THE MOTIVE

That prompted S. H. Parsons & Sons to establish a developing and printing department for amateurs is, first, last and always, getting the best results possible from every spool of film handed over by their customers. In the past we have had abundant evidence that great mischief was being done through a number of incompetent persons undertaking to develop and print for amateurs, and turning out results which were in many cases deplorable. A trial will convince when it comes to developing and printing films.

When you bring your films to us, you get the benefit of our years of experience. For bright snappy prints, bring your films to

"I Had Bilious Attacks and Stomach Weakness"

Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Yorker, Saak, writes: "I suffered from stomach and liver trouble, and used to have bilious attacks so bad that I could do nothing for weeks at a time. My stomach would be so weak that not even a drink of water would stay on it. On my sister's advice, I began to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and must say that they have made me feel like a new woman."

At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit
STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XIX.

Again the summer breeze stirred the leaves, and they seemed to repeat the words "when I come home."
"I shall sit up for you," continued Dolores. "You will not be late?"
He looked at his watch, and, as he held it in his hand, the sunlight flashed upon the ruby ring and the white rose. Dolores bent and kissed it.
"How I love white roses!" she exclaimed. "And, oh, Karl, how your ring shines in the sun! It dazzles my eyes."
"I must go," said Sir Karl, hastily. "I shall be late; but I am loath to leave you, Dolores. You seem sweeter and dearer than ever. How many kisses will you give me?"
"How many will you take?" she returned, laughingly.
"Good-bye, my sweet wife," he said, clasping her to his breast; "I will tell you all about this business when I return."
Their lips met in one long, loving kiss, and then he was gone. She watched him until he was out of sight, and then slowly went back to the house.

CHAPTER XX.

It was half-past seven o'clock, on the tenth of June, when Sir Karl Allammore left his home on business which he had explained to no one, and from that hour he was not seen again—there was no sign, no trace of him. He vanished completely, as though he had disappeared from the face of the earth.
He had said that he would be back by half-past nine at the very latest; and Lady Allammore wondered how she should spend the time. It was the first evening she had been alone since her marriage; Sir Karl had never left her before, and she could not help wondering what this most mysterious business was; it was evidently something that engrossed his thoughts. But she would not trouble about it; he would explain when he came home. She took up a book; it was one of her favorites. But on that evening it had lost its charm. She could not read; she turned over page after page without even scanning their contents. She would go to the piano, she thought, and play away dull care. How strange it was that the first piece of music she opened was the song she had sung to Sir Karl, when in her own mind she had hidden him far away for ever. How well she remembered having sung that to him—the pain in her own heart, the despair and reproach she had read in his eyes! All the anguish of those days came back to her.
"He is mine now," she said to herself, "and there will be no more parting."
She longed for his presence that she might feel the clasp of his arm around her, his kisses warm on her face; but he would soon be back. It was striking nine, and he had said he would return by half-past. She put away the little song that was so closely associated with him, and played all the airs she could remember. She was startled when mingling with the notes of the piano, she heard the clock strike ten. He must have returned, she thought, and, owing to the music, she had not heard him. She rang the bell quickly, and asked if Sir Karl had come in. Frodsham, the butler, said "No." Most of the servants had gone to rest; but he was sitting up for Sir Karl. He was dismissed with a graceful smile—nothing pleased Lady Allammore so much as attention to her husband.

"I will never sit up at night alone again," she thought.
After a few minutes, her nervous fears increased so greatly that there was nothing left for her to do but go down to the old butler in the hall. He looked up in surprise at the beautiful vision of silk, velvet and pearls covered with white lace.
"My lady!" he cried, jumping up from the chair. "I am afraid I was asleep! Did you want me?"
"I am uneasy about your master," she said. "He was to have been back at half-past nine, and now it is past eleven."
"The anxious voice aroused the faithful servant. He went to the hall door and opened it, letting in a floor of moonlight.
"There is no cause for fear, my lady," he replied—"Not the least. See how light the night is—it is bright as day."
She looked down the broad steps; the moonlight lay on flowers and trees, on the grass and the statues. What could there be to fear on such a night? Nothing. There could be no accident, she reflected, such as was occasioned at times by losing one's way in the dark.
"May I ask, my lady, where Sir Karl has gone?" inquired the butler. "He very often tells me himself; but tonight he did not say a word of his intentions—indeed, my lady, I thought that he did not seem quite well."
Top each cup of cocoa with a fluffy marshmallow.

"He was not well," she replied quickly; "it is that which has made me uneasy."
"I am sure, my lady, that there is no need for anxiety. Did you say where my master had gone?"
There was a look of distress and childlike bewilderment on her face.
"I do not know, Frodsham. He did not tell me." Even as she spoke, a cold thrill of terror passed over her, and a dreadful foreboding of sorrow made her tremble.
"I am quite sure, my lady, that you need not be anxious. No accident could have happened on a bright night like this. You see for yourself that it is almost as light as day."
"Yes, I see," she answered.
What she would have liked would have been to go out herself in search of Sir Karl.
"I should not like to leave you alone, my lady," said the butler, "but if you will permit me to call the housekeeper to remain with you, I will go to the lodge-gates. It would be better to call Mrs. Pickering than your ladyship's maid."
It occurred to him that, if there had been any little contretemps, it would be far better to have the staid old housekeeper present than the young maid.
The first thing that Mrs. Pickering did when she saw her mistress's white face was to get her some wine. The two stood together in the cold moonlight while the old butler went to the lodge-gates. Once Lady Allammore gave a start, for they thought they heard the sound of voices; but when she went to the door, she could see no one. It was some time before Frodsham returned, and then he brought no news. The woman at the lodge had seen nothing of the master. She told him that the outer gates were unlocked, and he had passed through; he had looked down the road, but there was no sign of Sir Karl.
Lady Allammore wrung her white jeweled hands.
"Oh, Frodsham, I am afraid something has happened to him!" she cried. But still the old man scouted the idea of danger. Sir Karl would come walking up presently, and would laugh at them for their pains.
"Take my advice, my lady," he said, "and do not get anxious. Sir Karl knows every step of the ground about here—he could not lose himself if he tried. He went on business, you say, my lady? Then he has been detained."

The Card-Players Bible

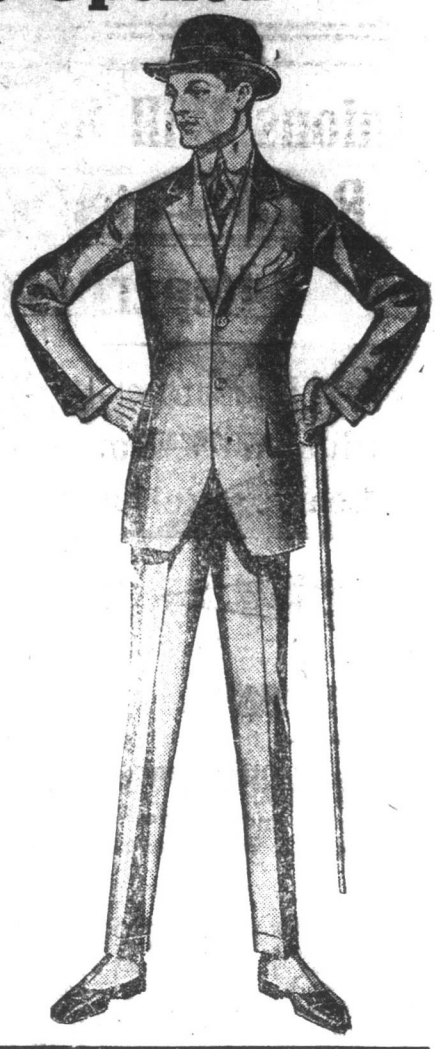

A private soldier, named Richard Lee, was taken before the magistrates of Glasgow for playing cards during divine services. A sergeant led the soldiers to the English Church, and when the minister had read the prayers he gave out the text. Those who had Bibles took them out, but the soldier had neither Bible nor Common Prayer Book; and, pulling out a pack of cards, he spread them before him. He first looked at one card and then another. The sergeant of the company saw him, and said: "Richard, put up the cards, this is no place for them."
"Never mind that," said Richard. "When the services were over, the constable took Richard a prisoner and brought him before the magistrate.
"Well," said the Bailie, "what have you brought the soldier here for?"
"For playing cards in the church."
"Well, soldier, what have you to say for yourself?"
"Much, sir, I hope."
"Very good; if not, I will punish you severely."
"I have been," said the soldier, "about six weeks on the march. I have neither Bible nor Common Prayer Book. I have nothing but a pack of cards, and I hope to satisfy Your Worship of the purity of my intentions."
"Then spreading the cards before the Bailie, he began with the ace.
"When I see the ace, it reminds me that there is but one God. When I see the deuce it reminds me of the Father and Son. When I see three, it reminds me of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. When I see four, it reminds me of the four evangelists that preached—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. When I see the five, it reminds me of the five wise virgins that trimmed their lamps; there were ten, but five were foolish and were shut out. When I see the six, it reminds me that in six days the Lord made Heaven and earth. When I see the seven, it reminds me that on the seventh day God rested from the great work He had made and hallowed it. When I see the eight, it reminds me of the eight righteous persons that were saved when God destroyed the world—Noah, his wife and his three sons and their wives. When I see the nine, it reminds me of the nine lepers that were cleansed by our Saviour. There were nine out of ten that never returned to give thanks. When I see the ten, it reminds me of the Ten Commandments, which God handed down to Moses on the tables of stone. When I see the king, it reminds me of the Great King of Heaven. When I see the queen, it reminds me of the Queen of Sheba, who visited Solomon, for she was a wise woman as he was a man. She brought with her fifty boys and fifty girls, all dressed in boys' apparel, for King Solomon to tell which were boys and which were girls. The King sent for water for them to wash. The girls washed to the elbows, the boys to the wrists. So Solomon told by that."
"Well," said the magistrate, "you have described every card in the pack except one."
"What is that?"
"The knave," said the Bailie.
"I will give Your Honor a description of that too, if you will not be angry."
"I will not," said the Bailie, "if you do not term me to be the knave."
"The greatest knave I know of is the constable that brought me here."
"I do not know," said the Bailie, "if he is the greatest knave, but I know he is the greatest fool."
When we count how many spots there are in a pack of cards, we find there are 365—the number of days in a year. When we count the sum of cards in a pack, we find 52—the number of weeks in a year. There are 12 picture cards in a pack—the number of months in a year. And on counting the tricks, we find 12—the number of weeks in a quarter. So you see a pack of cards serves for a Bible, an almanac, and a Common Prayer Book.—Glasgow Weekly Herald.

Schoolboys Make the Grand Tour

Fifty Australian public schoolboys are visiting England, under the auspices of the New South Wales Division of the Young Australia League, says the Yorkshire Post. They have spent several days in Leeds and the neighbourhood after a visit to Harrogate, and were taken over woolen and worsted mills, clothing factories, and foundries. It was explained to them how Australia can directly aid British woolen manufacturers to reduce the cost of their products, by marketing better-prepared wool. Thus the lads might be described as new Argonauts carrying home the secret of a new Golden Fleece.
"But they travel not for trafficking alone, and their tour of Britain includes visits to her most ancient as well as the most modern institutions, to the battlefields of the Civil War as well as to the 'ammunition factories' of the modern commercial struggle. They are thus not only to learn what England is to-day, and by what means the interests of the various parts of the Empire may be co-ordinated; what Britain can contribute to the common stock and by what means Australia can make these contributions more readily available, in her own interests and in ours, but also they are to gain some insight into the long process whereby English institutions have been built up.
Someone, for example the Lord Mayor of Leeds, who is to receive the party at the Town Hall, might usefully suggest to them the signs—for they are everywhere about their path—of that great tradition of voluntary public service which is perhaps the finest of all English traditions, the example of liberty which is never so surely founded as when it voluntarily surrenders something of its own completeness in the common interest of all.
"This tour of schoolboys is an admirable institution. In its way it is almost an Imperial edition of the school-wanderings which at one time in our history helped largely to break up the narrow provincialism which had communications and the dangers of the track and times conspired to perpetuate.
"Once the Grand Tour of Europe was accounted a necessary part of the liberal education of an English man. But the tour was necessarily circumscribed by conditions of travel and considerations of expense. Yet even so it is at least probable that some of our national difficulties might have been found less pronounced if the old Grand Tour had been available to a larger number of young men and women at the most receptive period of their lives. To-day, so it grows ever less distant, and in consequence the relationship of all its parts more complex and more intimate, more obviously the personal concern of every one of us. In the years that are coming this will be still more the case, not less. And in particular it will be ever more vital that English youth shall have as much knowledge as can possibly be given to them of the Anglo-Saxon world.
It would seem that the efforts of the Young Australia League might and should be paralleled in this country."

Dominions Will Be Represented at the Imperial Conference

Treaty of Lausanne Ratified—MacLaren Overdue in N. Kuriles—Irish Republican Leaders Released.

CONFERENCE HOLDS FIRST SESSION.

LONDON, July 16. Inter-Allied Conference for the purpose of making effective the plan of the Experts Committee for German reparations, assembled at 11 o'clock today, at the Foreign Office. United States Ambassador Kellogg was present along with Colonel J. A. Logan, Jr., United States observer with the Reparations Commission. Prime Minister MacDonald formally welcomed the delegates. M. Herriot proposed Premier MacDonald as chairman of the Conference, after which the business of organization was begun. Sir Maurice Hankey was named secretary-general and three committees were appointed to work out the agenda along the lines of the Herriot-MacDonald communique issued from Paris, July 9. This business accomplished, the Conference adjourned until tomorrow.

SATISFACTORY END OF CONFERENCE HOPED FOR.

LONDON, July 16. The Inter-Allied Conference, held today at the British Foreign Office for the purpose of making effective the Experts plan for German reparations, is recognized by the press as the most important gathering of allied statesmen and diplomats since the signing of the Versailles Treaty. Since this Treaty there have been fourteen conferences each aiming at a settlement of weary European problems, and the hope is earnestly expressed that the fifteenth will prove the last and result in bringing order out of chaos. It is believed that the labors of the Conference will end satisfactorily in about a fortnight. This hope is based mainly on two facts, namely, that the concrete issue before the Conference is the Dawes scheme and the United States will participate in the deliberations.

DOMINIONS TO BE REPRESENTED.

LONDON, July 16. Representatives of the British Dominions will probably add their own delegates to the Allied Conference on German reparations which began here today with plenipotentiaries of ten nations in attendance. It was said on high authority that the question of Dominion representation, which caused at first misunderstanding in connection with the Conference, had been settled to the satisfaction of the Canadian Government and Ireland which demanded representation of their own if they were to be bound by the Conference decisions.

LAUSANNE TREATY RATIFIED.

LONDON, July 16. Arthur Ponsonby Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, declared in the House of Commons today that Great Britain had ratified the Treaty of Lausanne.

McLAREN MAKES ANOTHER HOP.

TOKIO, July 16. A Stuart McLaren, British aviator, flying around the world, is six hours overdue at Paramushiru Islands, Kuriles, where he was to have landed today, and a Japanese destroyer has set out in search of his plane, according to a report received here today. McLaren and his two companions hopped off from Toshimoye Lake early this morning with apparently favorable weather. Their northward path lay over a series of comparatively uninhabited islands. The distance is about 450 miles.

BUENOS AIRES, July 16. An official Brazilian communique from Rio de Janeiro was received by La Nación stating the Federalists "won an important action against the rebels capturing many prisoners."

OLYMPIC ROWING RESULTS.

ARGENTUELL, July 16. The Canadian eight-oared crew today won the right to compete in the finals of the Olympic competition by winning the race of crews which had finished second in the original heats. The Canadians led all the way but had a stiff fight on their hands to keep their advantage over the other three sights. The Argentine team finished second, a length and a half behind the Canadians, the Australians were third and the Belgians fourth. The Canadians' time of 6 minutes 37 seconds was considered particularly good because of the fact that it was made in the face of a brisk wind. There were two other qualified to compete in the finals to-morrow. The first resulted in a victory for Jack Beresford, Jr., of Great Britain, who was defeated Monday by W. E. Garrett Gilmore, the United States national champion, over Peterson of Holland in the single sculls. The second resulted in a victory for the Swiss four with coxswain over Great Britain, Hungary and Belgium.

POLICEMAN'S SON BRUTALLY MURDERED.

NEW YORK, July 16. Virtually the entire police force of Staten Island was marshalled today in concerted efforts to apprehend the slayer of eight year old Francis MacDonald, son of a Staten Island policeman, whose mutilated body was found last night in a hastily constructed grave of brush and leaves near the child's home. The boy's suspenders knotted tightly about his throat had been used to strangle him and the body bore evidence of fendish assault, the police say. Until late last night the police had few clues upon which to work.

WASHINGTON, July 16. The turret explosion aboard the battleship Mississippi, off the California coast, last June 12th, in which 44 men and three officers were killed, resulted from insufficient air pressure in cleaning the bore of the big gun, according to the findings of the naval court of enquiry. The fire in the upper handling room, the court said, in the findings announced yesterday, was "caused by safety doors not being entirely closed," and the casualties were increased by the presence of unofficial observers, "who crowded the passage way making exits more difficult."

ST. PATRICK'S GARDEN PARTY AND FIELD DAY.

Sports Programme Was A Special Feature.

St. Patrick's Garden Party, held at Lester's Field, yesterday afternoon, was largely attended and proved a decided success. The committee in charge had all arrangements perfected for the occasion and all are to be congratulated on their efforts. The ground was dotted with numerous tents and side-shows, while the display of hunting, which floated rally in the breeze, made the surroundings a very pretty scene. Among those present were His Grace, the Archbishop, Rev. Dr. Kitchin, pastor of St. Patrick's, Priests from the Cathedral and outside parishes; also Hon. Sir J. C. Crosbie, and Mr. W. F. Linegar, M. H.A., representatives of the District.

During the afternoon the side-shows and wheels of fortune were well patronized, although the most popular event of the evening was the sports programme. The sprint races and middle distance events saw many runners of repute in action. J. Cotter, a St. Bon's boy, carried the 100 and 220 yard dashes, while Clifford Stone easily outdistanced a field of runners in the half and one mile events. The Junior League relay race furnished several thrills. The T. A. lads nosed out the B.I.S. boys for the honors close to the tape. Nikosey's running helped largely in his team's victory. The football sides were close and interesting. In the finals the Wesley defeated the Cadets for the medals. The most popular event of the day, the five mile road race, for a handsome trophy, was postponed until a later date. The committee acted wisely in postponing it due to the condition of the road which was covered with tar only a few hours previous. It is understood that only a few competitors had entered for this race, which is rather regrettable. The following is the list of events and winners:—

- 100 Yards Dash—1st, J. Cotter; 2nd, Vinicombe.
- 220 Yards Dash—1st, J. Cotter; 2nd, Oakley.
- Football Sixes—Cadets defeat Holy Cross.
- 1 Mile Race—1st, C. Stone; 2nd, J. Russell.
- Football Sixes—Wesley defeat T.A. Half Mile Race—1st, C. Stone; 2nd, J. Russell.
- Junior League Relay—Won by T.A. team: S. Russell, J. McCormack, L. Nikosey.
- Quarter Mile—1st, S. Russell; 2nd, G. Stone.
- Final Football Sixes—Wesley defeat Cadets. Winning team: B. Adey, H. Marshall, R. Nichol, J. Driscoll, H. Haynes, W. Sparkes.

At the close of the prizes were presented by His Grace the Archbishop, who congratulated the winners on their success. The National Anthem, played by the C.C.C. Band, brought this successful outdoor event to a close.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL LEAGUE.

T.A. And Cadets The Victors. The Junior footballers, played two games at St. George's Field yesterday. At 3 p.m. the T.A. and Gaelic faced off, the result ending in a victory for the former by 5 goals to 1. In the first half the T.A. lads found the net four times. Bailey, McCormack and Nikosey figuring in the scoring. In the second half the Gaelic team showed a big improvement in their play, and not many minutes had elapsed before Jackson had landed the first counter, which proved to be their one and only goal. Towards the end of play the T.A. lads staged a rally when Bally scored the last goal of the afternoon by a combined effort. Owing to the high wind goal football was entirely out of the question. Nevertheless both teams put up a very good game, that proved pleasing to the goodly attendance of spectators.

2nd Game. At 7.30 the Cadets and Scouts tried conclusions. The Cadets, with a well balanced team, put it all over the Scouts in this game. They registered six goals to their opponents' nil. A feature of the game was their tricky combination and hard work. The Scouts paid many a visit to the Cadet danger zone throughout the game, but erratic shooting always followed, which was responsible for their downfall.

NEXT GAME. The Holy Cross and B.I.S. teams, strong contenders for championship honors, will compete in the next Junior League game. Both teams have thus far gone through the series without suffering a defeat. An exciting contest is being looked forward to.

TO-NIGHT'S FOOTBALL. The B.I.S. and C.L.B. teams will face-off at St. George's Field to-night. A good game is anticipated.

REGATTA RIPPLES. Preparations for the Annual Regatta are now in full swing and from present indications it looks as if this year's Derby will be equal to any of the programmes for the first time, promises to be keenly contested, as all the banks have crews practicing and are shaping up well.

The Amateur race, will give a good send-off to the day's programme, and will be as hard fought as ever. Tobin's crew in the Nellie R. promises to be strong contenders for the honors. This crew has made some changes in their positions the last few nights, and Max Chambers is now on the stroke oar. Other crews in this race, are also shaping up well. The Mercantile race is creating much interest, and four crews will likely enter. Crews are practicing for the Trade and Laborers' races, and it looks as if these will be harder fought than for a long time. At the Regatta meeting on Friday night crews for the Amateur, Mercantile, Juvenile, Intermediate, Senior and Junior Football will enter.

A JUDGE'S OPINION.

Editor "Realms of Sport." Dear Sir—Re letter published July 12th, and signed "Enthusiast." I would like to point out to the writer, that Mr. Johnson's letter in no way, Judge, but was more of an appeal for clear sport and to give a little information to those who desire it, and did not know as much about boxing as Enthusiast seems to think he does, that they could get a copy of the Amateur Rules on which the competitors were judged.

I may say I was one of the Judges, and cannot see where or what rules, whether American or British, your writer makes out Phalen anywhere near Vandersteen. I believe I give Phalen a little better than 50 per cent. of the points in that contest, and do not think the other Judges give him as much. Re his scoring of bout, Diamond vs. Dabbs, on second night when he came out with his point so concisely, scored for clean hits I happen to have my scoring with me, and for the first round where he seen only 11 hits to 3 in Diamond's favor. I gave Diamond 24 clean hits to Dabbs' 20. I may state in closing that I am not opening a controversy on the subject, but should suggest to Enthusiast that he see Mr. Johnson and get a copy of the rules, studies them, and goes to the Competitions with an unprejudiced mind, and when criticising people who have been chosen judges by the A.A.A. for the knowledge they possess, he has the courage to use his own name and not write a non de plume.

Yours sincerely, W. BURNS.

The Governor's Cup Won By J. F. MEEHAN. Bally Haly was at its best yesterday for the first big competition of the season. In all 36 members entered for His Excellency the Governor's Cup. The match was a stroke competition on handicap over 28 holes. The following are the four best cards:—

- J. F. Meehan, net score . . . 139

- F. M. Conell, net score . . . 145

Spencer Girls' in Camp

The 1st St. John's Companies, attached to Spencer College, are now in camp at a beautiful spot near Mackinson's Station. The village is known as "Juniper Stump." It is one of the prettiest places for a camp—the South River, flowing through, affords shade and convenient pools. A very kind lady who owns the property, some 368 acres, generously offered the Guides space for their camp site. Captain Elwin Nash, Physical Culture Specialist of Spencer College, is Camp Commandant; Miss Syretha Squires, a trained nurse, is in charge of the medical department. Rev. H. V. Whitehouse, Incumbent of Salmon Cove, kindly acts as Camp Chaplain, and with Professor Herbert Stirling, did great work in arranging the erection of tents, kindly loaned by Lisit-Col. Walter F. Rendell C.B.E., of the Church Lads' Brigade. The pioneers went to Mackinson's last Thursday, July 10th, and the Guides' company entrained Saturday morning, July 12. All ranks return on Tuesday night next by the 9.15 p.m. train, July 22nd. The weather has been ideal. Camp routine is as follows:—6.30 a.m., Cooks; 7.00, Revellie; 7.30, Physical exercises; 8.00, Colours; 8.15, Breakfast; 8.45, Fatigue duty; 10.00, Inspection; 10.15, Guide Duties; 11.15, Bathing parade; 12.30, Dinner; 1 p.m., canteen opens; 1.15, Rest period, half hour of silence; 2.45, Guide duties; 5.00, Cooks reports; 5.30, Uniform; 6.00, Tea; 6.30, Colours; 6.45, Clean camp and change; 7.15, Games; 7.45, Camp Fire Stories; 8.15, Cocoa and biscuits; 8.30, Good night parade; 9.15, Lights out. Hikes are indulged in daily. All the Guides had an opportunity to witness the forest on fire a few miles way, now happily out, thanks to the rain. Next Sunday a Church Parade will be held. Saturday will be visitors' day. Mr. Brae of the Woodlen Mills and others have extended the Guides every courtesy for which they are grateful. The girls are all sunburnt—"brown as berries"—and a Camp Nurse is rated a popular visit with her cream lotions. Miss Keef, the Specialist in Art of the Spencer staff, is also in camp so that we have pictures galore at the next exhibition at Spencer's Art Gallery. Meals are splendid, no grunting, appetites all good and nobody ill. The Camp Cook has sent out an S.O.S. call for lettuce and mayonnaise, so if that's all they need they don't want very much! The Guides are all behaving themselves as Spencer girls always do, obeying orders and respecting officers, and the discipline is excellent.

We congratulate Captain Elwin Nash and her staff on the perfect arrangements and the jolly outing given the Girl Guides of Spencer College in the Great Outdoors, and for the splendid training and care the Girl Guides are receiving in their first camp—Q.

Steamer Home's Damages

A survey of the damage caused S.S. Home as the result of her going ashore at St. John's on Friday last was completed at the Dock wharf yesterday. It is quite apparent that the ship passed over the rocks as two bulges were found, one near the stem and another about 10 feet from the keel. It will be necessary to remove several of the damaged plates and put new ones in position. The four-peak is still flooded, but so far no water has made its appearance in any other part of the ship. Before the Home enters the Dry Dock for permanent repairs, the damages caused the steamer Kehlhaven will be effected.

SNOW-STRICKLAND. A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church, Southside, last evening at 7 o'clock, when Miss Jessie Snow, daughter of Mr. Edward Snow, H. M. Customs, this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Edward Strickland of the Nfld. Government Railway. The bride was handsomely attired in a dress of lemon georgette over peach, with black picture hat, and carried a beautiful bouquet of carnations and ferns. She was given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. J. Snow, manager of the Gas Works, and was attended by her cousin, Miss Gladys Redstone, who wore a very becoming gown of rainbow georgette. The duties of best man were ably performed by Mr. Raymond Snow, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the wedding party drove countrywards as far as Topsail, returning to the residence of Mr. W. J. Snow, where a reception was held and the usual toasts honoured, the festivities being kept up until the wee sma' hours of the morning. The presents were both numerous and costly, testifying to the esteem in which the popular young couple are held. The bride and groom left by to-day's express for North Brook, where the honeymoon will be spent.

BRITISH EMPIRE STEEL.

British Empire Steel rail mill, now out of orders, may not have to close down for three months if the Canadian National Railway places an order for 20,000 tons of rails. There is a report that this will be done. It is understood that the rails would not be paid for until next year. All three Bessemer issues showed market weakness during the week.

BRAZILIAN.

Buying on the part of London and Montreal has resumed in Brazilian Traction. Back in March and again the last of April there was quite an active demand for the shares and they moved up to 52.53. The past week saw the market fall just a little short of this when 53% was reached. Seemingly when the market gets within range of the 53 mark London becomes a seller. Brokers say this has been the case on the last three rallies in the issue.

MOENT ROYAL.

The dividend distribution to shareholders of the Mount Royal Hotel in the near future is not unlikely, may be deduced from the remarks of Frederick W. Rockwell, vice-president of the United Hotels of America, who recently attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Hotel in Montreal. He stated that earnings this year have been very encouraging, and an announcement will soon be possible which will be of interest to the shareholders, provided of course, that the earnings are maintained at the high scale they have reached.

A Game Chicken

REELS OF THRILLS FURNISHED BY THE ONE AND ONLY BEBE DANIELS. MORE IMPROVEMENTS AT THE MAJESTIC. She's come, that's what they are all saying when they hear tell of Bebe Daniels who stars at the Majestic to-day in her best feature "A Game Chicken." The cocking tale of a pretty pullet who tried to be a rooster—Who dressed like a boy and crowed at cock-fights! Who finally fell a victim of love and a hootch-running plot that sizzles with thrills from Cuba to Drybrugg, Mass.

Every scene a sensation! A new kind of photoplay cocktail, made of hootch-smuggling and love. Mixed by the U.S. Secret Service and love. Mixed by the U. S. Secret Service and topped by a chaaser from Cuba to Drybrugg, Mass. Loaded with a "kick" that afloat an outlaw schooner rick into a fog filled with cops.

Plating a luscious cherry of feminine fashion and beauty. Fizzling with fighting, fire and fun! The cockiest picture on the cinema roost—that's the Good Little Bad Girl in "A Game Chicken." See this wonderful feature at the Majestic to-day where you will also hear the popular tenor vocalist Ben Rodden sing three more of his best songs. The one-big feature and a pleasing one to note is that at the Majestic you are sure of ideal conditions. Recently a new system of ventilation was installed which with the aid of the large electric fan gives a continuous cool atmosphere.

There was keen competition for the prize of a medal offered for the most profound in the culinary art. Saskatchewan Kills Prohibition

British Aviator Has Not Yet Turned up -- First Seizure Under British-American Rum-Running Treaty.

PROHIBITION KILLED BY SASKATCHEWAN.

REGINA, Sask., July 16. Prohibition was killed by the people of Saskatchewan to-day, and the Saskatchewan Temperance Act was passed by a vote of 11 to 10, when the majority against prohibition stood at 11,071, and as it climbed steadily on the receipt of further returns from the country, the fact no longer was in doubt. Out of a total of 2,581 polls 1,200 had reported they gave the vote in favor of prohibition of 26,588, and against prohibition of 53,657.

U.S. AUTHORITIES SEIZE CANADIAN VESSEL.

BOSTON, July 16. Capt. Arthur Bachman, of Lunenburg, the skipper of the Canadian schooner Frances Louise, which was seized 15 miles off Cape Cod yesterday by coast guard cutter Ossipee and towed here, was arrested late to-day charged with conspiracy to import liquor illegally into the United States. Bachman entered a plea of not guilty, and was held in $500 bonds for hearing to-morrow. The seizure of the Canadian vessel is said to be the first under the new American British Treaty aimed at prevention of rum-running.

WANT OF CONFIDENCE CARRIED IN VICTORIA LEGISLATURE.

MELBOURNE, Aus., July 16. A motion want of confidence on the government of Victoria was carried in the Legislative Assembly to-day by a vote of 45 to 16. The motion was moved by G. M. Prendergast, the Labor leader, and was supported by the country party and five unattached Liberals. The Legislative Assembly adjourned immediately after the vote was taken. It is anticipated Mr. Prendergast will form a Labor ministry.

CLASH BETWEEN MOHAMMEDANS AND HINDUS.

DELHI, British India, July 16. Six persons were reported killed and more than one hundred wounded in rioting yesterday between Mohammedans and Hindus. The disturbance was caused by what is described as the aggressive attitude of Mohammedans who persisted in carrying cows for sacrifice through a prohibited area where Hindus live.

DECIDING STATUS OF DOMINION REPRESENTATIVES.

LONDON, July 16. Official information regarding the status of Senator Belcourt of Canada as a representative of the dominion at the International Conference which opened here to-day is lacking, but it is understood arrangements satisfactory to Canada have not yet been agreed upon. The Daily News says the British government has suggested a panel arrangement, whereby the dominions would be represented at the sessions alternately. Senator Belcourt has been requested to accept this arrangement. Representatives are being made by the dominions to the Colonial Office, and in the meantime delegates from the dominions are marking time. Senator Belcourt arrived in London this afternoon.

SASKATCHEWAN VOTES WET.

REGINA, Sask., July 17. By a majority which early to-day had advanced to 25,000 and promised to go to thirty thousand, when a thousand unreported polls had been heard from, prohibition was renounced by Saskatchewan yesterday after four years' experience with the Saskatchewan Temperance Act. At the same time the electors expressed preference for straight Government control of the sale of liquor through official vendors as opposed to such control accompanied by licensed beer premises by a majority of 8,855.

EXPLOSION TAKES A HEAVY TOLL.

KANSAS CITY, July 17. One person is known to be dead, 18 others believed to have been killed, and seven were seriously injured early to-day as a result of an explosion and fire that wrecked a two-story brick building at eighteenth and Tracy Avenue.

VOTE OF CENSURE DEFEATED.

OTTAWA, July 17. By a vote of 78 to 20 the House of Commons after an all night sitting, this morning defeated the motion of Andrew Knox, censuring the Government for non-completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. The adoption of the amendment would have meant a vote of confidence in the Government.

FIANCEE SHOOT TO END SUFFERING.

PARIS, July 17. Slowly dying from an incurable malady, Jean Zoznowski, a well known Polish writer, repeatedly begged friends and attendants at the Sanitarium at Ville Jeur, to put an end to his sufferings. Yesterday his fiancée Mile. Stannauslaw Anicuka visited him, and was so overcome at the sight of his agony that she shot him in the head, and he is not expected to recover. Mile. Anicuka was arrested.

NO TRACE AS YET OF MACLAREN.

TOKIO, July 16. Japanese destroyers have not yet found any trace of A. Stuart MacLaren, the British aviator and his companions who left Yotoru Island early yesterday morning.

NO ANXIETY AS YET REGARDING MACLAREN.

Although there has been no news received here up to this p.m. of Stuart MacLaren and party of British aviators flying round the world, since they left Lake Toehimoye at an early hour yesterday morning, no anxiety is felt here as yet for their safety. MacLaren should have completed the flight to Paramassuru Island, about 450 miles north of his starting point, by noon yesterday. However, it is believed likely that he landed at some intermediate point in the Kuriles far from radio or other communication with the outside world. Shimushiru Island, where the advance party for the flight laid down fuel and supplies base, is believed the most probable point of his landing.

THE VOLTAIRE CASE.

WASHINGTON, July 17. Charges that hostile foreign shipping interests under the guise of opposition to flag discrimination are moving to attack and ultimately destroy coastwise laws of the United States are made in a memorandum addressed to Secretary Hoover and made public by the Shipping Board. The memorandum was forwarded by the Board in connection with the sailing over a week ago of the Lamport and Holt steamer Voltair from Philadelphia to Halifax, N.S., and St. John's, Nfld., with 600 Pennsylvania members of the Order of Elks. Instead of proceeding direct to its destination, the Voltair is alleged to have dropped passengers who were delegates to the Elks Convention to Halifax and St. John's.

HIGH COMMISSIONERS CONFER WITH COLONIAL SECRETARY.

LONDON, July 17. (Canadian Press Cable.)—High Commissioners of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa this morning conferred with Colonial Secretary J. H. Thomas, with reference to the position of the Dominions in connection with the Allied Conference now being held in London, but it is stated that nothing will be settled with regard thereto pending arrival of fresh information from Canada.

One of the bankers secured over 10,000 squid.

Burying Our Talents

The departure of the Metagama and the Clara Camus from St. John's with but temporary repairs effected in each case should bring home to us with force our lack of vision and enterprise.

Were these ships the first which have left here to receive permanent repairs elsewhere, such comments would be unmerited and unjust, but the same thing has happened time and again and the lesson has taught us nothing, or at least we have made no attempt to profit by it.

We have, it is true, a dock which was constructed forty years ago, when ships were of far smaller dimensions than they are to-day, but no attempt has been made to adapt it to modern requirements.

The excuse always made is the cost. It is not the cost, but lack of confidence in the results. Resentment is expressed at the practice of raising loan after loan to pay for extravagance or to meet losses incurred through mismanagement, but no such sentiment would be felt regarding a proposal to raise money for the specific purpose of turning our natural assets to full and certain account.

A Simple Act of Respect

Mr. R. G. Rendell's Letter which appears elsewhere in this issue is one which will strike a sympathetic chord in the hearts of everyone, and we feel certain that the suggestion will be acted upon. The act of raising one's hat when passing the Memorial is a simple one, but it conveys a depth of feeling, and is a most fitting acknowledgment of the great obligation we are under to those in honour of whom it has been erected.

Incorrectly Informed

We have been requested to state by certain citizens who attended the musical concert, given by the Elks on Sunday, that the strictures in Councillor Outebridge's letter in the News, this morning, were unmerited. The nature of the music was such as to give great pleasure to all and offence to none, and had there been anything to indicate a lack of respect for our Monument, both citizens and police officials would have been quick to resent it.

A Simple Tribute of Respect

Dear Sir.—At a recent meeting of the Finalization Committee for the National War Memorial, it was decided to bring to the attention of the public the desirability of everyone, when passing the Memorial, showing some mark of respect by lifting their hats or otherwise acknowledging what this Memorial stands for.

This token of respect is much in evidence at the Cenotaph in London and adds very materially to its impressiveness. Those who make a practice of following out this suggestion at the present time, will have a marked effect in making it universal, and the committee hopes the proposal will be adopted.

Yours truly, R. G. RENDELL, Chairman. St. John's, July 16, 1924.

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT! Band Concert, Bannerman Park by the Mount Cashel Boys' Band, 8.15.—July 17, 11

A Correction

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—In this morning's issue of the Daily News appears a letter from Rev. Father Ashley which so grossly misrepresents the facts in connection with the proposed reduction in Education grants as to call for reply. In that letter is found the following:—"It is stated that the object of this reduction is to make the withdrawals from that grant help to finance the expenses of the Junior College, or as it is better known the Normal School." It is unfortunate that Father Ashley should give to the press so inaccurate a rumour. The fact is that when the late Minister of Education called the Superintendents of Education together and informed them that in the interest of economy it was necessary to reduce all grants by ten per cent.—education included—there was no mention whatever of a Junior College or Normal School. That was the policy of that Government on general principles, and the only question was where the reduction should be made. Now in view of the fact that nine tenths of all the other large grants must by the Act be paid in teachers' salaries, and the whole of the augmentation grant, it was an interesting question as to where the ten per cent. was to be found without reducing salaries. As a matter of fact only five per cent. was to be found without reducing salaries. As a matter of fact only five per cent. could be scraped from the bone, and the Minister undertook to reconcile the Government to that limited reduction. It is to be hoped that the present Government will find it possible to restore the grants—the Augmentation, and Sparately Populated Localities grant, particularly—so that teachers may not have to suffer. From this will be seen how baseless was the rumour referred to by Father Ashley. With thanks for space,

Yours faithfully, L. CURTIS, Supt. Ed. (Methodist). W. W. BLACKALL, Supt. Ed. (C. of E.)

(Owing to the absence from town of Mr. Kennedy, Superintendent of Education (R.C.) it was impossible to obtain his signature.)

Back From the Banks With Second Load

A message received from Hr. Buffett states that the schr. James Arnold, Capt. Moulton, arrived yesterday, W. W. Washam & Sons yesterday from the Grand Banks with a full load of fish. This is the second trip that Capt. Moulton has made this summer, and it is only four weeks since she cleared after having landed 400 quintals. This is a record that captain and crew may well feel proud of.

Hewitt, Richard White, Mrs. Seeley, A. L. Connors and C. F. Manuel. The steamer Meigle replaces the Sagona on the next trip.

Hit by a Swing AND RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS.

Last night, about 10 o'clock, whilst playing in Bannerman Park with other boys, William Gosse, aged 15 years, was hit by a swing and rendered unconscious. It appears that whilst a companion was using one of the swings lately erected at the playground, Gosse threw his cap underneath and then tried to recover it. The attempt resulted in his being hit a stunning blow on the head by the swing. The injured lad was taken as quickly as possible to Dr. Macpherson's surgery, where an examination of his injuries was made by Dr. Anderson, after which he was removed to the General Hospital.

Company Decides Against an Increase in Wages

A report was received yesterday that the Besco officials had posted a notice at Bell Island to the effect that they regretted they were unable to consider the request of the men for an increase of wages. It will be remembered that a conference of the representatives of the Government, the Company, and the men was held in town recently and apparently this action has been taken as the result of the meeting. It is said that in anticipation of a strike the Company were preparing to shut down the mines indefinitely, but it is to be hoped that some council will prevail, and that both sides will realize that a strike at this juncture would not only be inimical to their own interests, but would have a serious effect upon the country, particularly when it is struggling to recover from a long period of depression and unemployment.

A Suggestion

We would suggest to those in charge of Tarriva operations that a warning of some kind should be given to drivers of vehicles in order to enable them to avoid the freshly tarred surfaces and to interfere as little as possible with the work. Several cars coming over Hamilton Avenue were "in the soup" this morning before they were aware of it, whereas the traffic would have been diverted to Cornwall Avenue.

Customs Make Liquor Seizure

On Monday last Customs Detective Tobin made a seizure of a large quantity of liquor from the Danish vessel Uranus, which arrived at Bay Bulls recently with a cargo of salt. It is stated that the liquor on board had not been reported to the Customs. The captain has been summoned to answer a breach of the Act and will probably come up for trial to-morrow.

The Dust Nuisance

Silver Cliff Mine

An average of one mile per day in building the transmission line from Seal Cove to Argonia is now being made and it in all probability the electric system will be in operation in this booming town by the end of September. A complete electrical equipment will be put in at Silver Cliff Mine when the line is completed and all operations such as crushing, concentrating and drilling with compressors will be performed by electricity. At no far distant date it is expected that the concentrates will be treated by electro chemical process and the lead requirements such as paint, sheet lead, pipe and shot will be manufactured at Silver Cliff and the surplus exported. About 1,000 tons of ore have so far been milled and the metal contents are exceeding all expectations. His Excellency the Governor who is at Placentia was expected to pay a visit to the mines to-day.

Is Seeing Believing?

Mr. Fischler Checked up on His Eyes and Was Satisfied.

Most Edgeworth is sold by word of mouth—one happy smoker will pass the good word along to some less fortunate brother, and a new Edgeworth "fan" is born.

Sometimes, however, the human voice plays no part in the spread of Edgeworth popularity. Witness Mr. Fischler's letter: Wellsboro, Pa. Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

Dear Sirs: Last summer while on my vacation, which was spent on Pine Creek, one of the best fishing streams in Northern Pennsylvania, I noticed a lot of discarded edgeworth tobacco cans. Especially I were they noticeable near the good fishing holes.

When I returned home I bought Edgeworth and learned the reason for all those empty packages. Yours, Peter Fischler.

We're much too busy filling the blue tin here in Richmond to be able to follow them to the four corners of the earth.

It's a curious fact, by the way, that sportsmen everywhere show a marked preference for Edgeworth. There's something in the blend that strikes a responsive chord among fishermen and hunters, campers and hikers.

Perhaps some reader, himself a sportsman, can tell us why Mr. Fischler found so many Edgeworth tins "near the good fishing holes." Be that as it may, "seeing is believing" with us just as it was with Mr. Fischler. Thousands of letters from fish smokers are visual proof to us that in Edgeworth we are producing a tobacco that most men like. July 15, 31, 24, 28

Magistrates Court

Yesterday's Proceedings. A well known taxi-driver was summoned before court by Constable Bussey, yesterday morning charged with driving at a speed dangerous to the public. He was convicted and fined $100 with the option of 30 days imprisonment.

The defendant in the above case, was also convicted of assaulting the caretaker of the General Hospital on the evening of the 12th inst. A fine of $5.00 was imposed.

To-Day's Proceedings. Mr. David Courtney, of the Health Department, had three butchers before court for a breach of Section 11, rules governing slaughter houses, that is, that no refuse, offal, blood or manure shall be deposited or allowed to accumulate, or form a cess pool under or within 75 feet of the slaughter house. The Crown in dealing with the above cases did not wish to press the charge on account of their being first offenders. They were each fined $1.00 and costs or in default 10 days imprisonment.

A fourth butcher was up for a breach of Section 12, which reads, "that all refuse or offal from the slaughter houses shall be thoroughly boiled before any is fed to pigs, and no such material shall be fed in a pail or 'decomposed state' Upon being convicted a fine of $5.00 was imposed. A threatening language case was dismissed. The defendant in an assault case was fined $5.00.

An Industrial Exhibition TO BE HELD IN NOVEMBER. Under the Canton "Boosting Trade" a leading article on the Telegram on Tuesday, suggested that an industrial exhibition embracing all branches of industry combined with a shopping week would be a step in the right direction. The idea we learn has been very favorably received by those interested and already it is an assured fact that such an exhibition will take place during the month of November. Prominently identified with the movement is Mr. W. A. McKay whose efforts in all things tending for the betterment of the country is too well known to require repeating. We learn that an option on the hire of the Prince's Rink has been secured and also that the Railway Management will issue one way first class fares during the period of the exhibition. Mr. McKay has interviewed a large number of business men who are enthusiastic and promise their best support to the movement. It is probable that in conjunction with the industrial exhibition a fishery exhibition will be held in the Currier Rink.

Motorist Fined $100 for Speeding

"I will protect the public," said Judge Morris, yesterday, when he fined a well known taxi driver $100 for speeding. The remark was followed by an admonition that for a second offence a prison sentence would be inflicted. The accused was spotted by a traffic officer on duty at the junction of Church Hill and Duckworth Street, going east with several sports, intent on witnessing the boxing tournament at the Prince's Rink. The prosecution called the traffic officer and a licensed driver as witnesses. Both swore that the car was going at a 30 mile clip. The accused, who was represented by Mr. J. Conroy, with the two men who were in the car, stated they were not going above ordinary speed. Neither would swear that they were going at 20 miles. The accused admitted to a speed of 12 to 15 miles, which is above the speed limit.

Magistrate's Court

JUDGMENT IN BREACH OF CUSTOMS ACT.

Between The Minister of Finance & Customs and James M. Ryan.

This is an action taken upon the complaint of the Minister of Finance & Customs against James M. Ryan, shopkeeper, who is charged with a breach of sections 205 and 206 of the Customs Act, Chapter 22 of the Consolidated Statutes (Third Series).

Section 205 sets forth—"If any person smuggles or clandestinely introduces into this colony and goods subject to duty or in any way attempts to defraud the revenue by evading the payment of duty on conviction shall be subject to a penalty."

Section 206 enacts—"All goods unloaded or landed before due entry thereof or warrant for entry thereof, shall be seized and forfeited and any persons concerned in landing or receiving or concealing goods so landed shall, on conviction, be subject to a penalty."

The goods, the subject matter of these proceedings, were the property of the defendant purchased and paid for by him in New York. The goods were delivered by the New York firm, from whom Ryan purchased them, to one Perry, a cook on the S. S. Rosalind, and put by him in his room on board the said ship. The goods were not on the ships manifest and were not comprised in the warrant to unload. The goods were made up in paper parcels and placed in two dirty brin bags and were taken by Perry from his room and handed to Godden, who was in charge of the landing crew, stating the bags contained second hand clothing. Immediately they were landed Godden asked truckman Colin Day to send them to Perry's residence without reporting them.

The goods were not warehoused because they were not on the ship's manifest and were not contained in the warrant to unload the ship issued by the Collector on the files of the manifest at the Custom House. Perry was at Ryan's house on the day the ship arrived and informed Ryan he had the goods in his room on board the S. S. Rosalind. Although Ryan did not actually take part in the landing he was the owner of the goods, Perry being his agent for the time being, and he would have eventually received the goods if Perry had succeeded in getting them away from the ship. If Ryan had not intended to clandestinely introduce the goods through Perry, who was acting for him, he would have immediately reported them to the proper authorities and received the necessary permit for the landing.

Under the evidence I must convict the defendant of a breach of section 203 of the Customs Act and impose a fine upon him of fifty dollars or in default one month's imprisonment. Dated at St. John's this 11th day of July, A.D. 1924.

Nfld. Motor Association

ADDRESS ON "CAR TROUBLE" BY MR. R. G. SILVERLOCK.

A largely attended meeting of the Newfoundland Motor Association was held Tuesday at the Stirling Restaurant at which several matters of considerable interest to members were fully discussed.

It was decided that the Municipal Council and the members for St. John's East and West be written a strong recommendation that immediately efforts should be made to get the grant for "the repair and maintenance of city streets" considerably increased. The Council last year received less than six thousand dollars for this purpose whereas under the per capita grant seventy thousand dollars should be received.

It was decided that the Association should send a "link" to the Daily News "chain" for the Permanent Marine Disasters Fund.

Several other matters of interest being disposed of an interesting address on "The Usual Causes of Car Trouble on the Road" was delivered by Mr. R. G. Silverlock, which we publish below:—

MR. SILVERLOCK'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

When Mr. Howley, our President, suggested the idea of a course of short addresses to be given at each general meeting, on troubles the motor car suffers from and her sometimes lady-like objection to move at all, he asked me if such address would trespass on the garage trade secrets. I don't think so. I would much prefer to tell a motorist what to do now at lunch hour, than to be called out at bed at two o'clock in the morning. The motor car is like the little girl, when she is good she is very, very good but when she is naughty, she is horrid.

Fortunately for you, I am allowed only ten minutes, so I had better start at once to give you my ideas on what are the most likely causes of stoppage.

All motor cars to-day are well made, reliable machines, competition has driven out the weaklings. If you own a Rolls Royce or a Ford, you are equally assured of a well made, reliable piece of machinery, and treated rightly should not refuse to start at any time or stop when running. Most stoppages are caused through carelessness or thoughtlessness. Some men think with a motor car it is only necessary to put in gasoline and sometimes oil when they happen to think of it. I remember a lady informing me she thought she put oil in the engine the week before last but she was not quite sure, if she forgot the oil there's no doubt her husband remembered the bill.

Short of a complete mechanical breakdown, there are only two things that the owner driver really should know as regard stoppage, sudden or otherwise, or refuse to start. There are only two reasons from his point of view that can cause trouble in this direction, they are electrical trouble or shortage of gasoline. Remember that most of the causes of trouble are simple and with even only a slight knowledge it is possible to discover what is the matter. Learn to do this. There are only a certain number of things that can cause stoppage or refusal to start, so in the event of trouble learn to eliminate each thing, find out if it is right and then look for something else. Let me put in a piece of sound advice here, always carry an electric torch, in good condition, only a cat can see in the dark and troubles always seem worse when you can't see.

The first thing in the event of stoppage that you want to find out is, whether it is electrical or gasoline trouble. Most cars to-day are battery ignition and the current for the ignition has to pass through the ammeter on the dashboard, so when you put on your switch and press the starter button, the hand on the ammeter should oscillate slightly backwards and forwards to the discharge side, if it does this it is more or less sure that the ignition is right, so turn your attention to the gasoline supply. In my experience in the last few years the greatest cause of trouble has been dirt or water in the gasoline, so you want to make sure that gasoline is getting to the carburettor. On most cars you can get at the float chamber of the carburettor and in the centre of this there is a small shaft of metal sticking up through the cover of the float chamber which is called the needle valve. Sometimes this is covered with a screw cap which is easily removable.

To find out if gasoline is coming to the carburettor lift up this needle valve and in from five to fifteen seconds gasoline should flow out of the carburettor, if the gasoline flows out, then turn your attention back to the electrical system, but if the gasoline does not come out then you have a rather dirty job ahead of you. I must not forget, however, that our friend the Ford has not the regulator needle valve and it is not so easy to find out whether gasoline is in the carburettor or not. On the Ford float chamber at the bottom there is a screwed plug with a pin through the end to turn it by. If you unscrew this plug gasoline should flow freely, let it flow for several seconds so as to make sure the supply is constant, if it does not flow at all you know your trouble is gasoline.

We are now in the position of assuming the gasoline is at fault, so let us take the causes that can stop the gasoline getting to the carburettor.

1. Is there any gasoline in the tank?

2. If there is a tap is it turned off?

3. One and two being right, the filters must be choked or the pipes clogged.

We will treat the Ford later. Most cars to-day have vacuum systems which draw gasoline from the main tank at the rear to a small tank called the vacuum tank generally mounted on the dashboard or engine underneath the bonnet and higher than the carburettor. This small tank has a pipe leading to the inlet manifold of the engine, and the suction of the engine creates a vacuum in the manifold, and as this is connected by the pipe with a small tank a vacuum is created in this tank which in turn has another pipe connected with the main gasoline tank at the rear. The vacuum in the small tank draws gasoline through this pipe from the gasoline tank to the small tank. Inside this tank there are several things best left alone and very rarely give trouble so it is best not to bring them in as they would only complicate matters. I will simply say that after the gasoline is drawn into the small tank, there is another pipe at the bottom which goes to the carburettor and gasoline flows through this.

Now to look for trouble, as I said before, the main causes will be dirt or water. This makes it likely that the filters will be choked up with dirt or dirty water.

Usually there is a wire gauze filter on the main tank where the pipe leading to the small tank leaves the main one, somehow or another this very rarely gets clogged though it is the first filter through which the gasoline passes. We will call this filter one. When looking for trouble disconnect the nut which holds the pipe going from the main tank to the small one where it is attached to the small tank. When disconnected take a tire pump and blow through this pipe from the front end and get someone to listen at the rear if they can hear the air coming through the gasoline in the tank. This serves two purposes, if by chance the pipes or filters are clogged it would probably clear them and also at the same time assure you that that particular part was right. Now where you have disconnected the pipe on the top of the vacuum tank there is an elbow piece screwed into a larger nut. Now unscrew this nut as at the bottom of this is filter number two. This is sometimes clogged up with dirt sufficient to cause stoppage of gasoline.

If these two are right screw them back into place and look at the pipe from the bottom of the vacuum tank leading to the carburettor, as there is another wire gauze filter here which we will call number three. This is where you usually find your trouble if it is gasoline trouble. If when this pipe is disconnected gasoline flows freely from the pipe, yet will not flow out of the carburettor when the needle valve is lifted, you know your trouble is there. This filter is usually taken off by the carburettor, at the very bottom of the carburettor, when you have taken this off remove the wire gauze and cleanse in gasoline.

Now I can hear you ask, where am I going to get gasoline to clean it with in a country road in the middle of the night. I told you before it was a dirty job, there is always a plug at the bottom of the main tank at the rear, and you will have to get out and get under then unscrew this plug to get gasoline out.

Another piece of advice, always have a good stillson wrench in your kit it is absolutely necessary. You have now cleaned everything and replaced everything moved and screwed up all connections tightly, you have eliminated all trouble in the gasoline line, but in all probability your vacuum tank is empty. There are two ways of filling this, there is a plug on top, which you can remove and fill the vacuum tank and the second way is the regular way, that is the way the engine draws the gasoline when the car is running.

will have to revert to the filter way and fill the vacuum tank through the plug on the top with gasoline taken from the main tank. Then sit in the usual way, if your trouble was gasoline she will start. Now for friend Ford, she is very simple. In the Ford the gasoline's gravity fed, i.e., the tank is higher than the carburettor and the gasoline just naturally flows down. There is a filter at the bottom of the gasoline tank with a tap on the bottom of it, you have to get under again and turn this tap on. Usually the tap is choked and you have to put a piece of wire up through and then an accumulation of dirt and water comes out. Let it run until about a quart has come out, the most will be gasoline, and as the gasoline flows out it will bring the dirt with it. This usually fixes a Ford it is does not turn off the feed tap, disconnect the pipe from the tank to the carburettor and put your tire pump on it and give several quick pumps and this should clean it, then put the pipe back and turn on main top and test for flow by removing plug on the bottom of the float chamber and the gasoline should flow out steadily, then start as usual.

You will note I have confined my remarks mainly to gasoline, I thought it would not be wise to confuse you with too many things at the one time, and electrical work is usually best left alone except the most simple things. One of the most simple things on the ignition system and one that has cost motorists more money than anything else is taking off a spark plug wire and allowing the wire to be out of contact with the engine and then turning over the engine. There are always two circuits in motor car ignition systems and if a current passes through the second one which causes the spark and the spark has got to occur and if it cannot pass in the regular way it will occur in an irregular way and this is the cause of broken down coils and magnet windings and these are always expensive.

I said before, with reasonable care, a gasoline stop is almost impossible. With cars with vacuum tanks there is a plug at the bottom of the tank. This plug should be taken out once a month at least and a wire pushed up, it is usually choked, and water and dirt allowed to run out. Do the same on a Ford, only this is the tap on the filter on the bottom of the main tank. It is absolutely impossible to keep water and dirt out of your tanks, but it is very easy to keep the amount low enough not to cause trouble.

Here are just a few pointers:— Always see the gasoline is clean when you put it in your tank. Keep water in your battery, have it put in at least once a fortnight. Keep your battery fully charged. Have the oil completely changed in your car every five to seven hundred miles. Keep your gasoline tank filled up. Always carry a good set of tools, particularly a good stillson wrench about ten inch, a good pair pliers, a good screwdriver and a good monkey wrench. Always buy good ones, they may cost more but they are worth it if you are caught on the road. Carry a good torch and see it is in good condition. Always see your spare tire is blown up. Carry a small but efficient tire pump. Carry a tire repair outfit.

As it is not easy to condense electrical troubles into a short address, I thought it wiser to leave them to another time, because while it may seem easy to me when I tell you things, I have to remember you are not so familiar with them as I am, having over twenty odd years motoring experience and what is simple to me may be Greek to you when I have not the different parts to show you.

I have told you what I considered is the greatest cause of trouble and what experience has convinced me is the greatest and that is dirt and water in the gasoline system, so do all in your power to keep dirt and water out. I trust I have made what little I have told you clean and distinct and if it has been of any use to you I am very glad and I thank you for the kind attention you have given me.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

SHE DOESN'T HAVE A FIT.

In every group of women there is always one woman of whom the rest ask enviously: "How do you get so much done?" She not only turns out an enormous amount of work but does it apparently without getting tired. Let the rest of us do half the work that she does and we would be exhausted by afternoon. But she isn't. Instead she is ready to change her dress, fix herself up and go to a club, or a movie, or a course in public affairs.

It is seldom that the women who accomplish these things can tell how they do it. Generally they are people who get up very early in the morning. Usually they are people who are not great talkers and who do not stop to talk until their work is done. Yet I have known both of these conditions to be violated and still enormous amounts of work to be turned off.

How It's Done.

But even if the wonder worker cannot herself tell how she accomplishes her miracle, one can now and then catch a glimpse of her secrets.

I visited such a woman recently and she gave me such an unconscious revelation. Two of us were to be guests at a little dinner she was giving and we were also to spend the night at her home. We arrived in the late afternoon. She made us comfortable and sat down and chatted with us. Dinner was at half past six. The clock struck six. She heard it and started up. "I must make ice cream," she said.

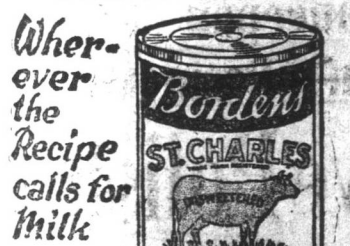

"Ice cream!" said we. "For tonight? You mean you haven't got it made and you're sitting here as calmly as that?"

"Oh, it won't take me but a minute," said she calmly. "I waited purposely till Bobby got home from school so he could freeze it, and it will be ready long before we need it."

And They Didn't!

"But suppose the guests come early?"

"They won't," she said placidly. And they didn't.

Use Borden's St. Charles Milk. It will improve even your best recipes because it is so rich and creamy. Economical because twice as rich as ordinary milk. Four sizes. Write for St. Charles Recipe Book. The Borden Co., Limited Montreal 9746-24

She whisked on an apron and disappeared down stairs. In 15 minutes she was back and the sounds of Bobby officiating could be heard below stairs.

"The ice cream was ready long before we wanted it and was delicious. Said the other woman: "Did you ever see anyone so calm in your life? I should have a perfect fit if I had guests coming in half an hour and the dessert not made."

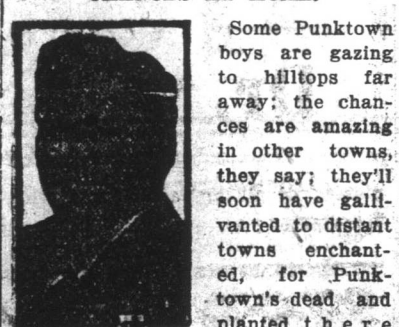

"So would I," I said. "And we would—both of us. And that's one answer to the puzzle."

She conserves the "Fit" Energy. The woman who turns off so much work doesn't have fit over things like that. She doesn't let things worry her. She takes things calmly and easily. She isn't afraid she isn't going to get something or other done, and even if she doesn't get everything done, it doesn't worry her unduly. Consequently she has the energy she would use up in worrying and fearing and having fits over things, to use instead in turning off a lot of work and in enjoying life.

Rather the better way, don't you think?

CHANCES AT HOME.

WALT MATCH

Some Punktown boys are gazing to hilltops far away; the chances are amazing in other towns, they say; they'll soon have galled wanted to distant towns enchanted, for Punktown's dead and planted, there only has-beens stay. Thus it has been forever, since hamlets were designed; the restless boys endeavor to leave the town behind; to turn their eager faces, to far-off dreamland places, where Fame at once embraces all strangers she may need. Free chumobles are going across the distant seas; ten-dollar bills are growing upon the distant trees; as kinds of legal tender await the dreaming spender, and he shall walk in splendor by blue and silver seas. But here and there a fellow is satisfied to stay in Punktown drab and yellow, in Punktown buff and gray; we see him daily flitting, his business errands hitting, attending to his knitting, all in the good old way. He says the Punktown chances are good enough for him, and so this youth advances, by stress of pep and vim; we do not hear him knocking, or allude customs mocking; but all the day he's talking like good old Sunny Jim. Before his years are fifty he has a palace high, for he's been wise and thrifty, and put his money by; and men with haggard faces who sought the distant places, approach, with weary faces, and ask him for a pie.

Steamer Sails In Search Of McMillan Ship.

During the past two months nothing has been heard from Capt. Donald McMillan and his little ship Bowdoin which sailed from Sydney many months ago to explore the Arctic Circle in the vicinity of the North Pole. Many attempts have been made by wireless operators to reach the ship, but continuous Arctic daylight and severe static have interfered and thrown a mysterious silence over the fate of the explorer and his party.

The Canadian government steamer Arctic has cleared Quebec for Baffin Bay and the far north, with orders to proceed to Etah, North Greenland, if conditions permit, and deliver mail to the McMillan Arctic Expedition which, from last reports was frozen in the ice at Refuge Harbor, near Etah.

The Arctic will, at the earliest opportunity, endeavor to arrange by radio a rendezvous with Capt. McMillan and his ship, the Bowdoin in order that the mail may be delivered personally. If it is found impossible to secure a rendezvous with the Bowdoin the mails will be left at a Danish port and Capt. McMillan will be notified.

The present expedition of the Arctic will be in charge of F. B. Henderson, amateur radio expert of Toronto. "Bill" Choate, who is barely 21 years of age, owns and operates amateur station 3 CO in Toronto and has established contact in the past with Mix, the radio operator of the Bowdoin. This year the Arctic will carry, besides her long wave and commercial transformers, a special short wave set which will be operated by Choate in an attempt to communicate with the McMillan schooner.

Choate will also seek to reach amateur operators of the American Radio Relay League in both the United States and Canada with his short wave set during the voyage. It will be in the nature of an experiment to see whether the short waves carry better in the far north than the longer ones hitherto used. The Arctic's call will be YDM.

The Arctic after leaving Quebec will make her first stop at Blacklead Island, in Cumberland Gulf, east of Baffin Land. From there she will cross to the Greenland coast to avoid the ice from the north and will seek a passage back to the west through the middle ice, which sweeps down through the Northern Inlet provides one of the main difficulties to navigation in these regions. Throughout this whole voyage every effort will be made for the arrangement, by wireless and by a rendezvous with Capt. McMillan and it is hoped that in this way contact with the explorer may soon be re-established.

It is also hoped to obtain, this year, information which will aid in weather forecasting, hitherto hampered by lack of knowledge of the Northern influences. The Arctic, it is announced, has been made a meteorological station, and sensitive instruments have been installed on her. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police posts in the North are also to be given the status of meteorological stations.

Besides large quantities of provisions for the 45 members of her own party the Arctic is taking north a year's supply for the Mounted Police posts which she will visit. A number of new posts will be established.

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leslie, Sask.—"For about a year I was troubled with a distressing down-bearing pain before and during the periods and from terrible headaches and backache. I certainly do recommend it to every woman with troubles like mine. I feel fine now and hope to be able to keep my medicine on hand at all times, as no woman ought to be without it in the house."—Mrs. OSCAR A. ANDERSON, Box 15, Leslie, Sask.

Mrs. Kelsey Adds Her Testimony—Copenhagen, N. Y.—"I read your advertisement in the papers and my husband induced me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get relief from pains and weakness. I was so weak that I could not walk at times. Now I can do my housework and help my husband out door, too. I am willing for you to publish this letter if you think it will help others."—Mrs. HUNGER KELSEY, R.F.D., Copenhagen, N. Y.

Amundsen's Flight Over the North Pole

Capt. Roald Amundsen, the discoverer of the South Pole, proposes next month to fly over the North Pole, and is now completing his arrangements for the flight.

Mr. Floyd Gibbons, the Daily Chronicle correspondent, who is to accompany the expedition, tells how it is being organized, in its early stages, at Pisa, in Italy:—

Beneath the burning Italian sun here, beside the blue waters of the Gulf of Leghorn, a dozen men of five different nationalities and languages are completing final arrangements for the greatest adventure of their lives, and one which, if successful, will open the newest and shortest route for commercial transport between Europe and America.

These men, in their three huge, all-steel flying-boats, propose to fly over the top of the world—over the North Pole, over Arctic bases, and then southward across 1,500 miles of Alaska.

From the sunny shores of Italy the explorers will fly to the icebound coast of Spitzbergen—their final taking-off place.

Supplies and equipment necessary for the construction of a radio, of a base are now en route to Spitzbergen under the charge of Capt. Roald Amundsen, who is the genius and moving spirit of the present trans-Polar flight.

Haakon Hammer, his right hand man, is organizing the personnel of the expedition. Including the German, Danish, Norwegian, and Italian mechanics and engineers, the total personnel of the expedition will number about 15 when it leaves Pisa. By general consent English is the language commonly employed, although the expedition will fly the Italian flag.

Capt. Amundsen, writing in the Daily Chronicle, says:—"In the meantime the aeroplane's mother-ship, a vessel of from 300 to 500 tons, will have been made ready in Tromsø, Norway, and this ship will be equipped with a strong wireless installation on each of the three planes.

"On Spitzbergen the Danes Insel will constitute the principal aeroplane base, but the mother-ship, stationed as far north as ice conditions permit, will be the station from which the planes will make their start on flights towards the North.

"The expedition's first month in Spitzbergen will be used for observations and preparations, and not until the middle of July will the real trans-Polar flight be attempted. I regard this as the most favourable time, due to the fact that we will then find the maximum amount of water in the polar regions; and although we can land on ice and snow, it will always be our aim to make our landings on water."

"ENEMIES OF WOMEN" WILL RUN REMAINDER OF WEEK. Although immense audiences have seen the great screen triumph "Enemies of Women," it has been decided by the management of the Nickel to run the film for the remaining three days of this week. The afternoon programme, will, however, be changed with a special attraction for the matinee audiences.

Unusually impressive is Cosmopolitan's "Enemies of Women." It is big in every way. Adapted from a recent novel by Ibanes, the author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," it has as tremendous a theme, and in fact a similar one, the regeneration of characters through the influence of the World War. In this instance it is an ultra-wealthy and dissolute Russian prince and a Russian duchess, who is somewhat better morally, who are turned from the extreme of selfishness to the heights of service for others.

The acting of the picture is superb. No finer selection could have been made than in casting Lionel Barrymore as Prince Lubimoff. He makes him a living character, unpleasant for the most part, but always fascinating. As the Dutchess Alicia, Alma Rubens is admirable; it is her best screen portrayal. Particularly compelling is she in her emotional moments. Other players in less important roles, which they portray with the same degree of excellence, are Gareth Hughes, the veteran stage actor; W. H. Thompson, Pedro De Cordoba, Gladys Hulette and William Collier, Jr. The prominence of the supporting cast and their fine character portrayals are thoroughly in keeping with the magnificence of the production.

London In Figures.

Where the Death-Rate is Highest—Widowers Who Do Not Like To Marry Widows.

Romance is not usually to be found in books devoted to statistics, yet "London Statistics," 1921-3 (P. S. King and Son), contains some wonderfully interesting and diverting information. For instance, we learn that while the population of Greater London is still increasing, soaring towards the 8,000,000 mark, that of the County of London is slowly and steadily shrinking. This is evidence of the great migration to suburban which has become so pronounced in the last 20 years. The City shows the greatest drop in population, and boroughs that show it noticeably are Chelsea, Bermondsey, Finsbury, Holborn, Westminster, St. Marylebone and Stepney. On the other hand, Wandsworth, Fulham, Camberwell, Lambeth, Lewisham, Hampstead and Kensington show increases. The number of babies born in London has been getting smaller and smaller. Here figures are available only to the end of 1922. There were only 152,795 births in 1922 in Greater London, as compared with 193,052 in 1920. Only 148 babies were born in the City. Shoreditch held the record for babies in 1922 with 28 for every 1,000 of population; Bermondsey (28.3), Poplar (26.7), and West Ham (25.7) were close rivals. More affluent Westminster (13.3), Hampstead (14.8) and Wimbledon (14.1) were the boroughs with the lowest birthrates per 1,000. There were nearly as many deaths by violence as from old age in 1922. Only 3.5 per cent. of the deaths in the L.C.C. area in that year were due to old age, while 3.3 per cent. were due to suicide and other forms of violence. More than one-third of the total number of deaths occurred among persons over 65. Nobody over 15 died of whooping cough. Bermondsey had the highest death-rate with 16.9 per 1,000 of population; Finsbury and Shoreditch were next with 16.3. Hampstead and Lewisham (11.2) had the lowest rate in the L.C.C. area, though they do not seem to be so healthy as many of the outer suburban boroughs, where the rates are extremely low, falling to 5.7 in the case of Southall, New Wood. On the evidence of this most interesting book widowers do not like to marry widows; the widows in turn prefer bachelors. In 1921, 4,104 widowers remarried, but only 1,579 of them chose widows, although 4,445 widows were married again in that year. The book talks also in figures of London's weather. July produced the rainiest week of 1923, while the rainiest month was October. April, June and the winter months showed the lowest rainfall. May was the sunniest month of 1922, with an average of 9.17 hours of sunshine daily; June was second with 7.83; and November, however, claimed nine of the 19 days of fog during the year. At the end of 1922 there were 4,409 ice-cream premises in the L.C.C. area, an increase of more than 1,200 on the previous year's figures. Wandsworth alone had 324 of these. Camberwell came next with 221, and then the City with 209. The Metropolitan Asylums Board is responsible for some interesting hospital statistics. Of the cases of smallpox received in the Board's hospitals in 1922, 31.9 per cent. died. This is the highest percentage recorded in the book, which goes back to 1876. On the other hand, the total number of cases admitted in 1922 was only 72, while in the five years 1876-1880 the number was 16,318. London lunatics numbered 25,924 on January 1, 1923, of whom only 15 were criminal lunatics. An interesting table of the increase and decrease in lunacy during the past 30 years shows a steady rise from 1890 until 1915, and after that an abrupt fall, which reached its lowest point in 1920. Since then there has been a very gradual rise. There are 91 public libraries in the L.C.C. area. Wandsworth and Lambeth each have eight, while Westminster and Kensington each have but three, and Chelsea one. The statistics of books taken out of these libraries for home reading show that readers of fiction have increased enormously in the last few years. The figures are:—

	Fiction	Literature
1904-5	3,606,232	1,098,456
1912-13	4,815,470	1,771,091
1922-23	6,628,283	1,952,397

But, although the preference is for fiction, there are nearly twice as many "general" works stocked as there are novels. Some interesting traffic statistics are given. On April 11, 1923, between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m., 18,111 vehicles passed over Westminster Bridge, of which only 1,465 were horse-drawn. This figure does not include barrows, cycles, or motor-cycles. Hyde Park Corner appears to be the busiest traffic point in London, for on July 10, 1923, the horse and motor vehicles passing it numbered 49,475. Trafalgar square was next with 38,001, and then Piccadilly Circus with 34,537.

Fads and Fashions.

Bindings of bronze moure ribbon are delightful on a frock of cyclamen-pink silk. There is no doubt about the fact that gray is the smartest of the neutral shades. Drop shoulders often take the place of sleeves in morning and afternoon frocks. Youthful frocks of colored organdie have bouffant skirts and scalloped edges. A scarf of plain-colored handkerchief linen is worn with a frock of printed linen.

HE TRIED.

He didn't succeed—
For the deed
Was too much for his strength and his skill.
We know, now it's done,
That he couldn't have won.
But somebody we know that he will.
He didn't achieve the far goal.
At the last he was driven aside;
But this you must say
To his credit to-day,
He didn't succeed, but he tried.

He didn't succeed.
As you read,
That another has taken the crown,
There is this you can add
In behalf of the lad
Who struggled out there and went down:
Some time he will stand at the top
And gain what to-day was denied;
Out there in the heat
He encountered defeat,
He didn't succeed, but he tried.

It is not what you gain
From the strain
That marks you as bad or as good;
It is not what you do
That brings credit to you.
But the thing you would do if you could.
The dream you have cherished and sought,
In that is all merit and pride.
At the end of the way
God shall smile—can you say,
"I didn't succeed, but I tried."

Speech of Lloyd George Creates Stir in England

LITTLE WELSHMAN HAILED AS "GREATEST EMPIRE BUILDER" BEFORE EDITORS.

LONDON, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—Is the very-versatile Lloyd George about to start out in a fresh breeze to stir political waters of the British Empire? Of late the former premier and coalition leader has frequently been likened to the proverbial ship without a sail. Has he discovered and bent on a new mainsail and headed into the political winds from which England is never free? These are questions asked this morning following the dinner last night when Lord Beaverbrook entertained the visiting Canadian weekly newspapermen and at which Lloyd George was the piece de resistance among the orators. Lloyd George was hailed by the host of the evening as the "greatest Empire builder of our time." The former premier then took the floor and addressed the company of six hundred till nearly eleven o'clock. It is considered significant today that the Daily Express, which is a Beaverbrook publication, gives the Lloyd George speech verbatim, despite the many generalities of the address and the limited space in the paper. The speech is also given the main position in the edition. Editorially while The Express has practically nothing to say about the speech, it talks in a leading article about the "mistake of ignorance regarding the Empire vanishing."

On the street to-day the interpretation of the foregoing is that Beaverbrook and Lloyd George are out together to stir the political waters. The former premier, in speaking before the Canadian newspapermen indulged in the vital gestures and picturesque phraseology for which the "little Welshman" is famous. He pleaded against the seeking of imperial unity along the road of controversial issue. It is thought that Lloyd George's reference to "controversial issue" was a dig at Lord Birkenhead's statement at last Sunday's reception to the Canadian newspapermen at Col. Grant Morden's country house, where Birkenhead asked the guests to carry back to Canada the message that "the decision of Parliament in reference to imperial preference, which was taken in the teeth of protests of our party, is not only not irrevocable, but shall be revoked." Birkenhead also proclaimed himself as "one who was not always wrong in his predictions concerning the future."

T. P. O'Connor and Sir Hamar Greenwood, who were also present at the Grant Morden affair spoke after Birkenhead but forebore to enlarge on political matters, possibly because it was Sunday. It was noted, however, that the speech of the genial old nationalist dean of the House of Commons seemed directed in certain sentences towards "putting a spoke in the ex-Lord Chancellor's wheel," according to one auditor.

Murdered Deputy

Chief of Press Bureau Surrenders to Police.

Commentatore Cesare Rossi, whose disappearance following the kidnapping and murder of Signor Matteotti caused a sensation, has now surrendered to the police. Over seventy persons are now in the hands of the police in connection with the crime, which has caused immense excitement throughout Italy. Rossi was the former chief of the Italian Press Bureau. He is accused of having been the organizer of the gang of ruffians who are alleged to have committed, not only the Matteotti murder, but several previous acts of violence against Deputies and others, and of having subventioned these ruffians with funds from public money. He said he had never intended to conceal himself from justice. He had hardly known of the warrant issued against him.

Household Notes

Try serving tomato sauce with toasted cheese sandwiches. Season cheese soufflé with a little mustard, red pepper and salt. Sliced apples, cabbage and ripe olives make a wholesome salad. Serve a berry roly-poly with a hot sauce made with berries. For the camp supper cheese sandwiches are nice fried on bacon fat. Oil should be thoroughly chilled before it is used in salad dressing. Serve fried eggs in sandwiches, adding a slice of tomato and onion. Crystallized mint leaves make a delightful garnish for a fruit salad. Small white onions are nicest for glazing. Cook until a delicate brown. A tart jelly, such as currant is nice with rice timbales or croquettes. Serve egg sauce with boiled fish, and accompany with sliced cucumber salad. A little grated nutmeg or cinnamon gives a nice flavor to doughnut dough. Chopped walnut meats are delicious in bran bread, sweetened with molasses. Your fruit punch will be improved by the addition of a little finely chopped mint. Peanut butter moistened with a lit-

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES.

July 16th.—Up betimes and abroad, weather still warm, but much on the streets, enough to choke indeed, there do seem to be no by which this dust nuisance may be prevented, and so, we must suffer the nuisance. I do learn this day, that the Cabal, having borrowed a million dollars temporarily, from the Bank of Montreal, will not bring in a bill this session, but will meet accounts due with the monies coming in daily. This is a wise plan that will meet with the approval of all. The Elks tells me how he has news from the home of Bell Island, that the Elks will not increase the membership, and this like to cause the Elks possible trouble, seeing how the Elks may go on strike, and so upset the business of the island, and cause an increase in poverty and distress. Indeed, it do seem how this country is born to suffer from misadventure, since how that better times and labour troubles must come to meet them to some extent. I do hear this day, also, how Mr. Outerbridge, the Councillor, is mighty indignant, at the Elks of Philadelphia, that he lately visit here, conducted a band concert on our War Memorial, and that of their number acting at the same time like a buffoon. But Lord, name not these Elks so much, who of their ignorance, showed disrespect for the Memorial, but rather do I blame the people that did stop to watch the performance, and made no effort to prevent it. And in this respect, there is a noticeable lack of respect to the Memorial, and would be a wise thing if all men in passing, did lift their hats to it. To drive with power in his motor coach, but parts of LeMarchant Road, so covered with dirt that we did stick fast to it, all day, and Povey, being a careful fellow, would drive no more for the day.

Wedding Bells

DAY—EDWARDS.
A quiet but pretty wedding took place at St. Thomas' Church yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, when Miss Sullivan Day of 22 Cochrane Street was united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Mr. James D. Edwards of the Royal Stores, in the presence of many relatives and friends, the Rev. J. B. Elliott performing the ceremony.
The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. George Howe of Winter Avenue, was charmingly attired in a lawn suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and maiden hair fern. She was attended at the altar by her cousin, Miss Edith Howe, who wore a dress of peacock blue Canton crepe and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and carnations. The bride's mother, Mrs. Day wore Radium Lace over black silk with grey hat. The groom was escorted by Mr. J. H. Scammell, M. H. A.
After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the bride's home where a sumptuous breakfast was served and a short toast list honoured the health of the bride and groom and the bride's mother being suitably proposed and responded to, the Wedding March from Mendelssohn being played by Miss Gwen Edwards.
The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, and to the best man a gold pen, suitably engraved. The bride's present to the bridesmaid was a French Ivory Mirror.
After the wedding breakfast the whole party motored to the station where Mr. and Mrs. Edwards entrained for Placentia, where the honeymoon will be spent.
The presents received were many and valuable, testifying to the high esteem and popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards. The Telegram wishes Mr. and Mrs. Edwards many happy years of wedded bliss.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—G. Browning & Son, Ltd., acknowledge the receipt of $200.00 condolence money—July 17, 1924.
