

Three More Boats are Reported Sunk To-day Military Situation in Holland Now Less Tense

THREE MORE BRITISH SHIPS REPORTED LOST

Two Blown Up, But the Crews Saved, and One Sunk.

VEGA ARRIVES AT COPENHAGEN

French Passenger Boat Was Shelled Without Warning.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, April 8, 11.40 a. m.—The loss of three more British vessels was reported to-day by Lloyd's. The steamship Braunton and the Schooner Clyde of Whitstable were blown up. The crews were saved. The steamship Chantala was sunk.

The Braunton, 4,575 tons gross and 380 feet long, was built in 1911 and owned at Cardiff, Wales. Her recent movements are not reported. She arrived at Spezia, Italy, from Philadelphia on December 18.

The Chantala was in London on March 10, and was booked to sail for Calcutta. She was built in 1913, was 495 feet long, 4,940 tons gross and was owned in Glasgow.

The Clyde of Whitstable, 204 tons gross, was built in 1871.

SEIZED HER CARGO.

The Swedish Steamship, Vega, which was captured by a German torpedo boat has arrived at Copenhagen, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from that city. The captain reported that the Germans seized the cargo of steel before releasing the steamer which had been taken to Sweden.

NO WARNING.

Marseilles, France, April 8, 12.50 a. m.—The large passenger ship Colbert was shelled without preliminary warning by a submarine in the Mediterranean, but being under a full head of steam she escaped her aggressor by superior speed, at the same time sending wireless warning of the submarine's presence to other ships in the vicinity.

The Colbert of 5,394 gross tons, 377 feet long and 47 feet beam, was built in 1908 at French Mediterranean ship yards.

Admiral Dead.

Rome, April 8.—Admiral Giovanni Bortolo, several times minister of marine in the Italian cabinet, is dead.

Authority on Irrigation.

London, April 8.—Sir Colin Campbell Scott-Moncrieff, well known as an authority on irrigation, died in London Thursday. He was born in 1836.

Wilson P. Heyward, head of the banking house of Heyward and Co., Baltimore, Md., was found dead in his home with a bullet in his brain.

AIRMAN'S METHODS ARE NOT HEROIC BUT SCIENTIFIC

Lieut. Immelman of the Germans, Like the Hawk, Strikes Only Once.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, April 8.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at British headquarters who has been studying the work of the famous German airman, Lieut. Immelman says in a despatch, printed to-day:

"Immelmann is a doughty enemy, but his methods are less heroic than scientific. He does not seek adventure as such, or run avoidable risks, but he hunts deliberately with the single aim of destroying enemy air craft. His plan is simple, but effective. He mounts to a great height—usually 13,000 feet, which of course can only be reached under favorable weather and cloud conditions.

"Thus he has great reserve of speed and striking power and can observe with impunity, even well over the British line because the anti-aircraft artillery cannot reach him. As soon as he observes an enemy plane below he sweeps in one long, straight and even dive. His plan is to pass in a rapid diagonal just behind the enemy, at whom he fires continuously as soon as he comes within range. It is hit or miss with him.

"Just as some hawks strike once and once only, and if they fail, make no effort to retrieve the issue, so with Immelman. Whatever his success or lack of success while employing his drum of bullets, he does not alter his tactics. He makes no effort to pursue, but continues to dive until it brings him safe home."

CENSOR RIGHT IN THE OFFICE

Socialist Party Plays Safety First Game With the Vorwaerts.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Berlin, April 7.—Via London, April 8.—The Vorwaerts informs its readers of the decision of the Socialist party caucus forbidding the Vorwaerts as a party organ to print anything that is "calculated to further disorganize the party and also thereby to injure the Vorwaerts as a business undertaking." The caucus based its action on the fact that the Vorwaerts has been officially designed as the party organ and hence is bound to obey instructions.

The editors of the Vorwaerts admitted this in a short statement and announced that the orders will be followed. The caucus placed one of its members in the office of the Vorwaerts to censor all proofs. The censor has already forbidden the publication of an article by Herr Bernstein.

MEETING OF THE W. H. A.

Ladies of South Brant Will Furnish a Private Ward.

The meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid took place in the Library on Friday morning, presided over by the President, Mrs. Schell and was well attended and of more than usual interest. The Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were read and approved. Receipts during the month were $70.75; disbursements $39.80.

WATER WORKS' MEN ENLISTING

Assistant Engineer Newrick Has Joined the 125th.

Herbert Newrick, who has been a faithful employe as assistant engineer at the Water Works pumping station for nearly ten years, has enlisted with the 125th Battalion under Col. Cutcliffe. The Board of Water Commissioners were very sorry to lose his services, but he felt that it was his duty to do his share in this great struggle, and advanced the argument that men who were not physically fit to fight could do his job, and that the Empire required every available man that was in condition and able to go to the front.

Harry Pollock and Ted Owens were employed at the water works in the same capacity for many years. They are all in the same regiment doing their bit. It made quite a shake-up in the pumping station, but the commissioners did not wish to influence the men when they felt it was their duty to serve their King and country. Their only hope is that they may return safely and be able to resume their duties.

REPORT NOT RECEIVED YET

President Wilson Goes on Week-end Cruise on the Potomac.

Washington, April 8.—Germany's reply to the inquiry of Ambassador Gerard as to whether German submarines attacked the British Channel Steamer Sussex and other merchant ships, carrying Americans, was momentarily expected to-day.

Unofficial advices from Berlin stated that Ambassador Gerard had forwarded a preliminary report. It had not arrived early to-day.

President Wilson was aboard the Mayflower to-day on another week-end cruise down the Potomac. Any information received on the submarine situation will be forwarded to him promptly by radio. The president took with him all the data on the Sussex and other cases prepared by the state department. He planned to remain away until to-morrow night or Monday morning, unless definite word is received from Germany in the meantime. Administration officials have agreed to defer any decisive step until a full opportunity had been allowed the imperial government to present its side of the case.

Noted Inventor Dead.

Pittsburgh, April 8.—Louis B. Fulton, aged 75, president of the Chaplin, Fulton Manufacturing Company, and widely known as an inventor, is dead at his home here.

A rooster that attacked a small boy in Montclair, N. Y., was bought by the boy's father and deprived of its head.

SINKING OF THIS VESSEL MAY CAUSE BREAK

THERE IS STILL SOME UNCERTAINTY AS TO WHETHER OR NOT AMERICAN LIVES WERE LOST WHEN THE CROSS CHANNEL STEAMSHIP SUSSEX WAS SUNK EITHER BY TORPEDO OR MINE. SHOULD IT DEVELOP THAT AMERICAN LIVES WERE LOST WHEN THIS STEAMSHIP WENT DOWN AS A RESULT OF A TORPEDO FROM A GERMAN SUBMARINE, A BREAK BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GERMANY IS INEVITABLE IN THE OPINION OF WASHINGTON OFFICIAL CIRCLES.

PERMISSION TO CALL UP CLASS OF 1917

Dutch Government Takes Further Steps of Protection.

SITUATION IS RELAXING

British Legation at The Hague Denies That Ultimatum Was Sent.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, April 8.—A bill has been submitted to the second chamber of the Dutch parliament to authorize the government, in view of the prevailing extraordinary circumstances, to call up if necessary the recruits of the 1917 class, says a Reuter despatch from The Hague.

A BERLIN STORY

Berlin, April 8.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—Reports from Holland state that the British Government has asked Dutch ship owners to make trips each year to British ports with British goods, says the Overseas News Agency. In case of refusal Dutch ships, it was stated, would not receive pilots for passage through mine fields along the British coast, nor would they be allowed to take coal from British stations. The Dutch ship owners refused, and in future their ships will sail around Scotland.

NO ULTIMATUM.

London, April 8.—(New York Sun cable)—The military situation in Holland is relaxing, according to an Amsterdam despatch, which announces that leave will again be granted to officers of the military transportation staff of the state railways.

The statement printed in the Avondpost of The Hague on March 3, that Great Britain had sent an ultimatum to Holland demanding the passage of British troops through Holland, caused the following statement to be issued by the British Legation at The Hague:

"In view of the unwarranted statement of the Avondpost concerning the attitude of Great Britain towards the Netherlands, the British minister has appealed to the Netherlands government concerning this false report which is calculated not only to excite the public but especially to arouse public feeling against a nation whose relations with the Netherlands at present are absolutely friendly and who will always endeavor to maintain them.

"As the British minister is informed it is impossible under the law of the Netherlands to institute proceedings against the Avondpost, he is obliged to take this unusual method of informing the people of the Netherlands. His government heard with great disgust of the methods employed to sow distrust of the British government in this country, and trust that any renewed efforts to rouse sentiments in a similar manner will meet the complete disbelief they deserve."

Firenze, the $50,000 Long Branch, N. J., summer home of Daniel Guggenheim, was burned and with it many antiques and costly furnishings.

A SHIP ON FIRE AT SEA

A war-time drama, in which the name of the ship is not given out.—(Exclusive Courier Pictorial Service, in conjunction with the London Daily Mirror.)

The Late Captain the Hon. A. T. Shaughnessy

A severe shock was caused through the Dominion of Canada, especially in military circles, when it became known the other day that Capt. the Hon. A. T. Shaughnessy, of the 60th Battalion, had been killed in action.

The death of Capt. the Hon. Alfred Thomas Shaughnessy will cause a pang of grief to many friends, both military and civil, in Montreal. He was a very gallant Canadian gentleman in the truest sense of such a phrase.

On leaving McGill he entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. in order to learn business methods. He started at the bottom, first in a subordinate position in the office of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, later in the Steamships Department, under Vice-President G. M. Bosworth.

He had been for a number of years an active officer of the 2nd Victoria Rifles, joining that battalion as a subaltern in October of 1910. He was regarded as one of the most promising young officers of that battalion.

When Lieut.-Col. Gascoigne undertook the organization of the 60th Battalion for which he, with his brother, the Hon. W. J. Shaughnessy, qualified himself, he took a keen interest in recruiting and other work for the battalion.

AGED 93 AND NEVER YET SNAPPED.

Superstition still survives in County Antrim, and an illustration was recently furnished by a remarkable incident which occurred at a place called Aghadalin, near Crumlin, and he accompanied by his brother, the farmer paid a visit to Belfast, and on their return in the evening a story circulated that the farmer had been in consultation with a witch, who produced a mirror, in which was reflected the guilty party, and she assured them the lost money would soon return.

The Situation.

The tremendous struggle near Bethincourt, and around Haucourt, still continues with unabated fury. The Hunns got into some three hundred yards of the French lines near the first named place, but at last accounts the French were driving them out by counter attacks. It is generally agreed that the German troops are literally being massacred. One statement is that they have lost thus far 200,000 men in the Verdun operations including many of their picked forces.

The London official report confirms the fact that the enemy have retaken part of the ground at St. Eloi captured by the British on March 27th. Canadians are stated to be in this fighting.

The British forces still continue to advance along the Tigris and it is stated that the Turks are sending one of their former Prime Ministers to London for the purpose of opening negotiations for a separate peace.

Sweeping Sale.

London, April 8.—The match manufacturers of Great Britain and Ireland have decided to suspend sales and deliveries. They claim that the government has taken for fixing the match tax, which became effective last Wednesday, a basis which makes it impracticable to fix prices. The government taxes matches by the thousand, whereas matches are sold by boxes.

Disfranchisement of Slackers.

Recruiting results have been so remarkably good in Brantford and Brant County that the problem of how best to get at the slackers has not presented itself here as it is in some other places. In this regard the Oxford and Woodstock Recruiting League has now formally expressed its sympathy with the memorial to the Dominion Government adopted some time ago by the Hamilton Recruiting League in favor of a military census as a basis for a systematized method of securing recruits.

The suggestion has been made that those who are fit to offer themselves in this time of Empire crisis and who have not done so should be disfranchised. In this regard the Hamilton Herald says:

"Certainly the man who shirks his duty in the hour of his country's extreme danger and need, who is content to let others suffer the hardships and the agonies and make the supreme sacrifice in order that he may live in security and prosperity—such a man is morally unfit to take an active part in the government of the country."

"But that is not to say that all men of military age who, under the present system, fail to join the colors should be disfranchised. That would be a monstrous injustice. As a matter of fact, no authoritative call to the colors has yet been made to Canadian men. Not one of them has been told his duty by anyone clothed with authority to do so. When the men of military age have been registered and classified, and when those who ought to go to the front are told by someone in authority that that is their duty, it will then be time enough to consider the justice of disfranchisement as the penalty of disloyalty to duty."

The Herald is right, but when a call does come following registration—then the slacker should get his with regard to disfranchisement, just as he is getting it now in the opinion of all men and women with red blood in their veins.

R. C. Church Burned.

Waterbury, Conn., April 8.—The Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Roman Catholic, was partly destroyed by fire early to-day. The loss is estimated at $25,000. The origin of the blaze is not known.

The Municipal Railway Report.

As a consistent advocate of the municipal ownership of public utilities, this paper, in common with the rest of the citizens, can take legitimate pride in the fact that for the first quarter of 1916 the Municipal Street Railway has made such a satisfactory showing. When the purchasing bill was submitted, 1301 voted for it and 83 against. Even the latter must now be convinced of the wisdom of the move, for with a greatly improved service there has also been demonstrated excellent earning power.

For the period named, there were total earnings of $25,758 (24,347 from passengers), and after meeting operating expenses, bond interest, debenture interest and sinking fund, there was a net surplus of $2,218, there was available on back indebtedness to the city the sum of $1,500, and still a balance on hand of $718. These are very reassuring figures indeed, and constitute a cogent evidence of good management.

The Courier would like to see the extension to the Terrace Hill district taken up at as early a date as possible. The Holmedale extension was entered upon with some doubt, but has paid right from the commencement, and the Eagle Place extension has been a money getter. Probably the only hesitation with regard to the just expectations of the Terrace Hill residents, is that owing to war conditions, copper and steel have doubled in price.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

For an alleged one-legged man Villa continues to be some sprinter.

The Kaiser has picked a king for Poland. At the same time he might as well have chosen one for Canada.

It is announced that coal has been found in Egypt at the same time that word comes of the Young Turks having developed cold feet.

Reports from Washington say that a break with Germany is now looked for and that Wilson may call Congress into special session. Uncle Sam has certainly stood more from the Huns than any one would have expected.

RECRUITING RALLY TO-MORROW NIGHT

Presbyterian Church in Paris Will be Used for the Occasion.

Paris, April 8.—Another recruiting meeting will be held by the 215th Battalion on Sunday evening, in the Presbyterian Church at 8:30 p.m. This being the largest building in the town it was thought advisable to be held there, as the Gen Theatre was not large enough to accommodate the people, so many having been turned away. Captain Pearce, organizer of the church, will render several selections on the organ and there will also be special singing. All the officers of the 215th will attend and Lieut. Col. Cockshutt of Brantford, will be one of the speakers.

In the morning this company will attend Divine service in the Methodist Church, when the Rev. Mr. Brandon will address the men. As this is the 215th first parade to church, it is hoped that there will be a good turn out to welcome the men. Up to date, 30 men have enlisted.

Mr. Geo. A. Bone and his bride, have arrived in town, and his many friends will extend a hearty welcome to Mrs. Bone, and wish them both much happiness and prosperity through their wedded life. Mr. Bone was married in Ingersoll on Wednesday afternoon to Miss Susie Soull, by the Rev. Joseph James, pastor of the Baptist Church. A reception was held for them at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. McKinnon, to a few of their immediate relatives and friends. After receiving hearty congratulations from their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bone left for a short wedding trip, the bride wearing a brown suit and a chic hat to match.

Some sneak thieves have been visiting our public library lately. Many magazines have been stolen and some of the best papers destroyed, and now the librarian reports a bronze ornament of the clock missing.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenner, Banfield street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bessie, to Pte. William Uren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Uren of Paris. The wedding will take place in St. James' Church at the end of the month, and a reception will be held at the residence of the bride's parents afterwards.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McRuer, South Dumfries, on Wednesday, April 5th, at high noon, when their daughter, Miss Bessie H. was united in marriage to Mr. Morton Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hall of Plattsville. The bride who looked sweet and girlish in her wedding gown of cream georgette silk and crepe, with bridal veil, and carrying a bouquet of cream roses and valley lilies, was given away by her father. The young couple were unattended and were married under an arch of cedar and carnations, by the bride's brother-in-law, Rev. McRae of Ayr, the table decorations being pink sweet peas and carnations. After a bounteous repast, the bride and groom left for the 5:45 train for a trip to the United States, the bride wearing a very smart suit of Russet brown and hat to match. Many handsome and beautiful presents were received, showing the high esteem in which the bride was held by all. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Hall will be at home to their friends on the groom's farm near Plattsville.

Mr. P. McCarty, the genial clerk at Mr. Crook's drug store, has had to leave for his home in Barrie, on account of ill health. His many friends hope the change will be beneficial and that he will soon be back to town again.

HAVE WE Guaranteed Blues?

Indeed We Have—

and lots of them. Many people ask us if we can guarantee our blues. WE SAY DECIDEDLY YES. It is true that Blues and Blacks now manufactured are not guaranteed, but we had foresight and ordered ahead. We have, in all, about six webs of Blue and Black, each web stamped "Guaranteed by the Manufacturers." These were made before the war was thought of.

If you want guaranteed Blue or Black material in your suit, order it now.

Our prices are right. As to the fit and workmanship, we need not say much. They are guaranteed by ourselves.

Ready to Wear Dept.
For a popular-priced Suit see our Ready-to-Wear Department. Our $15.00 is certainly a hummer. We finish them to your measure. Every little detail is attended to. Average prices range from $10.00 to $18.00.

MOVIES, MUSIC AND DRAMA

In speaking of Sig. Creatore and his Band, which is to appear here at The Grand, the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution gave the following last February:

"That Creatore stands probably unique among bandmasters was demonstrated at the Auditorium last night, before an audience of several thousand people, many of whom had marvelled before over his wonderful effects, while to many others he was a new wonder.

"Bandmaster," in its usual meaning of automatic dignity, or the military automaton, certainly does not suggest Creatore while his instruments, if one's eyes were shut, would be almost better described as an orchestra.

And what a band it is. The dynamic value of every player, from that of the player next him, and a whole group of instruments of the orchestra rising and falling as one, at one moment smooth as the next, and at the next as wild as all the elements of nature turned loose, but as perfectly ordered as nature.

Three big things Creatore had on his program—the overture to "William Tell," the Second Hungarian Rhapsody, and the overture to "Tannhauser," and in each of these Creatore reached heights of intensity, brilliancy of climax, which the average conductor reaches once or twice in a lifetime.

Apparently he condescended his players at one moment, he bullied them at the next; he besought, and then he compelled, and seemed actually to lift or push the tone out of them. And he was in the midst of them all apparently at once. Never did he stand for a minute at his music stand. But, anyway, there was no music on it. And not merely was his magnetism potent when his physical excitement held the attention, but with one's eyes shut, the invisible force was still there, insinuating itself into the band and thence into the audience.

Every interpretation seemed spontaneous, as if his spirit, its perfection was just crystallized in this particular performance. And yet in reality, what strenuous and constant rehearsals must this organization be put through.

Of the Tannhauser Overture it would be hard to imagine a satisfactory performance without strings unless one had heard the Creatore version; but so clever is the orchestration, so ingenious the substitution of winds and even brasses, that the result was as beautiful as the most ardent enthusiast over the Wagnerian showers of violent arpeggios could desire, and one climax of breathless and sustained intensity followed upon another.

Liszt did more with the piano than anybody had done before him, but even he must have been surprised could he have heard the great orchestral variety the Creatore Band found in his Second Rhapsody, and not merely the color and richness of it was translated, but all its romantic spirit.

There was exquisite solo work in the Rossini overture as well as colorful ensemble, and an intermezzo by Mascagni was delightfully insinuating, but full of musical dignity. Some charming waltzes, their accenting a perfect treatment, were well received, and among a generous number of encores, particularly notable was a staccato minuet, and the playing of "Nearer My God to Thee," the master bringing out a striking simulation of a pipe organ. Signor Rossi played with a beautiful tone and an admirable reserve two trombone solos, "Ah, So Pure" from "Martha," and the tenor air from "Rigoletto."

Manager J. T. Whittaker of the Grand Opera House announces the coming to Brantford of the famous English actor, Darwent Hall Caine, who will be seen at the Grand Opera House, on one night only, Saturday, April 22nd. Hall Caine's successful

"Pete," has been for years a member of the Royal Naval Division and, naturally, is keenly interested in the rumors from Berlin that the German navy is preparing for a sortie against the gun line of waiting maintained by England's superdreadnoughts and smaller war craft. The young London actor-manager does not attach importance to the vague stories about the 17-inch or larger guns that Germany is said to have mounted on her marine giants, and which German sympathizers declare can far outshoot the big 15-inch guns of the British fleet.

"Even if," these claims be granted, and no account is taken of England's equally secret preparations," Mr. Caine says, "it might be well to remember that England's ocean bulwarks are lying just beyond the range of the German land guns at Heligoland, impatiently awaiting the first appearance of a German boat beyond the protection of the German naval base. No matter what range the alleged new German guns might possess, the boats that mount them must come within range of England's guns before opening fire. Everyone who has had even my limited opportunities to study the effectiveness of the British naval fighting machine hopes and prays that the German admiralty will decide on a test of strength at sea."

Mr. Caine hoped and expected last year to have a part to play in England's sea program. As a member of the Royal Naval Division he awaited with impatience a call to the colors from the moment war was declared. At the height of his successful revival of "Pete" at the Aldwych Theatre in London last September the call came. He cancelled all contracts and reported for duty.

"I went down to Deal and was there just long enough to be all full of getting to the front," he says, "and wondring with the other fellows, how soon we would be sent, when the surgeons sent for me and a lot of the others. They found my leg wouldn't do. I smashed it tobagging at St. Mortiz some years ago, but they said it was not a navy leg, so there I was, out of it—turned down, as I believe it is expressed on this side."

Mr. Caine's rejection by the English navy has made possible, however, his appearance in Canada and the United States in his famous father's most successful play. At the end of the present spring tour he will begin a New York run in "Pete" under the direction of Henry Miller. Brantford is one of the few cities that will see "Pete" with the original Aldwych Theatre production, prior to the Broadway presentation.

Fannie Ward, who has appeared to good advantage in the Lasky productions, "The Cheat," and "The Marriage of Kitty," on the Paramount program, will be seen in an entirely different role when she appears in the title part of "Tennessee's Pardner." This is a picturization of a widely read story of the far West in the days when the Forty-niner's founded a new empire on the Pacific coast and is based in part on the play of the same name by Scott Marble.

Miss Ward appears as "Tennessee," a wail of the plains, a child of the desert. The story opens with "Tennessee" and her parents are making a trip across the continent in a prairie schooner. "Tennessee's" mother deserts her husband who in turn is shot in the chase. "Tennessee" is then brought up in a mission by her father's friend, Jack Hunter who "Tennessee," for many years believes, is her father. When the girl grows up she starts in search of her "father," is kidnapped, held for ransom and finally escapes to understand the true state of affairs, after many exciting happenings.

LYDIA GILMORE
Pauline Frederick, the distinguished emotional actress who has won international fame by her admirable screen interpretations of Zaza and "Bella Donna," adds another remarkable characterization to her list of successes in the Famous Players Film Company's thrilling picturization of Henry Arthur Jones' powerful drama "Lydia Gilmore." In this famous emotional role, Miss Frederick suggests with infinite strength and pathos the faithful wife and devoted mother who suffers indescribable mental agony to shield her husband's name and save his life after he has been proven to be faithless to her and the murderer of the man whose name he had violated. The intense struggle she exerts in her great mother-love to save her son from going through life with the brand of Cain, is one of the most vital and tender dramatic episodes ever witnessed on the screen. "Lydia Gilmore" strengthens the position Miss Frederick has already established as the foremost emotional artist of the stage and screen.

AT THE COLONIAL.
"Jesse James" will be given by the Famous Players at the Colonial to-night for the last time. Monday that bright, breezy hustling comedy, "The Hustler," will be presented with the full strength of the company. Every attention will be paid to mounting the play properly, and an enjoyable entertainment is assured.

BRANT THEATRE.
Brant patrons are assured of a rare treat on the first half of next week when Jessie Sterling and her seven Highlanders will be the feature attraction. This act is of a special patriotic nature and abounds in good comedy singing, music and dancing. Chas. Keating, the eccentric comedian, will also appear, and the special program offering will be Fannie Ward in Tennessee's Pardner. Everybody will remember Miss Ward's last appearance here in "The Cheat," and the excellent work she performed. This feature is sure to create great interest in her latest success.

For the last half of the week, the feature attractions will be "The Kid" and Company, an excellent juvenile offering with a company of eight artists, and the always popular "Pauline Frederick" in "Lydia Gilmore." On April 17, 18, 19, the picture that has created such a great amount of enthusiasm throughout the country will be shown, "The Battle Cry of Peace." This is the one great feature that is claimed to excel "The Birth of a Nation." Watch for further announcements.

Elaine the Fair

A Serial Story of Absorbing Interest.

Her room was in the hands of the maids and she could not go there. She settled herself in the corner of the stiff leather sofa, and in a few minutes she dozed off, her head lying back uncomfortably, and there later, Lisabel, coming in found her.

She roused her gently, alarmed at her air of exhaustion.

"Here I am, Lucy," she said. "Come to take you away! Oh, you naughty, naughty girl, to break all our hearts!" Then perceiving that Lucy was unable to listen to anything, she said tenderly, "Come upstairs and lie down, and I will wait on you, and you must be good and do just as you are told."

She rang the bell, which was responded to immediately, and soon Lucy was lying on a couch in a pleasant room, made cheerful by a bright fire, and a maid was entering with a tray with soup and jelly and other tempting viands.

If Lucy had had her own way she would have rejected all food; all she wanted was rest—to be let alone. But Lisabel was firm, and insisted on her eating at least some of the food. She then made her comfortable with cushions, drew a light rug over her, and sat down beside her.

She told her how on receipt of Gracilia's letter the evening before she had hurried to the station and caught a train for Brighton. She must have reached it shortly before Lucy had left. She had gone first to her hotel, as it was too late to do anything that night. In the morning she had received Lord Brixton's telegram asking her to come up the first possible minute and go to Lucy. She had sent off her message, and without waiting to see Gracilia, had caught the earliest train and here she was.

As she talked on without pausing, in a level voice, she saw that Lucy's attention was wandering. Her lids fluttered at times, but by degrees growing quieter until at last she fell into a deep sleep.

When Lisabel saw that she would probably not waken for some time, she rose and slipped quietly from the room, and sent a kindly looking chambermaid to take her place, lest Lucy should awake and be alarmed to find herself alone.

In the coffee room below she found Lord Brixton sitting by one of the small tables engaged in reading a newspaper. He came forward to meet her.

"She is asleep," she said. "I am afraid it is a complete nervous breakdown."

"Get her away into the country at once and keep her out of doors."

"The very thing," said Lisabel. "But where shall we go?"

"What do you say to a village among the mountains in Wales? The only drawback is that it is a long journey. I know a place where there leave everything to me."

She hastily scribbled a list of directions for him, and a note to be posted to her maid telling her to have everything in readiness to start at any time. A doctor was to be sent on every trip to let her know when Lucy would be fit to travel. Lord Brixton was to call in the evening to receive final directions when the doctor's opinion was known.

"I am glad to get away myself," Lisabel said. "I feel as if I never could speak to my stepmother again! How could she have been so cruel? How could any woman drive a girl from her door at night in the streets of London?"

"You would never do it, Lisabel, if she were Madame Brinvilliers herself you would have taken her in."

"Exactly," Lisabel said. "If she had not followed her? It frightens me when I think of it."

"You and I are a kind-hearted pair—exactly suited to each other. May I come to see you in Wales?"

"Certainly not; and you must not on any account let your stepmother or my father know that Lucy is with me. The less attention that is directed to her the better. There was another thing I wanted to ask you. What about Sir Everard? He must be home, or you would not be here. I suppose nothing happened?"

Lord Brixton's face grew suddenly grave. He glanced around him. "This is not the time or place to discuss it. I have a long story to tell you, and it must be where we shall not be overheard. I shall come back at six o'clock, and you must arrange so that we can have a quiet time together. Now I will go and send the doctor."

He held her hand for an instant in a close clasp, and their eyes met again in a long, grave look. Then he was gone.

Lisabel went slowly back to Lucy. A deep happiness filled her heart. She had entered into her home and kingdom, and she was content. Since her father's second marriage she had never known even the semblance of domestic life, and now it was more impossible than ever. Her father was a querulous, exacting old man, entirely under his wife's influence, and inclined to disparage his daughter. She had not the good looks he had the right to expect in his daughter, and in his opinion she did not make up for the deficiency by attention to dress or by an attractive manner. He looked upon her as a good, steady girl, not likely to give any anxiety today, but he called her in his own mind. The best match she could expect was some comfortable country squire who might be desirous of giving her a home in return for her solid virtues and moderate fortunes.

She knew all this and that she was not necessary in any way to her father's comfort. Her stepmother had tried to throw her and Lord Brixton together, and that had had the effect of making her treat him with an exaggerated indifference and calm friendliness of manner. Mrs. Beresford had latterly given up her manœuvring in despair of success, and looked contemptuously on her as de-

A SPRING TONIC

Old Reliable Hood's Sarsaparilla is Pleasant and Effective.

Your close confinement indoors and heavy living during the winter, and the torpid condition of your system brought about by cold weather, have made your blood impure and weak, so that now eruptions appear on your face and body, you lack vitality, strength and animation, your appetite is poor and you feel all tired out.

From any druggist get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It combines just the roots, herbs and other substances that you need. It purifies and strengthens the blood—makes the rich red blood that you must have to feel well, look well, eat and sleep well.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not simply a spring medicine—it is an all-year-round blood purifier and tonic—but it is the best spring medicine. Remember it has stood the test of forty years. Be sure to get Hood's.

It was in no hurry to tell them the news that would cause them to look on her with respect and to reconsider their attitude towards her. When Lucy's affairs were settled it would be time enough. When once her engagement was known she would be dragged hither and thither in triumph by her stepmother, who would proclaim to all her acquaintances the success of her generalship and take all the credit of the match to herself. Lisabel could not face it. She would tell no one till later, and when it became public she would retreat to the country and remain there until her marriage took place. For the present she would put all thoughts about herself as far as possible from her mind and think of nothing but Lucy—poor, dear Lucy!

She went upstairs and found her moving restlessly preparatory to awakening. In a few minutes Lucy opened her eyes and stared at Lisabel in a puzzled way. Then she sat up and said—

"Where did you come from? I don't remember."

"Never mind! I am here now, and am going to stay with you."

"You smiled," Lucy said. "Was past objecting. She had no longer any wish to assert her independence. Nothing seemed to matter. She was safe with Lisabel."

"I am going to take you away into the middle of Wales to-morrow. We will disappear and leave no trace, and stay as long as we like."

"Lisabel," said Lucy, who scarcely seemed to hear the words addressed to her, "you look happy and at rest at last. Won't you tell me about yourself?"

"It is Lord Brixton," said Lisabel, laughing and blushing. "How horrified my stepmother would be if she knew I had got engaged in the stuffy coffee-room of a cheap hotel with a parlormaid looking on!"

"I am so very, very glad! I remember all about it now. But for Lord Brixton where should I be?"

"Don't talk of it! George told me all about it. I suppose this is the doctor."

A knock had been heard.

It proved to be an old friend of the family—Doctor Manners, a silent, discreet man, who accepted Lord Brixton's explanation and said nothing to any one.

"Nothing wrong that cannot be set right with time and care," he said, after a careful examination. "But both will be needed. She must hear nothing to agitate her; she must not exert herself. Fresh air, gentle exercise, driving, cheerful unexciting companionship, an occasional novel or book or poetry; milk, eggs, and country fare. Yes, she may travel in the morning, if she has a good night and can eat a good breakfast before starting. In fact the sooner she gets out of London the better. The long journey will do her good for her. Pool, not a bit of it! Do her all the good in the world to get away among the mountains. No, it will not be necessary to call again; let her sleep all she can and eat all she can, and go on for at least a month and she will be all right. Thanks! Good morning!"

At six, as arranged, Lord Brixton came to report progress. The room had been taken. Lisabel's middle-aged maid would join them at Euston and Lord Brixton would see them off. Then, over their tea in the coffee-room, he told Lisabel the story of Sir Everard's journey.

She sat with eyes intently fixed on him. Their new happiness, the radiant future stretching out before them, were lost sight of by both young people for the moment. A shadow of evil had fallen across their path, shutting out the glad sunlight. A thousand vague fears flashed through Lisabel's mind. Her face was pale as she looked at her lover. She stretched her hand across to him as they both rose to their feet, and as he caught it his face reflected the glow on hers.

"We will save them yet," he said in a low voice. The room was nearly deserted, and a sympathetic waiter had put the little table at which they sat in a retired corner. "Until Sir Everard is fit to take things into his own hands I will watch over his interests, and Miss Carden shall be in your charge. You and I, Lisabel, hold the threads in our hands, and we will not rest until they are woven into shape. And this shall bind us."

He placed on her finger a ring set with a magnificent blood-red ruby and then pressed his lips to the hand that wore it.

"They had forgotten the present for a moment, but his happiness rushed back on them. Lisabel blushed like a rose.

"How can I wear it?" she asked.

"If it is seen, our secret will be a secret no longer. And yet—Oh, George, it is splendid!"

"Your secret, you mean?" he said.

"I want to tell everybody—even the fatherly waiter who is carefully not looking at us as he clears the table yonder."

"I fancy he has his suspicions," Lisabel said demurely. "You are not a bit discreet. Here are people coming. Don't you hear the chatter? Let my hand go!"

But he passed his arm round her and kissed her swiftly.

"Till the morning, my darling, and next time we meet we must talk about our lives! We must not be separated any more."

"You are shocking!" she said disengaging herself breathlessly. "Now if my stepmother should be among these people who are coming in—"

"She isn't! Lisabel, I have a sincere respect and affection for that waiter."

But she was gone.

CHAPTER XVII.

"What day of the month is this?" said Gracilia, pausing, pen in hand. She was in the library of Wayland Manor. Colin Grantly and Lady Annandale were in the large window engaged in winding silk for that lady's use. Elaine was looking on.

"The fifth of November—gunpowder plot!" said Colin.

"How lovely!" cried Elaine. "Let us get up a Guy Fawkes and carry him in procession and have amateur fireworks afterwards. We need rousing up."

"Blowing up, I suppose you mean?" Colin said lazily.

"My dear," said Lady Annandale, "I object to your playing with fire. It is attended with too much risk."

"Then what shall we do?" asked Elaine. "I don't believe it will stop raining the whole day. Oh, I know, I know! We will dress up like the pictures in the gallery and try which of us can produce the best likeness. If it turns out well we can give a grand entertainment to the neighborhood by getting up a gallery of living pictures. There are plenty of people who will help. Come at once upstairs and let us choose our subjects. Come, Gracilia, put away your letters."

She danced lightly out of the room and up the broad staircase, a fairy figure in a dress of white velvet trimmed with costly silver fur.

Gracilia and Colin Grantly followed, but Lady Annandale went quietly on with her crochet work.

The picture gallery opened to the west, and there was still light enough. Elaine went on until she reached the middle of the great room.

"This is my choice," she said, waving her hand dramatically. "Behold Dame Adrienne Verinder!"

The subject of the painting was a lovely girl, dressed as a novice, but with the covering for the head pushed carelessly back, allowing a few soft silken curls to appear beneath. It gave a peculiar charm to her face, but in spite of the exquisite delicacy and refinement of her features, the impression she produced on Gracilia was one of involuntary repulsion.

"She is beautiful!" she said, looking at it critically. "It is not like you, but it is something in your style, Elaine. Still, I don't like her face; she is false and cruel. Do you know her story?"

"No, I think her so sweet and gracious. What do you say, Mr. Grantly?"

"She is, as you say lovely, but there is an expression about the eyes and in the curve of her lips that is strongly suggestive of Mephistopheles. It was a clever artist who painted the demon peeping out of those eyes. You will never be able to reproduce the expression."

"I don't know what you are talking about," said Elaine pouting. "I think she is by far the most beautiful picture in the whole gallery. How could a novice look like a demon? She must be all purity and innocence."

"That is just what I can't tell you. Perhaps her head-dress being pushed crooked that way gives her a rakish look. Let me cover it."

He put a book he had in his hand so as to conceal the forehead.

"No," he said, "the expression is in herself, though the effect is heightened by the cap or whatever it is. She is not a pleasant person."

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE Workingmen of Brantford

The Authorities, possibly at the instigation of some stove dealers who objected to our Advertisements, have prevented us from giving you a chance at six free electric stoves, yet these same Authorities are powerless to prevent the introduction into your Homes of a poisonous gas for cooking purposes. We have been told by different people that in Greenwood or Mount Hope now lie dear ones whose shortened life they consider due to a lowered vitality caused by breathing in the poisonous gases from the cooking range.

You yourself work hard ten hours a day and spend most of your remaining hours in rooms impure from the same gas. Your Wife and Children breathe it day and night. Result: You don't feel right, cannot put "Pep" into your work, your Wife and Kiddies are ailing more or less all the time. The Druggist, Doctor, and too often the Undertaker, gets a good share of your wages. Your employer loses, for you cannot give your best efforts. WHY DO YOU STAND FOR IT? You don't have to any longer, for our new Model Electric Range is cheap to buy, and cheaper to operate than coal, wood or gas. We will go farther—if you got your gas, coal or wood FREE, and the best range for same FREE, the Electric would be cheaper still.

This is not an absurd statement, but true as the sun shines. Let us prove it. Assume you purchase two five-pound roasts of meat each week and cook them in a coal or gas oven; if weighed carefully before and after cooking you will find that of the ten pounds of meat you have lost over three in shrinkage, and that three pounds contains the best flavor of the meat. At twenty-five cents per pound you have lost seventy-five cents per week, or three dollars per month, a sum that will more than run our large range and all your lights in the average home. This is a fact—your Wife can prove it to you.

In the Electric Range the shrinkage is almost Nil, because first you heat up your oven for a few minutes with the switch at "Full," then put in your roast, and quickly the heat seals it with a thin crust that holds the flavor and cooks it in its own juice, for the electric oven is an oven inside of an oven, with packing between, and the odor and flavor cannot go up chimney or fill the house with cooking smells. After waiting a few minutes for the meat to seal, the switch is turned to "Low," and at a cost of one-quarter of one cent an hour your meat is cooked, and cooked right.

IF YOU HAVE NEVER TASTED MEAT COOKED IN AN ELECTRIC OVEN YOU HAVE NEVER TASTED MEAT.

Bread, Pastries, Dainties of all kinds are similarly cooked with an exactness which only the controlled, uniform heat of the electric oven can give you.

Our Electric Range is NOT a luxury. It is a workingman's necessity from the standpoint of dollars saved. We sell them on monthly payments, and at a price one-half that formerly asked. And our Range is superior point by point in every detail to others listed at twice the money. We challenge comparison. Laboratory test made on March 10th, 1916, with Government-inspected instruments, proved our Range to be 20 per cent. more economical and 22 per cent. faster than its nearest competitor. It is guaranteed for two years, and a new element can then be secured, if needed, for one dollar and fifty cents, which you can fit in yourself as easily as screwing an electric lamp in its socket. No Electrician needed. To those occupying rented houses we would say that the conduit service we install can be unscrewed and moved with the stove, and the street connection is shifted free of charge.

If coal or wood or gas is necessary to heat an outer kitchen we have a neat oblong stove at nine dollars which attaches at one side of the electric range and will keep fire overnight.

Our Ranges require no black leading or cleaning. They are finished in Satin Black enamel baked into the iron and absolutely rustproof. We ask your inspection and invite your questions. Remember, your Dollar is as good as that of the millionaire, and you are entitled to the best going. In the City of Brantford there should now be placed quickly at least TWO THOUSAND of our stoves, and we confidently expect that the two hundred we are now out to sell at special reduced rates will sell for us 2,000 within the next two years. Further, as there is practically no depreciation at all to our stoves or retained odors, there is no reason why it shall not become as much a part of all houses as the heating and plumbing. Please get your order in quickly, as we are giving an extra five per cent. to everyone on account of the Authorities forbidding the giving away of the six stoves free. This means an average of three dollars off each stove. While our factory is ten carloads behind in their orders, they have promised to give us speedy deliveries for our campaign here, but we have no long guarantee that the price will stay the same. Phone us if you wish an evening appointment, and we will be pleased to have you come up and see for yourself.

Yours faithfully,

Lyons Electric Company, 71 Colborne St.

AUTO NEWS

What status has a dog in Ontario? On several occasions car owners have been found liable for killing dogs that have been running loose on city and town streets. It is a general impression that, as the law stands, an owner is not responsible should his car hit an unlicensed dog. According to the law a licensed dog has as much right on the street as a human pedestrian.

A trans-provincial highway stretching from Windsor to Ottawa and Montreal, passing through the principal cities of Ontario. Such is the scheme of W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister of Highways. On February 4th, at the annual meeting of the London and Western Motor Club, Mr. McLean outlined his plan and asked every club, motorist and good roads disciple to support the project to the limit. He stated that at the present time 50 per cent. of the population of Ontario lives within 12 miles of the highway that he has mapped out.

The Ontario Motor League is issuing 1916 automobile licenses (pleasure cars only) at the headquarters, 606-607 Lumsden Building, Toronto, and W. G. Robertson, the secretary, reports a heavy increase over last year. This may be due to the fact that the League is not confining this service and courtesy solely to members. Since the middle of January a steady stream of motorists have flooded the League offices. Not only are the centrally-located offices of the O. M. L. much more accessible and convenient than the license bureau at the Parliament Buildings, but also the declaration for applicants for licenses are taken free by the secretary. By this immediate and direct service the O. M. L. hopes to bring to the attention of non-motorists the many ways, direct and indirect, in which it is serving them, and thereby to draw them into the fold. The motorists for the most part accept the increase in taxation with good grace when assured that the revenue derived therefrom will be used in full for good roads.

The furniture of our houses is protected from dust and dirt in summer time by means of slip covers, and why should not the more valuable motor car, which is even more highly finished, be equally well protected from dust and dampness when it is not to be used for several days or weeks? The use of paper bags for storing clothing is well known, but the extension of this idea to include the protection of automobiles is unique. One enterprising concern, however, manufactures several sizes of paper covers to enclose completely any car, from a small runabout to a large seven passenger touring machine. The material is strong and durable, is water-proof, and the cover is well adapted for protecting cars during railroad or boat shipment. When not in use, the cover may be folded compactly and carried in the car if desired.

SKIDDING ACCIDENTS

Automobile accidents which are being chronicled almost daily in every section of the country detail injuries to motorists who caused the accidents because they do not take the ordinary precaution of skid-proofing their cars with tire chains, and also detail injuries to innocent bystanders who are so unfortunate as to be in the path of the skidding automobiles. The skidding accidents which have occurred recently in this state are only a few of many, which happen in every part of the country. If every driver and owner of an automobile would take the ordinary precaution of carrying tire chains in their cars and attach them when the roads and streets are in a wet, slippery condition, nine-tenths of all automobile accidents would be eliminated.

All motorists should be considered as criminally negligent when evidence is exhibited to the courts proving that their cars were not equipped with an efficient anti-skid device. It is as necessary for motorists to use tire chains when the road conditions warrant their use as it is to light their lamps when darkness overtakes them, — N. Y. Paper.

"You are too bad. You are saying that to vex me. But I am going to dress up like her, no matter what you say."

"What a splendid face," said Gracilia, who had paused farther down. It was the portrait of a girl holding a large hound. She was in a dark riding-dress of the Stuart period—the three-cornered hat was lying on the ground. She was looking up with a questioning expression in her dark eyes. Her black hair was gathered into a knot behind but curled in silky tendrils round the white forehead. Her rosy lips were parted as if about to speak.

"Do you think so?" said Elaine carelessly. "I see nothing to admire in it. It seems to me a very commonplace face. It would not do for you at all, Gracilia. She is quite a small person."

"I was not thinking of myself, but I do like the face. It is so strong and true, and so very human."

"There is nothing of the demon in it, at any rate," Colin said. "Yes, there is character in that face."

"You are horrid if you insinuate that Dame Odienne has none."

"My dear Miss Verinder, quite the reverse! The question is as to the quality."

"You don't convince me a bit," said Elaine good-naturedly. "But do choose something before it grows too dark!"

"Look here, Miss Latimer, you could do this," said Grantly, pointing to a tall beauty in ruff and farthingale. If you did your hair up like the model you would not be unlike."

"I am sure I never simpler like that! No, I must have something more modern."

"Well, what do you think of this?"—pointing to a particularly hideous portrait of a lady in early Victorian dress—large crinoline shawl falling off the sloping shoulders, and bonnet hanging on the back of the head.

"Indeed, no, you are not going to spoil things by bringing in a vulgar thing like that!" said Elaine. "But here is what will just suit you!" She pointed to a girl in slender figure in classic raiment.

"The very thing!" agreed Grantly. "You are a witch, Miss Verinder!"

"I always told you so. And now for you!"

Colin selected a fine modern portrait of Elaine's grandfather in a dark dress.

"We must have Lisabel down!" cried Elaine. "I shall write to her in the morning. By the way, do you know if she is still in London, Gracilia?"

"She was when she wrote last. She said she was leaving shortly, but she did not say where she was going. However, I suppose her letters would be forwarded."

"I will write this evening, so that there shall not be any delay. And what about Sir Everard? We must have him. Who heard last of him?"

"Not I," said Gracilia, shaking her head. "I have not heard a word about him since he left us the day after the ball."

SIX

An exceptional car
—built to meet an exacting demand

The six cylinder motor—in its perfected state—is the engineer's answer to the demand of the automobile enthusiast—the extremist, if you will.

The perfected six cylinder motor is capable of a faster pickup and a smoother flow of power than is possible in a four.

But not all sixes are superior to all fours.

We build fours that are superior to many sixes.

And our only purpose in building a six is to satisfy with Overland finality that extremist demand for well nigh miraculous motor performance.

The Overland Six is a big, roomy, luxurious, seven passenger car with a motor of unusual power, smoothness and flexibility.

But the price is only $1600—much lower than any other car of its size and class.

Such a low price for such a super-

ANNUAL MEETING AND HEATHER BOTH ARE

Number of Bowlers in Dufferin Club Met at the Y.M.C.A.

Last night the annual meeting of the Dufferin Bowling Club and the Heather Club were held at the Y.M.C.A. The Dufferin club annual was a banquet being held to the business of the evening reports of both clubs were satisfactory. The affairs of the club were in good standing. A pleasant feature of the evening was the sending of Messrs. Scott and J. J. Hurley from the Dufferin club to the Heather club to wish them good luck for the coming season. The courtesy was appreciated and the delegates to their own club received of equal sincerity and good wishes. Mr. J. S. Dowling was president of the Dufferin club. He had been president of the club for the last year. The cause of the unfortunate Norman W. Creech, the club member since last year, of the club, since last year, of the club, only held office because of the death of the executive. Dowling was made president of the Bowling Club, and prospects for a successful season for both clubs were bright.

THE DUFFERIN CLUB
About fifty members of the Dufferin Club sat down to the menu supplied by Mine H. back at the Tea Pot Inn and were "L.C. Col. Cutcliffe, C. Someren, a past president of the club, and Capt. Lavell. After the evening commenced, the Dufferin club president, J. S. Dowling, the president, in a speech reviewed the work of the year. After referring to the death of Norman W. Creech, Mr. Creech stated that the club had the in its history. The bowling patronized, and the good among the members had particularly enjoyable. Several courts was one manifestation

A BUDGET OF NEWS FOR THOSE INTERESTED IN LABOR IN THE WORLD OF LABOR GLEANED FROM THE EXCHANGES AND OTHER SOURCES

There were over 30,000 fatalities in industrial establishments in the United States last year.

Union Steamfitters in Detroit, Mich., under a new agreement, have secured a Saturday half-holiday the whole year round.

Over a thousand section hands on the Philadelphia and Reading Railway have secured an increase in wages to take immediate effect.

Unorganized Pullman car workers who have only been getting 20 cents have struck for 25 cents per hour. Now they'll organize.

The Mexican Government has taken over the express business of the whole country and will operate it in the interests of the public.

The railroad telegraphers last month initiated 52 new members. It may be said that initiations per month now never fall below the 500 mark.

Seven hundred steel workers in the Hegewisch, Ill., mills, have won out and secured a ten per cent. increase in wages.

The Meat Cutters' Union of Peoria, Ill., has unionized practically every shop in the city, has enforced Sunday closing and a work-week of definite hours.

Union sheet metal workers, stove mounters, and metal polishers in St. Louis have won their strike for higher wages and better working conditions.

Hamilton Painters and Decorators are asking for an increase in wages of five cents per hour. At present the rate is 33 cents per hour, and nine hours the standard work-day.

Earnings of Canadian railways are steadily growing. For the third week in March the C. P. R. was $543,000 ahead of the corresponding period in 1915, and the G. T. R. for the same period showed a $119,295 go-up.

Civic employes of New Westminster have taken definite steps to go in line. They have appealed to the Central Labor Union to aid them to perfect an organization of all municipal workers and a whole-hearted attempt to do so is now being made.

The Saskatchewan Executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada has interviewed the Government and pressed for amendments to the Provincial Factories Act more especially in regard to improvements of sanitation and ventilation in printing offices.

At its recent annual meeting in Hamilton, the Dominion Power and Transmission Company reported the gross earnings of the year as amounting to $2,353,956, with operating expenses of $1,355,000. After providing for bond interest, maintenance, renewal, etc., dividends and transferring $500,000 from the profit and loss account of $1,139,250 to the reserve fund, the net profits stood at $639,259.

There are a large number of electricians employed in the Kootenay District, B. C., and Organizer E. H. Morrison is doing good work in rounding them up. As a result it is confidently predicted that the membership in the province will show a considerable increase.

It is apparent that farmers in Western Canada will have to pay a far higher rate of wages for their help this coming season than was the case last year. In the vicinity of Regina, Sask., owners are now offering more than double what was paid in 1915 for men to do chores on the farms, but there are not a great many applicants for the positions, and they will have to offer a far higher figure when the season opens up.

At the recent convention of District No. 6, Western Federation of Miners, held in Trail, B. C., that body went on record in favor of strict enforcement of the eight hour law; equal pay for men and women when engaged on similar work; favoring old age pensions for those of 60 years of age and over, the total exclusion on the score of safety of all Asiatics from working in the mines, and the extension of the franchise by granting voting privileges to women. International President Meyer was present, and took part in the deliberations.

At the last regular meeting of the New Westminster, B. C., Trades and Labor Council the reports of representatives from the various affiliated organizations showed that business was rapidly improving. Typists, cigar makers, brewery workers, reported all members employed, and with the street railway employes more men were back at work and business picking up. Lumber mills very busy; munition works, going full blast, and much overtime in evidence, while on the B. C. electric railway freight business steadily grows. It is in fact a decidedly more encouraging state of affairs than existed a year ago.

The nickel deposits of the Sudbury (Ont.) district comprise 85 per cent. of the world's total supply. A proportion of the remaining 15 per cent. is also secured in Ontario from the silver-cobalt ores of the cobalt district. Therefore, this province has a practical monopoly of this valuable metal. Now that the government has passed an order in council prohibiting the export of nickel to any but British possessions, it will mean that the smelting and all other work connected with its refining will have to be done in Canada, which will provide for large numbers of men. Heretofore Canadian nickel has been extensively refined in the United States.

The Chalmers Motor Company has already been incorporated to do lightness in Canada, and will erect one of the biggest plants in the Dominion. Canada is now in a position to produce every necessary part needed by manufacturers in the production of the highest class machines. Canada is rapidly coming into prominence as a manufacturing country, and its goods will be in ever-increasing demand upon the continent; indeed, so much so that not only in automobile and motors but in many other lines of business, and a number of shrewd American business heads believe that in the competition for this trade Canada will have a favored position in the markets of the entire continent in the future. Be that as it may, it looks so good to many of them that they are going to take the chance and erect up-to-date plants in the Dominion before the war closes in order to be advantaged when new trade treaties are being arranged.

The Chatham (Ont.) local of the American Federation of Musicians has a large number of members at the front, and recently sent $180 worth of hampers filled with comforts for the boys. Despite so many difficulties in the colors, the local is in great shape and steadily growing.

The central labor bodies in Ottawa, Peterborough, Toronto, Hamilton, South Watslow, London, Port Arthur and Port William, as well as twenty-two local unions in Ontario, protested against the legislature empowering the municipalities to levy a poll-tax of $5 on men of from 18 to 60 years of age whose names did not appear on the assessment rolls.

At the recent meeting of the North-West Conference of Local Unions, affiliated with the Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators, which met in Bellingham, Washington, Frank Perrott, of the Victoria (B.C.) local, was elected to the presidency of the organization. Reports submitted indicated that the outlook for the spring and coming summer were looking brighter.

At the recent convention of District 18, United Mine Workers of America, held at Fernie, B. C., a resolution was passed protesting against the incorrectness of reports emanating from certain newspapers in which it was stated that there was a strike of labor in Fernie and Michel. This is denied, and the statement made that so far from there being a scarcity of labor in the Crow's Nest District, there were men to be seen every day "rustling for work."

As one result of the European war many chemicals have been produced for the first time in Canada—chemicals which, moreover, in the past have been produced in competition with the world, and in which many thousands of hands will be employed. Speaking recently at the annual meeting of the Society of Chemical Industry, said that "the impulse of a great war has led Canadian industry to things they never thought of doing before."

Street railway employees in British Columbia are seeking to induce the Provincial Government to enact legislation providing for a six-day work-week on electric railway lines. This is not meant to be a strike because it is claimed that under the present system employees frequently do not get a rest for weeks at a time, and that it is not generally acknowledged that after working six days and before commencing another week, it is both mentally and physically a better citizen.

There is a warm fight on in Vancouver between the representatives of the Central Labor Union and a number of hotel proprietors, both appearing before the local licensing commission, the former pressing for action against the employment of Orientals on licensed premises and the latter opposing it. The latter position could not be secured without help good when so many white workers were without jobs. The matter will come up again at the next session of the board.

The Dominion Bridge Company last year earned in profits the huge total of four and a half million dollars, and if the proposed war tax takes one million dollars out of the like that ought not to grumble at a war tax, for they're sure got a proper melon.

Not only is the Canada Car Company of Montreal working on large orders for the Russian Government but it has recently signed contracts for 2,000 freight cars for the future. This with other orders for equipment now on hand is claimed to amount to over five million dollars. This will mean busy times ahead for months to come, even if ahead for months to come, even if no new work was secured. The management, however, expects orders for export to further increase after the close of the war.

TOOK THE ADVICE OF HIS FRIEND

Stomach Trouble and Rheumatism Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives"

MR. L. LABRIE 694 Champlain St., Montreal. "I have been restored to health by taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I became very weak, had frequent dizzy spells and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepless. I suffered from Rheumatism decidedly, with pains in my back and joints and my hands swollen. A friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and from the outset, they did me good. After I had started the second box, I felt I was getting well and I persevered in the treatment. I can truthfully say that 'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine that helped me."

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the famous medicine made from fruit juices. A box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

LABOR'S SIX GREAT OBJECTIVES

John Mitchell, former President of the United Mine Workers of America, and now Chairman of the State Industrial Commission, in a recent address delivered in New York City outlined the programme for organized work and declared that trades unionism aimed at six great goals of objectives, namely:

- 1. A minimum wage that shall enable men and women to live in a manner comfortable to American standards.
2. Laws providing for the safeguarding of lives and limbs of workers engaged in dangerous occupations, and for compensation for injuries sustained in the course of employment.
3. The progressive improvement of the sanitary working and housing conditions of the wage-earners.
4. The preservation of the constitutional guarantee of trial by jury free speech and a free press.
5. The idea of the trade union, he added, "is to combine into an organized body the progressive employment of each and all of them definite minimum standard of wage, hours and labor and conditions of work. By this labor and conditions of work, it is not meant that the wages of all shall be the same, but merely that equal pay shall be given for equal work."

Thirty years ago April 5-6 we had the heaviest snow storm of the season—the most that fell in the same space of time we ever remember of; but it soon disappeared.

Several farmers in this vicinity are needing men for the summer, but none appear to be in sight. We presume there will be plenty of work for the women and superannuated farmers.

There was a large number—above the average at the Myrtle Sunday school last Sabbath afternoon.

A curious coincidence is reported from Yorkshire. A soldier in France found under the string of a parcel at a base depot a letter written from Northallerton railway station, and addressed to the "District Superintendent's Office, York." It had inadvertently been despatched with the parcel. The soldier recognized the handwriting as that of his brother, a clerk at Northallerton, and sent the letter home to his wife.

A man with a moustache and apparently between 30 and 40 years of age, applied to the Wilkesden magistrate to sign his green form—"Have you tried to enlist?" the magistrate asked—"No," was the reply. "I am only just 16."—"Well, you are the most extraordinary boy I ever met," remarked the magistrate, and referred the youth to the court in his own district.

The funeral took place at Twickenham recently of Sergeant James Mustard, the last survivor, it is believed, of the 17th Lancers, who took part in the famous charge of the Light Brigade. He was one of 38 men of the 17th Lancers that came out of the charge led by Lord Cardigan, and was always of the opinion that no one sounded the charge at all.

Nervous & Sleepless Take 2 Tablets at Bedtime and you will arise feeling Refreshed, Bright & Vigorous. When you feel gloomy and depressed and cannot sleep, suspect your nerves. When you shrink from company and would rather be alone you are losing confidence in yourself, and that can only mean weak nerves. It is not natural to be solitary and unsociable, it shows clearly that vitality has become reduced, and the nervous system correspondingly weakened. But take Dr. Cassell's Tablets for such a condition and you will be astonished at the results, astonished at the bright new health you will gain, at the splendid vigour and vitality they will give you. Mr. Poole, a business man of 60, Infirmary Road, Sheffield, England, says—"I had lost all confidence in myself, and was actually afraid to meet people. The alertness and activity I had formerly possessed were gone. My digestion was feeble, and sleeplessness was terrible. But when I commenced taking Dr. Cassell's Tablets, I soon felt better. Now I am as well and fit as any man of my age." Dr. Cassell's Tablets are Nutritive, Restorative, Alternative, and Anti-Spasmotic, and of great Therapeutic value in all derangements of the Nerve and Functional Systems in old or young. HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Beautifully! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair: soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, and lustre, and as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp.

TREATMENT FOR TUBERCULOSIS

JOHN A. THIRTYACRE.
I swallowed a large chunk in April, 1910, and it lodged in my lungs. This developed into tuberculosis. Four doctors treated me but I gradually became worse. Then my sister learned of Nature's Creation and got the medicine for me. When I began taking Nature's Creation, I was having night sweats continually, pains in my chest and both lungs. Several physicians said I could not live over 30 days. After taking the first bottle of Nature's Creation, a wonderful improvement was noticeable and I continue to improve. Weighed 107 pounds; now 150, and never have had any return of the old trouble.

Lesson II.—Second Quarter, For April 9, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts ix, 32-43. Memory Verses, 39, 40—Golden Text, Tit. ii, 7—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We leave Saul at Tarsus, his native town, for a time and return for a few lessons to Peter as the human instrument through whom the risen and ascended Christ continues to prove that He is alive and the same Jesus. The one only thing that believers are on earth for is to magnify the Lord and glorify Him in all things and win people to Him. Unless we are turning people to Him we are not magnifying Him, for when He is lifted up before people in our lives by word or deed He who was lifted up on the cross for us will draw unto Himself all whom the Father has given unto Him to form His body. We must think of Peter as in chapter viii, 25, preaching the word of the Lord wherever he went to save sinners and to strengthen and comfort the saints.

So he came to Lydda and was used by the Lord to give health to a man called Aeneas, who had kept his bed eight years, being palsied. His words to him were, "Aeneas, Jesus Christ maketh thee whole; arise and make thy bed." He was made whole and arose immediately, and one result was that all who dwelt there, seeing this often thought that perhaps the Lord would still heal more people if He saw that the restored health would glorify Him or win others to Him. He knows whom He can trust with health or trials and which will be best for the person intrusted with either. When Lazarus was allowed to die it was that in some way the Son of God might be glorified (John xi, 4). The man the works of God should be made manifest in Him. If only we can say "I have glorified Thee on the earth" we shall have His "Well done."

Turning to Peter at Joppa, we are introduced to a saint, called Dorcas, who while she lived was full of good works and alms deeds which she did. She was not full of talk about good works which might be done, nor did she spend her time telling of alms deeds which she had done, but she was able to do and ought to do, but she was in the Lord's hand to be used by Him as the needle was in her hand, a willing instrument. Good works are prepared beforehand for each believer to walk in (Eph. ii, 10), not in any way to add to our safety which is wholly due to the blood of Jesus Christ. His finished work, but as an evidence to people that we are indeed His workmanship. Good works are not necessary to God to prove to Him our faith, for He reads the heart, but the good works of believers are good and profitable unto men who cannot read the heart (Tit. ii, 8).

This faithful saint became sick and died. She departed to be with Christ, which is far better than continuing here. She was absent from the body and present with the Lord. She rested from her labors (Phil. i, 21, 23; II Cor. v, 8; Rev. xiv, 13). Consider this well and then note the conduct of these disciples at Joppa. Two men were sent to Lydda to find Peter and bring him without delay, hoping that he might bring Dorcas back to them from the dead. This was all very natural, and the same desire prevails everywhere today, as a rule, to have loved ones come back to earth even though we know that they have gone back to do some more sewing for work which perhaps she had simply worked herself to death for them. I can almost imagine the Lord Jesus saying to Dorcas after she had reached her heavenly home and was enjoying something of the bliss of paradise: "Dorcas, they are asking to have you come back to earth for a while, but I leave it to you. I'll be glad to have you stay, for I love to have my redeemed ones with me in glory (John xvii, 24), but if you are willing to go back for a time I will let you bring others with you." I think that would decide Dorcas to return, and we know that by her return to the earth many believed in the Lord (verse 42).

The result was the same in the case of Lazarus, brother of Mary and Martha, for we read that "by reason of him many of the Jews went away and believed on Jesus" (John xii, 11). The man who found himself in torment after death wanted someone to warn his brothers who were still on earth, lest they should come to the same awful place (Luke xvi, 27, 28). So it is not difficult to think that some might be willing to come back from heaven if they could take others to that place of bliss.

Reese M. Ling, National Democratic Committeeman from Arizona, is dead.
