TO SAVE FISHERMEN FROM HEAVY LOSSES

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 22.—The Newfoundland government is taking active steps with a view to preventing serious loss to the fishermen of the colony as a result of the prevailing low prices for fish. HUGE EAGLE ATTEMPTED TO CARRY OFF SMALL BOY

Glendo, Wyo., Nov. 22.—It took the combined efforts of the Spaulding family today to save eight-year-old Walter Spaulding from being carried away by a giant eagle that descended upon the child when he was playing in the ranch yard. He grasped it by the neck and screamed for help. John Spaulding, a seven-year-old brother, came to the rescue, and a third boy ran for help. Mrs. Spaulding beat off the bird with a stick, and the eagle attacked Walter. She was saved when Mr. Spaulding came with a shotgun and shot the bird. It had a spread of eight feet.

WILL TAKE MEASURES TO PRESERVE ARMENIA

League of Nations Adopts Resolution for Conference With Powers With Object of Raising Necessary Force.

Geneva, Nov. 22.—The assembly of the League of Nations decided today to take a dissenting vote today to appeal to the powers in the hope of finding a government willing to undertake mediation between the Turkish Nationalists under Mustapha Kemal Pasha and the Armenians. An earnest debate preceded the vote on the resolution, which was presented by M. Viviani, former premier of France, inviting the council of the league to take the action indicated. It threatened at times, however, to justify the predictions of the league's opponents that the work of the assembly would founder on the rule requiring a unanimous vote. Lord Robert Cecil, A. J. Balfour, Rene Viviani, Hjalmar Branting, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, Hon. C. J. Doherty (Canada), and M. Stakelovich (Gugonia) participated, but the real contest was between M. Viviani and Mr. Balfour.

U.F.O. TRIUMPHS IN EAST ELGIN BATTLE, YALE RESULT CLOSE

Government Nominee, MacKevie, Is Leading Edgett, Independent Candidate, by Small Margin in Yale, But Figures Are Incomplete.

Vernon, B. C., Nov. 22.—(By Can. Press.)—With fifteen small isolated points yet to be heard from, J. A. MacKevie, government candidate, has a lead of 182 over his opponent, Col. C. E. Edgett, D. S. O., Independent, endorsed by Liberals, Farmers and Soldier and Labor organizations, in the Yale by-election. National Liberal-Conservative officials express confidence that the missing reports will add to Mr. MacKevie's majority and that his election is assured.

McDERMAND IS BARELY TWO HUNDRED VOTES AHEAD OF STANSELL, GOVERNMENT CANDIDATE, IN EAST ELGIN, WITH CHARLTON, LIBERAL, THIRD.

Aylmer, Ont., Nov. 22.—S. S. McDermand, former warden of Elgin county, was today elected in the East Elgin by-election as the U.F.O. candidate. He polled 2,063 votes, as against 2,855 for the government candidate, J. L. Stansell, and 1,949 for the Liberal, W. G. Charlton. Out of approximately 11,000 voters, only about 8,000 voted, many remaining at home owing to the unpleasant weather conditions. The campaign was easily the hottest ever waged in East Elgin and the government made spectacular efforts to hold the seat, sending Premier Meighen into the riding twice and keeping a number of its best speakers constantly on the ground. A big demonstration was held here tonight to mark the success of the Farmers' candidate.

HOPES IN OTTAWA DASHED BY RESULT OF ELGIN TUSSELE

Some Consolation Is, However, Afforded by Strong Run of Government.

ORGANIZATION WEAK

Special to The Toronto World. Ottawa, Nov. 22.—When the East Elgin by-election result reached here tonight it was not relished by the government or its supporters. It had been expected that the government candidate would win by a small majority, altho in the Ontario provincial election last year the farmers had 1,570 majority compared to 208 given the agrarians cause today in the same constituency. East Elgin is 80 per cent. rural, and has been highly organized by the Farmers. In addition to the Farmers' organization, the government was opposed by the local representatives of the Dominion Canners Company, and this opposition in the fruit and vegetable gardening districts relieved the farmers of these organizations of any anxiety on the score of protection. The opposition of the Dominion Canners came as a great surprise, as this industry has been developed by a protective tariff.

A POOR START

The government field organization was very weak compared with those of the other parties. Last June the government chances in this constituency were considered so small that it was impossible to secure a candidate. The Liberal candidate had been several months in the field, and the Farmers' organization was perfected for months. Considering the conditions prevailing four months ago, the government candidate made a remarkable showing, but his failure to secure a victory will encourage the Farmers to an even more aggressive campaign. Last Dominion election, even with the government's great victory in Ontario, the late David Marshall, the strongest man in the constituency, won by 115 on the home vote. The government was late in the field, and with a weaker candidate has nearly overcome the Farmers' great lead in the provincial election, and almost won a victory federally where defeat a few months ago was so certain it was urged by many that the election be allowed to go by default.

CABINET RECONSTRUCTION

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press.)—The result in East Elgin is the first check which the Meighen government has received at the polls, and means the loss of a seat which has gone Conservative (altho with small majorities) since 1891. What bearings it will have on government policy—whether or not it will accelerate cabinet reconstruction—it is too early yet to say. But there is little doubt that cabinet reconstruction is not in any event far distant, and that one of the first steps taken will be an endeavor to secure increased French-Canadian representation.

FRENCH TROOPS REPULSE TURKS NEAR TARSAUS

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The steam barge John Randall has been given up for lost on Lake Ontario. The vessel has been missing since last Tuesday and no trace whatever can be seen. It was sighted this afternoon a life belt marked "Wanderer" floated into Sackett's Harbor, and it is believed to have been used by one of the members of the crew. It was not known in local marine circles that the Randall had any equipment of the old steamer Wanderer, which has been laid up. The Randall is believed to have gone down between Stoney Point and Point Peninsula. The Randall had two life boats, one of the wooden type and the other of metal.

WILL CEDE NOTHING SAYS D'ANNUNZIO

Declares That the Fruits of Victory Belong to Italy.

Fiume, Nov. 21.—Gabriele D'Annunzio, insurgent commander of Fiume, declared today he was unalterably opposed to accepting the treaty of Rapallo, settling the Adriatic dispute between Italy and Jugoslavia, and that he would continue fighting until the just claims of Italy were met.

"I will not yield; I will cede nothing," declared D'Annunzio to the correspondent. "The fruits of victory belong to Italy. Friends of mine, generals in the army, officials of the government, implore me to accept the treaty of Rapallo, but I will not recede. Italy's just claims must be satisfied.

"I am fighting a just fight, and I will continue until the Italian aspirations are fulfilled. Friends may abandon me. I will stand firm. I am Gideon. Let those who lack courage desert. Let those who fail in resenting my iron will. There remain the brave Gideon, and Gideon's brave will conquer."

"I am alone. Even those nearest to me show signs of weakness. I must lift up my hands and guide them. Through all this anguish of fourteen months, I have stood the test; I have resisted in the face of seemingly unconquerable obstacles. I have withstood threats and pressure. Now, when the final test comes to Italy to reject or accept this unjust treaty, I find so few strong men, strong enough to stand out for Italy's rights. Even my friends, Rome, overcome by the entreaties of Mollo, now vacillates and does not stand firmly by our sworn word.

"The Italian government is sending representatives here daily to treat with me. They come with their promises and offers in an effort to make me stand firm. I am not to be deceived. The Italian government is full of corruption unningly conceived; it is worse than that.

"The conference created me to leave Fiume and desert Dalmatia. They say 'To you is triumph; to you is honor; you are the hero of the hour; you will soon be placed in Rome in triumphful celebration as the savior of Italy.' I am deaf to their flatteries. They have come with offers of all the honors the government is capable of bestowing. I refuse them.

D'Annunzio held two conferences Saturday with General Cavaglia, former Italian minister of war, at both of which he manifested a determination to stay in Fiume until all his claims have been satisfied. General Cavaglia held another conference later with representatives of D'Annunzio at which the pact of the day was maintained. Gen. Cavaglia has broken off the negotiations and now will await the decision of the Italian government. D'Annunzio still occupies Arbe and Veglia.

DARED SEA'S PERILS IN SMALL SCHOONER

Thrilling Tale of Atlantic Voyage Told by the Captain.

New York, Nov. 22.—A thrilling tale of the fury of the sea, as viewed and fought from the deck of a 45-foot schooner, was told here tonight by Captain William Washburn Nutting, as he brought his trim little craft, The Typhoon, safely to a Staten Island mooring. He made fast a line and the vessel had completed an 8,000-mile voyage across the Atlantic and returned.

In her long beat, which started from Baddock, Nova Scotia, July 15, the Typhoon visited Cowes, England, during the international motor boat regatta, proceeded to French and Spanish ports, and left Corunna, Spain on the return trip, Sept. 21. She stopped at the Azores en route. The Typhoon ran into numerous storms, and several times, Captain Nutting said, barely emerged safely. On one occasion she ran into heavy cross seas and lost her mizzen mast and the food supply. For three days the party lived on hardtack and water. A Spanish steamer ship was hailed and the larger replenished.

Two members of the party, Boy Scouts, who went aboard in England, were washed overboard during a storm on the last leg of the voyage. They clung to trailing ropes and were saved.

DARED SEA'S PERILS IN SMALL SCHOONER

Thrilling Tale of Atlantic Voyage Told by the Captain.

New York, Nov. 22.—A thrilling tale of the fury of the sea, as viewed and fought from the deck of a 45-foot schooner, was told here tonight by Captain William Washburn Nutting, as he brought his trim little craft, The Typhoon, safely to a Staten Island mooring. He made fast a line and the vessel had completed an 8,000-mile voyage across the Atlantic and returned.

In her long beat, which started from Baddock, Nova Scotia, July 15, the Typhoon visited Cowes, England, during the international motor boat regatta, proceeded to French and Spanish ports, and left Corunna, Spain on the return trip, Sept. 21. She stopped at the Azores en route. The Typhoon ran into numerous storms, and several times, Captain Nutting said, barely emerged safely. On one occasion she ran into heavy cross seas and lost her mizzen mast and the food supply. For three days the party lived on hardtack and water. A Spanish steamer ship was hailed and the larger replenished.

Two members of the party, Boy Scouts, who went aboard in England, were washed overboard during a storm on the last leg of the voyage. They clung to trailing ropes and were saved.

WILL CEDE NOTHING SAYS D'ANNUNZIO

Declares That the Fruits of Victory Belong to Italy.

Fiume, Nov. 21.—Gabriele D'Annunzio, insurgent commander of Fiume, declared today he was unalterably opposed to accepting the treaty of Rapallo, settling the Adriatic dispute between Italy and Jugoslavia, and that he would continue fighting until the just claims of Italy were met.

"I will not yield; I will cede nothing," declared D'Annunzio to the correspondent. "The fruits of victory belong to Italy. Friends of mine, generals in the army, officials of the government, implore me to accept the treaty of Rapallo, but I will not recede. Italy's just claims must be satisfied.

"I am fighting a just fight, and I will continue until the Italian aspirations are fulfilled. Friends may abandon me. I will stand firm. I am Gideon. Let those who lack courage desert. Let those who fail in resenting my iron will. There remain the brave Gideon, and Gideon's brave will conquer."

"I am alone. Even those nearest to me show signs of weakness. I must lift up my hands and guide them. Through all this anguish of fourteen months, I have stood the test; I have resisted in the face of seemingly unconquerable obstacles. I have withstood threats and pressure. Now, when the final test comes to Italy to reject or accept this unjust treaty, I find so few strong men, strong enough to stand out for Italy's rights. Even my friends, Rome, overcome by the entreaties of Mollo, now vacillates and does not stand firmly by our sworn word.

"The Italian government is sending representatives here daily to treat with me. They come with their promises and offers in an effort to make me stand firm. I am not to be deceived. The Italian government is full of corruption unningly conceived; it is worse than that.

"The conference created me to leave Fiume and desert Dalmatia. They say 'To you is triumph; to you is honor; you are the hero of the hour; you will soon be placed in Rome in triumphful celebration as the savior of Italy.' I am deaf to their flatteries. They have come with offers of all the honors the government is capable of bestowing. I refuse them.

D'Annunzio held two conferences Saturday with General Cavaglia, former Italian minister of war, at both of which he manifested a determination to stay in Fiume until all his claims have been satisfied. General Cavaglia held another conference later with representatives of D'Annunzio at which the pact of the day was maintained. Gen. Cavaglia has broken off the negotiations and now will await the decision of the Italian government. D'Annunzio still occupies Arbe and Veglia.

GETTING FINANCES ON MORE STABLE BASIS

J. H. Gundy Tells Canadian Club of the Good Results Achieved at International Financial Conference Held in Brussels—Not So Much Cheap as Sound Money is the Need.

A valuable contribution was made by J. H. Gundy of this city before the Canadian Club yesterday, not only to the financial men of Toronto, but of Canada, in his address on the international financial conference held at Brussels a few weeks ago. Thirty-nine nations were represented and Mr. Gundy was one of three delegates chosen to represent Canada. During the war he served on the war board at Ottawa.

Realizing, as he did, the fast-approaching bankruptcy of Europe, unless drastic steps to stabilize foreign finance were taken, the leading bankers in the world made suggestions to their respective governments, and the international financial conference was formed with 65 delegates representing 75 per cent of the world's population present. Britain gave her delegates carte blanche regarding any suggestions they might put forward for the improvement of the financial situation, and although Mr. Gundy was represented for the first time at an international council since the war, her delegates contented themselves with very careful following the proceedings, on account of the very cool attitude exhibited towards them.

The affairs of the conference were guided by an advisory committee composed of twelve members, ten from Europe, one from Japan and one from Canada. It was a great compliment paid to Canada, said Mr. Gundy, "supported by a remarkable and unique courtesy extended to the Canadian delegates."

Owing to the tediousness of the task in studying European conditions, he continued, the newspapers became very impatient, but the job could not be rushed.

An enormous debt. The internal debt of the belligerent countries had increased $138,000,000,000 owing to the war, and the annual expenditure since 1913 from 500 per cent to 1,500 per cent, representing from one-fifth to two-fifths of the entire income of European belligerents. Almost two-fifths of the income of France was spent by the government. Britain alone was able to collect enough money to meet her expenditures. "That," said Mr. Gundy, "was the situation requiring attention."

Currency after the war had increased from 37 per cent, in the case of France to as high as 335 per cent, in Germany, and as an example of the inflation it is gold would now pay a debt of $100 in Germany. Wholesale prices had increased from 200 to 500 per cent, which resulted in confusion and a blockade of trade, in that some states had no currency, while others had several, and the rate of exchange resulted in hardship for the poorer classes.

The countries which were neutral during the war, continued Mr. Gundy, had been flooded with gold, but were at present much embarrassed by inflated prices and were finding it very difficult to obtain enough revenue to meet their obligations, and the European impression of the conference was that it would devise some way by which Europe could borrow more money from the United States. But the most important thing was the devising of a plan by which every country could pay its own way, thereby restoring its status in the world. With prices increased, he continued, more currency was issued, and so on, in a vicious circle, ending in chaos and ruin. Russia was a good example of the state Europe would be in in the future, with credits destroyed, currency useless, and a state existing similar to that in the dark ages. Only by cutting ordinary and military expenditures to the bone could deflation be remedied and prosperity be restored, and the postponement of unproductive expenditures was absolutely necessary.

For increased taxation. The countries represented at the conference, said Mr. Gundy, unanimously endorsed increased taxation as a means of combating inflation. A sound basis was needed because, when coal and bread were scarce, the public lost more on other inflated commodities than they saved on coal and bread, or on reduced railway fares. The public, too, lacked an understanding of the League of Nations and world-wide publicity in the form of monthly, quarterly or half-yearly financial statements should be available to everybody.

Currency inflation. Regarding inflation of currency, Mr. Gundy said that all belligerent nations found it necessary, after the war, to expand their credits and loans, and this made trade unstable and increased the cost of government. Great Britain, the U. S. and Sweden had made money dear and had put up their rates of interest as a means of stopping inflation. "This," said Mr. Gundy, "aroused a storm of criticism in Britain, but the predicted financial panic did not occur, and in October of this year, money could be got at 4 per cent. Industrial unrest only could result, when workmen found that the cost of living kept ahead of wage increase."

It was a difficult matter in Europe where the peoples were closely packed together, to prevent the countries which hated each other from parking the tariff and putting embargoes on goods, but the conference had authority to use pressure to stabilize the situation. The conference recommended an improvement of machinery for insurance, and a plan was suggested by which the raw materials were paid for after the manufactured articles were sold. Government control of industry and finance was basically un-derstood, and in the demoralized countries, a special commission would be put in charge of the finances. What was needed most was a gold basis and a central bank ought to be provided in each country.

Britain's Position. Mr. Gundy quoted statistics to the effect that at the present time, Britain's position was far above that of any other European country, and the exports of France were now 81 per cent of her imports as compared to 79 per cent in 1914. France would occupy a proud position in Europe

HER FRIENDS WERE GROWING UNEASY

Toronto Woman Was Unable to Do Any Work For Five Weeks Before She Got Tanlac.

"I've just finished my third bottle of Tanlac, and am feeling better in every way than I have for the past eleven years," said Mrs. C. Roscoe, who resides at 155 Jones avenue, Toronto, recently.

"When I started taking the medicine I was in such a general run-down condition that I had been unable to do any sort of work for five weeks. I think my bad state of health was due to a severe nervous breakdown which I had two years ago, and which upset my whole system. My digestion became so disordered that whatever I ate would sour on my stomach and I had such spells of dizziness that I was unable to sit down and rest. I became very thin and so weak that the housework was a burden to me, and I simply had no energy at all. My nerves were so bad that the least unusual noise would scare me, and all night long I would keep waking up, and my friends were concerned about my condition, and I was very downhearted. I had tried so many medicines without getting any relief, that I didn't know what to do next in order to get well and strong.

"Then one day I read in the papers of how a woman with troubles just like mine had been greatly benefited by Tanlac, and I determined to give it a trial. The first thing it did was to give me a ravenous appetite, and I soon found that I could eat anything I fancied without being troubled with indigestion or biliousness afterwards. The spells of dizziness left me, my nerves got stronger every day, and I now sleep right thru the night without once waking up. That tired feeling has left me, and I am able to do my work without any trouble. After my experience I think Tanlac is the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Toronto by all Tamblin drug stores and by an established agency in every town.

TAKE MEASURES TO SAVE ARMENIA

tion of Mr. Balfour, approached as closely as they could to this eventually without actually saying so. The general impression after the debate was that the assembly favored fighting Kemal Pasha if no other way was found to end the conflict in Armenia.

There was a moment of supreme tension when the vote was reached, and the attitude of Mr. Balfour seemed to indicate that he would prevent a unanimous vote. M. Viviani, Lord Robert Cecil, Georges Dacounha, M. La Fontaine (Belgium), Hjalmar Branting, and Dr. Nansen conferred and decided to combine on the proposition as advocated by the French and South African delegates.

To the great relief and surprise of the assembly, Mr. Balfour was one of the first to raise his voice in favor of the resolution.

The council of the league met this evening but took no action relative to the resolution.

Mr. Balfour, on leaving the assembly room, was asked what action had been taken. He shrugged his shoulders and merely described the proceedings as "that curious meeting this morning."

"Dr. Dacounha of Brazil, in replying to a question as to what action had been taken, said, 'Unfortunately, no action has been taken.'"

U. S. Once Approved

Speaking on resolutions, demanding intervention in Armenia, and supporting Lord Robert Cecil's demand that the assembly appoint a committee to examine into means for ending the hostilities between the Turkish Nationalists and the Armenians, M. Spalekovich of the Serbian delegation recalled that the United States senate at one time had approved the use of the United States fleet to succor the Armenians. It was recalled here in this connection that Senator Harding was the senator who reported the resolution.

A. J. Balfour of Great Britain, speaking on the resolution, said that if the United States had been willing to take the mandate for Armenia, and if the men, money and spirit to make her an ideal mandatory, the league has been unable to accomplish anything with regard to the Armenian situation, Mr. Balfour admitted, "because of the condition of Armenia, he argued, was not such as the league was organized to deal with."

Mr. Balfour said that an appeal must be sent to the forty-one states of the league in an united effort to save Armenia.

Compassion No Use

Reno Viviani of France, following Mr. Balfour, said all were agreed that compassion would no longer suffice for Armenia.

"It is not the fault of France if the league today is disarmed in the face of the situation in Armenia," said M. Viviani. Virtually the entire assembly applauded this statement. It was noted, however, that the British delegation did not applaud.

"If the conference had listened to France," continued M. Viviani, "we would have had an international staff and a proportional force to deal with this situation."

M. Viviani presented a resolution inviting the council of the league to consult the powers, with a view to the constitution of a force sufficient to put an end to the hostilities in Armenia.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen of Norway, estimated that 60,000 men would be a force sufficient to deal with the situation.

Delegate Jonescu, of Romania, supported M. Viviani's proposition.

Favors Armed Intervention. The debate gave the impression of everyone thinking of resort to intervention and yet not wishing to call it by that name. Hon. C. J. Doherty, Canadian minister of justice, put it as "an exceptional remedy for an exceptional situation." At the close of the debate, however, Lord Robert Cecil said he would favor armed intervention or any other practical plan of dealing with the situation.

M. Viviani proposed that a commission select one power which would accept the responsibility of bringing up negotiations. He suggested almost the entire assembly with him in his eloquent peroration, in which he demanded immediate action.

Mr. Balfour wanted further light on the proposed negotiations. He asked what the French delegation proposed to offer Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the Nationalist leader, and it was quite necessary, the British delegate said, to offer the Nationalist leader either money or territory. He thought it would be very difficult to organize an expedition of 50,000 or 60,000 men.

"Failure to take practical action here on this question," responded M. Viviani, "will be to demonstrate the default of the League of Nations."

"Call it negotiations or mediation," M. Viviani cried, "unless we make this minimum effort we have only to register our failure and continue our academic discussions while the Armenians perish."

The whole assembly was on its feet, with the exception of the British delegation, cheering M. Viviani long after he had regained his seat.

NEW ENGLAND RAILWAYS NEED FINANCIAL RELIEF

Washington, Nov. 22.—Unless immediate financial relief is afforded the New England railroads, all or most of them, will very shortly be driven into receivership, the interstate commerce commission was told today by Chas. F. Choate, Jr., and Wilbur La Rue, Jr., counsel for the lines.

The commission was told that the actual receipts of the roads in September and estimated returns to the roads in October under the increased rates granted under the transportation act, confirmed that the income received by the roads was not sufficient to meet their requirements. As one means of relief, the roads asked for a readjustment of the division of freight rates on thru traffic between roads west of the Hudson River and those east of that river.

JUGO-SLAV MINISTER RESIGNS

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Nov. 22.—Foreign Minister Trumbitch has tendered his resignation to the government, considering that his work is finished now that the Jugoslav frontiers have been fixed.

The civic elections on Jan. 1 will cost the citizens about $30,000, or $10,000 more than last year.

Returning officers this year will get $12 each, against $10 each last year. Poll clerks are raised to $8, and constables also get an increase.

The cost of printing the voters' list is estimated at $15,000.

FINE OF OVER $84,000 IMPOSED ON BRIDGE CO.

Albany, Nov. 22.—A penalty of $80 a day accumulating since January 1, 1916, will be imposed upon the International Bridge Company of Buffalo for failure to equip its Black Rock Harbor bridge with a vehicular passageway. Attorney-General Newton announced tonight.

The attorney-general made the statement after being advised that the state had won its case against the bridge company in the United States supreme court. The company was directed to build a vehicular passageway by a legislative act which provided for the fine for each day's delay in complying with the statute.

CIVIC ELECTIONS WILL COST MORE

The civic elections on Jan. 1 will cost the citizens about $30,000, or $10,000 more than last year.

CANADIAN MARINER MAKES FINE TRIAL TRIP

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 22.—The steamer Canadian Mariner, the largest steel ship ever constructed in the Maritime Provinces, had a successful trial trip today. The steamer went 60 miles to sea, and at times achieved a speed of 12.8 knots an hour. The machinery worked perfectly. The Mariner registers 8,100 tons, and was built at the Halifax shipyards for the Canadian government.

INJURED IN FIVE PLACES WHEN HIT BY CHIMNEY

Brockville, Ont., Nov. 22.—When a small building which he was moving at Thousand Island Park slid on the skids and the brick chimney toppled off the building, striking him on the head and shoulders, Chas. Cuppernell received scalp wounds, broken nose, broken upper jaw, fractured right shoulder blade, while his chin was nearly torn from his face. He will recover.

THOS. WAYLING BECOMES SECRETARY TO CRERAR

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 22.—Thos. Wayling, who for the past two years has been on the staff of The Prince Albert Herald, leaves next month to become private secretary to the Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the new National Progressive political party. Mr. Wayling was for some years previous to coming to Prince Albert, in newspaper work at Winnipeg.

Rev. John Armstrong Dies; Attained Ninety-Eight Years

Montreal, Nov. 22.—The Rev. John Armstrong, probably the oldest Methodist minister in the province, if not in the Dominion, passed away at the age of 98 years in this city yesterday, after being over 75 years a minister of the gospel. He was born in Ennisfield, Ireland, in April, 1823, and since his retirement, 12 years ago, he had lived in Westmount.

Wilkins—Well doctor, do you think it's anything serious?
Doctor—Oh, no. Merely a boil on the back of your neck, but I advise you to keep your eye on it.

They're Your Neighbors

They're my neighbors? That's all I need to know. If I can help out a neighbor, I'll do it.

Isn't that what you'd say? If a friend of yours came to you and said: "You know so-and-so? Well, he is in trouble. He's up against it. And I'm taking up a little subscription for him. The rest of the boys have chipped in, and I was wondering if you would. So-and-so is a neighbor, you know."

Think, now! What would you do? Wouldn't you give something? It's likely you would—there isn't and shouldn't be a man or woman in the city who wouldn't.

JUST ONE THING FURTHER.

That's the way Federation comes to you. The Federation is the big neighbor to 47 charitable organizations in the city. It says to each of them: "Go forward, extend and improve your work—we will try and meet the bills."

Federation came into existence to collect and distribute funds without waste to Toronto's charities. There are no items for dinners, afternoon teas or paid workers to subtract from the money you give. It's a voluntary citizens' committee--IT'S YOURS.

Go to Federation headquarters any time and examine the books. Or you can ask any one of the institutions in Federation what it thinks of the Federation idea.

For 1921-- the "neighbors of yours" in distressed and strained circumstances will require at least $450,000.

And if you only give what you know you can give, there will be fewer sufferers, less disease, less poverty and more happiness in the City of Toronto than it has known for many years.

That's what will result if you make it a point to give JUST YOUR SHARE ON

POINTS OF MERIT IN ONTARIO PICTURES

Members of Society of Artists Have Creditable Display at the Grange.

The weather of yesterday was a large turnout of members of the Women's Press Club and friends gathered at the Art Galleries of the Grange when Miss Estelle Kerr gave an interesting and instructive talk on the pictures on exhibition. Small paintings and sketches by members of the Ontario Society of Artists completed the collection shown by 28 artists, a number being well-known locally.

Miss Kerr pointed out that there was a link existing between the artists and the public to remedy which exhibits should be put on as a series rather than mere exhibits of art. She pointed out that there was a lack of craftsmanship—an unfinished character to much that was exhibited. On the other hand some of the artists whose pictures hung on the walls were pointed to as having many points merit almost all their own. For the critic she advised an interview with the artist with the result that many conditions under which the picture was produced would come to light and many things explained.

That landscape was almost a modern phase, not being known until the last three hundred years, and gaining its maturity within the last decade was stated. The work of the impressionist was an effort by the moderns to concentrate in a few bold strokes things that were laboriously worked out by the older painters. The difference of setting and its influence on the work of the painter was emphasized, a picture painted indoors having sometimes a weather effect different from that which would be expected.

Miss Kerr recommended that artists should send their pictures on approval. The pleasure which the possession of a picture gave its owner was also noted. The appreciation of the audience was expressed by Mrs. H. H. Doyle, president of the club, told of an exhibition in design lately seen in New York where side by side with the older pictures the fabrics which had also been produced on this continent. Mr. Greig, procurer of the Grange, stated that the galleries will be open to the public. Schools may send a class any time under the direction of a teacher. Students may become members of the Gallery on a fee of $5 and others $10 a year, this entitling to many advantages in the matter of lectures and exhibits. British, American and Chinese exhibits will be on view during the next three months.

EXTEND PERIOD FOR RED CROSS APPEAL

In view of the fact that a large number of contributions to the British empire war relief fund appeal are continuing to arrive and also that the appeal is being taken up by societies, schools and churches which have not yet had time to carry out to completion, the Canadian Red Cross Society has extended the time of the appeal until the middle of December and the provincial divisions have been telegraphed to that effect. Reports have not yet been received from the other provinces of Canada, but the appeal has been extended in Ontario. Individual contributions have been numerous and the manner in which the appeal has been received by organizations of all descriptions has been very gratifying. In some instances municipalities have responded and churches and schools have been very frequent contributors.

SOCIAL EVENTS

A Losing Fight Till Help Came

HOW trifling are our troubles compared with the suffering some endure. Picture the home of a family here in Toronto—the father dead—the mother and sister invalid, and the son—a laborer—his sole support. The wife, a widow, in a cold, wet weather, constant colds, insufficient nourishment, exhausted the wife's strength, and he, too, broke down.

The visiting nurse of the National Sanitarium Association found him suffering with tuberculosis. They sent him to the Muskoka cross country sanitarium, the family supported by the National Sanitarium Association. The patient, however, was not properly cared for, he is slowly recovering.

"Thank God, there are folks who care," said the father, "and the mother the other day, at the hospital—'if they hadn't well—'"

ALLUSION TO FLYNN DENIED BY PREMIER

He Did Not Say Certain Newspapers Had Taken Flynn "Under Their Wing"

On Sunday night the Canadian Press Limited received from its correspondent in Aylmer, Ont., and transmitted to Ottawa, a despatch purporting to be an interview with Hon. Arthur Meighen, in which the premier was said to have stated that he had taken Flynn "under their wing." The Ottawa bureau of the Canadian Press yesterday sent the following: "It was stated at the premier's office today that the interview published in the morning papers from Aylmer was unfounded. What Mr. Meighen stated was a subject of the Toronto meeting was a public address, and no reference was made to individuals.

"The prime minister stated that he had not given an interview on the Toronto meeting, and that the despatch of the charge that he had refused to meet Toronto returned soldiers was made during his public address, in reply to the address of welcome tendered him in Aylmer, and his words were substantially as reported by Canadian Press Limited. He had made no reference to Flynn or to any other individual, as he was reported to have done in the last paragraph of the despatch from Aylmer, Ont."

VISITORS TO ALQUONQUIN PARK HEAVY DRY VOTE IN PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Rev. Dr. Andrew S. Grant, chief executive officer of the Dominion committee on liquor legislation, yesterday received practically the complete returns from the three prairie provinces in connection with the vote on stopping the importation of intoxicating liquor. Some of the outposts make a different report, but they will not be taken into consideration. The figures are: Alberta, ballots cast, 109,000; dry majority, 19,000; Saskatchewan, ballots cast, 139,000; dry majority, 69,000; Manitoba, ballots cast, 109,746; dry majority, 9,618. The total vote cast in Nova Scotia is still unknown, but the dry majority is approximately 40,000.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS VISIT PACKING PLANT

Thirty of the members of the Arts Chemical Society of the University of Toronto made a trip to the plant of Gunns, Limited, at the invitation of the company. Mr. Perry and the staff were most courteous and patient in explaining and demonstrating to the students the processes of making the crude oil. The plant is a modern institution of this kind. They visited the floor of cold storage rooms kept at various temperatures, then the packing cellars, bedding rooms, ice-making plant and refrigeration system.

FORM MUNICIPAL STATE

Toronto G. W. V. A. and Toronto G. A. U. V. are to hold a joint executive meeting at the headquarters of Central G. W. V. A. to take up the question of forming a joint municipal state. This is said to be one of the most pressing growing sense of co-operation between the two hitherto opposition groups of ex-servicemen represented by the G. W. V. A. and the G. A. U. V.

BREAD PRICE DROPS TWO CENTS A LOAF

Further Reduction May Soon Be Expected in View of Flour Cut

The bakers of Toronto announce a reduction of two cents per loaf of bread, the new price to take effect commencing this morning. With flour on the down grade, a further cut in bread may, it is stated, soon be expected. G. Lawrence, of Lawrence's bakery, announced yesterday that, commencing this morning, the new price would be 10 cents for $1.10. "There will be no difference in the weight of the bread, but the quality goes up," added Mr. Lawrence. "We have reached some of the finest grade of the new patent flour and the public will get the benefit. The last of the war-time flour has gone."

ISSUES COMPELLED BY RADIALS WITH STEAM

Traction Expert Gives Evidence Before Commission—New System Even Sufficiently Important to Prosperity of the District to Warrant Initial Deficit—Material and Labor Indicating Approach of Opportune Time for Construction of Radial Lines.

Testimony declaring the recent trend of the material and labor market to indicate the rapid approach of the opportune time for the construction of the Hydro radial system was given by W. S. Murray, a traction expert, who appeared before yesterday's session in Osgrade Hall of the Hydro Radial Commission. Mr. Murray, who was the author in May of this year of a report to Sir Adam Beck, had advised them against the construction of the system in its entirety owing to the general level of prices. These had so altered since, he declared, as to be from ten to fifteen per cent lower. Mr. Murray, who was on the witness stand during the whole of yesterday, was emphatically of the opinion that the development of the radials was sufficiently important to the prosperity of the district to justify an initial deficit. He justified their competition with existing government-owned steam roads upon the ground that these were not giving the adequate service to the public. He also dealt at various points in his evidence with the greater economies which an electric road enjoyed as compared with the steam roads, and partially admitted that a deficit of $3,000,000 which I. P. Hellmuth, K.C., argued in place of the $3,000,000 deficit which he specified in his report.

In examining Mr. Hellmuth during the morning session, Mr. Murray related the investigation which had preceded his report to Sir Adam Beck. He had motored over the ground from Niagara to Toronto, and also over the ground to the immediate east of Toronto. He had had but a short time to spend on the work, so that he had checked up data supplied him by Hydro engineers with considerable which he had gathered himself. He had gained a wide experience in the work in various parts of the United States, and he had developed a good sense of proportion in estimating the figures given to him as indicating construction and operating costs and revenues.

The witness considered both the construction estimates of $240,000 per mile and the revenue estimates of $1,000 per mile to be conservative, and was able to instance the Connecticut Interurban lines as exceeding his latter earnings figure.

Acquainted with the comparative figures for inclusion in the radial system, Mr. Murray favored purchase only upon a basis of money actually invested. He did not believe in paying an exorbitant price for a road that was not meeting expenses.

"If the company is paying dividends they should be compensated, and I do not think we should give something for nothing," he declared.

The afternoon session was devoted principally to an examination of the $3,000,000 deficit which Mr. Murray forecasted, and an inquiry into the relative economies of steam and electric roads. Mr. Murray also reiterated his statement that there was sufficient tonnage between Toronto and Bowmanville to build the line.

Mr. Hellmuth, in his cross-examination, pointed out that steam railroads entering Toronto had 250 miles of sidings within the city, and that in Hamilton only five per cent of the freight was delivered by steam routes. Would not these sidings facilities militate, he asked, against an electric road competing for the freight business?

"Yes, but I do not consider that a true description of the situation," replied Mr. Murray, explaining that the development of the radial system would involve the gradual solution of this difficulty.

Mr. Hellmuth then turned to the $3,000,000 deficit mentioned in the Murray report and pointed out that it supposed the borrowing of money at five instead of a six per cent rate, and made no provision for either a depreciation or sinking fund, or a $30,000 annual rental for the Grand Trunk property at Hamilton. The inclusion of these figures, $223,000 additional interest charges, $103,500 depreciation charges, $233,000 sinking fund, and $30,000 rent, would increase the first year deficit to $332,000.

"Nevertheless, I believe the new business created by the radials would turn the deficit into a profit," declared Mr. Murray. The witness, in his opinion, being estimated too high for a new road. The customary provision to make for them was the establishment of a cumulative fund increasing with the age of the road. He would allow $75,000 for the depreciation charges of the first year.

"Would you be willing to have a uniform allowance for depreciation rather than the cumulative principle?" asked Mr. Hellmuth.

"No," replied the witness, who explained that while such procedure was frequently adopted by steam roads, the conditions of depreciation on an electric system rendered it unnecessary.

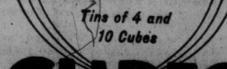

"You would consider the operating ratio estimated at 57.52 as exceedingly good?"

"Exceedingly."

Mr. Murray's concluding question, Mr. Murray referred to the Annapolis, Baltimore and Washington road and the Connecticut Interurban lines as examples of electric systems which had developed under less favorable auspices than the local project.

The cross-examination by Counsel R. S. Robertson, K.C., developed into a controversy charged with feeling between himself and Mr. Murray. The counsel claimed that Mr. Murray was that the moment a man neglected his property his taxes diminished, and the money he improved his property his taxes increased. The alderman's message to council was adopted at the beginning of a series of resolutions on land used not for shanties, but for buildings made them dearer, and such taxes were shifted to the ultimate consumer. That was what the Hydro taxes on values of labor. The value of land tended to increase constantly, and owners of land to be more and more wealthy, and, therefore, a proper subject for taxation.

Much had been said about the failure of the land tax system in western Canada, but the fact was that single tax was adopted at the beginning of a series of years. The municipalities still adhering to the system were showing recovery financially, and those which had reverted to the old system, Regina, with the lesson of other single tax cities before them, had reduced the assessment on buildings to 30 per cent. The income tax was unknown in the west, and a few cities had a business tax, very few had a property tax, and a few had a flat reduction of taxes on buildings on the encouragement of the building of homes, and the New York State legislature had decided to take the Hydro plan as a model of solving the housing question. A tax on business on luxuries and industry, always produced harvest money, and a luxury tax was charged with being unknown in Canada, were now out of work.

Mr. Plewman then addressed council, and his own.

ISSUE DEBENTURES FOR FOOD BUILDING

Controller Resents Criticism of Board by Member of Council.

CHARGES BAD GRACE Question of Early Closing Groceries Is Referred to Controllers.

The board of control's recommendation that a building for the pure food exhibitors at the Exhibition be erected at a cost of $150,000 was criticized by Ald. Singer at the city council meeting yesterday, and finally amended to provide for the issue of 20-year debentures.

Ald. Singer said the board's reports were usually faulty.

Con. Ramsden thought it came with bad grace from Ald. Singer as a first-year man, to be continually criticizing the board of control, and Con. Maguire said Ald. Singer was continually meddling and holding up the business of council with his pointless criticism.

Ex-Controller McBride, treasurer of the Exhibition, who was present, said it was not the intention of the Exhibition board to bind down the food exhibitors to pay for the building in ten years, neither was it proposed to give them rights in the building for twenty years. The idea was to issue 20-year debentures and get the pure food men to sign an agreement to meet the interest and sinking fund and other carrying charges for a period of ten years. The recommendation was finally adopted with an amendment providing for the issue of 20-year debentures.

Increase for Hospital. The balance of the board of control report was accepted with minor amendments. Some of the chief items were: Increase of the per diem allowance to public hospitals for treatment of indigent patients from $1.25 to $1.50; additional appropriation of $13,500 to finish the Earlscourt public library; refund of taxes for the years 1919 and 1920 amounting to $37,238; cancellation of application to the legislature for an act to enable the city to establish a pension fund for civic employees.

A large number of pavements and other improvements recommended in the works committee report were put thru. The recommendation that the property owners of Elbow street and Avenue road corner be asked to pay 30 per cent of the cost of widening Mulock avenue at the southwest corner of Lloyd avenue, was referred back. It was argued that the city should pay 25 per cent, instead of 10 per cent.

The recommendation in the report of the committee on parks and exhibitions that Mr. R. Boys be permitted to convert his property at No. 7 St. Andrew's avenue, into a 14-room two-family apartment, was referred back. This committee's recommendation that the grounds around firetrials and police stations be placed under the jurisdiction of the parks commissioner was also referred back. The recommendation of the committee on works that two cab stands be allowed on the east side of Victoria street, between Colborne street and the entrance to the King Edward Hotel, was referred back for further consideration.

Manager O'Neil of the King Edward Hotel appeared with a petition signed by owners of adjoining property asking that their tax be prohibited from parking there.

Residential Restrictions. The bylaw to appoint returning officers and poll clerks and fix the polling divisions was passed. The bill creates 25 more polling subdivisions.

The bylaw authorizing the removal of residential restrictions on the northwest corner of Elbow street and Avenue road was given its third reading and passed. This corner is now owned by the Home Bank, who will erect a branch on the corner.

The following bylaws were given their third readings: To allow the erection of stores on the west side of Dufferin street, between the rear of properties fronting on the north side of St. Clair avenue and Norton avenue; to allow the erection of a private garage at No. 38 Madison avenue, less than 25 feet from the street line; to accept dedication of a highway 32 feet wide, from Queen street south-

Mrs. Prenter Says Secretary Marks Is Not Only Reactionary in Party.

OFFICERS OF I.L.P.

All is not harmony among officers of the Independent Labor party, as witness a letter sent to the press by Mrs. Harriet Dunlop Prenter, vice-president and assistant secretary of that organization. The attitude of the secretary, Joseph Marks, in opposition to the hands of Russia and "Self-Determination" doctrine, read by a section of the party has aroused the resentment of Mrs. Prenter, who accuses him of being a reactionary who cuts off sympathy with the progressives. Her letter follows:

Editor World: The amazing resolution of the secretary of the Independent Labor party, as reported in the press—regarding those members of the party who have expressed sympathy with the principle of self-determination, and who cannot help thinking that it may also partly apply to the present situation—single Labor member for Toronto in our local legislature, and why Labor speakers are not invited to speak at public meetings, and why they are not invited to speak for the principle of self-determination, has caused me to write you of myself. This is not a touch with you, but to our comrades in the British Labor party, and in the Independent Labor party in the old land, since those bodies have spoken firmly and repeatedly in support of the principle of self-determination, and have not done so, particularly in the case of Russia—the face of Europe.

Mr. Marks states that the Russian meeting was a success, and that he is not in accord with the many hundreds who came to hear the speeches brought neither by the Independent Labor party nor by the Independent Labor party picketers—furthermore, as a vice-president of the Independent Labor party, I challenge Mr. Marks and those who support him to bring to any self-determination meeting that was not in accord with self-determination.

Protesters. The central committee of the Independent Labor party have unanimously endorsed this principle for which the war was declared, and which has not in any way been altered in any one thing and doing another, he has no right to criticize any party, and the Independent Labor party at their word. We know that it did not do so, and that the only reactionary in the Labor ranks, and if he cleans out all the progressives they will have no more to say about it.

ASPROLAX NOW HAVING ENORMOUS SALE HERE

Thousands Now Using New Scientific Cold Remedy With Most Astonishing and Gratifying Results.

RESULTS FROM USE ALMOST IMMEDIATE

Druggists Instructed to Refund Money in Every Instance Where Satisfactory Results Are Not Obtained After First Few Doses.

The next time you have a cough or cold go to your nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Asprolox. Have the clerk open it for you, take a teaspoonful, repeat the dose in an hour and again the second day. If you are not surprised and delighted with the results, then go back to your druggist and he will refund your money without question. Asprolox is manufactured by a million-dollar corporation, composed of successful, level-headed business men, and the fact that they are willing to stand back of every bottle sold is convincing evidence of their absolute confidence in the preparation.

As recently announced, the Asprolox formula was perfected by Dr. J. W. Smathers, an American Physician and Pharmacist of thirty years experience. In referring to his new discovery, Dr. Smathers said: "Ever since I first began the study of medicine I have realized the great need of a more efficient method of treating Colds, Bronchitis, Croup in children, and kindred disorders. The trouble has been that most people invariably treat the symptoms and not the cause. Most people now take Aspirin. Plain Aspirin never did, and never will, cure a cold. It relieves the symptoms momentarily, but does not stop the cause. Others take nauseous doses of Quinine and violent purgatives, which often upset the system to such an extent that the treatment is worse than the disorder. Still others take enough remedies and expectorants, which afford only temporary relief.

"My new formula, Asprolox, not only relieves the symptoms, but the phlegm, relieves congestion and stops the cough; a laxative which opens the bowels, and an antiseptic which retards germ growth and checks the spread of the infection. Those who have taken Asprolox find it difficult to describe the wonderful feeling of relief and exhilaration they experience. The volatile parts of the solution penetrate deep down into the air passages. The head is unstopped, sneezing, sniffing and coughing usually cease at once, and headache and other distressing symptoms almost invariably disappear with the first few doses. Only one bottle is usually sufficient to break up the most obstinate cold."

This new scientific discovery is rapidly becoming the sensation of the drug trade in Canada, and thousands are now using it with the most astonishing and gratifying results.

Ald. Winnet presented a petition asking for a vote of the ratepayers on January 1 on the question of early closing for groceries. The motion was referred to the board of control.

Council turned down the recommendation of the board that Messrs. Tuckwell and Smith be permitted to install a gasoline standard at the curb in front of the premises at 147 Victoria street. Council also turned down a petition from the owners of property at 147 Victoria street, asking that the recommendation of the board be selected on the ground that such matters had by by-law been placed in his hands and on his authority other similar applications had been rejected. If council should decide not to comply with his request, he wanted a by-law investing power in him repealed.

elasticity which enables them to withstand the strain put on them he recommends that you have your blood pressure tested. Then he seeks a means of improving the condition of the blood and of restoring the health and vigor of the digestive, filtering and excretory organs.

In the great majority of cases the weak functioning of these organs is due to the low vitality of the nervous system, and the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is resorted to with most satisfactory results.

Comparatively few people realize that the healthful working of each and every organ of the human body is dependent on the amount of nervous energy with which that organ is supplied, and that when nervous energy is consumed in overwork or worry, in sorrow or mental anxiety, these vital organs must fall for want of motive power.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food restores by improving the quality of the blood and increasing the amount of nervous energy in the human system. In other words, it increases vitality, and this is what is lacking in persons whose arteries are hardening and whose blood pressure is consequently rising. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. The Blood Pressure

"WHAT is the meaning of blood pressure?" you may ask, and "What has it to do with the health?" For, as much as we hear of blood pressure these days, it is somewhat of a mystery to most people.

Perhaps the easiest way to explain it is by comparison with water pressure, whereby water is supplied to homes and made available upstairs and down at a mere turn of the tap.

The blood in the human body is under a similar pressure, as you will know if you cut an artery and see the force with which the blood spurts out.

The arteries may be likened to the rubber hose which you attach to the water system in your house. So long as the rubber retains its elasticity you do not fear trouble, but as it gets older and harder and begins to crack you dread the water pressure which is everywhere testing the strength of the hose.

And so it is with the arteries. The walls of the arteries harden as age advances, more particularly if the vital organs are not doing their full duty in filtering and purifying the blood and keeping it in rich, healthful condition.

HARBOR BOARD BOOKS SHOW LARGE DEFICIT

An audit of the books of the board of harbor commissioners, as compiled by City Auditor Scott, reveals a deficit at the end of 1919 totaling $94,154, including the provision for sinking fund. The audit has just been completed. The harbor board books immediately affected by the audit, nearly $349,000 in investments, $587,366 in accounts and accounts receivable, and nearly $15,400,000 in inventories of stores, stores, and building equipment. The liabilities include debenture bonds totaling $10,251,000, with a capital account totaling $8,931,285.

There is no doubt that there are inequalities in the assessment, said Ald. Sykes, but he believed the assessment commissioner was making good headway in removing these inequalities. He would be willing to exempt all properties valued under $150, but Ald. Plewman's motion had features to commend it.

Ald. Donald MacGregor would vote for exemption on holding homes, but would not vote for either the Honeyford or the Plewman motions.

"Send both motions to the people," was the advice of Ald. Phinimore. "This is no time to monkey with the assessment," said Ald. Burgess. A great deal of money would have to be raised next year, and it would be unwise to take any step that might unsettle the city's financial position. He argued that thousands of dollars were being lost which they had paid taxes for years ago, and that the taxes of the big corporations and put them on the shoulders of the small taxpayers, who are not," he declared. There was very little virtue in either the Honeyford or the Plewman motions, and he would vote against them.

The Honeyford motion got less than half a dozen supporters, while only three members—Controller Cameron, Ald. Burgess and Ald. Rieck—opposed the Plewman motion.

When the board's report was before council, Ald. Plewman moved for the cancellation of his tax motion, but the motion was lost on a 7 to 15 vote, as follows:

Ald. Burgess, Ramsden, Hamilton, Hiltz, Honeyford, Ryding and Singer. Aye—Cameron, Maguire, Beaudin, Birsdale, Blackburn, Burgess, F. M. Johnston, F. W. Johnston, Maxwell, Phinimore, Plewman, Sykes, Whetter and Winnett.

COUNCIL REJECTS SINGLE TAX PLAN

vacant land, he said, would put land on the market and make homesteads cheaper. The deputation did not want the issue decided by council, but desired that it be referred to the people.

Mr. Plewman spoke of the deputation said the Plewman motion did not go far enough, and Mrs. Farquharson urged that the question of taxation was essentially a question for the people to decide, and there should be a vote of the ratepayers on the Honeyford motion.

Alderman Spoke 45 Minutes. In support of his motion, Ald. Honeyford, who spoke 45 minutes, said that it would be his duty to try to offset the misrepresentation regarding his motion, which had been put forth by the editor of the Globe. He made that statement has been made that his motion meant 25 per cent reduction each year until all taxes were out of buildings and industries. He was merely asking for a reduction of 25 per cent. Any future reduction would be for future years to deal with. He referred to the following clause in the report of the assessment commissioner favoring a reduction of 33 per cent in the assessment on buildings, and said he went even further than his own motion. "After the fullest consideration, I am decidedly in favor of the assessment of land at its full value, of income and business assessment, as already provided for in the present act, and of buildings and improvements on the same basis as that of Winnipeg, namely 62-3 per cent of their value, excluding the plant of companies having the right to use or occupy our public streets, which plant should be assessed at its actual value."

The alderman said he had supported the Plewman motion last year, and Mr. Plewman opposed it, yet this year the alderman had supported the Plewman motion, and he had not supported the Plewman motion in 1919. He said that the board of control had endorsed it. He did not intend to account for the change of attitude, except that good reforms met with strong opposition at first.

He had stated that his motion would help the wealthy classes. Mr. Honeyford said. The history of similar legislation in Australia and New Zealand, he said, had shown that in these countries the single tax had reduced the taxes on ratepayers, also that greater revenues were being raised than under the old system, and cheaper rents. Land values in Australia were taxed at the rate of $1400 a head, while in Toronto lands were taxed but $600 per head.

A Smooth, White Skin That Defies Weather

During the coming months of biting winds and intense cold, you who would keep your skin smooth, white and velvety, should turn your attention to mercurox wax. Nothing else will so effectively prevent or remove dryness, roughened or discolored surface. By gradually absorbing the weather-beaten condition, the complexion is brought to perfect condition, and even the beauty of expression appears more pronounced. If your skin be covered with dry, cracked, scaly or over-red, why not shed it? One ounce of ordinary mercurox wax, to be dissolved in one ounce of good Vaseline. You can quickly remove every line by using a harmless, refreshing face lotion prepared by dissolving one ounce of powdered azoetine in a half pint witch hazel. The firmer, smoother skin, the more youthful appearance, you will see after one application, will astonish you.

The By-Elections.

There were two Dominion by-elections yesterday. In the riding of Yale, B.C., the government candidate is in the lead on incomplete returns, but less gratifying is the result in East Elgin, where S. S. McDermid, the U.F.O. candidate, defeats John Stansell, the candidate of the government, by a plurality of 208. W. G. Charlton, the Liberal candidate, who third in the race, polled a larger vote than was anticipated, and his vote, combined with McDermid's, shows a decided majority against the government.

East Elgin is identical for provincial and Dominion purposes. Last October there was no Liberal candidate in the field and the U. F. O. candidate defeated his Conservative opponent by 1,572 majority. It would, therefore, have been a remarkable victory had the government elected its candidate at yesterday's by-election. Yet it was a victory eagerly sought and anticipated. Perhaps it would have been achieved except for some local causes and mistakes in management, to which we may allude on some future occasion.

Underlying it all, however, is the peril to the government, which cannot be brushed aside, of a virile, highly-organized opposition in the shape of the Farmers' party. The result in East Elgin is, to say the least of it, a warning. If the government is to hold its own in the province of Ontario some different approach to the farmers of Ontario must be found than the one followed in East Elgin.

Courage and Common Sense is What We Need Just Now in Toronto.

The situation in Toronto is trying, but not critical. There has been a slowing down in production and a good many men are out of jobs and business is dull. The weather has been trying and the croak of the pessimist is heard in the land. Whether things get better or get worse will largely depend upon the people of Toronto themselves.

Two years ago, just after the armistice, we heard a great many gloomy predictions. The munitions factories suddenly closed down and thousands were thrown out of employment. People got panicky and business was dull. But we got thru the winter of 1918-19 remarkably well, and it was not until the following November that we got another attack of the blues. Last winter, too, remarkably cold and probably a hard one for some people, was not, on the whole, a bad time for business. But here we are again in the melancholy days of November. Hired up for another attack of the blues. It may be said there is more occasion now because prices are falling, with a consequent tightening of credit and hesitation in buying. If the retailer does not sell to the public he has no orders to give to the wholesaler, and it kicks back at last to the manufacturer, who slows down or shuts down for the time being.

But the consoling thing is that there has been no overproduction in Canada. Unless we are fairly deluged with imported American goods there should be plenty of work for our manufacturers. People are going to eat meals, wear clothes and provide themselves with many things in 1921, just as they have in every other year. One thing to be avoided is the paralyzing influence of un-reasoning fear.

There is no occasion for such fear. The fact that a few hundred speculators got their wings burned off in a sugar speculation is a matter of little concern to the bulk of our people. Nor should we worry too much about what is going on in other parts of the world, or take too much to heart the patter of financial writers on the gyrations of the stock market. Many of the low prices recorded on the grain exchange are speculative. Grain is always low when the farmer has it to sell and it generally goes up as soon as he parts with it. Our western wheat crop is moving slowly, but no one doubts that it will be disposed of. The farmers are still sitting up and taking notice with potatoes at ninety cents a dozen. Our manufacturers must have enormous reserves after their fat years of prosperity during the war. They may slow down or close down, as in normal times they often do at this time of the year, but they have no intention of going out of business.

There are necessary public works, federal, provincial and municipal, that can be undertaken to give employment for nearly all the idle men in Toronto, and we ought to have, in building boom next spring without parallel in our history. After all, times are a heap better than they were in November, 1914.

If there is a little back water just now and the current of business ceases to flow swiftly, it is because many people who need things are able to buy them, refuse even to look about, being under the impression that they can buy anything they want at any price they want at bankrupt sales later on. That, in our opinion, is a mistaken impression. There has been a general fall in the price of raw materials and a resultant glut in the market of manufactured products. But we are not going to have a panic, nor are we going to have panic prices. Indeed, experience shows that after the first sharp decline in prices after war inflation there is a recovery. This happened in the United States. The civil war ended in 1865. A sharp fall in prices came in 1867, but with a general revival of business they went up instead of going down in 1868. It is quite possible that things can be bought in our shops today for less than they will bring two months, three months, six months, or a year hence. The cautious buyer may over-play his hand as well as the cautious merchant. They should get together. It is the small purchaser, the householder, the plain citizen, who makes times good or bad in the city in which he lives. If he keeps his head and buys what he wants when he needs it, business will go on apace. Just now he will find prices generally marked down and probably lower than they will be later on. At any rate, he should join the cheer-up club. We want business as usual in Toronto.

Why It Cost So Much to Build.

Toronto can look forward to a building boom in the spring, and a good deal of construction on a big scale even before the spring opens. There is no reason why the government should not get to work on the fine new customs house, which is to occupy the burned area on the south side of Front between Bay and Yonge. Other public works, federal, provincial and municipal, may well be undertaken in time to prevent too much unemployment. Private corporations and individuals, however, will not, except under the pressure of strong necessity, do much building until they are assured of a steady supply at reasonable prices of building materials. The tie-up in building operations last summer was due not only to the high prices asked for certain materials, but also to the uncertainty of getting delivery at any price. The car shortage and the fuel famine caused an underproduction of structural steel and cement, and the independents who charge a tremendous premium over and above the listed price upon nearly all the steel they sold to new people who had to have quick delivery.

The investigation now being held in New York, under the guidance of Samuel Untermyer, discloses that the prices for building materials were unduly enhanced by combinations in restraint of trade. Some rotten conditions in the political life of New York and some high binding by Labor leaders have also come to the surface. But, we in Canada are specially interested in the testimony given by contractors as to combines among themselves, and the combines of which they complain among the material men. Cement seems to have been in an air-tight trust, and with it was affiliated the brick trust with threads all over the continent. The cement dealers not only controlled their own commodity, but acquired something like a monopoly in supplying lime, sand, gravel and broken stone. The contractor who incurred the ill-will of a local cement combine found himself on the street because he could not buy from dealers in any other city or from the manufacturers no matter how much he offered.

George A. Fuller, of the big Fuller construction firm, told the New York legislative committee that the publicity incidental to the probe had dissipated many of the combines. Estimates for the construction of an annex to the Plaza Hotel, aggregating $700,000, had been reduced by $37,000 as a result of lower prices for building materials. Other contractors stated that the price of brick had dropped from $30 to $15 a thousand. Sharp declines are also reported in the prices asked for marble, limestone, and other building materials. Wages are probably as high as ever, but contractors report greater productivity. The exposure of the blackmail practised in connection with threatened strikes has cleared the atmosphere of a good deal of labor trouble for which the bulk of the labor men were not responsible. On the whole, the outlook for increased activity in building as a result of the probe and of certain criminal prosecutions that may follow, is greatly improved so far as New York city is concerned, and the clean-up there will not be without its effect in other cities of the United States.

How far combines have affected the supply or the price of basic building materials in Toronto we do not pretend to say. There has been a singular scarcity and remarkably high prices. We do know, however, that no combine among the contractors or among the material men should be allowed to check the building operations that ought to commence soon and widen out into a big development in the early spring. If a probe be necessary let it probe begin. Our provincial attorney-general, who, like Marha, is busy about many things, but often overlooks the most important, might well give this subject his attention.

Remark in Passing.

That drop in bread was welcome. We hasten to say a good word for the bakers in order that they may feel disposed to do it again.

Germany says she will not officially recognize the loss of her colonies.

Oh well, let her send a government to one or two of them and attempt to start something and the true state of affairs will speedily be brought to her attention.

The farmers were looking for a majority of at least a thousand in the East Elgin election, following upon their majority of 1400 in the recent provincial election, so that the result may be taken as an indication of a decided gain of ground for the government during the past year.

When the city's audit shows that the Consumers Gas Company's profits of the past have built up a big reserve, how will certain members of the city council explain their silence when the company raised their prices for a steadily deteriorating service?

Rhyming Views On Daily News

By GEORGE H. DIXON.

A song we sing, a song of hope; the high school kids no more will mope about the way they have to work; each face will wear a joyful smirk—that is, of course, if things go right with plans to make their burden light. A gang of people, we are told, have in this cause themselves enrolled to cheer the pupils' woe by cutting out the fancy rort that makes their studies hard to bear and leads them down with grief and care. To cut the "fancy and fads," they claim, is now their one united aim, and from the top to skim the scum from the high school curriculum. They met en masse to start the fray here in this city yesterday, and they intend to fight the fight until the matter is put right, so high school kids can breathe free.

They want these youths to have a chance to study stuff that will enhance and make them useful when they shrink and get more done than the bunch who noble, righteous and go off to work. It is our claim; and when it does each take this stand: we'd like to shake them up, a whole lot more than all the mob with whom we daily bump. Examine the lot that is our present bunch. If they were taught the things they need, and then we'd see things start to hum; one could say that they were dumb.

FOR EUROPE'S STARVING CHILDREN

Editor World: With the approaching Christmas in mind, the joyful time of gifts and of exchange of greetings and gifts in the form of money, throughout Canada, one cannot help thinking of the hundreds and hundreds of thousands of starving innocent children in Europe, suffering from lack of food, clothing and medicine, and dying of it.

I believe, Mr. Editor, many people, who for different reasons hold it inconvenient to follow the call for support of the Canadian Red Cross, however desirous of helping, would be glad to get help yielded by others.

To bring about an easier opportunity for everybody wouldn't it be a purposeful and to ask every body buying gifts and cards to stamp their Christmas cards and Christmas cards with "Toronto happy children's Christmas greetings to the unfortunate of Europe?"

The stores of the city would undoubtedly willingly practice the sale of such stamps and possibly the Canadian Red Cross would take over the arrangement.

Another Interview With a Minister on the Important Matter of Mixed Marriages Between Chinese Men and White Girls—The Girls Who Work in Chinese Restaurants.

By BILLEE GLYNN.

I shall set down here another interview with a well-known minister, I explained my mission—then we started.

"How are the Chinese treated in Toronto?"

"With great respect. They are quiet citizens."

"Do they gamble much?"

"Yes, they do gamble; that is the only objection to them and that they are not assimilable."

"How do they get along with the police magistrats?"

"I am inclined to think our magistrats would be pretty hard on any citizen who treated a Chinese as a human being."

"A British Columbia there is quite a strong prejudice against the orientals?"

"I am aware of that. I find it difficult to realize why the Chinese are regarded as a race of inferior beings, unless it is because of their numbers of them being so large."

"Yes; they are a good many in Toronto."

"I think there are a great many Chinese and Chinese restaurants are increasing rapidly."

"Do you find that the Chinese go after white girls and women in Toronto?"

"I do not know such cases occur. But I consider the white girls are to blame for the improper relations."

"How are the Chinese in your opinion?"

"I know if you are not in a position to know if the Chinese are coming to the details of them?"

"There are any other race taught in the schools?"

"Not that I know of. I do not know why the Chinese are singled out."

"Isn't because they are slow at English?"

"Yes, they pick it up very fast."

"The Chinese are taught by girls in the Sunday schools, I believe?"

"A young woman? She is gentle with them, I suppose?"

"Yes; they like young women. There are some of us who think it is a mistake. There is a missionary from China here who thinks that the Chinese should be taught by white girls. She says that in China young white women are taught Chinese and would be looked upon as."

"(Banteringly) "So the Chinese likes to have his young, individual white girl teacher?"

"Yes. (Also smiling.)

"I suppose teachers and pupil often become quite attached?"

"Frequently. The Chinese give them presents. If the teacher is a young woman, very often corresponds with him."

"What about the head tax? Would you be in favor of decreasing it or increasing it?"

"If it is thought well for Chinese to come into this country there should be no head tax. If it is not thought well they should be deterred entirely, in my own sentiment, I am in favor of a head tax subject to modification. I wouldn't like to see their civilization, make a large impression on ours."

(Another article of this series will appear shortly.)

"To my mind the Canadian woman is the finest in the world, the rarest and the truest, the best pal and the sweetest wife. But everywhere there are younger and weaker sisters. It is for the protection of the truest and to stop the spreading of a great evil."

"Is it true I am not simple-minded enough to imagine virtue so bronzed that no shell can pierce it. I do not divide women into two classes, one good and one bad, an infinite between. I know that a girl is a girl and a woman a woman the world over—and I know that environment and association are in a great degree responsible for them even more than for my own sex."

"I am a newspaper is seeking protection for the white girl, which means also the Canadian mother, against the insidious workings of an evil that has too long worked harm in this city. The Chinese disclaim interest in associating with the white girl, and there is work—and still working at it—there is a Chinese delegation at Ottawa doing their utmost in higher quarters to achieve the recognition of an order-in-council prohibiting white girls from working in Chinese establishments since December 1. The statement has been made that the girls who work in Chinese establishments are lower in character than the Chinese. That is false—the most of them are merely poor. And being poor they are more open to the inducements of the paymaster. I know some of these girls and if their hearts could be shown on this page it might be found they were finer than those who condemned them. I never imagine."

"There is so much good in the best of us, and so much good in the worst of us, that I scarcely believe any of us."

"To speak in of a great evil."

"If the Chinese—the much-vaunted mongrel—quits of them—do not seek to associate with white girls, why are they so feverishly endeavoring to block a Chinese law at Ottawa? And why do you divide white girls into two classes, one good and one bad? Examine the girls who work in Chinese establishments in the Sunday school. TORONTO STOCKS FOLLOW NEW YORK

Speculative readjustment has resulted in bringing the Canadian exchange down to a period of inactivity. The result is quite natural. It is no longer of value for the pools to stimulate the market by large transactions. COURSES TOO RIGID FOR HIGH SCHOOLS

Changes in Curriculum Are Foreshadowed, Following Investigation.

AUTHORITIES CONFER

Small Percentage of Pupils Continue Their Education Through Course.

The impression that the demands which have been made from time to time for additions to the high school curriculum have led to the organization of courses too heavily upon the pupils in attendance appears to be well founded.

At present but a small percentage of pupils continue their education through the high school course.

As the schools must still continue to prepare candidates for entrance to the universities and the professional schools, provision must be made for adjusting the general courses in the high school to the entrance requirements for these institutions.

The initial meeting has been held of the members of the committee chosen from the staffs of the secondary schools who have been selected to represent the interests of different types of continuation schools, high schools, and collegiate institutes, and different departments of instruction in these schools.

As the work of the high schools touches very closely, on the one hand, the public schools, and on the other, the universities, the public and separate schools and the universities are also represented on the committee.

The following is a list of the members: Chairman, F. W. Merchant, representing University of Toronto; W. J. Alexander, S. Beatty, F. B. Allan, J. C. Robertson, representing Queen's University, Kingston; John Macdonald, representing McMaster University, Hamilton; W. McLaughlin, representing Western University, London; K. P. Compliment was also due, says the presentation to all who had brought about great advance in prison reform during the last few years, and it was urged that the authorities realize the necessity of going a step further by instituting a complete probation system, especially for the city of Toronto. The problem of the feeble-minded should be given attention at the hands of the provincial and municipal authorities.

FIRST NIGHT AT THE PRINCESS

"The Law Divine" Welcomed to the Princess—Shakespeare Revival at Royal Alexandra—High-Class Vaudeville and Attractive Pictures at Other Toronto Houses.

"Hamlet" at Royal. Walter Egan and his company of players opened a week of Shakespearean repertoire at the Royal Alexandra Theatre last night with the play of "Hamlet." Mr. Egan in the title role scored a real success. He has a voice of singular beauty, a most pleasing manner, and marked histrionic ability. Moreover he presents "Hamlet" of his own creation, and does not follow many of the old traditions. It is a mainly like-minded, and a tender heart, J. Harry Flynn, as Claudius, this evening almost divided honors with the star, and at the close of the night received a curtain call.

Mr. Egan made an acceptable Laertes, and William Souter a good Polonius. Allen Jones, in the role of Polonius, which he rendered in a fine manner, and often touched a high point of refined and dignified behavior, was not so good in the role of the ghost. A short, but rather a lugubrious caller, Mr. Abbott fairly charmed his lines.

Morgan was a pretty and what is termed to be a "strong" cast, but to Shakespeare's conception of the part than many more nature and famous names to the great tragedian, Richard Mary Hall as Queen Gertrude, the mother of Hamlet, was every inch a queen, and her performance in the famous closet scene. All the characters were well rendered, C. M. Macdonald as the play's villain, the prince of Denmark.

"The Law Divine" is a comedy with little, tragic touches here and there, but a most unprecedented run at the famous Wyndham Theatre, Charing Cross road, opened at the Princess last night. It is a comedy with a number of laughs, and is a most attractive and popular play. The cast, and the supporting company, who are the best of the companies which come here, are a thoroughly finished outfit. The piece is a most different from the usual productions visiting Toronto. The action is continuous—that is, the piece is divided into regular acts, but instead, there are three short interludes, and when the curtain rises the story proceeds as if there had been no interruption. This idea of continuity is further impressed by ringing down the bell at an interval, when a new character is about to enter the stage, and when it again rises the character is seen as before and takes up the dialogue.

"The Law Divine" tells an unusually interesting story of domestic life in social circles in London, which has its counterpart in almost every country which sent immigrants here. It is a comedy, and is a most attractive and popular play. The cast, and the supporting company, who are the best of the companies which come here, are a thoroughly finished outfit. The piece is a most different from the usual productions visiting Toronto. GRAND JURY SCORES CARELESS DRIVERS

Method of the Police Using Stool Pigeons is Also Condemned.

Condemnation of careless drivers of automobiles was made in the presentment of the grand jury to Mr. Justice Kelly in the assizes yesterday afternoon.

"We view with considerable alarm," reads the presentment, "the increasing number of fatalities due to careless driving of motor cars and the growing disregard for the dangers of this traffic by the public generally."

The method of using "stool pigeons" by the police is also condemned. "In view of the many excellent reforms in the treatment of prisoners and first offenders we are unanimous in condemning the system of using unscrupulous spotters, or 'stool pigeons' in order to secure convictions, especially breaches of the O.T.A."

A recommendation is made that motor drivers should cross intersections at ten miles an hour.

Those, McGinley, a street car conductor, was commended for his act in taking the number of an automobile which violated traffic rules, and which action enabled the police to quickly apprehend a driver responsible for a fatality. The work of Brigadier Eraser of the Salvation Army was also commended for the service rendered prisoners, and the attention of the provincial authorities urged upon them for the better care of discharged prisoners.

MADONNAS AND MEN

Something sensational, both in the film and in the plot, of "Madonnas and Men" drew large houses to the Strand yesterday, and nothing has been looked, either in the selection of artists or in the production, which lessens for a moment the right of the picture to only forfeit the right of being called masterpiece. The power of money, the attitude toward womanhood, by which every nation is judged, are all interwoven into the picture, and the picture is a masterpiece of art.

SMITH FAVORS AMUSEMENT TAX

Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer, replying to the mayor's suggestion that the amusement tax be abolished, says revenue must be raised from some source and he preferred not to place taxes on the necessities of life.

"The people as a whole," says Mr. Smith, "have no hesitation in spending their money going to moving picture shows and theatres in general, and when you realize that the people of the province spend in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 in amusements, I feel that the province is justified in taxing them to the extent of $1,000,000, or in other words, the province charges them in the vicinity of three per cent. on the money they spend on amusements."

A mass meeting has been called for next Sunday afternoon and invitations have been issued to officials and prominent members of the G.W.A. to attend. An invitation has been issued also to Premier Meighen. Touching upon the meeting which will take up the problem of unemployment, among others, J. Harry Flynn stated that if the civic authorities in Toronto took no action in the matter, the ex-service men themselves would take a hand in the matter since something had to be done to relieve the situation.

MUST ENRICH LAND BY FERTILIZATION

Sir William Cross to Erect Big Fertilizer Plant at Welland, Ont.

"With the increasing use of labor-saving machinery on the farms in Canada, the amount of natural manure for the land is correspondingly decreasing and that is the one big reason why our industry is gaining speed headway. The land must be fertilized; it is gradually becoming impoverished, and will continue to become more so unless the farmers use more fertilizer."

Such was the statement made to The World last night by Sir William Cross, big fertilizer and chemical manufacturer of Glasgow, Scotland, who is in Toronto for a few days and staying at the King Edward Hotel. In this connection Sir William stated that he had just completed a deal for a factory site at Welland, Ontario, where a plant with a capital investment of at least a quarter of a million dollars will be built to manufacture fertilizers and chemicals.

"Farmers throughout this country are beginning to realize the value of fertilizing their lands," he said, "so greatly has the demand for fertilizer increased in Ontario alone, that we are confident that every ton of it that we can put out, will be utilized right in the Niagara peninsula district. That is some statement to make, I know when you consider the thousands of tons annually which can be produced by a plant of the size which we intend to erect, but we feel that it is not exaggerated."

Since 1909, Sir William Cross, Company, the Cross Manufacturing Company, have been manufacturing fertilizer at Sydney, N. S., from basic slag, a by-product of steel, which they get from the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. "We have been producing from 40,000 to 50,000 tons of fertilizer annually in Sydney," he said, "but the demand is still greater than the supply. Another reason for our coming to this part of the country is that the steel companies can only let us have so much slag, as it is simply a by-product, and they can only turn out so much slag to a certain amount of steel. The slag supply has been falling far short of our requirements, so at our Welland plant we intend manufacturing our fertilizer from chemical materials. It will be entirely a chemical process from first to last."

Sir William Cross in addition to being an industrial baronet is a great veterinarian. When the war broke out he assumed command of a regiment of Scottish Yeomanry and was in France for two years. He was then called to the ministry of munitions in London, where he was engaged in conducting experiments on high explosives and poison gases.

JOINING G.A.U.V. J. Harry Flynn, vice-president of the G.A.U.V., stated to The World yesterday afternoon that since Friday night's meeting at Massey Hall, more boys and young professionals had joined up with the G.A.U.V. than at any like period during the past six months.

MUST ENRICH LAND BY FERTILIZATION

Sir William Cross to Erect Big Fertilizer Plant at Welland, Ont.

"With the increasing use of labor-saving machinery on the farms in Canada, the amount of natural manure for the land is correspondingly decreasing and that is the one big reason why our industry is gaining speed headway. The land must be fertilized; it is gradually becoming impoverished, and will continue to become more so unless the farmers use more fertilizer."

Such was the statement made to The World last night by Sir William Cross, big fertilizer and chemical manufacturer of Glasgow, Scotland, who is in Toronto for a few days and staying at the King Edward Hotel. In this connection Sir William stated that he had just completed a deal for a factory site at Welland, Ontario, where a plant with a capital investment of at least a quarter of a million dollars will be built to manufacture fertilizers and chemicals.

"Farmers throughout this country are beginning to realize the value of fertilizing their lands," he said, "so greatly has the demand for fertilizer increased in Ontario alone, that we are confident that every ton of it that we can put out, will be utilized right in the Niagara peninsula district. That is some statement to make, I know when you consider the thousands of tons annually which can be produced by a plant of the size which we intend to erect, but we feel that it is not exaggerated."

Since 1909, Sir William Cross, Company, the Cross Manufacturing Company, have been manufacturing fertilizer at Sydney, N. S., from basic slag, a by-product of steel, which they get from the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. "We have been producing from 40,000 to 50,000 tons of fertilizer annually in Sydney," he said, "but the demand is still greater than the supply. Another reason for our coming to this part of the country is that the steel companies can only let us have so much slag, as it is simply a by-product, and they can only turn out so much slag to a certain amount of steel. The slag supply has been falling far short of our requirements, so at our Welland plant we intend manufacturing our fertilizer from chemical materials. It will be entirely a chemical process from first to last."

Sir William Cross in addition to being an industrial baronet is a great veterinarian. When the war broke out he assumed command of a regiment of Scottish Yeomanry and was in France for two years. He was then called to the ministry of munitions in London, where he was engaged in conducting experiments on high explosives and poison gases.

JOINING G.A.U.V. J. Harry Flynn, vice-president of the G.A.U.V., stated to The World yesterday afternoon that since Friday night's meeting at Massey Hall, more boys and young professionals had joined up with the G.A.U.V. than at any like period during the past six months.

SMITH FAVORS AMUSEMENT TAX

Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer, replying to the mayor's suggestion that the amusement tax be abolished, says revenue must be raised from some source and he preferred not to place taxes on the necessities of life.

"The people as a whole," says Mr. Smith, "have no hesitation in spending their money going to moving picture shows and theatres in general, and when you realize that the people of the province spend in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 in amusements, I feel that the province is justified in taxing them to the extent of $1,000,000, or in other words, the province charges them in the vicinity of three per cent. on the money they spend on amusements."

A mass meeting has been called for next Sunday afternoon and invitations have been issued to officials and prominent members of the G.W.A. to attend. An invitation has been issued also to Premier Meighen. Touching upon the meeting which will take up the problem of unemployment, among others, J. Harry Flynn stated that if the civic authorities in Toronto took no action in the matter, the ex-service men themselves would take a hand in the matter since something had to be done to relieve the situation.
