living, shortening their years of usefulness and tending to tax the capacity of our limited faculties. Work and rest is a better combination.

Major and Mrs. Green, singing evangelists, conducted special meetings in the Salvation Army barracks here on Sunday.

Postmaster Gibson is in Toronto as a member of the special committee engaged in revising the constitution of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

PREFER SILK SOCKS TO GETTING MARRIED

Irish Clergyman Talks Plainly to British Youth.

London, Oct. 22.—That the desire of young men to decorate themselves in sartorial finery is the prime cause why many fail to place their necks under the yoke of matrimony is the assertion of Rev. Samuel Hemphill, a distinguished Irish clergyman.

"It seems that the young man of today," said Dr. Hemphill, "prefers patent leather shoes and spats and a fortnight's swelling about a watering place or a game of billiards at a club every night to the delights of family life. Their wages in most cases will not permit them the sartorial adornment and some sort of a club and a wife, so they go in for flashy clothes and let a lot of sweet girls pine out their lives in maidenhood."

"Better the love of a sweet wife than all the silk socks and gaudy waistcoats in the world."

MAY AMEND BRITISH NORTH AMERICA ACT

Premiers of Ontario and Quebec May Call a Meeting.

Toronto, Oct. 24.—The Interprovincial conference held Saturday in Toronto resulted in the discussion of a proposal, it is understood, to amend the British North America Act, so that the number of representatives given each province when it entered confederation will be the minimum. Above that minimum the present system will continue to govern.

It is likely that the premiers of Ontario and Quebec will call a formal meeting of provincial representatives to discuss this and other matters in detail, and to take definite action.

At the last session of this parliament of provincial premiers, held at Ottawa, the heads of the Ontario and Quebec Governments were appointed joint conveners of future conferences. It was the original intention to hold these gatherings every year, but the difficulties experienced in securing the convenience of the various interests involved in the absence of misist subject matter caused this purpose to be abandoned in the two knights who placed upon the two knights who presided over the pioneer provinces.

The primary purpose of the proposed conference will be to discuss the basis of representation in the Dominion Parliament as it affects the various provinces. The point is raised, it is understood, by the Maritime Provinces, which are threatened with further loss of representation as the result of the coming census. Under the British North America Act the Province of Quebec is the standard for determining the basis of representation, and the fact that the census returns showed that the population grew more rapidly in this province than in some of its eastern sisters, resulted in a shrinkage of their representation in Parliament. For instance, it is pointed out that when Prince Edward Island entered confederation in 1873, she was accorded six members, while at the present time her representation is reduced to three.

The proposal to secure an amendment to the act under which the minimum representation of the various provinces will be fixed at the number they were given when they entered confederation, is a danger beyond that point. As to the basis above that minimum, the present system with Quebec as the standard, will continue to govern.

PHILADELPHIA AMERICANS WIN

In the world. The Athletics were there to triumph and the Cubs were cuffed into complete subjection.

It seldom falls to the lot of even a world's championship team to win its title in such clean-cut fashion as Mack's men did today. They went through the whole battle with a fumble by Baker as their only misplay. The fielding of Jack Barry at short easily put into the distant shade any other meritorious features except the stanch pitching of Coombs. To be sure, Collins hit like a madman, with two screaming two-baggers and a single to his credit, but in the field most of the glory went to Barry.

SHORTSTOP BARRY ACCEPTED SIX CHANCES.
Only six chances went Barry's way, but they all looked like base hits until he snatched them up and converted them into outs. His support of Coombs was what kept the Cubs at bay in the early rounds. Naturally the devastation caused by the Athletics' hitting in the eighth left the Cubs in such a groggy condition that Coombs didn't need any further protection.

Manager Mack made a change in his line-up for the last game, sending Topsy Hartel to the top of the batting order in place of Strunk. Topsy was a vast improvement over Amos. The white-head scored two runs, stole two bases and hit safely once. Likewise, he jumped into the left field seats and clawed down a two-bagger for Joe Tinker at the start of the Cubs' portion of the seventh round. He almost disappeared from view, but quickly sallied forth with the ball in his hands and the catch was allowed. Had that hit got away at the start of the lucky seventh the Cubs might have put something over. It was well to stop trouble there.

Another change in the line-up of the Athletics was occasioned by an injury to Catcher Thomas' throwing hand in yesterday's game. Lapp went behind the plate to handle Coombs' delivery and the young fellow was there like a duck. He caught almost perfect ball, throwing runners out in splendid style, and don't overlook the fact that it was Lapp's good single in the fifth which put the Athletics into the lead, 2 to 1, they having scored one in the first and been tied up ever since.

COOMBS HAS LOT ON BROWN.

While the hits were nine for each team, Coombs pitched rings around Brown, excelled him in every way, particularly in control.

It was nothing for Coombs to get three balls and no strikes on a batter and then go ahead and whip the next three over. Willness was the lanky one's only trouble in his other game.

This time he had marvellous command. He had that curve hitting the ball's eye all the time and the Cubs were helpless. Coombs had learned the weakness of every one of Chicago's men and in the pinches they were hanging on the ropes.

Perhaps the feat that stands out above everything in the series was Coombs' grand work in the fourth inning when the score was a tie at 1 to 1. Jack gave his only base on balls in that session, Hoffman being the lucky man to receive it—and after two strikes had been called on him. Manager Chance tried to bunt Hoffman ahead, but Coombs kept pitching the ball high and fast to the Cub leader until the demon boss tapped one at the pitcher. Coombs snatched it up and forced Hoffman at second. Zimmerman clouted one to left for a sack and when Baker booted Steinfeldt's grounder, the only break in the Athletics' grand defence, the sacks were full with only one out.

ATHLETICS IN A HOLE.

That was a sensation to drive Chicago mad. The rotters were up on their toes, and say talk about welcoming T. R. in the west, that was nothing with the hullabaloo. It seems to require just such crisis to bring out the best there is in Coombs. Tinker was the first man up, and Joe is some tough customer to deal with at such times.

Coombs studied his man carefully, and put everything he had in his box of tricks into every ball he pitched. Joe took three healthy wallops, shook his kinky head and walked to the bench. The crowd sank back in the seats with a groan, although they still had some hope in Archer, whose timely two-bagger won yesterday's game for the Cubs. Archer could do no more than Tinker, not as much in fact, since he missed the ball by a foot instead of inches.

Coombs doubtless would have shut the Cubs out had he pitched more carefully to Manager Chance. He made Chance look foolish, and then laid the next one over, instead of trying to make the boss hit at wide ones. A two-bagger resulted, and it blossomed into a fine young tally. Jack was as careless in the eighth, and let Chance drive home the Cubs' other run when studious work probably would have prevented such a thing. He had runs enough behind him then so that he did not begrudge the manager of the fallen idols another hit, and he served up one already tagged for a single. That was small solace for the home fans, though.

BROWN'S EFFORT PRACTIC.

There was something pathetic about Brown's pitching. The old master was himself for seven rounds, and gave Coombs all Jack wanted to handle. But the wise ones were predicting that something was coming to Brown, since he seemed to be wearing himself down by his supreme efforts. For seven rounds his curve ball was a wonder. He struck out seven men with it, and ordinarily had little difficulty keeping the Athletic sluggers within bounds. That still, however, the cyclone struck him.

Four hits were all the champions he made off him until the eighth opened. But Brown could go no further. He had shot his bolt, and staggered through the next to the last round on his nerve. That avails little against a gang of terrorists out for the biggest championship in the sporting world, and bundles of prize money, which is another reason for rejoicing at victory.

Davis.

Brown has been the best pitcher on Chance's payroll since the Cubs won their first league pennant in 1906. He was certainly the only choice for this emergency, but he couldn't go the route.

The whaling even Brown made the Cub fans so much the sicker. It left them not a crumb of consolation. Twice the stake had been started for the National League people to do now but admit that the Athletics are away beyond the Cubs' class. When one stops to think of the scores in this series—4 to 1, 9 to 2, 12 to 5, 3 to 4, and 7 to 2—with the Cubs forced to go ten innings to get their only victory, and that being extremely lucky, he can get some estimate of the difference in the teams.

by Davis. Schulte taking third. Chance up.

The first ball pitched hit Chance on the finger but the umpire ruled that he had stepped into it.

Schulte scored when Chance tripled to deep centre. The noise in the stands was ear-splitting. Zimmerman popped a fly to Barry.

Baker reached over the stand and captured Steinfeldt's fly. One run. Score now stands 3 to 3 at the end of the ninth.

Tenth Inning.

Philadelphia—Archer took Baker's foul. Davis doubled to right. Davis was caught at third, Kling to Steinfeldt, Murphy being safe on a fielder's choice. Barry struck out. No runs.

Chicago—Tinker hit a pop fly to Barry. Archer doubled into the left centre ground. Steinfeldt hit. Davis. Archer taking third. Sheekard singled on the first ball pitched, scoring Archer.

was out, Murphy going to third on the catch. Lord struck out on a low curve inside the plate. No runs.

Chicago—Tinker hit a high fly to the left field foul line, Hartel making a nice catch of the ball. Archer struck out on a pretty drop ball. Brown was out, Barry to Davis. No runs.

Eighth Inning. Athletics—Coombs hit the first ball into right for a single. Hartel failed to sacrifice on the first two, then hit to Tinker, forcing Coombs at second. Lord missed the first one for a strike, Hartel stealing second. Lord, with two strikes, hit a high fly to the left field for two bases, scoring Hartel. Collins took a strike, tried to bunt the second, and then doubled to right, scoring Lord. Collins stole third on the first ball pitched. Baker hit to Zimmerman, and Collins was out at the plate. Davis had his base on four pitched balls. Murphy hit a single off Zimmerman's shins, and Zimmerman's bad throw to the plate both Baker and Davis scored. Murphy going to third. Murphy scored on a wild pitch. Barry walked. Lapp was out on a grounder, Brown to Chance. Five runs.

Chicago—Sheekard had two and two and then doubled to left. Schulte was out, Barry to Davis. Hoffman swung hard at two fast ones and struck out on a fast one through the centre. Chance let two strikes go by, then

ATHLETIC TWIRLERS THREW ONLY 621 BALLS

An Average of 124 Per Game—Statistics Are Busy With Figures.

[Associated Press.]

Chicago, Oct. 24.—In final defeat of Chicago for the world's championship, Coombs, the Philadelphia pitcher, who already had won two games, threw only 120 balls to the plate, while Mordecai Brown, the Cub twirler, in his effort to stop the team which finally became champions, hurled 142.

As compared with the former games, Coombs' twirling was about equal. On Monday at Philadelphia Bender threw 120 balls to the plate. On Tuesday Coombs threw 151, the game in which he gave nine bases on balls. On Thursday he threw 120, and on Saturday he threw 142.

Chicago pitchers in the opening game in the east threw 101 balls to the batters. On Tuesday 149, and on Saturday 135, as against 142 yesterday.

During the series the Chicago pitchers threw 659 balls to the plate, as compared with 621 by the Athletics.
