THE BATTLEFIELD

ONCE this soft turf, this rivulet's sands,
Were trampled by a hurrying crowd,
And fiery hearts and armed hands
Encountered in the battle-cloud.

Oh! never shall the land forget
How gushed the life-blood of her brave,
Gushed, warm with hope and courage yet,
Upon the soil they fought to save.

Now all is calm and fresh and still;
Alone the chirp of fitting bird,
And talk of children on the hill,
And bell of wandering kine are heard.

No solemn host goes trailing by The black-mouthed gun and staggering
wain;
Men start not at the battle-cry;
Oh, be it never heard again!

Som rested those who fought; but thou
Who minglest in the harder strife
For truths which men receive not now,
Thy warfare only ends with life.

A friendless warfare! lingering long
Through weary day and weary year;
A wild and many-weaponed throng
Hang on thy front and flank and rear.

Yet nerve thy spirit to the proof,
And blench not at thy chosen lot;
The timid good may stand aloof,
The sage may frown,—yet faint thou not

Nor heed the shaft too surely cast,
The foul and hissing bolt of scorn,
For with thy side shall dwell, at last,
The victory of endurance born.

Truth, crushed to earth, shall rise again;
The eternal years of God are hers;
But Error, wounded, writhes in pain,
And dies among his worshippers.

Yea, though thou lie upon the dust,
When they who helped thee flee in fear,
Die full of hope and manly trust,
Like those who fell in battle here.

Another hand thy sword shall wield,
Another hand the standard wave,
Till from the trumpet's blast is pealed
The blast of triumph o'er thy grave.

WILLIAM COLLIER BRYANT.

THE MUD LARKS

NOBODY out here seems exactly infatuated with the politicians now-a-days. The Front Trenches have about as much use for the Front Benches as a big game hunter for mosquitoes. The bayonet professor indicates his row of dummies and says to his lads, "Just imagine they are Cabinet Ministers—go!" and in a clock-tick the heavens are raining shreds of sacking and particles of straw.
The demon bomber fancies some prominent Parliamentary member is lurking in the opposite sap, grits his teeth, and gets an extra five yards into his bowling.

But I am not entirely of the vulgar opinion. The finished politician may not be a subject for odes, but a political education is a great asset to any man. Our Mess' President, William, once assisted a friend to lose a parliamentary election, and his experience has been invaluable to us. The moment we are tired of fighting and want billets, the Squadron sits down where it is, and the Skipper passes the word along to William. William dusts his boots, adjusts his tie and heads for the most prepossessing farm in sight. Arrived there he takes off his hat to the dog, pats the pig, asks the cow after the calf, salutes the farmer, curtsies to the farmer's wife, then turning to the inevitable baby, explains in the language of the country,
"Mong Jow, keli jolly onfong!" (Gosh, what a topping kid!), and bending tenderly over it imparts a lingering kiss upon its indiarubber features and wins the freedom of the farm. The Mess may make use of the kitchen; the spare bed is at the Skipper's disposal; the cow will move up and make room for the First Mate; the pig will be only too happy to welcome the Subaltern to its modest abode.

Ordinary billeting officers stand no chance against our William and his political education. "That fellow," his believer disgruntled competitor remarks of him, "would hug the Devil for a knob of cake." Once only did he meet his match, and a battle of Titans resulted.

In pursuit of his business he entered a certain farm-house, to find the baby already in possession of another officer, a heavy red creature with a monocle, who was rocking the infant's cradle seven-five revolutions per minute and making duet noises on a moustache comb.

William's heart fell to his fish boots;
he recognized the red creature's markings immediately. This was another politician; no bloodless victory would be his; furwardly first, powder burn—Wow!

The red person must have tumbled to William as well, for he increased the revolutions to one hundred and forty per minute and broke into a shrill lullaby of his own impromptu composition.

Go to sleep, Mummy's little Did-ums;
Go to sleep, Daddy's little Thing-me-jig; Nevertheless this did not suffice our

Why does Canada Raise Money by Selling Bonds?

BONDS are issued payable in ten or twenty years, as the case may be. It means that repayment of the money will be spread over ten or twenty years instead of being raised by taxation to meet current expenditures. To raise by taxation all the money as fast as it is needed to carry on Canada's share in winning the war, would be an unbearable burden upon the people. It would mean that more than a million dollars a day would have to be raised right now.

But to raise money by selling Canada's Victory Bonds means that those of the next generation who will benefit by the sacrifices this generation is making;—who will share in the freedom this generation is fighting for and largely paying for—will also pay their share.

And when you buy Canada's Victory Bonds you make a first-class business investment in a security that is absolutely safe, likely to enhance in value after the war, and bearing a good rate of interest. You help the country by keeping open the British market for Canadian products and this helps the general welfare in which you share.

And again, every Canadian who buys a Victory Bond becomes a financial partner or backer of Canada in the war. When you buy a Canada Victory Bond you give a personal pledge that you are going to help to win the war.

Every man and woman in Canada can help to win the war by buying Canada's Victory Bonds. And Canada wants the personal, individual interest and co-operation of every man and woman in the country.

The buying of Victory Bonds by the whole people unites them in a determination to win the war.

Every purchase of Canada's Victory Bonds is a blow for freedom against the tyranny of German Kultur.

Every bond sold is a new guarantee that Canada is in the war to the finish, until victory is with the Allies and the world has been made safe to live in.

Every bond you buy is a new pledge that Canada will remain true to herself, the Empire, the Allies and to freedom's cause.

So it is both patriotic and good business to Buy Canada's Victory Bonds

in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

NEW JERSEY MAY TAKE OVER FISHING INDUSTRY

Trenton, N. J., October 25.—Gov. Edge is expected to recommend to the 1918 Legislature that New Jersey undertake State operation of the fishing industry off its coast, and the distribution and sale of fish in cities, towns, and communities. This move would be one of the most advanced steps toward paternalistic government, and is contemplated because of the food crisis due to war conditions.

Early this year the Governor recommended in a message to the Legislature State-owned fish warehouses, to be maintained along shore. A High Cost of Living Commission is expected to make a report on the possibilities of a State operated fish industry, together with distribution of the catch, and to report on the success or non-success of such governmental activities in various parts of the world. When Governor Edge puts his new plans before the next Legislature, it is expected that he will become known throughout the nation as the originator of a new plan for communal feeding.

For some years now the increasing price of fish has been a matter of surprise and distress to the New Jersey housewife. Pamphlets urging the use of fish as a meat substitute have been issued by Federal, State, and municipal commissions, but the perplexed housewife found that the cost of fish had become as great as meat itself. She realized that her patriotic duty might be to eat fish, but the strain on her pocket-book has been as tense in buying mackerel as mutton.

New Jersey's opportunities for more than pamphletting about fish are great. Her proportionately large coast line is lined with fishermen, and her large cities are within a few hours' haul of the coast. But the fact remains that fresh fish cannot be bought, even in the near-by communities, at reasonable prices. A great deal of the fish offered for sale is frozen, indicating that it has been taken to New York, the distributing centre, and then shipped back to New Jersey.

Whether the high price of fish is the fault of the retailer or of the middleman, or whether the trouble is at the source of supply, the State Commission has not made known. But the fact that the administration is now advocating State ownership of the fish industry would seem to indicate that the problem can be solved. The State owns the waters three miles out from its coast, and theoretically speaking all the fish that swim therein, just as the State owns the game in the wild lands and marshes of the commonwealth.—New York Evening Post.

HEAVY GALE SWEEPS ALL BEFORE IT

One of the worst storms on record swept through this locality on Tuesday afternoon and night, doing a tremendous amount of damage. The morning was intermittently rainy, and a stiff breeze was blowing the force of which gradually increased towards the afternoon till between 11 and 12 o'clock at night, when it was blowing a gale. The velocity of the wind was well over 60 miles an hour between 11 and 12 o'clock, and began to abate after midnight with the receding of the tide. A 12 o'clock high tide is always a full one, but the fury of the wind on Tuesday brought the water to a very high level, sending it dashing over the lower wharves of the harbor and up to the roadway where the bridge crosses the brook that drains from the property of Mr. Bowler. The rain ceased before 12, and the raging waters were wildly beautiful as they tossed their spray to the tops of the buildings along the waterfront. Towards Wednesday morning the wind slackened to a breeze, and by the afternoon an almost dead calm prevailed.

Damage was done to all the weirs in the neighbourhood, and some of them were so badly smashed as to be almost a total loss to their owners. Many boats and seine reels were completely destroyed, and many went adrift and have not been recovered. The telephone and telegraph systems were disorganized. A great many trees were blown over, three of Lady Tilley's fine old trees which border her property on the north side amongst them. Two of the trees fell in the direction of Mr. M. N. Cockburn's residence, missing it by a few feet, and the other fell across Prince of Wales Street. The large flag-staff near Mr. J. J. Odel's residence was broken; the roof of Mr. Howard Rigby's bathhouse was carried away; the windmill on the Van Horns estate was completely destroyed; and one of the chimneys of Kennedy's Hotel was blown into the alleyway between the hotel and the store adjoining. Hardly any property in town escaped without at least some minor damage. The violence of the storm has only been surpassed by the famous Saxby Gale, and one very strange feature of it was that as the force of the wind increased there was a rise of temperature. It is safe to say that the actual cost of the damage done in this locality can be reckoned in thousands of dollars.

Its tonnage is figured at about 1,350, while dead weight will be about 2,100 tons.

Will Class One Provide The One Hundred Thousand Men?
It will be greatly to the advantage of Canada if the entire quota of 100,000 men to be raised under the Military Service Act can be secured from the first class; that is, from the men between the ages of 20 and 34 who were unmarried or widowers without children on July 6th, 1917.

Two or three rivermen appeared at the edge of the chute. A moment later old man Reed ran up, carrying a rope. This, after some difficulty, was made fast to the bow of the waigan.

DEPARTURE OF FATHER MEAHAN It is with very sincere regret that we have to record the departure of Rev. A. W. Meahan, D. D. who left on Wednesday to assume the pastorate of the church of St. Stephen at Milltown, N. B. During his all too short stay here Father Meahan not only had the goodwill of his parishioners of the Church of St. Andrew, but held the esteem and respect of the whole community. His leave-taking was unmarked by any demonstration, at his own request, but the members of his Church presented him with a purse containing a substantial sum of money. Father Meahan is succeeded in the Church of St. Andrew by Rev. David S. O'Keefe, who arrived here on Wednesday from Kingsclear, York County. Rev. Miles P. Howland, a distinguished native of St. Andrews, takes over the Pastorate at Kingsclear vacated by Father O'Keefe. We give below the biographical sketches of the reverend gentlemen taken from the St. John Telegraph, of October 8.— Father Meahan was born in Sheldiac, and after receiving his primary and high school education in the schools of this city, went to St. Joseph's College, from which institution he graduated with the degree of B. A. in 1894. He then commenced his theological studies as a teacher in the college and afterwards finished at the Grand Seminary in Quebec. He was ordained to the priesthood on July 19, 1897, and was appointed curate at the Cathedral, which position he held until he was appointed rector of the Cathedral parish in 1903, by His Lordship Bishop Casey. He remained in that position until 1913, when he became pastor at St. Andrews. Father O'Keefe was born in Carleton Place, Ontario, and after completing his primary and high school education in this city, went to St. Joseph's College, where he took his arts course. For a time he was in newspaper work here and in Montreal. At Laval Seminary, in Quebec, he took a course in theology and philosophy. In 1905 he was ordained to the priesthood by His Grace Archbishop Casey, and was appointed to the Cathedral where he remained until 1913, when he was transferred to Kingsclear. While attached to the Cathedral Father O'Keefe was appointed editor of the New Freeman, and held that office until succeeded by Father McLaughlin. Father Howland was born in St. Andrews in the year 1881, and after receiving his primary and high school education, moved to Calais. Later he went to St. Mary's College in Pennsylvania, where he completed a classical course. In 1906 he went to Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax, where he took a four-year course in philosophy and theology. In the year 1910 he was ordained to the priesthood in St. Stephen, N. B., by His Grace Archbishop Casey and was then appointed curate to Rev. F. L. Carney in Fredericton. After remaining there for three years he was transferred to the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception of this city. Soon after coming to this city Father Howland was appointed chaplain of St. Joseph's Society and later chaplain of the Home of the Good Shepherd. While occupying these positions he won the hearts of all by his genial manner and zealousness and devotion to his sacred calling. Being a member of the C. M. B. A., the A. O. H., and the Knights of Columbus, he naturally took a deep interest in the workings of these societies. From time to time he addressed these societies and in addition to being recognized as a pulpit speaker of ability, won recognition as being one of the most eloquent lecturers that ever addressed these organizations. In addition to his parish at Kingsclear Father Howland will be in charge of the missions at New Market, Cork, and Hanwell. OBITUARY HIS HONOR G. W. GANONG, LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR St. Stephen, N. B., Oct. 31. Although expected for the past week, yet when it was heard that His Honor Lieut.-Governor Ganong had passed away at an early hour this morning, the whole town was plunged into gloom and sorrow. Flags are flying at half mast on all buildings out of respect, not only to the Governor of the Province, but to the splendid man who had done so much to aid every good work that came to his town and to all patriotic work and things since the war began. There is no citizen that will be so much missed as Mr. Ganong. He came to St. Stephen from King's County when a young man, and engaged in business which has increased until the splendid business of Ganong Bros., Ltd. and the fine group of buildings on Marks and Water streets was completed, and stands as a monument to his energy, judgement, and ambition. He leaves a widow, who was Miss Maria F. Robinson, oldest daughter of the late Mr. John B. Robinson, of St. Stephen. Their married life was one of happiness and devotion to each other. As yet no arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is known that the interment will be in the St. Stephen Rural Cemetery. His Honor Gilbert W. Ganong was born at Springfield, Kings County, May 22nd, 1851, of United Empire Loyalist stock on both sides of the house. He received his early education at Hatfield's Point, under W. Y. T. Sims, one of the most efficient teachers of his time. He attended Provincial Normal School with the late Hon. George T. Baird and E. A. Powell, K. C., and received a first class certificate. He taught school in Fairville for three, and in St. John for one year. Mr. Ganong went to St. Stephen, May 1st, 1873, and engaged in business with his brother, the late James H. Ganong, at first in the commission business, but ambition soon led them into other lines and they commenced the manufacture of confectionery and later commenced the manufacture of soap. The candy business expanded, and to meet a growing demand they entered largely into the manufacture of confectionery in different forms. The growth of the business has been constant and the enterprise has grown until the volume this year will approximate $1,500,000. In a few years after its establishment, James H. Ganong sold his interest in the confectionery business, and bought out the firm's interest in the St. Croix Soap Manuf. Co., which also is now a leading industry of St. Stephen. Hon. Mr. Ganong has been president of Ganong Bros., Ltd., since its incorporation, president of Chipman Memorial Hospital several years, president of the Ontario Graphite Co., Ltd., and chairman of the Board of School Trustees of St. Stephen for many years. A consistent Conservative and upholder of the national policy, he took a foremost part in political affairs, but did not offer for political honors until 1896, when he was elected to the House of Commons from Charlotte County. He was re-elected in 1900, but suffered defeat in 1904, and did not again present himself to the electors. Mr. Ganong, while he took politics very seriously, did not quarrel with his opponents, and had numerous friends in the ranks of those on the opposite side. Mr. Ganong was appointed Lieutenant Governor of his native province on June 28, only four months ago, and he discharged the duties of his position with impartiality. Lt. Gov. Ganong had a wide acquaintance throughout the Dominion, and everywhere his death will be learned with deep regret. One of his last public acts was to take part in the great war convention at Montreal. His last visit to St. John was made less than a month ago to preside at a great public meeting in the Imperial in connexion with the Salvation Army congress. One of the many acts of kindness Mr. Ganong did was to send annually to every inmate of the Provincial Hospital a generous box of candy. Since the commencement of the war, Mr. Ganong has given freely his time and means to its demands, and it was largely through his well directed efforts that this country has made the splendid showing that it has in this war. In the early stages of the war, and as long as companies could be found to take the risk, Mr. Ganong insured the lives of all soldiers going from this section, a thoughtful act that has been of benefit in more than one saddened home. Lt. Gov. Ganong was married in 1876 to Miss Maria F., daughter of Mr. J. B. Robinson, by whom he is survived. Hon. Mr. Ganong has one sister living, Mrs. Wm. Perkins, Ottawa; and many nephews, among whom are Mr. Walter Ganong, of St. John; Mr. J. E. Ganong, Toronto; Mr. Arthur Ganong, St. Stephen, and Prof. Ganong, of Smith College, Mass. Ganong, Roxbury, is a niece. GEORGE B. STUART The death occurred at Stuart Town, Deer Island on Friday evening, Oct. 12, of Mr. George B. Stuart after a long illness, at the age of fifty-eight years. Deceased was a man of sterling character, and with his passing, Deer Island has lost one of her most upright and worthy citizens. In religion he was a Disciple of Christ, and was a valued Deacon of the Church of Christ at Lord's Cove, and always took a deep interest, in anything pertaining to the welfare of his church. He is survived by a wife, and two sons, Guy N. and Everett; and two brothers, Alonzo A. and Joseph G. of Stuart Town; and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Fountain of Chocolate Cove, and Mrs. George Dossou of Boston, Mass. The funeral was held from the Disciple Church at Lord's Cove on Sunday afternoon, October 14, Rev. Mr. Hatfield officiating, and interment was made at Mount Hope cemetery at Richardson. HENRY GOSS St. George, Oct. 31. The funeral of the late Henry Goss, who died on Saturday morning, was held from his late home on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. DeWolf, of the Baptist Church, held services at the house. Mr. Goss had been failing for some time. He suffered from the dread effects of the stone dust, having for many years been engaged in the granite industry. He was fifty-one years of age, and leaves a widow, and two daughters, Iva, telegraph operator at Island Falls, Me.; and Laura, training in a hospital near Boston. Mr. Goss had many friends, who will bear his death with regret. A life long resident of St. George, he was known and loved by all. He was a member of the Baptist Church, and a staunch Liberal. Interment was in the rural cemetery. The pallbearers were H. V. Dewar, Harold Goss, Chas. Craig and Edward McGuire. Among the mourners attending the funeral from outside were Mr. Harry Smith, M. L. A., of St. Stephen, Mrs. S. L. Lynott, of Woodstock, and Mrs. E. A. Young, of St. John West, cousins of the deceased. DANIEL B. BUBOT At Leonardville, Deer Island, on Oct. 23, the death occurred of Daniel B. Bubot in the 74th year of his age. He had a paralytic stroke on 30th of May last, and never recovered from the effects. His wife, who survives him, and to whom he was married on Jan. 10, 1869, was Miss Lizzie Rodgers; and the two children of the union, a son and a daughter, also survive. There are also two grandchildren. The funeral service was held in the Leonardville Christian Church, of which the deceased was an Elder, and was conducted by Rev. H. T. Brown, of the Temple Church, Lubec, Me. Mr. Bubot numbered many friends, and much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family. PRINCE CHRISTIAN London, October 29.—Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein died at his London residence last evening after a long illness. Prince Christian was born in 1851 and married in 1866 to Princess Helene third daughter of Queen Victoria. JAMES VALENTINE MCGEE Back Bay, N. B., Oct. 24. Very sad and sudden was the passing out of Mr. Jas. Valentine McGee on Saturday, 13th inst., at the age of 56 years. He had been ill for about two weeks but had recovered sufficiently to enable him to go to the Post Office, where he was stricken with heart failure, and before medical aid could reach him, he had passed away. Mr. McGee was a highly honored and respected citizen, and his death is mourned by all. Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn his loss, an aged mother, Mrs. Priscilla McGee; one brother, John, of this place; and an adopted son, Mr. Russel Hooper. The funeral services were conducted from his late home on Monday afternoon, by Rev. C. A. Hatfield and were very largely attended. The hymns sung by the choir were "Calling Me over the Tide," and "Some Sweet Day." The pallbearers were Messrs. Leander, Zacheus, and George McGee, Thomas and Bowman French, and Frank Leavitt, all cousins of the deceased. An impressive service was conducted at the grave by the Seaside Lodge of the Independent Order of Foresters, of which deceased was a member. WILLIAM JAMES HERSCHTEL London, October 25.—Sir William James Herschel, discoverer and developer of the system of identification by finger prints, died yesterday. Sir William James Herschel was born on January 9, 1833. He was educated at Clapham Grammar School, and received the degree of M. A. at Oxford. He served in the India civil service from 1853 to 1878. In 1859 he discovered the use of finger prints as a means of identification, and after proving their individuality and persistence for nearly twenty years initiated the modern system of identification for civil purposes in 1878. He was the grandson of Sir William Herschel, the famous astronomer, and the son of Sir John Frederick William Herschel, the first baronet of that name, created in 1833, whom he succeeded in 1871.

HOME-GROWN VERSUS COMMERCIAL SEED ON FIELD ROOTS

(Experimental Farms Note)

One of the reasons why root seed growing has not been practised to any extent in Canada before, is the rather widely spread idea that Canadian climatic conditions are not as favorable to the production of high class seed as are the conditions in those European countries upon which Canada has relied in the past for her seed supply.

Experiments, conducted the last few years by the Experimental Farms System all over the Dominion, most conclusively prove that Canadian grown seed in no respect is inferior to imported seed. On the contrary, it produces better crops than does imported seed.

Mammoth Long Red Mangel seed, raised at the Central Experimental, Ottawa, in 1915, produced a root crop in 1916 which averaged, when tested at nine of the Dominion Experimental Stations, over two and four-fifths tons more to the acre than imported seed of the same variety.

Yellow Intermediate Mangel seed, originated at Ottawa, was tested at seven Experimental Stations and produced, on the average, 3 tons 750 pounds more roots to the acre than imported seed.

Under the circumstances there seems no reason why Canada should, in the future, rely on foreign countries for her root seed supply. There is an opening, now, for a new agricultural industry and, indeed, it is believed that the development and firm establishment of that industry will bring untold advantages to Canadian farming in general.

OLEOMARGARINE

"Oleomargarine" is defined in the Ordinance as including "oleomargarine, margarine, butterine, or any other substitute for butter which is manufactured wholly or in part from any fat other than milk and cream, which contains no foreign coloring matter and which does not contain more than sixteen per cent. of water."

Persons wishing to manufacture or to import oleomargarine must first obtain a license from the Food Controller and such license may be cancelled in case of violation of any of the regulations.

Oleomargarine manufactured in Canada must be produced under the supervision of the Minister of Agriculture and no oleomargarine may be imported into the Dominion unless it has been manufactured under Government supervision in the country of production.

Every package containing oleomargarine must be clearly marked as such. Hotels, restaurants and public eating places where oleomargarine is served must display a card with the words "Oleomargarine served here," in capital block letters not less than one and one-half inches long.

The necessity of allowing the sale of oleomargarine in Canada under present conditions was explained by Mr. W. J. Hanna, Food Controller, in an interview today. Mr. Hanna said that he was well known that people must have animal fats in sufficient quantity. Butter had advanced until many people were unable to buy it.

Moreover, butter seemed likely to go still higher in price because the present price was not commensurate with the fat content, with the price being paid for whole milk.

"There were only two courses possible," said the Food Controller. "We could have fixed an arbitrary price but the result would have been to reduce the production of butter by diverting milk into other channels. It must be remembered that the price paid to the producer in Canada for milk is determined in very large measure by what the condensing plants are willing to pay for it.

The high price offered by the condensing plants, in turn, is due to the price being paid for condensed milk by the Allies' buyers. The cost of producing milk has advanced greatly since the beginning of the war, and the farmer must receive a price which not only will cover his costs but also give him a reasonable profit.

"The other course was to allow the use of a substitute and this is the course which we adopted. I may say that I do not expect that our action in allowing the sale of oleomargarine in this country will result in any reduction in the price of butter. The overseas demand is practically unlimited, when compared with Canada's production. Moreover, the price of butter in the United States to-day is at least as high as the price in Canada.

The average retail price of butter in the United States for September was 50 cents per pound. The regulated wholesale price in England was 53.76 cents per pound. At the beginning of the war, Canada was importing at the rate of more than seven million pounds of butter per year, chiefly from New Zealand and the United States. These imports have dwindled to a very small trade, principally at local points from the United States.

"Meanwhile our exports of butter have increased enormously. In the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, our exports of Canadian butter totalled 1,228,753 pounds. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1917, they had been increased to 7,909,439 pounds. Since then the increase has continued. While our exports have been increasing, prices of butter to the consumer have advanced from about 35 cents per

"Will the week-end habit survive the war?" asks Arthur A. Raumann, in the Fortnightly Review.

"Between motors and railways locomotion had become so easy and quick that people got into the habit of running out of town on Fridays, to spend Saturdays and Sundays at the houses of such of their friends as lived within fifty miles or so of Hyde Park Corner.

"In these adverse conditions it is difficult to see how the great country houses—the Chatsworths, Blenheim, Welbeck, and Luttrells—can be run at all.

Washington, October 26.—The scope of the Espionage and Trading-with-the-Enemy acts in so far as they affect the postal service, and how they are to be enforced against disloyal publications, is explained at length in a letter to publishers made public yesterday by Albert S. Burleson, Postmaster-General.

As interpreted by the Post-Office Department, the acts make it unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association to mail, or to transport, or carry, or otherwise publish or distribute during the war printed or matter:

(1.) Advocating or urging treason, insurrection, or forcible resistance to any law of the United States.

(2.) Conveying false reports or false statements intended to interfere with the operation or success of the military or naval forces of the United States, or to promote the success of its enemies.

(3.) Intending to cause insubordination, mutiny, or refusal of duty in the military or naval forces of the United States.

(4.) Intending to obstruct the recruiting or enlistment service of the United States, to the injury of the services of the United States.

(5.) The circulation or publication of which involves the violation of any of the numerous other criminal provisions of the Espionage act, but which are not of special interest to publishers.

TIME TO CLEAN CHIMNEYS With the close proximity of cold weather necessitating the making of heat, the National Fire Protection Association is distributing a circular which advises the cleaning of chimneys, thereby to save fuel and reduce fire hazards, besides giving advice how to clean chimneys and to extinguish such fires.

"If people can be educated to understand that it costs the city as much for the Fire Department to attend to a chimney fire as to a fire in a business district with $10,000 loss, it may interest them to look after their chimneys."

"Fires in chimneys are due primarily to accumulations of soot. Accumulations of soot are due to imperfect combustion of fuel and to neglect to clean chimney at proper intervals. Wood and bituminous or soft coal, under the best conditions, produce more soot than anthracite or hard coal."

the spring or fall is also a dangerous practice in this respect. To prevent soot it is essential that furnaces should be properly designed and installed with reference to the kind of fuel to be used. Much can be done by intelligent firing. Comparatively small charges of coal put on at frequent intervals and spread upon a portion of the fire-bed only, will produce better combustion than is possible with large charges at infrequent intervals.

The best method for cleaning is to employ an expert chimney sweep. Where such services are not available, the common method of lowering a brick wrapped in canvas by a rope from the top of the chimney, and swinging it around inside will be found effective.

Fires in chimneys can sometimes be extinguished with hand chemical extinguishers from below. Bicarbonate of soda thrown upon the fire will unquestionably retard the blaze, though it is extremely unsafe to rely upon this method for total extinguishment.

Montreal, Canada, has an ordinance which the National Association suggests would be well for American cities to enact. This ordinance provides that each chimney used in connection with a wood-burning stove, grate, or range, or heating apparatus, shall be swept twice each year, if the Superintendent of Buildings deems it necessary. The sweeps, licensed and appointed by the Board of Commissioners, are under the control of the Superintendent of Buildings.

THE INDIVIDUAL USER Here's an idea—Do you think a small typewriter that will do big work would save you time in that writing you have to do—Think it over and let the arrangement for total extinguishment of the "LITTLE" Remington.

A druggist can obtain an imitation of MINARD'S LINIMENT from a Toronto house at a very low price, and have it sealed his own production. This greasy imitation is the poorest one we have yet seen of the matter that every one who has used Dick and Harry has tried to introduce.
