The Road to Defeat.
Nobody thinks they are walking there.
Yet all day long a motley throng
Pushes and crowds and makes their way.

There are many old women and many old men
Who think they are walking there.
And wonder at all that is going on.

They see the old women and many old men
Who think they are walking there.
And wonder at all that is going on.

Long Sleeps.
In spite of the shells rained by the Japanese upon Port Arthur, that stronghold, army officers at Washington believe, will be able to stand, even without relief, for a number of months to come.

For instance, it took 134 days for the Germans to bring Paris to her knees a generation ago. During January, 1871, no fewer than 10,000 shells were rained on the doomed town every day, and of these 500 fell into the city proper.

For ninety-four days Plevna defied the pick of the Russian army, although its defenders were hopelessly outnumbered, and on Dec. 10, 1877, after the last grain of rice had been eaten, the indomitable Turks sallied forth and tried to hew their way through the Russian legions, but were compelled to surrender.

Khartoum without the Mahdi and his hosts for 341 days under the brave direction of Gordon, and in Kars General Williams, with 15,000 men, with provisions for three months and ammunition for three days, kept an investing army of 50,000 at bay from June to November.

Richmond was defended by General Lee through a year of terrible fighting until the seizure of his lines of supply compelled him to evacuate it on April 2, 1865; Lucknow held out for eighty-six days, when General Havelock went to its relief, and Strassburg, with all its strength, defended by a garrison of 17,000 men, had to surrender to the Germans after a siege of forty-eight days.

Among the other notable sieges: Maling survived seven months, Kimberley 123 days, Ladysmith 118, Potchefstroom 40, Metz 72, Gaeta 77 and Chitral fort 46 days.

Out of Pocket But Got Even.
A squire not a great distance from here was visited by a client who protested that a liverman had 'shaved' him dreadfully, and he wanted to come up to him.

'I asked him,' explained the client, 'the charge for a team to go to Dedham. He replied '5'. I ordered the team and on my return offered in payment $1. He insisted on another dollar for coming back and made me pay it.'

The squire gave him legal advice, which follows: 'Going to the liverman, he asked, "How much will you charge for a team to Salem?"

'Five dollars,' replied the stable owner.
'Harnes him up.' The client went to Salem, returned by railroad and went to the stable, saying, 'Here's your $5.'

'Where's my team?' asked the liverman in surprise.
'At Salem,' answered the client. 'I only hired the team to go to Salem.'—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"FUNDY,"
A poem written and read by Mr. J. F. Herbin at the Centenary Celebration at Annapolis Royal, June 21st, 1904.

Fundy, the tidal toiler out of sea,
So ho as a hand, relentless as a sword,
Set pulsing in the heart of Acadie.

These the men to enter at the door,
To throw it wide to heaven's waiting light.

Oh, he isn't hurt at all. He's just as sound in body and limb as I am. The truth is—

'But I thought you said it was going to be something terrible? Ah, you are deceiving me! You are keeping back the truth! I must know all! Don't torture me this way. You are cruel. Let me know the worst. I will be brave. I will try to bear up. Oh, my boy! My poor boy! Take me to him! Where is he?'

A Well Known St. John Merchant Tells How He Was Freed From This Terrible Trouble.

One of the best known men in St. John, N. B., is Mr. G. G. Kierstead, grocer and general dealer, 641 Main Street. Mr. Kierstead has an interesting story to tell of failing health, insomnia, and finally renewed strength, which cannot fail to interest others. He says:—'A few years ago I was all run down and failing in health, no doubt due to overwork and shattered nerves. I was unable to sleep at night and found no rest in day. My life seemed a burden to me and I found no pleasure in anything. I sought medical aid and the physicians who attended me were unable to give me any relief. The doctors differed in their opinion as to my ailment. Finding that I was growing worse, and almost crazed through loss of sleep, I concluded to give up business and go to the country for a rest. Just when I was at my very worst and had almost no desire to live, my wife urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had lost faith in all medicines, but to please my wife I decided to give the pills a trial. I have had reason to be thankful that I did so. Almost from the outset the pills helped me and I was able to find sleep. I could sleep as I did in my childhood; I grew healthy and strong and have never known one hour's trouble from that source since. I have no hesitation in saying that I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life, and will always say a good word for them to any who are troubled with sleeplessness.'

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills work cures like Mr. Kierstead's, after doctors and common medicines fail because they actually make new, rich blood, and so strengthen all the organs of the body and brace up the nerves. That is the way they cure indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, nervousness, neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, rheumatism and the special ailments that fill the lives of so many women with misery. The genuine pills always have the full name 'Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People' on the wrapper around every box. If in doubt write direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

How The Foreman Showed His Authority.
The night after Mulhoney was relieved of the section foreman-ship the new boss came. The crew of the 'Irish lark' formed their silent conclusions at the supper table and later over their pipes agreed to start right by propitiating as far as possible Mr. Michael O'Brien.

On the following morning while that gentleman was yet stowing away vast quantities of eggs and bacon the men left a hurried breakfast and, proceeding to the car house, performed the unusual feat of placing the hand-car upon the siding before 7 o'clock. Then they loaded up the tools and buckets and waited.

'Who put that car on the track?'
The crew glanced at one another, at car and back at O'Brien. Marty J. Flynn swallowed part of his chow and made answer:
'We did.'

'Take that car off the track! The wheels crunched in the cinder, and the men straightened up.

A Radium Clock.
A radium clock, which will keep time indefinitely, has been constructed by Mr. Harrison Martindale, of England. The principle of this apparatus is simplicity itself, the registration of time being made in two minute beads, while its function is to exhibit the dissipation of negative and alpha and beta rays by radium. The clock comprises a small tube, in which is placed a minute quantity of radium supported in an exhaustive glass vessel by a quartz rod. To the lower end of the tube, which is colorized by the action of the radium, an electroscopical formed of two long leaves or strips of silver is attached. A charge of electricity in which there are no beta rays is transmitted through the activity of the radium into the leaves, and the latter thereby expand until they touch the sides of the vessel, connected to earth by wires, which instantly conduct the electric charge, and the leaves fall together. This simple operation is repeated incessantly every two minutes until the radium is exhausted, which in this instance it is computed will occupy thirty thousand years.

A curious and amusing mixture of early poetry and worldliness came to light in a city school-room one day when the teacher had asked the children to write on their pads of paper something about the profession or occupation in which they would like to engage when they became men and women. One little girl wrote briefly but effectively, 'I would desire to be a lady rider at a circus if it was the Lord's will.' Another little girl with equally mixed ideas wrote, 'Missionary, but if not that, millinery or clerk in candy store.'—June Lippincott's.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JULY 5, 1904

The town of Pictou is installing an electric light plant, to furnish the inhabitants with illuminating power. Gas and kerosene are now extensively used by the people, and the opinion is expressed that when the new plant is installed the electric lights will displace all other forms of illuminating power, and at a rate which will induce every one to become a user of the new light.

Travelling at a speed equal to express trains is what is promised to ocean travellers within a short time at least this is the hope and belief entertained by three expert ship-builders and inventors who are getting ready to launch an ocean giant which is to be christened 'The Meteor.' The new trans-atlantic racer will be propelled by six powerful screw propellers, operated by electricity, and driven through the water at the rate of 45 miles per hour, to about 1000 miles a day.

Educational Notes For Trustees and Teachers.

The schools of Kings County have been classified according to the following regulation of council 'Reg. 15 (c)'. It shall be the duty of each Inspector to classify the school sections within his division into first, second and third class sections, which in order to enjoy the full regular grants of public money should employ respectively teachers having at least the corresponding classes of license. Such classification may be revised annually, any change being intimated to the secretary of the school board affected before the date of the regular annual meeting of the section. Any section shall be free to employ a teacher of higher class than its ranking, but not free to employ a teacher of lower class than its ranking except on the express authorization of the Inspector for sufficient reasons, such as the lack of teachers of the class required.

All the 'Poor Sections' and the following are on the third class list: E. Halls Harbor, Lake Mills, Town Plot, Black River, Prospect, Rockland, Windermere, Weston, (Primary), Cambridge, (Primary) Lower Gasperau (Primary).

All the advanced departments of graded schools and Kingston, St. Marys, South Berwick, Cambridge, Church Street, Upper Church St., Bloomfield, Grand Pre, Hants Border and Horton Landing, are put on the first class list.

All sections not named are second class. Very little change has been made in the graded schools. While second class, and even third class teachers in a few cases are allowed to teach in Primary grades, the trustees can employ any teacher of a higher class. The aim has been not to degrade any school and for the first year the class has been fixed, in most cases, according to the kind of school maintained in the past. In future changes may be made as needed.

COLIN W. ROSCOE, Inspector of Schools.

Public School Closing.

Public examinations were held in the various departments, on Monday and Tuesday of this week. An excellent programme of work was presented by each teacher, showing that thorough and painstaking work had been done during the year.

At the first of the year three medals were offered to the pupils of Miss Hamilton's department, one each for improvement in writing, in the pupils of grades six and seven, in one grade seven for highest standing in grading examinations at close of year. These medals were offered by Dr. Bars, chairman of Board of Commissioners. The medals were won as follows: Grade VII, writing, Arthur Boggs. Grade VI, writing, Hilda Fielden.

For highest standing in grading from Grade VII to Grade VIII the medal was won by Austin Chute, whose average was 81.

The following deserve honorable mention:

Mary Archibald 81.8

Blanche Pineo 80.2

Florence Messenger 76.4

Save Baby's Life.

You cannot watch your little ones too carefully during the hot weather. At this time sickness comes swiftly and the sands of the little life are apt to glide away almost before you notice it. Dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera infantum, and stomach troubles are alarmingly frequent during hot weather. At the first sign of any of these troubles coming, Baby's Own Tablets should be given—better still an occasional dose will prevent these troubles coming, and the Tablets should therefore be kept in every home. Promptness may save your child's life. Mrs. J. R. Standen, Weyburn, N. W. T., says: 'Baby's Own Tablets are valuable in cases of diarrhoea, constipation, hives, and when teething. I have never used a medicine that gives such good satisfaction.' This is the experience of all mothers who have used the Tablets. If you do not find the Tablets at your drug store send 25 cents to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and a box will be sent you by mail post paid.

Several cases of scarlet fever are reported in the vicinity of Port Wilkes. A little child of Mr. Richard Keedy, of that place, died on Sunday morning. It is hoped that the disease will be prevented from further spreading.

The Tercentenary Celebration.

ED. ACADIAN.
DREAM SIR.—In view of the fact that THE ACADIAN has shown a very intelligent interest in historical events of importance, it may not be out of place to make some observations relative to the celebration of the Tercentenary of DeMonts, the founder of the famous Port Royal.

Having been privileged to witness the proceedings at Annapolis, in connection with the Tercentenary festivities, I feel that some account of the interesting characteristics which came to the notice of the visitors on this occasion, may be appreciated by the readers of THE ACADIAN.

DeMonts was a man of most exceptional spirit and prowess, a navigator at once shrewd, intrepid, and progressive, a bold ruler of men, and a splendid type of the restless, fiery, and highly polished Frenchman, aiming at position and renown, and brave enough to face the sternest issues of the age.

The arrival of DeMonts was an event, which considered in its historical importance, was not eclipsed by that of any such event in all time, when we come to realize that it marked the beginning of the development of the North American Continent, in which such momentous progress has been made, and in which are destined to be the most powerful commonwealths of the entire world.

I have only time to give briefly, an outline of the celebration of the arrival of Sear DeMonts, with the endeavor to point out some features of those eminent men who participated in the exercises of the occasion.

The opening address by Hon. J. W. Longley, the Attorney General of the Province, was nothing short of a most acceptable and eloquent eulogy in reference to this distinguished man who were concerned in the founding of Port Royal, or in the celebration of the event; Mr Longley compared more than favorably with the most distinguished representatives by whom he was surrounded, and spoke with that power and purpose which naturally accentuated his words as one born in Annapolis, his member in parliament for twenty-two years, and as one of the most interesting figures in the public arena of today.

The reply of Governor Jones to the address presented by the Mayor of Annapolis, was well written, and enforced by many allusions to the occasion, and delivered in a clear and comprehensive manner, though the governor is doubtless showing signs of the wear and tear of official life and position.

The Governor is a descendant of the U. E. Loyalists, and is a most worthy example of that most illustrious class of public men of our country. Mr Kleczkowski, the personal representative of France and its president, spoke first in French, as was befitting to the occasion, and concluded by rendering in English the closing remarks of his speech. He is stout and straight, with a noble bearing, a fluent tongue, and a keen yet kindly eye, his uniform was magnificent.

Capt. Dillingham followed the delegate of the French Republic, and delivered a very imposing address, disposing as a stern, firm, and indomitable commander, decked in his naval uniform, and holding in his grasp his glittering sword.

A poem by Mr Herbin, of Wolfville, (formerly mayor of the town) and recognized as a genuine Acadian of the highest talents and noblest ideals, was received with pleasure by the brilliant gathering on the old fort ground.

The most polished and finely appearing speaker was Hon. Mr Turgeon, the delegate from Quebec, and the special representative of the premier of Canada.

He is tall, active, and expressive, a very rapid speaker, using the English language as naturally and beautifully as his own.

The Archbishop of Halifax gave a reasonable, plain and impressive discourse, dealing with many important features, and dwelling upon the ruling of divine providence in the government of nations.

On the special excursion steamer, which anchored off Goat Island, near where De Monts lived, several eminent delegates spoke among whom were Hon. Mr Langelier, Rev Mr Gaynor, Hon. J. W. Longley and Judge Savery, who pointed out for the guests of the steamer the several points of interest on the island.

On Tuesday evening in the Academy of Music, a very lively historical debate was conducted, the chief participants being Chas. Francis Adams of Boston, Rev. Prin. Forrest of Halifax, Rev. Dr. Keirstead of Wolfville, Pres. Hanna of Kings, the editor of the Canadian Magazine, and Judge Savery of Annapolis. Mr Adams is of noted parentage, being son of a U. S. ambassador, and grandson of a former president of the republic. He is president of the Massachusetts Historical Society and in the course of his animated speech, made several high sounding claims and assertions, flourishing the key of the old fort and combining wit and fiery announcement with the effect that the audience was moved to excitement and applause.

Dr. Keirstead gave a most acceptable and thoughtful address, marked by lofty sentiment, and eloquently christian character.

In the course of his remarks Dr. Forrest gave the hint that the Massachusetts Society might hold the key

Port Royal, and the loyal Nova Scotians were to hold the fort.

Lieutenant Gov. Jones, assisted by the representatives of the various governments laid the corner stone of the status of DeMonts, near the old barracks on the site of the buildings erected by the great pioneer three hundred years ago.

The speakers on the programme were: Admiral Douglas, Sir Chas. Parsons, F. B. Wade, M. P., Mr Hoffman, Prof. Clarke, and Mr Hovenden, of the Royal Historical Society, London.

In connection with the celebration activities I might mention that the sailors and officers from the warships in the harbor enlivened the day with music and drill. The foot-ball game was loudly applauded, and the strenuous acrobat, Prof. Bishop, was enthusiastically cheered by the crowds at the old fort grounds.

Altogether the affair was worthily commemorated, and the visitors left with pleasant memories of Annapolis Royal and its hospitable people.

Perhaps the most interesting study in connection with the tercentenary was the observation of the comparisons and contrasts between the men who were the chief actors in the founding of Port Royal, and the men of distinction who at this period of the world's history were the foremost participants in the celebration of the event.

Yours very truly
R. Percy Simonson.

Academic Politics.

The political pot in the United States is boiling just now, but it cannot be said with truth that there is any great excitement within the ranks of either the republican or democratic parties. There is a scheme on foot to re-nominate Grover Cleveland at the democratic convention in St. Louis on July 4, but the former president has many enemies and it is probable that Judge Parker of New York, will be named. Last week the republican convention was held in Chicago when President Roosevelt was unanimously chosen to act as the standard bearer of the party at the election this autumn. Senator Fairbanks was nominated for vice president. Senator Fairbanks hailed from Indiana, for which reason partly he is selected, as it is necessary to have a strong man from the middle-western states. The additional reason is given that the great railway and money magnates are friendly to him. Mr Fairbanks was a poor boy who started work at the carpenter's bench, earned enough to give himself a college education, studied law and began the leader of the bar in his state. As a corporation lawyer he acquired millions; as a politician he has been a power in his state, and has also a national reputation. He is fifty-two years old. Mr Roosevelt is forty-six.

The former Principals of the School were:

- 1848-50, Asahel Chapin, B. A.
- 1850-59, Rev. John Fryer, M. A.
- 1859-63, Edward Blanchard.
- 1863-67, Charles D. Randall, M. A.
- 1867-61, J. W. Hartt, M. A.
- 1861-74, Rev. T. A. Higgins, M. A.
- 1874-81, J. F. Tufts, M. A.
- 1881-85, A. V. Armstrong, B. A.
- 1885-88, J. F. Tufts, M. A.
- 1888-90, L. B. Oakes, M. A.
- 1890-94, H. L. Brittain, M. A.

The marriage of Mrs Goucher, widow of George Goucher, of Aylesford, took place at her residence, Berwick, Monday to Harry Gesner, of Waterville, formerly of Boston. The bride was attired in a dress of grey silk, and was attended by Mrs Charles Judge, of Halifax, both of whom carried bouquets of roses and carnations. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James Simond, rector of Aylesford. Mr and Mrs Gesner left for their honeymoon, which will be spent in towns through the valley, after which they will settle down in Waterville.

Horton-Academy's New Principal.

At a special meeting of the Board of Governors of Acadia University held here last week, the important position of Principal of Horton Academy, made vacant by the retirement of H. L. Brittain, M. A. was filled by the choice, as his successor, of Prof. Everett W. Sawyer, son of Rev. Dr. Sawyer, and a graduate of Acadia in 1880 and of Harvard in 1883. The appointment of Mr Sawyer will be received with cordiality by the patrons and friends of the institution and by the general constituency of the College, as he has been in the employ of the Board since 1883 and has rendered most valuable service as instructor in the Academy and Tutor and Associate Professor in the College.

In the discharge of the varied duties that have come to him he has shown himself a highly efficient teacher and an experienced educationist with excellent executive ability and a thorough knowledge of the intricacies of the Academy with the College and the public school system of the Province. He is withal a true Christian, a leader in moral life, and has from all points of view conspicuous qualifications for the important part to which he is called.

His first assistant will be Chalmers J. Mesereau, B. A., Acadia 1900 and M. A. 1903. He is the son of Inspector Mesereau, of Doaktown, N. B., and has since graduating held important positions in that Province, having been two years in the Bathurst High School and one year Adjutant in the military school at Fredericton. He will live in the Academy residence as Housemaster. He has made an excellent record as a teacher, and with his intimate knowledge of French speaking it as a native, he will be a most valuable coadjutor in Academic work.

The death took place at Berwick

on Tuesday morning of Lizie, eldest daughter of the late John D. and Bessie Somerville. About five weeks ago her father died suddenly, and she arrived home from New York, accompanied by her sister Mary, in time for the funeral. She was in a very weak state on her arrival, but it was thought that a rest and good nursing would benefit her; but that dread disease, consumption, had got too secure a hold of her, and she finally succumbed to its ravages. She was a very fine young lady and a general favorite with all who knew her.

The new knots are coming out now and will very soon be covered with a crop of summer spores which will spread the disease still further. But these knots are as yet soft and can easily be whittled out, and the whole matter nipped in the bud. Some people object to this summer cutting on the ground that when the leaves are on the trees it is difficult to see the knots. While there is something in this and we may not be able to get every knot, yet by going over the orchard several times most of the knots can be seen and removed. The difficulty I find is, not that I can't find the knots but that I can't help finding them, they are so plentiful. I have examined a great many orchards in town and in most of them the inner perspective consists altogether too largely of black knot.

To show that it is feasible to do this summer cutting and that it is not an endless job may I give our experience in the experimental orchard at the School of Horticulture. There are seventy young plum trees from one to three years set, and about forty old trees. We have been through the orchard twice up to date and I do not believe it would be possible for anyone to find many knots on the trees at this time. And it has taken one man just three hours to do this. Surely owners of plum trees in this time to attend to this matter in their own orchards. And to any person visiting the town and knowing anything of fruit growing, waste paper about the streets or weeds and grass along the sidewalks are no more unsightly and no more indicative of carelessness and indifference to the beauty of our town than are the quantities of black knot in many of our orchards.

I see by placards about the town that the practice of bicycle riding on our sidewalks is to be stopped as in common with everyone, (except possibly a few bicyclists), I say amen to the proposal, though personally I have never suffered any inconvenience from bicycle riders. But while our town authorities are giving this matter their earnest attention may we not hope for an equally strenuous attempt to check this curse of black knot which seriously threatens an industry that is worth annually to the town hundreds of dollars and might be worth thousands. If pedestrians are entitled to protection against one form of public nuisance are not our plum growers who are trying to keep down the black knot in their orchards entitled to equal consideration?

The Dominion Atlantic railway has placed in commission two new cars, modelled after the first-class coaches on the Maritime express of the Intercolonial railway. They are the 'Josephine' and the 'Madeline', called after two daughters of the vice-president of the company, and are models of excellence and beauty. Constructed by the Rhodes, Curry company, the cars show what fine work can be done in this province. 'The upholstery is in old gold and the cars are vestibuled—the nucleus of a solid vestibuled train, which it is the intention of the Dominion Atlantic to place on the road, at a time which Manager Giffens hopes is not very far distant in the future.

The Weekly Sun, edited by Goldwin Smith, says: Canada today is the only country in the world which offers an unlimited area of free land, capable of great production, an temperate climate, in a white man's country, and where desirable political institutions exist. Because this is so the prediction may be safely ventured that the Dominion will, within ten years, be receiving half a million immigrants annually. There is no other avenue offering anything like equal attractions open to the overflow from Northern Europe which must seek an outlet somewhere.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JULY 5, 1904

The town of Pictou is installing an electric light plant, to furnish the inhabitants with illuminating power. Gas and kerosene are now extensively used by the people, and the opinion is expressed that when the new plant is installed the electric lights will displace all other forms of illuminating power, and at a rate which will induce every one to become a user of the new light.

Travelling at a speed equal to express trains is what is promised to ocean travellers within a short time at least this is the hope and belief entertained by three expert ship-builders and inventors who are getting ready to launch an ocean giant which is to be christened 'The Meteor.' The new trans-atlantic racer will be propelled by six powerful screw propellers, operated by electricity, and driven through the water at the rate of 45 miles per hour, to about 1000 miles a day.

Educational Notes For Trustees and Teachers.

The schools of Kings County have been classified according to the following regulation of council 'Reg. 15 (c)'. It shall be the duty of each Inspector to classify the school sections within his division into first, second and third class sections, which in order to enjoy the full regular grants of public money should employ respectively teachers having at least the corresponding classes of license. Such classification may be revised annually, any change being intimated to the secretary of the school board affected before the date of the regular annual meeting of the section. Any section shall be free to employ a teacher of higher class than its ranking, but not free to employ a teacher of lower class than its ranking except on the express authorization of the Inspector for sufficient reasons, such as the lack of teachers of the class required.

All the 'Poor Sections' and the following are on the third class list: E. Halls Harbor, Lake Mills, Town Plot, Black River, Prospect, Rockland, Windermere, Weston, (Primary), Cambridge, (Primary) Lower Gasperau (Primary).

All the advanced departments of graded schools and Kingston, St. Marys, South Berwick, Cambridge, Church Street, Upper Church St., Bloomfield, Grand Pre, Hants Border and Horton Landing, are put on the first class list.

All sections not named are second class. Very little change has been made in the graded schools. While second class, and even third class teachers in a few cases are allowed to teach in Primary

The Hancock place, at Greenwich, which was recently purchased by Mr. Ernest Johnson, is already showing indication of improvement. The house is being repaired and the grounds put in first-class condition. Mr. Johnson is one of the most progressive farmers in Nova Scotia, and under his management this farm will no doubt soon be one of the best in the valley. The farm adjoins the fine young orchard set out a few years ago by Mr. Johnson.

The mission band connected with the Baptist Sunday school, under the efficient direction of Mrs. Walter Mitchell, gave a very enjoyable entertainment in the vestry on Friday evening. Excellent music and recitations were given and the various heathen nations represented in costume. Mrs. Mitchell was the recipient of a handsome testimonial from the band. The Misses Strong and Miss Curry deserve much of the credit of the success, for their assistance with the musical part of the program.

The three masted schooner being built by W. C. Balcom at Hantsport is getting along very well and will be launched this fall. She will be of about 400 tons. The two masted schooner under construction by David North is rapidly nearing completion and will be launched the first of August. Mr. Miller is foreman, and John Henderson, of Canning, is doing the caulking. This vessel is said to be one of the strongest that has ever been built in that section. She is for the South American trade. There are about 34 men at work on both vessels. Ask for Minard's and take no other.

A Home Wedding.

GREENOUGH—SHAW.

A quiet home wedding took place on Saturday morning last at the residence of Mr. E. B. Shaw, this town, when his daughter, Miss Sadie M., and Mr. Horace S. Greenough, of Windsor, were united in marriage by Rev. Geo. F. Johnson. The bride, who was one of our most popular young ladies, wore a travelling suit of blue broad-cloth, with cream satin and chiffon trimmings, and hat to match. At the close of the ceremony the happy couple were driven to the railway station and took the Yarmouth express. After a short trip to St. John and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Greenough will reside in Windsor. Among the presents received by the bride was a gold-lined silver cake-basket, the gift of friends in the Methodist church. The ACADIAN joins a host of friends in best wishes.

MCCORMACK—ELDERKIN

The residence of Mr. Chas. F. Elderkin, of this town, was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. Frederick McCormack, of Bridgetown, and Miss Bessie Johnson Elderkin, formerly of Wolfville but lately of the same town, were united in marriage. Rev. G. F. Johnson, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated. The parlors were trimmed for the occasion and decorated with a profusion of cut flowers and potted plants. The bride was dressed in a beautiful suit of blue cloth and was unattended. The presents were numerous and very pretty. The newly wedded couple embarked on the afternoon train for Halifax, en route for a trip through the eastern part of the province. On their return they will reside at Bridge town. THE ACADIAN tenders congratulations.

MARRIAGES.

GREENOUGH—SHAW.—At Wolfville, on June 25th, by the Rev. Geo. F. Johnson, B. A., Horace Seymour Greenough, of Windsor, and Sadie May Shaw, of Wolfville.

While in Kentville one day this week we had the pleasure of a visit to the garden and grounds of Mr. M. G. DeWolfe. Mr. DeWolfe is widely known as an expert amateur gardener, and his well kept garden is one of the most attractive of the many points of interest at the shire-town. The grounds are neatly and artistically laid off and filled with rare and common plants in profusion. At the rear of the garden and adjoining it is a delightful sylvan retreat, with rustic seats, summer-houses, winding paths, etc. So far as it is possible the primeval conditions are here maintained and added to by the introduction of wild-flowers and forest trees. Nature and art combine in a most pleasing manner. The view from the top of the hill is a charming one and not by any means the least pleasing feature of the grounds. Such men as Mr. DeWolfe are doing a good work not only in beautifying their own property but in interesting others by their example in a love of nature.

The Story of 'Self Help'.
From a statement made to a representative of The Young Man it is evident that the book 'Self Help' was offered to a publisher between March, 1854, and July, 1856, and the following is the story of one of the most successful books of the century:
A Leeds firm was willing to publish it and divide the profits, but I wanted it to come out in London. So I offered it to Routledge, but the Crimean War was then raging, and the book trade was consequently at a very low ebb.

I remember old Routledge saying, 'Nobody will read books nowadays,' newspaper accounts of battles and fights are much more to the public taste. It won't call any day, you will find the manuscript on the counter of my publishing house.'

So I went one day and saw my 'Self Help' lying amongst a lot of other documents; I picked it up and took it away with me and put it on one side. 'Well, this won't do.' But as soon as 'Stephenson' was published, I thought, 'I will bring out the old manuscript 'Self Help,' and see if I can't make something out of it.'

So I took it to Mr Murray and said, 'Will you publish this?'
'Yes—what is it?'
'It is a book I have had beside me for some time; will you publish it on the same terms as 'Stephenson'?'
The arrangement was, I had two-thirds and he one-third of the profits. 'I will be very glad to publish 'Self Help,' said Mr Murray, but you must let me have half the profits.' It was not quite finished, so I told him I would consider the matter. I eventually got him to publish the book at my own risk. 'Self Help' ran through a large number of editions; twenty thousand copies, I think, were sold the first year. It has been translated into all the languages of Europe without exception, and in some cases twice over. Italian, French, Spanish, German, Danish, Norwegian, Swedish, Russian, and also, curiously enough into Japanese. The books were sold off, as a partner of Murray's used to say, like hot cakes.

Short Stories tells this, under the heading of 'In His Element':—A clergyman who was traveling stopped at a hotel much frequented by wags and jokers. The host, not being used to having a clergyman at his table, looked at him with surprise; the guests used all their railery of wit upon him without eliciting a remark.

The clergyman ate his dinner quietly, apparently without observing the gibes and sneers of his neighbors. One of them at last, in despair of his forbearance, said to him: 'Well, I wonder at your patience! Have you not heard all that has been said to you?'
'Oh, yes, but I am used to it. Do you know who I am?'
'No sir.'

'Well, I will inform you, I am chaplain of a lunatic asylum. Such remarks have no effect upon me.'

His Last Hope Realized.
(From the Sentinel, Gelo, Mont.)
In the fit opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. In going his traveling about a day afterwards his coming upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which together with the severe heat, it gave him a very sore diarrhoea, which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors bought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the diarrhoea was checked. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by G. V. Rind.

'Oh, mamma,' she said, with a little burst of girlish confidence, 'what do you think? Mr. Tiddly proposed last night.'

'Ab, did he, my dear? And what did my little girl say?'

'Oh, I told him that an engagement was too solemn and sacred a thing for me to enter into without serious thought and consideration and that I would give him my answer in a week. And now, mamma mine, we must go to work and find out if he really and truly has a thousand a year.'

Russian Province Where Women Propose.
In one part of all the Russias, the province of Ukraine, it is always leap year as far as the female province of proposing is concerned. It is said to be customary there when a young woman falls in love with a man, for her to go to his father's house, and in the most tender and pathetic manner plead with the young man to take her as his wife. She promises the most submissive obedience to his will if he will but accept her. If the young man says: 'I beg that you will excuse me from this,' she tells him that she is resolved not to depart until he has promised to take her for better or for worse. She accordingly takes up her abode there and remains until he is wooed and won, or until he ends the steps by fleeing to parts unknown.

'Our Beer, brewed from pure malt and hops, promotes health, strengthens the invalid, lifts up the oppressed, and is one of the best means of fighting the drink.'
On an unusually warm day last March the spring sun shone through the window of a little house in Gt. B. Street, in H—, and fell on the sick bed of a young man who was lying there.
The only son of an aged widow, he had been obliged to lie there a long time. A severe illness had seized this still youthful but faithful support of his old mother. Many days and nights the poor woman had watched in self-sacrificing love by the bed of him whom she had so nearly lost.
To day, for the first time, the son sat up in bed and amused himself with childish joy with the sunbeams which played on the furniture and the bed. His eye fell on a printed paper that lay on the bed at his feet. It was a newspaper; as he unfolded it he caught sight of the above advertisement. He carefully read it, and then called his mother, who was busy in the next room. As she hastily entered, with the impetuosity of an invalid he said, 'Dear Mother, the doctor has told you that you must not give me strengthening food and drink, and here in the paper the beer from X— is especially recommended as 'good for invalids.' See now, dear mother, here it is, the beautiful time of the March brewing will soon be over, and may I not have one single bottle of this year's delicious beer? O, dear mother, fetch me just one bottle to do me good!'
'Dear child,' answered the mother, 'I will do anything to please you. But I don't think the doctor would allow me to give you beer; it might do you harm.'
'But, dear mother, only look here; you see it says, "it strengthens the invalid." They would not print what was not true!'
The mother made all sorts of excuses, but at last, out of love for her son, and because this was the first thing he had asked for, she gave in, and went out and fetched a bottle of this highly-prized drink.
The eyes of the invalid sparkled as he held the bottle in his hands, and, hardly waiting till the cork was drawn, his parched lips sought with haste the neck of the bottle.
When the bottle was empty he said, softly, 'I thank you, mother; that does me good. I shall soon be able to work for you again and repay all your love with interest.'

He went out. In the sick room it was quiet, and when after a little while the mother looked through the crack of the door she saw that her son had fallen asleep. She went softly about her work.
All at once she stopped still; it was as if she heard some one singing in the distance. She listened carefully, and clearly heard the words of the Christmas carol, 'When Shepherds watched'; then another song—the tune changed to 'If you have a mother still.' Whilst the good woman smiled some one opened the door; it was one of our Good Templar sisters, who had been helping to nurse the young man. She wished her 'Good morning' and then she had heard of the invalid she went in to the sick-room, but stood still in the doorway, for the song that the mother had heard had not come from a distance, but out of the mouth of the sick man, and he appeared to be in a high fever. Filled with grief and pain, she turned to the mother, who had come in, 'The dear child! He is singing himself to heaven.'

In an agony she looked from her neighbor to her dying son. She seized her old, true friend by the arm and tremblingly cried, 'My son isn't dying?' 'I don't know,' she answered, 'but I believe the door of heaven stands open for him.' With heavy steps she ran to the doctor, and in less than a quarter of an hour Dr. L— stood by the sick-bed. In wild delirium one song followed another. Now it was 'The Watch on the Rhine,' 'The Marsellaise,' then, 'I am a Prussian.' The doctor stood shaking his head, when suddenly his glance fell on the beer bottle. 'How comes this bottle here?' he asked. 'My son begged me so piteously for one single bottle of beer that I could not resist him; he showed me this advertisement, in which the beer is recommended for invalids, and thought that it must be true.'

The doctor read the dangerous advertisement, and although he himself liked his glass of beer, the words escaped unawakenedly from his lips.

Another victim to drink? It was quiet in the sick-room—not another word came from the blanched lips of the dying, and in a few minutes all that the doctor could do was to inform the heart-broken mother that her only child was dead.—The Good Templar's Watchword.

Kaiser Adjures Drink
A press despatch from London, England, says: 'Emperor William of Germany tells the people of his empire that he feels so much better since he left off drinking beer and spirituous liquors. During his Mediterranean trip he practically was a teetotaler. He rarely touched alcohol, confining himself to apple-juice and mineral waters. Twice only did he take a mouthful of champagne—once when he dined with the King of Spain, and once when parting with his royal guests at Naples. Since his return to Germany he has adhered largely to this new programme. Whenever he dines alone with his family he confines himself to mineral waters or the juice of raspberries. In Karlsruhe, where he met his uncle, the Grand Duke of Baden, he had some champagne on the Crown Prince's birthday, but that was 'all.'

Five hundred farmers near Wellington, Kan., have signed an agreement not to buy any goods in that town till the authorities close the saloons. A farmer recently became drunk in Wellington and was killed in a run-away while going home. His neighbors immediately started the movement, which it is hoped will result in the enforcement of the prohibitory law in that part of Kansas.

Plagued With Poor Digestion.
Don't Suffer Any Longer—Follow the Advice of Others and Use Ferrone. It Cures Permanently Indigestion and Dyspepsia.
Mr. Louis Meehan, familiar to every one in his native city of Peterboro, writes: 'About three years ago I had a gripe, which left me in a run-down condition. My stomach got out of order, and I suffered considerably from indigestion and dyspepsia. I was only able to eat a few things. I had to give up treating with doctors, because they didn't help me. On the advice of a friend, I used Ferrone, which not only cured my dyspepsia and biliousness, but built up my strength. I can recommend Ferrone as an ideal remedy for the digestion.'
