Rainbow the 24 karat flour

Just as the metal refiner repeatedly skims off the dross from the molten gold, so we remove, by repeated bolting, the fibre, embryo germ and other dross of the wheat that enters into the making of Rainbow Flour.

Were Karat marks given to flour, Rainbow would win the verdict "24 Karat." And it is the only flour that would be entitled to such distinction. For in its milling, the less desirable elements are most painstakingly removed.

We utilize only the choicest portion of the wheat berry. There is not a trace of fibre in Rainbow Flour—not a trace of dirt or germ—nothing remains but the pure starch and gluten.

What bread it makes! Snow-white and flaky—a mouth-melting delight!

Test some and you'll agree it's the one 24 Karat Flour.

CHAPTER X.

LOVE'S BEST FRIEND.

"There, there," he says, soothingly: "there, don't cry any more, my darling! I am an unfeeling brute, I know; but I'm very sorry."

With Adrian trying to comfort me, I am not likely to remain long in grief; then, when I am laying quiet against him, he begins, manlike, to excuse himself.

"You see, my darling, I haven't slept at all; and, when a man has a headache, you know, it plays the very deuce with his temper.

I wonder was there ever, since Adam himself, a man who was willing to bear blame without trying to show that he was more or less—generally more—in the right? I am a little disappointed to find Adrian is of the number, and yet how stupid I am to say so! I have set him up on a pedestal—oh, such a high one!—of pure gold, and I have gilded him so highly that the glitter ought to last a lifetime; but in the wear and tear of everyday life it will rub off and display the plain gingerbread beneath. It has always been so; I suppose it will continue to the end of the world. Some foolish, little girl gives her heart away, and everything looks rosy and bright; her lover is not like other girls' lovers, and her love story has a novelty and charm all its own; when she and her lover are married they are not going to do as all other couples do, as their fathers and mothers did before them. Oh, no—they are going to live all their lives in one continuous honeymoon! The girl resolves that they will never grow old, or, if they do, it will be a graceful ripening which they will not notice, because they love each other so much more than they did when they were married first. But sometimes this same girl looks at the darker side of the question; perhaps her own immediate experience has shown her that there are such things in life as poverty, sickness, misfortune, death; yet, even then, she is not daunted. Her picture is just as rosy, just as lovable; all these misfortunes which may come will only prove to "dear Jack" that he has chosen a wife who is not all on the surface. Ah, little girl, little girl, you learn in time that it is not the great misfortune of life which wear love out! A dire calamity is often the best friend love has; it serves to draw hearts closer together; it makes husband and wife more forbearing, more considerate. No, it is not the great trials which turn your heart sick and make the whole world seem blank. For "dear Jack" has grown tired of you, as your neighbors put it, "you can't get on at all," but it is the shutting of a door, the overfilling of a cup, or, most frequently of all, speaking unexpectedly when "dear Jack" is shaving. Ah, little girl, it is the hard rubbing that polishes a diamond or a slab of marble, not it is the little rubs of life that take the gilt off that gingerbread rime which you have glorified and set up in your true, loving, little heart as "dear Jack."

In my case it is a headache. I wonder will a headache or any pain ever make me speak to Adrian as he did to me just now. I don't think so; at then, I am hardly a fair judge—least, not just yet. I gather myself together, with a sigh, and raise myself from the shelter of his arms, not because I am cross or tired of being there, but because I am mindful of his headache.

"Then you have ceased to be cross with me, darling?" says Adrian, anxiously.

"I was not cross at all!" I cry, indignantly. "I was only—"

But I cannot tell him what it was that troubled me, for the tears well fresh into my eyes, and I feel that my lips are quivering.

"Yes, yes, my darling," he says, penitently; "I know it was all my fault. I am a beast, an unfeeling—"

I feel Adrian must be dreadfully alarmed, when he does not make the very smallest excuse for himself; and I astonish him by bursting into a genuine fit of laughter; and then we go back to the other room to finish our breakfast—that is to say, I finish mine, and Adrian lounges on the sofa, and announces over and over again that his head is awful. I fetch some scent—white rose it is—and bathes his forehead and temples, until he falls asleep. Then I fondly imagine that he will slumber peacefully until luncheon time and awake quite recovered; but, if I contemplate stopping in my self-imposed task, I am mistaken. I leave off for a moment, and am just going to get up from the sofa, when his sleepy, gray eyes open, and he says, piteously: "Why are you stopping, baby?"

"Oh you rogue!" I laugh, laying my scent-wetted hand on his head.

He laughs, too, in a sleepy fashion, and murmurs something about being awfully nice, and in an instant is sound asleep again, but never so sound but he finds out if I leave off. So I sit patiently "dabbing" his forehead with the fragrant wash, and in the very midst of my ministrations in come the last persons in the world I want to see—Theo and her husband.

Cold as she is, Theo is wide awake; her quick eyes take in the whole scene—the remains of the breakfast, Adrian asleep and the large bottle of scent in my hand.

"What a pity to disturb so interesting a picture!" she says, sarcastically.

"Oh, it's of no consequence!" says Adrian, politely, holding out one hand to her, and trying to smooth his curly hair with the other. "I'm afraid I've been asleep."

"No doubt about it," says Theo, sweetly. "I fear you have a headache"—with a meaningful glance at the bottle I still have in my hand.

"Yes," he laughs; "and this fairy has been charming it away," putting his arm about me as he speaks.

"Ah, 'twould be a long time before you'd do that for me, eh, Theo?" remarks Lasselles.

"I am afraid it would, my dear," answers Theo, icily.

I am getting to dread that caustic tongue of my sister's, and I move away from her, a little closer to Adrian, who laughs.

"Audrey would not take such a lot of bother for anyone else but me," he affirms, boldly; "would you, baby?"

"Certainly not," I answer; but Theo cuts me short.

"We have a box for the opera, to-night, Audrey, and we want you to dine with us, and go with us afterward."

I look at Adrian, and he says it will be very nice, Theo frowns, impatiently.

"Will you come, or not, Audrey?"

"Of course," I answer, complacently.

"Not 'of course' at all. You didn't say whether you would or no."

"But Adrian did," I remonstrate.

"Does 'Adrian'—with sneering emphasis on the name—'live and think and do everything for you?'"

"Naturally," answers Adrian, with a look at me which I happen to know means mischief. "Doesn't Lasselles do as much for you?"

At this apparently innocent remark Derriek laughs heartily; but Theo looks disgusted, and rises from her chair, with the air of an offended queen.

"Then we may expect you at seven?" she says, putting two fingers into mine.

"Very well," I answer, without looking at Adrian this time.

"Seven sharp," puts in Lasselles, "or—"

"I wish you wouldn't be vulgar, Lasselles," says Theo, interrupting him sharply.

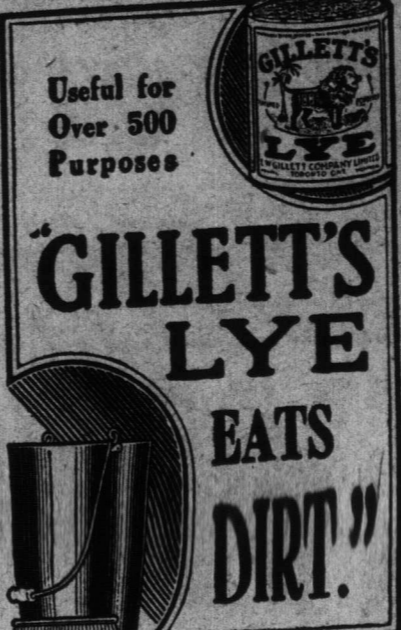

"That's the way she always sits upon me," says he, with an air of mock alarm. "Oh, I forgot! 'Sits upon' is worse than 'seven sharp,' so I'd better make tracks before I set my foot in it any more."

"Poor Lasselles!" I say, when the carriage has driven away. "They don't seem very happy. I can't think what has come over Theo. She used to be such a darling, and now she is often absolutely rude."

"No, my love," says Adrian, tenderly; "I think she is a little disappointed."

"Well, it is of no use talking about her; I don't suppose we shall see very much of her after this month—" not for a time, at all events. Shall we go out, or is your head still aching?"

"Oh, no! Your scent has made it all right," he answers. "And I really do want to do some shopping this morning. It won't bore you to accompany me?"

"Oh, no!"

So we set off and spend a long morning and lots of money, coming in late for lunch, and ravenously hungry.

"I say, Adrian," I announce, when we have nearly done. "I have never seen that Zazel thing. You might take me this afternoon."

"That Zazel thing," as you so irreverently term her," says he, with an air of great severity, "is a woman—not only a woman, but a young woman, and a particularly prepossessing one."

"Really! I didn't know. I thought it was a mechanical doll or something of that sort. Well, will you take me? I want to see her."

So to see that marvellous young lady we go, and have a grand scramble to be home and dress in time for dinner at seven "sharp."

Something makes me take infinite pains with my toilet to-night, but the result is not anything approaching 'ness. The dress I choose is of the darkest blue velvet, made perfectly plain, and just about as tight as I can get into. At the throat and wrists I wear ruffles, but not of the traditional old point lace, as so many story books have them. I do not remember to have ever seen "old point ruffles." I do not quite see myself how they could be made into a ruffle, except they were starched—and, oh, ye gods! imagine "old point" undergoing the utter degradation of starch!

No; the ruffles I wear this evening are of that delicate material known as "crapelle." We bought it as we came home from the Aquarium, and my maid has sewn three folds of it together to make it look thick and stiff. Round my throat, immediately below the ruffle, I wear a dog's collar of diamond, and I have no other ornament whatever. I go to Adrian, in his dressing room, and demand how he likes me.

"Just the same," he answers, struggling with his tie, "as I should do in a blanket ulster."

"Oh, you stupid boy!" I cry, pretending to be vexed. "I mean, how do you like my 'get-up'?"

Having succeeded in making the tie all right, he turns and looks at me.

"Well!" I say, impatiently.

"You really ought not to make yourself look like that," he says, seriously. "It's not fair to other fellows."

"Why?" I ask, indignantly.

Granulation of the Eyelids

Is Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment—Source of Use for the Great Soothing, Healing Ointment.

Most people know Dr. Chase's Ointment best as a cure for eczema and itching piles. Nor is this to be wondered at when you think of the remarkable record made in this class of cures.

But there are scores of other uses for this ointment, which are only discovered when it is kept constantly at hand.

Mrs. Martin, 15 Carroll street, Toronto, formerly of Bowmanville, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years, and found it invaluable in treating skin irritations and all sorts of burns and wounds. In fact, we would not be without it in treatment for granulated eyelids, from which I suffered without finding anything to help me."

Wherever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with full assurance that it will prove entirely satisfactory. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Not Stuck-on Itself.

The built-in—not stuck-on—tire like Dunlop Traction Tread is the only successful Anti-Skid. Manufacturers of the stuck-on type dare not make the corrugations big enough to prevent skidding without fearing to make them so big that they will destroy resiliency.

The Cheapness of Satisfaction.
The cost of the safety which you obtain by purchasing Dunlop Traction Tread tires is insignificant in comparison with the price of neglect.

Takes a Grip on the Road.
Dunlop Traction Tread grips the road. It doesn't matter where the road is or what it is made of.

Success is Always in Evidence.
We predict that Dunlop Traction Tread will become the standard Anti-Skid tire of this country. Watch the tires as the cars go by.

Beauty of contour is the key of the successful "1913" costume.

More than ever before a proper corset is necessary. The great success of the D. & A. and the La Diva styles has kept the great Dominion Corset Co's model factory in Quebec, with its thousand skilful corsetières busy early and late producing the corsets which will bring style, comfort and support to many women in Canada.

Corset bargains

It is not only their style and comfort which make D. & A. and La Diva corsets popular. Compare them with any imported corsets of similar model.

The quality of the imported corset will be no better but the price will be $1.00 to $3.00 higher.

By actual count more than half of the best dressed women in Canada wear D. & A. or La Diva Corsets. There is a model for every figure. Our catalogue sent free on request, will help you choose the best for yours.

Narrow Escape.

Patrick Richardson, aged nineteen, had a very narrow escape from drowning yesterday and in attempting to rescue him, William Arnis, aged 16, came near losing his own life. Eye-witnesses say that both lads would have drowned but for the prompt rescue effected by Garrett Christopher, aged 20, an active young man of Holytown. The accident occurred in the waters of Harvey & Co's dock, a few yards distant from where a double tragedy occurred last winter. The story told by one who was there is that at 1:40 p.m. a number of the employees of Harvey's Bakery, went down on the wharf to sit down and enjoy the cool breeze off the water before resuming work. Richardson, a bakery employee, remarked that he would like a dip in the water. He was told it was too cold yet to go in salt water. Paying no attention to this reply, he unstripped. He was unable to swim and foolishly jumped overboard. The act was witnessed by workmen who watched closely the place where Richardson went down. A half minute elapsed before he came to the surface, and began to struggle hard. Then he started to sink gradually. William Arnis took off his jacket and jumped from the pier to save his claim. Arnis was able to swim but having his clothes on was unable to bring Richardson to the shore. On reaching Richardson, who was in a state of exhaustion, from struggling, Arnis was clutched around the throat by Richardson, who brought his rescuer beneath the surface. Those on the wharf thought that both lads sank to rise no more. Without distressing himself of his clothes, Christopher, a companion and a good swimmer, gallantly plunged from the pier into the water and swimming around Richardson, who was barely kept afloat by Arnis, who was "treading water," caught Richardson by the back of the arms and brought him to the shore safely, where he had to be rolled to get the water out of his system. Christopher then returned and assisted Arnis who was in a very weak condition as a result of his trying experience. Christopher's heroic act should not be left unrecorded and unremembered.

Fatal Accident.

PETER WINTER DIES.

EAST WABANA, B.I. To-day, Yesterday morning, Peter Winter, aged 20 years and unmarried, a native of 200's Island, B.I., met with an accident on the Dominion Company's Plant which resulted fatally. He was training cars on the surface at the time of the accident, and was standing on the rear end of laden cars, when another trip of full cars which he did not notice came behind, forcing him between the cars, crushing his left leg severely above the knee. He was conveyed to the Company's surgery and every attention was given to relieve his sufferings. Later he was removed to St. John's hospital where he passed away last night.

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram. MONTREAL, To-day. It is announced to-day that John Douglas had sold the Montreal Daily Witness, which will establish wireless service from Britain to this town as a link in the all-British world-encircling service, and wireless have been secured from Vancouver to Montreal. The Company is negotiating the purchase of existing lines between Montreal and the existing Pacific Cable and will be used so on Westward back to Britain. The Company purchased 57 acres of land here.

LONDON, To-day. A Salonika dispatch to the Times gives the substance of the dispatches in which is declared a column of Bulgarians, endeavoring to pass Petrich, was repulsed by Greeks who captured fifteen guns. Serbia's occupation of Radovishe is confirmed and the Bulgarian retreat from Istip is cut off.

NEWCASTLE, To-day. Newcastle is to be the Atlantic terminus of the universal Radio Syndicate, which will establish wireless service from Britain to this town as a link in the all-British world-encircling service, and wireless have been secured from Vancouver to Montreal. The Company is negotiating the purchase of existing lines between Montreal and the existing Pacific Cable and will be used so on Westward back to Britain. The Company purchased 57 acres of land here.

LONDON, To-day. The end of a fortnight's desperate fighting in the Balkans finds Bulgaria forced to appeal to the Powers to arrange peace. The Bulgarian plan to drive a wedge between the Greek and the Serbian armies in the neighborhood of Guevghel completely failed. Late reports of fighting received from Athens show the Serbians and Greeks at this point made no progress, while the Roumanian army is beginning an invasion of Bulgaria. The latter fact doubtless was the deciding factor in the Bulgarian appeal to the Powers. How far Bulgaria's defeat is due to dissensions in high military quarters which resulted in the resignation of General Savoff, how far to the fact that the Bulgarian troops which bore the brunt of the hard fighting in the last campaign were more exhausted than the Greek and Serbian forces will probably never be known. Nothing can be predicted at the moment, as to how events will shape themselves. The Roumanian invasion of Bulgaria brought an entirely new factor into the problem, Russia and France are devoting their efforts to persuading the allies to adopt a moderate attitude in order to facilitate a peaceful settlement. The Serbian Premier quoted the Vienna Neue Freie Presse as declaring the new war completely sets aside all treaties of alliance and peace must now be negotiated on an entirely new basis. The expected Roumanian first step will be the occupation of 2500 square miles of territory which she claims from Bulgaria as compensation for her neutrality in the late war. This strip extends from Tusea to Balchik on the Black Sea and includes the city of Silistria.

Held Tight in Hard Concrete

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., June 30.—During the heavy downpour of rain at Magnolia, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, last Saturday night, several cars on freight train No. 89, were derailed. Two cars, one containing sand from Martinsburg and the other cement from Hagerstown, Md., were crushed together, and in the midst of the wreckage brakeman Henry Blodge was pinned down by the mass of cement, sand and broken cars. Blodge had been riding on the top of the car of cement when the accident occurred. It was several hours after the accident occurred before Blodge regained consciousness. On coming to himself he found that he was incased in wet cement and sand that had come from two cars and the concrete was slowly setting around him. Blodge's head, shoulders and arms were clear of the solid mass, but he could not extricate himself because of the wreckage piled on him. After several attempts the imprisoned man attracted the attention of the members of the wrecking crew who were clearing away the wreck, and they made an attempt to relieve him. It was many hours before they were able to get to him, and by that time the concrete had set and Blodge was encased tightly in the solid mass. After several efforts to break up the immense mass of concrete the two heavy cranes on the wrecker lifted it aboard a gondola car and took it to the Martinsburg shops Sunday afternoon, where it was broken to pieces under a steam hammer and Blodge, rescued from his peculiar position.

Locked In.

Did Not Hear the Warning Bell. Last evening a councillor, a G. P. O. official and a pressman were resting at Bannerman Park after returning from their usual country walk. They were discussing the Council's wisdom in placing four new powerful lights within the grounds. So interesting did their discussion become that they failed to hear the bell. When they started for home they discovered all gates closed against them. Finally they made desperate strides towards the Military Road entrance and were just in the nick of time to hail the general keeper of the park who saved the two from having to make the acrobatic stunt of fence climbing.

St. Bon's Re-Union.

There is apparently an impression that only members of the St. Bonaventure's Association can attend. It is open to all ex-pupils. There are others who seem to think they cannot get a ticket without being asked. This is equally wrong. The Committee have tickets for all ex-pupils and only want to get as soon as possible the names of those intending to be present. Even those who for efficient reasons cannot notify the committee of their going shall be accommodated with seats at the morning service and at breakfast.

The Herald's Invitation

Again ignoring the bet of the Little Jap Fund over the Pitcher case the Herald editor talks of swimming and a good time at the races. As regards the general keeper of the park who saved the two from having to make the acrobatic stunt of fence climbing.

Wedding Bells.

SCOTT-SEARLE.

A very quiet but pretty wedding ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, LeMarchant Rd., yesterday afternoon when Mr. R. M. Scott, manager of Bishop & Sons grocery department, was united in Holy Matrimony to Miss Isabel Searle, daughter of Mr. M. Searle, watchmaker and jeweller. Several of the friends of the happy pair were present and the officiating clergyman was Rev. Mr. Sutherland, M.A. The bride looked very pretty in a travelling costume of pearl grey whispored with lace to match. Miss Pauline Searle, sister of the bride, assisted that happy young person. She was costumed in champagne silk with lace to match. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Fred Searle, brother of the bride. The bride, who was given away by her father, carried a beautiful bouquet of lilies of the valley and white carnations, with white heather and asparagus fern while the bridesmaid carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and pink carnations. The groom's present to the bride was a substantial cheque and to the bridesmaid a gold locket and chain while the best man presented a gold watch chain. After the ceremony a wedding supper and reception was held when the health of the bride and groom was heartily honored. Later the bride and groom with several friends went to Holywood in Hon. R. Bishop's motor car and the honeymoon will be spent in that place. Both were the recipients of many valuable presents. To the bride and groom the Telegram extends its warmest congratulations.

Boat Club Meeting.

Last night a meeting of the C. C. C. Boat Club was held and was largely attended. The President, Mr. P. F. Collins occupied the chair and the fees paid in amounted to $32. The meeting decided to take the practice boat Mary to the Lake Monday evening with the C. C. C. band to "play" her down from Bowring's Cove. The pleasing announcement was made that Mr. W. P. Shortall, tailor, had offered a size made for the boat house and Messrs. Geo. Carly and Garrett Brownrigg a Brigade Flag and Union Jack to be flown from the pole. The kindness of these gentlemen was highly appreciated and their presents were gratefully accepted. Mr. John P. Grace proposed a cheer for the Corps success in the Coronation Sports and this was given with a will. The new boat house will be finished next week. In future the boat club's meetings will be held at 8.30 Friday nights. All were most enthusiastic and the Boat Club will give an impetus to the work of the C. C. C.

Player Hurt.

W. Templeman, of St. Bon's football team, was injured in last evening's game. He was about to shoot for goal when his ball and the star goal keeper's came together. A crash was heard and many people thought that a bone was broken. Fortunately, however, such was not the case but the lower portion of Templeman's leg was badly skinned. W. Hart rendered first aid and Dr. Roberts attended the injured player who had to be driven home. It is likely he will not be able to play for the remainder of the season.

Mr. Myers Great Song

THE WHITE SQUALL. Hundreds attended the Nickel Theatre, last evening to hear Mr. John W. Myers sing the celebrated old song of the sea entitled "The White Squall" and everybody was delighted with the singer and the song. There was immense applause at the end of each verse. The pretty illustrated song "That's How I Need You" was also charmingly given. Mr. Myers appears to be even more popular than when he first visited St. John's last fall. This evening there will be a new programme of pictures.

Getting Fish.

Yesterday afternoon the Reid Nfld. Co. had the following wireless message from the S. S. Kyle:—

"Wind S. S. W., light, fine weather; loose ice from Ragged Island to Indian Harbour; from Indian Harbour to Battle Harbour ice clear of coast; good sign of fish from Long Island to Battle Harbour; the Kyle has been at St. John's Saturday forenoon."

Became Insane.

Mrs. Smith who was placed under arrest last week on a charge of bigamy having married a native of the Labrador while her husband was alive, became insane a couple of days ago and was taken to the Lunatic Asylum. The woman has been in the Asylum before and it is believed has been an unsound mind all along. Oliver, the man she married, is still in custody.

Old-Time Match.

We hear that a movement is on foot amongst certain of the old cricket enthusiasts to have a good day's cricket match at Pleasantville after the old style with two innings. It is possible the original teams of the Shamrocks and Terris Novas will face each other and will show the virtues of modern games' what science there is in the good old game of cricket.

500 Dress Robes at 1-3 off Regular Prices.

Owing to the recent unfavorable weather we are disposing of our entire stock of Summer Dress Robes at a GENUINE REDUCTION OF 1-3 OFF THE REGULAR PRICE of every garment.

[This large stock includes Linens, Embroideries, Serges, Foulards and Silks, all of the latest cut and style and in all the usual stock sizes.

[The Linens are in many dainty shades, piped with self or contrasting colors and trimmed with buttons. The Embroidered robes are a charming selection, they are beautifully modelled, the designs are exclusive, trimmed with exquisite insertion and lace, tucks, etc.

[The Serges are modish and well-tailored, equally suited for town or country cool-weather wear. The Foulards and Silks, in stripes and other designs, are really lovely. Some have the new long shoulder effect and slightly raised waist-line, others have a mere suggestion of striking color, just enough to add distinction to the gowns; and all are this season's models.

[Every woman is interested in a real bargain and these dainty gowns with their 1-3-off-regular-price reductions are one of the greatest genuine bargains ever offered in St. John's. Come and see them at the

The Morris Debate.

The editor of the Daily News is none too pleased with our editorial remarks of yesterday. He does not like us to point out that even a small change of sentiment in a few districts, lately represented by Morris men, would serve to oust the Morris Government. Warren's majority was only 24 out of 1,554 crosses marked. A change of 13 would put him out. And has not there been a material change, especially along the Port de Grave ridge? The change there is to be counted by hundreds and not by tens, and the change is all against the Morris Government. A small change in the number of crosses marked last election in St. John's West, Harbor Main, Port de Grave, Harbor Grace, Carbonar, Trinity and Fortune Bay will oust the Government, and there are signs on all hands of this change.

Acquitted and Hanged.

Alleged Indian "Judicial Outrage."

(Daily Mail, June 26th.)

"A judicial outrage," as it was described on India was brought to the attention of the House of Commons last night by Mr. Swift MacNeill.

Three natives of the province of Oude, he said, were arrested for murder in connection with an agrarian outrage. They were tried and acquitted on February 22, last year.

Five months later they were re-arrested and their case was again tried on appeal by the prosecution. This time, however, none of the prisoners was present in court, and no witnesses were heard. The Judicial Commissioners simply had before them the "record" of what had occurred in the court below. All three were convicted on this occasion; two were sentenced to death and one to penal servitude for life.

The accused appealed to the Lieut. Governor, Sir John Hewitt, who refused it. It was on August 31, and the execution was fixed for September 9. Then the accused appealed to the Governor General, but the Lieut. Governor did not forward the petition on the ground that it could not have reached Simla before September 8, and the regulations required that the Government of India should have at least forty-eight hours' notice. (Cries of "Oh, oh.") The two men were executed. (Cries of "Shame.")

Mr. Morrell complained that in spite of this case Sir John Hewitt had been promoted to the Grand Cross of the Star of India.

Mr. Montagu, Under Secretary for India, said the case presented features so unsatisfactory that they could not be allowed to pass unchallenged. (Cheers.) He warmly defended Sir John Hewitt (who is at present in England) as an able and just administrator, but promised that a careful investigation would be undertaken at once. (Cheers.) The question of amending the rules would also be taken into consideration.

Are Men Bargain Hunters?

Ten years ago a certain advertiser took a great number of statistics to find out if men were regular readers of advertising. Most men said that they looked at the Ads, but an average of ten years ago he ascertained that they were not influenced by prices.

A few weeks ago another set of statistics were taken and this time five men out of every seven said that they were influenced by price advertising during the Clearance Season.

There were two peculiar results of these statistics. First the tremendous change that ten years has made in the influence of advertising with men, and second in the character of the men who admitted that they followed the advertising in doing their buying.

In every case the men who claimed to read and buy from advertising were the shrewdest and most well-to-do men of those who were questioned.

In other words the men who could afford to ignore a bargain were the ones who were being fooled. And the men who could not afford to ignore it were the men who did not follow the Ads and did not know that bargains were being offered.

Now the Clearance season has come again for all good stores. They must lower their stock. They must reduce their prices in order to lower their stock. And they must advertise in order to let the people know what they are about.

And if these same statistics hold true throughout this city five out of every seven men, will be reading this advertisement and following up the bargain that are being offered.

There isn't any better way for a shrewd man to make money than to save money. And any man with money knows how money is made.

There isn't any easier way in the world to earn a dollar than to save it. Turn to your advertising now and see how it works out with you.

Our Pitiable Condition.

Nothing to do but work. Nothing to eat but food; Nothing to wear but clothes. To keep one from going nude.

Nothing to breathe but air. Quick as a flash 'tis gone; Nowhere to fall but on; Nowhere to stand but on.

Nothing to comb but hair. Nowhere to sleep but in bed; Nothing to wear but shoes; Nothing to love but dead.

Nothing to sing but songs. Ah, well, alas! attack! Nowhere to go but out; Nowhere to come but back.

Nothing to see but sights. Nothing to quench but thirst; Nothing to have but what we've got. Thus through life we're cursed.

Nothing to strike but a gall. Everything moved their goes; Nothing at all but common sense. Can ever withstand those.

Opium King Sentenced

Man who has Aided in Wreck of Human Life Goes to Jail.

New York, July 4.—Dr. Abraham Glickstein, known as the cocaine and opium king, was last night found guilty in the Federal District Court's Criminal Branch of conspiracy to use the mails in marketing cocaine and of the manufacture and sale of smoking opium. He was sentenced to serve two years in the Federal prison at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $2,000. Judge Mayer, presiding, said he was appalled at the number of human wrecks who had testified to having purchased opium and cocaine from the defendant. On June 12th last, four of Dr.

A Matter for the City Fathers.

Two members of the sanitary staff have smallpox amongst their families. The men had to quit work, are quarantined at their homes and it is said, their wages is stopped at the Council. The man should get their regular weekly earnings. It will be determined at this afternoon's session of the Council Board as to whether the employees will be paid fully while they are under quarantine.

Too Sure.

A furniture king, having made his bed, settled down to the pursuits of a country gentleman. He visited his friend, Elmer Figger, to stay with him. One day, armed with the latest appliances for dealing out sudden death, he and his friend trudge over the brown furrows, but at the end of these hours they were still looking for something to start the bar with. Suddenly a hare got up. Bang! came from the furniture king's gun. Bang! came from Elmer Figger, and over went the four-footed one.

"My hare!" cried his friend. They argued as to whose weapon had worked the mischief. Then the cooper was called up to adjudicate. "You'd take your oath 'tis your are, would you?" he turned to the furniture king, hecaly. "If necessary, certainly."

SENT TWENTY PATIENTS.—Yesterday Mr. Eli Whiteley sent 11 patients who were waiting a chance to get there to the hospital, and Wednesday 9. The place is filled and daily other patients are arriving in the city.

French Relief Ship Arrives.

The French Hospital ship St. Francis Dussier arrived in port this morning from Sydney where she took coal aboard. The ship is solely engaged for cruising about the Grand Banks, particularly among French fishing vessels, and helps to relieve, when necessary, distressed seamen. The vessel was here on a visit last year. Her mission at present is to take mails such as letters, cards, etc., which she will distribute to those whom they are addressed.

The Police Court.

Two drunks were discharged. A drunk and disorderly was fined $5 or 14 days. An assault case was dismissed. A woman for the larceny of a mat, valued at $3 was released on paying costs.

Plenty of Funds.

Last evening a resident of a nearby outpost was acting in a disorderly manner on the street and was arrested. He told the police he had lost three hundred dollars. Later the police rounded up his chum who was keeping the money for the owner. Both men were locked up for the night.

Cape Report.

Special to Evening Telegram.—CAPE RACE, To-day. Wind S.W. light, weather fine; the S. S. St. John's, left at 11:45 a.m. Bar, 29.84; ther, 62.

INFECTIOUS DISEASE.

Thirteen cases of disease were reported during the week—38 smallpox, 17 diphtheria and one of scarlet. There are now in hospital six smallpox, 12 diphtheria and 12 smallpox patients.

Fourth of July Fights.

San Francisco, July 4.—A wicked right cross, the same blow which was so effective against Ald Wolgast, proved too great a stumbling block for Joe Rivers in his attempt to wrest the lightweight title from champion Willie Ritchie at the Arena here today, the Mexican being knocked out in the fifth round.

The fight throughout was viciously contested, and twice in the earlier rounds it looked as though Rivers might win. Ritchie's wonderful ring-generality and ability to hit effectively straight from the shoulder with either hand, however, offset the Mexican's attack and was not long before Rivers became disheartened and pinned his faith solely on wild swings, some of which he hoped would land for a knock-out.

The battle opened with both men eager to mix it close. The first round left no choice, but in the next three the champion swung vigorously, aggressive and punished the challenger severely with swinging blows to the face and body, several of which staggered Ritchie and caused uneasiness in his corner. Ritchie rallied in the fifth, and thereafter displayed true championship form. He met the Mexican's wild rushes with snappy left and right smashes to the face, which cut deeply, and easily blocked or evaded the poorly timed swings, many of which were far wide of the mark.

The champion fairly beamed with confidence as the fight progressed. In the seventh he opened a gash over Rivers' left eye and in the following cut his face severely with a volley of snappy left jabs. The tenth round seemed to presage ultimate defeat for the challenger, a left uppercut to the chin, which lifted him from the floor, causing him to falter perceptibly.

The eleventh and final round had scarcely opened when Ritchie's right shot out straight from the shoulder, catching Rivers squarely on the jaw and sending him to the mat. Nine seconds were tolled off before the almost helpless fighter regained his feet. Quickly the champion's left found the Mexican's stomach, and a right uppercut struck the pugilist's jaw sending him prone.

The battle was fought under perfect weather conditions in the open and was witnessed by 7,000 persons. The receipts aggregated $30,000.

A WONDERFUL SWIMMER.

San Francisco, July 5.—Duke Kahanamoku, the Olympic champion, proved today that he is the greatest short distance swimmer the world has ever seen. Entered from the Hail Neli Club of the Hawaiian Islands, in the Pacific Coast championships of the A. A. U., he broke all records in the 100 yards and 75 yards dashes.

His time for 100 yards was 54.3-5 seconds. The course was 75 yards straightaway, turn and 25 yards on the home stretch. He swam the 75 yards in 45.3 seconds, a new world record.

NEW HOUR RECORD.

Stockholm, July 6.—Jean Bouin, the French runner, in the one hour race at the Stadium to-day, covered 19,021 meters (11 miles, 1,445 yards). This beats the world's record of 11 miles, 1,136 yards, made by Alfred Shrubbs, the English champion, in 1904, by 307 yards.

WESTERN BANDITS COMMIT OUTRAGE.

Calgary, July 7.—Jack Wilson, son of Thomas Wilson, the famous Banff guide, is in the Banff hospital with two bullets in his breast and a gash in his throat as the result of an encounter with bandits on a lonely road in the Banff county. After the shooting the bandits threw the unconscious man in the bush, covering him with leaves and got away. The mounted police are scouring the country, several arrests have been made.

DOWNING'S BOATS.

The S. S. Prospero left Bule Verte at 6:30 a.m. to-day. The S. S. Portia left Placentia at 2 a.m. to-day.

Welcome Accorded to Patriot's Wife.

Dublin, June 29.—The unveiling of a memorial in Tipperary to the late Michael Cusack, the well-known Fenian leader, who took such a prominent part in the 1847 movement, brought into view a woman that the present generation of Irish-Americans might have easily overlooked or forgotten.

Mrs. Cusack, widow of Captain Cusack, of the United States army, stood by John Dillon, M.P., who performed the unveiling ceremony, her appearance giving the gathering a touch of homely sentiment that provoked much enthusiasm. It was her husband who brought the body of Col. John O'Mahoney all the way from America to lay it in the soil he loved so well.

When it became known that Mrs. Cusack was to be present the whole of Tipperary turned out, and public bodies as far north as Sligo and as far west as Westport and Ballina, sent bands and contingents to perform the double duty of honoring the memory of the dead patriot and to show Mrs. Cusack that the many self-sacrificing acts of her husband in the cause of Ireland were still fresh in the memory of his countrymen on this side the Atlantic.

Personal.

Mrs. Long, wife of Mr. Jno. W. Long, pressman of the Advocate, left here Wednesday to spend several weeks at Kelligreys. Mrs. Long has been in poor health for some time past, and Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Johnston and 2 children, of Millertown, who were here on a holiday for a week left for home by the Bruce express yesterday.

It All Depends.

"I have never been to the Woodbine. I have never been to a theatre, and I never have cards in my house." This is the statement of a very prominent Toronto citizen who is also a leading American layman. There are those who will count it to him for righteousness that his attention is so steadfastly set upon the important things of life that he has no time or mind for the frivolities. It all depends upon what a man has done with his time. It is to be feared that some people occupy their time to so little advantage that it might be to their credit if they remained home on evening playing cards, or took their family to a theatre on some occasion. —Mail and Empire.

BORN.

On the 9th inst., a son to Mrs. and Mr. Wm. Pike, painter. On Wednesday, the 9th inst., the wife of Conet. Churchill, of a daughter.

MARRIED.

On Wednesday, July 9th, at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. Dr. Rogers, Miss Kate Norris Vey, to Mr. A. Simpson Butler. A Christ Church, Quidi Vidi, on June 2th, by the Rev. H. Clayton, Elizabeth Pendergast, daughter of Garret Pendergast to Walter Day.

On July 4th, by the Rev. E. A. Butler, Port au Port, Mr. John Maxwell, of Anson, Scotland, to Miss Gertrude W. Payne, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Payne, this city.

DIED.

On the 10th inst., at the General Hospital, Joseph, beloved husband of Rachel Torralve, aged 67 years; leaving a wife, two daughters, three brothers and two sisters to mourn their sad loss; funeral at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, from his late residence, No. 6 Flavin Street, Montreal and Toronto papers please copy.

When a Bargain is Not a Bargain.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Once upon a time a prospective bride and groom went house hunting. They knew just about what they wanted, and they knew just exactly what they could afford to pay for it. As usual, it was very difficult to reconcile the two.

The end of the campaign found them with three apartments under consideration. Two of these were for rent at just the price they had decided they could afford—$30 a month. The third rented for $37. Of course the first two didn't exactly suit, and the third was just what they wanted. They debated long over the question, and finally decided to take the third. And this was the consideration on which they based their decision: "The $37 apartment is so much better value for the money that it seems foolish not to take it. It's a great deal more than $7 better than the others. The others are just what you expect for the money, but that one is a bargain."

And so they took the desired apartment and paid the extra rent out of the fund they had planned to save.

And whenever their consciences pricked them for spending more than they could afford, they pointed out the open fireplace and the shower bath and the attractive wall papers to each other, and repeated, "it's such a bargain. it would have been foolish to miss it."

I think their viewpoint on values is about as typical as it is unfortunate. A bargain is not a bargain when you can't afford it.

The first criterion on all expenditures should be, "can I afford it?" the second, "is it a good value?"

I was most interested the other day to hear a young minister announce that his church was going to cut down expenses. "We've been running a deficit each year," he said, "and it isn't right. It isn't right for individuals and it isn't right for churches. It must stop. We've tried to make our income fit our expenses and we haven't done it; now we shall try to make our expenses fit our income." Whereupon he went through the budget with the financial committee and struck out certain expenses, such as church calendar, and some of the singing, which had hitherto been regarded as necessities. Some of the committee protested. The calendar was such a good thing they said, and the singer was a fine artiste and not expensive considering her value. "Nothing is good" said the minister, "and anything is expensive that you cannot afford."

Of course there is another side to the question—that one sometimes has to spend money in order to get it. But that applies more largely to business than personal affairs, and where there is one over-spending with that aim, there are one hundred over-spending simply for personal gratification.

"That apartment is a good value," and "I simply ought to have a new rug, this one is disgraceful," and "how nice it would be to have a player piano to educate the children in good music," etc., etc., are perfectly good considerations in their place, but their place is after "can we afford it?" and not before.

Fashions and Fads.

Some designs emphasize the skirt of sombre hue, and the fanciful coat of brilliantly colored material.

Some fashion devotees are wearing the heelless slipper of soft leather, laced half way to the knees.

The colonial shoe with buckle of cut steel, gun metal or leather, is the prime favorite for street wear.

The low shoe is displayed in a variety of designs and plays a very important part in this season's modes.

Gossamer hosiery is the order of the day. Some is woven so sheer that it appears like a covering of chiffon.

Gloves with extremely long uppers are worn. They are pushed up into manifold creases about the arm.

Very popular are the large hats of black satin, faced with straw and trimmed with feathers of a bright hue.

New parasols are odd in shape and are elaborately trimmed with richings and pleatings of the material.

Little girls' frocks of white cotton crepe are embroidered with flower designs and have sashes of colored tulle.

A good invention for the collarless dress is the little narrow velvet chin strap attached to some of the new hats.

A charming summer hat is of white dotted net trimmed with a band and a bow of purple velvet and large white beads.

The most popular demi-tailored designs will be in the coat effect with a vest or waistcoat of elaborate and costly material.

Some of the summer tea gowns are so simple they would serve for dressing gowns, especially if made of muslin de laine or cotton crepe.

Coatlets are made of chiffon, transparent crepe muslin, tulle, and mouseline de soie. They are wide and loose, producing the negligee air which is so fashionable.

A new idea is to wear the tiny

Terrible Toll of U.S. Railroads.

According to figures compiled by the Safety Appliance Division of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the number of lives lost on railroads in the United States in 24 years, ended in October, 1912, reached the appalling total of 188,037. In this same period, in addition to that number being killed, there were 1,295,618 persons injured on the railroads of the United States. This is an average of 7,833 persons killed and 159,150 injured each year, or an annual total of nearly 56,000 persons killed and injured. This means that for every day during the past 24 years 181 persons have been killed or injured—nearly eight an hour, or one every seven minutes. The statement containing these figures was prepared by the Safety Appliance Division for Commissioner McChord, who has charge of wreck investigations. The statement says in part:

"Upon the analysis of the above totals one cannot fail to be impressed by the surprisingly large number of trespassers they include. No figures pertaining to trespassers appear in the Commission's statistics previous to 1899, and as no returns of accidents to 'other persons' were received by the Commission for the year 1901, owing to a change in the law requiring reports of accidents, we have a complete record of accidents to trespassers for only the 20-year period, 1899 to 1909, inclusive. There were 103,171 persons killed and 1,100,125 injured during this 20-year period. Of the number killed, 101,629, or more than 98 per cent of the total are classified as 'other persons,' that is they were neither passengers nor employees, and of these 101,629 'other persons' 86,733, or

An Operation For Appendicitis

Was Ordered by His Doctor, But Complete Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Almost anyone who has suffered from appendicitis will assure you that this trouble developed only after months or years of derangements of the liver and bowels.

Appendicitis can almost invariably be prevented, and very frequently cured, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the case described in this letter the doctors had ordered an operation, but a thorough cure was brought about by this great medicine.

Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes: "My husband was treated for appendicitis, and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation, or even of a doctor, as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

more than 85 per cent, were killed during this 20-year period were more than 53 per cent of the whole number of persons killed on railroads. Of the 1,190,125 persons injured during this period 142,040, or more than 11 per cent, were 'other persons'; and of this number 94,646, or more than 66 per cent, were trespassers. The trespassers injured constituted less than 8 per cent of the whole number of persons injured.

According to the statements collations and derailments alone were responsible for 4,163 deaths, 63,002 injured and a property loss of $50,025,203 during the five-year period, 1907 to 1911 inclusive. Under the law all accidents must be reported to the Commission, and the statement sets forth that the number of collisions and derailments during this period was 61,806.

TELEPHONE COMEDY.

The young lawyer had opened his office that very day and sat expectant of clients. A step was heard outside, and the next moment a man's figure was silhouetted against the ground-glass of the door. Hastily the legal fledgling stepped to his brand-new telephone, and, taking down the receiver, gave every appearance of being deep in a business conversation.

"Yes, Mr. S," he was saying, as the man entered, "I'll attend to that corporation matter for you, Mr. J. had me on the phone this morning and wanted me to settle a damage suit, but I had to put him off, as I'm so busy with cases just now. But I'll try to sandwich your matter in between my other cases somehow. Yes, yes. All right. Good-bye."

Hanging up the receiver, he turned to his visitor, having, as he thought, duly impressed him.

"Excuse me," the man said, "but I'm from the telephone company. I've come to connect up your instrument."

BY VIRTUE OF ACT.

"Yes," said the old man to his visitor, "I'm proud of my daughters, and it is the ambition of my heart to see them all comfortably married."

"What's more," he added knowingly, "I've made a bit of money in my time, so my girls won't go to their husbands penniless. There's Mary, for example, twenty-five years old, and a real good lass—I'll give her £1,500 on her wedding day. And to Bet—you see, she has passed her thirty-fifth summer—I'll give her, at any rate, a couple of thousand; whilst the man who takes Eliza can rely on taking with her at least five thousand of the very best."

"By the way," inquired the young man, "how old is Eliza?"

"Forty," replied the elder.

"Hum! I suppose you don't happen to have a daughter somewhere between sixty and seventy?"

Special Notice.

We take pleasure in announcing the appointment of Mr. Richard C. Power as our Newfoundland Representative for the sale of one of the most attractive securities that we have marketed during the long period of forty years in which we have served the investing public.

We refer to the 7 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock of the Maritime Mail Company, Limited, a prosperous corporation operating at St. John, N.B., with the largest output of any single mill of its kind in Canada.

This issue is unusually well secured by assets appraised at $100 for every $100 share of Preferred Stock, exclusive of the amount covering the Bonds outstanding. The earnings record of the issuing Company is alike exceptionally strong and rapidly expanding under the present efficient management. Two other desirable features of the 60 per cent. Common Stock Bonus and the alternative plans of payment, cash or installment.

A fully descriptive circular has already been mailed to our many Newfoundland patrons. We advise these friends of ours and all other interested persons to immediately get in touch with Mr. Power, from whom additional copies of the circular and further particulars may be had. His office address is given below.

Five Killed When Train Dashes Into Farmer's Wagon.

Quakertown, Pa., July 5.—Five persons, three of them Philadelphians, were killed and three other persons seriously injured last night when the Bethlehem tier of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway crashed into a large farmer's wagon at the grade crossing at Schley near here. The killed are:—

Janie Costello, 54 years of age, Katherine Costello, ten years, Edwin Kane, three years old of Philadelphia, James Gillick, 50 years, cigar manufacturer, and James Hannigan, 54 years, both of Schley.

The accident occurred while the Costello family were returning from Helderston, where they had gone to attend a Fourth of July celebration.

John Quincy Adams

John Quincy Adams, sixth president of the United States, was born 146 years ago to-day at Braintree, Massachusetts. He was one of the most industrious presidents we have ever had, as is shown by the fact that he kept a diary for fifty years without skipping a few pages and writing it up at the end of the week. This diary is full of meaty Unitarian language, especially those parts which refer to people with whom he was not on speaking terms.

Before deciding to become president, Mr. Adams served an apprenticeship with his father, who took his meals at the White House for four years and then retired at the urgent request of Thomas Jefferson. Having observed that all of the offices that were worth anything were filled by lawyers, the younger Adams went through Harvard college on a dog trot and then began to practice law on some of his poorer clients. At odd times he would pick up a quill pen and bore a few holes through Tom Paine's works, and he is said to have been the first man in this country who wrote for the papers and signed himself "Pro Bono Publico."

Mr. Adams served as minister to various foreign countries, and refused to wear any uniform other than a grave look and a pepper and salt suit. As secretary of state under President Monroe he invented the Monroe doctrine, but failed to take out a patent on it, as nobody considered it of much account, anyway.

In 1824 Mr. Adams ran for the presidency. He also ran short of electoral votes and had to fall back on the houses of representatives, which promptly elected him and awarded Henry Clay and Andrew Jackson the seat of their ambition.

Mr. Adams made a good president, but as he refused to locate postmasters where they would do congressmen the most good he was retired at the end of his term with pleasing unanimity.

After leaving the White House, Mr. Adams was elected to congress and remained there for seventeen years, meanwhile keeping up his diary with the utmost firmness. He died February 23, 1848, from paralysis engendered by the writer's cramp. Mr. Adams was not glib in dress or person, but as a high-minded patriot, scholar and publicist he has had few competitors.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer.

Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 20 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops.

The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated.

We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application.

The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating. ST. JOHN'S GAS LIGHT COMPANY, Board of Trade Building, St. John's, July 8, 11.

Government Will Make Contract With the Marconi Co.

London, July 4.—The Right Hon. H. Samuel, Postmaster-General, informed the House of Commons to-day of the Post Office Department's proposals for an Empire wireless chain. They involve a fresh contract with the Marconi Company, as for the moment the ideal of state construction and control is impossible of realization.

The Admiralty, which is responsible before all else for the efficiency of the navy, will not release its wireless experts for the construction of stations in various parts of the Empire. That leaves the field in the undisputed possession of the Marconi Company, whose staff is far larger and more experienced than that even of the Admiralty so far as long distance wireless is concerned.

While the initial construction of stations and their initial working have been entrusted to the Marconi Company, the new contract is so framed as to enable the Government whenever it may deem expedient to carry on its wireless service with its own trained staff.

It is rumored that the figure for construction stations in the empire contract, viz., $500,000 per station, will appear in the new one, accompanied however, by a modified condition, obliging the Government in one case, company in another, the benefit of variation in the price of materials.

The provisional contract approved by the Post Office Department has been approved by the Cabinet and ratified by the House.

They threw away rifles, ammunition and food stuffs as they fled.

LONDON, July 10. The Commons were amazed when Stephen Walsh introduced a Bill for the Nationalization of Coal Mines, and providing for the distribution of coal by the Government after it takes over the control of the mines. Compensation is offered the owners, but the Bill does not recognize their title royalties. It is proposed that the coal needed for the purchase shall be raised by an issue of stock. That would involve some slight charge on the taxpayer, remarked the speaker. The Bill passed its first reading without division.

LONDON, July 10. A Constantinople correspondent to the Times, learns that the Bulgarian forward movement, which precipitated the fighting, was carried out in obedience to orders issued by General Savov without the knowledge or consent of Bulgaria's King or Premier. A dispatch to the Times from Uskub, says both armies are engaged in a strategic movement preparatory to the development of the second stage of the campaign. The first ended with the capture of Krivotok by the Serbians, Sunday last.

LIVERPOOL, July 10. A suffragette, wife of Dr. Rigby, of Weston, before the magistrate to-day, pleaded guilty to the offence of knowingly burning down the country residence of Rivington, near Norwich, Lancashire, belonging to W. H. Leven, of Sunlight Soap fame, causing a loss of $100,000. She also confessed to an outrage in the Liverpool Stock Exchange on July 6th, when a bomb was exploded, but did little damage. She surrendered voluntarily to the police. When arraigned, she gloried in her crime, saying she wanted Sir William Lever to consider if his house was more valuable as a show place than as a beacon lighted for King and country to see women suffering an unappealable grievance. The woman was remanded. She has been imprisoned five times already, and escaped through hunger strikes.

LONDON, July 10. The present is the most fateful crisis for the Bulgarian race since King Milan declared war against Bulgaria in 1885, in the absence of her army on the Turkish frontier, says the Sofia Times correspondent. Bulgaria is now threatened by hostile forces on every side, but the manifold dangers of the situation are being confronted with extraordinary calmness and resolution. All the reserves, who have been excused from military service, have been called out and have responded readily, realizing that the whole future of the nation is at stake. A more cheerful view, however, prevails to-day. Instead of the serious defeat which General Kotchouff's laconic messages were supposed to indicate, it seems that no fighting occurred in the Kocichana regions during the last two days, which have been occupied by the Serbians in collecting their dead and wounded. The evacuation was due to strategic reasons. The Bulgarian troops have now taken up strong positions, from which it will be difficult to dislodge them. Up to Tuesday night Scerres was not occupied by the Greeks. Communication has been interrupted by the flight of the telegraph operators. King Ferdinand has bestowed the Order of Bravery on General Ivanoff for his stout resistance against overwhelming forces.

Star Defeat St. Bons.

Last evening football match between the Star and St. Bon's resulted in an easy win for the former by four goals to 0. The exhibition was not as good as expected as the Star had played in their favour most of the time. The Bon's forwards were weak and but for the defence of their back division would have met a worse defeat. The players were:—

St. Bon's.—Goal, St. John; backs, Byrne, Renzie, halves, Ryan, Power, Cleary; forwards, Keating, Templeman, Kent, Callahan, Robertson.

Star.—Goal, Clare; backs, Hart, Dunn; halves, W. Duggan, Kavanagh, T. Duggan; forwards, Power, Ryan, Caul, Evans, Murphy.

Address to Rev. Father Sheehan.

From the Parishioners of Admiral's Cove, Fermense.

On the 22nd May, having learned with regret that Fr. Sheehan was about to remove from this Parish, a deputation awaited at the school-room and presented him with a useful gift and the following

ADDRESS:

Dear Fr. Sheehan.—It is with feelings of heartfelt regret we have learned that in a short time duty will call you to labor in another field. We could indeed wish that your stay amongst us would be permanent as during the short time you have laboured in this Parish you have won our hearts' warmest affections.

In you have been realized the highest ideals of your sacred calling. Coming from the Emerald Isle—The Land of Saints—you represent all that is best and dearest in the Irish Soggarth.

Though still young, you have manifested a zeal for our welfare worthy of the noble priests, who have labored on this shore. Like our late much-lamented Fr. Walsh, you have taken the liveliest interest in our every-day life. You have made our joys and sorrows your own, and in parting with you we feel that we are losing a true and devoted friend. Let us assure you that you take with you the best wishes of the people of Admiral's Cove for your happiness and success in your new sphere of duty. We hope and pray that you may be long spared to labor in the Lord's Vineyard in Newfoundland to edify the old, to encourage the young and to dignify the church of which you are so worthy a priest.

We ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a mere token of our love and esteem, and beg of you dear Father a remembrance from time to time in the Holy Sacrifice.

We beg to sign ourselves, on behalf of your parishioners:

FRANK O'NEILL, WILLIAM TREANOR.

Fr. Sheehan was taken by surprise and made a most touching reply, saying that while he appreciated the kind sentiments of the address and the 'ostly gift' which accompanied it, he valued far more their esteem and regard than any gift that could be tendered him, which would be as a happy remembrance to him in future years.

If your child has an impression of the chest use equal parts of STAFFORD'S LINIMENT and SWEET OIL, warm slightly and apply to the chest on a piece of thick flannel.—June 30, 1913.

English Sparrows.

Of course we swat the flies, but then that sphere is rather narrow; all loyal, patriotic men should swat the English sparrow. Oh, soak the sparrow with a brick, the sparrows and their litters; Great Britain played a low down trick in sending us those critters. They are the loafers of the air, all honest effort detesting; they do not earn their daily fare, they do not pay for lodging. They're nifty, sassy little brutes that rob the honest tillers; they swipe the costly grains and fruits, and pass up caterpillars. They do not rustle after grubs, like honest birds and thought, so let us fashion wet elm clubs and take the warpath, swatful. They drive our native birds away, the birds that sing and frolic and punish bugs day after day until they have the colic. These British birds the farmer hates, and curses as he harrows, so let us rise, like heavyweights, and swat the English sparrows. "America for native birds" should be our motto; let's paralyze the feathered herds from pauper countries winging. We want no birds beneath our flag that pinch our precious cherries; we want no birds that bullyrag our robins and canaries. It's well to swat the flies, I say, and crush them bone and marrow, but we should take an hour a day to swat the English sparrow.

His Excellency the Governor has received a communication from Captain MacLachlan, R.N., H. M. S. Sirius, intimating that, in order to be present at the St. John's for the Annual Regatta, he intends to leave Hare Bay on August 1st, arriving here day following. The ship will leave St. John's again for Hare Bay on August 11th. The remainder of the programme of H. M. S. Sirius remains unaltered.

Advocate Women Police

Congress in London Testifies to their Value.

London, July 5.—The advisability of establishing women police in this country to help fight the white slave traffic was discussed at to-day's meeting of the National Congress for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic.

Miss Eliseem, of Norway, said that her country already had women police and was well satisfied with their work. Miss Leather, of Canada, said that women police had for some time existed in Ottawa and other cities of Canada. A woman delegate from Sweden said that in her country women police had been found of immense value. They are called "police alsters."

Police Commissioner Bullock, of Scotland Yard, also spoke of the great assistance which had been given by women to the police in white slave traffic work. He believed it to be essential that the police should be assisted, but doubted if such assistance would be better for being actually official rather than voluntary. He already had a woman assisting him in the work but she was not a "policeman" not having taken the oath of a constable.

Penalties of Genius.

Genius and ill-health, it would seem, often go hand in hand. At any rate, many of the greatest deeds that the world has seen performed have been accomplished by men physically infirm.

Darwin suffered so acutely from nervous exhaustion that he could only work for two hours a day at the most. Thackeray was frequently ill; Johnson nearly always in poor health; Dickens at the age of fifty-five was an old man, with shattered nerves; whilst Sir Walter Scott, a subject to spasms, was a chronic invalid during the later years of his life, and died at the age of fifty-nine.

Milton, William Morris, and Charles Keane, the actor, all were slaves to gout, and Milton was further handicapped by being blind. The poet Keats died of consumption when still quite young. Elizabeth Barrett Browning was an invalid for the greater part of her life.

Insanity claimed Dean Swift; whilst Rousseau, Cowper, and King George III. all were insane during periods of their lives.

Egg is Cause of Railway Strike.

London, July 4.—The untimely laying of an egg in a crate caused a strike at the London and North-Western Railway station here yesterday.

A porter, in moving a crate of live hens, noticed that one of the fowls had laid an egg. Shipping his hand through the bars of the crate, he took the egg out and placed it on his narrow row for safety. A railway detective immediately arrested the porter and took him and the egg to the railway police station.

Within a few minutes all the railway staff on duty ceased work until the district superintendent was informed of the incident and ordered the man's release. The staff then returned to work, but the officials are still considering the fate of the egg, which for the present remains in the superintendent's office.

May Build Channel Tunnel After All.

London, July 4.—The proposal to drive a tunnel under the English Channel between England and France, which for years was opposed by military men on the ground that it would destroy the isolation of England, is now being taken up seriously with a better chance of going through than ever before.

The advance in flying made in recent years has already virtually taken away the advantage of isolation, but even more than this the good relations now existing between England and France have overcome the opposition to the scheme. The government is being urged to take the matter up seriously; people who cross the channel frequently favor the plan, and the railways, who have to keep up costly steamers for the channel service, are not opposed to the tunnel idea, for they know that with the abolition of the much-traded channel crossing by sea, passenger traffic would increase immensely.
